AMENDMENTS IN RUGBY RULES

The annual meeting of the Canadian Rugby Union for the election of officers, amendments to rules, etc, will be held at 2.30 pm, on January 9th at the King Edward Hotel. Following are the amendments proposed;

1 That in the event of an infringement of the three yard rule, no penalty scrimmage shall be given within ten yards of the goal line of the offending team.

2 Page 23, section 12—Take out the words, "five yards in advance of the spot where the ball was declared dead." See page 19 3a.

3 Re touch in goal—In case an offside play, hacking, obstructing, etc. takes place behind the goal line, the side not offending be given a free kick or scrimmage ten yards out or awarded one point—a rouge.

4 The adoption of some rule to avoid delay in scrimmaging the ball.

Practically all these amendments have reference to plays which occurred in the final game of last season between Varsity and Hamilton.

Their Prettiest Girl.

By HENRY BERLINGHOFF.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

It was Ned Bellingham who discovered the girl across the way. Crosby Maurer hooted at the suggestion that she was the daintiest and most wholly lovable young woman on the globe.

Ned retorted with some heat, and the result was that then and there the domestic partnership was threatened with dissolution.

It was the first time since they had set up housekeeping in a bachelor apartment three years before that they had had a disagreement.

Maurer had flung himself out of the room with never a goodby, and Ned had sat himself down at his drawing board to make the girl across the way the central figure in a set of illustrations he was doing for a story, blissfully ignoring the fact that the author's heroine was tall, above the ordinary, a fair haired goddess of the Norseland, while the girl across the way was petite and decidedly dark.

Maurer did not return to dress for dinner, and Ned was fast asleep by the time he did come in. There was no reopening of the discussion, and in the morning the clash of the day before was tacitly ignored.

More than a week passed and the cloud had blown away when Maurer, waiting for his breakfast to be sent up from the restaurant in the building, approached the window and gave a low whistle of surprise.

"You're right, old man," he cried, "and I'll eat all the humble pie you care to feed me. That girl is a goddess in miniature."

Ned sprang to the window, a pleased smile of triumph on his face. But the smile faded when he looked closely.

"It's awfully good of you to say so, old chap," he said gratefully, "but I'll eat that pie myself. Funny I should have thought her such a stunner. She's a good looker, but nothing like the goddess I've been raving about."

"Don't be a beastly fool," urged Maurer politely. "You're an artist. You must know that she's one woman in a thousand."

"Do you mean it?" demanded Ned wonderingly. "I thought you were saying it to please me. Funny that you should like her. Usually your taste is very good."

"Good!" echoed Maurer. "Of course it's good, and it tells me that that girl is a remarkable beauty."

"Nonsense!" scoffed Ned. "She's good looking, but commonplace. There are hundreds like her."

Maurer turned a look of ineffable scorn upon his friend and silently made his way to the table, where the breakfast now was spread.

The meal was eaten in silence, and for a second time within ten days Maurer departed for his office without the "good luck in your work, old man," which started Ned on his drawings in proper humor with himself.

Instead of going to his drawing board Ned went to the window, and for a long half hour he studied the dainty figure sewing by the window across the street.

He turned away with a sigh, then regarded the half completed sketch tacked to his drawing board. It was a remarkably good likeness of the girl opposite; but, kneading his rubber afresh, Ned started to efface the figure with another sigh for his lost ideal.

He took a melancholy pleasure in drawing in a girl who was tall and plump and whose hair glinted yellowy against a crimson curtain. This was to be the frontispiece of a magazine, and he had wondered the afternoon before if the girl would see it and recognize her likeness. He had drawn nothing else but pictures of her since that first morning, and now he wondered how he had ever been such a fool.

That evening Maurer smoked his pipe in front of the window where he could watch his new divinity, and Ned, to avoid further rupture, clapped on his hat and went out for a street car ride, a form of amusement he detested, but which was better than watching Maurer make a fool of himself.

Ever since he had come to the city he and Crosby Maurer had been the firmest of friends. For three years they had lived together in the little four room apartment that had become a real home to them, and so closely had they studied each other's peculiarities there were none of the outbreaks of ill humor that had spoiled many such arrangements. This was the first time that there had come a real clash, and Bellingham felt it keenly.

In time the edge of the trouble wore away, but there was no real resumption of the old friendship. Maurer was still too hurt to forget all that had been said in the heat of passion, though he had forgotten the things he had said to Ned at the first disagreement.

While there was a careful observance of the old forms, back of them was lacking the real regard that had made them something more than forms.

Vainly Ned sought to overcome his reversal of opinion, but it was nearly two weeks before he could change. Then as he was dressing one morning he chanced to glance through the half opened shutters, and a moment later he was in his friend's room.

"You win!" he cried with such abruptness that Maurer cut himself with the razor he was wielding. "That girl is a raving beauty, Maurie. Funny that I should have taken that dislike to her, but it's gone now. She's all that you say she is."

"And that isn't much," was the reply in cold contempt. "Funny I should have raved about her. She looks like a chorus girl. It was a shock when I saw her this morning."

"Are you crazy?" stormed Ned. "Why, she's the daintiest little woman the world can show. She's better looking and sweeter than I thought she was at first."

"She's a tricky sort of young person," observed Maurer calmly. "One day she looks like the real thing, and then again she looks utterly commonplace. Funny you can only rave about her on one of her uninteresting days. I suppose that from now on you'll be drawing brunette dwarfs, no matter what sort of heroines the author likes. You'll lose your pull with the publishers if you keep that sort of thing up. Better see a doctor about it."

"You'd better see an oculist yourself if your eyes are so dull to real loveliness," retorted Ned. "When you have finished your breakfast let me know, and I'll come and get mine. The lease here runs out at the end of this month. I guess I won't renew my share, Maurer. Better get some one else."

"Think I'll move, too," assented Maurer. "I don't want to stay here with a female freak like that living across the way. I'll stop at the office on the way out and tell them to look for another tenant."

He went out to a lonely breakfast, and when he had gone Bellington came out to play with the cold chops and the lukewarm coffee. He did not go to the drawing board in spite of the splendid inspiration of the girl across the way.

He was tremendously fond of Maurer, and this abrupt termination of their friendship, coming as it had, unsettled him for work. He could only puff at his pipe and wonder what it would be like to set up housekeeping alone in a smaller apartment. He would take an apartment in the same house to be near the girl, but he would need only one room.

Maurer paid the larger share of the joint rental. He was making more money and insisted that he would pay as much were he alone. Ned had appreciated his kindness, and when he did not look at the girl he reproached himself for his new ingratitude.

But when he saw the little brown head and the delicate profile through the window opposite he told himself that an unseeing brute like Maurer did not deserve sympathy.

The luncheon came up and was sent back untasted, and the afternoon shadows grew into dusk, and still Ned sat and smoked and thought.

The girl was gone now, but he could still fancy that she was there, and he was so absorbed with his thoughts that he did not hear the key turn in the lock, and not until Maurer burst in with a whoop that rattled the shades on the electric globes did he rouse himself.

"We're both right, old man!" shouted Maurer as he dragged Ned from his chair and forced him to participate in an impromptu war dance about the tiny parlor. "The prettiest girl in the world lives across the way, but your prettiest girl is not my prettiest girl, thank heaven! There are two of 'em, old man, yours and mine—at least they're going to be yours and mine, I hope."

He sank into a chair.

"I'm taking care of Gordon's clients while he's in Europe, and a Mrs. Foster sent for me today to consult about some real estate deal. That's where my prettiest girl went! They're twins, Alice and Phoebe Bayard, and they're Mrs. Foster's nieces. She's an invalid, and they take turns living with her. She says it's too much of a strain to have them both there at once and to try to tell which is which. That's why sometimes it was my prettiest girl, and sometimes it was the one you liked. We made the mistake of thinking that there was only one. The old lady's going to Europe with a trained nurse for keeps. It's a good thing that we gave up this apartment. We'll need two, and they won't be in bachelor halls either."

Ned grasped his friend's hand in his own. "There's only one prettiest girl," he declared, "but yours isn't commonplace." And with that concession Maurer was content.

Slang That Isn't Slang.

"We are so used to slang," said the woman who reads, "that we have fallen into the habit of including in that category almost every unusual word or phrase—for example, the verb 'to faze,' which means to baffle, to confuse, to perplex. That word is misspelled variously phase, phaze, pheaze and feaze. It is not slang, and any woman may use it without fear, for it is as good English as any other in the language. Shakespeare employs it, spelling it 'faze,' as it should be spelled. Then there is the phrase 'lie down,' which almost everybody regards as slangy when used in the sense of surrender to obstacles or fatigue. It, too, is not slang.

"We have for it no less an authority than Thomas a Kempis, who certainly cannot be considered an imitator of George Ade. That eminent writer says: 'Love feels no burden, thinks nothing of trouble, attempts what is above its strength, pleads no excuse of impossibility, for it thinks all things lawful for itself and all things possible. It is therefore able to undertake all things, and it completes many things and warrants them to take effect where he who does not love would lie down.' He undoubtedly uses the expression as meaning to give up in the face of difficulties. It's better not to class a word or phrase as slang unless one is sure."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Something Just as Good.

Long before Port Credit, Ont., attained the dignity of a summer resort, it was known to the owners of small yachts as a snug harbor, but a poor place for obtaining provisions. Two citified young men—green hands—tied their yacht up at the piers, found a store with a small but highly assorted stock, and enquired for bread.

"I don't keep bread," said the general merchant; "likely you can get some from Pat McCulley, the shoemaker."

This was startling to the citified young men, but after all, there was no reason why the staff of life should not be associated with the cure of soles. Sugar was the next item, and promptly supplied — the brown variety; some other purchase followed.

"Now, what else do we want? O, yes — marmalade," chorused the yachtsmen.

"What did you say?" asked the storekeeper.

"Marmalade—marmalade," chorused the yachtsmen.

The storekeeper carefully inspected a shelf devoted to pain-killer, horse-liniment and similar things, then shook his head.

"No," he said, "I haven't got it. Fact is, I don't do much in medicines, but I can give you quinine or Seidlitz powders. You will find them just as good."

Canadians In England.

The best noteless debater in the British House of Commons is a Canadian, Mr. Bonar Law, who fought the Government. He will shoot up at the end of a week's debate and without a single note before him, with only the faces of his opponents and the cold, bare top of the brass-bound box to encourage him, he will pick up one by one all the arguments of all his opponents on all the previous days, and will carefully, minutely, and crushingly answer them. But let some unwary Free Trader challenge one of Mr. Bonar Law's quotations. He has eight or nine pockets. Quick as thought he dives a hand into a pocket. Always the right pocket. He pulls out a cutting. Always the right cutting. He reads out an extract which makes the interrupter sorry he spoke.

Another superlative is Dr. Macnamara, also a Canadian. He is the breeziest speaker in the House of Commons. It was a great pity they put him on the Government bench, where responsibility and office sometimes stifle the best things men can do in the way of debate. Yet he deserved the honor more than most.

The Shortness of Life.

What always strikes one so forcibly is, I think, the shortness of human life compared with other works of nature. The longest life—how short it is! And half of it one can hardly call life, being spent in sleep, which is not real existence.

A French preacher I heard once brought the shortness of life strongly before me by relating in his sermon how a saint in olden days, wishing to impress on himself the rapidity of life's race when he came to years of discretion, placed eighty marbles in a glass jar, each marble to represent a year of human life, taking eighty years as an outside limit very far exceeding that. Then, taking another glass jar, from the first one he took the number of marbles representing the years he had already passed and placed them in the empty jar and then year by year extracted a marble from the other till, more rapidly than he could have dreamed, the two jars contained forty marbles each. Then still more swiftly did each year seem to speed away, and what had so short a time before been the full jar became the nearly empty one till three, two and then only one marble remained, and life, which had looked so long at starting, had swiftly and silently melted away.—C. de la Warr.

Couldn't Stop Talking.

"Now, what are you going to do with that machine?" asks the lady of the photographer, to whom she had been talking continuously since she came into the studio.

"Pardon me, madam," replies the artist, "but the only way I can get your photograph and have a likeness is to take a moving picture."—Chicago Post.

Love and the Locksmith.

By Edward Waring.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"Jimmie!"

Little Mrs. Barron's voice rose shrill and anguished.

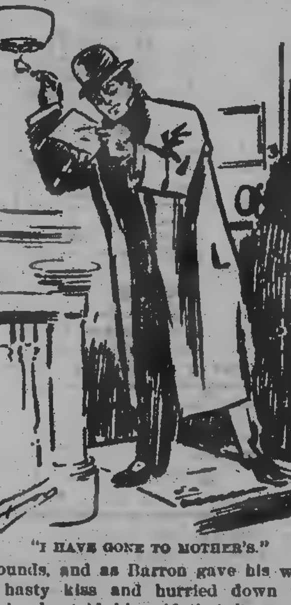
"I don't care," insisted Jimmy Barron. "I said 'darn that lock,' and you ought to be glad that I said no more!"

"It is the first time you ever darned anything I wanted you to do," reproached Mrs. Barron. "You don't love me any more, Jimmy."

"Great heavens!" cried the exasperated Barron. "Of course I love you, Nettie, but when you ask me to stop and fix this lock when I have an appointment with Chilvers at the office at 10. Anyhow, it's the janitor's business to keep the locks in repair."

Nettie turned away with a little, hurt cry. This was worse than the remark which had started the trouble.

To leave her to the tender mercies of the janitor was rubbing salt in the wounds, and as Barron gave his wife a hasty kiss and hurried down the stairs he told himself that he would send a locksmith around to attend to the matter at once.



"I HAVE GONE TO MOTHER'S."

Of course the janitor was there to make repairs for the tenants, but he was a surly fellow whose breath smelled strongly of drink, and Nettie Barron was afraid to admit him to the cozy little apartment they called home.

For more than a week they had been having trouble with the lock that Barron had added to the fastenings provided by the landlord. There was a burglar scare in the city, and apartment houses were the favorite points of attack.

Jimmie felt that, having spent the better part of Sunday afternoon putting the lock on, Nettie could not very well expect him to keep it in repair. Thus had started the first quarrel they had had since their marriage, and Barron took the car downtown feeling anything but at ease with all the world.

The Chilvers interview was satisfactory in the extreme. It was late in the afternoon when the details were concluded, and Jimmie had entered upon a contract which meant the successful outcome of the business venture in which he had engaged.

To cap the climax it had been arranged that Chilvers, who was an out of town man, should spend the evening at the club with Jimmie, so it was past midnight when Barron reached home.

The elevator stopped running at 12 o'clock, and Jimmie toiled up the three flights of stairs to his apartment. Pinned to the door was a sheet of paper and on it the words, "I have gone to mother's."

Jimmie felt the cold perspiration below his forehead. It had come, then. He always had thought that "going to mother's" was merely a creation of the newspaper humorist, but it was true. Nettie had probably grieved over his refusal to fix the lock and had ended by going home to her mother.

Mechanically he turned and descended the stairs. He did not want to enter the deserted apartment. It was home no longer with Nettie gone. He did not know just where he wanted to go or what he wanted to do, but he wanted to get away from the place where they had been so happy together; he wanted to walk in the cool night air and to realize what it all meant to him. He was passionately attached to Nettie, and he had not dreamed that they ever could be separated.

He thought dumbly of the dark, silent apartment and shuddered. He would have to move from there and go to a hotel to live. He never could enter the deserted home again. It would be like violating the tomb of their dead happiness.

He did not blame Nettie, but he bitterly reproached himself. He knew how timid Nettie was. She had feared the surly looking janitor, and she could not even speak of burglars without a little shudder, and her husband had brutally told her that he would be darned if he would fix the door and had flung away, leaving her with only the insecure protection of the flimsy lock provided by the landlord. And this was a lock that even a child could open with the blade of a knife when the Yale lock would not work.

Perhaps the burglars had come. He rather hoped they had. He hoped that they had taken everything. It would be horrible to have to give directions for the storage of the furniture which they had selected with such loving care.

There was a sentiment attached to every chair, and tears started in his tired eyes as he remembered the little footstool Nettie had insisted upon buying, though she would not tell him what she wished it so particularly for. It had become her favorite seat when he came in tired from the office, and she cuddled down against his side, the golden head resting comfortably on his shoulder while he told her the story of his day. He changed his mind about the burglars. He did not want them to carry off the little footstool.

As he pondered the situation Jimmie trudged onward and gave no heed to his direction. It was almost with a shock that he found himself turning in at a gate and realized that mechanically he had walked all the way to Nettie's mother's, three long miles.

There was a light in the window of the room that had been Nettie's in their courtship days. He recalled the nights when he had passed the house just to see the light in the window and to know that all was well with her.

Now there was the light, but nothing was well. For an instant a woman's form was silhouetted against the shade, and Barron came to a sudden decision. There was an all night drug store on the corner. He would call her up and sue for pardon.

It seemed hours before there was an answer to his ringing, but at last it came, and it was Nettie's sweetly serious voice that replied.

"It's Jimmie," he said brokenly. "I got your note."

"It served you right," said Nettie severely.

"I know it does," admitted Barron. "I really meant to send a man around, but the Chilvers matter drove the thought from my head and I forgot all about it."

"You have only yourself to blame," she reminded. "I asked you hundreds of times to fix the lock."

"Only about eight," corrected Barron, "but I was a brute not to do it the first time you asked. After this you won't have to ask me to do a thing a second time, dear."

Barron regarded himself in the mirrored wall contentedly. It was an inspiration to treat the matter as though there had been no separation.

"Did the burglars get in?" asked Nettie interestedly.

"I don't think so," was the eager response. "But look here, Nettie. If I promised that I will always do the thing you ask me to will you—be friends again, dear? When I came home and found that you had left me I broke down. I walked out here from our place and never realized that I had walked so far until I found myself turning in at your gate."

There was a choking sound over the wire, and Jimmie looked hopeful. If she was crying it was a sign that she might relent.

"Where are you now?" asked the voice.

"Down at the corner," was the prompt reply. "Won't you let me come over and see you, dear?"

"You may come," assented Nettie, and Jimmie tore out of the place without even stopping to hang up the receiver. He sped up the street, and a few moments later he was on the steps and Nettie was standing in the doorway to welcome him.

As the door closed behind them a pair of soft arms were thrown about his neck and soft lips pressed his cheek.

"Jimmie, you're the absurdest boy," declared the little wife lovingly. "You didn't even try to get in the flat, did you?"

"What was the use when you were not there, sweetheart?" he asked fondly.

"You would have found out why I came to mother's," she explained. "Your horrid lock worked when I went out, but when I came home not even the janitor could make it unlock, and it was too late to find a locksmith, so I came on to mother's and left that note for you."

"And you were not angry? You didn't leave me?" demanded Jimmie.

"How could I?" she asked simply. "You were a bad boy, Jimmie, but I love you, dear."

Jimmie took her in his arms. "I want you always to love me," he said, "and I'm going to buy you a dozen locks in the morning. What is that quotation about love and the locksmith?"

Up a Starfish Ladder.

Fishermen say that starfishes are gregarious; that you might find on the bottom an acre covered so thick with them that you couldn't walk without stepping on them, but not find another starfish for hundreds of acres around. This characteristic gregariousness the starfishes in captivity at the aquarium sometimes show, as when they assemble, as they may, all in one corner of the tank in the angle, tightly holding on there, one above another irregularly, but still close together from the bottom of the tank to the top.

And when they have assembled thus you may see another curious thing there—namely, green crabs climbing from the bottom to the top of the tank up this starfish ladder. The green crab is not one of the swimming crabs. When it goes anywhere it has to walk or climb, and so on the bottom it walks along, to climb when it comes to rocks or other obstructions. It cannot, however, climb up a vertical wall like that of a tank. But here the starfishes, one above another in the corner, make with their bodies and projecting arms convenient ridges that the green crabs can hold on by, and so they climb there up this starfish ladder, finding in this, it may be, some diversion, while as for the starfishes, they don't seem to mind it.—New York Sun.

BARBERS' ANNUAL BANQUET AT HOOPER'S LAST NIGHT

The eighth annual banquet of the local Barbers' Union, No 402, was held last evening in Hoopers' grill room, when about thirty members gathered to spend a social time. The event was an enjoyable one, and one that brings the tonsorial artists of Peterborough into closer touch with each other, and for one evening in the year, at any rate, they meet together to enjoy themselves socially.

After partaking of the excellent menu provided by mine host Hooper, a toast list was run off and short, interesting speeches were given. Mr. Harry Gainey acted as toast master in his usual efficient and capable manner.

The first toast was that to the "King" which was honored in the usual way.

The "International Union," was proposed by Mr E Hooey and responded to by Messrs George Brousseau and Harry Gainey. Both gentlemen made complimentary references to the splendid organization of the International Union.

The toast to the "Employing Barbers was proposed by Mr H Gainey, and acknowledged by Messrs J Lewis and Harry Wilson.

Mr George Brousseau proposed the toast to the "Journeymen Barbers," and Messrs George Campbell and Geo. Hall very happily replied.

The "Apprentices" was the next toast. It was proposed by Mr Ed. Wright and responded to by Mr Bert Hays and other apprentices present.

Other toasts honored were the "Ladies" and the "Press," after which the banquetters dispersed with the singing of the National Anthem.

FINED $1.80 FOR USING INSULTING LANGUAGE

An Ennismore young man was fined ten dollars and costs amounting to $15.80 at the police court this morning for using grossly insulting and abusive language towards an old man residing in the same township. The offence was committed at the Peterborough House on Saturday, December the fifth. Mr F D Kerr conducted the prosecution and Mr G N. Gordon appeared for the defendant.

It appears that the trouble arose over the fact that the young man's uncle lost a number of turkeys and when the defendant met the complainant at the hotel, he remarked to him, "How did those turkeys eat."

"What turkeys," asked the old man.

"The ones you stole, and roasted and ate in your shack," answered the young man.

This was more than the complainant could bear and in order to vindicate his character he had the matter threshed out in police court, with the above result.

REV. J. G. POTTER ADDRESSED MEETING ON TOTAL ABSTINENCE

The weekly gospel temperance meetings that have been conducted for some time in the "Crystal" have been changed from 8.15 o'clock in the evening to 4.15 in the afternoon. The first of the afternoon meetings was held on Sunday last and was well attended, considering the weather conditions. The speaker was the Rev. J. G. Potter who gave a short, but earnest and very impressive address on "Total Abstinence as a Christian Duty," taking as the basis of his remarks, Paul's declaration that he would neither eat meat, nor do any other act by which his brother might be made to stumble. Miss Morrow sang a couple of solos in a very pleasing manner, and in this way contributed much to the success of the meeting.

Next Sunday it is proposed to make the meeting a rallying point for all the Bible classes of the city. One representative from each will give a three minute address, and Mr. Hassard, of the Y.M.C.A., will also address the meeting. The chair will be occupied by Dr. Middleton and it is expected that an orchestra will be present to provide music.

RESULTS OF MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS IN TOWNSHIPS

Vote Cast Was Heavy One as a Whole—Lakefield Still in Favor of Local Option—By-law Also Carried in Havelock and Tweed.

The returns from the county show a particularly large vote polled in the different municipalities.

At Lakefield in the reeveship contest, Mr Kidd won over Mr Backus by a majority of 64 votes. The councillors elected are, H Moore, C Bravendy, A Robson, Richard White. The other candidates were H J Quinn, H Nicholls and M Nicholls. Mr Sam Charlton at the eleventh hour posted a notice that he had withdrawn and asked the ratepayers not to vote for him.

Local option as was expected, was sustained. The majority against repeal of the bylaw was 69.

The school trustees elected were, B S Tanner, Dr S Gibson and Jas. W Ridpath.

In Douro there was quite a lot of excitement in the contest for Reeve, Reeve Frank Moher defeating Mr D Moloney by a majority of 24 votes.

The polling places were Pine Grove Cheese Factory, T Davy's house and the Town Hall. Moloney got a majority in two polls but not enough to out do the third poll.

NORTH MONAGHAN

Reeve John Brown of North Monoghan was elected in that township by acclamation and the council for 1909 is given below with the votes in both divisions.

	No 1	No 2	Totals
R A Dobbin	84	55	139
W McKee	97	35	132
J Morrow	87	45	132
J H Forster	99	22	121
G H May	114	2	116
J F Clarke	37	53	90

The first four of the above will form the council.

OTONABEE

In the campaign for reeve in Otonabee between Fife and Porter the latter was victorious by a majority of 47, getting 369 against his opponent's 322. The councillors elected were;

J Cameron—371.
J Miller—369.
J Anderson—326.
E Heaslip—314.

ENNISMORE.

The official returns from Ennismore show a majority of 22 for M Perdue, against John Young, his opponent in the reeveship contest.

The vote was rather light and this is accountable for by the fact that both candidates were good men and a lot of the voters did not cast a ballot for either. Perdue secured 113 votes and Young 91.

The councillors elected were;

Wm H Crough—159
Wm Harrington—126
Timothy Crough—122
M O'Connor—114.

The other candidate was Wm D Cavanagh who obtained 110 votes

BUSINESS MEN WILL ATTEND THE MEETING TO-NIGHT

Last night's observance in connection with the week of prayer was held in the Charlotte street Methodist church. Rev H J Keith, pastor of Knox church was the preacher and gave a thoughtful and most interesting address on the "Supremacy of Christ in private Life."

The church was well filled and the address proved of interest and value.

The meetings tonight will be held in St Andrew's and Mark street and the subject to be dealt with at both will be "Supremacy of Christ in Business Life." Reference will be made to the early closing of places of business and the addresses will be of vital interest to business men a large representative attendance of whom is expected.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

Knight of the Macabees, Peterborough Tent, No 69, will meet tomorrow night in the Knights of Pythias hall, Simcoe street, for the installation of officers. A full attendance of members is requested.

CASTRO'S POLITICAL PRISONERS ARE FREED FROM DUNGEONS

Gaunt, Haggard Band Made up of Best Citizens in Venezuela Are Released From Fort San Carlos and Represent Remnant of the Crowds That Deposed Tyrant.

New York, Jan. 6.—Fuller details of the release of more than a score of Castro's political prisoners and the tales of treatment received in dungeons of Fort San Carlos, on an island off Maracaibo, were brought here yesterday by passengers who arrived on the steamer Secular.

The prisoners, 27 in number, were men of the best families in Venezuela. They were all that remained of the droves of prisoners that had been sent to the fort for political reasons by Castro during his term of power. Their deliverance came because of Castro's overthrow.

The prisoners, when they came aboard the steamer at Maracaibo, were well-dressed and shaved, but they were cadaverous and weak. Many could not walk. They said they had been systematically starved, the allowance for their keep presumably going into the pockets of their keepers or others in the Government employ. They subsisted on fish caught off the shore and cooked by themselves, as well as they could, and they had no tidings of their own families until released. The steamer's passengers were full of pity for the poor fellows, many of whom could not walk even a few steps without pain. Two, who were inseparable on the steamer, told of having been chained to the same post for months so closely together that the fetters ate into their flesh and pained them terribly when they attempted to move.

There were tearful scenes when the forlorn-looking prisoners were met by their families and friends. Gen. Bello, who had charge of Fort San Carlos and of the prisoners, was also a passenger on the steamer from Maracaibo to La Guaira. He is described as a bony, grizzled man of 50, and, according to the passengers, has a somewhat brutal appearance. He, perforce, had to go with his own prisoners. Several military-looking men accompanied him, ostensibly as a guard against violence from his former captives, but it was suspected that they were to see that he went nowhere but to Caracas. Bello enjoyed himself about the decks of the steamer and professed confidence that his actions as governor of San Carlos would not only be endorsed but commended at Caracas.

THE RELIEF WORK CONTINUES QUEEN HELENA'S GREAT HELP

Has Organized Women Into Big Sewing Circle—Many Relief Committees at Work.

London, Jan. 6.—Despatches from special correspondents ordered to the devastated districts in Italy confirm the worst reports. William Maxwell, war correspondent of The Daily Mail, in the course of a long telegram, dated at Messina on Friday, which reached London only yesterday, says:

"The Chinese cities of Port Arthur after bombardment by sea and land was not so ruined. A six months' cannonade by all the artillery in the world would not produce the results of ten seconds of nature's wrath."

In a despatch dated at Reggio on Monday Maxwell says: "Here destruction is complete. More than half of the population still lies buried in the ruins. The mephitic odor of the dead is everywhere. San Giovanni, opposite Messina, must have the same epitaph."

It is impossible to enumerate the number of relief committees of all kinds, each with a practical object. Queen Helena, perhaps the most useful worker of all, has had heavy furniture removed from three big rooms in the royal palace, putting in tables, machines and forty or fifty work baskets and chairs, and nothing else. Here ladies of the oldest aristocracy and working women and girls are gathered together in friendly intimacy, cutting out and sewing as though their lives depended on the finishing.

During the sewing in the royal workroom many strange stories are told about the earthquake. The little princesses were particularly interested in following the tale of an old woman, looking to be about a hundred years old, who refused to leave the ruins without her little treasure, and who was so obstinate that she had to be left to her fate. Another strange story was that of a number of sailors who heard a queer noise under the ruins, evidently something human. So they dug on, to find a woman and a child in a little shed which had resisted the shock and fall of the debris. They were found along with a cow which yielded enough milk to keep them both alive. At last all got so weak that they couldn't lift their heads, but all were alive when rescued, having given warmth the one to the other. Several children taken from the ruins in the first days when the hunger was not so pressing cried and kicked until their favorite dolls or toys were found. One youngster was found still clasping a teddy-bear in his arms.

Descriptions received yesterday from Messina and Reggio indicate that, although the situation is in some respects better, fresh complications have arisen. Typhoid fever has broken out at Messina. The lack of pure water and the increasing pollution of the air cause the physicians in charge of the Red Cross work to fear a terrible epidemic.

CHEAP CABLES ARE CERTAIN NOW CONFIDENT OF SUCCESS

Englishman Says Presence of Canadian Postmaster-General at Conference Made Scheme Possible—Australia Will be Represented at All-Red Route Conference.

London, Jan. 6.—At Melbourne the prospects of the consummation of the all-red route have been greatly improved by the conference yesterday between Dr. Coulter and Mr. Fisher, the Federal Premier, with Mr. Thomas, the Postmaster-General.

It is expected the latter will agree that Australia shall be represented at the proposed meeting of officials representing all the Governments interested to work out the details of the scheme. Mr. Coulter reported that the British and New Zealand Ministeries will adopt a favorable attitude. Mr. Thomas personally supports the scheme cordially and the conference will be resumed on the thirteenth.

Shown an Ottawa message to the effect that the Canadian and British Governments are considering a scheme for the establishment at a near date of two pence per word cablegrams, Mr. Henniker Heaton said Mr. Lemieux was a great imperialist.

"His presence here this winter gave an impetus to the movement for penny-a-word cables impossible of attainment otherwise. He left with the statement that he was quite satisfied regarding the results of his negotiations and that it would come. He would be back in the spring to conclude them in what he hoped would be a satisfactory manner.

"I am perfectly certain Mr. Lemieux will adopt one of two courses. He will either propose to the cable companies to reduce their rates so as to place cabling within the means of the mass of the people or in the event of their declining to meet him he will propose to construct with the aid of the British Government and the Governments of Australasia state-owned cable or cables capable of carrying from ten to twenty million words a year at a cost of two pence per word.

The moment Parliament meets Sir Edward Sassoon, who is chairman of the telegraph committee of the Commons, will summon a meeting in support of Mr. Lemieux. There is every reason to believe we shall have the support of Mr. Lloyd-George. Meanwhile I may say Mr. Lemieux has the strongest assurances of financial support from Australia."

THE ICE GAVE WAY

Driver and Passengers on Chemong Stage Had Exciting Experience.

The Chemong stage when coming to the city to-day had a narrow escape from a mishap while crossing Lake Chemong. The ice looked safe enough to take a "short cut" and as a result the regular road was not followed. When the horses were going at a lively clip one of them broke through the ice but forutnately it only gave way under one of the animals. The horse that had good footing did not stop and pulled its mate out of the whole and on to the solid ice again. Mr. Dan Whetung, sr., who was driving the team, had a bad fright for a few seconds, as also did a couple of passengers. In order to avoid further accident of a similar kind the horses were unhitched and led to shore, the men pulling the sleigh.

PEW RENT FOR THE SOLDIERS

New Rule Says Government Will Pay $2.50 Per Year.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—Militia orders contain an announcement of interest to the clergy. It is a notification that when the attendance of troops at services of any denomination is considered by officers commanding at a station to be necessary, clergymen may on recommendation of that officer, be paid at the rate of $2.50 per annum for each officer, non-commissioned officer and man of the permanent force professing himself a member of the denomination to which the clergyman belongs. This rate shall be in full payment of necessary new accommodation, and in consideration of the discharge of all clerical duties. The order applies to both Protestant and Roman Catholic clergy.

Another order provides that in future helmets will not be issued to rural corps, except to such corps as are already in possession of them.

Notice is given that the Glengarry Highlanders, an infantry regiment organized during Lord Dundonald's time, has gone out of existence.

THERE MAY BE NO ICE

Montreal Fears for Success of the Ice Palace Scheme.

Montreal, Jan. 6.—The railway companies, having adhered to their determination not to aid the carnival, the promoters have signed the following:

"Although the railway companies represented in the Eastern Canadian Passenger Association have decided not to subscribe to the fund of the winter carnival, it will take more than this circumstance to prevent the plans of the carnival committee from being carried out.

"The people want a carnival, and they want an ice palace above everything else, and if there is any ice they will see one on Feb. 20. We have been completing our plans for the ice palace, and we shall instruct the contractor to go ahead and build the structure as soon as there is ice.

"The thing that is bothering us most now, is the lack of material with which to build our palace, and the possibility of an ice famine.

"Wouldn't it be curious if, after all, the cry about our winter there should not be sufficient cold weather to make enough ice to build the crystal fort or palace without manufacturing artificial ice. We have had winters here too warm for a healthy ice palace to stand."

CHURCH LEAGUE OPENS TO-NIGHT

The Church Hockey League opens night when the George street and Knox teams will meet on the Knox church rink. The game takes place between seven and eight o'clock and should draw a big bunch of fans. Both teams will be strong.

RIOTING GOING ON IN INDIA

Hindus Attack Mohammedans and Troops are Called Out.

Special to the Review.

Calcutta, Jan. 6.—Hordes of Moslems are rushing to Tigahur to avenge the insult. British troops and constabulary are trying to head them off and a bloody encounter is expected. An uprising of Hindus may be the consequence.

Calcutta, Jan. 6.—The religious riots between Mohammedans and Hindus have taken a more serious turn again requiring the intervention of British troops yesterday at Titaghur, who fired on the Hindu mob.

The Hindus had resumed the attacks of two previous days on the mosque at Titaghur because the Mohammedans had sacrificed cows.

The Hindus destroyed the sacred furniture in the mosque and partially demolished the walls. Inflamed Mohammedans gathered to the defence of the mosque and were subsequently surrounded by a military cordon, which formed a barrier between the Mohammedans and the Hindu rioters, who assaulted the military in an endeavor to come to close quarters with the Mohammedans.

The troops fired on the zealots, killing and wounding a number of them.

Isolated combats between Hindus and Mohammedans are taking place throughout the disturbed district.

Mohammedans from more remote quarters are making their way to Titaghur to revenge the Hindu insults to their faith.

Titaghur is a small city about 125 miles to the north of Calcutta.

FIFTY-ONE BARS CLOSE

Six More Temperance Victories Reported in Ontario.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—In addition to the 18 municipalities from which adequate local option majorities were reported on Monday night the following have been heard from: Kenonebec, Wollston, Limerick, Juder and Cashel and Effried.

There are still ten townships to hear from, where the bylaw was submitted for the first time. Three repeal contests were reported where the bylaw was sustained, viz., McNab, Collingwood and Mountain Townships.

Two township repeal contests are still to be heard from. They are Grimsby North and Osnabruck.

Orillia Township, which was reported carried for local option on Monday night, is eight votes short of the necessary three-fifths majority. The total vote was 495 for to 342 against.

The local option bylaw was defeated in Howland and Morris Townships.

The result up to date is:

Temperance gains—Licenses cut off by local option, 49; licenses cut off by reduction, 9; total 58; bylaws carried, 22; local option sustained, 22; total, 44.

Temperance losses — Majorities against, 4; bylaws repealed, 2; failed to secure 3-5 majority, 20; total, 26.

Boy Let Go.

Omemee, Jan. 6.—F. D. Moore, K.C., county police magistrate, passed sentence on the youth who burned the barn of T. B. Leadly, Omemee, about two weeks ago. He was allowed to go on suspended sentence covering a period of two years.

GETS LIFE SENTENCE

Gaol-Breaker Rose Gets Limit of the Law for His Crime.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—Alexander Rose, the daring criminal and jail-breaker, was yesterday sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Winchester.

He received sentence in a dazed manner and sank into the dock as the judge uttered the dread committal. Except for the sound of the judge's voice addressing the prisoner a deathlike silence pervaded the court room, and at the conclusion of the severe sentence all eyes were directed towards Rose, who almost immediately went off into a faint.

It was about twenty minutes after four o'clock, on the retirement of a jury in another case, when Rose was led into the dock by Constables Stewart and Brown. There he sat with bowed head to await his sentence.

County Crown Attorney Drayton then addressed his honor, asking that judgment be passed upon the prisoner on the two charges of wounding with intent, on which he had pleaded guilty. The crimes for which he will have to pay the penalty were assaults on May 1 on Ethel Skitch in Wellwood's store, and on Allan G. Duncan in a store at the corner of John and Adelaide streets. The third charge, that of breaking jail, Mr. Drayton did not press.

Judge's Interrogation.

"Rose, have you anything to say for yourself," said the judge as the prisoner rose to his feet.

Mr. Curry, in appealing for mercy, addressed his honor, in which he drew attention to the fact that the prisoner had been subject to epileptic fits and also uncontrollable fits of cruelty. He believed there was a great deal of irresponsibility in Rose's character and make up, but he knew, to successfully raise the insanity plea he would have to prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that the prisoner did not know what he was doing when he committed the crimes.

STARTLING TESTIMONY

Sensational Evidence Given in a Trial at Winnipeg—A Complicating Factor.

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.—A dramatic situation developed in the trial of Thos. Hicks yesterday morning when one Krasenko, convicted highwayman, swore that the revolver found under the body of Eccles Lennox, was in his possession the night before the murder and that he had given it to Roger, chief witness against the accused, in the C.P.R. yards.

Krasenko reinforced his evidence by identifying Rogers and Cooper, selecting them from a group of twenty persons.

It was a highly sensational situation, as it was apparent it was the climax of the defence and calculated to acquit Hicks if the effect of the evidence was not destroyed.

The fact that Krasenko has occupied the same cell with the accused since his arrest is a complicating factor.

The crown will introduce some evidence calculated to prove that Krasenko was not in the C.P.R. yards when he says he gave Rogers the revolver. Hicks has steadily maintained that the gun with which Lennox was killed was not his property.

The crown said at noon that no order for the arrest of Rogers had been made. The fact that Rogers had testified in the case is no bar to his arrest and prosecution, though the evidence he has given cannot be used against him in that case.

Sir Frederick Safe.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—There is no truth in the report that Sir Frederick Borden was in the south of Italy at the time of the earthquake, and that there is anxiety among his friends as to his whereabouts.

On New Year's Day Lady Borden received a cable message conveying greetings, dated from Florence. This was a week after the disaster occurred.

Invited to Germany.

London, Jan. 6.—The German-Canadian Economical Association, a body of influential Germans formed for the promotion of better trade relations between Germany and Canada, invited Mr. Fielding to visit Berlin as their guest and accept a public banquet. He has been obliged to decline.

Two Killed In Wreck.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 6.—Official reports to the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad state that in a wreck near Caperton yesterday, the engineer and fireman were killed and two passengers and an express messenger were slightly injured. An open switch caused it.

Good Riddance.

London, Jan. 6.—A man named Atwell, whose wife paid his passage back from Canada, remaining there herself, yesterday afternoon deliberately broke a large pane of glass in the Canadian emigration office at Charing Cross.

Farmer Murdered.

Durham, Conn., Jan. 6.—John Asman, 51 years old, a farmer living at Reeds' Gap, was found dead in his barn Monday night with his skull fractured. Nearby lay a club.

Judge Mickle Declines.

Windsor, Jan. 6.—Judge C. L. Mickle of Chesley, recently appointed junior judge of Essex County, has refused to accept the position, for private business reasons.

U. S. Firm Loses Patent.

London, Jan. 6.—Under the new patent act a decision has just been given revoking the British patent on an American sewing machine, on the ground that the American patentees failed to meet the requirements of the law, inasmuch as they mend merely a few of the substitute parts instead of the machine as covered by the patents.

Textile Workers May Strike.

Montreal, Jan. 6.—The Canadian Federation of Textile Workers yesterday morning sent a letter to the board of directors of the Dominion Textile Co. demanding a 10 per cent. increase in wages. A copy of the letter was sent to the Department of Labor at Ottawa. Some months ago the Dominion Co. made a 10 per cent. cut.

Fought Fire Five Days.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 6.—After fighting fire five days and battling against the turbulent seas two weeks, the crew of the Furness line steamer London City were exhausted when the ship docked at this port on Monday.

He Ran Away.

Pekin, Jan. 6.—After his dismissal Yuan Shi Kai fled to Tien Tsin. He later reconsidered his flight and because of reassurances he returned to the capital. His fate is still problematical.

Ontario May Contribute.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—A proposal to vote a contribution for the benefit of the sufferers by the Italian earthquake was before the Ontario Cabinet yesterday. Consideration was postponed until to-morrow for the purpose of receiving further information.

To Stop Sunday Shows.

Montreal, Jan. 6.—The Lord's Day Alliance is planning to take steps to close all the Sunday shows in Montreal, which are now very numerous.

Two Workmen Hurt.

Guelph, Jan. 6.—Early yesterday morning, while one of the immense furnaces of the Page-Hersey Iron & Tube Co. was being torn down, the big structure of brick and mortar, about 18 feet high, suddenly collapsed. Two of the workmen, an Italian, Turoni, and Valentine Beliskie, were crushed against the wall by the mass of hot bricks and mortar, one being covered to the neck and the other half way up his body.

One had a broken leg and both were terribly cut and bruised by the bricks, which, being hot, had burned the flesh. They will likely recover.

Marine Officials Suspended.

Halifax, Jan. 6.—As a result of the Marine enquiry at Quebec, the agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department at Halifax, has received instructions to suspend C. T. Schmidt, boiler inspector; Chief Engineer Stuart of the steamer Aberdeen, and Assistant Engineer Leech of the same steamer, which is now at Halifax. Wm. Sutherland has been appointed chief engineer pro tem, and John Beaulands of the dockyard staff appointed second engineer.

Toronto Express Derailed.

Winnipeg, Jan. 6.—Seven miles east of Winnipeg, while proceeding east on Monday night, the engine of the Toronto express with a good load of passengers, many of whom were Winnipeggers, left the rails at Woods, causing practically a tie-up of the main line. No one was injured and little damage resulted.

Melba to Sing In Naples.

New York, Jan. 6.—Mme. Melba, the operatic star, will give a performance at the San Carlo Opera, Naples, on Jan. 31, for the benefit of the 'quake sufferers. She arrives at Naples on the morning of Jan. 31 and sails for Australia at midnight, directly after the performance.

Deal with Turkey.

Berlin, Jan. 6.—The British Government, it is learned, has reached an understanding with the Turkish Government whereby the Sultan, as head of the Mohammedan faith shall use the influence of the priesthood in India to support the British rule there in return for active British diplomatic support in the Turkish controversy with European powers.

The Mohammedans of India number 62,000,000, and the loyalty is a powerful element in the growing disturbances.

Welcomed Home.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—When William Hutchinson, commissioner of Dominion exhibitions returned to Ottawa yesterday after an absence of four years in Europe, he was formally welcomed by Mayor Hopewell on behalf of the city, and by Peter Whelan on behalf of the Board of Trade. Mr. Hutchinson represented the capital in Parliament from 1896 to 1900, and was at one time president of the Canadian Central Exhibition Association.

Victim of Loan Shark.

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The suicide of Hillman, draughtsman, who shot himself on Saturday, it is said was due to the fact that he had been unfortunate enough to get into the hands of a money shark.

Having borrowed money at usurous rate of interest, he was unable to pay and all his effects were seized, leaving his family in a condition of want.

Case Is Smallpox.

St. Thomas, Jan. 6.—Dr. Bell, Provincial Health Officer, arrived here last evening to investigate a smallpox case. The disease came from Paris, where doctors raised trouble with the Provincial Health Board because St. Thomas called it smallpox. Local authorities persisted that it was smallpox. Dr. Bell now declares that it is, and will make it hot for Paris.

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 6, 1909.

THE WIFE-BEATER

The beating to death of Mrs. Blythe by her brutal husband is almost beyond comprehension. Although neither drunk nor crazy, Blythe acted so much as if he were both, that it passes understanding how he could have been so frightfully cruel. There is no good in dwelling on the horrors of the crime, which have no palliation. The question is, what shall we do with their author? The mere exercise of vengeance in the form of physical torture, can do no good. From all points of view it would seem to be best to put him where he can do no more deeds that stagger humanity. Let him be legally condemned, of course, but after that let the lethal chamber close around him so that we shall hear no more of him.

MISSIONS

American churches have, in the last five years increased their "output" of missionaries by fifteen per cent. British churches by 30 per cent. and the Protestants of continental Europe by 25 per cent. The numbers are 8,500, 9,000 and 3,000. America sends most largely to India, while the others send to Africa chiefly. The Laymen's movement in America greatly increased the amount of gifts to missions, while during the same period they actually decreased in Britain and Europe.

LEADER McKAY

Ingratitude is said to be sharper than a serpent's tooth, and this Mr. McKay will probably find out, if he has not done so already. He was chosen to lead Ontario Liberals in the Legislature. He worked hard and did his best to justify his selection. Now they cut off his pay. He must either resign or raise Cain. Which will be do? That he failed to win was no disgrace. It is hardly possible for the remains of an effete and rotten administration to overthrew an honest and efficient one, no matter what the stripe of politics may be.

THE GENIAL CURRENT

The poet speaks of that which freezes "the genial current of the soul." It is an opportune, although an intensely sad time, to take advantage of what is passing, in order that we may read ourselves a lesson. The U. S. passed with all haste, an appropriation of $800,000, for the Italian victims of the earthquake. The American Red Cross Society has so far collected $330,000 for the same purpose. Canada is doing her duty. Great Britain gives every indication of the same proper spirit. The Russians have excelled, perhaps, all the others. Ships of all nations, both of war and peace, have hurried to the scene. The spirit of human kindness needs but the occasion to be manifested. Why then, may we ask, must all this kindliness be set at naught in a few months, perhaps days, by a return to a spirit of religious bigotry and narrowness that comes near to blotting out all that can be done by this nobler spirit? Why can we not trust each other in health, when we do not appeal to one another in vain in times of sickness and misfortune? Who and what are to blame for this failure to live up to the true spirit of Humanity?

SHADOWING CONGRESSMEN

What would be thought of King Edward VII if he used a secret service paid for by the people to shadow his parliament? Yet this action on the part of Mr Roosevelt is what is producing such a ferment in the United States at the present time, even overshadowing the appalling outbreak of Graft which is, however, the legitimate outgrowth of rotten conditions and of minds enslaved by money. The excuse offered that some Congressmen certainly ought to be watched is insufficient. The power of watching in Mr Roosevelt's hands may be wisely placed but should the president or king of any country be allowed a public fund in order that he may spy upon the people's representatives? If so, then the election of a president is merely the selecting of a chief of detectives while the electing of representatives is a travesty of representative popular government. Graft injuries to the person, black handing, boodling, in a word utter rottenness of heart and hand is a state to which our neighbors have attained and now follows anarchy amongst the ruling powers. Roosevelt v. Congress is the case now before the American people and it will be an eye-opener surely.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Japan has lately passed through a general election. The Imperial Diet is composed of 380 members, 14 of these are Christian.

A provincial edict has gone forth to the largest province of Japan that all the opium dens in Shantung are to be closed within one month.

An editorial note of the Globe reminds us that ballot-markers are afraid that in the confusion of folding their ballots and of having them handled by the DRO. as well as on account of the pencil mark's showing through the paper there is much to be desired in voting by ballot as at present practised. Booths' interiors are frequently visible through windows to a spy or spies outside. More rigid inspection of booths is advisable while a committee of investigation with power to suggest would find a very great deal to improve upon both in operation and above all, secrecy.

WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD

Mi-o-na Has Reached a Gold Standard, Says Harry Ellis of Fergus, For Stomach Trouble.

Harry Ellis of Fergus, Ont. says: "I believe that Miona for the cure of stomach trouble is worth its weight in gold. It cured me from a stomach difficulty that seemed to puzzle all other prescriptions and remedies. I was unable to eat, the food would ferment and form gas and make a obvious pressure on my heart. There were terrible pains in the pit of my stomach. I became weak, drowsy, discouraged and later I got nervous and could not sleep or rest. This disease makes one feel like not wanting to see any human being and produces melancholy and forebodings. I was told to try Miona and when I commenced on the first box I had hardly any faith in it, but the first two days' treatment made the pain in my stomach cease and to make a long story short, the upshot of my using Miona was that it cured me wholly. and I now can eat what I like and when I am hungry. I am an ardent advocate of the use of Miona."

Wm. Madill, Peterborough, sells Mi-o-na Tablets the dyspepsia remedy that is making such surprising cures throughout Canada, for 50 cents a box, guarantees them to cure, or money back.

OF INTEREST

"A good many people will read with a start this morning the news that a body of distinguished Conservatives and Liberals introduced by the Primate —on December 14—asked the Premier to bring in a Bill for the regulation in certain cases, of wgaes, and that the Premier said he would like to," writes the Manchester Guardian. "Thus do momentous new proposals grope and strive underground for many years till suddenly they burst into the fierce light that beats upon Premiers and Primates, and where down he drives on a 'fad' the sun goes down upon a 'burning question.'

"Among specialists on the economics of industry the legal minimum wage is an old theme. It does not, of course, apply to the other organized trades. Skilled workers in the cotton, iron, coal, and other great industries have long ago raised their wages high above any such minimum as is thought of. The policy of the legal minimum is a policy for reform ing the sweated trades."

Mr Asquith said to the deputation that he was one of those who viewed with very little alarm, either from the speculative or practical point of view, the fixing of a minimum wage. That had been already done, as Mr. Barnes had said, in all the organized trades by the reciprocal interaction of employers and employed, and it was also done where these favorable conditions did not exist in cases where the contractor carried out his work under contracts which insisted upon a due provision being made for the proper remuneration of the persons employed.

The Postmaster General, who was sitting by his side, and who was a large employer of labor, had already taken steps in that direction and had inserted in Post Office contracts, — not in all but he was making a beginning —clauses providing for a specified wage, and any payment below that was to be deemed a breach of the fair wages clause in the contract. That was a practical step which might well be followed by persons giving out large contracts.

He could assure the deputation on behalf of the Government that they approached this subject with every sense of its gravity and with a sincere desire to devise some simple method of dealing with it. Not to go into the details of the machinery, the proposal in substance was that with regard to certain specified trades —and they were all agreed that they must act tentatively and experimentally —which trades would be selected on the ground that in them the evils of sweating were most rampant and most injurious, machinery should be set up in the shape of a wages board to do what was done in some other trades by the trade organizations and in other cases by the contracting parties themselves —vis, establish a minimum wage.

The Government was entirely in sympathy with the object of the deputation, and so far as he himself was concerned, he was in sympathy with the proposal to proceed by way of the establishment of wages boards. He did not seen any other practical way by which they could attack the problem which was at all likely to yield a satisfactory result. He hoped it might be possible to devise machinery of that sort, prompt and effective in its work, with the minimum of friction and the maximum of consideration to all the persons concerned.—Public Opinion.

"Such a slaughter has scarcely been seen Bannockburn," is the "feeful exclamation of one antiprotectionist paper in reporting Mr Andrew Carnegie's sworn testimony at the tariff hearings of the House Ways and Means Committee; while other less exuberant sheets admit that the incident seems to have administered a staggering blow to the "stand-patter." In this testimony Mr Carnegie holds to his opinion recently proclaimed in a magazine article, that the steel industry in the States is no longer in any need of a protective tariff. From his apparent reluctance to appear before the committee in the first instance many editorial observers surmised that his startling generalizations would lose some of their impressiveness under the cross-examination of Messrs. Dalzell and Payne. According to the New York Evening Post, the subpoena to compel his attendance was ushered with many nods and wreathed smiles, as though to say "come and see the confident Scotchman butchered to make a protectionist holiday." As a matter of fact, however, nobody seems to have enjoyed the event more thoroughly than Mr Carnegie himself. And while he refused to marshal detailed figures to support his ridicule of protection for the steel industry, he showed from the report of the Steel Corporation that it had made profits of $158,000,000 on ten million tons of steel—a net and absolute profit of at least $15.80 a ton.

"Take back your protection," said Mr Carnegie, shaking his finger at the committee; "we are now men, and we can beat the world at the manufacture of steel." You should nor coddle, he added, an industry that produces forty-five per cent of the world's entire output of steel. In spite of the nature of his subject, he proved a most entertaining witness. We here quote the following passages from his testimony, as reported in the Washington Post:

"The crowded hearing room frequently rang with peals of laughter at the quips of Mr Carnegie, who seemed to be in splendid shape for the questions asked by Representatives Dalzell and Payne. At one point Mr Payne leaned over and whispered to Mr. Dalzell who sat at his right.

"I wish the chairman would tell me what he said to Mr Dalzell. I think I ought to know," Mr Carnegie protested.

"There was a roar of laughter in the room, but Mr Payne made no reply. Leaning over with his hand to his ear and his head cocked to one side in imitation of the attitude assumed by Mr Payne, in whispering to Mr Dalzell, Mr Carnegie said;

"I should say that your words were 'the jig is up.'"

"Mr Carnegie was not willing to deal in figures. 'The more figures you get, the more you will be fogged. I don't judge by figures given by interested parties,' he said at another point in his testimony. 'I judge by results.'

"Mr Carnegie testified that the Steel Corporation made a profit of a little over $15 a ton on its product. Chairman Payne then read figures submitted by Judge Gary.

"They —the steel men— talk in a language you do not understand,' said Mr Carnegie.

"I have heard a good deal about it all my life,' broke in Representative Dalzell of Pittsburg, who has been a member of the Ways and Means Committee many years.

"Well, John, returned Mr Carnegie with a broad smile, 'we always regarded you more as a lawyer than a steel man.'

"Mr Carnegie told the committee that it must not base its conclusions on the comparison of the cost of labor in this country and abroad as furnished them by witnesses. 'If it takes two men in Great Britain to turn out as much steel as it takes one man here, without modern appliances, the difference would not be so great,' was his argument.

"The cost of producing rails at Gary won't be half as much as in England, notwithstanding the cheaper cost of labor abroad."

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Great Shingle Mills Burn.

Bellingham, Wash., Jan. 6.—The plant of the Puget Sound Mills and Timber Co., said to be the biggest shingle mill in the world, burned on Monday night. The damage was $415,000; insurance $150,000.

W. L. Cleveland, a saw filer, was burned to death. The fire started from a hot box.

Lash Governor of University.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—Zebulon A. Lash, K.C., has been apointed a member of the board of governors of the University of Toronto, in the place of Samuel H. Blake, K.C., who has resigned.

No reason has been assigned for Mr. Blake's resignation, but it is believed that his ill-health has contributed to the decision.

Chinaman Hanged.

McLeod, Alta., Jan. 6.—Sharp at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, with the thermometer at 35 below, in the presence of a dozen persons, Mah Song, a condemned Chinese murderer, was hanged, showing no emotion. He killed his brother for gambling some of the firm's receipts. Radcliffe officiated.

Is It Coal?

Ottawa, Jan. 6.—The officials of the Department of Mines discredit the story of a discovery of coal at Bossport, on the north shore of Lake Superior. Geological conditions, they say, are such as to render the finding of coal impossible.

Hotel Burned.

Campbellton, N.B., Jan. 6.—Fire yesterday destroyed the King Edward Hotel in course of construction, and James Kelly's blacksmith shop and sheds; loss $5,000.

Fire at Brandon.

Brandon, Man., Jan. 6.—Fire from a defective chimney on Monday night destroyed Codville & Co.'s wholesale warehouse; loss $75,000.

For the new gaol at Montreal $750,000 in debentures will be issued.

To Fix Up Hotels.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—W. K. Snider, who has been provincial Conservative organizer for some years, has been asked by the Government to take charge of the work of establishing a standard for the hotels of the province in the matters of fire escapes, sanitation, bedding and accommodation generally.

Representations have been made by the Commercial Travelers' Association and others and the question has been under consideration for some time. It is believed that about a year will be necessary to cover the work fairly and to establish such standards that further special effort will be unnecessary.

St. John Asylum Scorched.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 6.—Fire which broke out in the boiler room of the provincial lunatic asylum last evening destroyed the nurses' ward, kitchen and laundry of that institution.

None of the patients were injured, although a panic prevailed amongst the 500 inmates and at first it was said over a score had been burned to death.

The loss will amount to $25,000, partially covered by insurance.

The heating apparatus of the entire institution was made useless.

Revolution In China.

Amoy, China, Jan. 6.—A revolutionary outbreak is reported in Manchuria near Mukden. No cause has been assigned.

One thousand mutinous soldiers took the field. Official reports say that in an engagement on Sunday between Government troops and the insurgents the latter were repulsed.

Native reports, however, declare that the Government troops were driven back with a loss of 60 killed.

Doctors Blame Husband.

Agincourt, Jan. 6.—Dr. Silverthorne and Dr. Chutterwick of Toronto conducted the post-mortem examination on the body of the murdered woman, Mrs. Blythe, at the Blythe house yesterday.

The conclusion arrived at is said to have been that Mrs. Blythe's death was due to shock consequent upon the terrible injuries inflicted by her husband, a C. P. R. sectionman, on Sunday night.

Sexton Dies In Grave.

Branchville, N.J., Jan. 6.—With a shovel clutched tightly in his hands, Edward Course, sexton of Hallville Christian Church, was found at the bottom of a grave which he had been preparing. The funeral was approaching the cemetery when the clergyman noticed that the grave had not been dug fully. The procession was halted and the body found.

A Western Serial.

The Regina Leader announces a new home-grown serial—no, not a cereal. Some time ago The Leader began to look round for a story to follow the one it was running serially. After examining several, the editors came to the conclusion that one written by a Regina author was better than the offerings of several eastern syndicates, and it will appear accordingly. The West is beginning to show us that wheat is not the only thing it can produce.

AMOUNT REQUIRED FOR EDUCATION THIS YEAR

Statement of Estimates Presented at Last Night's Meeting of Board of Education—The Figures for 1908.

In presenting the estimate of revenue and expenditure of the city Public schools, at the Board of Education meeting last evening, Mr L M Hays, chairman of the finance committee stated that the overdraft of $5,398.00 was due to the necessary advance in the teachers' salary schedule and that to the increase in the number of teachers. In order to secure the best teachers available, the salaries had to be raised. Domestic Science and Manual Training equipment, have been added, incurring an expenditure of $700. However, this would be paid back at the rate of $140 per year.

The Board would need $11,460 more this year than last, likewise in the case of the Collegiate Institute the balance due the bank is largely made up of expenditure for furniture and other equipment, so that this will go into capital account. The fuel account is less than last year. The amount required by debenture is $10,000 and Mr Hay thought that that would be sufficient.

Mr W F Nelson thought that $1600 for repairs and furniture in the Public schools was inadequate. Both the West and East Ward schools will require extensive repairs and $5600 would be more like the proper amount

Mr Robert Fair thought that debentures should be asked for money for permanent improvements to these buildings.

Mr Crane said that if debentures were going to be asked for $10,000, debentures should also be asked for $3000 the amount expended on capital account, and thus what is required from the city treasurer would be diminished from $45,000 to $42,000.

Mr Hill pointed out that there are today a sufficient number of teachers and the scholars are being given the best possible training that they can receive. Now more rooms are available and consequently more teachers have been engaged and their salaries along with the increased salary schedule make up the greater expenditure this year. On the other hand the Board's grant from the Ontario Government this year would be fifty per cent greater. There are now on the staff, twenty teachers holding first class certificates and the grant is based to considerable extent on the qualifications of the teachers and the character of the work done.

RESOLUTIONS

It was moved by Mr L M Hayes, and seconded by Mr J Crane:

"That pursuant to 1 Edward the Seventh, Chapter 39, section 71, the municipal council of the city of Peterborough be and they are hereby required to pay the treasurer of the Board of Education in monthly instalments, the money to be used for current expenses, of the Collegiate Institute and Public Schools as follows.—

BROTHER OF MR. WILLIAM MIGHT

Passed Away in Toronto Yesterday---Death of Mr. J. M. Might

Mr J M Might died at his home, 128 Concord avenue about 3 o'clock this morning after over a year's illness.

He came to Toronto from Cavan, Ontario, about 35 years ago and entered the life insurance business in the city. Some years later he started the Might Directories, and up till about five years ago, he was engaged in the task of compiling them. Then he sold out his interest and devoted his time to mining brokerage.

He was a Mason and well known in Toronto. Three children survive him: Mrs J J Ritchie, 128 Concord avenue; Mrs Edgar Durbayne, 486 Gladtone avenue and Miss Lillian.

The funeral will take place on Thursday at 2 pm, for Mount Pleasant cemetery. Rev Mr Baker of the Metropolitan church will conduct the ceremony.—Toronto Star

Messrs William and James Might of this city are brothers of the deceased and Mrs Evans of Fort William and Mrs Elliott of Hope township are sisters.

HARRY GIRARD BARITONE
As "Bobbie" in San Toy at the "Grand Next Saturday Jan. 9th, Matinee and Night.

SAN TOY COMING TO THE GRAND

The appearance here of the Imperial Opera Company in "San Toy" at the Grand next Saturday matinee and night, will be an important event in the local theatrical season. This company won for itself immense popularity during the run of four and a half months at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto and in that time "San Toy" was one of the greatest successes in the company's repertoire.

With its quaint Oriental atmosphere and the picturesque costuming of China together with a brilliant score of bright, catchy music, makes the piece the most acceptable offering. From its initial performances in London and New York San Toy became a famous musical comedy. The story of the piece is intensely interesting and enlivened throughout with a host of intensely humorous situations.

Yen-How, a wealthy Mandarin of the Chinese Empire has a daughter, San Toy, whose fame for beauty has reached the Emperor's ears. His Majesty orders Yen How to send the child to court, and, strickened with fear for his daughter, the old man sends Li, his servant, with a message, saying that San Toy is a boy. A jealous lover, however, reveals the truth to the Emperor, who forces Yen How to send the girl or pay the penalty by death. This is done, but meanwhile Li arrives and persists that Yen How has no daughter. Complications ensue which fortunately end in happiness for all.

The Imperial Opera Company made its initial performance in Toronto in San Toy, and so great was the success that a record run of four and a half months ensured. Never before has any organization succeeded in remaining for so great a period in Toronto, and without a doubt no company ever will again. Hot competition set by the road attractions mean that the Imperials had to apply an all-star cast in all their productions, and this cast remains unchanged during the tour through the cities of the Province.

Proceeds of the concert in St. Peter's Hall Friday night will be devoted to charity. Admission is 25c. This is the ninth annual concert of St. Peter's T.A.S. d2

CHRISTMAS TREE ENTERTAINMENT

Successful Function Held in the Methodist Church at Eden

A fine Christmas tree entertainment was held in the Eden Methodist church on Wednesday, 23rd of December.

Before Santa Claus had dispensed the handsome presents which adorned the tree and were contributed entirely by the people of the neighborhood, the following excellent programme was given;—

The Gospel Bells—The Choir.
Recitation—Emily Church.
Recitation—Laura Windover.
A Morning Drill—Six Little Girls
Recitation—Alice Reid.
Recitation—Percy Thompson.
Joy Bells—The Choir.
Recitation—Frank Church.

AN ALLEGED HORSE THIEF ARRESTED HERE WHILE SITTING IN AN HOTEL

Arrest May be an Important One—May Finish Clue in Connection With a Number of Recent Burglaries in Country Stores—Prisoner Taken to Campbellford.

A young man giving his name as Walter Fanning, and his residence as Dartford, near Warkworth, was arrested last evening while sitting in the Windsor Hotel, Brock st. He is wanted in Campbellford on a charge of stealing a horse from Wm. Hooper of Percy township. Chief Lynn, of Campbellford, arrived here this morning and took the prisoner away this afternoon.

Last night about nine o'clock P. C. Meagher received a message from the Windsor hotel, that a horse thought to have been stolen in Campbellford, was in their stable. P. C's. Meagher and Newhall went up to the hotel and identified the horse as the one described in Chief Lynn's communication to the local police. It had white feet and a white face. They then went into the sitting room and arrested the prisoner.

At the Police Station he gave his name as Walter Fanning. The man suspected of the theft and whose name is mentioned in the communication was Golding, but the prisoner denied being him. He was searched and on him was found an account book of Wm. Sweet in account with Wm. Walker, of Warkworth. The store of Mr. Walker was recently robbed of a number of valuables and the finding of this book may furnish a clue in connection with the robbery of a number of small country stores.

P. C. Newhall put the prisoner through a rigorous cross examination. Fanning said that he had got the account book from a blacksmith.

COMING HERE DIRECT FROM "PRINCESS" THEATRE TORONTO

"Paid in Full" will be at the Grand on Monday night. The theatre going public has a treat in this offering. The play has achieved remarkable success. It is foremost of conspicuous hits of recent years. In fact, it is held by many critics and dramatic writers that "Paid in Full" is the greatest play produced in this country in fifteen years.

It bursts upon New York last season as a sensational surprise. Little had been heard of its author, Eugene Walter, whose former plays had not attained metropolitan noteworthiness. Its triumph on the opening night at the Astor theatre in New York last February was the event of the season. In reviewing the theatrical season last spring every critic in New York held the "Paid in Full" was one of the three greatest plays of the year. To its credit a part of the year. To its credit apart from its New York hit, is a Chicago run that continued all last summer

"Paid in Full" has won its popularity from its many excellent qualities, prominent among which are naturalness, simplicity and frankness. It is a real play, full of strong action and virile characters. It is not a problem play. Sermons and long speeches and philosophies have no share in it. The characters do things and everything they do is of interest. It is essentially an action play. Mr. Walter has built an intensely appealing story taken from life as it exists today in an American city. The story is full of meat and substance, briskness and vigor. He has created striking characters that are true to life. With them he works out stirring situations. Its element of seriousness is tempered with rare comedy and clean crisp humor. The lighter vein accentuates the more somber.

It is a story of American life, a theme treated with novelty and candor. Joseph Brooks is an $18 a week clerk. He is bitter and disappointed. Envious of the success of his fellowes, he has become something of a socialist and anarchist and is filled with hatred of his employer, Captain Williams, for not advancing him. His wife, Emma Brooks, type of the well reared, true American girl, bears uncomplainingly the privations of her lot, though before her marriage her home had been one of comfort. Her marriage to Joe was against the wishes of her mother. The couple live in a Harlem flat. There is no maid and the most rigid economy is necessary. Joe begins to steal from the Latin-American Steamship Company, in whose office he is employed. Apartments in a hotel replace the Harlem flat. There are theatres, gowns and pleasures for the young wife, who believes her husband has been advanced. Then comes exposure. Captain Williams, head of the Steamship Company began life as a South Pacific trader and by brutal force has conquered every obstacle to wealth and power, has long shown an interest in Emma Brooks. In the sentiment her husband sees a path for escape from punishment for his thefts. Joe tells Emma he has stolen for her to relieve her from poverty. He urges her of her from poverty. He urges her of having complained about her lot. She denies it. He urges her to go to Captain Williams, alone, at night and bargain for his release. He declares she owes it to him. He promises never to question the terms of the bargain. The young wife hears his proposal in horror, but at length is forced to undertake the mission. Captain Williams puts the girl to the test, then finding what he has always believed, her to be in point of character, he reveals a manly side to his own nature. He promises not to prosecute the dishonest husband and with this assurance Emma returns to Joe, but the adventure has killed her affection for him and there is a dramatic parting.

The play is in four acts, the time the present, the place New York City.

An excellent company has been organized by the Wagenhals and Kemper Company for "Paid in Full." The cast is Joe Brooks, Lionel Adams, Emma Brooks, his wife, Clara Blandick; James Smith, superintendent of the Steamship Company, friend of the Brookses, George Backus; Captain Williams, owner of the Latin American Steamship Company, Scott Cooper; Mrs Harris, Emma's mother, a narrow, selfish woman who places a worldly estimate on everything, Florence Robinson; Beth Harris, her younger daughter, Marion Berg; Sato, Captain Williams' Japanese valet, Geo. Bleden.

SPORTING NEWS

PORT HOPE AND JUNIORS WILL PLAY HERE TO-NIGHT

Owing to the sudden change of temperature there will be a fast sheet of ice for the game tonight between the local juniors and Port Hope. The home kids showed their form when they defeated Cobourg here on Monday night by 10-6. The exhibition was a very interesting one and the match tonight should be much better as the ice will be keener and the home seven will be in better condition than they have been for either of their games this winter.

Port Hope's team is said to be one of the championship calibre and is picked by many to win the district. The local seven do not mean to take any chances on having their prospects for the district championship spoiled and will be strong in all departments. The line-up will be the same as the one that played against Cobourg and will be as follows:

Goal—Giroux.
Point—Wade.
Cover—King.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—C Giroux.
Left wing—Pentland.

PROGRAM FOR CANADIAN CURLERS IN SCOTLAND

Montreal, Jan 6— Arrangements have been completed for the reception of the Canadian curlers who are leaving on Saturday for Scotland. In a letter dated December 23rd, addressed to Lt-Col A A Stevenson, who despite his age will brave the difficulties of a winter sea voyage to accompany the Canadians on their trip to the Land of the Heather, Rev J Kerr, of Edinburgh, who was here with the Scotch curlers, gives details of the plans made for the reception of the Canadians. The following extracts from the letter will be of interest to all curlers:

"I was in Glasgow all day yesterday with our Royal Curling secretary, Mr Davidson Smith, completing arrangements with the Ice Rink Company for the great visit January-February of our dear Canadians, and today I am to join them again and make farther arrangements in Edinburgh. We are prepared to receive you all at Liverpool by a deputation on landing. Likely the curlers of Liverpool will join with us in receiving you. Then you will come on to Edinburgh.

"There is to be a great reception banquet by the Royal Club in Edinburgh Music Hall on the 20th and I am delighted to say Lord Strathcona —our president,—is to be in the chair. A silver badge will be presented from the club to each member of the team, which will be a badge of admission to everywhere in the town.

"Lord Balfour, of Burleigh, Lord Rosebery, Lord Dunedin, the Duke of Athol, and the Marquis of Tullibardine, with many other noblemen and hundreds of curlers are expected at the banquet. The city corporation of Edinburgh are to give a luncheon in the historic council chamber in honor of your team and receive you in the name of the Scottish capital.

"From Edinburgh you go to Glasgow and the Ice Rink Club has two days with you in friendly games, when all curlers will come and be introduced.

"Lord Strathcona's new silver cup —value $500— will be competed for in three test matches on different days during your visit, six rinks representing Scotland meeting you rinks each day. One day the Canadian Scots team will have a match with you, and you will meet the old boys at home.

"Sixteen provinces at least have been allotted days to meet you, either in open or under cover, as weather permits. So you will have not less than twenty days of curling matches but on no occasion more than two matches a day and everything will be done to lighten your labors."

"We hope to take you to our chief historic centres and as far north as Aberdeen, with an off day there to visit the summer residence of our patron, His Majesty the King. Glasgow corporation will give a civic welcome and there will be a big farewell banquet there, and other festivities.

"Do please get all who are Masons to bring their toggery with them for we expect Grand Lodge to receive you in state at quarterly communication and if you have any messages from your lodge all the better.

"We hope our Scots will see you all in winter Canadian garb, so as to interest them.

"It has been set about that you are going to Switzerland after Scotland. We have nothing to do with Switzerland. I hope you will put this right if you hear anything more referred to. We want you in Scotland as long as possible."

Montreal, Jan 6— Louis Rubenstein, secretary of the Amateur Skating Association of Canada, and vice-president of the American Skating Union, has been asked to fill the vacancy on the Canadian curling team to go abroad and if his business permits will go.

FRED DOHERTY IS LEAVING GUELPH

A Guelph despatch says:

The Guelph pro. hockey team is to be strengthened by two good men from the east—Bert Brown of Belleville and Roden of Port Hope. As Doherty is leaving, Roden can get in nicely in the vacant position. He is a fast left wing and ought to strengthen the already fast forward line materially. Brown can play defence or forward equally well. This puts Guelph in good shape for the opening game with St Catharines here tonight.

SIMPSON WILL RUN IN RELAY AGAINST SHRUBB

At Madison Square Gardens on Saturday—Leaves for Gotham To-night—Is in Good Shape.

Fred Simpson's first appearance as a professional will take place at Madison Square Gardens on Saturday when he will be one of a relay of three to run Alfred Shrubb in a fifteen mile race. Mr. Joe Hay, of the P.B.C., received a wire from Simpson's manager, Tom Flek, to have the Indian leave at once for New York and report at Bartholdi Inn. He is leaving to-night.

The Hiawatha man is in good condition and is travelling at about as fast a clip as he has at any time during his running career. He has been working out on Rice Lake which has had a good surface for running. Besides this Simpson has been walking to town every second day or so and has been taking his usual good

POSSIBILITY YET OF MATCH BETWEEN GENE AND KAISER

There is a possibility of Gene Hurtubise and Kaiser being matched after all. Some time ago the bout was talked of but no arrangements were made and negotiations were dropped for a while.

Mr Chris Graham, Gene's manager, told the Review this morning that the match would perhaps be made and pulled off in Peterborough. Kaiser will have to throw Gene in half an hour to win and with this handicap the argument should be a good one.

EDMONTON TENACIOUS AND STILL AFTER STANLEY CUP

Edmonton's defeat in the Stanley Cup series was a bitter pill for the natives of the western city.

Accounts of how the news was received there are just coming in with the arrival of the Edmonton papers.

The Bulletin says:

Large crowds turned out to hear the result of the second game between Edmonton and the Montreal Wanderers for the Stanley Cup, and great was the joy of the Edmonton hockey fans over the success of Edmonton.

Their pleasure was somewhat dampened however, by the fact that the team did not win the cup. General regret was expressed that they had not played the same team on Monday night as on Wednesday night, when the results might have been somewhat different. The citizens generally are loud of their praise of the work of the team, Deeton and Miller are the idols of the town while Patrick, Lindsay and Whitcroft are also high in the regard of the public. Vair also played a good game.

The public are rather disappointed in the work of Pitrie and McNamara. Had the executive signed Harry Smith and Joe Hall instead of Phillips and McNamara, the cup would probably now have been speeding westward.

The announcement of the executive that they would challenge again for the Stanley Cup is evidently a very popular move, as the majority of the citizens think with a season's practice together the team have a good chance of winning out. There is little doubt but that they can win all the Western Hockey League this winter, and by the end of the hockey season will be again ready to go after the Wanderers for the hockey championship of Canada.

The Journal says;

The announcement that the club will go after the cup again at the close of the Saskatchewan League series has been received with the wildest enthusiasm by the citizens generally. The sporting blood of the fans is up, and the team that will again face the Wanderers at the end of the season will be certain of the biggest backing they ever got from Edmonton people.

The wildest enthusiasm prevails over the showing of the team in winning the second game from what is probably the strongest team ever got together to defend a big championship title. Deeton the modest little Edmonton man who was the phenom of last night's game, will be accorded a reception on his return that his children and grandchildren after him will talk of with pride.

Miller, "Hay" Miller, the former is also being lauded to the skies for his sturdy support of Deeton on the forward line and his marvellous work in scoring the final two goals in the last game.

JACK MILLER HAS MADE GOOD

Two men who have sprung into the limelight in the athletic world during the past few days are Harold Deeton and Jack Miller the two home-brews who distinguished themselves on the Edmonton challenge team in their game with the Wanderers for the Stanley Cup.

Both men proved conclusively that they are there with the goods in the hockey line and it is probable that more will be heard of them before this winter is over along this line.

THE RING

Kansas City, Mo Jan 5— Johnny Coulon is still the bantam weight champion of the world. Tonight Mike Orrison, challenger, was the receiver-general for six long rounds, and the verdict went to the champion without a murmur.

It was not a classy exhibition. It was too one-sided, Orrison is a game little fellow, but he was evidently there for the sole purpose of staying the limit, and he covered up from start to finish. In only one round did he carry the battle to the champion. In the fourth, Orrison after being stung repeatedly with vicious lefts, started something himself. He landed one good right wallop on the champion's chin, and went in as though he meant business. Just before the close of the round, however, he ran into a hard blow, and that was his last appearance as the aggressor.

SPORTING COMMENT

Hefferon the Marathon runner, has expressed the intention of coming back to Canada from South Africa.

GREYS MADE A GOOD BID

In Game With Examiner Last Night at P.B.C. Tourney

That there is not much to choose between the top and bottom teams in the Ten Pin League was demonstrated again last night at the Peterborough Bowling Club when the Examiner A. team had to extend themselves to take two out of three games from the tail-enders the Greys. Both teams were a trifle off in the first game of the series, but in the second they improved and it was nip and tuck all the way. In the third and concluding game it looked like the Greys all the way through, until the last three frames when Glover and Cairns in a garrison finish, piled up strike after strike and finally wound up with a wide margin to the good. Cairns again carried off high honors for the winners while McFadden was once more the pick of the losers with Norm. Perry a good second.

The announcement is made that the individual competition for the silver trophy donated some time ago will be started next week and all intending to enter are requested to hand in their names at once. The entry is free and the competition will be conducted on a handicap basis.

Last night's scores follow;—

COAL RESULTS

We sell the very best quality of hard coal, as good as we know how to buy.

¶ Are you getting results from the coal you are now using? Are you sure it is good? Are you burning it the right way?

¶ There is a deal of difference in how you handle the range or furnace. Our long experience tells us that fact, and we are ready to advise any in doubt as to the best way to make use of coal as fuel

MR. W. A. HARRON, Newton, Ont.

WAS NERVOUS WRECK

But Now in Robust Health

Mr. W. A. Harron occupies the important position of telegraph operator on the C. P. R. in the North-West, and upon his quick brain and steady nerve depend the lives of many thousands of travellers daily. Not so very long ago this bright Canadian youth lay at his home in Newton, Ontario, in a state of nervous exhaustion and premature decline, his parents not expecting him to survive many months. A friend advised the use of PSYCHINE and after taking a few bottles of this life-giving remedy the patient showed signs of rapid improvement.

SNATCHED FROM THE GRAVE

His mother, Mrs. M. E. Harron, writing quite recently says:—"I must "say our son would have been in a consumptive's grave long ago had it not "been for PSYCHINE. He was taken down with La Grippe and a severe "cold. His whole system was weak, including his lungs, which were "seriously affected, as is always the case after La Grippe."

"After taking several remedies and treatments we procured PSYCHINE "and tongue cannot tell the marvellous results brought about in two months. "He gained over twenty pounds in weight, and strength and appetite returned."

Mr. Harron himself is most emphatic as to the beneficial result of using PSYCHINE. He declares, "To-day I am in splendid health and have never been sick a day since I took PSYCHINE," in a letter dated August 27th last.

PSYCHINE is the greatest tonic known to medical science. It builds up the system and tones up every organ of the body, enabling it to resist and throw off disease. Weak nerves cannot exist where PSYCHINE is used consistently. Send for a trial bottle and prove the truth of these statements.

PSYCHINE is sold by all druggists and dealers, 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle.

GREAT SHOWING OF BIRDS AT THE POULTRY SHOW

Over 900 at the Market Hall—Some Big Prize Winners in Various Classes—Miss Yates Interesting Lecture.

The showing in the various classes at the poultry show being held at the market hall under the auspices of the Peterborough Poultry Association, is a revelation to the public. When Judge Bennett, one of the best known poultry judges in the Dominion, and a man who has officiated as judge from coast to coast, remarks on the excellence of the show, it must be one of more than ordinary consequence. In the matter of classification he states he never saw the birds so satisfactorily classified and this reflects direct credit on the capable superintendent, Mr. Geo. Paxman, who looked after all the cooping and placing. In every respect the show is a surprising success and the splendid list of entries have lived up to the expectations of the Poultry Association, which has shown energy and organisation in connection with making and carrying out the arrangements.

SIXTY-NINE CLASSES.

There are sixty-nine classes of poultry represented and 900 select birds are on exhibition.

The heaviest divisions are the minorcas and light and dark brahmas and orpingtons. There is also a splendid class of plymouth rocks. There are eight varieties of wyandottes, a big class of Rhode Island reds and a heavy representation of black silver and golen hamburgs.

To the casual observer the large collection of fancy fowl has a special interest, as have also the games, of which there are seventeen Indian games, eight exhibition games and some of the real old pit birds. There is a large section of all varieties of leghorns.

On a table at the south end of the building is a particularly fine showing by R. Westcott, of a dozen black minorca eggs, weighing 36 1-2 ounces to the dozen. A dozen buff orpington eggs on the same table weigh 23 oz. and the difference in strength lends to the contention that eggs should be sold by weight and not by the dozen. It would seem that this would be to the advantage to both the seller and the purchaser.

On the same table is a pair of dressed buff orpingtons owned by John Mathieson, Manning avenue and weighing 23 pounds. They are spring chickens and are a very fine pair, as their splendid weight would indicate.

A CLASSY SHOWING.

Considering that it is the first annual show under the auspices of the Peterborough Poultry Association the size of the entry list is a matter upon which the association is to be heartily congratulated on the way they had advertised the fixture and secured the entries and co-operation of the prominent poultry raisers of the province.

BIG PRIZE WINNERS.

Some of the birds exhibited have the distinction of winning premier ribbons at Madison Square Garden, New York, Boston, Guelph, Toronto and other prominent American and Canadian shows. In all the classes are entries of the first rank and the general representation is a most elite one. The birds are cooped in 425 commodious and well constructed coops arranged in several rows. Everything in connection with the show, in fact, bespeaks the best management.

NOT "CHICKENS" ALONE.

There are also several varieties of ducks, geese and pigeons at the show. There is an especially good show of pigeons of all varieties and these attractive birds form one of the most interesting features. And the guinea hens and rabbits must not be left out in the general summary.

Taken altogether the show is very interesting and instructive, and the Peterborough Poultry Association must feel greatly encouraged by its success. The attendance has been excellent, especially that of to-day. To-morrow will be the concluding day.

A LECTURE OF INTEREST.

The lecture given this afternoon by Miss Mary Yates on the killing, plucking, dressing and carving of fowl is a very enlightening and practical discourse on the handling of the fowl from the barnyard to the table.

The speaker's treatment of the subject is one that makes it thoroughly understood and the topic is most timely and appropriate. The housewives find particular interest in the lecture, Miss Yates giving a demonstration of all its points with a fowl which she kills, plucks and prepares. The lecture will be given again tonight, and from the discussion it is arousing an attendance of large proportions will be on hand.

SPORTING

SHRUBBS FRIENDS FEAR

Some of Alfred Shrubb's friends seriously doubt his ability to go the Marathon distance of 26 miles 385 yards.

Everybody concedes that, up to fifteen miles, Shrubb is one of the greatest runners in the world. Many believe, though, that fifteen miles is his limit, and that Longboat will lose him in the last stages of the race at New York, Jan. 26th.

The race should be one of the greatest struggles of modern times.—Detroit News-Tribune.

G L Hay vs F M DelaFosse

G H Giroux vs S Ray.

W M Lang vs J F A Fitzgerald.

Wm. Reid vs W Talbot.

HOCKEY

Following the loss of Tom Phillips through injury, of McNamara, who was released to Shamrocks, Pitre, Vair and Lindsay jumped to Renfrew after the Saturday night's game with Alf. Smith's team in Ottawa, and the Edmonton team, who failed in their effort to land the Stanley Cup, left Montreal last night with only half the players they brought east with them just two weeks ago.

Lindsay, Vair and Pitre slipped away quietly from the rest of the Edmonton party Saturday night and yesterday morning they were located in Renfrew by Manager Whitcroft. The three players had been paid for their services to date on Friday night and evidently did not take seriously the statement that legal proceedings could be taken against them for breach of contract. The club officials have decided that after all they would have nothing to gain by a suit.

The remnants of the Edmonton team which arrived in Montreal last night, were at the Corona a couple of hours and left on the 10.30 train for Toronto, where they are billed to play an exhibition game this evening.

At the station Fred Whitcroft stated that the desertion by the three players mentioned above would not mean the disbanding of the team.

"We are taking Billy Nicholson along with us to play the goal position," said Whitcroft, "and as we are to be joined in Toronto by our left winger, Dalton, we will have a complete team for our engagements on the way home. I am not heartbroken by the loss of the three players who jumped to Renfrew, for"—this with a smile to Art Ross, who was at the station to see Lester Patrick off—"I think that we have proved that our western men are all right."

Lester Patrick left with Edmonton last night, and said that he would probably make straight for home in Nelson. It was possible that he might play in the exhibition game in Toronto this evening.

The departure of Patrick with the Edmonton party settled a story current at the Arena Saturday night that the ex-Wanderer point would appear on the Ottawa line-up against his old team here on Wednesday, when the rivals in eastern hockey will hook up for the first time this season.

When Patrick was asked what there was in the report he replied; "Nothing more than this: that they made me a big offer, but I could not accept it. I am going straight west."

Both Whitcroft and Patrick stated that they had enjoyed their trip immensely, and were well enough satisfied despite the defeat in the cup series. Whitcroft showed scars on his lips and right cheek as a result of the game in Ottawa, but said he was feeling fit. As the train was about to go out he remarked;

"You may say that I am coming east next summer with an Indian runner who will clean up all your Longboats and Dorandos. He covers a mail route up north and does 2,000 miles every week of his life."

Inside and Outside.

The following report was sent by a subordinate inspector to his chief in the telephone service. It concerned a faulty house connection:

"Found wire with no outside outside. Put inside wire outside and outside inside. Need more outside for inside."

Learning.

Wear your learning like a watch, in a private pocket, and do not pull it out and display it merely to show that you have one. If you are asked what o'clock it is, tell it, but do not proclaim it hourly or unasked, like the watchman.

Malone Not Insane.

Toronto, Jan. 6.—Dr. Bruce Smith, provincial inspector of asylums and prisons, who examined ex-Chief Malone in the Simcoe jail prior to the preliminary trial last Tuesday, with regard to his mental state, says he could find absolutely no trace of any type of insanity that would inspire him to commit the crime against Constable Wilkins of which he is accused.

Wilkins In Jail.

Simcoe, Jan. 6.—Constable William Wilkins, the victim of Simcoe's shooting tragedy, who made startling confessions at the preliminary hearing of Chief Malone for attempted murder, and who was claimed by the defence to be under the protection of the crown, has been transferred from the sanitarium to the jail.

SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR GEORGE ST

GIVES UP WRESTLING TO ENTER THE PRIZE RING

R Mr. R. F. Roller, of Seattle, well known in this city through having broken into the professional wrestling ranks there in a match with Jack Carkeek, is about to forsake the padded mat for the roped arena. He has stated this over his own signature. Announcement to this effect was made by the World away last summer, but even the Seattle friends of the big pill-dispensing athlete smiled at his pugilistic aspirations.

But the big fellow who has shone in every branch of athletics in which he has ever mixed, and reached the stage of a near world's champion in the grappler's game, really means business and has been quietly preparing for this advent into boxing circles for a couple of months past. Roller does not intend to waste time finding out if he has any chance by fighting a lot of fourth or fifth raters. He wants quick action and intends to have a try against a near-champion right away. That is why he is practically matched against the winner of the Kaufman-Barry match in Los Angeles next Wednesday night.

Jim Jeffries, champion of champions, the greatest ring man of his time, is to give the Seattle man his first chance in the ring. Jeffries quit the fighting game because there was no man anywhere near his equal then in the business. He is now a boxing promoter in Los Angeles and having heard of Roller's prowess as an all-round athlete, he has consented to put the Seattle man on with the winner of the Kaufman-Barry match. Kaufman and Barry fight in Los Angeles next Wednesday night so that by next Thursday Roller will know who is to be his first opponent in the boxing game.

If Roller is cut out for the boxing game he will fin it out in a hurry. Kaufman and Barry are in the near championship class and if he should whip either of them he would be in the limelight at once with plenty of matches offered him. He will not waste several years fighting for recognition but will get in the first fight right from the jump for Kaufman and Barry are recognized as being at the top of the second division.

If Roller makes good at the boxing game he must indeed be regarded as a wonder. Professional fighters and wrestlers say that a man cannot be a good boxer and a good wrestler; that a wrestler uses a different set of muscles from a boxer, and that a wrestler cannot have the kind of speed a boxer needs.

"SUPREMACY OF CHRIST IN BUSINESS LIFE" THE SUBJECT

Dealt With at Last Night's Meetings in Connection With Week of Prayer—Two Large Congregations

Two meetings were held last night in connection with the Week of Prayer, one at Mark street church and the other at St. Andrew's. Both were largely attended, a large number of the business men being present to hear the addresses on "The Supremacy of Christ in Business Life."

AT MARK STREET CHURCH.

At Mark street Methodist church, Ashburnham, Rev. R. J. Riddiford spoke very forcibly upon the identity of all phases of life to the eye of the Christian. He took as his text Luke 2. 49: "Wist ye not that I must be about my father's business." He would have far sooner, he said, sat at the feet of some representative Christian business man and listened to a thoughtful discourse of this subject from a modern business man's standpoint, but he took up his task and humbly prayed that the Holy Spirit will guide us out into a newer and deeper sense of what life's business really is.

* * * *

According to Crabb, an English authority, "Business is that which occupies all of a man's thoughts and powers in some definite and right direction."

* * * *

Now some business men tell us that business and religion cannot be blended. They tell us that no man can be a successful business man and be honest. Personally he did not believe that. The Laymen's Missionary Movement is a contradiction of that selfish charge.

* * * *

Do you think the Lord Jesus Christ would keep a saloon for a livelihood if he lived in Peterborough?

* * * *

How can the religion of Jesus Christ be carried into business?

* * * *

During my gathering of data for this brief address I submitted this question to a number of Christian business men: Can the religion of Jesus Christ be mixed with business? And the answer in every case was about the same—Yes. But when that same question was submitted to a man in the bar-room business the answer was—"You go to hell."

* * * *

When God says "The soul that sinneth it shall die." He did not add: "Except the sin be a commercial sin." When he says: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself." He does not say "Except you are in business."

AT ST. ANDREW'S.

There was a large congregation at St. Andrew's church, where the speaker was Rev. Canon Davidson. Rev. H. M. Manning was chairman and in addition to the address there were appropriate devotional exercises and singing.

Rev. Canon Davidson spoke of the relation of business life in religion and urged honesty in business both before and behind the counter. He impressed upon his hearers the necessity of doing their shopping as early in the day as possible in order that clerks and the delivery men might not have to work and toil late into the night.

Canon Davidson also urged the congregation to always meet their financial obligations promptly. The best way to keep out of debt was not to get into it. If every one paid their debts promptly the world would be much better off.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

There will only be one meeting to-night. It will be at George street church and the subject will be "The Supremacy of Christ in Home Life." The meeting will open at 8 o'clock.

QUARTER OF A CENTURY IN BUSINESS IN PETERBOROUGH

Record af Mr. Robert Fair, Head of the Dry Goods Firm of Robert Fair and Company, Limited—A Progressive Establishment.

A quarter of a century in business in Peterborough is the record of Mr. Robert Fair, head of the firm of R. Fair & Company, Limited, the well-known dry goods firm of this city. It is twenty-five years since Mr. Fair started business here, and has been one of the prominent figures in the business life of Peterborough since locating here.

When Mr. Fair started business here Peterborough had a population of 7,000. In twenty-five years it has increased until it is now 17,000 in round figures. Mr. Fair commenced business on a modest scale. At first a small portion of the first floor and second floors was all that was necessary for the store. The story of the establishment was one of constant growth; the store has been rebuilt and remodelled several times and every available inch of space has been utilized. Fair's has the place where the goods are a little better for the money than anywhere else.

To commemorate the silver jubilee of the establishment of the business Messrs. Fair & Company are putting on a "Quarter Century Scale" during which many lines of goods will be sold at greatly reduced prices. A great whitewear sale will also be held during January. Fuller particulars will be given later.

Mr. Fair has held several important offices in the city, among them being chairman of the Board of Education and President of the Board of Trade.

Installation of Officers

The installation of officers of Court Stanley and Queen Alexandra Circle, A.O.F., will take place on Tuesday evening, Dec. 12th, at eight o'clock, in the Sons of England Hall.

LAST MEETING OF OLD BOARD NEW BOARD MEETS THURSDAY

Much Business Transacted at Meeting of the Board of Education Last Evening—Reports Presented—Chairman Fair's Remarks.

The last meeting of the old Board of Education of 1908 was held last evening, and the inaugural meeting of the new board will be held on Thursday evening, when the chairman for the year and the different committees will be appointed. Much business was transacted at last night's meeting, including discussion on the general statement of receipts and expenditures for the year 1908 and the estimate of revenue and expenditure of the Peterborough Public schools.

The members present were Messrs. Robert Fair (chairman), D. W. Dumble, B. F. Ackerman, W. F. Nelson, John Crane, L. M. Hayes, W. H. Hill and Drs. Morrison and Burnham.

CHAIRMAN'S REMARKS.

Mr. Robert Fair, chairman, before opening the meeting expressed thanks to the ratepayers that he had again been re-elected a member of the Board of Education. He was pleased that Dr. Morrison and Mr. B. F. Ackerman had been returned to the board, but regretted that Mr. W. S. Robinson would not be with them this year. He had done excellent work and had been of valuable assistance as a representative on the Board of Education.

Mr. Fair also expressed his appreciation to the board for having elected him as their chairman for the past two years. He congratulated Alderman W. G. Morrow on his reelection to the City Council. The members present acquiesced in this by unanimous applause.

PROVINCIAL INSPECTOR'S REPORT.

The report of Mr. Wetherall, Provincial Inspector of Collegiate Institutes, on his recent visit to the local schools upon motion of Messrs. Hill and Morrison, was referred to the Committee on Appointments to confer with Principal Kenner and the Supervision Committee was authorized to purchase thermometers and other requirements for the physical laboratories, as pointed out in the report.

The report is not published at the Board's request, as they wished first to consider it in committee.

REPORT OF PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education;

Gentlemen,—Your Public School Building Committee appointed to consider the claim of $100, by Rutherford Bros., of a balance due them on their contract for the King Edward school, beg to report that after careful consideration and on the advice of the solicitor, recommend that a cheque be issued to Rutherford Bros. for $4 in full settlement of their contract and all demands.

Your committee also considered the account of William Blackwell, architect, of $146.00, claimed by him to be due on the King Edward school building, and recommend that a cheque be issued to Mr. Blackwell for $110 in full settlement thereof, Mr. Blackwell agreeing thereto.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE,
Chairman.

Upon motion the report was adopted.

REPORT OF COLLEGIATE INSTITUTE BUILDING COMMITTEE.

To the Chairman and members of the Board of Education;

Gentlemen,—Your Collegiate Institute Building Committee beg leave to report and recommend that McGregor and Reid be paid the balance on their contract together with the sum of $385.50, being amount of their account for all extras, and for lighting fixtures, wiring, etc. Your committee have carefully gone over their bill with the architect, whose certificate is attached thereto.

Your committee also recommend that Mr. C. A. J. Duranceau be paid the balance of his contract, together with the sum of $608.89, being amount of his account for all extras consisting mainly of fittings to laboratory, aquarium, fire protection, etc. Your Committee have carefully considered this account with the architect whose certificate is attached thereto.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

M. A. MORRISON,
Chairman.

Upon motion of Dr. Morrison seconded by Dr. Burnham, the report was adopted.

The meeting then adjourned until Thursday night.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

Wm. Madill desires to announce to the readers of the Review that they have secured the agency for Parisian Sage, the marvelous dandruff cure and delightful hair dressing.

Wm. Madill is glad to state that Parisian Sage is rigidly guaranteed hair restorer.

It cures dandruff in two weeks by killing the dandruff microbes; it stops falling hair; it cures all scalp diseases, or money back.

It is a most pleasant hair dressing, especially for ladies, as it makes the hair soft and lustrous. The price is only 50 cents a large bottle at Wm. Madill's drug store, George street, or by express, all charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

HELPED THE BOYS.

A Letter That Aroused King Christian of Denmark.

King Christian of Denmark once found in his morning mail a letter which moved him more than did most matters of state. The letter was in a boyish scrawl and read as follows:

> Dear King—We are four boys at Flakkebjerb school, and the master whips us daily with a piece of steel rope he found in the harbor. If he doesn't stop there will be a fire.

The name of the teacher being given, the king ordered him to report at once to the minister of justice, while he took the next train for Flakkebjerb and examined the class in the teacher's absence. The children, unawed by the presence of the cruel teacher, told their grievance to the kindly old king, who promised immediate relief, closed the school for the day and ordered that the boys be treated to chocolate and cakes at his expense "to remember him by."

But he did more than that. On returning to Copenhagen he dismissed the cruel teacher without pension, at the same time giving a general warning to all teachers to be chary of corporal punishment. "If boys cannot be trained without cruel beatings," this wise king said, "then there must be something the matter with those who train them. The coming generation must not be made ruffians by ruffianly teachers."

Isle of Wight.

The Isle of Wight inhabitants are not alone in speaking of "going to England" when they leave their own fragment of the kingdom. A patriotic Cornishman also "goes to England" when he crosses the Tamar. Similarly inhabitants of the Balkan peninsula talk of "going to Europe" when they leave their own corner of the continent—in curious contrast with the people of our own island. We regard ourselves as both of and in "Europe," and accordingly it is only "the continent" that we visit. The record in the splendid isolation line is probably held by that minister of the Cumbraes, in the Clyde, who prayed for a blessing upon "the inhabitants of Great and Little Cumbrae and the adjacent islands of Great Britain and Ireland."—London Graphic.

SEARCH PARTIES

Lost in the Wilds—Sensational Story Brought From Fort Churchill

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—Bringing with them a tale of terrible suffering, R. D. Fry of Hudson Bay Railway survey, and E. Morrier and Frank Peters of the Dominion survey, Ottawa, arrived yesterday from Hudson Bay, by snowshoe and dog sleigh, having made the trip in 5 days, bringing their full equipment.

They were employed in laying out the townsite of Fort Churchill, Canada's new ocean port on the Northern Sea.

They brought with them a sensational report of the loss of a party sent out by Major Moody, R.N.M.P., in search of Inspector Peltier and his party of Eskimos, who have been missing some time. A year ago an officer named Caldwell, from the Geological Department at Ottawa, was sent on a survey in the north country, and never was heard of again. Last spring Inspector Peltier was despatched with a search party from Chesterfield Inlet, and was to wait at Fullerton till Aug. 1, but the party and boat were never seen again. The third party, consisting of Sergeant-Corporal Reeves and three Eskimos, were sent out Nov. 22, but nothing was heard from them and it is believed they, too, were lost. A fourth party will be sent out later.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Mrs. Erb and her sister, Mrs. Beizel, are found not guilty of the murder of Capt. Erb.

WATER AND ELECTRICITY

Quebec Man is Nearly Electrocuted in Michigan.

Windsor, Jan. 7.—Fred Menhennick of St. Johns, Que., visiting his brothed in Hastings, Mich., narrowly escaped electrocution while examining a burst water pipe on Tuesday. Carrying an electric coil lamp in his hand, Menhennick stepped into a puddle of water on the cellar floor, thus completing the circuit. Instantly his body became rigid as stone, and he was powerless to move a muscle or cry out. He stood for nearly half an hour in this position while all the time the electricity coursed through his body. Finally, losing consciousness, he fell to the ground. The lamp was torn from his hand and the circuit disconnected. His hands were terribly burned, but the shock to his system is the most serious result. Doctors say he will recover.

LARGE NUMBERS OF LOOTERS SHOT

Special to the Review.

Messina, Jan. 7.—The legal execution of looters began here to-day, several being sentenced to death by the newly convened court martial. Wherever it is shown that the looting of ruins and the robbing of the defenceless victims were not induced by starvation, death sentences are passed upon the offenders. More than fifty villagers from the unaffected mountainous country have been shot down in Messina in the last three days for obtaining supplies under the pretence of being fugitives. They are viewed in the same light as looters and shot down whenever caught.

Republicans will meet Feb. 12, in Grand Rapids, Mich., to nominate for the spring elections.

PROGRESS OF THE RELIEF

Order is Being Restored at Scene of Earthquake.

Rome, Jan. 7.—Every hour now sees progress in the bringing order into the earthquake district and system into the work of relief. The instructions of the Government to Lieut.-General Francesco Mazza, commander of the province, are in the direction of removing temporarily all the living in the destroyed cities and towns, so that they may be cared for in a sanitary manner. The Italian War Department is sending large quantities of field equipment for use in bivouacking in the open.

The re-population will be through survivors proving their rights to property under special enactments which Parliament will be asked by the Cabinet to pass in the extraordinary sittings called for Friday and Saturday. A measure is in course of preparation for asking Parliament to meet the immense expenditures caused by the earthquake by increasing the tax on buildings, so as to augment the income by $360,000.

Dogs Menace to 'Quake Sufferers.

Messina, Jan. 7.—Dogs now constitute one of the dangers to the earthquake refugees.

These animals, starving and often rabid through lack of water, gnaw the corpses like hyenas and frequently attack the refugees themselves.

The dogs are being shot on sight.

Two Millions From U.S.

New York, Jan. 7.—The money contributed by the Governmnet of the United States, state Governments and individual Americans for relief in Italy amounts to over $2,000,000, and is still flowing into various funds. New York City's contribution reached a total of $345,000.

Good Progress Being Made on New Park-st. Baptist Church.

Good progress is being made on the new Park street Baptist church and if nothing goes wrong it will likely be ready for services towards the end of February. Arrangements are being made for the opening ceremony, which will be of an exceedingly interesting nature.

APPOINTED TRADE COMMISSIONER

Mr. H. R. Poussette Nephew of Mr. A. P. Poussette of This City Receives Important Commission.

The announcement is made from Ottawa that the department of trade and commerce has appointed Mr H R. Poussette to be Canadian trade commissioner in South Africa with headquarters at Durban. Mr Poussette, who is a native of Sarnia, being a son of Mr H M Poussette of this town went to South Africa some eight years ago, having received an appointment as captain in the Orange River division of the Baden Powell constabulary force. This position he held until about three months ago, when he retired from the force. Mr. Poussette's appointment makes the second Canadian trade commissioner in South Africa, the other being Mr. Chelsey of Cape Town.—Sarnia Canadian.

Mr H R Poussette is a nephew of Mr A P Poussette of this city. He has visited here on several occasions and his many friends here will be pleased to hear of his promotion.

FARTHING IS CONSECRATED

Impressive Ceremony Attends Installation of Bishop of Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 7.—The Very Rev. John Cragg Farthing, D.D., was consecrated in Christ Church Cathedral yesterday morning, the Feast of the Epiphany, fifth bishop of the Diocese of Montreal, according to the exalted order and solemn ceremonials that have been the delight and usage of the Church of England for centuries.

The solemn rite of consecration was performed by Archbishop Sweatman, Primate of all Canada, his grace being assisted by Bishop Dunn of Quebec, Bishop Reeve of Toronto, Bishop Dumoulin of Niagara, Bishop Mills of Ontario, Bishop Williams of Huron, Bishop Worrall of Nova Scotia, Bishop Cadman of Maine, while there were also in attendance Dean Evans, Archdeacon Norton, Canon Ellegood and a number of visiting clergymen.

The procession of bishops and clergy entered the cathedral through the vestry door. First came the main body of clergy, followed by Dean Evans as head of the diocese up to the time of the consecration of the bishop-elect. Then came members of the vested choir, and next the dignitaries, archdeacons, rural deans and canons, followed by the bishops and their chaplains, among whom came the bishop-elect and the primate. Proceeding down the aisle leading from the vestry, the chancel choir sang the processional hymn, "The Church's One Foundation."

Any possibility of a disturbance, such as has been threatened by anonymous representatives of the so-called Protestant movement, was obviated by the absolutely Low Church nature of the proceedings.

An interesting feature of the ceremony was the presence of Bishop Farthing's aged father. About two hundred clergy were present, and not only the chancel but a large block of seats in the nave were filled by them.

WAR WILL BE ENDED

Two Factions of Moving Picture Business Have Decided to Unite.

New York, January 6—A $15,000,000 merger according to an announcement made today, will end a moving picture war that has been in progress for many months. Before the consolidation which occurred January 1, the moving picture institutions were divided into two camps. The Edison Company headed what was called the Association and the Biograph Company, the independents.

The merger is to be knowwn as the Motion Picture Patents Company.

It is planned, it is stated to do away with the sale outright of films which hereafter can only be rented. Should this plan go into effect it is said to be likely that within thirty days the number of moving picture places will be reduced about one-half.

GREAT CATHEDRAL OF TOLEDO UNSAFE

Special to the Review.

Toledo, Spain, Jan. 7.—A board of architects has pronounced the cathedral at Toledo one of the largestand most celebrated gothic edifices in Europe, unsafe, and liable to collapse. The cathedral services are now being conducted in the Church of the Trinity.

WERE ONLY FOUR MORE

Marriages in 1908 Than in 1907 and Last Year Was Leap Year Too.

There were more deaths, more births and more marriages in Peterboroug hduring 1908 than during 1907. Although 1908 was leap year there were only four more marriages than in the previous year. Apparently Peterborough ladies did not take advantage of the leap year privilege. There were 42 more deaths in 1908 than in 1907, but the number of births showed an even larger increase, there being 88 more in 1908 than in 1907.

The figures were given out at the city clerk's office to-day and are as follows;

	1908	1907
Births	453	365
Marriages	168	164
Deaths	[illegible]	231

The number of births, marriages and deaths during the last quarter of 1908—October, November and December—was as follows;

Births	119
Marriages	49
Deaths	41

WEST RIDING ELECTION PROTEST

The appeal of the respondent, Mr. J R Stratton, M.P., herein will come up before the supreme court judge for hearing on the 16th proximo. The appeal is from the judgment of Mr. Justice Britton who found against the respondent in his "preliminary objections" to the petition of protest fyled herein. The registrar of the Supreme Court has directed that the respondent proceed with his appeal on the 16th proximo. The matter came before the registrar yesterday on direction of Mr Justice Britton who ordered that the matter should be proceeded with without delay.

Appeals do not necessarily have the effect of postponing a trial.

SHE GAVE BROOCHES

An Aged Lady Contributes Jewelry to the Building Fund of Park-st. Church.

Rev Mr Riddiford had somewhat of a surprise yesterday when he received two gold brooches as a contribution to the building fund for the new Park street Baptist church.

They were from an aged lady who resides near Warsaw and who is the daughter of a Baptist minister. She asked that the brooches be sold and the money used to help pay for the new church. They are valued at about five dollars each.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

M. W. Cunliffe's engineering works at Rossland were burned at a loss of $10,000.

Mrs. Elgar Coville of Syracuse, N.Y., aged 75, who lived alone, was burned to death.

Twenty-two sentences of death for crimes committed in 1908 are announced from St. Petersburg.

E. H. Harriman has decided to build a railway line from the main line of the Southern Pacific into the Republic of Mexico.

Of 615 deaths in St. John, N.B., during 1908 reported by the Board of Health, tuberculosis in its various forms was responsible for 118.

Sam Duck of Grand Valley was tried before Magistrates Richardson, Tate and McClelland and convicted and fined $40 for selling ordinary butter as creamery.

GALE SWEEPS ST. JOHN A TERRIFIC WIND STORM

Signalling Tower and Part of Bridge Are Carried Away, Lines of Communication Blown Down and Traffic Paralyzed by Worst Tempest in History of Province.

St. John, N.B., Jan. 7.—All traffic on C.P.R. lines in this province is at a standstill, and all branch lines are out of commission. Some Intercolonial bridges are three feet under water and enormous damage to private property is the result of the worst rain and wind storm in the history of New Brunswick, which raged from midnight until noon yesterday.

The wind at Point Lapreaux, near St. John, at times reached a velocity of nearly a hundred miles per hour and the seas of the Bay of Fundy were running mountains high. Several ocean liners ready to leave St. John yesterday morning remained securely tide to wharves and harbor shipping is at a standstill. Every tug owned here has been busy all day in frantic efforts to help vessels anchored in harbor.

Shortly before noon the large Italian steel bark Merioneth, tied to Government Pier with fifteen huge hawsers, ripped, broke away and drifted across the harbor to the I.C.R. trestle bridge, with which she collided with terrific force, bending her plates and carrying away the upper structure of the bridge. Tugs were incapable of holding her against the gale. Some of her sails were torn from the yards and left in shreds. Several schooners broke away and were damaged.

It is feared many wrecks took place along the treacherous Bay of Fundy and Maine coast. The steamers Montezuma, Bengorehead and Manchester Trader are being held here until the storm abates.

The telegraph and telephone wires all over the province are down.

At the height of the gale the signalling tower and apparatus on the customs house was carried away and several pedestrians narrowly escaped being struck. Plate glass windows and chimneys all over the city were demolished.

Haymarket Square, a low part of the city, is under water two feet and people are leaving their houses in delivery wagons.

All C.P.R. trains for to-day are cancelled, as near Welsford, a few miles above here, a washout seven miles long occurred. It is hoped the water across the I.C.R. tracks near Sussex will subside to allow trains to pass to-day. Auxiliary trains have been sent out from here to effect a pass.

In Moncton and Fredericton cellars and whole streets were flooded and people are very uneasy.

A MINISTER IS MURDERED IN A TOWN IN MICHIGAN

Sensational Crime at Columbus—Methodist Minister Slain by Unknown Person and the Body Chopped Up.

Detroit, Jan. 7.—The dismembered body of Rev. John J. Carmichael, a Methodist minister, was found yesterday partially consumed by fire in the two heating stoves of one of his three churches near Columbus, in the southwestern part of St. Clair County.

Identification of the dead clergyman was made by Orville Lindsay, who was sent to the church by Mrs. Carmichael, who had been in great distress since her husband failed to return home as expected Tuesday evening.

Clues to the murderer and his motive were difficult to obtain. There is a rumor that a strange man left a train at Hickey late Tuesday and was directed to the Columbus Church, and there are other rumors indicating that two men were implicated in the crimes.

The fact that several coins were found in the clothing of the dead man and in the ashes in the stove precluded the theory of robbery, and at the time of his death it was not known that the murdered minister had an enemy in the world.

Rev. Mr. Carmichael had been in Michigan about ten years and for two years' had been pastor of the three churches at Columbus. Adair and China. With his wife and three children he resided at Adair. Leaving home Tuesday morning he told Mrs. Carmichael that he was going to Columbus to arrange for a series of revival meetings there.

The church floor, the pews and even the communion table were daubed with blood and fragments of bloody clothing were scattered all around. Evidently the clergyman, who was 56 years old and of athletic build, had made a terrific struggle for his life.

The authorities on their arrival at the church found parts of the dismembered body in the two stoves respectively at the front and rear, and discovered in one stove the head of what was apparently a new hatchet, the handle of which had been burned off.

A dirk was also found in the church and it is believed that the dirk served for the murder, while the hatchet was used to cut the body to pieces.

The minister's horse was found yesterday tied to a tree in the village of Pine River, his overcoat being discovered in the buggy. Pine River is a small village near Thornton, on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway and fully twenty miles from the scene of the murder.

MANY BITTEN BY MAD DOGS

More Than 100 Thought to Have Been Infected in Pennsylvania.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 7.—A quarantine to last 100 days has been placed over Springboro, Conneautville, Meadville, Brookville, Linesville and other small towns in Crawford and adjoining counties because of the prevalence of hydrophobia in the western part of the state and the presence of dogs said to be affected with rabies.

Dogs are being shot on the streets as they are seen, and every precaution is being taken by the residents of the community to prevent the disease from spreading more than it already has. One death has already occurred, and the little Pasteur Institute at Pittsburg is overcrowded with sixteen dangerous patients, and about twenty are waiting to come in.

More than one hundred persons in the dog infected counties have been bitten in the last ten days, and more than five hundred dogs in three counties have been killed. It is said that many persons are developing rabies through having kissed one who was affected.

THE EARTH STILL QUAKING

Special to the Review.

Berne, Switzerland, Jan. 7.—Severe earth shocks have occurred at Zermatt one of the most famous and frequented resorts of Switzerland.

Rome, Jan. 7.—The latest provisional statement drawn up shows that sixty towns were destroyed and gives the number of dead in these as 165,063. This does not include hospital deaths.

LATEST CABLE AND TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

A Schoolbook Enquiry.

Regina, Sask., Jan. 7.—The Legislature met yesterday afternoon.

Attorney-General Turgeon gave notice that he will move for the appointment of a special committee, composed of Messrs. Bole, Bradshaw, Sheppard, Smith and Golds, to investigate Mr. Haultain's insinuations regarding the awarding of school book contracts.

C. P. R. Conciliation Board.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Judge Fortin of Montreal has been appointed chairman of the board of conciliation and investigation, which was commissioned under the Lemieux Act to enquire into a dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. and the locomotive engineers.

Hicks Not Guilty.

Winnipeg, Jan. 7.—The jury in the case of Thomas Hicks, who was being tried for the murder of Eccles Lennox, a Scotchman, in the railway yards here on the night of Nov. 17, after being out ten minutes, brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Vancouver's Growth.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 7.—Vancouver's assessment for taxation is $72,000,000, an increase of ten million over last year. This represents 50 per cent. of improvements.

Loans Beacon to Italy.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—The Marine Signal Co. has loaned a portable lighthouse beacon to the Italian Government for Messina.

More Protection Unnecessary.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—It is understood that Mr. Costello of customs service, who was named a commissioner to make a report on British and Canadian woollens industries, has reported that the Canadian woollen industry does not require more protection.

All that is required to enable Canadian mills to hold their own with those of Yorkshire is modern equipment and improved methods such as is to be found in English mills.

Owing to the absence in Europe of Mr. Fielding, who is chiefly responsible for tariff matters, the report is not likely to be made public till after the sessions opens, when it will be presented to Parliament.

Standard Oil to Get New Trial.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The Supreme Court, having refused to review the Appellate Court's reversal of Judge Landis' fine of $29,240,000 against the Standard Oil Co., Judge Landis was asked yesterday to set a new date for the re-trial of the case.

Judge Landis informed the district attorney that he would not hear the second trial of the case, but that he would transfer it to some other judge to be determined upon later.

Murdered His Mother.

New York, Jan. 7.—Paul C. Finn, 23 years of age, surrendered yesterday, saying he had killed his mother, Mary A. Finn, 57 years of age, in their home in East New York. There were a dozen knife wounds in her body. When he went home Tuesday night he said his mother reproached him for being intoxicated.

Mrs. Maybrick to Marry.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 7.—Mrs. Florence Maybrick, the American who was convicted in England of poisoning her husband, and sentenced to life imprisonment, and whose release on ticket-of-leave was secured by the women of the United States, is soon to be married to Charles L. Wagner of Chicago.

Mrs. Maybrick has been lecturing under the auspices of a bureau. Wagner, the secretary, fell in love and asked her to become his wife. She is said to have refused several times, saying she was afraid her past might prove an injury to Wagner.

Recently, by a Virginia court decision, Mrs. Maybrick and her mother, the Baroness de Roques, were awarded the title to a large tract of land in Kentucky, valued at $2,500,000.

No Dividend.

New York, Jan. 7.—Announcement was made yesterday that the decision of the directors of the Dominion Power & Transmission Co. to suspend payment of dividends is attributable to the general business depression, together with the fact that the threat of competition of the hydro-electric commission has had an inimical effect upon the sales of the company's securities.

Another factor has been the Brantford & Hamilton Railway, which has cost several hundred thousand dollars more than originally estimated. The directors feel that sales of additional stock at reasonable figures at present are impossible and the only method available for the company's purposes is to use earnings.

Orders to Shipbuilders.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 7.—Lake shipbuilders have orders for sixteen vessels for delivery in 1909. In this list are 11 bulk freight steamers, two package freighters and three passenger steamers. These have a carrying capacity of 110,300 tons a trip, or two million tons for a season of twenty trips each. All are to be ready at the opening of navigation.

Burglar Shot At.

Chatham, Jan. 7.—A burglar made three attempts Tuesday night to enter the residence of Huxley Marshall, corner of West street and Patison avenue, and Richard Tinning's residence, Patison avenue. On the occasion of his last attempt to enter the Marshall residence he only desisted after several shots had been fired at him.

U.S. Tariff Tinkers.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 7.—John W. Gates, in a letter to Speaker Cannon, declares that iron, coal and lumber should be put on the free tariff list, and that a cut of 50 per cent. in the steel schedule would not affect the manufacturers of iron and steel in this country.

A Dry Dock Deal.

Sarnia, Ont., Jan. 7.—A mammoth deal is on between the Reid Wrecking Co. and the Taynes interests of Port Huron to rebuild the old Dunford and Alverson dry dock of Port Huron so that it will accommodate the largest vessels on the lake.

THE DAIRYMEN AT PRESCOTT

Falling Off in Exports is Regrettable Says Mr. Dargavel.

Prescott, Jan. 7.—The first session of the thirty-second annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association was held yesterday morning.

J. R. Dargavel, M.P.P., stated that the most regrettable feature in connection with the dairy industry in Eastern Ontario was the vast reduction in cheese exports during 1908, although the butter exports had increased to some extent; this was due directly to the shortage of feed in the spring and the prolonged drought during the summer.

He further stated that the Canadian Government should institute a system of inspection of factories and farms as to sanitary conditions, such as is carried on in Great Britain.

Senator Derbyshire praised the work of the Dairymen's Association in the production of a marked improvement emphasized the importance of more intensive methods of farming. Every farm should produce sufficient for the needs of the live stock, yet Grenville County alone had to import more than $500,000 worth of feed last year.

FREE TURKEY

If there is one thing more wonderful than another it is the sudden casting-off by Turkish men and women of their bonds. Not less wonderful is it that the Sultan acquiesces. We will not say that he had to do so. The change in Turkey, hitherto bound hard and fast in the dungeon of the most despotic form of religious administration and belief in the world, is like the coming of a new star into our ken. It will open up an unhealthy corner of Europe to light and freedom. Once more "the people" have shown that they cannot be happily ruled except by themselves. It is possible that under the better sultans the Turks were at their best, but any system of autocratic rule is bound to meet with disaster sooner or later. No system will ever conduce to human perfection. It is too much to expect that. But public opinion divested of the influence of trusts, sharks and political crooks is the nearest that can be attained to that degree of human self-satisfaction known as human happiness.

THE AUSTRALIAN CAPITAL.

Australia has at last definitely selected a site for the proposed federal capital of the commonwealth. A bill confirming the selection of the Yass-Canberra district as the site of the capital has passed both houses of national legislature.

Thus this great southern continent approaches the realization of one of the most alluring dreams of the advocates of Australian federation. They pictured the creation of a wonder city, gleaming white in the pure air of the Australian highlands, where the nation's statesmen could make laws and hold debates free from the provincial influence that tainted the Australian capitals.

It was to be a city of wide streets and shady groves, with streams of crystal water running through beautiful pleasure gardens. It was to contain a capitol and public offices that would give scope to the originality of Australia's architects, and dwelling houses suited to the climatic conditions of the country.

From the outset the selection of the seat of government was hedged about by all kinds of conditions. It must be in no other state than New South Wales. It must not be within 100 miles of Sydney. It must have easy access to some safe harbor.

For nearly eight years the situation of the capital has been Australia's prime bone of contention. Nearly every little bush township in New South Wales has advanced its claim to the distinction.

Tired Australian M.P.'s have toiled up inaccessible bush tracks, inspecting one site after another. Interminable wrangles have gone on, both in parliament and the press, over the various sites proposed. In the meantime the seat of government has remained in Melbourne, to the undisguised disgust of Sydney, its rival city in Australia.

The site now finally chosen is as near to Sydney as the conditions allow, being little more than 100 miles from that city. It lies in the great dividing range of hills. Yass, the settlement from which it takes its name is 1650 feet above the sea level.

The new capital is thus assured of the first necessities of such a city in Australia,—a cool climate, a regular rainfall and a permanent water supply. It is within easy access of the excellent but neglected harbor of Jervis bay, and is on the main line of railway between Melbourne and Sydney.

It is calculated that an initial sum of $25,000,000 will be expended on the beginnings of a city that will in time rival Washington and Ottawa as a seat of national government.

EDITORIAL NOTES

There is something wrong in that form of religion which produces strife and which has to be overleaped by Humanity in its effort to ignore prejudice and assist misfortune.

John McCormack a young Irishman of lofty stature, and 24 years of age, is the new tenor engaged by Hammerstein, the American impressario. McCormack made a most favorable impression in England.

We are informed on reliable authority that cigarette-smoking amongst young school boys is rife. It is unnecessary to dwell upon the damage done to growing lads by such a practice. It unfits them for study and depraves them in other ways to an alarmingly dangerous extent. While it is difficult to enforce laws it is necessary to keep a sharper eye upon some delinquincies than upon others and this is one that demands prompt and effective attention.

OF INTEREST

No chronicler of Christmas doings has done it so inimitably as Dickens and nowhere has Dickens described them better than in the "Pickwick Papers." One might read the paragraph relating to the observance of the holiday half a hundred times and not become weary. The Christmas spirit is everywhere evident in the chapters devoted to the holiday making. From the beginning, when the hero, his three friends and his faithful servant start for Dingley Dell, to the hour of their return there is Christmas in every sentence:

As brisk as bees if not altogether as light as fairies, did the four Pickwickians assemble on the morning of the 22nd day of December, in the year of grace in which these faithfully recorded adventures were undertaken and accomplished. Christmas was close at hand in all his bluff and hearty honesty. It was the season of hospitality, merriment and open heartedness. The old year was preparing, like an ancient philosopher, to call all his friends around him and amid the sound of feasting and revelry to pass gently and calmly away. Gay and merry was the time, and right gay and merry were at least four of the numerous hearts that were gladdened by its coming.

After travelling through a wide and open country, where "the wheels skim over the hard and frosty ground," slowing up as they draw near a country town where the horses are changed then again "dashing along the open road with the fresh air blowing in their faces and gladdening their very hearts within them," they arrive at Dingley Dell, where we are introduced to that famous personage the fat boy. He is an old acquaintance of Mr. Pickwick, but to Sam Weller his face is strange. To follow this first meeting:

Having given this direction and settled with the coachman, Mr. Pickwick and his three friends struck into the footpath across the fields and struck into the footpath across the fields and walked briskly away, leaving Mr. Weller and the fat boy confronted together for the first time. Sam looked at the fat boy with great astonishment, but without saying a word, and began to stow the things rapidly away in the cart, while the fat boy stood quietly by, and seemed to think it a very interesting sort of thing to see Mr. Weller working by himself.

The conversation of these two characters is too long to reprint here but not so much so co peruse with the greatest interest. We must pass over the story of the wedding which was the day before Christmas eve at Dingley Dell, at which Mr. Pickwick distinguished himself by a felicitous speech, and get to the story of the dance. Dickens' description of the old sitting room is a gem:

The best sitting room at Manor Farm was a good, long, dark paneled room, with a high chimney piece and a capacious chimney, up which you could have driven one of the new patent cabs, wheels and all. At the upper end of the room, seated in a shady bower of holly and evergreens were the two best fiddlers and the only harp in Muggleton. In all sorts of recesses and all kinds of brackets stood massive old silver candlesticks with four branches each. The carpet was up, the candles burned bright, the fire blazed and crackled on the hearth, and merry voices and light-hearted laughter rang through the room. If any of the old English yeomen had turned into fairies when they died, it was just the place in which they would have held their revels.

After the dance was over, Mr. Pickwick, having acquitted himself with great credit, the reader is told about the doings in the famous old kitchen. Here hung the mistletoe and did its mission well in adding to the jollity of the occasion. The artist whose pictures appear on his pages has done excellent justice to Dickens' text:

From the centre of the ceiling of this kitchen old Wardle had just suspended with his own hands a huge branch of mistletoe, and this same branch of mistletoe instantaneously gave rise to a scene of general and most delightful struggle and confusion, in the midst of which Mr. Pickwick, with a gallantry which would have done honour to a descendent of Lady Tollinglower herself, took the old lady by the hand, led her beneath the mystic branch and saluted her in all courtesy and decorum. Wardle stood with his back to the fire, surveying the whole scene with the utmost satisfaction, and the fat boy took the opportunity of appropriating to his own use and summarily devouring a particularly fine mince pie that had been carefully put by for somebody else.

It was a pleasant thing to see Mr. Pickwick in the centre of the group, now pulled this way and then that, and first kissed on the chin and then on the nose, and then on the nose and then on the spectacles and to hear the peals of laughter which

Night riding is a form of lawlessness which, in the last two years, has grown up in the south until it has become a serious menace to civil government.

Whole communities have been awed and intimidated. Neighbor has become afraid of neighbor and the law-abiding fear to condem the lawless.

While crimes are numerous, it is difficult to procure evidence against the criminals, and, even when evidence is abundant, acquittal often follows trial. Judges are intimidated, or show the spirit of the demagogue. The law impotent. A condition has arisen which approaches anarchy.

In West Tennessee the Night Riders have been most active in Obion county, one of the most fertile districts in the south with its best farming sections selling all the way from $75 to $150 an acre.

Reelfoot Lake forms the western border of the county. On the Obion side of the lake rises a range of steep and rugged hills, in which there are many cabin homes—of fishermen, hunters and small farmers—while many more fishermen live along the lake shores. This is the heart of the Night Riders district.

Here are the most desperate, reckless and cruel of all the leaders of the night-riding fraternity. Within these hills and along the borders of the lake, many men and women have been given the lash, houses and other property have been destroyed and citizens have been awed into silence or compelled to join the terrorists.

FLOOD OF CRIME AT ITS HEIGHT

The flood of crime reached its climax in the brutal murder of Capt. Rankin, and the attempt to murder Judge Taylor. The murder was the outcome of a bitter legal contest over the ownership of Reelfoot lake.

This lake formed by seismic disturbance in 1812, is about twenty-five miles long and from one to three miles wide. It resembles overflowed lowerland, and contains many "cypress knees," a number of islands and frequent patches of wild rice—a paradise for sportsman that abounds in varieties of game fish and affords a rich feeding ground for ducks during the fall and winter.

Between the shores of Reelfoot and the Mississippi, its watery boundaries making it almost an island, lies little Lake country where extensive tracts of valuable land were owned by the late Major J. W. Harris. Extending his holdings Major Harris brought up titles to large tracts that bordered on the lake and were covered by its waters, so that he received not only riparian rights, but acquired ownership of the lake itself.

A lawsuit followed, and Major Harris dying in the meantime, left to his son, Judge Harris, a fortune, largely in land, worth $1,500,000. The West Tennessee Land Company was organized. Judge Harris owning much of the stock and Messrs Taylor and Rankin, whose terrible adventure, at Walnut Log so shocked the nation, sharing with others ownership of the remainder.

In the legal suit, Captain Taylor and Judge Rankin, were company counsel and they won its case in the lower court. The supreme court is still to pass upon its merits.

As owners of the lake, the land company has felt it open to all sportsmen, native or outsiders, with the limit to a gun fixed at half a hundred ducks a day. But any one who does market shooting is required to sell to the company, or if he sells elsewhere to pay the owners a royalty. Last May the Night Riders burned the company docks and buildings.

Captain Rankin and Judge Taylor went to Walnut Log to meet a man named Carpenter, who proposed to lease a tract of the land. They lodged for the night at Ward's hotel, a combination of fishing dock, country store and inn for the accommodation of sportsmen. They slept in the same room on separate beds.

It was 10 o'clock when the Night Riders swarming into the house, covered Ward with their guns and forced him to show them the visitors' room. They took their prisoners to the bank of a slough in a wood several hundred yards from the inn and after a long parley, placed a rope around Captain Rankin's neck, drew him up to a limb, and then let him down again. At that one ruffian drove the butt of his gun into the victim's mouth and broke his jaw. The tragedy was over soon afterward for a heavy charge from a shotgun blew off one side of the captain's head.

Judge Taylor an old Confederate soldier, dashed into the slough, made his way across in the darkness and lay behind a log at the water's edge, while the murderers filled his improvised ramparts with lead. They supposed they had killed him, and departed. It was only when after he had travelled for a night and a day through the bayous and bottoms of Lake county, and reached Tiptonville exhausted, that the despatches which had told of a double murder were amended.

The three companies that were instantly ordered to Reelfoot under my command by Governor Patterson were joined by two other companies from the First Tennessee. Led by native guides five detachments were sent scouring the night-riding section, which had been divided into as many zones. By dark we had fifty prisoners in the gardhouse. The number soon rose to 150.

Over the prisoners I put a heavy guard, with orders to kill any who attempted to escape. I threw a cordon around the district, arrested all suspects detained all needful witnesses and searched houses whenever it appeared requisite.

There followed grueling examinations of suspects, and members of the gang made confessions. The rope from Captain Rankin's neck bloodstained from his ferocious murder, was flung into the hands of one ringleader with the demand that he identify it.

His nerve held out for a bold cool denial, but a few minutes later he broke down into abject pleas for his life and told a story that was a thing of the utmost horror.

Other confessions that were secured revealed a state of brutality, cruelty and depravity almost beyond belief. It appeared that, of the cowardly men who set on the two lawyers at Walnut Log, twelve actually participated in the foul murder of Captain Rankin. Ten of those murderers have been captured.

Among the leaders of the Night Riders, three are in the Memphis gaol and nine more are imprisoned at Nashville. After the general arrests some of the prisoners were released and others were paroled. On November 5th we had still had 56 in the guard house.

When, at the onset of winter weather, in November, 100 of the militiamen were released from duty and arolod to return to their homes, after a full month's service, thirty prisoners were under arrest in Union City pending action by the Grand Jury, 40 soldiers had been retained at Reelfoot Lake to go into winter quarters.

During this long and thorough search of the district the soldiers have gone through the wooded hills and along strange paths in the face of the threats of assassination and ambush, and, in the light of day and the darkness of night have brought from their homes men who, with gun and lash and torch, have terrorized whole communities, and where they have not murdered or burned have applied the cruel whip to the bared back of women as well as men. They are humble enough after the soldiers capture them.

The military commander was given absolute command of the district, with full martial power short of trying and executing offenders. Had he been given that authority, perhaps a dozen Night Raiders would be in their graves.

The soldiers have not yet finished their work in the Reelfoot lake district. When they have there will be no more Night Raiders if the courts do their part. If they fail, the failure will be a bid for lawlessness to continue. Governor Patterson has stretched his authority in doing what he had done; but if he were authorized to declare martial law, night raiding would soon be stamped out of Tennessee.

The condition which the night Raiders have created is absolutely intolerable. They must be destroyed, or anarchy will take the place of law in the South. As it is those who live beyond the night ridden district can have no conception of the terrorized condition of the people.

So late as October 25, the residents of Trenton, Tenn, the home of Capt. Rankin, received warning that they were taking too much interest in the investigation of his murder. The place, the letter declared, would soon be visited, and every one in it, whites and negroes, would be annihilated. Armed guards were stationed about the city to prevent the fulfilment of the threats.

In the open country one may ride for miles and see few men. Most dwellings seem to be abandoned or closed. Occasionally a face can be seen peeping from a window or around a corner. An atmosphere of gloom and sadness, of fear and apprehension seems to pervade the whole community. No law abiding citizen feels safe in his own house.

The night riders are chiefly very young men, poor and ignorant, with a few older heads and some men of intelligence and property as leaders or advisers —among them citizens of high reputation. Among the rank and file are those who cannot read or write and numbers who have been compelled to join through fear or force. But all must take the drastic and bloody night rider oath, for the violation of which the penalty is death.

Some hint of the state of affairs comes from the reluctance of witnesses to testify and from their appeals for secrecy and protection. After the first haul of our dragnet men and women came to me and fervently exclaimed:—

"Oh, thank God for the soldiers. Now I can go to sleep in peace. I have not done that for months. I hope you will stay here until this terrible condition is wiped out. If your work is not done completely, we are all likey to be murdered."

That is why the soldiers are going into winter quarters, after the most widespread search for criminals this section has witnessed, for years past. We must do our work well.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

New York Legislature Opens.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 7.—The 132nd State Legislature, since the days of Governor Clinton, began its annual session here yesterday.

Caucus nominations of Tuesday night, including the re-election of Jas. W. Wadsworth, Jr., as Speaker of the Assembly, were ratified.

Rains Make Havoc.

New York, Jan. 7.—Fifteen lives were lost, three large iron bridges swept away, a railroad disabled for 30 miles and telegraph lines destroyed by a week of torrential rains on the Atlantic coast of Costarica, Central America, at the end of last month.

Theatre and Hotel Burned.

Springfield, Mo., Jan. 7.—The Baldwin Theatre, which was empty, was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight yesterday, together with a number of smaller structures. The Colonial Hotel was damaged to the extent of about $100,000.

Great New U.S. Battleship.

Washington, Jan. 7.—Plans have been outlined by the bureau of construction of the United States navy for a great battleship of 25,000 tons, designed to carry eight 14-inch guns.

Sir Charles In Ottawa.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson of the Grand Trunk Railway is in Ottawa with C. M. Hayes.

Shareholders Ratify Sale.

Oshawa, Jan. 7.—With a majority vote of 5,116 shares to 104 the shareholders of the Western Bank of Canada yesterday ratified the resolution of the directors accepting $160 per share from the Standard Bank with 8 per cent. interest from Oct. 1, the sale to include the good-will and assets of the bank and the surrender of the charter.

It is expected that the whole matter will be closed up in about six weeks.

Mrs Harold B Pinder, the only Chicagoan known to have been in the stricken city of Messina has cabled her husband.

Thirty-Four Drown.

Odessa, Jan. 7.—The Russian steamer Swiatoslav, with a crew of 38, collided near Novossisk with the Greek steamer Poseidon yesterday. The Swiatoslav sank within three minutes. Four of her crew managed to get aboard the Poseidon and were saved.

Brooms to Be Dearer.

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 7.—A general advance in brooms of 50 cents a dozen and the products of broom corn, owing to the shortage in the crop, will be made, according to members of the Association of Broom Manufacturers.

Charged With Stealing Light.

Hamilton, Jan. 7.—J. A. Luther, 495 East Cannon street, has been summoned to police court this morning on the charge of diverting electric current belonging to the Cataract Power Co.

Spring Has Come.

South Norwalk, Conn., Jan. 7.—Theodore Smith, dean of the north fishermen, reports that eels are coming out of the mud, and with frost fish, are biting at the hook as in summer days. Irving Wilson, hunter, states that the wild duck are flocking and mating as they do in the spring time, while men of the Roton Point Life Saving Corps go in swimming daily at Hickory Bluff.

Weather students reports the appearance of angle worms, sure harbingers of the vernal awakening.

Misread Regulations.

Ottawa, Jan. 7.—Officials of the Department of Agriculture say there is nothing in the existing quarantine regulations to prevent the importation of hides and skins from the United States. A provision in the regulation provides that skins that are not those of remnants are exempt.

The protest, which fur dealers of New York City have made to the State Department at Washington against the Canadian regulation, it is said, must be based on misconception of purport of regulations.

Cold Snap Is Here.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—The cold wave has arrived. Although it was only nine above zero in Toronto yesterday, western towns had a touch of real weather, the following temperatures being reported to the metereological office:

Calgary, 28 below; Edmonton, 32; Battleford, 34; Regina, 51; Prince Albert, 42; Moose Jaw, 42; Qu'Appelle, 42; Winnipeg, 40; Port Arthur, 30. The following registered above zero: London, 17; Toronto, 9; Ottawa, 2; Montreal, 10; Quebec, 10; St. John, 42; Halifax, 34.

Some of the western states also got it, as these figures will show:

Kansas City, 8 below; Milwaukee, 15; Omaha, Neb., 13; Chicago, 9.

Hope For Patrick Yet?

New York, Jan. 7.—Learning that Charles F. Jones, former valet of William Marsh Rice, is dying in Texas and that he had a statement to make in connection with the case of Albert T. Patrick, now serving a life sentence in Sing Sing for the murder of Rice, John T. Milliken, a wealthy brother-in-law of Patrick, has started for Texas. It was Jones' confession which convicted Patrick. He has fought steadily in the courts for freedom.

Priest Captures Burglar.

New York, Jan. 7.—Owing to the effectiveness of a burglar alarm in the German Catholic Church in West New York, N.J., Rev. Peter D. Lill, rector of the church, was enabled Tuesday afternoon to hold up with a revolver, a man who was in the act of robbing the poor box.

The storm that raged between Winnipeg and Calgary subsided last night.

LARGE MEETING AT GEORGE ST.

"The Supremacy of Christ in the Home" Ably Dealt With by Rev. Mr. Potter

The meeting at George street church last night in connection with the week of prayer was largely attended and was one of the most helpful of the series. The chairman was Rev. J. H. Trumpour, the speaker of the evening, Rev. J. G. Potter and the subject "The Supremacy of Christ in the Home." Mr. Potter dealt with the subject in a very able manner and showed that the truly happy home was the one where Christ abides.

A solo by Miss Reesor, sung in splendid voice added greatly to the musical part of the service.

Two meetings will be held to-night at Murray street and Knox churches. The subject will be, "The Supremacy of Christ in Social Life."

All Saints' Choir Practice

All Saints' choir will practise tonight in the church at eight o'clock sharp.

Choir Practice at St. John's

NEW DEPARTURE IN SPORTING SPHERE

A Convicts Baseball League for Blue Glass State

Warden Mudd, of the Kentucky State Penitentiary, plans to organize a baseball team of long-sentence convicts and games will be played with other teams of the institutions.

Mudd believes baseball will make better prisoners. The game will give the men something to think about he says, keeping their minds off their surroundings.

The team will start practice early in the spring. Nearly all the men proposed for the long-sentence team say they can play.

RINK ETIQUETTE

R. H. W. C., in the Toronto Star says;—Ask the young lady if you may have the pleasure of a skate with her, or a "band," as you prefer to put it.

2. It is certainly not correct to ask a girl you do not know for a band.

3. If the girl has no one to see her safely home at night it is quite proper and gentlemanly to ask for the pleasure of seeing her safely home.

4. It is not exactly proper for a boy to remove a girl's hockey skates. If she wears detachable skates it is quite proper.

WESTERN SUFFRAGETTE.

Miss Binnie-Clark Wants Free Homesteads For Women Who Can Farm.

Western Canada is about to have a suffragette question, as it were, of its own. The women of the Prairie provinces are not yet clamoring for votes. But some of them at least think that there ought to be certain changes in legislation which would prove materially advantageous to them. It has several times been pointed out that, among other things, the right of dower should be given to wives in the West, as it is to wives in the East.

And now comes another "woman's plea," from Fort Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan. It is made by Miss Georgina Binnie-Clark, who suggests that the encouragement of free homesteads be given to women who have capital and capacity. The writer has examined the homestead law and finds that it grants land to a woman only if she is the sole head of a family; unmarried women cannot take up homesteads. Miss Binnie-Clark says that as the need of the West is women, the way to get them is to encourage them in this practical way. And she says: "As against all the male immigrants you have known to turn out failures, have you ever heard of an English woman immigrant failure?"

Miss Binnie-Clark is herself an English woman, and is making a success of farming in the West. Although this year has not been a very good one in her vicinity, she is able to pay off $1,000 on her land, besides having enough seed wheat for 100 acres next year, and enough produce to maintain her household until spring. She has only been in Saskatchewan three years and when she went she did not know barley from oats. This enterprising woman-farmer writes to The Canadian Gazette, of London, to urge that the Canadian Government encourage other English women to come out and do the same. She has had a number of inquiries from women, with some capital, who would like to make the experiment, and her suggestion is that twelve quarter-sections should be granted annually for three years to English women selected and approved by Mr. Obed Smith on behalf of the Canadian Government, and let the result show whether there is a real need and a way of meeting it.

ANOTHER FAKER.

Arthur Stringer Is Out After Emerson Hough's "The Warrant."

Arthur Stringer will now include Emerson Hough and The Smart Set in his list of Canada fakers. That magazine, in announcing as one of its features for December a story by Mr. Hough dealing with the Canadian West, says:

"Canada has become, in the past few years, a favorite field for American novelists, who find in its historic features, its Old World leanings and its glistening, exhilarating winter life a constant source of inspiration. Emerson Hough, in his latest story, "The Warrant," published in the December Smart Set, has passed by the interesting St. Lawrence region of Canada and has written a strong romance of the bleak northwestern wilderness, where Doukhobors and Galician immigrants drag out their narrow lives, their hard, sordid monotony, broken only by occasional prying expeditions on the part of the Northwest Police. Out of this unromantic material Mr. Hough has evolved a magnificent story, which forms one of The Smart Set's features for the month."

The story is a good story in many ways, but the foregoing announcement will show that its publishers know about as much about Canada, east and west, as do the producers of such alleged Canadian plays as "Pierre of the Plains," etc.

Late Dandelions.

The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have nothing to do with the case reported by Reeve Scott of Smith, Ont., recently.

There was a great variance between the statements of the observatory experts and of Mr. Scott regarding the weather. The air specialist in the meteorological office said that the average temperature in the province was ten degrees. While, in an interview with The Peterboro Times, the reeve said that on his way into that city with a drove of cattle he noticed at several places dandelions were blooming along the roadside. He confesses he was greatly surprised, as it is seldom those yellow heads have much to say at this time of the year, but attributed it to the "very mild weather."

Ontario's Game Preserve.

Algonquin Park, in the highlands of Ontario, containing 2,000 square miles of woods and water, is a national breeding ground for all the hoofed, horned, furred and feather creatures that inhabit the northern wilds. Here no man may hunt in or out of season. No one is allowed in the park, with any sort of firearm that measures more than six inches.

Though hunting in park limits is contrary to law, capital sport may be secured outside the boundaries of the reservation, where the season for deer hunting opens Nov. 1 and continues fifteen days, and where the laws governing the open season in Ontario are observed.

Big Yield of Grain.

Weekly papers have of late been reporting big yields of grain in Ontario. Here is the report of a small wheat-grower in the West. Fred Pelletier, a Pincher Creek farmer, has finished threshing his crop of No. 1 Alberta red off 134 acres. The yield was 5,490 bushels, or 41 bushels to the acre. The land on which it was grown was fresh breaking. The cost of production was $13.25 per acre and the wheat was sold at 80 cents per bushel, which brings a return of $32,80 per acre.

Toronto Negroes Decrease.

The negro "colony" in Toronto has now dwindled to about a thousand members. The negroes of Toronto, however, are a respectable and respected element.

The Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs at Ann Arbor, Mich. planned to print the national songs of the world in book form.

An earth tremor at Trenton, NJ, which many people thought an earthquake, was due to the explosion of dynamite stored in a cave twenty miles away.

HORSE RAN AWAY AND THE OCCUPANTS OF CUTTER WERE THROWN INTO THE ROAD

As a result of the bit breaking a horse broke away from the sleigh and there was a bad runaway in Smith on Tuesday night. Garret Spence and a young man by the name of Sullivan in company with two young ladies, were returning to Peterborough. They were driving along the road between the Smith hall and the Central Smith cheese factory, when the accident occurred. The bit becoming broken, the driver had no control over the animal and it soon broke away from the sleigh. The cutter upset and the occupants were thrown into the road. It ran along the road, Mr. Spence following closely after it.

Mr. Russell Darling, of Smith, who was driving home, met the runaway horse. He took Mr. Spence in his cutter and together they went after the runaway horse. They caught it at the cheese factory it having run in there.

In the meantime the young ladies and other young man had been taken into the home of Mr. Wm. Paul.

The damage done to the cutter, which is owned by Mr. Roy Cavanagh, is estimated at about twenty-five dollars.

WANTED TO HAVE SMITH ST. MAN BOUND TO KEEP PEACE

Elton G. Yorke asked Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court this morning to have John Murphy bound over to keep the peace. But the evidence was not sufficient to warrant the Magistrate doing so, and the defendant was allowed to go. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared on behalf of Yorke and conducted the prosecution.

Elton York, in the witness box said that he met the defendant at the corner of Smith and Harvey streets on Monday night last. Murphy followed the witness down the street. Yorke ran to catch a car but just as he reached it Murphy yelled at him "If you come up here again I'll kick the head off you." The complainant said that he was afraid actual bodily harm would be done him. In answer to questions from the Magistrate witness admitted having a wife.

John Murphy said that one night he and another young fellow were sitting on the Smith street bridge. They saw Yorke and another man peeping in witness' windows. They went around to other houses doing the same thing. On Monday night last when he was returning home he saw Yorke and recognized him as the one who had been looking in the windows. Murphy followed him and Yorke began to run. When complainant got close enough to him, he said, "See here, gentleman, I have a bone to pick with you." He denied having made any threats to him.

Mark Shaw testified to having seen two men on the last Monday in November looking into Murphy's windows. Witness and Murphy were sitting on the bridge. They went to see who the men were but they ran out the back way.

Yorke went into the box and denied looking through any windows. He always was in the bar on Monday nights.

His Worship dismissed the case.

GOOD COMPANY FOR "SAN TOY"

There are a number of well known New York favorites in the Imperial Opera Company which comes to the Grand next Saturday, matinee and evening. Chief among these are; Clarence Harvey, Agnes Cain-Brown, Harry Girard, Violet Colby and Hallen Mostyn. Harvey became a Broadway favorite several seasons ago when he succeeded William Norris as star in "The Country Girl," and later James T. Powers, in San Toy. There is no funnier comedian than he in America. In the four and a half months run which this company enjoyed at the Royal Alexandra Theatre in Toronto, he endeared himself to the patrons of that theatre and was one of the most popular comedians ever in that city. Harry Girard, the clever baritone is the composer of "The Alaskan," which was the rage in the Western States last season. He is writing scores at present for two musical pieces which are to be produced in New York this spring. One of them is for Frank Daniels. Mr. Girard has been seen in leading roles in comic opera for many years and his magnificent voice has won him success everywhere he has appeared. He became famous as leading man for Miss Lulu Glaser in her all star production of Dolly Varden. Hallen Mostyn has for years sung roles of the oriental potentate type, and has starred in "Wang," taking the place of DeWolfe Hopper. As Yen-How in San Toy he is decidedly in his element. Agnes Cain-Brown, the clever prima donna of the Imperial Opera, is resting after a season of vigorous work in Grand Opera in New York by appearing in light opera for a few weeks. Her success in Toronto was instantaneous. Violet Colby has a beautiful mezzo soprano voice which made her a prominent figure in many of the big musical attractions produced in New York during the past few seasons. The chorus of the Imperial Opera Company is said to be composed of some of the most beautiful young women in musical comedy and shines especially in the Moon Garden scene in San Toy. The Imperial Opera Company has proved itself to be an all star organization and one of the most successful of the present season. There are 50 people in the company.

Death of Mrs. Henry Best After Long Illness---Funeral on Saturday Afternoon

The death occurred early this morning of Mrs. Henry Best at her late residence, 151 Lock street. The deceased had been in poor health for the past nine months. She was 67 years of age and was born in Otonabee, her maiden name being Christina Fife. She was married in August 1873, to her now surviving husband, ex-Mayor Best. She was a widely known and highly esteemed woman. Her death will be learned of with profoundest regret.

Besides her husband two daughters. Mrs. W. H. Manning, of this city, and Miss Bertha Best, residing at home, and five brothers, and three sisters are left to mourn her loss. The brothers are Messrs. David Fife, of Iowa; Alex., and Thomas, of North Dakota; John, of Tacoma, and Hugh, of Otonabee. The sisters are Mrs. Lyle, of Holywood, Cal.; Mrs. H. Beckett, of Iowa, and Mrs. Sweating, of Auburn, N.Y.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE FAMOUS AMERICAN PLAY "PAID IN FULL"

The subject of dramatic criticism is an interesting one, to theatrical manager and play-goer alike. The critic as a general proposition, is an unusually learned person and there are thousands who would no more go to a play until their favorite critic had endorsed it than they would willingly pluck out their own eyes. It is no exaggeration to state that hundreds of plays have gone upon the rocks of defeat simply because the critics did not care for it and there may have been much of worth in it. To find the critics of New York and Chicago all in a universal mood is a rare thing, but that is what "Paid in Full" found when Wagenhals and Kemper presented this play of contemporary life in America, by Eugene Walter, at the Astor Theatre New York, and at the Grand Opera House, Chicago. By each individual critic the play was hailed as a startling success and the criticisms were as a unit in declaring that it was "The play of the hour." and not only did they eulogize it the day after production but even to-day they are directing unusual attention to it as the play with the direct appeal to every class of citizen. The success of "Paid in Full" was and is unequivocal. Mr. Walter has performed a masterful piece of work in the photographic drawings of all his characters; there is not a weak figure among them and for virility, forcefulness and real life the play has no equal on the American stage to-day. A specially organized Company and a production of unusual excellence will be offered here by Wagenhals and Kemper at the Grand on Monday night. "Paid in Full" has to its credit a run of five months in Chicago and its reception there was the same as in New York, where it is now in its second year. The same care and discretion which marked the selection of the cast and the building of the production at the Astor Theatre New York, will be exhibited in the cast and production to be seen in this city. Seat sale opens at the box office Friday, Jan 8th.

CONSERVATIVE CLUB MEETINGS

Tonight (Thursday) there will be a business meeting of the Executive Committee of the West Riding Conservative Association and also the usual business meeting of the Executive Committee of the Young Conservative Club, both at the rooms of the Club. A large number of Conservatives are taking advantage of the low fee for excellent accommodation, to become members. The membership is now limited to Conservatives as it is felt that there is no more than sufficient room for members of that party in the club quarters. There is without doubt not a more cosy, well lighted, comfortable, and well-conducted club in the city where men may smoke, read, play pool etc. and otherwise join in pleasant pastimes and harmless amusement. It is the manifest duty of all Conservatives to aid in keeping up by joining, a central rendezvous for members of the party from not only the city and county of Peterborough but from outside points as well. Conservatives from a distance visiting the city are always glad to be able to meet "the boys" and talk over what is going on elsewhere. As a centre of information for those who wish to keep up to date, the club is unexcelled. In Toronto the Liberals are about to institute an imitation of the Albany Club. If local Liberals would form a club there might be many bloodless battle between the two parties in the form of debates, card tournaments and other forms of sociability, for after all "we are a' John Tamson's bairns," which being translated means that "we are all good Canadians" and all working for the good of a common fatherland. Whatever may be the degree of mutual separation the different forms of religious belief may entail upon Christians there is no necessity for the same degree of mutual aloofness in politics, works of charity, or whatever goes to make up the ordinary means and manner of sustaining this "dull tenement of clay," in its daily mundane round of toil and commonplace.

PORT HOPE GOT AWAY WITH GOOD LEAD AND THE LOCAL JUNIORS LOST GAME BY 6-5

At Half Time it Was 4-1 in Ontario's Favor—Home Team Made it Interesting in Second Half and Come Close to Beating Out Their Opponents—Nixon Did Great Work for Winners.

It was another case of the team getting the early lead, winning the match, when Port Hope defeated the Peterborough team at Brock street rink last night in a junior game by a score of 6—5. The blue and white seven started things going at a winning clip and before the local had found their feet had scored three goals. The home youngsters notched only one point in the first half, while Port Hope made the umpire show his flag four times, thus leaving the half time score 4—1 in their favor. Ontarios had the better of the play it must be admitted, but at that Peterborough was right after them all the time and the clean out work of Record in the nets spoiled several likely looking shots.

The ice was in excellent condition and the play in the second half especially, held the interest of the crowd. With the tally 4—1 in favor of Port Hope, it looked as though the seven from the lake burg would win out, by a comfortable margin. However there was some doubt about this in the minds of Peterborough's supporters, owing to the strong finish the home team made in the first half and it just kept the aggressive visitors going to their limit all the time to hold down the wearers of the red and white.

Cyril Giroux turned the trick soon about seven minutes after play had been resumed, after half time and then repeated, making the score 4—3. The audience became highly excited at this stage and gave the boys encouragement to obtain the lead if possible. They dug in in earnest and had the play pretty much their own way for a while but Nixon broke through on one of those tantilizing rushes of his and the puck was carried to Peterborough's citadel for a tally.

With the standing 5—3, with Port Hope on the heavy end, the homsters still kept playing with vigor and succeeded in getting another one, making it 5—4. Port Hope made it 6—4 and the final score was 6—5 for Port Hoep. In the second half the brand of hockey displayed caught the crowd on account of the uncertainty of the result and the locals appearing to have a good chance to win.

The teams on the form they showed last night are pretty evenly matched, but Port Hope's combination work on the forward division was superior to that of Peterborough. The Ontarios had a habit of taking chances on long shots, however, while the locals adopted the better system of carrying the puck into the nets as close as possible before shooting. The visitors won, of course, but theyir system in the above respect is not generally as productive of good results as the latter.

Nickson was undoubtedly the backbone of the winning agregation and the most effective man on the team. He carried the puck through time and again and relieved excellently and being instrumental to a number of Port Hope's goals. His style of getting through is not a brilliant one, but he gets there just the same and was a hard man to stop. He is solid on his feet and whenever he gets possession of the rubber there is liable to be something doing. Towards the end of the second half, Fox and Wade met him effectually, however, and were successful in checking him to greater advantage. Record in goal played his position in fine fashion and did good work in keeping his nets clear and made some sensational stops. Brown and Dow shone on the forward line and Lowthin also played a good game.

Charles Ray scintillated for Peterborough and was the nicest stickhandler on the ice. Cyril Giroux played hard and effectively and was prominent during the entire game.

The local defence did splendid service, Wade played a brilliant and consistent game at point and was especially conspicuous and effective in the second half. Giroux in goal made some nice stops.

With the exception of Nixon and McMillan, Port Hope has a new team this year and it is a pretty creditable junior seven. Referee Noxon, of Toronto, handled last night's game and his eyesight was a little beclouded, judging by some of his decisions.

The teams were;

Peterborough.		Port Hope.
	Goal
L. Giroux		Record
	Point,
Wade		Nixon
	Cover Point
Fox		Lowthin
	Rover
Ray		Brown
	Centre
C. Giroux		McMillan
	Right Wing
Shortt		Dow
	Left Wing
Pentland		Stephenson

Referee, Moxon, Toronto.

THE PLAY.

About three minutes after play commenced Peterborough almost scored, and Record was called upon to do some tall hustling to get the puck away from the nets. Lowthin set the goal umpire's flag waiving for the first time, finding the nets on a nice shot from the side.

Port Hope 1, Peterborough 0. Time 4 mins.

The first man to get disfavor from the man with the bell was Wade and he was given two minutes for slashing. Giroux saved cleverly and received good applause from the crowd. Nixon got busy on one of his gong-getting clips and passed to Lowthin, who landed it in the nets for Ontario's second goal.

Port Hope 2 Peterborough 0. Time 3 min.

Nixon was becoming very aggressive and playing both a defence and a forward game. He got away with a rush, and caused consternation among the local's supporters, but Giroux was there and met the rubber and turned it aside.

Record went down on his knees to prevent a score and the referee benched him for a minute. He hadn't been on the fence for more than fifteen seconds when Pentland slapped the first one through for Peterborough.

Port Hope 2, Peterborough 1.

Record went down on his knees again soon after he came on the ice, but the referee didn't see him. He did it a couple of other times during the night, but was not penalized.

Peterborough began to force the play around Port Hope's territory, but couldn't locate the nets. Ray was benched for a minute for tripping. Nixon scored after another of his telling rushes. The time of the goal was six minutes.

Port Hope 3 Peterborough 1.

McMillan and Brown beat out the local defence in a nice combination play. Brown scoring on a pass from the former. Time 4 min.

Port Hope 4 Peterborough 1.

Dow had to do a minute for tripping. Half time was called with the score 4—1.

SECOND HALF.

The game lagged for the first few minutes of this half, and the exciting time that came later was altogether unexpected. Giroux brushed interest up considerably by scoring in 8 minutes.

Port Hope 4 Peterborough 2.

Peterborough looked pretty good to get another right off the bat but failed to connect. Wade tore off a sensational run, taking the rubber to the Port Hope goal and passing to Giroux who again sent the puck past Record. As the home boys' chances were beginning to look much brighter the crowd cheered and coached them and handed out all kinds of encouragement to go out and beat the visitors.

The time of Giroux's last goal was three minutes.

Port Hope 4 Peterborough 3.

Nixon put up Port Hope's stock a notch by getting the next on a great rush. Time 2 min.

Port Hope 5 Peterborough 3.

Shortt scored for Peterborough on a shot from the side. 4 min.

Port Hope 5 Peterborough 4.

Giroux stopped what looked to be a sure counter. Port Hope put themselves two in the lead Brown getting a clever goal in two minutes.

Port Hope 6 Peterborough 4.

Pentland obtained the last goal in one minute from a face-off in front of Port Hope's goal, and the final score was

COULDN'T GET TEAM TOGETHER

The game that was scheduled to open the Church League did not take place. George street was to have played Knox church but the Methodists could not get a team together so the match didn't materialize.

Band at Brock St. Rink Friday night.

CURLING

Mr. R. M. Waddell, of the touring Canadian curlers, left last night at 12.30 in company with his western companions for Halifax, where he will sail on the Empress of Ireland.

A CHALLENGE

The Review editorial staff hereby challenges the Examiner pencil pushers to a curling match to be played as soon as arrangements can be made.

OPENING OF CITY LEAGUE; THREE GAMES TO-NIGHT

The opening of the city league season tonight should attract a very large crowd. Three games are on the bill and the teams will have an opportunity of putting up the classiest kind of hockey they are capable of displaying as the ice is in perfect condition and conducive to the fastest and most interesting kind of play.

The first game in the junior city league series will precede the two senior matches in which the teams will be TAS versus West Ends and the Belmonts and the Strathconas. Mr George Lynch will officiate as referee in the games in the senior series.

As tonight will mark the opening of the league the attendance is expected to be a big one. It will give the fans a line on the playing ability of the teams and some indication of their respective chances in the race for the city league trophy. The junior game between Otonabee A C and George street will be at 6.45 and with three games on the programme, the sport will be plentiful and exciting.

The lineups for the senior games for the following teams will be;

WEST ENDS

FRED SIMPSON LEAVES HERE THIS EVENING

Fred Simpson leaves for Toronto this evening on the 4.38 train and will leave there for New York this evening at 7.15 o'clock. He will arrive in New York to-morrow morning. The Indian is in great shape.

JIMMY REYNOLDS WANTS TO WALK

Jimmy Reynolds only lives 30 miles away in Port Hope, but when he comes to town he receives a welcome as hearty as if he were the long lost brother. Jimmy came to town last night to see the hockey match between Peterborough and Port Hope, and left on the noon train. He was kept busy renewing his numerous acquaintances.

"I am going to try the walk this year again," said Jimmy, in referring to the long tramp between Port Hope and Toronto.

"I'll do it yet," he said with determination and in spite of his previous unsuccessful attempts the walking barber seems to think he still has a chance of making connections in the scheduled time.

Jimmy says he is not growing any older and can get into shape quite conveniently.

CITY LEAGUE OPENING Three big games to-night at Brock St. Rink — Admission gentlemen 15c, Ladies and Children 10c.

WHITTY HAS AN INDIAN

Fred Whitcroft has an Indian up his sleeve. Before leaving Montreal he remarked; "You may say that I am coming East next summer with an Indian runner who will clean up all your Longboats and Dorandos. He covers a mail route up north and does 2000 miles every week of his life."

NEW LEAGUE IN NORTHUMBERLAND

Colborne, January 6—A new hockey league which will be known as the Northumberland Hockey League was organized at a meeting held at the Bristol hotel here.

It is composed of junior teams and junior OHA rules with necessary bylaws have been adopted. The organizers assure the public a fast, clean brand of hockey.

MILLER HAS IMPROVED

Speaking of the Brantford-Galt programme at Galt on Tuesday night, the Brantford Expositor says; "Miller shows a great improvement in his work over last year."

WRESTLING

There is a possibility of Gene Hurtubise and Kaiser being matched after all. Some time ago the bout was talked of but no arrangements were made and negotiations were dropped for a while.

Mr Chris Graham, Gene's manager, told the Review yesterday that the match would perhaps be made and pulled off in Peterborough. Kaiser will have to throw Gene twice in an hour to win and with this handicap the argument should be a good one.

CRESSMANS VS. THE HOT AIRS

Doctor Amazed by Great Zam-Buk Cure

Sores on Scalp, Face, and Hands.

Children's Torture ended at last by Zam-Buk.

One of the greatest cures of Eczema and of open discharging sores ever effected, has just been worked by Zam-Buk, in the family of Mrs. J. Butler, of 5, Bannockburn Avenue, Montreal. She says:—

"Three of my children owe their cure of Eczema and foul discharging sores, which made their lives miserable, to the curative power of Zam-Buk.

My eldest daughter, Annie, first took the disease. It broke out on her face and scalp, causing nasty sores which discharged freely and gave off a very offensive odour. The disease was quickly transmitted to Herbert and Edith, and in their cases not only their heads, but their hands and faces were covered with sores and scaly places.

"I first tried various blood-purifying remedies, together with a highly recommended ointment and salve, but it did no good, so I then consulted a doctor. He treated the three children for some weeks applying all kinds of lotions and salves, but they did not seem powerful enough to get to the root of the disease. He next advised that the hair be all shaven off from the girls' heads in order to get down to the disease on the scalp, but as they each had such long hair I thought it a pity to cut it all off, and refused to comply with his request. He thereupon withdrew his services altogether. After that I bought first one kind of ointment and salve from the druggist and then another, but after using awhile, the result was the same—no benefit.

"I was now at a stand-still to know what to do when my son Herbert got a supply of Zam-Buk. The result in his case was so clearly beneficial after using the contents of one box that I immediately sent to the druggists for more, and lost no time in applying this balm to the discharging sores on the girls' faces and scalps. It seemed to take immediate effect, for the next day the sores looked healthier, and there was not so much complaining.

"From that time on, day by day Zam-Buk clearly demonstrated its exceptional healing powers. The discharging sores kept drying up, and disappearing from both face and scalp, and the itching, pain, and soreness grew less and less, until ended altogether.

"In the course of six weeks from beginning with Zam-Buk the two girls were entirely cured of this eczema—not a spot or sore to be seen on either face or scalp, while Herbert's case not being so serious, Zam-Buk cured him in less than two weeks. The doctor and all who have known of the children's sufferings have been amazed at the wonderful cure which Zam-Buk effected in so short a time."

MOTHERS SHOULD KNOW.

That the skin, once it is broken, is no longer a protection against disease, and neglect to remember this fact is the reason why festering, inflammation, discoloration, swellings, proud flesh and even blood-poisoning so often follow ordinary every-day injuries. The great merit of Zam-Buk lies in its unique composition and its wonderful antiseptic quality. It immediately takes the soreness out of a wound, allays inflammation, destroys dangerous germs, and prevents festering. Zam-Buk will not only cure the most troublesome case of skin-disease, but for cuts, bruises, burns, sprains, festering wounds, ulcers, pimples and sores, there is nothing to equal Zam-Buk. It is always reliable for the many injuries and diseases to which children are liable and should be kept always handy.

INSTITUTE MEETING AT THE STEWART UNION HALL

Dairying, Seed Selection and the Home the Principal Subjects Discussed—Good Attendance.

That our farms are not producing the yields they ought to was the burden of the address delivered by Mr. E. W Kitchen of Lovering, Ont, in his afternoon address before the Supplementary meeting of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute held at Stewart's union hall Tuesday. He accounted for the decreased yields by the leaf soil and fibre, which were characteristics of our land when first cleared, having become almost wholly gone in many sections. "The first crops upon virgin soil were always the best and most easily obtained, in the early days we could grow anything," he said. "There was no trouble then about obnoxious weeds and crop failures. It is quite different now since the leaf soil has been lost."

He referred to his own county of Simcoe. It was a great grain producing county, in fact they grew too much grain. Simcoe growing more barley than any other county in the province. Much of the land is low, some of it swampy, while still other places were inclined to be stony and rocky. Their best soil, of which they had an abundance, was a clay loam of the very best nature. If we would meet with the success we should, in producing crops ,we must fertilize more and in this way get back a substitute for the leaf soil of the earlier days. It is common for many to plow too much and not to seed down enough. Having lost its fibre the soil dried out too rapidly and in many cases, it was almost impossible to plow in the fall. By seeding down oftener, we get more fibre to the soil which will then retain its moisture longer, be more easily cultivated and will return larger yields. By carrying on dairying we would increase the fertility of our land, keep weeds in check and greatly increase the profits from our farming operations. He referred to the great value of manuring meadow land either timothy or clover. The increased yields of hay and the more luxuriant growth of pasture grass after the sod has been manured paid many times over in connection with applying it. He believed that manuring sod land was one of the most profitable ways of utilising farm manure.

IN PETERBOROUGH

The dairy cow and some results of the work carried on by the cow testing associations was dealt with by Mr Chas C Nixon, editor of the Farm and Dairy. He pointed out that we have more good cows than we ever suspected. The trouble is that we do not feed them up to their capacity. Many of the cows in Peterborough county are milked but for six months of the year. There is thus six months left in which we have to board the cows and for which we get no returns. There is no reason why the dairy cows in Peterborough county could not be milked for ten months in the year, as is being done in many sections of other parts of Ontario. Where dairying is carried on throughout the whole year and where a proper system of feeding is followed the average production of cows is more than double what it is where cows are milked for but five or six months and allowed to go dry the remainder of the year.

A comparison was made of two cows as to which was the most profitable, and to what extent, in a period of seven months, these two cows having given:

Best Cow

Weight of milk—5995 lbs.
Weight of fat—180 lbs.
Weight of cheese produced—509 lbs.
Value of milk—$55.95.
Cost of feed—$21.00.
Profits—$34.95.

Poorest Cow

Weight of milk—2790 lbs.
Weight of fat—110 lbs.
Weight of cheese—272 lbs.
Value of milk—$27.90,
Cost of feed—$21.00.
Profits—$6.90.

Or in other words the good cow is worth just five of the poor one,—not two as many in the audience suggested when the question was put to them.

THE DAIRY COW

A reference was made to the great increase which had been brought about in the average yields of the cows in Denmark. Cow testing associations were organized by the Danes many years ago.

During the first five years on over a half a million cows the Danes had increased their milk production 68 per cent. In other words their cows that were giving 5,000 lbs when cow testing was inaugurated had been raised to a standard of 8,300 lbs. after five years of careful selection made possible through the information gained by following up the work of cow testing. Such an increase was well worth having. Applying this same principle to the cows here Mr. Nixon pointed out that there were over 20,000 cows in Peterborough county. Taking less than half of these or 10,000 cows, and increasing their production only 50 per cent. it would mean an additional income to the farmers of this county of over $65,0000—big figures, it is true, but never the less positive facts, and well within the reach of our farmers if they would but take hold of cow testing and follow it up carefully. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Nixon referred to the Farm and Dairy, the weekly agricultural paper which he represented and which was now located in Peterborough. He pointed out the great benefit of such a paper to the agricultural interests of this county and to the farmers surrounding Peterborough. He appealed to them for their support in a tangible way by subscribing to this great agricultural paper, "Farm and Dairy," which is located in their midst, and which stood for all that had to do with the advancement of agriculture and the well-being of the farmer.

CONDITIONS IN NEW BRUNSWICK

"What little the farmers of New Brunswick know they have learned from you good people up here in Ontario," said Mr. G. F. Alward, a farmer from New Brunswick, who also addressed the meeting. "They have this advantage however, and you must be careful lest they slip ahead of you in the long run in dairying, for they are only adopting the best of what you have to give them and are leaving those things which are undesirable with you. The farmers in New Brunswick have much to contend with that you know nothing of. Their interests are divided in many cases between farming, lumbering, mining and fishing. Where such exists it is impossible to get the highest development and the great est returns from farming operations. The young men seeing the ready dollar before them in the woods rush off to get it, and in doing so miss the two dollars which are hidden by the other, and which would have been obtained had he remained upon the farm. The $40 a month paid by the lumberman in the winter prove very attractive to many of the men and as a result they get after it and use the old farm simply as a stopping place throughout the summer. The day is coming, however, when they will be glad to remain at home and when dairying will be their greatest salvation."

RAISING CALVES.

Mr. Alward's main subject for the afternoon was "Raising Calves for Dairy Purposes." He pointed out that there were two ways to get good dairy cows, first to buy them (if you can); second to breed them. When one goes to buy another fellow's best cow, the owner would indeed be slack in his upper story if he would sell her cheap. He wants a fancy price for her in addition to what she is worth, and justly so. In most places it is impossible to buy good cows therefore, we must raise them. One always gets better satisfaction by raising his cows himself. Every farmer has two or three good cows; these are the ones to raise the calves from. As to the breed we should select, that must depend on one's individual taste, though it should be governed by the breed of cattle most largely raised in ones community. By co-operating in this way with one's neighbors it was much better for all. One liked any herd of cattle for the money that was in them not because they are a particular breed and when many of the same kind are to be had in the same district they are worth more money to all. Pure bred shires should always be used as half of the resulting blood is half of the sire. In this way one soon grades up his herd to a high standard.

"To raise a calf right is quite a task. It should be fed on whole milk for at least three weeks. One should not be in a hurry to make it drink. Let it get good and hungry and it will soon take its food. In this way there is no need to give the finger for a fortnight. Care must be taken not to overfeed. Many calves are given scours by overfeeding or by feeding sour milk alternately with the sweet milk. The calf can be readily taught to eat by having a handful of oatmeal handy and as soon as it is through drinking, rubbing it on its nose. The calf should be fed well, and well developed, and kept thrifty from start. A heifer should be milked as long as possible during her first period of lactation even if she does not give much milk, when allowed to dry up at six months she will go dry every time at the same period when a cow. Cows are very susceptable to education in this respect.

A large audience which taxed the seating capacity of the hall turned out to hear the speakers in the evening. Mr Kitchen gave an address on our homes for our boys.

Mr Nixon addressed the audience on "Home improvement and Agricultural Education."

Mr Alward dealt with the question of "Seed selection" handling it in a way which was of great interest and of value to all.

The speeches were interspersed with musical selections by Messrs Deyell and Hambridge. Miss Deyell accompanied them most acceptably on the organ.

Great credit is due to the energy and enthusiasm of the Secretary of the Institute, Mr Wm Collins, and to the genial president, Mr Telford, for the success of the meeting.

"See that man who just gave his seat to a young woman?" queried an elevated railroad passenger. "Queer case that. Never encountered one before just like it.

"He's not a New Yorker, he is not a ready maker of friends, and he is so diffident where women are concerned that he really has not one among his acquaintances, with the possible exception of a landlady and a laundress.

"Yet the fellow has a longing for feminine recognition. I happen to know that he always relinquishes his seat to a woman where the opportunity is presented, and I also know that his only reason for doing so is the hope of receiving a smile and a 'Thank you' in return. It's like a bone to a hungry dog. Queer case, don't you think?"

Harley Weatherhead, aged 21, was drowned while skating on thin ice at Peoria, Ill.

SIGN OF THE BIG HORSE AT THE DOOR GERGE ST

A LIVE COAL TRICK.

Teaches Natural Law, Yet Has All the Appearance of Magic.

No one would suppose that it is possible to hold a glowing coal on a piece of linen or cotton without burning the cloth, but that such can be done is easy for any one to prove, and at the same time the experiment teaches an important natural law. Every child knows that the telephone and telegraph wires are made of copper because that metal is a good conductor of heat and electricity, which is only another form of heat. If a poker is heated in the fire you pick up a cloth to hold the outer end, although it has not been in the fire, because experience has taught you that the heat is connected through the metal from the fire to the outer end.

This experiment with the flaming coal is based upon this principle and the additional one that linen and cotton are poor conductors of heat. Take a globe of copper and draw a piece of cloth tightly over it so that there is not a wrinkle at the top. If the linen or cotton is closely woven the trick is all the more certain. Then, holding the cloth tightly in place, you can safely put a glowing coal on top of the cloth, and, while it burns fiercely, the cloth will not even be scorched.

The reason is that the great conductivity of the copper draws the heat of the coal before it can burn the cloth. Do not make this experiment with a good handkerchief first, for if the cloth is not tightly drawn it may burn, but take some worthless piece of linen or muslin, and after you are certain of your experience you can astonish your friends who do not know the secret.

DEADLY POISONS.

One Whiff of Pure Prussic Acid is Sufficient to Kill.

The discoverer of prussic acid was instantly killed by inhaling one whiff of his own handiwork.

Pure prussic acid is never sold or handled. The smell of it is always fatal. It kills not in three minutes or half an hour, but the instant it enters the lungs as a gas. The mixture ordinarily sold as prussic acid is 98 parts water to two parts of the drug. Even in this form it is very deadly. A 20 per cent mixture of the acid would kill nearly as quickly as if pure.

Atropine, though it has no harmful odor, is so deadly that as much of it as would adhere to the end of a moistened forefinger would instantly cause death.

Cyanide of potassium has a pleasant smell which is not injurious, but a small quantity swallowed kills at once.

Pure ammonia if inhaled would cause death almost as quickly as prussic acid.

When a carboy of nitric acid is broken some one has to suffer. It will burn wood, eat through iron plates and destroy whatever it touches. Such an accident once happened in an acid factory. Every one ran away, leaving the acid to amuse itself by setting fire to things. Soon it was seen that the building would be destroyed and hundreds of people thrown out of work, and four men volunteered to put out the fire in the acid room. They succeeded and came out all right. Five hours later all were dead.

The police of Paterson, NJ, made a raid on a pool parlor and captured 75 boys ranging in age from 15 to 18 years.

THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CANADIAN CORDAGE CO. HELD YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

A large and representative meeting of the shareholders of the Canadian Cordage and Manufacturing Company Limited, was held yesterday afternoon at the office of the company, 25 Cylmer street. The directors submitted the financial statement of the Company and the auditors' report thereon to the shareholders.

The financial year of the Company which has just been brought to a close was an exceedingly trying year for manufacturers throughout Canada to withstand the great financial depression. The lumbering and shipping trades were particularly affected by this depression which resulted in a substantial curtailment of the volume of the Company's sale of rope and lath yarn although at the same time there was an increase in their twine sales.

Owing to the financial depression, which resulted in the depreciation in value of the heavy stock which the Company had on hand in the beginning of October last a substantial loss was made. The fibre market substantially dropped from $40 to $60 per ton which practically made it impossible for any manufacturer to make a profit and the shareholders can congratulate themselves that the loss was overcome during this last season's operations.

The directors regretted that there was no available profits with which to pay a dividend upon the common stock, but since the first of the season the Company has been running substantially to its full capacity and better results are anticipated in the future.

The report of the directors to the shareholders further stated that there are upwards of 4500 shareholders interested in this Company living in different parts of Canada the vast majority of whom are unable to attend the annual meetings of the Company to hear the reports and explanations made by the directors to the shareholders from time to time. Owing to the fact that the Company has been unable to pay a dividend from a variety of causes since the year 1905, many of the shareholders have written letters from time to time to the directors and officers of the company unfairly and unjustly charging that the shareholders are not getting their share of the gross profits earned. In view of these statements the directors deemed it expedient in the interests o fthe company to recommend to the shareholders that a resolution be adopted at this meeting authorizing Mr W R Morris ,chartered accountant to make a full investigation into the affairs and management of the company in respect to its gross profits from the time the company commenced business to the present time with a view of satisfying the shareholders that all the profits of the company have been fairly accounted for. On motion of Mr H W Wilcox of Whitby, seconded by Mr Robert M Thurston of Winnipeg, it was moved in amendment to the directors motion that the investigation be confined to the last two years being the date when Mr Adam Hall, the former president of the company resigned from the presidency of the company and this amendment to the directors motion was carried.

The following were elected Directors for the ensuing year; Messrs H W Wilcox, R R Hall, J C Groendyke Jas S Latimer and John A Bennett.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors the following officers were appointed;

Pres—Mr R R Hall.
Man-Director—J C Groendyke.
Secretary—E B Fowler.

SERVANT GIRL WHO LEFT PASTOR'S HOME HERE HAS BEEN ARRESTED IN TORONTO

Bessie Motts, the young girl employed as a servant in the home of Rev Mr Riddiford, Rubidge street, and who absconded on Christmas Day taking with her a sum of money was arrested yesterday in Toronto. P C. Meagher went to the city this morning to bring her back.

The girl had only been in the employ of Mrs Riddiford about a week when she ran away. Shortly after 11 o'clock on Christmas Day Mr and Mrs Riddiford went to dinner and left the girl with a six months' old baby. However the servant did not remain long. She left the house in time to catch the 11.43 G.T.R. train for Port Hope and then to Toronto.

When Mr and Mrs Riddiford returned home, they found the baby alone and the girl and between five and six dollars gone.

SUPPLEMENTARY MEETINGS OF FARMERS' INSTITUTE AT SMITH HALL YESTERDAY

Splendid Addresses at Both Afternoon and Evening Meetings by Messrs. Alward, of Havelock, New Brunswick, and Kitchen, of Lovering, Ont.

The second of the supplementary meetings of the Farmers' Institute of West Peterborough, was held at the fourth line of Smith hall yesterday afternoon and evening. They were two splendid gatherings, excellent addresses being delivered at each, by Messrs. Alward, of Havelock, New Brunswick, and Kitchen, of Lovering, Ontario.

Mr. John Telford, president of the Institute, opened the afternoon proceedings. He said that they had two speakers who would give them some valuable information along the lines of agriculture, and that he would not take up the time with any remarks.

MR. ALWARD.

Mr. Alward, of Havelock, N.B., gave a splendid address on "Summer and Winter Care of Dairy Cows." In beginning he said that he was always pleased to meet farmers and talk on farm subjects. He was a dairyman, but whatever the dairymen of New Brunswick had learned along the lines of dairying it was from the farmers of Ontario. They had one advantage over Ontario, however. They had benefitted from the mistakes Ontario had made. He did not pretend to know the conditions here and intended to speak on the underlying principles which were as applicable to Ontario as New Brunswick.

Farming was largely the interest of Ontario. In New Brunswick it was different. A great many people down there engage in lumbering and fishing and farming compared with these industries was badly neglected. New Brunswick young men thought that greater wages were to be derived from working in the bush and it would be almost impossible to get any attendance at a Farmers' Institute meeting. But within the last few years the lumber interests had decreased and the people saw that they must turn themselves to their farms. Dairying had taken a firm stand and now it was the chief interest of the farmers. It had spread and in Sussex County, a dairying school had been established. It was found that it was the main source of financial success.

The farmers were now an independent people and their independence was attributed to the dairying industry.

In the real cheese districts of Ontario they were running their factories eight months in the year. They opened with fodder cheese and closed with fodder cheese, and the speaker believed that this was a great injury. He thought that the dairying industry should be run the year round. Of course the cows should have two months' rest, but if a farmer owned twenty cows, he should have about twelve of them to freshen in the fall. There was more benefit derived from cows freshening in the fall than in the spring. He believed that if they would experiment they would come to the same conclusion as he had.

He said that cows were usually turned out to pasture about the 15th of May. The grass is usually very moist then and until it gets better developed they should be given additional fodder. June grass cannot be excelled as food for cows, but the speaker said that while June grass was the best, it did not last through the season. He thought that dairy cows were the best means the farmers had to keep up the fertility of the soil. Making butter did not take the fertility out of the soil like cheese making, as the fat in butter was not a fertilizer. It was important that farmers keep up the fertility of the soil. By experiment it has been found that the same amount of feed expended in keeping will bring only half the returns of the same amount expended in dairying. It is a business proposition and farmers ought to exercise more business tact.

If a cow is allowed to go down in its flow of milk by not giving sufficient food, a farmer will find it a very difficult task to get them back to their standard flow. A cow, he thought, was like a machine, and should be kept working. It does not pay to winter a cow poorly and put it out in the spring expecting to do a good summer's work.

Some will say that there was no profit in feeding up a cow, but the speaker said that it was from giving a cow plenty of food that profit was derived. He thought that farmers should grow plenty of oats and peas for cow feed. One acre of land would yield enough oats or peas to feed a cow for six weeks.

In New Brunswick, the farmers grew all the feed for their cows. Owing to the high price of grain in winter, this was necessary, if anything was to be made. They grew roots buckwheat, barley, corn, oats and and peas. It was not profitable to farmer to have to buy food. Oil cake balanced with other foods made splendid food for cows.

MR. KITCHEN.

Mr. Kitchen, of Lovering, Ont., dealt with the subject of "the hog and its profit to the farmer." He began by stating that now there was a great drop in the number of pigs that the farmers were keeping. However, they felt that they should keep a certain number. In his township he did not believe there was a Berkshire hog. They were all the improved Yorkshire. He believed that if it was not for the whey and refuse from the kitchen to feed the pigs the farmers would not keep them. Simcoe County being great for lumbering, pork was in much demand by the lumber camps. He believed that the best way was to feed pigs well. He had a clover pasture and runways from the pen into it. Then give them the refuse of the house. But he found that to keep them through the winter, it did not pay. He kept them well fed in the fall until he thought they were ready for the market. Some fed their hogs silage. He found that the best to have clover pastures for them to run in. So far as the hog was concerned, it was hard to convince farmers that there was any money in. But the dealers were demanding them and some farmers were talking of again raising Berkshire hogs, but the improved Yorkshire was what the dealers wanted. The price of hogs had greatly decreased.

Mr. A. H. Campbell, cheesemaker at Central Smith, said that he had had eleven pigs, starting to feed them at seven weeks and in less than six months he sold them at a profit of five dollars per hog.

This concluded the meeting for the afternoon.

EVENING MEETING.

Many more attended in the evening than in the afternoon, and a very interesting meeting was held. The chair was taken by the president, Mr. G. Telford, who, after a few introductory remarks, introduced the speakers of the evening.

Mr E. W. Kitchen, before commencing his subject, "Poultry," expressed his pleasure at seeing such a fine gathering, especially such a large number of women, and briefly referred to the benefits derived from Women's Institutes.

Of late years, he said, that he had retired from the arduous tasks of the farm and devoted his time to the raising of chickens. He commenced in this way. He had thirty-two chickens and a few turkeys. He got the grain out of the granary and gave to the granary, as it were, a cent a pound for grain. He charged the usual twelve cents a dozen eggs. Plymouth Rocks were his favourite hens, raising one hundred and fifty in one summer. The feed he gave them was principally wheat. He built his own hen coops, and puts from four to six in each coop. Later he killed the fowl and sold them to a Toronto firm. They had cost him in the neighbourhood of $62, and his profit was over $138. He remarked that he had gone into poultry raising extensively, but was afraid, however, that this branch of the farming industry was being greatly neglected.

In answer to a question as to what he fed hens for winter eggs, the speaker replied that he gave them grain, kitchen scraps and plenty of skim milk. He did not keep a stove in his hen houses. He did not believe in keeping hen houses too warm.

VICE-PRESIDENT SPEAKS.

Mr. John Garbutt, Vice-President of the Farmers' Institute, was called upon for a few remarks. He had been much impressed with the addresses he had heard, and spoke in complimentary terms of the visiting delegates.

REEVE SCOTT.

Reeve Scott, of Smith, also spoke a few words, expressing his pleasure at being present. He had not previously taken much interest in Farmers' Institute meetings, but after attending the one at Ennismore he was so interested that he had decided to attend the one in Smith.

Deputy Reeve Graham then sang a solo, which was much appreciated.

MR. ALWARD.

Mr. Alward's evening subject was "Work Among the Boys, and Co-operation." He began by stating that he would be glad if somebody would solve the question, "How it was that there was not more congeniality among farmers, the same as there existed in other callings?"

He had travelled considerably, and he was always struck with the unsociable relations between farmers and farmers were not so independent as they thought, he added. He pointed out that a merchant asked a certain price for a piece of goods, but a farmer always said, "What will you give me?" for his produce. He believed that farmers should work co-operatively. Young people should realize the dignity of their occupation as farmers. The farmers were the most independent people and the young men and women on farms should hold up their calling and never be ashamed of it. The speaker remarked that he would much rather have his sons on the farm than behind the counter. They wouldn't have to work so hard behind the plough.

Mr. Alward referred briefly to poultry raising. He said that there was much money in it, remarking that eggs at St. John's, N. B., last Saturday sold at fifty-five cents. Speaking again of co-operation, the speaker thought that on the farm the father and son should co-operate. Boys should not be allowed to leave the farms to follow a business or a profession. They should be encouraged to remain on the farm, and should be allowed to have some financial interest in it. The boy should be consulted as to what was to be done, and should not be worked like a machine. He urged the boys not to be too anxious to go to the city. They were better on the farm.

Mr. Alward next spoke along the line of dairying co-operation, stating that the makers and patrons should co-operate to obtain the best results.

Before closing a vote of thanks to the speakers of the day was moved by Deputy Reeve Graham and seconded by Mr. McGregor, and unanimously carried.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

HERE'S A SNUB FOR ROOSEVELT THE SECRET SERVICE MESSAGE

Will Probably be Laid on Table—Committee Detailed to Deal With Objectionable Clause in Last Pronouncement From White House Will Move That House Decline to Consider it at All.

Washington, Jan. 8.—As disrespectful and unresponsive to the enquiry of the House, the Perkins' committee, when it reports to-day, will recommend that President Roosevelt's secret service message of Jan. 4 be laid on the table.

A similar request will be made for the tabling of that portion of the President's annual message relating to the secret service on the ground that it reflects upon the integrity of the members of the House.

The special committee concluded its consideration of the message yesterday and drafted its report, which will be presented by Representative Perkins of New York. The unusual and extreme course advised by the committee—that of declining to consider any communication from any source which, in the judgment of the House, is not respectful—is likely to cause a sensation when it is read.

After setting forth the statement of the President that the House had failed to understand his message the report of the special committee says that the language itself would be judged according to the accepted interpretation of the English language.

It will be asserted that the language in question was unjustified and without basis of fact, and that it constituted a breach of the privileges of the House.

For that reason the special committee will ask to be discharged from further consideration of that portion of the President's message which refers to the secret service and will recommend that it, together with the subsequent message of the President in reply to the House, demand for an explanation be laid on the table as being unresponsive and constituting an evasion of the privileges of the House by questioning the motives and intelligence of members.

PINNED UNDER FALLING TREE

Fred Coughlin Had to Have Leg Amputated Above the Knee

Special to the Review.

Tamworth, Ont, Jan 8—Fred Coughlin, a farmer near here, was caught underneath a tree he was felling yesterday and pinned down until he was found by a party who were searching for him, as he had not been home for some hours. Coughlin had chopped the tree nearly through when it suddenly gave way, the butt coming down on one of his legs. The limb had to be amputated about four inches above the knee.

ALLEGED CRUELTY

Horse Said to Have Been Left Standing in Cold Hotel Sheds.

A party of four young men called at the Review office this morning and told of a case of ill treatment of a horse by a man in this district. They said he registered at a local hotel last night and left his horse in the sheds where the Review's informants say they found the animal at three o'clock this morning shivering from the cold. They secured stabling for it in an hotel stable and speak indignantly of the cruelty and thoughtlessness of its owner.

BLESSING OF THE GRAVES

Archbishop of Messina Treats Buildings as Huge Sepulchres

Messina, Jan. 8.—A most impressive funeral ceremony was witnessed near here yesterday when Archbishop Darrige made his way through the ruins of the city to the cemetery at Maregrosse and blessed a grave 100 feet wide and 30 feet deep containing 1,300 bodies.

The dead were piled one on top of the other, and the remains have been covered with quicklime.

The prelate was followed to the cemetery by a large gathering of survivors, whose lamentations mingled with the Latin words of the benediction.

Subsequently the archbishop walked through the ruins and blessed the military hospital, the military college, the barracks and the archbishop's house, considering these wrecked edifices as so many cemeteries. Under them were the remains of soldiers, students, policemen, priests and monks.

All the valuables found among the ruins are being taken on board the steamer Duca di Genea in the bay. Wednesday currency to the amount of $9,000,000, including the contents of the safes of the Sicilian-American Bank was transferred to this vessel. A banker named Manremeti, who was one of the richest residents, lost everything. On Wednesday he went to the authorities barefooted and half clothed and asked for a pair of shoes and an overcoat.

With the exception of Saint Andrea Avellino all the churches in Messina have been destroyed.

ENTERTAINED BIBLE CLASS

Mr and Mrs Riddiford entertained the members of the Park street Baptist church Bible class at their home, last night. A very enjoyable time was spent. Refreshments were served at the close of one of the most enjoyable social evenings the class ever had. All went away feeling that their hosts knew just how to entertain.

SHIP WAS WRECKED

Canadian Schooner Annie Struck by Waterspout —Crew Were all Saved.

New York, Jan. 8.—The bark Annie Smith, which arrived yesterday from Belize, British Honduras, brought five men of the Canadian schooner Annie, who was lost off the Honduran coast. A remarkable story was told of the loss of the schooner, which was as trim a Nova Scotiaman as ever shipped a cocoanut. According to the shipwrecked mariners who arrived yesterday, their vessel was a short distance off the coast on Nov. 16 when she was struck and capsized by a waterspout.

All hands climbed up on the bottom of the schooner, including Captain Decker, who finally ordered a couple of San Blas Indians in the crew to dive down and attempt to clear away the boats. The Indians were expert swimmers and succeeded in getting one of the boats clear.

The seven members of the party then pulled ashore, landing at a small town and went from there to Belize in a small sailboat. Captain Decker came north by steamship and the others by the Annie Smith, except one of the San Blas Indians. The Annie was a total loss. She was only a year old, of 193 tons burden, and was owned in Liverpool, N.S.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

The Galt Liberal Club rooms were formally opened last night.

The United States fleet is at Cairo.

Two immigration inspectors have been appointed for the port of Prescott.

Walter Wilson's barn at Wellandport was burned yesterday morning; loss $1,500. The cause of the fire is unknown.

Nat Massey of Chatham has resigned as liquor inspector, because he has to pay his own expenses out of a salary of $500 a year.

Lord Strathcona has presented the public hospital at St. John, N.B., with 50 copies of a book of photographs taken by Queen Alexandra.

Fire caused $50,000 damage to the warehouse of James Ballantyne & Co., contractors, with headquarters at Montreal, in Winnipeg last night.

Major H. C. Thacker, P.S.C., is to succeed Major H. A. Panet as deputy adjutant-general. Major Panet takes command of B. Battery at Kingston in June.

Because he got only 247 votes in his candidature for council, Sam Holmes of Chatham, a brother of the chief of police and a resident here for 57 years, will sell out and go west.

FINAL MEETING THIS EVENING

The final meeting in connection with the week of prayer will be held in St. Paul's church to-night at eight o'clock. The subject will be, "The Supremacy of Christ, its Results." An offering will be taken up to defray expenses in connection with the meetings.

BOUQUET FOR CHIEF

Fire Chief Howard Receives Appreciative Letter From C.P.R. Superintendent

Fire Chief Howard is in receipt of a very complimentary communication from Mr. James Oberne, General Superintendent of the C.P.R., conveying the thanks of the C.P.R. Company and its officers, to the Peterborough firemen for the assistance rendered the company on the night of the 14th of November last at the time of the wreck near Parnell street.

Mr. Oberne also mentions that he has recommended an appropriation of $25 to be divided among the men. It will be remembered that a collision occurred just outside the city limits, and the fire department were successful in saving 35 cars of merchandise from destruction by fire. The letter is a personal one and also mentions similar service rendered on the night of May 31st last, when Mr. Howard was chief at Owen Sound. The wreck that occurred there was attended with fatal results. The late W. H. Boskill, one of the companies' best known engineers, lost his life.

Mr. Bouskill was a brother-in-law to Mayor Rush.

PELTIER WAS HERE

Inspector Who is Missing in the Far North Bought Canoes in Peterboro'

In yesterday's Review in many other daily papers appeared a despatch from Winnipeg telling of the terrible suffering endured by a party from the Dominion Survey sent out to search for Inspector Peltier and his party of Eskimos, who have been missing some time.

A year ago an officer named Caldwell, from the Geological Department at Ottawa was sent on a survey in the north country, and never was heard of again. Last spring Inspector Peltier was despatched with a search party from Chesterfield Inlet, and was to wait at Fullerton, till August 1st, but the party and boat were never seen again. The third party, consisting of Sergt.-Corporal Reeves and three Eskimos, were sent out Nov. 22, but nothing was heard from them, and it is believed they, too, were lost. A fourth party will be sent out later.

In connection with the above it is interesting to note that Inspector Peltier, who is missing, was in Peterborough last spring. He came here for the purpose of purchasing canoes in which to make the trip referred to above. He bought four canoes from the Peterborough Canoe Company, two of them being for another party. The best canoes obtainable were purchased, the Inspector apparently realising that the trip he was about to undertake was a dangerous one, and the best that could be had would be necessary.

SPECIAL MEETING HAS BEEN CALLED

A special meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Tuesday night for the purpose of discussing the report of the inspector on the Collegiate Institute. Principal H. R. H. Kenner will be present and address the meeting.

SCOURING WESTERN ONTARIO FOR MURDERER OF MINISTER

New Turn in Columbus Tragedy—Body Found in Stove May be That of Gidean Browning and That the Clergyman Slew Him.

St. Thomas, Jan. 8.—That Rev. J. H. Carmichael, who it was thought had been murdered and his body dismembered and incinerated in two heating stoves of one of his churches in Columbus Township, Michigan, on Wednesday, is the murderer and Gideon Borwning the victim of the affair, is now the belief of the Michigan officials, who are scouring Western Ontario for the missing clergyman.

W. B. Moore, deputy sheriff of St. Clair County, is here following a clue picked up at Sarnia. There it was learned that a man answering the description of Rev. Mr. Carmichael crossed the river at Courtright in a rowboat yesterday. Provincial Officer Serviss saw the customs officers at Courtright and got from him a description of the man, which tallies exactly with that of Mr. Carmichael, who is a man of 250 pounds, standing 6 feet 2 inches, exceptionally long-waisted, of dark complexion, and wearing a dark brown beard.

If Carmichael turns out to be the murderer instead of the victim, Deputy Sheriff Moore says the authorities are completely at a loss to supply a motive for his act. They do not think there is a woman in the case. It has been learned from Mrs. Carmichael that when the minister left his home he carried a suit case, but Mrs. Carmichael has furnished very little information beyond this that would assist the police.

The identification of the body as that of Rev. Mr. Carmichael was largely based upon the fact that bloody clothing belonging to the minister and other possessions of his, including his spectacles, were found in the church.

The authorities say that so far as they knew there had never been any serious trouble between Browning and the minister.

On the contrary, they were apparently quite friendly, frequently driving about together. Tuesday afternoon Browning, it is alleged, left a Grand Trunk train at a near-by village of Hickey and enquired the way to the Methodist Church in Columbus Township. He is alleged to have said to two different men that he had an appointment there with a man. C. O. Conat, a rural mail carrier, and Thos. Galvin walked part of the way to the church with Browning. They left him a mile from the building. He has not been seen since.

No reason is known why Rev. Mr. Carmichael should have gone to the church unless he had an appointment there.

It has been learned that Rev. Mr. Carmichael had but four false teeth, while Browning recently bought a full set for the upper jaw. It is now the intention to sift thoroughly the ashes in the stove where the mutilated body was burned in an attempt to discover teeth, which might clear up the situation.

Among the gruesome evidences of the crime taken from the stove in which the murderer tried to incinerate his victim's body is a stickpin, which the sheriff says has been identified as belonging to Browning. The sheriff denied stories that pieces of Browning's clothing and buttons therefrom had also been discovered in the stove.

"The stickpin is the only thing of Browning's we found in the ashes," he said.

NEARLY TON OF COAL PER DAY

Charge That This Amount Was Used at Cobourg Gaol

It is a usual thing for ex-county councillors in Durham to denounce extravagance practised at Cobourg. Messrs Thos Baker and J W McLaughlin both declared vehemently against the wild expenditure of counties' money. Well they might. Reeve Tole tells the sensational story that 163 tons of coal were used in the counties' gaol furnace last year, nearly a ton per day from the middle of September to the middle of May. Thirty tons should have been "thousands," Surely an investigation is in order.—Bowmanville Statesman.

SHOP EARLY ON SATURDAY

The public is reminded that the dry goods stores of Peterborough close at nine o'clock on Saturday night during the months of January and February. The move is generally regarded as a good one as it will shorten the hours of those behind the counters and enable the delivery men to get through their work before the Sabbath has arrived. Shopping should be done as early as possible on Saturday. The public should co-operate with the merchants in their efforts to better conditions along this line.

FORMER PASTOR

Death of Rev. D. O. Crossley at Whitby—Much Regret in This City.

Whitby, Ont., Jan. 8.—Rev. D. O. Crossley, pastor of the Methodist Tabernacle, died of pneumonia early this morning. He was taken ill on Sunday night. Though very unwell he insisted on going out on Monday and voting for local option, of which he had been one of the chief advocates during a strenuous campaign of several months at this, the county seat. Rev. Mr. Crossley was sixty years of age. His only brother is the celebrated evangelist, Rev. H. T. Crossley.

THE LATE REV. D. O. CROSSLEY,

The news of Rev. Mr. Crossley's death was received with deep regret in Peterborough. He was widely known in this city, being a former pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church. He spent five years here, leaving Peterborough six years ago last July for Bowmanville. After four years there he was transferred to Whitby, where his death took place. Mr. Crossley was succeeded as pastor of Charlotte street church by Rev. Mr. Jolliffe.

The late Mr. Crossley was beloved by his congregation in Peterborough and rendered splendid service at Charlotte street church. He was chiefly instrumental in freeing the church from debt. When he came to Peterborough there was a debt of $13,000 on the church, Mr. Crossley devised a system for paying off the debt and it was so successful that two years after he left Peterborough the whole of the $13,000 had been paid off.

Mr. Crossley visited Peterborough a few weeks ago, conducting anniversary services at George street church.

COLD WAVE DID'NT COME THIS WAY

The government thermometer registered two degrees below zero last night. Apparently the cold wave, which was said to be coming from the west has apparently gone in another direction.

A new two million dollar vaudeville theatre structure is to be erected and opened by the first of November in Chicago.

Night Riders All Convicted.

Union City, Tenn., Jan. 8.—With a verdict of guilty in varying degrees, the jury in the night rider trials reported last night, finding Garrett Johnson, Tid Burton, Roy Ransom, Fred Pinion, Arthur Cloar and Sam Applewhite guilty of murder in the first degree, with mitigating circumstances, and Bud Morris and Bob Huffman, the other defendants, guilty of murder in the second degree and fixed their punishment at 20 years in the penitentiary. The first six will be sentenced on Saturday.

Shah Issues Another Manifesto.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 8.—Despatches from Teheran say the Shah of Persia has again issued a manifesto revoking the constitution.

There has been an outbreak of disorder at Shiraz similar to the recent disturbances at Ispahan. It is feared that the news of the successful plundering of this latter city will result in uprisings on the part of the lower classes in other towns, but particularly among the starving.

King Manuel Warned.

Lisbon, Jan. 8.—During a banquet given by officers of the army in this city Wednesday night, at which King Manuel was present, a lieutenant publicly warned His Majesty that a plot to dethrone him was in the course of preparation.

The officer declared further that the King was surrendered by spies and traitors.

PEAT PROCESSES

Peat is broadly speaking, 87 1-2 per cent. water, and 12 1-2 per cent solid matter. The processes at present, or at least up to the present, in vogue have all been of the drying-in-the-open-air variety, and these can be employed in Canada only for a short portion of the year. From data in the possession of Mr. Ernest V. Moore, of this city, we learn that the new Ekenberg process permits of a vast improvement in the treatment of raw peat. It consists of carbonizing the raw peat at 180 degrees F. or thereabouts, after which the water is much more easily squeezed out by mechanical means than heretofore. It then becomes expellable up to 90 per cent. of the original quantity. The peat is then cut into blocks which are mechanically dried until only 1 per cent. of the water remains. The heating value of peat depends upon the manner of carbonizing it. The Ekenberg process is available at all seasons of the year. The newest method of treating peat is all thing considered, an advance of about 30 per cent. over the old way. This must mean a great deal to Canada where the peat manufacture has not hitherto been quite successful by reason of the drawbacks indicated.

RELIGIOUS MANIA

"An appeal has been issued to the Protestant Italians of Montreal by Rev. L. Lattoni, pastor of the Italian Methodist church, for contributions in aid of the suffering people of Calabria and Sicily. Attention is called to the fact that a committee of Italian Protestants has been formed in New York to receive money to benefit Protestants of the stricken region and the areas affected by the recent earthquake. The collections will be sent to the church representatives in Sicily for distribution in the proper quarter. Rev. Mr. Lattoni asks that Montreal contributions be sent to his address 1210 St. Urban street, to Mr. M. Taylor, 462 Victoria avenue, Westmount, or Rev. W. T. Halpenny, 309 Delisle street, St. Henri."—The Montreal Star.

The above advertisement which we clip from the Montreal Star of Jan. 7th, contains such a poisonous germ of narrowness and bigotry that in our humble opinion it should be protested against without delay. Surely to ask for aid in the name and for the purpose of helping in time of disaster any particular religious body is to make a travesty of religion and to insult the Founder after whom it is named. This is the first outcrop that we have seen of this form of religious mania under the present circumstances. It is supposed to require and evidently does require, in some quarters at least, a naturally strong spiritual constitution to throw off the evil effects of "religious" narrowness, which when it does break out is manifestly the worst possible form of a malady that is wholly and entirely subversive of and derogatory to the teachings of Him who uttered the parable of the good Samaritan. Hitherto we have indulged in secret rejoicing that the measure of the calamity in Italy and Sicily has been the measure of our general public desire to furnish aid without regard to the nationality or religion of those aided, but it has remained for a clergymen to damp our pride in this particular. It is alleged in defence that other forms of religion do likewise. Are we to understand then that the mission of Protestantism is to enter the lists in a spirit of rivalry and competition or is it rather not only to preach Christianity but to practise it? Just at the moment when the world had become conscious of itself and of its own true pulsating spirit of brotherly love, when people are rushing to help each other at the first sound of alarm and at the first scream of terror without asking who or what the victims are, we have the unthinkable spectacle of a Christian who would "search amongst the ruins" for Protestants, forsooth. Even business which in its most businesslike form is practical enough in all conscience, would hesitate to advertise its narrowness to the world in such a fashion. What is Belief may we ask, or Faith? Are we not taught that "the greatest of these is Charity?" If so then let us all and sundry remember it and not seek to substitute Faith for Charity, which would appear the strong desire of many who should know better.

MR. L. M. HAYES K. C.

The Board of Education held its inaugural meeting last evening when Mr. L. M. Hayes, K.C., was selected on the first ballot as chairman for 1909. We congratulate Mr. Hayes and also the board. Mr. Hayes is not only an able and an acute lawyer, He is also a kindly gentleman and a public spirited citizen. In the 57th regiment he has earned the high esteem of officers and men and in the ranks of the lawyers he has attained an equal distinction. Careful, shrewd and public-spirited with an affable manner and a high sense of duty, the public may confidently expect that its educational interests will be well looked after under his presiding officership.

BRITISH RELATIONS

Mr. E. R. Wood, of Toronto, formerly of Peterborough, the well-known financial and general manager of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Co., of Toronto, in the course of his address before the Success Club of Hamilton, said that Great Britain had loaned Canada in the neighborhood of 700 hundred millions of dollars now owing. Upon this foundation some people are proceeding to build up a theory of national gratitude that is wholly out of place since, if the loans were not good business they would not have been made. It is always the way with money. Nothing is more conservative cautious, entirely selfish and strictly exact to the very letter of the contract than money. To attempt to graft on to it any element of pity, philanthropy, or patriotism is a sly attempt to make an additional asset out of a sentiment, but nothing more. Financiers as a rule are generous and patriotic. But that is considered as men. When it comes to business matters their motto is "Business is business, not philanthropy." Hence the idea that the size of British loans to Canada indicate the love of Great Britain for Canadians is erroneous. There is a disposition also to make the money power paramount, as if the power to make business and make it pay was a virtue and not a mere evidence of energy that may have been or indeed may not have been even honestly applied. The dual nature of Man set up as a shelter behind which the heartless or needless take refuge when they wish to condone a doubtful proceeding, is too shallow, silly and superficially suspicious to waste time over. It merely shows how easily the "virtue" of such men yield to temptation. That it is easier for a camel to go through the eye of the needle than for a rich man, etc., has been and will likely continue to be true. The love of money is beyond doubt, if not the root of all evil at least the embodiment of it. Trading in money is under our present system of exchange virtually trading in the very necessaries and necessities of life. The greed for gain therefore is doubly uncanny and repellant.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"The sympathy of America, and the assistance of America, will go out to the afflicted people of that island, for the world is not so large but that the misfortunes that overtake one section develop the sympathies of the people in every part of the civilized world."—The Sentinel.

"Most of our readers will be glad to learn that there has been a marked decrease in our foreign immigration this year. For the eleven months ending November 30th, there was a decrease of 124,583, or 46 per cent, in the immigration to Canada, as compared with the same period last year, 1907. This decrease was entirely in the arrivals via ocean ports, as the immigration from the United States remained practically the same as last year. The Dominion Government should be congratulated upon the effectiveness of the measures which took to discourage immigration this year. If another 100,000 or 150,000 European immigrants had landed upon our shores this year, it would have been little less than a disaster. We are glad to welcome desirable immigrants, and we have room for such, yet at the same time it is not well to have them dumped upon our shores without any regard to our capacity for employing and assimilating them. Immigration needs regulation, constant, wise, and effective regulation, and we trust that such regulation will never be lacking." — The Christian Guardian.

"The Canadian Government has already appropriated $100,000 for the purpose, and the city of Toronto will spend $5,000. These amounts will doubtless be supplemented by other benefactions both private and public. King Victor Emanuel and Queen Helena are both at Messina doing all in their power to reliev ethe distressed and to help on the work of relief, and their presence has undoubtedly been a wonderful stimulus to the rescue parties. The earthquake shock still continue, but they are now comparatively mild. We are sure that throughout our whole Dominion there will be the sincerest sympathy for Italy in this hour of her bitter sorrow."—The Christian Guardian.

It is pleasant to note that the differences of religious opinion which hold people mutually aloof in matters of belief do not affect their relations in times of stress and unavoidable calamity. Humanity then asserts itself. This world would be vastly improved as an earthly dwelling-place if some form of unity, if not compromise could be reached whereby the leavening power of a large general opinion and human sympathy could be substituted for "differences of opinion." It is strange, a gifted author, says, "that as a mere man I may extend a helping hand while my heart is warm, but when I realize that I am a believer in certain doctrines I assume an entirely different, if not hostile attitude." Evidently these are the "uses of adversity."

OF INTEREST

Some disturbance of social arrangements has been caused by the King's indisposition. His Majesty enjoys the magnificent distinction which is the tradition of the British Royal Family. It is related of the King's great uncle, the Duke of Sussex, that least brilliant of George III's sons, that Charles James Fox, has spoken disparagingly of his mental attainments. "I may not be clever," said His Royal Highness, "but like my country, I have a sound constitution." The King has proved during his active and laborious life that he possesses the hereditary gift. His medical advisers are always impressed by his recuperative powers whenever he has been attacked by a slight or a severe illness. Twice he has owed his life to his exceptional vigor. Thirty-five years ago, when attacked by typhoid fever, he was given up by his physicians who believed his case hopeless, but his constitutional energy prevailed, and he was snatched from the jaws of death. Again, just before his coronation, the rapidity with which he surmounted the effects of a dangerous operation for appendicitis, amazed Sir Frederick Treves, and his fellow surgeons. On the present occasion his Majesty is suffering from nothing more severe than an attack of rheumatism and an influenza cold But it is deemed advisable to keep him as much as possible from exposure and he has not been able to pay his customary visit to the Cattle Show, at Islington, which is the interesting event in London of the present week.

LADY DE BATHE

Of the English women who own race horses the most notable for some years past has been the accomplished lady who ten years ago married Sir Hugo de Bathe. The public at large have never quite assimilated her title, and to them she is still the "Mrs Langtry" about whose beauty Millais and Poynter and the artist generally were raving when we were thirty years younger. It was then that Millais painted his famous picture of the "Jersey Lily" and Mrs Langtry became a popular craze and a society fashion. But she was too ambitious and energetic to be content with this sort of success. She went on the stage before she was thirty, and soon gained a position as an actress both in Great Britain and the United States which was due to her talents more even than the glamour of her beauty and social eclat. Then she "went West," became a naturalized citizen of the States, bought and farmed land in California and made money by it, for the Jersey Lily is an excellent woman of business. Her ability in this respect has been exhibited on the turf, where she has done very well, winning the Cesarewitch in 1897 and the Ascot Gold Cup in 1898, both with the Australian colt Merman.

Last year she had an excellent season and figures rather high up in the catalogue of winning owners. The statement has been made that Lady de Bathe proposes retiring from the turf, but his she has contradicted. She is giving up her breeding stud, but will still own race horses. But she has also another interest. Society, the stage, sport, travel, business have still left her with one ombition unfulfilled. She has now determined also to achieve literary success, and is writing a novel.

GREAT MUSICIAN

There are people who still repeat that the English are not a "musical" nation; but that is a mere superstition, as anybody can see who goes to the numerous concerts of really fine music which are held in London every Saturday and Sunday and on some other days. That the London musical public is enthusiastic a swell as discriminating was shown by the tremendous reception given to Sir Edward Elgar at the Queen's Hall, when his new symphony was performed for the first time before a Metropolitan audience. Everybody who cares for music was present, and all agreed that the greatest of living English composers had produced what is perhaps his masterpiece —at any rate, a symphony worthy of its class which have been composed in Europe during the past few years. Dr. Hans Richter, who has done more than any living person to enable the British public to admire and appreciate Wagner and the other great tone poets of Germany, conducted the orchestra, which did full justice to the noble English music. Sir Edward Elgar is the son of a Worcestershire organist, he has married a Worcestershire lady, and has been Professor of Music in Birmingham university since 1904. Thus he is the man of the English Midlands, and the people of Birmingham take a proprietary interest and are very proud that it is from their district and not from the musical north that the chief of living English composers is sprung.

LORD CURZON.

The possibility of a general election and a change of Government has set people speculating as to the composition of the next Unionist Government. Two statesmen, who have never held Cabinet office, are certain to obtain very high posts if they care to take them. One is Lord Milner and the other is Lord Curzon. In the first case the uncertain factor is a possible distinction to mingle in the turmoil of party politics; with the second rather precarious health. Lord Curzon has done his arduous work in life in spite of constitutional disabilities which might have daunted a person of less force of character. Often when he was working ten and twelve hours a day in India, he was too ill to sit upright, and had to read and write and give orders lying on a sofa. Ill or well, he was always a worker of portentous and appalling activity. A distinguished Anglo-Indian administrator tells a story of the manner in which Lord Curzon discussed a difficult matter of policy with him. He was asked to stay at Government House for a day or two to talk over the matter with the Viceroy. He arrived rather late in the evening and immediately went to pay his respects to his host. "Ah," said the Viceroy, "as you are here, we might just have a preliminary word or two on that measure." That preliminary talk lasted till 2 o'clock in the morning, the Viceroy showing an amazing appetite for details and an astonishing knowledge of them. When the exhausted lieutenant-governor at last retired to bed, Lord Curzon said that it had been very satisfactory to him to have had this brief and casual conversation with him, because on the following morning they would be able to go into the question in a serious fashion.

A SOUTH AFRICAN TOUR

Lord Curzon's health has improved a good deal since he left India, but in the autumn he met with a motor accident which has thrown him back badly. His recovery has not been as rapid as his friends could wish and his doctors have now ordered him to South Africa, where he is to make a short tour. It may complete his restoration to health and be useful to him in other ways. Lord Curzon knows the territories and dependencies of the Indian Empire better than the Oversea States. On India, and on Asia generally, China, Japan, Korea Persia, Afghanistan, he is an authority and an expert. But he has not hitherto found much time to make acquaintance with the self governing communities, or to bring to bear upon their problems the trained intelligence and penetrating observa

A Life Insurance Policy is every man's protection if he takes out an Endowment Policy, but the straight insurance may be best for the married man with a family. If you are yet uninsured you are neglecting an obvious duty Remedy your carelessness before it is too late.

The following is the result of a 10 pay 20 year endowment policy No. 69926 on Henry Puley, Fenelon Falls, Ont., which matured 1st November, 1908 in the SUN LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY, OF CANADA. Sum assured $1,000—Cash Received atthe end of endowment period $1,356.35—Total premiums paid $732.50.—The above policyholder received $623.85 more than he paid, over 85% more, or the company gave him 4% compound interest on his money besides giving free insurance for 20 years for the $1,000.

We would be glad to write you up a policy for any reasonable amount.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Alberta Wheat For Britain.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 8.—The first shipment of Alberta wheat and flour to the United Kingdom via Vancouver will be made this week by the Vancouver Milling Co., which will send 5,000 sacks. A rate of 45 cents per cwt. has been quoted by the C. P. R., Calgary to Liverpool, this way.

Killed by Brother.

Petrolea, Jan. 8.—James Bullock was shot and killed Wednesday by his brother Bert, who aimed at a running rabbit and hit James in the leg. The accident took place on the farm of John Doyle, near Oil Springs.

Vote on Bylaw Again.

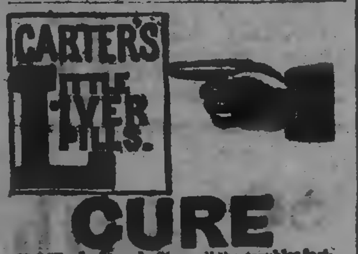
Kingston, Jan. 8.—In the municipal election a bonus bylaw of $10,000 to the Wormwith Piano Co. was lost by 50 votes. It required three-fifths support. The vote was for 1,422, against 494, but the total in favor was short. To prevent the works removing to Gananoque, where big inducements are offered, the Board of Trade will ask the council to re-submit the bylaw in three weeks' time.

Three Killed in Fire.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 8.—Mrs. Douglas Bolton and Everill and Marion Curtis, aged two and three respectively, were killed, and Miss Eva Bolton, John Bolton, Mrs. Fred Odell and Mrs. Fred Curtis, mother of the two children, were seriously injured in a fire yesterday which destroyed a small apartment building. Miss Bolton's injuries are believed to be fatal.

The Cold Wave.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Featured by a drop to 44 below zero north of Lake Superior, a snowstorm in this section, threatening weather in the south with freezing temperature and frost predicted for northern Florida and the Georgia and Carolina coast, a cold wave yesterday stretched over the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains.



CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

Pelletier Probably Safe.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—Joseph E. Morrier, one of three Hudson Bay Railway surveyors, who arrived at Winnipeg overland from Fort Churchill recently, has advised the mounted police department that when surveyors left Fort Churchill a patrol boat, on which Col. Pelletier and his party were to come from Chesterfield Inlet, had not arrived.

This is regarded as additional confirmation of the department's view that the Pelletier party went to the mounted police post at Fullerton and are coming out over the ice to Fort Churchill.

Clergyman Rebuked.

Montreal, Jan. 8.—Recorder Dupuis and Rev. Arthur French are engaged in a battle over the social evil. Mr. French has been instrumental in bringing to court many disorderly houses in his parish. He has had several clashes with the recorder, who yesterday morning censured Mr. French for his method of exposing vice to the gaze of the world, while endeavoring to stop it, and thus making young people familiar with phases of life of which they should never know.

Fought Fire With Buckets.

Saltcoats, Sask., Jan. 8.—With the thermometer 40 below and apparatus only tin pails and water barrels, citizens were turned out by a fire alarm at two o'clock yesterday morning, and by hard efforts got the better of a fire which had broken out in The Recorder office, owned by E. Bolton, postmaster. That building and Willey's drugstore adjoining were destroyed, but the fire was checked there. The loss is fully covered.

Labor Man's Indiscretion.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—The attention of Hon. Mr. Lemieux has been drawn to the fact that an official of the Labor Department was on the stump during the recent municipal elections mainly against one of the labor candidates. The incident is part of the fight between international labor interests and the national movement.

Domestic Science In Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Jan. 8.—The Government has decided to build a domestic science college in connection with the Agricultural College.

A commission with Col. Hosmer of Virden as chairman, will leave on Sunday for the U. S. and Eastern Canada, to investigate similar institutions.

Where It Is Cold.

Edmonton, Jan. 8.—Excessive cold reigned here yesterday. Wednesday evening it was 35 below, dropping to 45 below at midnight, the streets being deserted all evening. At six in the morning the mercury was 47 below, falling to 50 below at eight. No wind.

National Theatre For London.

London, Jan. 8.—London is to have a national theatre as a memorial to Shakespeare, in which will be enacted the poet's works as well as plays by other English dramatists, living and dead.

Great Cathedral In Danger.

Toledo, Spain, Jan. 8.—A board of architects has pronounced the cathedral at Toledo one of the largest and most celebrated Gothic edifices in Europe, unsafe, and liable to collapse.

Kingston's Fire Losses.

Kingston, Jan. 8.—During 1908 there were 86 fires, with a loss of $72,000, most of which was due to the Wormwith piano factory and city buildings fires.

tion he displayed in his books on the Far East, and the Middle East. When in England, Lord Curzon will now live at Hackwood park in Hampshire, a fine Georgian mansion, which he has leased from the owner, Lord Bolton, for a term of years. Eventually, of course, he will be the owner of Kedleston Hall, in Derbyshire, the family seat of the Curzons, to which Lord Curzon will succeed on the death of his father, Lord Scarsdale. It is an odd coincidence that he will be then inhabiting a palace of which his Viceregal home in Calcutta was a replica; for when Government House at Calcutta was designed in the early part of the nineteenth century, Kedleston was taken as its model.

THE MINISTRY.

Rumors of an approaching dissolution are the natural result of the Ministerial fiasco over the Education Bill. The Conservative central offices have warned their local agents to be prepared for eventualities, and most M. P.'s are arranging their Christmas holidays so as to be prepared for a call to arms if it should come early in January. The reasons why the Government should dissolve early in the year are cogent enough. The next session is not likely to be successful enough to redeem the failures of the past. By their education policy they have more deeply estranged the Church and have not pleased their Nonconformist friends. A fresh attempt would hardly improve the situation. Then the Budget presents many difficulties and there is a strong temptation to throw upon the Unionists the burden of finding the money both for the increase of the Navy and the administration of the Old Age Pensions Act. A quarrel with the House of Lords about the Licensing Bill is not regarded with much satisfaction by the party managers who know that the Upper Chamber is by no means the unpopular body it is represented to be. And then, of course there are the Women's Suffrage people, who will leave this Government no peace. In spite of all this, it is probable that the dissolution rumors will not be verified. A Government does not care to go to the country under the shadow of failure if it can help it. And there is a certain amount of direct pressure put upon Mr Asquith to remain in power by a number of his own supporters. It must be remembered —though it is usually forgotten —that the defeat of a Ministry at the polls means a substantial material loss to its members and some of its supporters. Some fifty or sixty salaries will be transferred from one side to the other, and many legislators now receiving payment or subsidies from political associations will be deprived of this source of income. The point is of more importance than usual in the present House of Commons.

"VOTES FOR WOMEN

Some of the "militant" female Suffragists profess themselves content with the orgy of rowdyism and brutality at Mr Lloyd George's Albert Hall meeting on Saturday. They think that the spectacle has helped to touch the national sentiment, and will bring them nearer the fruition of their hopes. Other supporters of the movement are much dejected, and deplore the violence of the extremists. Several literary men, notably Mr Israel Zangwill, the novelist and others who supported the Suffragettes, at first now think that these persons have discredited their cause. In London society there has been a notable change. A year ago rather fashionable, and many aristocratic drawing room meetings were being addressed by brisk young lady orators, and fluent male disciples of Mr Wells and Mr Bernard Shaw. Now the wind is the other way. The natural conservative instinct is reasserting itself, and ladies with proud and historic names are enrolling themselves daily in Anti-Suffrage League, which is assuming formidable proportions. Mr Balfour has always been a believer in admitting women qualified on the same terms as men, to the franchise, though of course, he has no sympathy at all with the fomenters of violence and disorder.

THE "TUBE" WOMAN

The term does not describe those ladies who continually travel on the underground railways. They are so numerous that no special designation is required for them. The "tube" woman is the pleasing appelation invented by the wits of Paris for the person who dresses herself in the height, or rather in the temerity, of the prevailing mode. She who would be in the mode must resemble a tube, that is to say she must be of the same circumference all the way up and down from her neck to her ankles. It is not pretty and it cannot be comfortable; but fashion has decreed this startling development of the Directoire style, and the Parisienne obediently endeavors to live up to it, or into it. London is following in a distinctly hesitating fashion. The exaggeration is to be seen occasionally at the theatre or a dinner party; but it is not suitable for those who have to get in and out of motor omnibuses and use their limbs generally. So in spite of fashion it is not believed that the Tube Woman has "come to stay" in London.

Elijah Raffty, colored broke down in a Chicago court and confessed that he murdered his wife and burned her remains in a furnace.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs Are Still Firm at Buffalo.

LONDON, Jan. 7.—London cables for cattle are steady at 13c to 14½c per pound, dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 9⅞c per pound.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 7.—Receipts of live stock as reported by the railways for Wednesday and Thursday, were 136 carloads, consisting of 1096 cattle, 4187 hogs, 1526 sheep and lambs, with 61 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers sold at $5 to $5.50, the latter price being paid for 26 choice steers sold by Corbett & Hall; bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.50, but few got the latter price, the bulk going at $4 to $4.25.

Butchers.

Prime picked steers and heifers, 1050 to 1200 lbs., sold at $4.75 to $5, but very few at latter price; a few exporters, weighing 1300 lbs., were sold for butchers' purposes at $5.25 to $5.50, but not many, as will be seen by sales quoted, brought these prices; loads of good butchers' sold at $4.40 to $4.70; medium butchers', $3.90 to $4.30; common $3.50 to $3.80; cows, $2.50 to $4.25; canners, $1.50 to $2.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a fair trade, but deliveries light. The Messrs. Murby bought 120 cattle, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.25 to $3.85, but had there been cattle of better quality a little more money would have been paid. Best feeders, 900 to 1050 lbs. each, at $3.60 to $4; best feeders, 800 to 900 lbs. each, at $3.40 to $3.65; best stockers, 600 to 800 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.40; common and medium, $2 to $2.50.

Milkers and Springers.

There was a fair delivery of milkers and springers. The demand was a little better, and prices ranged from $30 to $60 each, with one extra choice quality cow at $70. The bulk of the best sold at $45 to $50 each.

Veal Calves.

Receipts light, with prices firmer, ranging from $3 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Both sheep and lambs sold at higher quotations, as follows: Ewes, $3.50 to $3.75; rams, $2.75 to $3.25 per cwt.; lambs, $5.50 to $6.25.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris quoted prices steady at $6.25 for selects fed and watered, and $6 f.o.b. cars at country points to drovers.

Barns and Crops Burned.

Bowmanville, Jan. 8.—The barns, outbuildings, grain, etc., belonging to Luke Buttery who owns and lives on the Edward Bellman farm, were destroyed by fire yesterday morning. The loss is very heavy, as all last season's grain was in the barns, besides his hay, straw, winter feed, roots, three young cattle, two fat pigs and some poultry were also burned. How the fire started is a mystery. The loss is estimated at about $3,000, partly covered by insurance.

Must Take the Lash.

Montreal, Jan. 8.—The Minister of Justice has refused an appeal to withdraw the sentence of lashes on one Plouffe, convicted here of immoral practices. Ill health was the plea.

8,000 Salvationists to Come.

London, June 8.—Col. Lamb, interviewed, said the Salvation Army expect to send 8,000 emigrants to Canada in 1909. They will go as prospective workers on the land.

"PAID IN FULL" AT THE GRAND

A Truly Absorbing Play by an Excellent Company

At the Grand Opera House on Monday the offering will be "Paid in Full" the Eugene Walter play which is one of the striking successes of recent years. The fame of this piece is known to all who keep in touch with the stage and its presentation in this city is sure to awaken a degree of interest that will not be exceeded by any theatrical announcement for the year.

It has been asserted by dramatic writers that "Paid in Full" is the greatest play by any American author in the last fifteen years. It has been said, too, that it does pioneer work in native dramatic writing in that it breaks away from theatric conventions and handles American life with daring and originality and frankness. The best guage of a play as its element of popular interest goes in the extent of the approval it earns. In this test "Paid in Full" proves all gold and no alloy. It is now in its second season in New York City. It ran all summer in Chicago.

"Paid in Full" is a powerful, virile drama of present day life It is not a problem play. It does not prate or preach. It is an acting play. It is vigorous, brisk and keen. Mr Walter has a story to tell. It is an interesting story in every word and deed, so much so that it compels attention throughout. This story presents persons who are true types of men and women of today. As the story is interesting, so are the persons in it, for it is they who make it. There is leaven of comedy, of genuine humor, which heightens the stronger emotions. "Paid in Full" is by no means without laughs.

No stronger or more dramatic play—none of more absorbing interest—was ever written. It appeals to everybody. It is human, real, intense. There is not a moment in which attention is not closely held. It makes a profound impression.

"Paid in Full" is in four acts, the time is the present, the place in New York City. The company which will appear here was chosen by the Wagenhals and Kemper Company, the producers, with much care. It is an excellent organization.

Band at Brock St. Rink Friday night.

RECTOR WAS HONORED ON DEPARTURE

departure of Rev Revingtone Jones

Rev. J. E. Revington Jones who assumed the rectorship of St. Mark's Episcopal church, Port Hope, last Easter, has been obliged through bronchial trouble to resign his charge, and leaves for Indiana on the 11th of this month. Rev. Mr. Revington-Jones' pastorate in Port Hope, although brief, has been a most successful one and the members of St. Mark's parish have become very much attached to him.

Last Tuesday evening the men of the congregation assembled en masse at Col. Ward's residence, and from thence marched in a body to the rectory for the purpose of bidding farewell to their respected rector.

Col. Ward acted as chairman of the informal gathering and succinctly, yet feelingly, referred to th egeneral regret with which Rev. Mr. Jones' enforced departure was regarded by his parishioners. The following address was then read by the Wardens, and Rev. Mr. Jones was made the recipient of a substantial purse of gold as a tangible expression of regard;—

FAREWELL ADDRESS.

Dear Mr. Revington-Jones—It was with feelings of deepest and sincerest regret that th emembers and adherents of St. Mark's church received the announcement of your removal from Port Hope owing to unfavorable climatic conditions.

During your brief but happy sojourn in our midst you have endeared yourself to everyone in the parish, young and old. Under your loving, fatherly care the church of St. Mark's has prospered, and the prospects for the future are indeed briht as a result.

A united and resuscitated body militant is the legacy you leave to your successor. Your memory will ever be cherished in old St. Mark's, and our prayers will follow you in your labors in the far-away State in which you seek a climate more congenial to your health.

We, the members of St. Mark's, come here in a body to-night to bid you an affectionate farewell, and as a slihtg expression of our regard we ask your acceptance of this purse of of gold, with which we couple our very best wishes for the future health and happiness of yourself and beloved family.

Signed on behalf of the men of St. Mark's church, of Port Hope.

Port Hope, Jan. 5, 1909.

With some difficulty Mr. Jones trolled his emotion and feelingly returned his thanks. He expressed unbounded regret that through ill-health of himself and family he had been reluctantly compelled to seek a dryer climate, and bespoke for St. Mark's church an era of prosperity and progress.

After a few brief remarks from some of the men of the parish farewell was said, and the gathering dispersed.

Rev. Mr. Revington-Jones' departure from Port Hope i sa distinct loss to the town. His quiet, unassuming manner ha snot only won for him the respect of his own parishioners, but has gained many friends for him throughout the town, who join in wishing him health and every success in his future home on the other side of the line.—The Guide

ST. LUKE'S, ASHBURNHAM

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, on account of poor health, is compelled to discontinue his weekly cottage meetings during the winter.

The services at St. Mark's Otonabee, hereafter, will be at 2.30 instead of at 3 each Sunday afternoon.

OTONABEE UNION SUNDAY SCHOOL

Held Annual Meeting—Past Year Was a Successful One

The annual meeting of Cold Springs Union Sunday school, Otonabee, was held last night in the Sunday school room.

Miss Bennett, superintendent, presided, Mr. Alex. Long acted as secretary. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

The report of the secretary-treasurer was read by Miss Bennett in the absence of Miss Julia Gillespie, which was as follows;

Report of secretary-treasurer of Cold Springs Sunday school for 1908;

In presenting to you our annual report we must acknowledge God's great goodness towards us as a school.

Our work goes steadily on with unabated enthusiasm.

There is on our roll nine teachers with an average attendance of seven. 63 scholars with an average of 43.

Total teachers and scholars 72, with a total average of 50, including visitors, 55.

Our average is less than that of last year, but this can be accounted for when we remember the many stormy Sundays of last winter (with their almost impassable roads, when the attendance sometimes went as low as 14. But in spite of storm and roads no Sundays passed without our holding our regular session, there always being enough of teachers and scholars who braved the storm and roads to enable us to do so, and they were amply repaid for it.

Our class collections amounted to $82.96, an average of $1.57 per Sunday.

Owing to unfavorable weather our Rev D O Crossley

Anniversary Sunday was not a success it has been in other years and of course, materially lessoned our collections.

From a financial standpoint the year has been a successful one.

The total receipts amounted to $225.60 of this amount $92.75 has been paid over to the building committee, almost double the amount we promised to raise. There is still in the treasury a balance of $28.52.

The building committee also report a small balance.

Our home class department under the superintendance of Miss Welch. is certainly doing effective work as is evidenced by a number of its members becoming regular attendants at the regular sessions of the school. It is self-supporting.

Of the spiritual result of the work eternity alone will tell. Ours is the sowing of the seed, the harvest is in the Master's hand.

As a school we owe a deep debt of gratitude to the young men of our school who have given so freely of their time to aid in completing our hall, and also to the entire neighborhood who have given so liberally of their means to aid in reducing the debt thereon, but most of all should we return thanks to our Heavenly Father who has so abundantly blessed us and owned our work.

Julia Gillespie,
Secretary.
per L.B

The report of the Hall Committee was read by the chairman, Mr. E. Parmett, showing a tottal expenditure for the year of $9.99. The chairman of the Building Committee, C. F. Kitney, reported that the work was almost completed. In round numbers $1,200.00 had been spent. $825.00 has already been raised, leaving a debt of $375.00.

This was very encouraging, as the school had but $40.00 in the treasury to commence with, as all has been done within the last two years.

The chairman took this oppiortunity of thanking all all those who have heped in the work, as over half of the labor has been given. This was followed by the election of officers. Mr. Bertram Bennett ably filling the chair.

Supt.—Miss L. Bennett.
Asst. Supt.—Mr. C. F. Kitney.
Sec.-Treas.—Miss Julia Gillespie.
Asst. Sec.-Treas.—Mr. E. Pammett.
Organist—Miss A. Stenton.
Asst. Organist—Miss Kitney.
Librarians—Mr. A. Long, Miss M. Yaddie.

Refreshments were served after the meeting.

January Clearance Sale
Our Greatest Price Reducing Event---Your Best Economizing Time
SALE BEGINS SATURDAY, JANUARY 9th

Our January Clearance Sale is an event of vital, dynamic, money-saving opportunities. Its scope is boundless. Nearly everything in the store is sacrificed to force decisive clearance. Profits are unthought of—unexpected. Cost prices prevail, but even cost prices are relentlessly undersold where stocks are especially heavy. Clearance simply means that everything has got to go—that decks must be cleared for our Spring campaign. Clearance is Opportunity—and Opportunity is knocking at your door, and tremendous savings await your welcome.
We never carry goods over a season. It's store policy—one of the unbreakable rules of our business. We dispose of our goods while they are new and seasonable. We stop at no sacrifice to effect absolute clearance of one season's goods before embarking on a new season's campaign. No eight months of rest in moth balls for our merchandise. This year we meet the "Clearance" period with immense stocks of Winter goods. This stock must be moved—cleared out—sold completely and quickly. Because stocks are especially big, prices have been made remarkably small. But this fact will evince itself—when you come.

The January Clearance Sale begins Saturday, January 9th, at 9 a.m.

SIMPSON AND WILLIAMS TWO OF RELAY TEAM

New York, Jan. 7.—Two runners have been selected for the relay team of three that will race four miles each in a twelve mile race against Alfred Shrubb, the English champion at Madison Square Garden, Saturday night. These two are Fred Simpson, the Ojibway Indian, of Hiawatha Reservation, Canada, who is considered by many experts to be a worthy rival of Longboat, and Tom Williams, of Somerville, Mass. Simpson has run in several of the big Marathons and has always won a place.

WILLIAMS IS GOOD.

Williams has long been a thorn in Shrubb's side. He was one of a relay team which defeated Shrubb in the only setback the Englishman has had in a race of this kind in this country. He is in first-class condition. Shrubb is training with the Pastime A.C. over the roads in Central Park. As usual, he is in good condition.

KETCHEL IS TO FIGHT JOHNSON

Middleweight Champion Will be Negro's Next Opponent

Stanley Ketchel is to be the next opponent of Jack Johnson, negro heavyweight champion, he called.

The Michigan marvel, holder of the middle heavyweight championship title, undisputed head of his class, will try to bring back to Michigan the laurels which Tommy Burns lost for the Wolverine State when Johnson defeated him at Sydney.

Willis Britt, who coached Ketchel in all his recent battles, made this declaration. Britt is in Grand Rapids and after a conference with Ketchel and others interested in the welfare of the Michigan fighter, stated that Stanley was ready to throw down the color bar which he has insisted he will keep up since his return to this native State from the Western fighting field.

Britt will accompany Ketchel to New York after his fight with Tony Caponi in Grand Rapids on Jan. 11th. They will proceed to get into negotiation and arrange a bout with the negro heavyweight.

GEORGE STREET DEFEATED THE OTONABEE A. C.

In the Junior City League last night George street defeated Otonabee AC by 5-2. Lou Dobson was referee and gave general satisfaction.

The winners lined up as follows:

Goal—Williams.
Point—Lang.
Cover—Dennison.
Rover—Heale.
Centre—Pratt.
Right—Tisdale.
Left—Rightmeyer.

F.A.C. HAD AN EASY VICTORY

Blanked Cressman's Last Night by a Score of 9-0

Cressman's were somewhat snowed under last night in their game with the F.A.C's, the latter winning by the heavy score of 9—0. The game was played at the Brock street rink last night between 10 and 11 o'clock.

The teams:

Hot-Airs.		Cressman's
J. Logan	Goal	Titterson
B. Godfrey	Point	Duffie
W. Hopkins	Cover	Temple
F. Mowry	Centre	G. Stewart
S. Tisdale	Rover	F. Cressman
Barrie	Left Wing	R. Patterson
G. Godfrey	Right Wing	Petrie

F. A. C. had decidedly the better of the play all the time and Titterson in goal had a large night. He stopped many hot shots and played a good game. B. Godfrey, Tisdale, G. Godfrey and Barrie were the pick of the winners and Titterson and Stewart did good work for Cressmans.

Mr. Ernie Reid, of St. Andrew's, a satisfactory referee.

SPORTING NEWS

T.A.S. WON FROM WEST ENDS AND STRATHS. TRIMMED THE BELMONTS BY A 14-2 SCORE

Opening Games in City League Last Night—A Hard Argument Between Abstainers and West Ends—Strathconas Played Smooth Hockey.

In the first games of the City League at Brock street rink last night T.A.S. and Strathconas were winners. The West Ends gave T.A.S. a hard run for the money, the abstainers only winning by 2—1 after the closest kind of argument. Strathconas, however, showed a great deal more speed and class than the Belmonts, and outclassed the latter seven throughout the entire game. The champions looked formidable enough to pretty nearly head the list again this winter, although it is too early in the year to make any predictions.

The ice was in ideal condition and the teams certainly had opportunity to show their best form. Outside of the Straths, however, they didn't play up to the standard and showed little team work. It was their first games, however, and T.A.S. was not represented in full strength. On account of it being the initial appearance this winter of the septettes who played last night, allowance must be made. With a few more practices the teams will be able to acquit themselves to advantage.

The contests last night, however, interested the spectators, who showed considerable enthusiasm. Each team had a number of backers who made themselves heard at all times and there was real excitement in the second half of the T.A.S.-West End game.

After 6 minutes to play in the second half, Galvin found the nets for T.A.S., making the score 2—0. West Ends scored one, with the result that the tally was very even, and, encouraged by getting the goal, they went right in to win, if possible, and both teams let out several links. However, no further scoring was done and T.A.S. had the victory to their credit.

From the moment Straths and Belmonts got going it was easily to be seen that the clubmen would not be able to step with the wearers of the red and white, but owing to the latter's strong line-up it was generally concededd that they would win.

In the early stages of the game Belmonts put up a fair argument, and in fact flashed out occasionally until half time, when the score was 4—1 in favor of the Straths. In the second half Belmonts couldn't stand the pace, however, and towards the end of the game their opponents kept notching points with great frequency until they had piled up the formidable total of 14, while the other seven had to be content with 2.

Mr. George Lynch, who refereed, handled the game in remarkably good fashion, and not a single dispute or any dissatisfaction was caused by his decisions.

T.A.S.-WEST ENDS.

Both the T.A.S. and West Ends had a good following among the good size gathering of spectators, andd the teams certainly played an even-up game. While T.A.S. won, and with a team that does not represent that body's full hockey strength, it must be said in justice to the losers, that they had fully as much of the play as the winners, and at times slightly outplayed the cold water men. But they were very ineffective around the nets, and weren't able to take advantage of the opportunities offered for scoring. Around the T.A.S. goal they showed disorganized play and were weak in the shooting department. They checked well on the forward line, however, and the defence offered good opposition to the onslaught of the T.A.S. line.

The winning team showed what team work was in evidence, and played together more and shot better than West Ends.

Cahill, Galvin and Dorocher all played splendidly for T.A.S. and did great execution. Cahill at cover-point was the star of the game. He checked vigorously and with good effect, breaking up many rushes. He also relieved well and played a good game all the time.

Galvin on the forward line did great execution. He was fast and effective and should be heard from this winter.

Dorocher played his usual steady game in goal and saved his flags on several occasions.

The West End forward line gave a good account of themselves individually but showed no combination and as before mentioned could do nothing in the matter of goal attack.

Shortt and Pentland of the juniors played the wings and made a speedy pair. Rose at rover, and McNern at centre also did good work. Wade was conspicuous at point both in defence and aggressive work, making several pretty dashes up the ice. Dobson did good work and Halpin in goal stopped some good ones.

The play in the first half was very even and the only goal scored was secured by Cahill, making the half time tally—

TAS—1.
West Ends—0.

Crough was penalized in this half being benched for loafing.

After 6 minutes in the second half Galvin obtained the goal that won the goal for T.A.S., making the score read 2-0.

Crough was sent to the fence twice, for 1 min and 2 min, and Dobson was given 1 min.

On the cleanest shot of the night, Pentland scored for West Ends and no more goals were counted during the evening, leaving the final score 2-1 for T.A.S.

The teams lined up as follows;

STRATHCONAS—BELMONTS

All the Straths had a bit of the honors in this game although Wilson and Dobson did not have the same opportunity to distinguish themselves that the other five had. The forward line was very fast and showed an excellent combination. They also shot on goal well and in fact exhibited surprisingly good form for their first game. Every man on the lineup played a strong game.

For the losers Meyers at point and Davidson in goal were the most noticeable. Davidson had a heavy bombardment of shots to look after and did some nice blocking. In the first half G. Waram showed up well and gave Seymour a good run.

Straths got first blood, Long sending the rubber in from a face-off in front of the goal three minutes after play commenced. 1-0.

W. Wareham evened the score by doing the necessary for Belmonts on a nice shot from the side. 2 min 1-1.

Long again found the nets in 4 minutes 2-1.

After a pretty combination dash, Long scored. 1 min. 3-1.

Long shot but Davidson took care of it. Weatherstone followed up and banged it in on the rebound. This was the last goal of the half making the midway score 4-1 in favor of the Strathconas.

It was seven minutes before any goals were scored in the second half, Long again being the man behind the shot. 5-1

Weatherstone took the next—6-1.

Dusty was given a minute's rest.

Wilson on a pass from Clarke, tallied for Belmonts—6-2. 2 min.

Long secured the next. 5 min.—7-2

Dusty got his name on the scoring list. 8-2 30 sec.

Clarke was hurt and the game was delayed a couple of minutes.

Dusty was sent to the penalty pen for 2 minutes.

Seymour tore off a spectacular rush and scored. 2 min. 10-2.

Clarke, who had been injured in a collision with Dusty, retired. Weatherstone went off to even up. It was found later that Clarke had had his nose broken.

Before the game concluded Straths landed four more, making the final result,—

Straths 14; Belmonts 2.

Wareham of the Belmonts retired for the second half, Ray, who had played a hard game the night before, staying off with him.

Semi-finals will be played off in the senior serier by grouping together the winners of groups 1 and 4, and groups 2 and 3.

A further grouping will bring together in the intermediate section groups 1 and 2, and 3 and 9; the winners to play off in semi-finals. The same will apply to groups 4 and 5; and 6 and 7. No. 8 gets the bye.

All teams qualifying for the finals will be eligible to play at a big final tournament, which will likely take place in Toronto about Easter.

ST. ANDREW'S WIN OPENING GAME IN CHURCH LEAGUE

In the opening game of the Church League, St Andrew's showed an advantage over Park street and defeated the Baptist puck chasers on the Park street rink by 4-1. At half-time the winners had the score 2-0.

The game was a fast and hard played one and the ice was very keen. Both teams dispensed a good quality of hockey considering that it was their frist game this season. A fair sized crowd was in attendance but there were not so many on hand as there would have been had the weather conditions been a little more favorable. Mr W Galley refereed to the satisfaction of both teams and made a strict and impartial official.

For St Andrew's Flanagan at cover point was the pick of the seven and Curry at left wing was very effective his shooting being particularly good. Gilbert, Loomis and Barrie were conspicuous for the losers.

The teams lined up as follows;

ST ANDREW'S

Goal—Patterson.
Point—McDonald.

St Andrew's—Curry.

SECOND HALF.

St Andrew's—Flanagan.
Park street—Webb.
St Andrew's—H Rae.

The next game will be on Thursday night at the Park street rink when George street and St Andrew's play.

DANIELS MAKES A NEW RECORD

New York, Jan. 7.—Charles M. Daniels, of New York A.C., opened the indoor swimming season auspiciously last night by breaking the American record for the 220 yard swim in a special invitation scratch race at the swimming meet of the College of the City of New York. Daniels clipped two and three-fifths seconds from the best previous time of 2.32 3-5 made by himself in the New York A.C. tank, establishing a new record of 2.30 for the distance.

"THE SUPREMACY OF CHRIST IN SOCIAL LIFE" DEALT WITH

Two Excellent Addresses Given Last Night at Murray St and Knox Churches—Many Were in Attendance.

There were large congregations at Murray street Baptist and Knox churches last night, the meetings being held in connection with the Week of Prayer. The subject was "The Supremacy of Christ in Social Life," and the speaker at Murray street was Rev Robert Pogue and at Knox, Rev E A Pearson.

Mr Pearson based his remarks on Acts, 2.36. "Therefore let all the House of Israel know assuredly that God hath made that same Jesus whom ye have crucified both Lord and Christ."

These were the last words of the first distinctive Christian sermon. While Christ crucified was the theme of salvation it must not keep from view the enthronement of Christ as King. McKay of Uganda said;—"The cross must never be permitted to shadow the throne. The first great note of the evangel was the Lordship of Christ. Conviction of sin comes through being in the presence of the King.

His right to lead and rule implies our obligation to obey. Many fail on the very threshold of Christian life because they do not recognize Christ as being on their lives. The words faith and obedience may be different to the eye but they have the same meaning. How is this to be applied to social life. By what rule shall Christians govern their social relationships. Not by the imitation of the examples of others but in the language of Christ, "Ye are my friends if ye do whatsoever I command you" This rule is threefold.

First, the teaching of the moral law; second, the rule of influence. It must needs be that offences come but woe be to that man by whom the offence cometh. As an illustration of this point the speaker referred to an incident on election night. He was standing beside a man recently moved into the city from the country. He had been in the habit of drinking considerably when visiting the city but had since joined the [illegible], and stopped drinking. He claimed that he did not want his example to be of harm to his boys who were growing up around him. He is doing all in his powers to assist the work of temperance.

The third was the rule of service, "Seek ye first the kingdom of God," which applied to Christ and his work in the world. There were many things that were not unlawful, but for the Christian were inexpedient. The highest purpose for every Christian ought to be the fulfilment of the will of Christ for the betterment of the world."

Rev Mr Pearson closed with a description of what the year 1909 would be if Christ were enthroned as Lord and King.

AT MURRAY ST.

At Murray street church Rev. Robt. Pogue was the chairman and the speaker was Rev. C. H. Coon, who gave a fine address on "The Supremacy of Christ in the Home."

FARMERS INSTITUTE HELD MEETING IN PETERBOROUGH

The last of the supplementary meetings, under the auspices of the West Peterborough Farmers' Institute, was held in the City Council Chamber yesterday afternoon, and was a great success from an instructive standpoint, although the attendance was not large.

The chairman was Mr. Telford, president of the Farmers' Institute, and the speakers Mr. Wm. Thurston, secretary of the East Victoria Farmers' Institute, and Mr. Alward, of New Brunswick, a well known institute lecturer. The first address was by Mr. Thurston, his subject being "Bees For the Use of Farmers."

A short address by the chairman followed, in which he emphatically endorsed Mr. Thurston's remarks.

The next speaker introduced was Mr. Alward, whose subjects were "Poultry, Their Feeding," etc., and "The Proper Selection of Seeds For Farming."

The lecture brought out prominently the chief needs in poultry keeping, and emphasized especially the necessity of having clean poultry houses, not overwarm but with plenty of sunlight. It was very necessary, said the lecturer, to see to it that the fowls went to roost with a full crop, as it kept up the natural heat of their bodies.

"The Selection of Seeds" was the next subject taken up. Mr. Alward showed, by means of government experimental charts, the outcome of tests; what yield resulted from a plump seed, a medium sized seed and from a shrivelled seed. The yield from a plump seed was shown clearly to be the best in every way. The seeds had been selected from an ordinary fanning mill, which every farmer has, who sells any grain whatever, the light seed being separated from the medium and the plump by the simple method of being blown aside by the wind, whilst the medium passed through the sieve, and the plump seed remained on the top. He also advocated going amongst the grain in the field, when it was perfectly ripe, picking out all the tall stalks, following them to the ground and finding out whether the seed gave yield to one stalk or several, and taking the grain from the multiple stalks to the amount of about a quart measure, or even a pint would do; then the following spring sowing this in a plot of prepared land, and reaping and sowing for a succession of years in the same place, keeping on, of course, extending one's limits. It was surprising, the speaker said, how much the measure would amount to in three years. In his own experiments along this line a three years' test had resulted in several hundreds of pounds of the best plump grain.

He also pointed out that it was always best to plant one's own growth of oats, taking no notice of flaring advertisements of vast yields from other sources, as what was good for one farm was not necessarily adapted to another.

Mr. Alward referred in this respect to the potato, saying that the very opposite was the case, and that it was always better to endeavour to get a change of ground for this root every few years.

In dealing with the question of seed the lecturer said the best principal to go on was to cut potatoes in such a manner as to have two or three eyes in each piece and not to have them in slices, but good and chunky. These always produced a good crop.

The Tower of Famine.

The Torre della Fame, or Tower of Famine, was noted for its gruesome history. It once stood in Pisa, Italy, but there are now no traces of it. Count Ugolino della Gherardescha, whom Dante immortalized, was the head of the Guelphs, and because of his tyranny and accredited attempts to place his country in bondage he was antagonized and finally conquered by the chief of the Ghibellines, who imprisoned him, with his two sons and two grandsons, in this tower, the slow method of starvation being employed as the manner of their death. The door of the tower was locked and the keys thrown into the Arno.

The Holy City.

Medina, the holy city, triumphed long ago over all the rivals in various parts of the world which bore the same name, which means simply "city." Notable among them were the old capital of Malta and Medina Sidonia in Spain. The Arabian city was originally known as Yathrib, but owes its later name, El-Medina (the city) or Medinat Rasul Allah (the city of the apostle of God), to the Koran. To a good Mohammedan there is only one city "with a big C."

THE ARTISTIC PIRATES.

Yo ho! for the sail-swept Spanish Main,
Yo ho! for the pirates grim,
With the shark agleam on the weather beam
And the crew a-studying him!

"Art is Art!" quoth Gory Tim,
(The gunner bold was he)
As he chewed the bight of a bowline wight
Abaft of the larboard lee.

"I stick for Art!" says he again,
"But I likes it red an' gory!
With a Frenchman's thumb (cut off, by gum!)
I've drawed me many a story!

"I've drawed my gun in action, too,
An' at point-work I'm a bristler!
I've plashed in red to the foretop's head,
An' painted decks like Whistler!"

Quoth Leary Jake the bosun's mate,
As he lowered the boarding-netting:
"I, too, likes art—but a carving part,
In a rich vermillion setting!"

"But ho! there's a sail on our starboard bow."
Cried the Captain, "Lads, look hearty!
'Tis a man-o'-war, and furthermore,
She'll eat us, a la carty!"

And that she did—and they all were swung
From a yard-arm, most unwilling.
Quoth Jake to Tim, as they knotted him:
"Their line-work, mate is killing!"

SECRET OF SUCCESS.

Lord Strathcona Declares It is Perseverance and Good Credit.

What is the secret of success? Lord Strathcona has expressed his views on the subject recently for The Standard.

Giving evidence in the Federal Court at New York in the United States Government's suit for the dissolution of the Standard Oil Co., which organization has made him the richest man in the world. Mr. John D. Rockefeller, on being asked the question: "What was the secret of your success?" replied: "We always had credit, we kept out of convenants, and we paid on our paper."

"I think Mr. Rockefeller is right," said Lord Strathcona. "Mr. Rockefeller, by credit, does not mean only money trust—he means the readiness to oblige, which is aroused in all men by strong and reliable characters. I think he is right, decidedly.

"What the message does not mention is Mr. Rockefeller's perseverance and his ability of seeing what not to undertake.

"Tell your young men and young women readers to keep perseverance before them every moment of their lives and to proceed slowly and surely. Opportunity comes to some more frequently than to others. There are very few whom it does not visit at all. You have got to be ready for it. If you are not prepared, that's your fault. Work steadily for improvement, but don't gamble for it. Depend on your own efforts and don't wait for your friends."

The Old Spelling-Match.

The spelling-match, once the favorite arena of local learning in Canada, and the winter entertainment of many a countryside, has almost entirely disappeared. Perhaps country folk of to-day can spell as correctly as did their fathers and mothers, and much better than the average resident in city or town, but it is certain they do not get as much fun out of their knowledge of orthography as did the country folk of a generation ago. Then evening after evening throughout the long winter was spent in these battles over the words, the spelling team of one school being arrayed against that of another, and the contest aroused as much interest in the locality as a hockey match does to-day. The boy or girl (and it was usually the latter, for on the average the girls are better spellers than the boys), who "spelled down" the school, or who stood up last in one of these district matches, was the hero of the hour and the wonder was "that one small head could carry all he knew."

While these spelling-matches appealed to the sporting spirit and to local pride and rivalry somewhat as athletic games do, it cannot be denied that they also appealed to the intellectual side and possessed valuable educational qualities.

In the Muskrat Cities.

The queer, oddly-shaped houses of the muskrats present a peculiar appearance along the banks of the Otonabee river in Peterboro County. In practically all the weed beds and marshes the muskrats are plentiful, and their funny houses, unusually high above water, are to be seen along the shores, like trusses of hay. They almost resemble bee-hives, excepting that they are roughly finished in the exterior with protruding ends of rushes and marsh weeds. They are rounded on top, the rats gaining entrance from underneath. They are well made and warmly lined. In these the rats live through the winter, feeding on what they find under the water. In some of the low-lying places whole cities of these queer abodes may be seen, and the rats should be very plentiful next spring when the season opens for their capture.

More Good Indians.

Ravages of tuberculosis among the Indians of Canada is indicated in the annual report of the Indian Affairs Department issued a few days ago. During the fiscal year ending last March the Indian population numbered 110,000, a decrease of 40. The preceding year showed an increase of 169. To tuberculosis alone is the falling off attributed. The report notes that the Indians are becoming self-reliant. The expenditure for destitution, which ten years ago was $372,000, is now $142,000.

The police of Paterson, NJ, made a raid on a pool parlor and captured 75 boys ranging in age from 15 to 18 years. [illegible]

Both Women Acquitted.

Media, Pa., Jan. 8.—Mrs. M. Florence Erb, wife of Capt. J. Clayton Erb, who was well-known in political circles all over Pennsylvania, and her sister, Mrs. Catherine Beisel, who were charged with the sensational murder of Capt. Erb, on the night of Oct. 6, 1908, yesterday walked from the Delaware County Court House, free women.

After the jury had been out nearly 18 hours, it brought in a verdict of not guilty in the case of each woman, both of whom had been charged separately and jointly with shooting the captain.

Rose In Kingston.

Kingston, Jan. 8.—Alex. Rose of Toronto, lifer, jail-breaker, alleged lunatic and perpetrator of daring assaults and robberies, is now safe in Kingston. He has begun serving a sentence to which there is no end, although many, even in official circles, believe that with good conduct Rose will be liberated at least at the end of 15 years. He was brought to Kingston yesterday in charge of Deputies Stewart and Severs.

Rose still persists that he is innocent of the assault on Mrs. Katherine Davis, in her Yonge street liquor store.

Falls on Man.

Cobalt, Jan. 8.—Another fatal accident took place at the Davis mine, Giroux Lake, on Wednesday. Four men were engaged in a shaft down 65 feet; three had gone down the ladderway. Peter Peterson, a Finlander, single, aged 32, called down to his partners below that he was coming down a rope used on the whim for hoisting. Peterson started down the rope, which gave way, precipitating him to the bottom of the shaft 65 feet and killing him instantly. Peterson fell upon Mat Nearmee below, seriously injuring him.

C. N. R. Extensions.

Edmonton, Jan. 8.—General Manager McLeod of the Canadian Northern was here Wednesday night on an inspection trip. He stated that the company would build railways in Alberta if the Government would guarantee its bonds.

Surveyors are working out on a line north to Athabasca Landing, and also west to the Pacific coast. No definite plans have been made yet regarding extensions. It is possible the line will be extended to Brazeau coal fields this year.

Bye-Election In Virden.

Virden, Man., Jan. 8.—The bye-election to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. J. H. Agnew is being bitterly fought, despite zero weather and occasional blizzards. Harvey Simpson is the Conservative candidate, and Harvey Forbes the Liberal. Polling takes place on Saturday. The telephone question is the main issue.

One Dead; Another Hurt.

Kenora, Jan. 8.—Another tragedy involving the death of one man and the fatal injury of another from an explosion of dynamite occurred in McCrea & Courtney's construction camp on the National Transcontinental last Monday. The dead man was Hendrickson, a Swede, and the injured man is named Anderson.

Jack-the-Hugger Convicted.

Orangeville, Jan. 8.—Joseph Deighton, a young blacksmith, who has been doing the "Jack-the-Hugger" trick, was yesterday convicted of indecent behavior and using insulting language. Sentence was deferred.

Montreal Family Nearly Suffocated.

Montreal, Jan. 7.—A woman, two girls and a little boy were at 1.15 o'clock yesterday morning carried by firemen down a fire escape from the fourth story of the Sun Life annex building, corner of St. Alexis and Hospital streets. The rescued family was that of James Marsh, the caretaker. Marsh and the four members of his family were not aroused until after the firemen arrived.

They might have been suffocated before being rescued had not Marsh, who tried to get to the fire escape, but found the smoke too thick, thought of closing the fire doors leading to the stairway.

The damage to the building was not heavy.

29 Sustained Local Option.

Toronto, Jan. 7.—The 31 local option repeal contests have all been heard from. They show that local option was sustained in 29 places and repealed in two. They were Courtright and Hepworth.

The number of licenses which would have been cut off but for the operation of the three-fifths majority clause would have been 118 instead of 58.

A proposition is under consideration in temperance circles for a deputation, exclusively from the 20 places where the bylaw was lost through the three-fifths requirement, to wait on Hon. W. J. Hanna, to request its repeal and to protest against licenses in their municipalities.

Beaten by Hired Man.

Brandon, Man. Jan. 7.—Mrs. Hunter Cooper, wife of a well-known farmer near Bradwardine, lies at the point of death from injuries received at the hands of a hired man, Harry Scarr, aged 18, an Englishman, who attacked her Tuesday afternoon as she was driving home, beating her over the head with a hammer, fracturing her skull.

He then went into Bradwardine, told the husband what he had done and gave himself up.

Dean Was Poisoned.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 8.—Dr. Howe, special examiner into the death of Dean Frederick Howard of Drake University on Thanksgiving Day, has reported that the professor was a victim of poison. Quantities of morphine was found in the intestines.

Dean Howard had been contemplating removing from his apartments, and on Thanksgiving evening partook of a dinner there in his honor. The next morning he was found dead.

Fair and cold today and Saturday, with snow flurries. [illegible]

VOLCANOES.

They Are Not Burning Mountains as We Understand That Term.

"What are volcanoes?"

Nine out of every ten persons would immediately have an answer of some sort to the question above, for have they not a lively remembrance of having learned in their schoolbooks that "a volcano is a burning mountain, from the summit of which are sent out smoke and flames?" This popular fancy has been exploded by scientists, whose work is to explode popular fancies.

In the first place, volcanoes are not necessarily mountains. In reality they are just the reverse—that is, holes in the earth's crust. Out of these are thrown the materials which, accumulating, form the heaps which we popularly call mountains.

These are, then, the result and not the cause of the action. Neither are they "burning," as we understand the term. There is no combustion nor any action we might reasonably call "burning."

The action need not necessarily take place at the summit, for eruptions are just as frequent at the sides or even at the base. The so called "smoke" is nothing more or less than the clouds of condensing steam which are formed on every occasion when an eruption occurs.

Lastly, the "flames," so called, are merely the reflection of the mass of molten rock and material inside the crater on the clouds of steam above, thus appearing as a glowing light. The friction, too, set up by the motion of the materials causes electricity, and hence the lightning discharges which add to the illuminating effect.—Pearson's Magazine.

VOTED WITHOUT BALLOTS.

An Election Day at Charlottesville, Va., in 1804.

At Charlottesville, Va., the seat of Albemarle county, according to Miss Mary Johnston's chronicle of "Lewis Rand," they were voting for a member of the house of delegates. It was the fourth Wednesday in April. The year was 1804.

"Under the locust trees to the right of the open gate were placed long tables and on them three mighty punch bowls, flanked by drinking cups and guarded by house servants of venerable appearance and stately manners. Here good Federalists refreshed themselves. To the left of the gate, upon the trampled grass beneath a mulberry, appeared other punch bowls and in addition a barrel of whisky ready broached for all good Democrat-Republicans. The sunny street was filled with horses, vehicles and servants; the broad path between the trees, the turf on either hand and the courthouse steps were crowded with riotous voters. All ranks of society, all ages, occupations and opinions, met in the genial weather beneath the trees, where sang every bird of spring."

Within the courthouse the sheriff presided. Conspicuous sat the two candidates. There were no ballots, but each voter made known his choice by living voice:

"I vote, sir," cried the colonel, "for Mr. Ludwell Cary, for a gentleman and a patriot, sir, and may the old county never be represented but by such!"

NEW BOARD OF EDUCATION HELD ITS INAUGURAL MEETING

Mr. Louis M. Hayes is Elected Chairman for 1909—Standing Committees Arranged—Vote of Thanks to the Secretary.

The new Board of Education held its inaugural meeting last night, when a chairman was appointed and the standing committees appointed for year. Mr. L. M. Hayes K.C., was elected chairman. The personnel of the Board is the same as last year, with the exception that Mr. E. F. Mason replaces Mr. W. S. Robinson.

The secretary of the Board, Mr. W. G. Morrow presided, and the members took the oath of office before the meeting opened.

The election of a chairman called for ballots and the vote resulted in favor of Mr. L. M. Hayes. The election was made unanimous amid an outburst of applause.

In excepting the position of presiding officer, Mr. Hayes expressed his hearty thanks for the great honor conferred upon him. He referred in eulogistic terms to the good work done by the retiring chairman and asked the members to give the same support to him as was given Mr. Fair, and he hoped that the year's business would be transacted with the same spirit of harmony as has characterized the past year.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

The next business was the appointment of a nominating committtee with the following members to strike the standing committtees;—Messrs. Hill, Ackerman, Crane and Nelson, and Dr. Burnham. The comittee met immediately and made the following report, which was read by Dr. Burnham;—

Finance Committee—Messrs. Ackerman, Dumble, Fair and Crane.

Property Committee — Messrs. Crane, Morrison, Hill and Dr. Burnham.

Committee on Appointments —The whole Board.

Building Committee —The same committee as appointed last year was again selected and the name of E. F. Mason inserted instead of W. S. Robinson.

CHAIRMEN CHOSEN.

Ballots were cast by each committee for the selection of the chairmen and it resulted as follows;—

Finance—Robert Fair.
Property—W. F. Nelson.
Supervision—John Crane.
Appointments—W. H. Hill.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Before the Board adjourned, Mr. W. H. Hill took occasion to express his personal appreciation, as well as that of the Board, to the secretary, Mr. W. G. Morrow, for his allowing the Board meeting in his offices, which were both convenient and comfortable. He moved on behalf of the Board a vote of thanks to Mr. Morrow.

Mr. Robert Fair took great pleasure in seconding it.

Mr. D. W. Dumble, in speaking to the motion stated that not only was Mr. Morrow very kind in allowing the use of his offices for Board meetings, but he wished to express his appreciation of the very careful and thorough manner that the secretary prepared the business which was to come before the Board. Chairman Hayes in a few remarks extended the vote of appreciation from the Board to the secretary.

Secretary Morrow thanked the Board for their expression of approval and appreciation. He said that it was very convenient for him to have the Board meet there. It is just 22 years in February or March that he first attended a Board of Education meeting and at that time he was young and somewhat nervous. But he had overcome that and had always taken a great interest in the education affairs of the city. He was always pleased to meet with the members and to assist them in every way possible.

Adjournment then took place.

THE DEATH OF A FORMER RESIDENT

The "Silver State" of Deer Lodge City, Mont., contains an obituary notice of a former Peterborough resident in the person of Mrs. Duncan McLeod.

The notice is as follows;

Ovando, Mont, October 17—Died at their home on McCabe Creek, near Ovando, on October 13, 1908, Sarah Jane Gilchrist, wife of Duncan McLeod; born at Gofftown, NH on the 16th day of November, 1823, and a daughter of Dr John Gilchrist, of Port Hope, Canada, the first physician licensed by the government. Surviving her are her husband; and two daughters, Mrs Alfred Stewart, of Ovando, Mont, and Mrs Geo. Reynolds of Portland, Ore, and two sisters, Mrs Charles Perry, of Peterborough, Canada, and Miss Anna Gilchrist, of Port Hope, Canada.

Before coming to Ovando, Mrs. McLeod had lived with her husband in several states of the union, and for many years lived in Helena, where Mr McLeod was engaged in mining, real estate and insurance. Since coming to Ovando they have lived a retired life, and are much respected by their friends and neighbors.

Interment was made in the Ovando cemetery followed by a large concourse of sorrowing friends. Funeral services were held at the church by Rev Fulford, from New Chicago, and was most inspiring and cheering to those left behind. The choir rendered several choice selections. The casket was nearly hidden by flowers and wreaths.

Harley Weatherhead, aged 21, was drowned while skating on thin ice at Peoria, Ill.

POULTRY SHOW CONCLUDED WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Over $400 Paid Out in Prize Money But the Association Will Have Neat Balance—Exhibitors Greatly Pleased.

"'Best show, I was ever at."

"Never was used better in my life."

"The show couldn't have been handled better."

"Coming back again next year! Well I should say so."

These were a few expressions that came to the ears of a Review representative as he took a fina stroll through the market hall last night at the close of the first annual show of the Peterborough Poultry and Pet Stock Association. The exhibition came to a conclusion last night and the birds—over a thousand in number—have been removed.

The show was a great success from every point of view and so enthusiastic is the management that arrangements are already being made for next year's exhibition.

The judging was concluded yesterday at noon, the judge being Mr J. E. Bennett of Toronto. His work was highly satisfactory to the exhibitors and there was not a kick from any quarter. Mr Bennett stated it was one of the best managed shows he had visited. This is a splendid compliment to the local management as Mr. Bennett has had wide experience. Over $400 was paid out in prize money, the cash for the premiums being paid over promptly. Although this was the first show and the management had many difficulties to overcome, they have a balance of over $50 and also own all the coops used for the show and a lot of other equipment that can be looked upon as an asset of the association.

The show was a great one for sales, a large number of birds changing hands yesterday. Some fancy prices were paid but buyers and sellers were alike satisfied.

Superintendent [illegible], president H. Lush, secretary Hicks, and the other officers of the Poultry Association are to be congratulated on the success of the show. It was conducted on a business basis and exhibitors and spectators were greatly pleased. The show was well patronized by the people of Peterborough who took a great interest in the birds.

With the good start it now has and with every exhibitor highly satisfied with the way he was treated, there is every reason to believe that the Peterborough Poultry Show will become one of the best in the province.

The prize list will be published in the Review tomorrow.

The fight against the Alabama prohibition law was opened in a petition filed by several lawyers in the U. S. court at Alabama.

CLOSE CONTEST IN CHANDOS TP.

The municipal elections in Chandos resulted as follows;—Wm. Hales was re-elected reeve. All the old Council were elected except one, and that one was only beaten by one vote.

LOST — Two Hounds, color white, black and yellow, Answer to names 'Jap' and 'Nipper'. Anyone found harboring these dogs after this notice will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. d8

WILHELM IS BENT ON WAR LISTENS TO BELLIGERENT TALK

Out of all Patience With England, Kaiser Has Closed His Ears to Von Buelow and is Eating Fire—European Papers Are Full of Reports of Preliminary Moves.

Berlin, Jan. 9.—Not since the beginning of the complications in the Near East has so much war talk been heard as to-day. The military party is waxing wondrous strong, and officers and staff say that war is inevitable, that everything is prepared and that hostilities will surely break out in March. The Kaiser has lost all patience with England, is turning a deaf ear to the peaceful counsels of the Imperial Chancellor, Prince Von Buelow, and is listening with attention to the warlike utterings of his military staff.

The Kaiser's sudden departure from Hubertusstock and his abandonment of the Corfu trip are all put in as arguments that a coup is being prepared, owing to information received from Kaiser Franz Josef of Austria, who having got 45,000 men into Bosnia and Herzegovina, has made preparations to double that number within three days.

An Austrian agent well known to the court here some weeks ago was charged with the mission of buying with all possible discretion all the stocks of rifle and ammunition he could get hold of. A report on the Boerse also says that Servia has bought 25,000,000 cartridges in Belgium.

These announcements, together with the publication of a quotation from the Servian newspaper, The Politika, to the effect that, although her enemies could not prevent Servia from celebrating a peaceful Christmas, bloodshed was being prepared for Easter, has tended to make people nervous.

One paper publishes a special despatch from Constantinople, which states that a high personage has just seen Kiamil Pasha and says that the Grand Vizier no longer believes in the possibility of maintenance of the peace of Europe. This personage asserted that he had possession of proof that Austria was preparing for the outbreak of war in a few months and that Turkey was preparing for a campaign against Bulgaria.

Count Richard von Pfeil, writing in The Dundschau, says:

"The outlook is war, which would open out a way for Austria to the much-coveted Salonica, and for Bulgaria to the much-desired Macedonia."

TEMPERANCE LEAGUE TO START ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

In Connection With the Fight for Local Option in Peterborough—Statement Issued.

Following the week of prayer the City Temperance and Moral Reform League will begin its programme of campaign with the vote for the banishing of the bar next January.

The work of the league will be educative throughout the year. The spirit that permeates the executive is that of good-will to the citizenship of this progressive city. In the language of the Rev. Dr. Henderson, the league clearly recognizes the fact that the true spirit of Christianity to-day must be translated in the liberty and loving service for the uplift of man around us.

The object of the league will be to bring before the attention of the citizens of Peterborough facts bearing upon the importance of removing the saloon from the hotel business, it shall appeal to those who have been drawn under the power of strong drink, and will seek to works along the lines of the T.A.S. in securing the total abstinence pledge from the men of the city. It will appeal also to the higher ideals in the men who indulge moderately in the hope that, for the sake of others they will forego that which after all is a most dangerous and questionable delight. The league will appeal to the men engaged in the traffic themselves in the hope that they may get a clear view of the awful havoc their daily efforts are producing, and the high esteem in which they would otherwise be held if they would cut out the bar and do all that they are capable of doing in helpin gto build up strong and genuine citizenship where every British subject would be free to enjoy the blessings of his home and family circle. It would be the object of the league also to furnish facts relative to the large gains to the commercial interest sof the city and from time to time will have the testimony of prominen business men in the towns and cities when the enormous sums of money—worse than wasted in strong drink have been converted into groceries, boots and shoes, clothing and bank accounts.

The league will appeal to all the citizens for their assistance in procuring helpful hints and information that will add to the interest of the educational work.

The league has opened an office in the new block, 173 Simcoe street, where all communications, clippings, short, pointed letters may be sent.

Considerable space has been purchased in the city press for the Saturday editions which will be under the able management of an intelligent, wise and judicial editorial committee, and the executive invites all who are interested in this work to meet with them any Thursday night at their rooms at 173 Simcoe street.—Com.

PISTOL A TOY ONE

Man Arrested at Burleigh Falls on Charge of Pointing a Revolver

County Constable Cochrane went to Burleigh yesterday and arrested a youn man named Tom Windsor, on the charge of threatening to shoot. It appears that Windsor and a man named McFarlane got into an altercation at Burleigh Falls on Monday, and Windsor is said to have drawn a revolver out of his pocket and pointed it at McFarlane.

Mr. Cochrane is in possession of the gun, and informed the Review today that it is only a large sized toy postol, one of the kind in which paper "caps" are used.

Windsor came up before His Worship Magistrate Edmison this morning and was remanded for trial.

CLERGUE NOW OUT

Not Controlling Soo Corporation — Meeting Being Held in New York.

New York, Jan. 9.—C. D. Warren of Toronto was interviewed yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria relative to the report in circulation, that Mr. Clergue had secured control of the Soo plant.

The report, when repeated to Mr. Warren, caused him to smile blandly.

"You may deny that report from me. There is absolutely nothing in it," said Mr. Warren. "If Mr. Clergue is even a stockholder in the company I do not know it, and I think I world. He has not, and cannot, secure control of the Soo."

"Are you here to attend a meeting of the directorate of the Soo to-day?"

"There is no meeting of the board to-day. It takes place next week. I will be present. After the directors meet I may have something that will be of interest to the people of the Soo territory. Until then, however, I have nothing to give out on the matter."

"Does it concern the absorption of the Soo, or will the Soo enlarge its plant?"

"I do not care to say what it is, I say, but I think it will be of universal importance to that section of the country when it takes place," declared Mr. Warren.

He conveyed the impression that the important event would have to do with the extension of the plant, but he absolutely refused to say just what it would be, or in what way it would affect the Soo and the people.

BIGAMIST WAS LET GO

He Pleaded Guilty But Magistrate Could Not Sentence Him Owing to Technicality in the Law

Charles Rotchford, who pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy, came up for sentence this morning before Magistrate Dumble, and was allowed to go, owing to a technicality in the law.

"It seems a pity that I am under the painful necessity of letting you go," remarked His Worship to the prisoner.

The Magistrate explained that as the offence was committed in England and under the decisions of the English court he could not convict him under Canadian law. However, Rotchford was warned not to go near his second wife's home, as he would be arrested as a trespasser.

PARTY AT MR. T. GUERIN'S JR.

In Honor of Sixth Anniversary of Wedding

Mr. Tenice Guerin, jr., Aylmer st., had a party on Thursday night in honor of the sixth anniversary of his marriage. A most enjoyable evening was spent, the principal feature of which was progressive euchre.

The first prise was won by Mr. Fredericks and the wood-duck, the booby prize, was won by Mr. Fred Redmond.

MAY BE VICTIMS OF EARTHQUAKE

Montreal Professor and Wife May Have Lost Their Lives.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Did Prof. and Mrs. John Hayward of Montreal perish in the recent disaster in Southern Italy? is the question that is being asked to-day by a number of the professor's friends.

Last August Prof. Hayward, who up till recently was a professor in the engineering department of the applied science faculty of McGill University, left with his wife for a tour of the world, and word was received recently that they were in Sicily.

On Dec. 24 they wrote from Messina to friends in Montreal, stating that they were leaving there that day. On the 25th, according to a postcard received in the city yesterday morning, they were at Smalfi, a small town on the Campanian coast about 23 miles southwest of Naples.

In Debris Seven Days.

Reggio, Jan. 9.—Among others who escaped uninjured when the shock came were three children, who, after having been buried in the debris of their home for seven days, got out unaided, burrowing like mice.

A man and his wife also have been found uninjured beneath ruins, where they had lain for eight days subsisting on a pint of olive oil.

Will Need 40,000 Men.

Messina, Italy, Jan. 9.—It is believed that 40,000 men will be required to isolate the city, as the peasants from the interior are crowding in much faster than the others are leaving.

Queen Helena's Grief.

Rome, Jan. 9.—Following the desires expressed by Queen Helena the anniversary of her birth, which was observed here yesterday, was not attended by any unusual festivities.

Her Majesty is reported to have said that she wished to celebrate the day by working hard for the earthquake survivors, whose sufferings she cannot drive from her mind.

ARE BUMPING ROOSEVELT

That Secret Service Message to Congress Earns Him a Rebuff.

Washintgon, Jan. 9.—After having made him the target all day for criticism, with here and there words of commendation, the House of Representatives last night, by a vote of 212 to 35, rebuked President Roosevelt by tabling so much of his message as reflected on members of Congress in connection with his recommendations regarding the secret service detectives, and also declaring that it be the sense of the House that they shall decline to consider any communications from any source which is not in its own judgment respectful.

With feelings of outraged dignity and pride on the part of many of its members, the House yesterday gave itself up entirely to a discussion of one of the most momentous questions that ever came before it—its functions as a legislative body—in contradistinction to those of the executive branch of the Government.

"The President denies that the paragraph of the annual message casts reflections on the integrity of the House; attributes to the House 'an entire failure to understand my message.' This House must insist on its own capacity to understand the import of the President's language.

"Be it resolved, that the House in the exercise of its constitutional prerogatives declines to consider any communication from any source which is not in its own judgment respectful; and, be it further

"Resolved, that the special committee and the committee of the whole House on the state of the union be discharged from any consideration of so much of the President's annual message as relates to the secret service, and that the said portion of the message be laid on the table."

By a viva voce vote, the Senate yesterday passed Senator Culbertson's resolution, instructing the committee on the judiciary to report to the Senate whether the President was authorized to permit the absorption of the Tennessee Coal & Iron Co. by the United States Steel Corporation.

THIRTY PUPILS WERE OVERCOME

Teacher and Little One Have Narrow Escape From Asphyxiation.

Pottsville, Pa., Jan. 9.—Thirty-five pupils of Mount Carbon school and their teacher, Miss Laura Deisher were overcome by coal gas yesterday, caused by a leaky stove pipe, and it was only through the prompt action of the young woman that the lives of her charges were saved.

Noticing several of the children falling asleep and herself becoming stupified, Miss Deisher quickly comprehended the cause. She picked up four of the children and carried them outside, and in returning for a fifth child she was herself overcome and fell over unconscious.

Several women living in the neighborhood saw the four little ones lying on the schoolhouse porch and upon investigation found the entire school of 35 children in a comatose state.

Physicians were summoned from Pottsville and succeeded in resuscitating all of them after considerable trouble.

SMITH RESIDENT WAS INJURED

Mr Fred Elmer, of Smith, was hurt today by slipping and falling on the pavement on Simcoe street. He received a gash in the back of his head.

MINISTER IS THE MURDERER BROWNING'S BODY IN STOVE

Identification Made by Means of False Teeth Shows That the Missing John H. Carmichael of Columbus, Mich., is Still Alive.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 9.—By means of two false teeth it was definitely established yesterday afternoon that Gideon Browning, a carpenter of Adair Village, was the man who was butchered last Tuesday evening in the little Rattle Run Methodist Church in Columbus Township.

With part of the mystery which has enshrouded the brutal crime thus cleared, the supervisors of St. Clair County immediately offered a reward of $500 for the arrest of Rev. John H. Carmichael of Adair, pastor of the little church, and the man who was at first supposed to have been killed, dismembered and then burned in the church stoves, thus becomes the alleged murderer. He is a man over 6 feet tall, weighing more than 200 pounds and the description says:

Both legs have been broken, and he walks with a decided limp. Both his feet turn out noticeably, one at an angle of 45 degrees. He has a scar on the upper lip and another on the side of his nose. His eyes are light blue, or grey. There is another scar on one of his legs below the knee. When he disappeared he wore his brownish beard closed cropped at the sides. The beard and his hair, also brown, showing a little grey, has been recently trimmed.

Strenuous efforts to discover some motive for the destruction of the carpenter by the minister was fruitless yesterday. Rumors that Carmichael had been seen crossing the St. Clair river into Canada could not be corroborated. An officer sent to St. Thomas, Ont., reported no trace of him there.

The wife and daughter of the minister were examined yesterday by the prosecuting attorney here, and he stated afterward that he was convinced that they knew nothing of the murderer nor the man's disappearance. A statement yesterday by Mrs. Carmichael that her husband's sister is an inmate of an insane asylum in West Virginia, may explain some of the horrible features of the crime, if the authorities suspicions about Rev. Mr. Carmichael are borne out. Mrs. Carmichael also said that her husband was moody and restless the night before he disappeared, and apparently brooding over something.

It was also learned yesterday that on Monday, the day before the murder, Rev. Mr. Carmichael came to the postoffice in Adair, apparently much agitated and purturbed, and received a letter which he took away without opening.

PICKED CLERK'S POCKETS; PLEADED GUILTY TO THEFT

Walter Macklen, a clerk in Mr. J. T. Stenson's shoe store, on Tuesday afternoon had his pocket picked of $21.26. The police were at once informed of the theft, and through the good work of P.C. Meharry Mr. Macklen was returned the purse and money, but thirty-five cents.

William J. Montgomery was arrested by P.C. Meharry and pleaded guilty to the theft of $21.26 from Walter Macklen at the police court this morning. Crown Attorney R. E. Wood conducted the prosecution, and asked that the prisoner be remanded for a week.

It appears that on the day that the theft was committed Montgomery came into the store looking for work. He first spoke to Mr. Macklen who told him to go and see Mr. Stenson. He had not gone long when he returned and while Mr. Macklen's back was turned he stepped up to him and removed the purse containing the above sum from a rear pocket.

As soon as the money was missed the police were informed with the result that the money was recovered.

PECULIAR DEATH AT BRANTFORD

Dentist Dies Under Peculiar Circumstances.

Brantford, Jan. 9.—Dr. W. F. Templar, prominent dentist and real estate holder, is dead here under peculiar circumstances.

He walked from his office across the street to his residence on Dalhousie street yesterday afternoon, staggered to his room and went into convulsions. Four doctors were summoned, but the doctor was beyond human aid.

Before he expired he made the statement that he had taken a seidlitz powder. Coroner Ashton, who was called, stated that the symptoms pointed to strychnine poisoning. A search of the dentist's office revealed the papers of the powder.

It is stated that he was in financial difficulties.

Corporal Communion

The regular Corporal Communion of the Junior Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's church, will be held to-morrow morning at 8.30 o'clock. A full attendance of the communicant members is requested, and they are asked to remember the special object of prayer.

THE HARRIERS ENTERTAINED

Pleasant Time at the Home of Mr. W. Richardson Last Night

The charter members of the original YMCA. Harriers Club were entertained last night at the home of Mr. W Richardson, Cedar street. Several friends of the members were also present and a most enjoyable time was spent. The charter members of the club, which was organized in 1902, now residing in Peterborough, are Messrs J Laing, R Dobbin, W Richardson and W Campbell. Among those present at last night's gathering was Mr H H McLeod, of Toronto, a former physical director of the Peterborough YMCA.

IS MUCH NEEDED

Club Room For the Young Men of Havelock—Committee Has Been Appointed.

Havelock, Jan. 8.—At last something is being done to bring about a long felt want among the young men of this thriving railway town, namely a club room. At the conclusion of the public meeting in the town hall on Monday night, Mr. Jas. Thompson, M.P.P., asked those present to join in endeavoring to devise some means of recreation and amusement for the young men. The following committee was appointed, whose duty it is to meet and talk over ways and means of buildin and supporting such a desirable institution and then to submit their ideas to the people:—James Thompson, Jos. Knox, T. P. Lancaster, Thos. Bennett, Edw. Williams, A. Innes, Geo. Dart, Wm. Webb, H. Roche, Rev. H. Caplan, Geo. Young, P. G. Wright, S. S. Joyce, J. W. Bryans, Rev. D. Balfour, Rev. J. A. G. Stirlings, A. C. Denike, Dr. Holdcroft and Wm. Mathison. The first meeting will be held in the Council Chamber on Monday, Jan. 11th. at 8 p.m.

SPECIAL SERMONS ST. LUKE'S CHURCH

On Sunday evenings during the winter, Rev Dr Langfeldt will preach a series of special sermons at St. Luke's church on "The Last Things." The subject for tomorrow night will be "The New Creation."

Attempt to Unseat Two Members.

Halifax, N.S., Jan. 9.—In an attempt to break the deadlock in the Newfoundland Legislature, which will re-assemble on Feb. 4, friends of Sir Robert Bond's Government Thursday filed petitions in the Supreme Court asking that Woodford and Murphy, members-elect for Harbor Main be unseated because of illegal acts committed by their agent during the campaign. Woodford and Murphy are supporters of Morris, leader of the Opposition.

Federal Appointments.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—The following appointments have been made: W. J. Cook of Belleville, to be deputy collector of inland revenue; William F. Toner of Collingwood, to be harbor master for the Port of Collingwood; Henry Foreman of Collingwood, to be measuring surveyor of shipping.

Hunter Will Lose Both Feet.

Port Arthur, Ont., Jan. 9.—Archie Cullan aged 19, was brought up from Nipigon with both feet frozen so badly that he will lose them. He was out hunting, and while crossing a creek fell through, getting his feet wet, and they froze before he could reach home.

Collingwood Company Gets Drydock.

Kingston, Jan. 9.—Surveyor Chaplean and men of the Public Works Department are here taking measurements of the Kingston Drydock property, which, it is understood, the Dominion Government has leased to the Collingwood Shipbuilding Co.

New Commission Called For.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Reasonable expectation exists that the Anglo-United States treaty will be signed in a few days, though certain points are still under negotiation.

The waterways draft agreement is very technical, but its chief point is the establishment of a commission to deal with the water division between Canada and the United States.

The treaty only lays down general principles and provides machinery for putting these into execution.

The conclusion of the fisheries question will probably be delayed a little. The question of pecuniary claims is still the subject of negotiations.

Liquor Detectives Busy.

Belleville, Jan. 9.—Provincial liquor detectives have laid information against four liquor dealers at Marmora for selling liquor to minors: Thomas Reed of Springbrook, for selling liquor without a license and Duncan Narrie of the same place for selling cigarettes on Sunday to a minor.

Windsor Not Interested.

Windsor, Jan. 9.—The Government scheme of old-age annuities was to have been explained here by Dr. Samson, in charge of the Government's lecture bureau, but he got no audience.

Five Die From Cold.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 9.—Five Frenchmen who left Stony Plain three days ago from MacLeod, perished three miles west of Hundred Mile House from frost and exposure.

Doctor Is Acquitted.

Kingston, Jan. 9.—Dr. Geddes was tried recently at Arden on the charge of selling liquor without a license, but was honorably acquitted by Justices of the Peace Andrew and Osborne. Provincial Inspector Ayearst of Toronto appeared for the prosecution.

To Search For Explorer.

New York, Jan. 9.—Arrangements are being perfected to send a relief expedition into the Arctic regions next June to search for Dr. Frederick Albert Cook, the explorer, and his party, who left New York on July 4, 1907, in quest of the North Pole.

Empire Day Rifle Match.

London, Jan. 9.—Under the auspices of the National Rifle Association a competition will be held on May 24 or the preceding Saturday for an Empire Day Challenge Cup. The cup, together with medals and money prizes, will be competed for by teams of forty from all units of the naval and military services at home and abroad, including the colonial militia and volunteer troops.

Six Thousand More.

Toronto, Jan. 9.—A great increase in the contributions was reported by Rev. Dr. Tucker to the executive of the Anglican Missionary Society yesterday. Archbishop Sweatman presided. The contributions last year totalled $102,000. Partial returns showed an increase from all districts. The Toronto donations were $6,000 more than last year.

Three Big New Year's Fires.

New York, Jan. 9.—Three big fires in the mercantile district Thursday night did damage estimated at $1,250,000. The high pressure system undoubtedly prevented a far greater loss.

While fire was raging in the six-storey double building, 98-100 Hudson street wholesale grocers' warehouses, where the loss was $500,000, an alarm was turned in for a fire in a manufacturers' building at 113 Bowery, where the loss was $150,000. With both these fires in progress a third broke out at 134 Crosby street, six storeys, occupied by strawgoods dealers, where $600,000 damage was done.

Montreal May Go Dark.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—W. McLea Walbank, general manager of the Light, Heat & Power Co., is writing the City of Montreal warning them that if a settlement of the lightning question is not arrived at by the afternoon of the 14th the street light throughout the whole of Montreal will go out at midnight on that date, not to be lighted again until some arrangement is arrived at. The company demand $75 per arc per year, whereas the city is only willing to pay $60.

Montreal Defaulter Surrenders.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Frederick Corby Pole, 34 years old, wanted in Montreal on a charge of grand larceny in the sum of $25,000, has surrendered himself here. The money, according to Pole, was taken by him while he was employed by the brokerage firm of McCuaig Bros. & Co. in Montreal in 1906.

The Daily Review

SATURDAY, JAN. 9, 1909.

A JUST OBJECTION

Recorder Dupuis of Montreal, arose in his wrath in court the other day for the purpose of giving the Rev. Arthur French, the Anglican social reformer of that city, a piece of his mind regarding the methods employed by Mr. French in exposing vice. The recorder takes the ground that "Vice is a creature of such fright mien that to be hated needs but to be seen, but SEEN TOO OFT familiar with its face, we first endure, then pity, then embrace." If he didn't say this it is at least what he meant, and we agree with him. The clanging of bells, sounding of trumpets, beating of the air and general hullabaloo employed by some social reformers are indentical with the means employed by the vicious themselves to advertise their wares. This fact alone should furnish the key to the conduct of the campaign and the warning example, without going farther. At the same time we sympathize with the clergy in their fight against Cynicism, the real curse of the present day. The sentiment of purity, of love, of honour—are all scouted as the vain imaginings of unpractical people. It remains to be said that without it life would be merely a record of common crime. The iconoclasts should lay that fact to heart. The great progressive power of mankind lies in the conscience of those who honour virtue in its various forms for its own sake.

WOOLLENS

Ottawa, Jan 8—It is understood that Mr Costello of customs service, who was named a commissioner to make a report on British and Canadian woollen industries has reported that the Canadian woollen industry does not require more protection.

All that is required to enable Canadian mills to hold their own with those of Yorkshire is modern equipment and improved methods such as is to be found in English mills.

Owing to absence in Europe of Mr. Fielding who is chiefly responsible for tariff matters, the report is not likely to be made public till after the season opens, when it will be presented to parliament."

This telegram is probably an error since it would be a very odd thing for a commissioner or subordinate to give out information which he had gathered for a report by the minister without that minister's sanction. Mr Fielding has been absent for some time and he would not be guilty of the discourtesy to parliament of allowing his subordinate to report to the people through the press without first obtaining the permission of the House. The report is likely the work of fakirs who prefer to keep Canada minded to allow British goods in under a preference that has pretty nearly destroyed the whole formerly flourishing woollen manufacturing industry of Canada. At each general election British compliments to Laurier are flashed upon the public in order to help in keeping on the books a preference that does us infinite harm and no permanent good. This colossal mistake will be seen through some day but in the meantime our woollens are dying out to our great loss both in money and prestige.

CANADIAN POLITICS

"St John, NB, Jan 7—Hon W. H. Tuck, ex-chief justice of New Brunswick, replying to a toast to his health at a social gathering yesterday, made a very interesting statement as follows;

"I may tell you that three years ago—and mark well that when a man has been twenty years on the Bench he is entitled to retire on full salary that was my position two years ago—it was proposed to me, in the interests of the political party in power, and of somebody—I will not mention names—that if I retired somebody would be appointed chief justice, and the allurement—that is a good word—the allurement was that if I would do that I should be knighted. My answer was; "Take your knighthood; I don't want it. I would rather be chief justice without a knighthood, than a knight and not chief justice."—The Evening Journal.

A few years ago a paragraph like the one above would have raised a storm through Canada but now it is regarded as merely an incident, by some hardly worth nothing. That the ex-chief justice intended his remark as a sarcastic warning to a betrayed if not degraded people there can be no doubt. The thimble-rigging politician is like any other form of crook whether thief, forger or the like. The sneak thief as a rule commits robbery without violence. The grinning political thief does not always evince so lenient an inclination, or so "nice a taste." A very, very thin partition separates one form of "bad man" from another. The thread of crookedness, which is meanness applied to the exigencies of life, runs through it all. Mr Tucker furnishes us with another momentary sensation but probably our jaded senses will fail to respond.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The article in the Examiner of last evening upon the woollen question is so wide of the mark and so far removed from the actual facts of the case that it may convey to the public a wholly unjust and erroneous impression. It will be answered in our issue on Monday next. The attempt to shield the Ottawa administration in its treatment of the woollen trade in Canada will receive the showing up which that attempt deserves.

"Remarkable old priest is Father Lecorre, who for thirty-seven years has been a sacrifice to the northern Indians—away up at the Fort Providence mission on Great Slave Lake. Here, as a religious contemporary puts it, he spent "thirty-seven long years of unflinching service under the most trying circumstances, before he thought of respite, and in that time he traversed on foot or in canoe a territory large enough to make many empires, and rejoiced in being spent in the interests of these poor, benighted children of the forest and the plain. During fifteen years of that time he tasted no bread, the only nourishment obtainable being dried fish, potatoes when they could be produced, and some barley, out of which soup was made at the orphanages."

Also among the Eskimos Father Lecorre has laboured—but the "medicine men" of these pagans were too much for him. At Point Barrow he spent a winter, sleeping underground in a hut, trying to teach the hyperboreans the religion of the one true God. Father Lecorre is now out in civilization interesting the Church in his work. He was born in Brittany in the village of Morbehau, France, in 1845, and made his primary studies in the seminary of Ste. Anne D'Auy in that country. On 1870 he responded to the appeal of the great Indian missionary prelate, Mgr. Clut, Vicar-Apostolic of Mackenzie, and came out to this country as a subdeacon."—Canadian Courier.

CLOSING MEETING LAST NIGHT OF THE WEEK OF PRAYER

The closing meeting of the Week of Prayer was held last night at St. Paul's church. The attendance was an excellent one and the discourse for the evening proved most interesting. Rev Dr Langfeldt presided.

Miss Helen Davies sang in excellent voice, "I'm a Pilgrim."

The address of the Rev Mr Henderson, pastor of Charlotte street Methodist church was eloquent and inspiring. The subject of the evening was "The Supremacy of Christ —its Results."

The speaker based his remarks on Phil 2.5. "Let this mind in you which was also in Christ Jesus."

The work of Christ was referred to in various ways. He was regarded as Teacher, Saviour, Lord King, Judge but here He is spoken of as our Pattern.

We can scarcely appreciate the full meaning of this. Christ was Divine. His name was Immanuel—God with us. Yet His was also an intensely human life. In our sphere we are to imitate Him. Spiritualizing the old legend regarding His resurrection, wherever He has gone flowers have sprung up.

We are Christ's representatives, and what He was so are we to be. He seems to say to us "Remove the obstacles." He is the light—open the shutters—draw back the curtains, that darkness and sin may be dispelled. He is like the ocean. If you remove the barriers it will overflow, so let the barriers of the heart be removed—the body made clean and Christ shall fill your life.

Jesus Christ was the peer of Jehovah, yet He made use of His equality with God for the work of man. He thought it not robbery to be equal with God, yet made Himself of no reputation, and took upon Him the form of a servant.

He was sovereign, yet became servant of all.

He was born in poverty, yet had been equal with God. "The word was with God, and the word was God." He divested Himself of all His glory, that He might share the care and burden of humanity. It was "for our sakes" He became poor. We must behold the great unselfish life of Christ.

Do we imitate Him. Do we not find selfishness substituted for love, self-gratification instead of helping our brother man. The Christian life is first of all Dethronement of self, and then entering upon the service of Christ for man.

The first form of the descent of Christ was His incarnation, the second was His obedience unto death with all its ignominy and disgrace. To us the cross is the badge of all that is Christian. In Christ's day it was the sign of shame. "Cursed is everyone that hangeth on a tree."

The Christian must in like manner prove his discipleship by self-sacrifice. Mr Henderson referred to three or four most suitable instances of heroic Christian service. In one case two Moravian missionaries selling themselves into slavery that they might save the slaves.

In another the missionary and his wife giving themselves to the work among the lepers and there spending their lives in order that these lepers might be saved.

But exaltation is the result—the sequence of humiliation. "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him and given Him a name which is above every name." The cross first and then the crown is as universal as the law of gravitation. He that humbleth himself shall be exalted, and the life of Jesus Christ repeats itself in those who follow Him.

MR. IRVING BEERS WILL HAVE THE MANAGEMENT OF DONALD ROBERTSON'S CANADIAN TOUR

DONALD ROBERTSON.

Mr. Irving Beers who for several years has been prominently associated with dramatic interests both from a business and artistic standpoint, and who is at present in Peterborough, superintending the production of "The Private Secretary," by city talent, has entered into a managerial engagement of an importance that constitutes a decided tribute to his capacity in this direction.

Next year Donald Robertson, one of the most outstanding and distinguished exponents of the higher drama, will make a trans-continential Canadian tour extending from (and including) Ontario to the Pacific Coast. He will be supported by a company of a character and capacity to meet the demands of professional association with the leading spirit of the organization. This notable dramatic itinerary will be under the joint management of Dr. A. H. Beers and Mr. Irving Beers, with the latter actively concerned with the business features of the enterprise.

The tour will commence early next season—probably at the end of the coming August or beginning of September—and it will not be an unpleasant surprise if, owing to Mr. Beers' position of influence as manager and his interest in Peterborough, the season and tour of Mr. Robertson should open in this city. Mr. Beers was for years a member of Mr. Robertson's company when that great actor was touring the United States and Canada in a group of standard contemporary dramas including "Ghosts," "Hedda Gabbler," "The Scarlet Letter," and other plays of note and substance. The contract between Mr. Robertson and Mr. Beers for the former's Canadian tour has been duly signed and covers a period of 12 weeks. It calls for 84 performances, for which bookings will be made in the leading cities of the Dominion embraced in the circuit mentioned.

Donald Robertson occupies a position on the stage of recognized preeminence. His work both on this continent and in England has met not only with the enthusiastic appreciation of the play-loving public, but also of the most able and authorative writers speaking through such media as "The Literary Digest," "The Bellman," and other American literary periodicals of standing.

In Chicago last year he attained phenomonal success in a series of plays by Shakespeare, Moliere, Isben, Browning and other famous dramatic authors. The press comments of the most capable critics were a uniform chorus of praise of his splendid histrionic achievements. In England, where he achieved his early stage triumphs and later won a warm place in the hearts of the public, the critical and general opinion of Robertson is indicated by the following from "The Empire Review," of London;—

> "Donald Robertson, actor and author, whom the leading critics of two continents speak of as the most illustrious figure on the American stage."

Mr. Robertson is establishing the "New National Theatre" in Chicago, and is receiving the support of prominent and very wealthy people of that city in carrying the project to a successful issue. Pending the completion of the theatre the Art Institute of Chicago has been placed at his disposal by the trustees. This a distinct honor and a high tribute to the distinguished actor. The new theatre will mark one of the most important eras in the history of dramatic art in America.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Asks Canada to Be Patient.

London, Jan. 9.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Daily Mail in an editorial headed, "America's bid for Canada," refers to the vote of the New York Chamber of Commerce in favor of reciprocity and says: "If such a treaty is concluded it will mean nothing less than the absorption of Canada by her neighbor. This will be a disaster to the British race and end all the noble dreams and aspirations in which the largest minds of our race have indulged."

The Mail appeals strongly to Canadian patriotism to show patience, for though the states of the empire have waited long and been rebuffed often, the period of suspense is fast drawing to a close.

Barred From Reserve.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—Judge Basin, in the Police Court, was called upon yesterday to decide if a white man named Hormidas Perras who had married an Indian woman, had the right to live with her and their children on the Gaughnawaga reserve as he has been doing for some time past.

The law seems quite clear in the matter and strictly forbids a white to domicile with the Indians, and in fact Perras was condemned to pay a nominal fine for the same offences in 1907. His honor took the case en delibre.

Will Cancel Rates.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—"Your tariff and your rules are undoubtedly opposed to the business interests of the country and they have discouraged shippers all over the Dominion. They have been put into force without due notice having been given. In fact, if I had been properly informed as to the real purpose of the new tariff, I would never have given my approval of it," were the comments made yesterday by Judge Mabee in the Railway Commission, which closed its sessions yesterday afternoon.

It was quite evident that the board looked with unanimous favor upon the position taken by the Toronto and Montreal Boards of Trade, and it is probable that the new rates will be cancelled.

An ice bridge has been formed at Niagara Falls.

Eastern Dairymen's Officers.

Prescott, Jan. 9.—The thirty-second annual meeting of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association concluded yesterday, with officers elected as follows:

Honorary president, Senator Derbyshire, Brockville; president, J. R. Dargavel, M.P.P., Elgin; vice-president, Henry Glendenning, Manilla; secretary, R. G. Murphy, Brockville, and treasurer, J. R. Anderson, Mountainview. Board of directors—J. H. Singleton, N. Fraser, E. Kidd, N. Longlin, J. McGregor, P. McDermid, G. F. Whittaker, J. A. Saunderson, J. R. Dargavel, T. A. Thompson, J. McGrath, W. J. Paul, M.P.P., J. Whitton, A. Hume, G. Gillespie, A. White and H. Glendenning.

Forgeries Nearly a Million.

Oakland, Cal., Jan. 9.—Details of the forgery of James J. Murray's name to notes and documents aggregating $860,000, which led Thursday night to the arrest of F. B. Signor, promoter and mining broker of this city, have come to light.

Signor gave four forged notes to a bank in financing a cement plant, totaling $400,000. In addition the figures include drafts for $400,000, $5,000 and $10,000. Signor has not profited a cent from the forgeries.

Borden and Women Suffrage.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—R. L. Borden has replied to the request of the Ottawa Woman's Suffrage Association for a statement of his views on the question of woman suffrage. While pointing out that this is a question for the Provincial Legislature, Mr. Borden asks some questions: What have been the results where woman's suffrage has been tried. To what extent has it been tried in political activity? How has it affected moral and political conditions?

Thieves in Simcoe.

Simcoe, Jan. 9.—The office of J. B. Jackson, coal dealer, was entered on Thursday night. The safe was broken open and about $20 in silver was taken.

There have been a number of petty robberies lately, and as the whole police force is in jail there is no clue to the thieves. No competent police protection has been provided by the town since Malone was arrested.

Boy Skater Drowned.

Chatham, Jan. 9.—Corey Walker, aged 17, son of Jebiah Walker, near Chalmonte, was drowned while skating on the Sydenham river, near Tupperville, Thursday night.

The boy was left alone on the ice by companions while they got refreshments in a store.

When they returned he had fallen through an air-hole and only his feet were sticking out from the ice.

Wolves Plentiful.

Port Arthur, Jan. 9.—D. B. Nixon has arrived from Dog Lake district with eleven wolf skins, on which he will get $165 bounty. He states wolves are numerous this season.

Applying For Divorce.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Frank D. Attwood of Lobo, Ont., is applying for a divorce from his wife Florence S. Attwood, of London, Ont.

Red Light Clean Up.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—As a result of the campaign carried on by Rev. Arthur French, the police made wholesale raids last night on disorderly houses, arresting 35 women and 17 men. The places visited are in the heart of the "red light" district. It was a general clean-up.

SPLENDID PROGRAMME AT ST. PETERS' T.A.S. CONCERT

Held at St. Peter's Hall Last Night—Lecture on Italy by Rev. Dr. O'Brien.

The annual concert of St. Peter's Total Abstinence Society was held in St. Peter's hall last night. It was largely attended and the proceeds will be devoted to charity. The programme was of great merit, and was received with much enthusiasm. Rev. Father McColl made an efficient chairman. The boys sang prettily and were encored. Miss Hallahan sang, "Wild Roses," very beautifully, responding with an artistic and feeling rendering of "Annie Laurie." Miss Derocher recited most instructively and responded to a recall. Mr. George Lynch is no mean rival of Mr. Lauder when it is a matter of humorous interpretation. A young habitant, who as Drummond described him, was about to "leave all" and go away, owing to the hard-heartedness of Emelie's papa, is wooed back in the nick of time by Emilie herself. The hard papa in scouting round in his stocking feet steps through a stove-pipe hole. There he is and there he must remain according to the young man, unless he relents. He relents. The Mandolin Club played very tunefully and were recalled. Mr. Freeland sang with artistic care and in fine voice, responding to an encore.

The main business of the evening was Rev. Dr. O'Brien's lecture (illustrated) upon Italy. In a few quiet words the lecturer succeeded in conveying practically the whole narrative and artistic history of the subject to the large audience. Lower Italy and Sicily were first of all thrown upon the canvas. Then Padua, Pisa, Milan, Venice, and the Eternal City were visited. The leaning tower of Pisa was built as a bell-tower, bell-towers being erected for the bells in many Italian cities. The gothic architecture of Milan Cathedral, a building wholly of marble of immense proportions and studded with exquisite turrets is nevertheless postponed artistically to that of Cologne becuse one window over the main entrance is oblong and not gothic, the Milan edifice thereby lacking, by just so much, perfection. It holds 40,000 persons. The visit to Venice, a city of 300,000, with its main or grand canal and side-canals, was most entertaining. The cathedral of San Martino with its lions (in bronze), and its hosts of live pigeons, is truly a gem set in the silver sea," the convict's "Bridge of Sighs" and "The Rialto" were also shown. In Rome the glory of the architecture of both pagan and Christian times was most instructively described. First of all was St Peter's. The dome is 448 feet above the pavement and 197 feet in diameter. St. Peter's, which has, of course, no aisles or pews has held as many as 80,000 persons, as on the occasion of Pope Leo XIII's recovery. The building itself is 613 feet long. Its artistry is unrivalled, its majesty supreme and fittingly, it is the burial-place of scores of saints and Christian martys. At the Colseum, the now ruined ampitheatre, where pagan Rome was entertained with the crucifixion, the burning and the devouring by lions, of Christians, by gladiatorial fights, etc., the lecturer remained for some time since so much of the true or inner history of the times centred in it. Speaking of the martyrs, he said: "When we consider what these early Christians suffered let no man complain that he cannot get a job because he is a Catholic." The Appian Way, the Via Sacra, the Campagna, the Catacombs, the Vatican and the Quinnial and the minor churches of Rome were all visited. The sacred stairway up which Christ Himself walked was also shown. Those who ascend it must do so on their knees. The lecture closed with a monks' burial-chamber, where bones form the walls into a gruesome Mosaic. It is needless to say that the lecture was heartily enjoyed.

Another rendition by Miss Derocher, bagpipe selections by Mr. Mackay, and a duet by Masters Allan completed the programme. Every number was of high excellence.

The entertainment closed with the National Anthem.

SUSPECTS MEN WERE TWO OF TORONTO GAOL BREAKERS

The recent capture of Alex Rose, the gaol breaker from the Toronto gaol, recalls the sensational delivery of the seven prisoners last spring. It has come to light that Mr. T. R. Kennedy, a local grocer at 233 Park street and his wife, saw a couple of men they believe to have been Jones and Lee, two of the prisoners who figured in the sensational escape.

Mr Kennedy told a Review representative today that the men were suspected from their resemblance of the pictures of them in the Toronto papers. Mr Kennedy reported his suspicions to the local police but the pair managed to evade arrest.

STATEMENT WAS MISLEADING

Regarding the Raising of Water Rates in Some Parts of the City

In reference to an item which appeared in Peterborough's morning daily stating that the water rates have been increased in some parts of the city while in other parts they have not been altered, City Treasurer Adams informed the Review today that this statement was misleading. As a matter of fact the rates have not been raised but reduced. However a change has been made in the time of payment. Instead of paying the full amount in the summer, quarterly payments are made.

Legal action is being taken in court to compel subscribers to Guelph's Old Home Week Fund to pay up.

STOP THAT SCRATCHING

Just as long as you have dandruff your head will itch. It's the little microbes that are gnawing down into the hair roots. It may take a long time for these persistent pests to get down to the vital part but when they do they will destroy life of the hair in a very short time. "My hair was falling out rapidly and becoming gray when I heard of your guaranteed Hair Restorer, and, after using one bottle my hair stopped turning gray. The first application removed the itching, my hair stopped falling out and I now have a new and it is soft, glossy and pliable." Carrie Williams, 844 Clinton Ave., South, Rochester, N.Y.

Parisian Sage, the delightful Hair Restorer, is guaranteed by W. Madill, Druggist, Peterborough, to stop falling hair, to cure dandruff and all diseases of the scalp or money back. It is the most refreshing hair dressing in the world. Ladies use it extensively, because it makes the hair beautiful, soft and luxuriant. 50 cents a bottle at W. Madill's, or by mail from Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

BOY KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

Fell Off Sleigh While Coasting and Was Severely Injured

Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 8.—Master James White, a young lad of 11 years, son of Mr. John White, of Ottawa street, east, was a victim of the sleigh-riding craze on Wednesday afternoon. While sleigh riding down the hill near the town hall, he fell off the sleigh, striking hi shead with great force on the hard ice. He lay on the side of the road, unconscious for some time before he was noticed. The fall nearly resulted in concussion of the brain, and it will be some time before he will be able to try the venture again.

January Clearance Sale

Our Greatest Price Reducing Event---Your Best Economizing Time
SALE BEGINS SATURDAY, JANUARY 9th

Our January Clearance Sale is an event of vital, dynamic, money-saving opportunities. Its scope is boundless. Nearly everything in the store is sacrificed to force decisive clearance. Profits are unthought of—unexpected. Cost prices prevail, but even cost prices are relentlessly undersold where stocks are especially heavy. Clearance simply means that everything has got to go—that decks must be cleared for our Spring campaign. Clearance is Opportunity—and Opportunity is knocking at your door, and tremendous savings await your welcome.

We never carry goods over a season. It's store policy—one of the unbreakable rules of our business. We dispose of our goods while they are new and seasonable. We stop at no sacrifice to effect absolute clearance of one season's goods before embarking on a new season's campaign. No eight months of rest in moth balls for our merchandise. This year we meet the "Clearance" period with immense stocks of Winter goods. This stock must be moved—cleared out—sold completely and quickly. Because stocks are especially big, prices have been made remarkably small. But this fact will evince itself—when you come.

The January Clearance Sale begins Saturday, January 9th, at 9 a.m.

RED TAPE WAS FATAL

Delay on Part of Government Responsible for Thousands of Deaths After Earthquake

Special to the Review.

Rome, January 9—The red tape of the Italian bureaucracy was responsible for thousands of deaths in the quake devastated towns according to the charges now being made against the government. It developed today that these charges would have been officially made at the opening session of parliament yesterday but the leaders were persuaded to postpone the attack until the public temper becomes slightly calmer. The delay in getting government aid to the stricken towns was due the opponents of the government say, to the cumbersome red tape with which the [illegible] has wound the different departments.

CANADIAN CLUB TO HAVE MEETING ON JANUARY 18th

OBITUARY

CORNELIUS HALPIN.

There died at 158 Lake street this city, on Saturday morning at eight o'clock, Mr Cornelius Halpin, who had resided for more than 50 years in Peterborough. Coming to Canada from Askeating, County Limerick, Ireland as a young man, he first settled in Montreal but later moved up to Peterborough where he afterwards continued to reside. The late Mr Halpin was for many years an employee of the late Mr George Hilliard, formerly MP for West Peterborough by whom Mr Halpin was regarded as a trusted and intimate friend. The deceased gentleman, whose death was due to Bright's disease, leaves surviving him three sons and one daughter, John, Michael and Thomas and Bridget. His wife predeceased him four years ago, as did also two sons, Patrick and Cornelius and one daughter, Mrs W. J. Devlin. The late Mr Halpin was universally regarded as an upright and honorable citizen of sterling character and kindly heart, and he will be much missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

The funeral will take place from the late residence to St Peter's Cathedral on Monday morning at nine o'clock, and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

Friends are asked to omit flowers.

WILL ATTEND THE FUNERAL

Rev. H. M. Manning Representing Charlotte St. Church at Funeral of Late Rev. D. O. Crossley

Rev H. M Manning left today to represent the Charlotte street church at the funeral of the late D O Crossley at Whitby. Mr Manning is a former pastor of Charlotte street church and is president of the Methodist Conference of this district. A memorial service will be held in the Methodist church at Whitby tomorrow afternoon and the funeral will take place to the Grand Trunk station on Monday morning. Interment will take place at King, near Toronto.

Rev Mr Manning took with him a resolution of condolence from the Charlotte street congregation and also a wreath from the Board of the church.

SPORTING NEWS

GENE IS A PROFESSIONAL PROTEST IN P.B.C. TOURNEY

The following protest has been registered against Gene Hurtubise, who is taking in the P.B.C. tournament;

Peterborough, Jan. 7, 1909.

Mr. J. B. Hay,
Bowling Academy, City.

Dear Sir,—This is to inform you that we have been in communication with Mr. Crowe, secretary of the C.A.A.U. He has advised us that Mr. Gene Hurtubise is a professional. Therefore we feel that he should not be allowed to play with the Hams on the night they meet the Greys.

We do not want you to think that we are afraid of the aforesaid gentleman's bowling ability, because we are confident that we can wipe the floor with the Hams any day in the week, barring Sunday. The fact of the matter is we are afraid of injuring our amateur standing.

We trust that you will see the wisdom of barring all professionals from the bowling competition, and thereby do all that is possible to keep the ancient game of bowls in the place it has occupied since the days of Drake and Hawkins, viz., that of the greatest of all indoor amateur sports.

It is just possible that it may enter your head that we are after that oyster supper and intend getting it by fair means or foul. Should such an unworthy thought be fathered by such a noble brain as we know you to possess, we trust that you will cast it from you, because Mr. Hay, we consider our honor above such a trifling thing as an oyster supper, especially if we have to put up the coin for it. We trust that we will not have to urge this matter any further. With all due respect to Mr. Hurtubise, we say that he has no right to mingle with amateurs with the highest standing, such as is enjoyed by the Greys.

We might also say that it would be wise to have a competent referee on the foul line. We would recommend either Tom Flanagan or Tim O'Rourke. Should you not know these gentlemen send a wire to "Alfie" Shrubb.

The team committee and executive met in silent conclave and after due deliberation refused to play under any other condition. We would like to say that the chief reason for taking such a course as this, is because we intend playing golf and lawn tennis in the near future and our position could never be the same in athletic circles should we play with Mr. Hurtubise.

Thanking you in advance, we are sir,

Yours sincerely,
Signed on behalf of the Greys.
FRED McFADDEN,
NORMAN PERRY.

THE BIG BONSPIEL WILL OPEN NEXT TUESDAY AT NEW RINK

Peterborough's bonspiel, and the first one in the new rink, will open on Tuesday next at two o'clock, and for the balance of the week, there will be some of the fastest and most enthusiastic games ever played in this city. Already the club is assured of rinks from Lindsay, Orillia, Bobcaygeon, Keene, Lakefield, Napanee, Norwood, Beaverton, Oshawa and other towns and cities in Ontario. It will be the biggest bonspiel ever held here and it may be that it will be necessary to play a game in the morning, two in the afternoon and two in the evening with seven ices going all the time, which will mean 14 rinks or 56 men playing at one time.

FOURTEEN RINKS PLAYED IN SCHEDULE GAMES LAST NIGHT

There is splendid ice at the curling rink and the players are showing much interest in schedule games.

Fourteen competing rinks were busy last night and the games resulted as follows;

OLSON WON FROM BEELL

Defeated Wisconsin Wonder at Chicago in Two Straight Falls.

Chas. Olson won both falls from Fred Beell Monday night at the Chicago Coliseum before a fair sized crowd slamming him around almost at will. The match was for the light-heavyweight championship. Beell was clever and got away in good form but the Indianapolis man simply wore him down.

Both bouts lasted a fairly long time, the first going to Olson in 36.57, and the second in 18.25, both on the scissors and arm hold. The men were in good physical condition and did not waste much time getting down to business. Beell tried many times for the toe grip, but Olson slipped away and took the aggressive part. This continued throughout the crowd appearing to be well satisfied with the proceedings.

When Olson failed to throw Beell in the first thirty minutes, many believed that the little Wisconsin wonder would be able to turn the trick. Every move on his part was cheered, but he was not strong enough to yank the Hoosier over on his back. Dick Fleming refereed.

In the preliminaries Eugene Tremblay took two straight falls from Dick Sorrenson the last coming in 13.21 on a crotch and wrist hold.

THE BIGGEST RING EVENT EVER SEEN

Would be Fight Between Johnson and Jeffries for World's Title

Jack Johnston's victory over Tommy Burns in Australia has stirred the pugilistic world as it has not been stirred in many a day. The idea of a negro holding the championship of the world has caused a burst of righteous indignation to crop out among the white fighters that will not down. Every heavyweight who has figured in ring doings for the past 20 years or more from John L Sullivan down, threatens to re-enter the roped arena and give the audacious black man the whaling of his life—excepting one, James Jeffries, the only one of the bunch who could whip one side of the big Texas darkey. Jeffries refuses point blank to hearken to the cry of the multitude to re-enter the ring and wrest the title from the classic brow of the Ethiopian. All kinds of financial inducements have been made to the former Los Angeles boilermaker but he will not be judged. Jeff declares emphatically that he is through with the ring and that a million dollars could not coax him back. The pugilistic promoters have not given up heart and are determined to get the big fellow in the ring again if they have to move heaven and earth to do so. The only way that Jeff can escape the promoters is to start in and kick the promoters is to start in and lick the bunch of them or throw up his hands and consent to a match. If the great fighter would agree to a meeting with Johnson it would be the biggest event the pugilistic world ever saw, exceeding even in point of interest the famous Corbett-Fitzsimmons battle at Carson City, March 17th, 1897.

If Jeffries refuses to fight Johnson James Corbet declares that he will take up the white man's burden and attempt to lick the coon. Corbett thinks he is the best man outside of Jeffries to fight the negro. Gentleman Jim believes that if he were given six months to train he could defeat the Galveston terror. He declares that he is not anxious to re-enter the ring but the disgrace of having a black man champion impels him to make an effort to win back the title for the whites. Corbett claims that he is in better physical condition today than Jeffries or any of the other big heavyweights.

The former champion has not been seen in battle since August 14, 1903, when he was knocked out in ten rounds by Jeffries at San Francisco In this battle he was not only knocked out but was outboxed by the Los Angeles giant. May 11, 1900, Corbett met Jeffries in a 25 round bout at Coney Island, and astonished the boxing contingent by the great battle he put up. He tied Jeffries into knots and it was not until the 23rd round that Jeff got to him and knocked him out. Corbett is now 42 years old. Johnson's senior by 12 years. He weighs in the neighborhood of 185 pounds. Jeffries believes that Corbett would stand a good chance against Johnson. He does not think the negro classes with men like Corbett and Fitzsimmons in their best days. If Corbett could get back half his old time form Jeff thinks Johnson could not warm him up.

Meantime Johnson is picking up some easy money in Australia in the vaudeville line, apparently oblivious of the tempest he has stirred up in the pugilistic sea. Nothing has been heard of Tommy Burns since the mill Tommy has apparently betaken himself to the pugilistic woods, carrying his big wad along with him.

A SWEEP FOR THE BANKERS

Took Three Straight From Midgets—Remarkably Good Scores

The Bankers, the league leaders, went at local league ten pin records yesterday with reckless abandon and smashed the three man record for a single game and the three game aggregate hanging up totals in both events that will take a lot of beating. Their opponents were the Midgets and the Bankers went right at it from the drop of the hat showing no letup until the final ball was rolled, their brilliant, consistent work resulting in a clean sweep of the boards, all three games falling to the lot of the league leaders.

The first game was an easy victory but in the second contest the Midgets managed to tie their formidable opponents, only to lose on the play off. The third game was a gift.

High honors for the winners were again carried off by Ferguson, with Ford close up. Giroux was high man for the losers.

The scores follow;

BANKERS
Ford	201	154	188—543
Barber	174	137	186—497
Ferguson	158	193	207—558
	484	581—	1598
MIDGETS
Giroux	168	203	137—508
Hayes	142	147	126—415
L Giroux	135	134	118—387
	445	484	371 1300

RUNNING

The Montreal Herald, discussing Shrubb and Longboat says;

"Physically of course there is about the same contrast between the two men as there was between Longboat and Dorando. Longboat is tall, wiry strong. Shrubb is not tall, is slight, and does not appear to be built on lines of strength. He carries a weak ankle about with him. Physically Longboat looks to have by long odds the best of the argument.

"When it comes down to brains the match will become no longer a match between Shrubb and Longboat but a match between Shrubb and Flanagan. According to the Indian's manager, the first race with Dorando was won by the strength of Flanagan's grey matter. But then, of course, it has not been shown than Dorando was blessed with more than the average weight of gray matter, although he had a big heart. Shrubb has more knowledge tucked away in his cranium than probably any other man on this continent. Flanagan himself admits that and Flanagan isn't given to admitting any good in the little Englishman unless he really thinks it. For as a matter of fact, it is just a question who wastes the least love on each other, Shrubb or Flanagan.

Defeated Belleville by 2--0 Last Night in Great Game.

Belleville, Jan. 8.—The greatest intermediate hockey match witnesses here took place to-night, when the opening game in the O.H.A. series, No. 1 group, took place between Lindsay and Belleville. A thousand people were present from all points. Lindsay won by a score of 2 to 0. Score at half time 1 to 0. J. H. Moxam, of Toronto, was referee and gave the best of satisfaction. Lindsay has six husky boys. They look like winners of the group. Bill Stoddard scored both of the goals for Lindsay. The teams and positions were:

SIMPSON WILL RUN TO-NIGHT

Williams, Kanaly and Indian Will Race Shrubb 12 Miles

Fred Simpson the Mississauga Indian, Tom Williams and Frank Kanalay are the three men who will run four miles each in the relay race with Alfred Shrubb in New York to-night. Kanalay and Williams were in the relay team that recently defeated Shrubb in a twelve miles' run at Fall River.

WHITBY BEAT BOWMANVILLE

Bowmanville, Jan. 6.—The first O.H.A. game ever played in Bowmanville was played to-night between Whitby and the local intermediates. The game was closely contested throughout and resulted in a victory for Whitby by 3—2. The Bowmanville boys surprised the visiting team by the fast brand of hockey put up. F. C. Waghorne refereed the game to the satisfaction of all, keeping the game clean, only five men being penalized. The teams;

Bowmanville— 2—Goal, Charterain; point, Reg Jones; cover, C. Rowe; rover, Roy Jones; centre, C. Lunney; forwards, E. W. Carter, L. Hooper.

Whitby 3—Goal, F. Nicholson; point, Smith; cover, K. Campbell; rover, A. Blanchard; centre, C. Blanchard; forwards, F. Patrick, H. Wilson.

WHY IS FAT

Is it because one is born with the tendency. Or is it one of "life's trials," or is it due to just plain hearty appetite. The doctors say not any one of these phrases the question correctly. They say fat is because the fat person's digestive organs are defective. Such organs, it seems, do not change the fatty foods eaten by stout persons into heat and energy, as they should. Instead the food fats pass on into the system unconsumed. Hence fat layers accumulate under the skin in quiet spots, such as the chin, abdomen, shoulder blades, etc.

Let that digestive defect be corrected and the formerly fat person goes back to his or her original shape. You can prove this on yourself. Seventy-five cents will secure from your druggist one of the large cases of Marmola Prescription Tablets, recently licensed for sale by the Marmola Company of Detroit, Mich. Take one of these tablets after each meal and at bedtime and the demonstration starts right there. Very soon you will experience a new sense of digestive comfort and a delightful feeling of increased energy which should be followed in due season by a gradual, uniform decrease of your fat.

During the demonstration period, you eat and drink as formerly. remember. The tablets need no help from either dieting or exercising, nevertheless the daily loss should approximate ten to sixteen ounces a day.

Now, WHY is it you get thin. Why is it the fat just seems to slip away, leaving your flesh smooth, firm and wrinkleless. Simply because Marmola corrects that digestive defect, thereby stopping further fat accumulation and enabling the body forces to harmlessly dissolve what has already gathered.

MR. KAISER IS VERY ANXIOUS

Charlie Kaiser, the crack wrestler, writes that he is patiently awaiting for another chance at Hurtubise on the terms that he is to throw him twice in an hour, the match to be pulled off in Peterborough. If present arrangements are completed he will be accommodated at an early date.

THE RING

Dr Roller, the Seattle athlete, who was matched to meet Kaufman recently has declared the match off and gives as his reason that he can get a better division of the purse in his own town than in Los Angeles. Perhaps the doctor's feet have become frigid. At least there are persons unkind enough to say so.

PRESENTATION IN OTONABEE

Mr. Wm. Lang and Miss Lang Honored by Their Neighbors An Address Was Read

On Monday, January 4th, a large number of the friends of Mr and Miss Lang met at the residence of Mr. Wm Lang, Otonabee to wish him and his sister, Miss Lang, farewell, upon their departure to take up their residence in Keene. A presentation of a beautiful silver cream jug and sugar bowl was made to them and the following address was read, to which Mr Lang briefly and feelingly replied.

Keene, Jan 4th, 1909.

Dear Mr and Miss Lang.

We, your former neighbors and companions cannot let your departure from our midst go by without showing in some slight way our appreciation of your worth while residents in our community. You have always proved yourselves to be most kind and loving neighbors while sojourning with us, ever ready to help in time of need. and we would ask you in recognition of your many kindnesses in the past and the warm place which you occupy in our hearts, t accept this cream pitcher and sugar bowl as a small remembrance, not for its intrinsic value but to try to show you in some slight way the high esteem in which you were held while sojourners in our midst, and we also hope you will be spared for many years to come to continue the noble work you have always taken such an interest in.

Signed on behalf of the committee,

Mrs R. Weir.
Mrs R. Knox.

Mr and Miss Lang have resided for over fifty years on the farm to which they moved originally from Keene.

Amongst those present were Mr and Mrs Robert Weir, Mr and Mrs Wm Shearer, Mr and Mrs Robert Knox, Mr and Mrs John Stark, Mr and Mrs Robert Miller, Mr and Mrs D J. Henderson, Mr and Mrs John C Hope Mr and Mrs Wm Davidson. A sumptuous tea was then partaken of and a very pleasant evening spent in songs and recitations.

The evening's entertainment closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," Mr and Miss Lang will carry with them to their new home the heartfelt good wishes of all their old friends and neighbors amongst whom they have resided so long.

ANNUAL ENTERTAINMENT OF ST. JOHN'S SUNDAY SCHOOL

The annual Christmas entertainment of St John's Sunday School was held last evening and surpassed any that have previously been given. The hall was well filled with the scholars their parents, and friends and that they were well pleased with the unique programme prepared by Mr R J Devey, the superintendent of the school, was amply evidenced by the applause that greeted each number. The platform had been very prettily decorated and every number was presented in costume.

At the conclusion of the programme dainty refreshments were served.

Brief remarks were made by Rev. Canon Davidson and the church wardens, who referred to the great progress the Sunday school had made since Mr Devey had taken over the superintendency.

The concert will be by special request, repeated on Tuesday evening of next ewek.

The programme was as follows:

Marching, Hear the little feet — The choir boys.

"Sing, O sing of Jesus" — Miss Dean's infant class.

Solo, "The concert in Massey Hall," —Arthur Horsefield.

Recitation, "The Errand Boy,"—Willie Common.

Song, "Dolly's singing lesson," —Miss Cuffe.

Toy Duet—Isabel Morphet and Cyril Devey.

Piano duet—Misses Gladman.

Sextette, "If you will come to tea," —Misses Whitcroft, Rountree and Hatton and Masters Devey, Horsefield, and Common.

Violin solo, "Cavaleria Rusticana,"—Miss Palmer.

Sailor's song, "The Powder Monkey" solo by Cyril Devey, chorus by St John's choir boys.

"The Moon Song," —Solo parts by Mrs R J Devey, Miss Agnes Horsefield, Masters Cyril H Devey and Arthur Horsfield.

Chorus by senior girls.

Soldier song, "The Rifleman," by St John's boy choristers.

The training of the children was due to the kindness of Mrs R J. Devey, Miss Dean and Mr R. J. Devey.

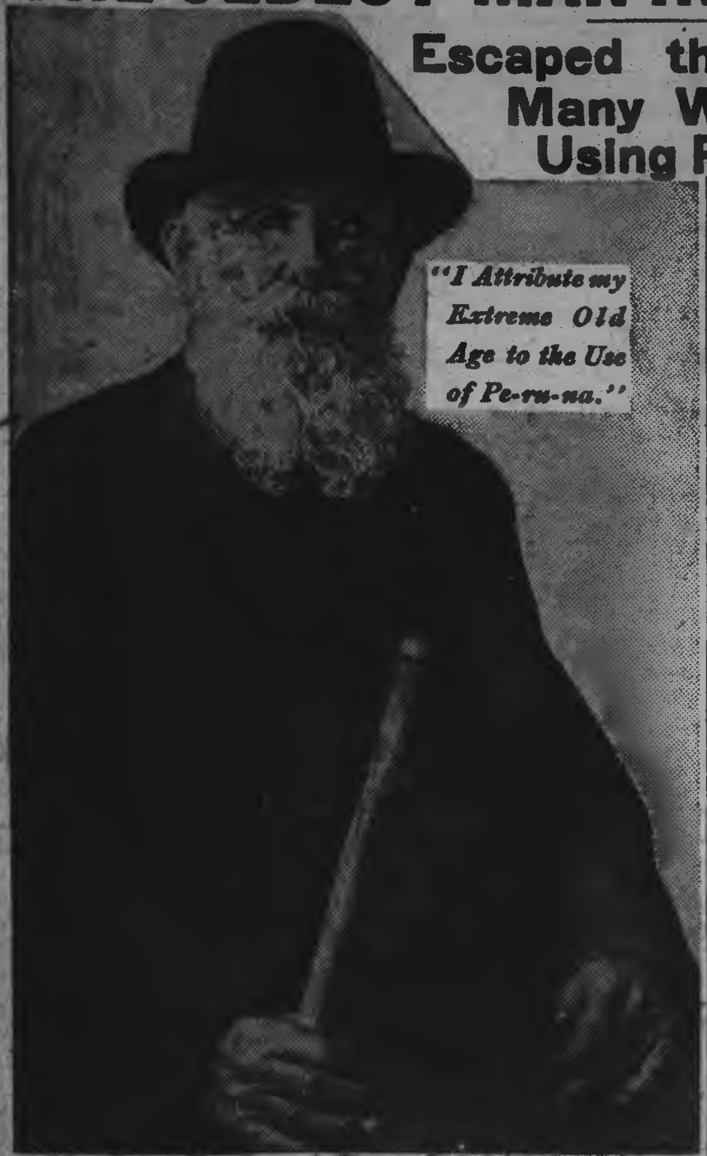
THE OLDEST MAN IN AMERICA

Escaped the Terrors of Many Winters By Using Pe-ru-na.



"I Attribute my Extreme Old Age to the Use of Pe-ru-na."

Mr. Isaac Brock, 118 Years Old Last Birthday.

ISAAC BROCK, a citizen of McLennan county, Texas, has lived for 118 years. For many years he resided at Bosque Falls, eighteen miles west of Waco, but now lives with his son-in-law at Valley Mills, Texas.

Some time ago, by request, Uncle Isaac came to Waco and sat for his picture, holding in his hand a stick cut from the grave of General Andrew Jackson.

Mr. Brock is a dignified old gentleman, showing few signs of decrepitude. His family Bible is still preserved, and it shows that the date of his birth was written 118 years ago.

Born before the United States were formed.

Saw 22 presidents elected.

Pe-ru-na has protected him from all sudden changes.

Veteran of four wars.

Shod a horse when 99 years old.

Always conquered the grip with Pe-ru-na.

Witness in a land suit at the age of 110 years.

Believes Peruna the greatest remedy of the age for catarrhal troubles.

IN speaking of his good health and extreme old age, Mr. Brock says:

"After a man has lived in the world as long as I have, he ought to have found out a great many things by experience. I think I have done so.

"One of the things I have found out to my entire satisfaction is the proper thing for ailments that are due directly to the effects of the climate. For 118 years I have withstood the changeable climate of the United States.

"I have always been a very healthy man, but, of course, subject to the affections which are due to sudden changes in the climate and temperature.

"As for Dr. Hartman's remedy, Peruna, I have found it to be the best, if not the only reliable remedy for these affections. It has been my standby for many years, and I attribute my good health and extreme old age to this remedy.

"It exactly meets all my requirements. It protects me from the evil effects of sudden changes; it gives me strength; it keeps my blood in good circulation. I have come to rely upon it almost entirely for the many little things for which I need medicine.

"When epidemics of la grippe first began to make their appearance in this country I was a sufferer from this disease.

"I had several long sieges with the grip. At first I did not know that Peruna was a remedy for this disease. When I heard that la grippe was epidemic catarrh, I tried Peruna for la grippe and found it to be just the thing."

In a later letter, Mr. Brock writes:

"I am well and feeling as well as I have for years. I would not be without Peruna."

Yours truly,
Isaac Brock,

A letter dated July 8, 1906, written for Mr. Brock by his wife, Sarah J. Brock, states:

"Last winter I had just gotten up out of a spell of sickness, when I commenced taking Peruna. I think it improved my health very much."

In a postscript, Mrs. Brock adds: "He receives a great many letters inquiring about what Peruna will do. I do not answer them all, as I think they can get a bottle and try it."

WERE EXEMPT FROM JURY DUTY IN CAPITAL CASES

Olden Day Surgeons in a Class With Butchers Thought to be Too Bloodthirsty to Calmly Pass on the Taking of Human Li —Executioners Performed Operations and Acted as Doctors.

When Great Britain's statute book was still in the Draconian state from which it was rescued by Sir Samuel Romilly and the penalty of death was inflicted for the most trivial offenses, surgeons were exempted from serving on juries in capital cases.

It must not be supposed, however, that this was because their profession was believed to make them too humane for such work as was then imposed on jurymen. We are sorry to say it was for the opposite reason. They were exempted on the same ground as butchers, whose occupation, it was thought, tended to make them too bloodthirsty.

This ought not perhaps surprise us, since two or three centuries ago executioners not infrequently performed surgical operations. This seems to have been particularly the case in Denmark. At any rate, we have more knowledge on this point in regard to that country than any other.

In Janus some time ago Dr. K. Caroe of Copenhagen published a number of documents bearing on the subject. The most ancient of these bears date July 24, 1579, and is a license issued by Frederick II. to Anders Freimut, executioner of Copenhagen, granting him the right to set bones and treat old wounds. He was expressly forbidden to meddle with recent wounds. In 1609 it is recorded in the municipal archives of Copenhagen that Gaspar, the hangman, had received four rigsdalers for the cure of two sick children in the infirmary.

In 1638 Christian IV. summoned the executioner of Gluckstadt, in Holstein, to examine the diseased foot of the crown prince. In a letter addressed to Ole Worm, a leading Danish physician of the d [illegible] bitterly of the [illegible] thus put [illegible] him. He says that for two months the hangman, "who is as fit to treat the case as an ass is to play the lyre," had the case in hand, and the doctor was not asked for advice, and, although the case went steadily from bad to worse, the executioner received a fee of 200 rigsdalers and a large silver goblet—"rewards," says the doctor plaintively, "which the greatest among us would not have received had he succeeded in curing the prince according to the rules of art."

Again, in 1681, Christian V. gave a fee of 200 rigsdalers to the Copenhagen hangman for curing the leg of a page. In 1695 Andreas Liebknecht, the Copenhagen executioner, was in such repute for his treatment of disease that he wrote a book on the subject "in the name of the holy and ever blessed Trinity." In 1732 Bergen, an executioner in Norway, was authorized by royal decree to practice surgery.

Even up to the early years of the nineteenth century this extraordinary association of surgery with the last penalty of the law continued. Erik Peterson, who was appointed public executioner at Trondhjem in 1796, served as surgeon to an infantry regiment in the war with Sweden and retired in 1814 with the rank of surgeon major. Frederick I. of Prussia chose his favorite hangman in Coblenz, to be [illegible] that this peculiar combination of functions had [illegible] in a [illegible] view of the art [illegible] we have [illegible] of the [illegible] drove [illegible] things [illegible] heal- [illegible] have [illegible] heal [illegible] rep- [illegible] which the [illegible] public esteem and social position. Compared with the hangman, a gladiator and even an undertaker may be considered respectable.—British Medical Journal.

"Painting the Town Red."

"That expression, 'painting the town red,' is not," writes a correspondent, "the creation of some unknown cockney genius, as some would seem to infer. Its birth has been traced to 'The Divine Comedy.' Dante, led by Virgil, comes to the cavernous depths of the place swept by a mighty wind where those are confined who have been the prey of their passions. Two faces arise from the mist—the faces of Francesca and Paolo. 'Who are ye?' cries Dante in alarm, and Francesca replies sadly, 'We are those who have painted the world red with our sins.'"—London News.

Development.

"Remember," said the earnest inventor, "it isn't so many years since the telephone caused laughter."

"That's true," answered the man who has trouble with central. "At first it caused laughter; now it causes profanity."

Proof.

Mrs Shellpod Hiram, some o' them there hobos hez stole the wash offen the line ag'in! Farmer Shellpod—Haow dew you know they was hobos? Mrs Shellpod Becuz they tuk everything but th' towels.

If better were within, better would come out.

Origin of Geography.

The Phoenicians were the first people to communicate to other nations a knowledge of distant lands. It is now known that before the time of Homer that enterprising people had passed beyond the limit of the Mediterranean into the great western ocean, and it was by their sailors that the first rough charts of the world as then known were made. But geography as a science originated among the Greeks. Its real father being Herodotus of Halicarnassus, about B. C. 484.

No Encouragement.

Mrs Short—Oh, dear, I do wish we were rich! Just think of the good we could do if we only had lots of money! Mr Short—True, my dear, but we can do a great deal of good in a quiet way now. Mrs. Short—Yes, of course, but no one will ever hear of it.

CIVILIZING S VA ES.

Britain's Work In Africa Is Having Most Satisfactory Results.

A White-paper published by the British Government a few days ago, gives an interesting account of the splendid progress of peaceful penetration in the provinces of Southern Nigeria.

Many of these rich districts were closed only a few years ago to all comers. The natives vigorously excluded the outer world, and gave themselves up to barbarous customs. In the Ibibio country of the eastern province incessant intertribal warfare was carried on until quite recently. Slave trading, twin-killing, human sacrifice and cannibalism were openly practiced. In the Omoduru, Ahva and Bende districts a similar state of affairs prevailed.

Without bloodshed, or even military measures, the country has been civilized and developed. In the majority of the districts offenses against human life are rare, and old customs, such as witchcraft and trial by ordeal, are being dropped. Even in the most uncivilized tracts the natives are speedily acquiring an appreciation of the justice administered through the native courts which have been established.

Altogether, a remarkable transformation has been brought about in a short time, and great headway has been made against the evil influence of the Aros. They have a powerful hold over the natives, who are generally afraid to give evidence against them, and they indulge whenever possible in slave dealing. Despite their power, however, and their persistent attempts to spread evil reports about the intentions of the Government, their power is being steadily undermined, and the work of progress is going rapidly forward.

MARQUIS' REMAINS EXHUMED

Duke of Montrose Has Famous Family That Goes Back to 1128.

Very few men have so famous a family record as the Duke of Montrose. How far the Grahams go back in the history of Scotland, it is hard to say. They were certainly well established in 1128, for William de Graham figures as witness to the charter from David the First to the monks of Holyrood house. William had two sons, Peter, ancestor of the Earls of Morton, and John, founder of the present family of Montrose. James, the first marquis, did valiant service for the king in the Civil War. When the monarch had been murdered, Montrose escaped from Scotland, but he would not abandon the cause, and with a few gallant followers, made a hopeless descent upon Orkney, where he was captured by the forces of Parliament. His execution at Edinburgh, with every circumstance of indignity, and the outrages inflicted upon his body, are among the most shameful in Scottish history. At the Restoration, Charles II. caused his remains to be dug up and buried in state in the cathedral of St. Giles. When at Eton, the present duke was caught by a master throwing stones at a truck while waiting on the station platform at Windsor for the train which was to convey him and his mother to London. The offended master ordered the boy to return to the college to receive his punishment, but the future duke, thinking himself safe in his mother's presence, did not take the matter seriously. The duchess, however, intimated her intention of delaying the journey so that the son might do as he was told.

AFRAID OF INVASION.

English Mayor Advocates Conscription to Relieve Present Anxiety.

The Mayor of Colchester, England, Councillor W. Gurney Benham, is very wide awake to the unpreparedness of Great Britain in case of invasion. Interviewed recently, he said that he was now in a "transition stage." Until quite recently he was a conscientious objector, and opposed to compulsion of any description, but owing to the representations which have been made concerning the defenceless state of the countyr, he had come to the conclusion that it was entirely wrong for Brown, Jones or Robinson to leave Smith to do the military duty of all four.

"I fully realize the position," he said, "and am ready to do everything in my power to assist in bringing about a state of affairs which will relieve the present anxiety. We must not forget, however, that county associations have been established, and if the members of these associations, who are military experts, would invite mayors to take part in a conference on this most important subject, I have no doubt that this could be arranged, and I would do all I could to further the movement."

The mayor added that in the matter of training he would go even further than Lord Roberts suggests. "I cannot see that any harm would result," he said, "if the youth of this country were required to train for a somewhat longer period than the few weeks which are now proposed."

Colchester, it may be mentioned, is a fairly large garrison town, but it is so situated that in the event of an invasion on the eastern coast it would most probably be abandoned by our troops, who could not hope to prevent an invader occupying the place unless they had a large force of citizen soldiers to support them.

HIS MAJESTY GETS FIVE HUNDRED LETTERS A DAY

Clerks and Private Secretaries Are Required to Sort Out the Correspondence Begging Letters and Epistles From Cranks Form Large Part.

The daily letter-bag delivered to His Majesty contains, on an average, close on 500 letters. The royal letter-bag is sent to Buckingham Palace seven times a day by special messenger from the General Postoffice, and special arrangements exist for sorting and clearing the letters for His Majesty.

The first letter-bag is delivered at Buckingham Palace at 7 a.m., which is at once taken in hand by two clerks of the Household, and the mail is divided into two classes—private and official, all letters not marked private being included in the latter class.

They are then sent up to be dealt with by Lord Knollys and the assistant private secretaries. Each letter, as it is opened, is impressed with a rubber stamp bearing the royal crown, and initialled by the secretary who opens it. The name and address of the writer, and the business which each letter refers to, is entered in the daily-letter book, and the entire correspondence then sorted into two classes, termed home official and foreign official. Letters which do not come under either denomination—such as begging-letters, letters seeking the King's patronage for various charitable enterprises, letters from innumerable "cranks," and others of a like character—are sorted into a separate class, termed miscellaneous correspondence.

All these, together with the unopened correspondence marked private, are then sent to the King's private writing-room before 11 o'clock, at which hour His Majesty, with Lord Knollys usually goes through the letters.

Letters of a purely personal character, from intimate friends, His Majesty replies to himself.

Not included in the regular mail delivery are the despatches daily sent to His Majesty from the Treasury Home, and Foreign Offices. These are enclosed in a square, red leather case, with a white enamelled tablet bearing the words, "From the Treasury"—or whatever the office may be—"to His Majesty the King." Only the chief of the office it is sent from and King's private secretary, into whose hands it is always personally delivered, can unlock the case.

The mails that arrive at Buckingham Palace throughout the day are sorted and classified in the manner already described as they come in, but they are not dealt with or seen by the King until the following morning, unless they contain matter of extreme urgency.

When the King is absent from London, the letters are sent in the usual manner to Buckingham Palace from the General Postoffice, and taken by special messenger twice a day to wherever the King may be staying. This applies, however, only to official correspondence; letters marked "private" are despatched in a special bag from the General Postoffice direct to His Majesty. There is one way in which letters addressed to the King are treated differently from all other mail matter. They are always sent to the General Postoffice in London, and pass through no other distributing centre.

When His Majesty is abroad, a King's messenger is sent once a day wherever the King may be with the mails delivered at Buckingham Palace. They are opened and sorted before being sent from the palace, and any letters on urgent matters are telegraphed.

At whatever place the King may be staying, it is always connected with the nearest telegraph office by specially-laid wire, so that telegraphic despatches for His Majesty are delivered practically the instant they are received.

No letter, of course, written by the King or Queen need be stamped, nor need any letter written by a member of the royal household on Their Majesties' business have a stamp; but it is a strict rule that members of the household must stamp their private letters.

An Invasion of Ireland.

Ireland is anticipating an "American invasion," and in this particular case (of manufacturers who will be compelled under the new British Patents Act to set up works in the United Kingdom) extends to them a cordial welcome. Missionary work along this line was done by John Redmond in his recent visit to the United States, where he reports he had opportunities to urge upon American manufacturers who contemplate continuing their trade in Great Britain the advantages of establishing their factories in Ireland. The Irish leader represented to them that land on his island is cheap and easily acquired, the water supply abundant, and labor quick, intelligent and willing to work for a small wage. A considerable impetus to Irish industry is expected to result from the application of the new act.

New Money in Soo.

New York, Jan. 8.—It is understood that Robert Fleming and other important English interests are carefully looking into the affairs of the Lake Superior Corporation with a view to enlarging its scope.

It is expected that considerable new money will be put into the enterprise and it is definitely reported that the English capitalists referred to have been assured of large orders from the leading Canadian railroads.

It is predicted by those who have been familiar with the affairs of this unfortunate company, practically since its organization, that within a reasonably short time the outlook for it will be brighter than ever before and probably the actual business in hand considerably larger than has been recorded up to this time.

Eighteen Months For Bigamy.

Toronto, Jan. 8.—Edward S. Soames, a middle-aged man, bearing marks of dissipation, was sent to the Central Prison for 18 months yesterday, upon conviction for bigamy.

Ten years ago he married Kathleen McLean in St. Thomas. They lived together for six years and six children were born. Four years ago he deserted her and one of the children died as a result of the poverty which followed.

Recently Soames married Jennie E. Reynolds in Detroit. His defence was that he had heard that his first wife was dead.

No More Helmets.

Ottawa, Jan. 8.—Militia orders seem to doom the helmet as far as the Canadian militia is concerned.

They will not in future be issued to rural corps, and to those who wear them only in quantity to complete establishment.

A naval pattern cap will be issued to replace them.

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $12 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $31 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

ABOUT A WATCH.

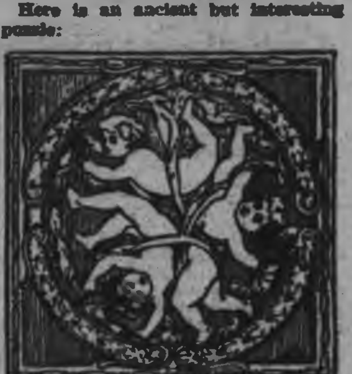
Marvelous Feats Performed by the Most Delicate of Machines.

The watch is the smallest, most delicate machine that was ever constructed of the same number of parts. About 175 different pieces of material enter its construction, and upward of 2,400 separate operations are comprised in its manufacture.

Some of the facts connected with its performance are simply incredible when considered in total. A blacksmith strikes several thousand blows on his anvil in a day and is right glad when Sunday comes around, but the roller jewel of a watch makes every day and day after day 432,000 impacts against the fork, or 157,680,000 blows in a year without stop or rest, or 3,153,600,000 in the short space of twenty years.

Find the Seven Babies.

Here is an ancient but interesting puzzle:



One and one and one make three, any one would say upon glancing at this picture of the fine little boys, but it is not what you see first that is the right answer to the question. "How many are there? Look again, and perhaps you will be sharp enough to see that one and one and one make not three, but more than twice three—seven. Look among the squirming arms and legs, among the chubby hands and feet, and you cannot fail to make up the puzzling addition. And after you have found all seven of the baby boys take the picture and have some fun with your friends watching them fuss and fume that they cannot see more than the original three babies.

New Candy Game.

The hostess should write the following questions on sheets of paper, of course omitting the answers, and give one to each guest, awarding boxes of bonbons for prizes:

What candy is a spice and a money making establishment? Peppermint.

What sweets are wild flowers of the spring fields? Buttercups.

What goodies result when a sour fruit rolls off the table? Lemon drops.

What candy is a lively goat and a near neighbor of the English? Butterscotch.

What candy is rubber and "to fall?" Gumdrop.

And which consists of a famous river in the east and a variety of nuts? Jordan almonds.

What candy good for the throat is gray with age and hunting dog? Horehound.

What American dainty is "to explode" and an important food product? Popcorn.

What species of caramels are an uncomplimentary exclamation? Fudge.

What popular flavor is likely holly and mistletoe? Wintergreen.

What bonbons should show which way the wind blows? Straws.

The Dijon Poplar.

A traveler in France speaks of a poplar tree that the writer saw in the city of Dijon, which is the oldest tree of its kind in France. It is 122 feet in height and is forty-five feet in circumference at the base. The city council has an authentic record of the history of the tree since the year 722. The people of Dijon are proud of it, so much so that they not long ago voted to levy a tax to put a railing around it, so that it might be protected from possible injury. It is good to see sentiment of this kind.

Questions and Answers.

When could the British empire be purchased for the lowest sum? When Richard III. offered his kingdom for a horse.

What is the largest room in the world? The room for improvement.

When may a man be said to breakfast before he gets up? When he takes a roll in bed.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The Old Hen's Yardstick.

A little boy and his sister were allowed to collect eggs from the hencoops, but were told that they must never take away the nest egg. The little girl, however, did so one morning by mistake, and her brother told her she must take it right back "because that was what the old hen measured by."

His Reputation.

Oh, yes, he's an extra high roller!
His hours are unusually late,
And that is the way,
The neighbors all say,
He's a kind of a roller skate.

"Yes," rejoined the demoralizer, "especially in a crowded car."—Chicago News.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK GIRLS

Can be Had Through the Rich, Red Blood Made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when sickness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there comes headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness and heart palpitation, and a general tendency to a decline. The only thing that can promptly and speedily cure these troubles is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This is the only medicine that actually makes new, rich, red blood, and a plentiful supply of rich blood is the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature age. The truth of this statement is proved in the case of Miss Esther E. Sproule, Truemanville, N.S., who says: "At the age of sixteen years I left my country home to attend high school. The close confinement and long hours of study nearly broke me down. My blood supply seemed to be deficient, and I grew pale and depressed. I was dizzy nearly all the time, and pimples broke out on my face. I was altogether in a miserable condition and it seemed impossible for me to continue my studies unless I found a speedy cure. I tried several tonics prescribed by the doctor, but they proved useless. My mother urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I finally consented to do so. I had hardly finished the second box before a change for the better took place, and the use of a few boxes more fully restored my health, and I have since been well and strong. I feel that I cannot say too much in favor of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I strongly recommend them to other ailing girls."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Shirley's Surprise.

By Martha Cobb Sanford.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

Shirley was superintending the annual charity bazaar and putting her whole incautious, magnanimous soul into the task, but that was Shirley every time.

And she had what she termed a "perfectly, splendidly unique" idea for this particular bazaar. As soon as she thought of it she called up each of the other girls on the committee by telephone to tell them about it.

"Perfectly impossible," one said.

"Too much work," complained another.

"Fine," agreed a third, "and just like you, Shirley. But you'll have to put it through yourself. All the rest of us have more than we can do now."

And so, a bit chagrined, but quite undaunted, Shirley proceeded "to put it through."

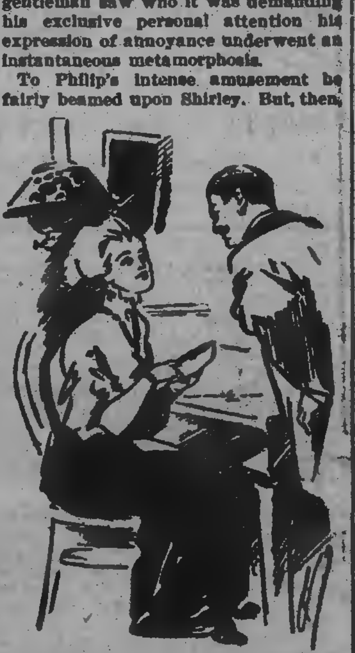
She had just executed her first victorious stroke when she came face to face with Philip Evans—that is, their machines met before a smart sporting goods establishment.

"You look as fresh as a morning glory, Shirley," was Philip's greeting as he sprang from his car and helped Shirley from hers. "How do you do it—with a whole charity bazaar on your hands?"

"Just come in her with me a minute, Philip, and I'll show you," Shirley answered, laughing.

Once inside the shop, Shirley asked for the proprietor. No one else would do, she said. When that pompous gentleman saw who it was demanding his exclusive personal attention his expression of annoyance underwent an instantaneous metamorphosis.

To Philip's intense amusement he fairly beamed upon Shirley. But, then, every one beamed upon Shirley, for that matter, and Shirley beamed upon every one in return, or possibly it was just the other way round.



"I'VE ALREADY BOUGHT THIS ONE."

"You see, Mr. Brown, we're going to have a charity bazaar," she began, smiling so captivatingly as she did so that her victim quite overlooked the fatality of the announcement. "And you have such perfectly charming and unusual things here that I knew you would be delighted to give us just one or two small articles to help us out." Mr. Brown managed to tuck an acquiescent smile in edgewise as Shirley, seating herself in a reclining bamboo porch chair, announced: "Yes, we'd like this, I'm sure. It's delightfully comfortable. And, oh, that lovely tan Gloucester hammock! We must have that. Come over here and try it with me, Philip."

Philip obeyed without a moment's hesitation, although conscious that the eyes of several spruce young clerks were watching himself and Shirley as they sat like two children swinging side by side.

"And that will be all, Mr. Brown," Shirley announced munificently, jumping out on the fly, as it were, "just that chair and this hammock. You see, I've let you off very easy. I can't tell you exactly what we want them for. That's a secret, but it will be a splendid advertisement, and if they aren't sold, why, we'll send them back to you."

Mr. Brown, with many smiles and a sweeping bow, acknowledged himself pleased and honored to be of service.

"And I haven't asked you to buy a single ticket, Mr. Brown," Shirley reminded him generously.

Mr. Brown immediately put his hand into his pocket.

"No, thank you just as much," declined Shirley prettily; "but, you see, Mrs. Brown bought half a dozen yesterday."

"Shirley," Philip remonstrated soberly when they were on the sidewalk, "haven't you any conscience whatever?" But at Shirley's expression of absolute incomprehension Philip burst out laughing. "What are you going to do with the things anyway?" he asked, helping her into her automobile.

"That's my surprise," Shirley answered. "You'll see when you come to the bazaar. By the way, how many tickets do you want?"

Philip opened his billfold and slowly drew out six.

"Won't these be sufficient to let me in?" he asked teasingly.

"Where did you get them, Philip?" flashed Shirley.

"Oh, from two or three irresistible sources," he answered indifferently.

"Well, here are six more," Shirley announced defiantly. "I saved them on purpose for you, Philip, so you'll have to take them. Now, you mustn't detain me a minute longer. I've got loads of other places to go to. See you at the bazaar."

"But I can't call before"— began Philip, abruptly tearing in two several small pieces of blue cardboard.

"No, you can't," interrupted Shirley, laughing. "I'm too busy. If you need any more tickets, Philip, let me know. Goodby."

The bazaar opened with a blaze of social glory and continued its triumphant career for one entire week.

The center of attraction was "Shirley Burnett's little portable house," as it came to be called before the bazaar was half over. There it stood at one end of the long hall, immaculate and dainty in its coat of white and yellow, defying any one to find fault with it and inviting every one to come in—for the small price of 5 cents.

Every one wanted to go in and remain to exclaim over its coziness. Not a corner of it was left unexplored, from the little living room with its artistic wicker furnishings to the diminutive kitchen with its miniature cook stove and shining rows of brand new pans and kettles.

And nearly every one lingered long enough to have tea, which Shirley served out on the porch with just as gracious hospitality as if she weren't charging the exorbitant sum of 15 cents a cup for it. The little portable house proved a most paying proposition.

And when the very last night of the bazaar it was put up at auction there were spirited bidding and much excitement.

"Four hundred and ninety dollars—four hundred and ninety dollars," called the auctioneer impressively, "for this beautiful little house with all its furnishings complete. Come, gentlemen. Some one make it five hundred. Going, going—five hundred, do I hear? Thank you, sir. Gone at five hundred to the gentleman over there on my right. Will he please step forward and give his name?"

Shirley, who had been watching the scene from a window of the living room, suddenly disappeared as the crowd parted to give the purchaser right of way.

A few minutes later Philip Evans found her sitting on the kitchen table making pathetic little dabs at suspiciously red eyes.

"Why, Shirley Burnett!" he exclaimed. "What's the matter? You ought to be the proudest girl in the world."

"Well, I'm not," Shirley answered disconsolately. "I'm the most miserable. I can't bear to think of any one else having this little house. I want it myself. I just love it. Don't you think the porch is the cutest thing you ever saw, Philip? Can't you just imagine sitting out on it away off somewhere in the moonlight?"

Philip nodded. Somehow he couldn't trust himself to speak.

"And the dear little living room—isn't it the budgiest little room you ever saw, Philip?"

Philip wasn't quite sure what "budgiest" meant, but he nodded again.

"And as for this little toy kitchen," Shirley ended dramatically, patting a nearby saucepan affectionately, "I adore everything in it! Don't you, Philip?"

"Everything," answered Philip solemnly, "and you, sweetheart, most of all. Oh, Shirley, can't you say the same?"

For a moment Shirley looked at him as if dazed. Then, her eyes sparkling with happiness and her cheeks growing rosier and rosier, she said softly and slowly, "I adore everything in this little kitchen, and you, sweetheart, most of all."

"You're quite sure, dearest," Philip questioned a few minutes later as, at Shirley's request, he held up the little kitchen mirror while she rearranged her much rumpled hair, "that you love me just as much as you love the little house?"

"It's your deadliest rival, Philip," she answered playfully, "but just to prove to you that it won't count any more I—I'll congratulate whoever bought it. There, I couldn't say more. Who is he?"

"You don't know?" gasped Philip, unable to believe his ears.

"I don't want to see the monster," explained Shirley. "Just as soon as I heard that fatal word "Gone!" I ran out here, where you found me. Philip," she broke off excitedly, "I have the grandest inspiration! Let you and me get another house just like this and spend our honeymoon in it. I think I could get one quite cheap for you."

"But, you see," confided Philip meekly, "I've already bought this one."

"Why, Philip Evans!" exclaimed Shirley, hugging him hard. "I don't believe it. Aren't you a love?"

An English Opinion.

"London is full of foreigners," writes a correspondent of the London Chronicle, "and you may detect them in many infallible ways. But nothing perhaps displays a man's nationality more surely than the way he eats. You may tell an Englishman, meet him where you may, by the fact that he grasps his fork firmly in his left hand and keeps it there instead of transferring it to his right hand as soon as his food is cut up. You can tell a Frenchman by his wise disregard of fish knives and salt spoons. As for Americans—well, it is amusing to read of Benjamin Franklin's visit to Paris in 1777 and of the horror of the ladies of the court when he fell upon asparagus with hands and teeth and of their corresponding disdain when he failed to treat a melon in the same way, but ate it delicately with a knife and fork. They also professed disgust at his love for an egg broken into a tumbler."

A BOY'S STRUGGLE FOR LIFE

TWICE DELIVERED FROM DEATH

Mr. S. J. New of 154 Baldwin St., Toronto, says: "I can trace my son Harold's trouble to when he had the measles five years ago, from which he never really recovered. Some of the best physicians attended him, but with months of suffering he in turn contracted whooping cough, bronchitis, and then pneumonia."

"MY POOR BOY WAS REDUCED TO A SHADOW." "Month after month went by that we shall not soon forget; months of sleepless nights, fearful coughs, weakening night sweats, left my boy a mere shadow. He had no appetite, and my heart ached to see how he was wasting away. He spent one whole summer at the Lakeside Home for sick children, and came home greatly improved, but the cold winds of October took him off his feet again. The doctor advised me to send him to Muskoka, but heavy doctor's bills had depleted my financial resources and such a step seemed out of the question. Scores of friends advised the use of PSYCHINE, but I was inclined to place PSYCHINE on a par with many advertised remedies and cheap nostrums. However, my friends proved such strong advocates of it that I at last consented to try it."

"HUMAN LIPS CANNOT DESCRIBE THE CHANGE." "We tried PSYCHINE and human lips cannot describe the change that took place. No words can express the thankfulness of his mother and myself when we saw the crisis was over and realized that our boy was fighting his way back to life and health. PSYCHINE had mastered that which all the doctors' prescriptions had failed to check. Day by day Harold grew stronger and all through the winter of 1906 although continually out of doors he failed to take cold, and he put on flesh very quickly. By the spring my son was completely cured, and developed into a strong, sturdy lad."

HAROLD NEW, TORONTO

HAROLD AGAIN FALLS A VICTIM TO DISEASE. "About last Christmas he was again attacked, this time with diphtheria; and had this dread disease very badly. After spending some time in the Isolation Hospital he returned home cured of his illness, but oh! in such a pitiable state of emaciation. The latest struggle with the grim monster death had reduced him to a skeleton almost, and the boy could scarcely stand, he was so weak."

PSYCHINE AGAIN GIVES GOOD SERVICE. "Again we began to give him PSYCHINE and before one bottle had been used he showed a marked improvement. We continued the treatment, and in a very short time Harold was as strong as ever and able to go to school. We haven't any need for a doctor in our home since we started using PSYCHINE. It is certainly a wonderful remedy. Can you wonder that I am never tired of proclaiming its merits?"

"Though not in such a marked degree, I may say that my other children have been greatly benefited by this medicine. It saved my boy Harold's life without doubt, and no sufferers should despair until they have given PSYCHINE a trial."

PSYCHINE is the greatest strength restorer and system builder known to medical science. PSYCHINE regulates and tones up all the vital organs. THE FANCY BIRDS ARE NOT PROFITABLE ONES TO KEEP

Is there any profit in raising hens on a large scale? This is the question which has confronted many a man and which is eagerly sought for by others. Whether artificial incubation can be made a commercial success remains yet to be solved at least in our colder climates of the temperate zone. Failure has ended many expensive experiments in various parts of the province. Others are making fair progress and by close study of the natural conditions are essaying a solution. However, close personal attention is always necessary.

To rear hens that will make a 150 to 175 yearly egg record and also prove to be good breeding stock seems improbable.

To prevent the incubator hatched chicks from dying in the brooders is another problem.

"The great fault with the poultry business," remarked Dr. Farewell, of Harmony, upon a recent inspection of his plant, "is that there are hundreds and hundreds of small fancy breeders in the towns and cities who keep a small select pen of fowls under abnormal conditions. These take prizes advertise their winnings, and thus induce farmers to stock up with these cooped fowls with the consequent loss of vitality in the chicks. In this respect the business seems to be growing more demoralized yearly.

"The result is the farmers can hatch but they can not raise the chicks. Fancy breeding, in-breeding, lack of fresh air, etc., all impair the vigor and vitality. So that my advice to farmers is, do not buy cockerels from fancy breeders unless you know the circumstances of their runs and rearing."

FANCY BIRDS POOR MONEY.

Just here the genial doctor related his experience in this line of fancy birds.

In White Wyandottes recently he purchased a cockerel for $10, bred on first lines and as white as a lily. Not a trace of brass could be seen. After a fortnight's run in his pens in the sunlight, and fresh air, the bird showed more brass than any he had. The hot house method of its production had told against it.

Another purchase of a $50 Rock Cockrel proved unfortunate for the bird lacked stamina and died shortly after the purchase

Dr. Farewell, who owns a 250 acre farm in East Whitby, is trying to find out the secret of successful poultry culture. In his yards he has some 1,000 hens consisting of 400 Rhode Island Reds, 200 white Wyandottes, 100 Barred Rocks, 100 Buff Orphington and 200 Excelsiors — the latter is a cross breed of his own origination celebrated on their egg production.

His pens are perfectly constructed for warmth, ventilation and scratching pens. Each hen has a large yard for a run. Muslin curtain protection over the roost is used. One long building containing some 30 pens is for the pullets only. He never breeds from these, always using year old hens for his breeding pens. The several pens are separated by wire doors through which the attendant has connection inside with all the pens.

In the laying pens there is a warm compartment for the roosts and feed floors with an adjoining open shed with an opening to the south for scratching pens. These connect with a large fenced yard. Regularly these yards are cultivated and sown to clover or grain.

Another long building, now empty, is being made ready for the hen reared chicks. About the first of February hens are set, and as several are always set the same time, forty chickens are given to two pens in one of these indoor pens. The floors are covered with fresh sand and the whole thoroughly is cleansed. In this pen he can rear 1,000 chickens for the broiler market.

Fire recently destroyed his large pens and he has several new ones in course of erection. One of these is the breeder house.

Wm. Beach, who has arrived by dog train at Gimli, Man., reports Fort Churchill booming, but furs scarce.

Damage of $1,000 was done by fire in the New Hamburg Manufacturing Company's paint and oil storeroom.

COLONEL HELD ON HIS HORSE

U. S. Army Officers Critized Over Horsemanship Test

Washington, Jan. 7.—Sharp criticism of the United States army and its management is being heard about the Capitol. Some of the most pointed remarks have been published in the Official Record of the testimony taken before the House Committee on Military Affairs in connection with the army appropriation bill. It developed that $10,490 had been expended for mileage in connection with the horsemanship tests ordered by the President. This money, it was explained, was disbursed in order to assemble the officers on what was deemed a proper course, such as at Fort Ethan Allen, in Vermont, and Fort Myer, in Virginia.

"That $10,000 is a useless expenditure," declared Representative Anthony of Kansas. "Those tests could just as well be taken at the posts where the officers are stationed." "Yes, or riding around a fair grounds," suggested Representative Slayden of Texas.

Chairman Lowe, of Iowa, came to the rescue with a remark that produced laughter. He suggested it would be well to have the officers ride in schools with some one to watch them, as he understood that at the last ride at Fort Myer "some old colonel had to have a man on each side of him to see that he stayed on his horse."

At this point Representative Parker of New Jersey was moved to say "you know we have have decorated forty old fellows who are no good but who are broken down with drink, and that will save the Government a lot of money."

Representative Capron, of Rhode Island, expressed a wish that the same test might be applied to members of Congress, whereupon Representative Prince of Illinois suggested that the Secret Service would take care of that as "that is what the President wants."

CUSTOMES DUES FALLING OFF AT MONTREAL

(Bradstreets.)

A marked falling off in the customs dues collected during the past year at the port of Montreal is an indication to just what extent the country's imports have declined as compared with those of a year ago. Total collections were $12,909,413, as comparedd with 16,882,485 for the year 1907, a decrease of close upon four million dollars. Every month of the year showed a decrease when compared with the same month a year ago, and in December the decrease amountedd to $190,393. Montreal authorities say, however, that the tide has turned and that the receipts especially when navigation opens again will exceed those figures which made 1907 a record in the history of the port of Montreal.

How New Archbishop of York Once Earned a Sharp Repreof.

Born in 1864, and educated at Glasgow and Balliol College, Oxford, the Bishop of Stepney, who recently declined to accept the bishopric of Montreal, to which he was unanimously elected by the Diocesan Synod, studied for the Bar for a time. But he decided that the Church was more to his liking. He became a curate in Leeds in 1890; six years later he was inducted Vicar of Portsea, and five years later was nominated to be Bishop of Stepney. Once, when preaching at Westminster Abbey, he became so engrossed in his sermon that he closed his eyes to avoid being distracted by human objects. After the service one of the congregation asked him why he closed his eyes, adding: "You may think you looked like a saint, but you really looked quite foolish." Dr. Lang takes an optimistic view of human nature, and has come across many instances of religion in unexpected places. Some time ago, he happened to be standing on the platform of a big railway station, during a busy rush for excursion trains, when he noticed one particular porter, who, although harassed on all sides, was so calm, good-tempered, and courteous. Going up to the man, he asked him how he managed to keep so collected. "Why, sir, you ought to know. By the Grace of God," was the unexpected reply. It is said of Dr. Lang, who is a Scotsman, that at the age of 19, there were few subjects upon which he was not able to talk, and he earned a name for himself at Oxford as a brilliant orator and vigorous debater.

U. S.-British Treaties.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Secretary Root yesterday signed arbitration treaties with Ecuador, Bolivia and Hayti.

Next week Secretary Root hopes to sign with Ambassador Bryce a treaty for the reference to The Hague tribunal of disputed questions affecting the Newfoundland fisheries, for the settlement of pecuniary claims, and for the mutual uses of the boundary waterways.

With the exception of some claims which may have to be added to the list, Mr. Root and Mr. Bryce have agreed on these treaties, and they now await the approval of the British Foreign Office.

Windsor's Treasures.

The King has ordered a thorough examination to be made of every room and apartment in Windsor Castle. A castle with a history of over seven hundred years is worth exploring. Windsor is no doubt a much greater treasure house than was imagined up to quite recently. The resources of Windsor as a treasure house are yet only imperfectly understood. Not very long ago the Princess of Wales accidentally discovered a valuable collection of old ivory miniatures, while the recent rearrangment of the royal library has brought to light several unsuspected volumes of great value. Many of the vaults of the castle, which have not been examined within memory, are filled with furniture and fittings removed from the rooms from time to time, and in them many valuable finds are expected.

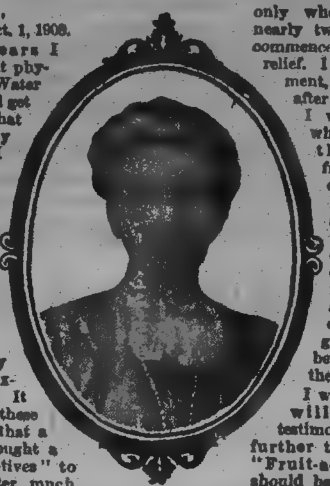
AT DEATH'S DOOR

Doctors had to give her Morphine to ease the pain

Five boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Her



ENTERPRISE, ONT., Oct. 1, 1908.

For seven years I suffered with what physicians called a "Water Tumor". I would get so bad at times that I could hardly endure the pain. I could neither sit, stand, nor lie down. Hypodermics of Morphia had to be given me or I could never have borne the pain. Many physicians treated me, but my cure seemed hopeless, and my friends hourly expected my death. It was during one of these very bad spells that a family friend brought a box of "Fruit-a-tives" to the house. After much persuasion I commenced to take them, but I was so bad that it was only when I had taken nearly two boxes that I commenced to experience relief. I kept up the treatment, however, and after taking five boxes I was cured, and when I appeared on the street my friends said, "The dead has come to life." And this seemed literally true because I certainly was at death's door. But now I can work almost as well as ever I could, and go camping and berry-picking with the girls.

I will be glad if you will publish this testimonial, if it will further the interests of "Fruit-a-tives." They should be in every household. Yours very truly,

MRS. JAMES FENWICK.

Through the whole country around Enterprise, Ont., people are talking about this wonderful cure. By their marvellous action on the Kidneys, "Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Fenwick when the doctors said she could not be operated on and was doomed to die.

"Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Fenwick when all else failed. Try them for your trouble. 25c. and 50c. a box, at dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

CANADA'S FIRST LADY

WRITER DESCRIBES LADY GREY AND HER PERSONALITY.

Governor-General's Wife Has Many Hobbies, But All Are Philanthropic—She Is an Enthusiastic Supporter of the Work of the Salvation Army and Is Deeply Interested in Home Industries in Canada.

Margaret B. Downing, a well-known writer, contributes to a number of American newspapers a new sketch of Lady Grey, wife of Earl Grey, Canada's Governor-General. The sketch is written from Ottawa and among other things contains the following

Lady Grey has been accused of possessing many hobbies, but they are all on the side of philanthropy. Like all grande dames of the older world, she takes the duties of her position seriously. She assumes that the obligation to look after the physical and moral well-being of those under her is part of her lofty situation. Consequently she has taken up the work, if not with the loud flourish of trumpets, as did the Countess of Aberdeen, at least as systematically and enthusiastically.

Lord Grey has two hobbies, religion revival, notably Salvation Army endeavor and temperance reform. Lady Grey is just as enthusiastic, though she cannot assume the leadership of such movements. She makes frequent visits to the camps of the Booth cohorts and she takes part in the exhortations, not in the form of set speeches or in the general assemblies, but quietly and personally, as it were to a few auditors. She belongs to almost every form of municipal or charitable association established in Canada. It is said of her that she is somewhat lax about her social obligations, but about her philanthropic work, never. In this regard she has distributed her favors impartially among French and Indian Catholics, Anglicans, Scotch and Irish Presbyterians, that mysterious sect, the Doukhobors, the semi-civilized denizens of the Pacific slope and fashionable charities of the large Canadian cities, Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Quebec.

Lady Grey has patronized the home industries of the Dominion and has given an impetus to native production. Though in London she is notably one of the handsomest-gowned women of Mayfair, in Ottawa she finds all she desires among the modistes and milliners there or in Montreal. Not a garment comes from the other side and she employs a small army of needlewomen on her lingerie and lace. Her gifts to friends in England or on the continent have taken the form of Canadian products, the dainty embroidery at which the French nuns or the French gentlewomen excel, the intricate but gracefully designed native lace, and the exquisite jewelry of delicate enamel.

Lady Grey, though reserved and dignified, as becomes the wife of a belted earl, and the queen of such a vast social domain as the Dominion of Canada, moves freely among the people and is known and beloved by the entire poorer class of Ottawa, where she lives the better part of the year; of Quebec, where she spends the summers, and in Montreal, her favorite shopping point. At Rideau Hall all the ceremony which pertains to the homes of British titled officials is kept up and the same is true of the summer palace near Quebec. But otherwise, Lady Grey moves around much as Queen Alexandra does in London or Mrs. Roosevelt in Washington. When she appears in public, as the wife of King Edward's pro-consul she is gowned in becoming state and her equipage would warm the heart of the most ardent lover of pomp. Ordinarily she drives around in a small brougham, guiltless of emblazoned arms or liveried coachmen, and she wears raiment as severe as a nun's. Lady Grey is dedicated to the cause of temperance, but her endeavors are far removed from some of the intemperate propagandas which pass current. She seeks the hopeless neighborhoods for her crusade, which never takes the form of total abstinence, but is rather to provide the least deleterious form of stimulant to the poor. She is in favor of establishing neighboring stores where good beer and light wines of the unadulterated order and the best brands of whisky will be sold at low figure. The entire neighborhood is to be given opportunity to get stock in such a venture and they are to be made responsible not only for the good conduct of the establishment but the quality of goods sold and the way it is sold. Lady Grey has not realized the hope of getting these co-operatives stores in running order, but she is doing yeoman work in this direction. She rarely spends her time getting converts to her cause to take the pledge of total abstinence, but she is eloquent in getting them to aid her in closing disorderly places, where vile liquor is sold and where the pennies of unfortunate men and women are spent to their own misery and the privation of their families.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

THE BRAINY SNOB.

Women in the Front Rank in This Character.

"A good lady who goes to the art class," says Samuel McChord Crothers in the Atlantic Monthly, "is able to talk of Botticelli. But she has no right to look down upon her husband as an inferior creature because he supposes that Botticelli is one of a certain kind of pickles. He may have some things which she has not, and they may be fully as important."

True enough, they may be fully as important, but it would be hard to get our lady who goes to the art class to realize this fact. This is because of no conscious perversity on her part, but rather because her judgments are irretrievably based on a certain little round of standards of her own making.

When she meets a person for the first time she performs much the same operation that a merchant does when he checks off a bill of goods. She looks him over and decides whether he tallies up with the items on the bill of her perfectly satisfactory and sufficiently cultured person, and if he does all well and good. If not, if he pronounces bas-relief with an "s" or thinks that Puccini is the name of a new cheese—scratch goes the pencil, and the newcomer is marked "hopeless." Hopeless he may be as far as grand opera and mural decorations are concerned.

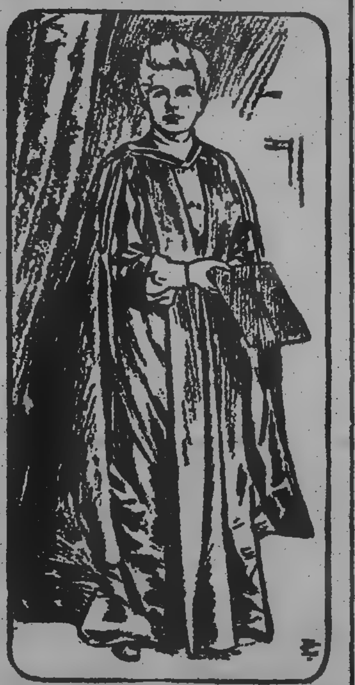
In so doing she merely betrays her ignorance of the value and importance of the other fellow's knowledge, and you may rest assured that in some particular branch of knowledge your ignorant doll is as proficient as she is in the things she, by her own verdict has pronounced all important.

Woman's World

FIRST WOMAN MAYOR.

Miss Dove an English Suffragist Who Has Made Good.

Among the women who have demonstrated ability to hold political positions and run affairs still regarded by many persons as suited only to men is Miss Dove, who was lately elected municipal councilor of High Wycombe, England, by the biggest majority in the history of that town. Just think of conservative old England getting ahead of America by owning a "lady mayor." Our sisters of the Political league on this side of the water had better sit up and take notice. Miss Dove has always been a pioneer; indeed, it has become a fixed habit with her. She was one of the three women who were first privileged to attend university lectures with the undergraduates. She was the first student to enter the new building at Girton, the woman's college of England; also one of the first twelve students who attended the first woman's college at Cambridge. All women must applaud Miss Dove for the splendid efforts she has made in improving the standard of education for her sex. In her girlhood, when education for women was at a very low standard, she spent three years at Queen's college. But at fifteen years of age her family moved to the country, and all instruction ceased. Her next school venture was residence at a boarding school and after that a period of home life devoted to teaching her younger brother and sisters and making their clothes. Suddenly came the first great step in her educational career, when her father, a clergyman, told her of Miss Emily Davies' intention of starting a women's college at Cambridge. Miss Dove passed the entrance examination and was enrolled as a scholar. After a successful university career she went as science mistress to Cheltenham, and later she joined the staff at the opening of St. Leonard's school at St. Andrews, Scotland. In 1882 she became head mistress and held that position for fourteen years. From St. Andrews she went to High Wycombe and put into execution her bold ambition to establish in England a school on the lines of St. Andrews, and Wycombe Abbey school, with its 240 pupils, is the splendid realization of her ambition.



MISS DOVE, MAYOR OF HIGH WYCOMBE.

Now High Wycombe, a quaint old town in Buckinghamshire, has set a high seal of approbation on the remarkable career of this remarkable woman by electing her its mayor. Long may she reign!

Maid and Mistress.

There are mistresses and mistresses just as there are many maids of many minds, and if there is to be harmony in the household there must be an understanding.

Having chosen a trained servant, and presupposing, in the heart to heart talk with her before she was engaged, that she has been made fully aware in a general way of what is expected of her, it is unfair and not at all a test of her capabilities to hamper her with commands to do her work in "your way."

If you find her broiling the steak for dinner in the oven when you have been in the habit of using the top of the stove, do not reprimand her; wait for results. The steak may be just as good or better than if done the other way. What she accomplishes is your affair; how she does it is her own.

A great many housekeepers are altogether too conservative in adopting fresh ideas. They get into ruts and stay there. If a maid is to take real interest in her work she must be allowed and encouraged to use progressive methods. She cannot be blamed if she refuses to carry out many orders which originated in the kitchen of twenty years ago.

Healthiest in the World.

"Despite the fact that hospital nurses have extremely arduous work and are exposed to almost every known contagious disease, I believe that they are the healthiest class of people," said Miss Goodrich, superintendent of the Training School For Nurses at Bellevue hospital, New York city, the other day. "By that I mean they are less subject to physical breakdown than any other class of people. They have fewer aches and pains than other people, and their general health is far above the average of those who are usually considered the healthiest—farmers and workers who pursue outdoor work. Even doctors, whose very business is health, are not as healthy as a class, as hospital nurses. Doctors know well how to preserve their health, but they almost invariably abuse their constitutions by overwork, irregular hours and mental strain.

"The reason why hospital nurses are the healthiest people is not so much because of the nature of their work as it is their regular hours for sleeping, eating, exercising and working. They have the correct amount of sleep every twenty-four hours, the most nourishing and wholesome food prepared in the best manner, and, of course, they live under the best sanitary conditions. Their exercise and their work keeps them in perfect physical condition, and, as all hospital nurses have good constitutions—they are not accepted unless they have—illness among them is almost unknown. The mortality rate among hospital nurses is probably the lowest of any class of people in the world.

"It is regular living that makes health and keeps it for one who already has it, and there is no class of people who live a more regular life than hospital nurses."

What's My Thought Like?

A variation of the old guessing game, "What's my thought like?" may be arranged with the moralists. To play it the leader begins by saying, "I am thinking of a proverb which illustrates," for example, "the tendency of inferior characters to take advantage of any relation of authority." The other players are allowed to ask questions concerning it thus:

A—How many words does this proverb contain?

Answer—Nine.

B—Is it a familiar saying?

Answer—Among the most familiar.

C—How many times does the word "the" occur in it?

Answer—Twice.

D—Does it begin with the word "when?"

Answer—Yes.

E—And end with the word "play?"

Answer—It does.

F—Is there a mention of certain animals in it?

Answer—There is.

G—Is it "When the cat's away the mice will play?"

Answer—That is it.

To Alter a Child's Skirt.

In making garments for girls it is always important to arrange for lengthening the same.

First.—One of the usual methods is to have a series of tucks at the hem. This is somewhat of a trimming and later proves convenient by letting out the tucks, one or more, as is required.

Second.—If the dress or skirt is plain, the hem may be let down and a facing put under.

Third.—If No. 2 does not give sufficient length, then, instead of facing when letting out the hem, add an extension hem that will give the necessary length, being careful to match the design, if there is any in the material. A row of featherstitching may be made over the joining, or a finishing braid may be placed over it.

Fourth.—Several rows of insertion may be set in near the bottom of the skirt.

Fifth.—For girls a little older a circular or pointed yoke may be put in at the top of the skirt.

New Bridge Prizes.

Sachets are now given as bridge prizes, so that the hostess who possesses more of the virtue of hospitality than money may entertain correctly if only she has a large number of fresh looking silk pieces at hand. Such little bags are of all sizes, as they are used to drop among the handkerchiefs, the neckwear, the gloves and the lingerie. They are mounted over little fine white linen sacks, which hold the powder, and their ends may be fringed and tied together with baby ribbon or they may be faced or shirred into a sort of rose effect. Sachets are especially acceptable these days, when only vague suggestions of perfume are permissible.

Becoming Furs.

It is the easiest thing in the world to fall into the mistake of thinking that any fur is becoming to any woman. Nothing should be selected with greater care than the fur. For instance, a sallow skinned, dark eyed, dark haired woman will look the very worst in sealskin. She should wear the lighter shades of mink, red fox, yellow fox and silver gray fox.

Red haired blonds can wear sealskin, but the genuine brunette with dark hair and eyes may wear golden and light brown shades, such as mink, marten, brown or yellow fox and chinchilla.

A Papering Hint.

When patching wall paper don't forget to preface operations by putting the new piece of paper in the sunshine to fade till it matches that on the wall. Don't cut the patch a neat square, but tear it. The irregularity of its edges will make it less conspicuous.

To polish mirrors rub first with a cloth wrung out of cold water and then dipped in dry whiting. Afterward polish with a dry, soft duster. Home Notes.

"Mr. and Mrs." is something that never appears on an invitation or visiting card in England. Invitations are issued by the mistress of the house.

12 Tumors Removed Without an Operation

Silver Lake, Ontario, September 20, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah:—

"I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and I think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."

Mrs. Louis E. Bolteridge.

ORANGE LILY

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment, and comes in direct contact with the organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders including painful periods, falling of the womb, leucorrhea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 day's treatment absolutely free to any woman who has not yet tried it if she will send me her address.

Address with stamp.

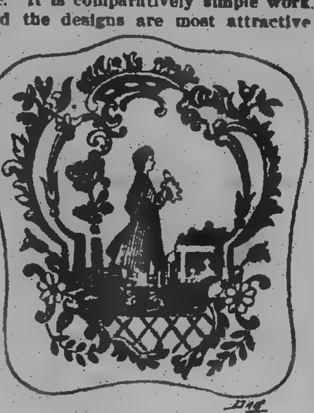
The Tapestry Craze.

One of the most attractive forms of embroidery which have been revived recently is the tapestry work used on cushions, screens, chair backs and seats and in smaller pieces to be mounted on stools, blotters, box lids, etc. It is comparatively simple work, and the designs are most attractive.



SQUARE FOR CHAIR SEAT

Copies of old tapestries, of Watteau and other subjects, of Dutch scenes and of simple floral patterns, are traced on canvas and all the portions of the design applied in the correct colorings. The embroiderer merely works over the lines in careful stitches, as in the most conventional needlework.

The example given is a Louis chair seat in rich colorings which give an effect of perspective seldom attained in embroidery.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

If people laughed more they would all be happier and healthier

Equal quantities of lemon juice, listerine and glycerin make an excellent mouth wash

Don't expect physic and tonics to keep you well if you neglect the laws of health and hygiene

A mixture of white of egg and red pepper is good for neuralgic headaches. Apply it to the base of the brain.

When a splinter has been driven deep into the hand it can be extracted without pain by steam. Nearly fill a wide mouthed bottle with hot water, place the injured part over the mouth of the bottle and press tightly. The suction will draw the flesh down, and in a minute or two the steam will extract the splinter and the inflammation will disappear.

A shoe which compresses the foot retards circulation of the blood much as the compression of a rubber hose retards the flow of water. It is as foolish and unhygienic to wear such shoes as it would be to sleep in a poorly ventilated room in a bed several feet too short to accommodate the full length of the body. Can you imagine any greater discomfort or one more calculated to destroy the health and cause the most distressing of nightmares?

BACKACHE IS THE DANGER SIGNAL

This Simple Home Mixture Said to Prevent Serious Kidney Trouble.

More people succumb each year to some form of kidney trouble than any other cause. The slightest form of kidney derangement often develops into Bright's kidney disease, diabetes or dropsy. When either of these diseases are suspected the sufferer should at once seek the best medical attention possible. Consult only a good first-class physician.

There are many of the lesser symptoms of kidney trouble which can be treated at home, as stated by a well-known authority. For some of these such as backache, pain in the region of the kidneys, weak bladder, frequency (especially at night) painful scalding and other urinary troubles try the following simple home remedy: Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce; Compound Kargon one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. These These simple ingredients are harmless and can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them by shaking well in a bottle. The dose for adults is a teaspoonful after each meal and again at bedtime.

There is no more effective remedy known to relieve all forms of rheumatism because it acts directly upon the kidneys and blood. It cleans the clogged up pores in the kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood the poisonous uric acid and waste matter, which, if not eliminated remains in the blood, decompose and settle about the joints and muscular tissues causing the untold suffering and deformity of rheumatism.

Backache is nature's signal notifying the sufferer that the kidneys are not acting properly. "Take care of your kidneys" is now the physicians advice to his patients.

DIANA OF THE DIRECTOIRE.

Bring me my new fur hat, mamma, for I want to put it on.
It is wider than the widest hats we wore
in years agone.
It is three feet wide, and the brim is thick, and it has a lot of weight,
And it makes me wear three bands of hair just to keep it sitting straight.

My shoes? Ah, yes! I have put them on,
and the heels are good and high,
And they press against my tender feet till
I feel that I must die.
Yet I wear them so as I come and go, and
I force a pleasant smile,
For one has to be in style, mamma—one has to be in style.

And now my directoire gown, mamma,
I've managed to don my stays.
You will have to slip me into it, for my arms I cannot raise.
And I'm willowy, as you may see, with the willowiness of steel.
It will be tonight ere I take a bite, for I cannot hold a meal!

And now I go for a little stroll, and I go to make a call.
And I shall not sit upon a chair, but shall lean against the wall,
For I can't sit down in my nice new gown, for I know that if I do
I'll be certain to break in two, mamma—
I'll certainly break in two!

EASY DISHWASHING.

Lightening the Weary Work of "Three Times a Day."

One of the unnecessary things in housekeeping is the continuous washing and wiping of dishes, says a woman in the Housekeeper.

Methinks I hear a cry of horror from a horde of housekeepers, but many of them have nevertheless at one time or another rebelled against the stack of dishes which looms up, like the schoolboy's hash, "three times a day."

It is queer how some women will wear themselves out rather than step aside from the beaten path. They have yet to learn the joy that comes from taking an independent tack and making the work subservient to the worker, from being the master instead of the slave.

To many women the bugbear of housework is dishwashing. Why wash dishes three times a day? Do it in the morning when fresh. Scrape the dinner dishes, stack in a large pan filled with cold water and cover.

Treat the supper dishes the same way, and do not allow your conscience to keep you awake one single hour. It will not make the task too heavy the next morning if you try my way.

After washing each piece in hot suds and rinsing in hot (not warm) water, put them, piece by piece, in the wire drainer (price 10 cents) as nearly on edge or aslant as possible, and let stand until dry.

Glasses, of course, and silver must be wiped, but the former can be left filled after using and the latter put into a pitcher or deep jug until some odd minute when one is not so weary with well doing that another turn of the screw seems next to impossible.

"In the matter of tea," perhaps you think you are being served as well as you can be, but have you tasted "Salada" Tea. It's the purest and most delicious tea in the world. All grocers sell it.

ICY WATERS CLAIM SEVERAL SKATERS IN THE PROVINCE

Parry Sound Has Double Tragedy in Which Young Man and Woman Skate Into Open Water—Owen Sound Youth Loses Life.

Parry Sound, Jan. 11.—The first drowning fatality of the winter occurred here on Saturday night, when Eli, son of Matthew Gibson, turnkey of the jail, and Miss Jessie, daughter of Robert Robertson, lost their lives by skating into open water.

The young couple were last seen skating up the north shore and on their failing to reurn home, search parties started out yesterday morning. The yonng man's hat and a fur ruff belonging to the young lady were found at the edge of an open space of some acres in extent and the searchers after a short time spent in grappling, recovered both bodies. The young couple were about 20 years of age.

One at Owen Sound.

Owen Sound, Jan. 11.—The town had its first skating fatality that has occurred in years yesterday afternoon. The cold snap of the past week put a skim of ice on the bay near the mouth of the harbor and hundreds were skating on the Brook and Owen Sound sides of the bay.

Robert Hammond, a young man of 20 years, whose parents reside near Jones Falls, three miles from this place, was one of a party skating on the harbor, his companion being Miss Marguerite Lynch. They got on thin ice near the end of the old Boyd Wharf and went through into about four feet of water. Hammond was quick to get out on the edge of the ice and endeavored to pull out his companion, when the ice gave way again and let them in.

By this time half a dozen young men jumped in and after some difficulty succeeded in getting Miss Lynch [illegible] They then attempted to rescue Hammond, who, by this time, had become thoroughly benumbed. The young man who had hold of him was seized with cramps and was unable to hold up Hammond, who sank into water about six feet deep, and was drowned.

Skated Into Hole.

Brockville, Jan. 11.—Skating on the river after dark resulted in an accident to Louis Davis, a well-known hockeyist, which nearly cost him his life. He went into an air hole at the western limits of the town in a secluded spot and struggled hard in the cold waters for several minutes before assistance arrived. It was then with great difficulty that he was rescued by James Bresnau. He managed to hold himself up by clinging to the ice, which time and again broke down under his weight. Louis was taken to a nearby house and put to bed. A doctor was called to attend him.

Broke Through the Ice.

Kingston, Jan. 11.—A lad, aged 10, named McGee, while skating on the bay at Adolphustown got on thin ice, broke through and was drowned.

A Skating Fatality.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—While skating on Kew Beach Park ring at six o'clock Friday evening, Manville Babington, the 12-year-old son of E. R. Babington, architect, 35 Lee avenue, received such injuries that he died from concussion of the brain some hours later. He and a number of companions were skating about the open rink, when Manville collided with another boy. Both lads must have had their heads down, as they did not see each other.

CHAIRMEN HAVE BEEN SELECTED

Harmony Marked First Meeting of the City Council This Morning—Mayor Looks Forward to a Successful Year.

Board of Works—Ald Phelan.

Fire, Water and Light Committee—Ald. Buller.

Manufacturers' railways and franchises—Ald Gillespie.

Finance, (printing and licenses) Ald Morrow.

Property (market, building and health(—Ald Bradburn.

Legal (reception, legislative and joint with county)—Ald Turner.

Special Power Committee — Ald McIntyre

The above are the chairmen of the standing committees of the city council for 1909. The selection was made at the first meeting of the city council this morning and the election of the chairmen was attended by much more harmony than has sometimes been the case.

The chairmen of the committees were appointed a committee to select the committees for the year. This committee will report at a meeting of the council tonight.

When the aldermen gathered in the council chamber at eleven o'clock all were present, as follows;

Mayor Rush, Aldermen Hicks, Duffus McIntyre, Morrow, Gillespie, Metheral, Bradburn, Phelan, Morgan, Turner, Duncan and Buller.

MAYOR'S ADDRESS

In opening the meeting of the council Mayor Rush spoke as follows;

Gentlemen,—I am pleased to welcome you to the council of the city of Peterborough for this year as the choice of the electors to look after the interests of the municipality. I feel honored myself in being placed in this position for another year, and I know we all feel the responsibility of the trust reposed in us.

It will be our duty to carry on the policy of building up the city. For this purpose no opportunity should be overlooked. Advantage should be taken of every opening to add to our industries whenever this can be done on terms advantageous to the city and anything that can be done to attract industries should be carried out.

The matter of expenditures will require our careful attention. The additional schools that have been erected and the enlarged accommodation for school purposes, has added considerably to the expenditure for educational purposes, and the requirements of the Board of Education, as shown by the demand which has been for.

FREE FIGHT IN A COURT ROOM

St. Agathe Magistrate Arrests Insulting Gaoler For Contempt.

Montreal, Jan. 11.—A sensational affair is reported from St. Agathe, a small town in the northern part of the County of Terrebonne. The trial of one Robert for assault was in progress before District Magistrate Grignon, when Jailer Loisleau entered and spoke very harshly to several of the witnesses and when censured by the judge he insulted the magistrate in open court.

As no one would accept the court's order to arrest the offender the judge undertook the job himself and a free fight ensued to the great scandal of the spectators.

The judge shortly afterwards condemned the jailer for contempt of court and ordered a bailiff, Victor Garceau, to take charge of the delinquent.

Here another scuffle took place and as no arrest was possible, the case ended by the magistrate declaring that he would not sit unless the jailer, who is also guardian of the municipal hall, was dismissed.

HANDSOME TRAMP MAY BE MURDERER

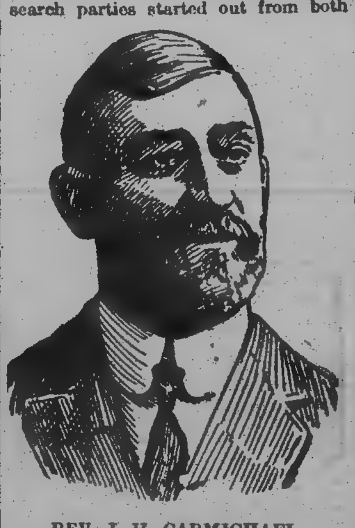
Seemingly Insane Man Caught at Claremont, West of Peterborough—Was Arrested While Walking on Track.

Toronto, Jan. 11.—A demented, though harmless man, supposed to be Rev. John H. Carmichael of Adair, Michigan, suspected of butchering Gideon Browning, a carpenter, and burning his dismembered body in a stove was arrested about 9 o'clock last night and locked up in a C.P.R. oil house near Claremont, 21 miles east of Toronto.

A special volunteer guard was placed upon him for the night, and he will likely be taken to Whitby jail to-day.

He was first seen trudging along the C.P.R. tracks at Markham going in the direction of Locust Hill. He was too well-dressed for an ordinary tramp and his height, handsome bearing and peculiar manner of walking with both feet extremely turned out; together with his deep musical voice as he passed the time of day with all who met him, aroused a suspicion that he might be the man who is so much wanted by the supervisors of St. Clair County, Michigan.

A hue and cry was raised and search parties started out from both villages. The man was run down just outside of Claremont, shortly after 8 o'clock. He had left the railroad tracks and was hoofing it up a side-road.



REV. J. H. CARMICHAEL.

From his irrelevant religious talk and his utter indifference and inability to give a satisfactory account of himself, he was believed to be hopelessly insane.

His description tallies pretty well with the newspaper description of Carmichael, and it is said somebody saw in him a marked resemblance to the cut of the Adair clergyman which has been published in the papers.

Used Oil to Cremate.

Port Huron, Jan. 11.—An interesting development yesterday in the Rattle Run murder mystery was the report that shortly before last Tuesday's tragedy Mr. Carmichael had ordered all the lamps of the church filled with oil. It had been customary to use only part of the lamps and those not used regularly had not been filled for a long time. In directing the filling of the lamps, however, the preacher made it plain that none of them should be overlooked. Notwithstanding that the preacher's directions were carried out, it has developed since the murder that the oil was low in many of the lamps. As the light had not been used for a meeting since the last filling, the theory has been advanced that oil from the lamps was emptied into the stove to hasten the cremation of the body of Gideon Browning.

A good deal of surprise had been manifested over the almost complete cremation of the victim's body, only a few bones and fragments of flesh being left. Footprints left by the pastor in the churchyard indicate that his last movements here were made just as the soft ground was beginning to freeze, and this would have been between 1 and 2 o'clock Wednesday morning.

It was discovered also, that instead of tying his horse in the shed back of the church, the interior of the shed being visible from the highway in the moonlight, he left his rig in the shed back of the Lutheran Church, across the road.

MAY NOT BE THE RIGHT MAN

Special to the Review

Whitby, Jan. 11.—The man who was arrested last night at Cedar Grove, on suspicion of being Rev. J. H. Carmichael, wanted at Adrian, Mich., for the murder of Gideon Browning, in the Battle Run Methodist Church, there on Tuesday night last, was found this morning not fully to answer the description of Rev. Mr. Carmichael, and accordingly was set liberty.

It is reported, however, that he may be re-arrested.

HORSE FELL DOWN ON GEORGE ST.

But Only a Small Accident and Was Soon on its Feet Again

This morning somewhat of a commotion was caused on George street, in front of the C.P.R. telegraph office, by a horse suddenly falling to the road as though it had been seized with a fit or dropped dead. It was a case of the animal getting its foot over the shaft, however, and losing its footing. It was soon got on its feet again.

The horse was drawing a truck and belonged to the George Matthews Co.

SCHOOLS CLOSED IN THE NORTH

Will Not Open During Winter Months — Lang School Opened To-day

Several schools in the northern part of the county are closed during the winter months. This is not unusual however, as these schools have been closed in previous years, the sections being sparsely populated.

Lang school in Otonabee, did not open until today, the trustees being unable to get a teacher. Several other sections also had difficulty in securing teachers.

A STREAM OF FUNERALS SAYS TIMES' CORRESPONDENT

In Giving His Impressions of Messina—Whole District is a Ghastly Panorama of Destruction With Nothing Spared by the Desolating Blow.

London, Jan. 11.—Of all the recent despatches from the ruined cities of southern Italy, that which gives the most complete picture of the conditions there is one from the special correspondent of The London Times, who witnessed the result of the San Francisco earthquake. In describing his arrival on the scene this correspondent telegraphs:

"When we had passed Scylla and rounded Capo del Faro there opened upon us the panorama of destruction. Paro, Paradise, and all the villages along the coast were in ruins. Then Messina came into sight. The sun was setting, and a lovely frame of violet hills, a tranquil dark sea, and a sky of emerald and gold surrounded the scene of the world's greatest tragedy.

"At first the extent of the disaster was not apparent, for the white walls showed prettily against the dark background, and it was hard to believe that the city was destroyed. But soon we saw that nothing remained but tottering shells. All along the magnificent curved sea front was ruin. Nothing broke the desolate line. Nothing had been spared.

"And then we entered the harbor and the most dreadful things of all became apparent to us. Messina was dead. Throughout the length of the Corso Vittorio Emanuele, which a few days ago had been an esplanade busy with traffic and gay with life and color, was silence—the silence of the grave. Sometimes a few soldiers passed, and at one point there was a small crowd waiting for the distribution of food. The rest was death. That was the first impression.

"Night fell, and the only illumination was from lamps and the searchlights of many ships in the harbor. I was rowed ashore. The searchlight on an Italian warship played on a single spot, and to it the boatmen took me. It was where the troops had organized some sort of headquarters, and a little band of soldiers were sitting around a camp fire. They talked softly, as men do in the presence of death, and, in the brilliant light from the ship, it seemed that this was the only place alive in what had been a town of 100,000 inhabitants. This was my second impression.

"I walked the length of the Corso, and then I realized the full horror of what had befallen Messina. The largest city in Sicily had been smashed as a glass dish would be smashed if it were thrown upon a stone floor. That any of the inhabitants survived seems a miracle. That the most appalling estimates of the loss of life have not been exaggerations appears evident. To go into details is useless. It is ruin everywhere."

A BURNING TRANSFORMER CAUSED BIG ILLUMINATION

A transformer on the corner of Water and Simcoe streets, caught on fire early this morning from a power wire breaking. The flames from the oil inside shot up making quite a brilliant display and lending a wide illumination to the surroundings. P. C. Meagher saw the blaze and sent in the alarm from box 22.

The brigade responded quickly and laid a line of hose and sprinkled a light stream on the transformer, so as not to cool the castings too quickly and thereby damage them. The fire was soon extinguished.

FUNERAL OF LATE MR. C. HALPIN

Took Place This Morning—Service at St. Peter's Cathedral by Rev. Father Galvin

The funeral of the late Cornelius Halpin took place this morning from his late residence, 158 Lake street, to St. Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery. Many prominent citizens turned out to pay their last token of esteem to the memory of the deceased.

At the church mass for the burial of the dead was said by Rev. Father Galvin and Rev. Dr. O'Brien officiated at the grave.

The pall bearers were Mayor Rush, and Messrs James Bogue, James Graham, James O'Brien, John O'Brien, and L. Drake.

CHOIR SHOWS APPRECIATION

Mr. William Coleman, who as a tenor singer has rendered faithful service in St. John's church for a long time past, leaves the city this week for a few months holiday in England. The best wishes of the choir and congregation go with him on his trip and the rector and choirmaster voiced the appreciation of his services in the vestry at the conclusion of the evening service last night.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER

Former Owen Sound Man is in Serious Trouble in Nebraska.

Agallala, Neb., Jan. 11.—Lafayette Dales, alias John H. Dales, has been arrested here, charged with the murder of Vally Mann on the prairies east of here last October. A woman traveling with him as his wife is also in custody on a charge of complicity.

After his arrest Dales made a confession and said that he formerly lived at Owen Sound, Ontario, having left there eight years ago, when he jumped a $1,000 bond under which he was awaiting trial on a charge of larceny. At that time he deserted a wife and three children, one daughter married. His family are highly respected in Owen Sound.

The woman with Dales, a Mrs. Smith, claims that she was married to Dales in 1887, at which time he was known as William S. Lynch, and that the day after the wedding he deserted her and went to Canada, where he was married again.

Five years ago Mrs. Dales of Owen Sound received a C.O.D. parcel and on opening it found a note stating that the clothes contained therein were those of her husband, who had died and been buried at Youngstown, N.Y. She had doubts, however, as to his death. Being an attractive woman, it is said she has had many offers of marriage, all of which she refused, believing that her husband was still alive.

CHURCH CAVED IN DURING SERVICE

Worshippers Are Killed While in Church in Switzerland.

Berne, Switzerland, Jan. 11.—During Divine service yesterday an ancient church near Sion suddenly collapsed, burying the worshippers in the ruins. Practically all the members of the congregation were killed or injured. The wildest panic prevailed, those who escaped rushing through the field, shouting that an earthquake had overtaken the village.

Other villagers joined in the outcry and were with difficulty calmed. After an hour's exertion the fire company of the place extricated forty corpses, but it is believed that there is still a number under the timbers. Sixty persons were badly injured. The collapse of the church was caused by the time-worn pillars in the underground crypt giving away.

DRAUGHTSMEN HAD SUPPER

At Hooper's Grill Room on Saturday Evening

A number of draughtsmen from the C.G.E. works enjoyed an informal supper at Hooper's Grill room on Saturday evening. A choice menu was provided and a very enjoyable time was spent. There was no toast list, the affair being quite informal.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S ATTITUDE

Mr. Roosevelt is a strong man. When he undertook to admonish Congress he knew what he was about, but Congress did not know what he was about or it would never have flouted him by consigning his message to the waste-basket. Mr. Roosevelt however, is a boxer, and he countered to perfection crossing over as the boxers say, with his right. Upon being apprised of the waste-basket episode and of the intention of Congress to give him a further combing in the morning he quietly sent them Senator Tillman's letters which showed how a senator could stand up in the American Senate (the finest body of men in the world" (of course) and advocate the retaking by the government of certain lands for the sole and only public use forever, when he, the said Senator Tillman, was already and at the time arranging by his numerous epistles in different quarters to do the U.S. out of the said lands, when they should come into the possession of the U.S. in response to his noble appeal to "the better instincts and better judgment of his co-representatives of the American people." Mr. Roosevelt's manoeuvre reminds one of the plan by which wolves are kept at bay. One of them is wounded and the others stop to investigate and then to devour. While the principle of espoinage is bad it is probably according to law, the law of necessity. In Canada the Tillman style has come to be the recognized and approved method. Bribery, corruption, wholesale and retail lying, lobbying, giddy humbug, changing tenders, in fact any old thing "goes." But it is not "going" fast enough. It ought to go altogether. We can well fancy Mr. Roosevelt taking a look at some of our pet constituencies. What would he say? He would say, as a downeast Yankee once said: "Well, boys, if this is your practical politics, give me hell," and they would give it to him.

SERMONS

Probably preachers are not aware of the very general desire, at least in certain communions, for sermons upon other than the usual texts. Whether justly or not we do not offer an opinion but it is felt that to the pew-holder are left too many of the more esoteric passages of scripture, which, while they may seem upon the surface to be plain enough, are really repositories of a deep meaning that no ordinary tenant of a pew could possibly be expected to intrepret correctly. This contention becomes the more apparent when it is realized that it takes men of ability, long years of patient toil under the lamp of the student to acquire some degree of proficiency in interpretation, and even then there will likely be as many different interpretations as there are sects. Occasionally there is one more whereupon a new religious body is born, springing full-grown in stature, if not in numbers into the thick of the fight for souls. It is sometimes suspected, unworthily and improperly, it is true, that some clergymen fight shy of controversial and doctrinal portions of scripture. It is also thought by many that the more we hear of charity and the less of differences of doctrine the better, and who will feel it necessary to gainsay the claim? But, nevertheless, there are parts of the divine word which the wise cannot fathom, and to their thirst for knowledge some little attention might reasonably be paid "without offence."

NAVAL PREPARATIONS

The United States has decided to outdo all rivals in the size and weight of its guns aboard ship. A 14 inch gun will annihilate the carrier of a 12 inch before the latter could get within range. Dreadnoughts will now be succeeded by Dreadfuls. It is possible that the recoil may have to be counteracted instead of being absorbed as it is now, by the firing of guns on opposite sides of the ship at the same moment. It seems that there is room for improvement in the manufacture of powder, too. A more speedy explosion is desirable. Recently Great Britain decided to introduce a measure of protection under another name by which it would smell sweeter, contrary to the words of the proverb. The Patents' Act requires articles patented in Britain to be made there. Germany and the United States, whom this measure more particularly hits, have joined together to fight it and the next few years may furnish the spectacle of a complete change in the present day cordial relations between Britain and the United States. If two men fight they are arrested for breach of the peace. It may come to it that it will be necessary to organise international police if nations are not to die in preparing for war.

MATTERS FOR CONSIDERATION

As will be seen in another column, Government Inspector R. W. Bruce Smith, in his report on the local hospitals, has the following to say of St. Joseph's Hospital, under the direction of the sisters: "Needs and recommendations for improvement — ninety-seven patients averaging a stay of 23 days each in the hospital, were treated entirely free during the past year. The large majority of these patients were from the city of Peterborough, and, strange to say, the City Council makes no grant to the hospital. Brockville Council votes to the two hospitals there each year $800. Chatham votes to its hospital each year $4,000; Guelph's municipal grant to its two hospitals annually amount to $3,000. Why does the City Council of Peterborough become an exception to all other hospital centres in Ontario?"

We called attention to this state of financial shortcoming on the part of our City Council before. No one wants to take advantage of an institution towards the maintenance of which he or she pays nothing either publicly or privately. It is placing the recipient of aid in a false position and our Council should cause an inquiry to be made and the blot to be removed.

EDITORIAL NOTES

"What would you say," said the prophet of woe, "if I were to tell you that in a short space of time all the rivers in this country would dry up."

"I would say," replied the patient man, "go thou and do likewise."

Canadian spelling is to be reformed by putting in a "u" in "colour" et hoc genus omne. This will add to the troubles of the proofreader undoubtedly. The present spelling is Latinic. The suggested spelling is really old French.

It is said that a man or a woman's character is judged by their firmness in the face of temptation and that emotion when it betrays character ceases to be emotion and becomes frailty. A realization of this fact would do away with much "slobbering" that passes current amongst those who ought to know better, for a fine humanity of spirit and a noble gentleness of heart.

"How would it do for the London Morning Post to leave the management of Canada's military forces in Canada's hands? The Post is staying awake nights worrying about the undermanning of Esquimalt. Nobody on this side of the Atlantic is impertinent enough to give the 'motherland advice as to the need for rushing work on the Rosyth naval base."—The Globe.

This remark of the Globe's is of the schoolboy order.

Regarding "Supremacy of Christ," in business life;

"When asked how she regarded the question, Miss Margaret E. Bentley, a pretty young stenographer employed in a big commercial house in New York, said with a smile;

"Life like Jesus? It is impossible. I wonder who does? I know lots of girls who have to do things every day for their employers they do not want to do. I am not speaking of my own work. But I know girls who have to tell lies over the 'phone for their employers as well as write them, and sometimes they are asked to sign papers they shouldn't, and lots of things like that. But, of course, it depends on the firm you are with. There are lots of good firms who would not think of asking a girl to do such things. I would not work for a firm who asked me to lie for them."

OF INTEREST

One of Napoleon's chamberlains, whose memoirs have recently been published, was present at the Council of State in which the creation of the new nobility to replace that destroyed by the revolution was canvassed. Napoleon spoke at great length, saying among other things, "In a revolution you only destroy what you replace, that which you suppress but do not replace is not destroyed. Abolishing titles and privileges, you fancy you have accomplished a great feat, whereas you have simply magnified the great historic names without putting anything in their places. What does it matter to a Montmorency or a Rochefoucauld that he is a count, a duke, or a marquis. Their name suffices them. But the existence of titles gives them equals." The Emperor went on to say that "when I gave titles to my marshals when I ennobled them with the names of their victories when I rewarded all their brilliant services, their illustrious deeds, I took care at the same time to bestow new titles on those worthy persons belonging to the old nobility instead of restoring their old titles to them. And why. In order to show that in my eyes true nobility could have but one source, one origin and to prove my loyalty to the cause of equality, that equality of which France is so proud and which is not debasing, but elevating, because it gives to all alike the right to rise and does justice to individual merit."

Comte de Rambuteau was deeply impressed by these discussions. They showed him, he says, how thoroughly Napoleon understood the pulse of the people, how well he knew the nation and how skilful he was in turning the knowledge to his own advantage. He was always declaring that he had a great mission, that of effecting the transition between the past and the future. "I have dethroned nobody," used to say. "I found a crown lying in the mud, and in placing it on my own head I restored it to its former splendor." The Emperor was fond, it seems, of reviewing in confidential conversation his various experiences. "I have achieved the greatest success known to history," he said one evening. "Well in order that I may leave the throne to my children I must be master of all the capitals in Europe."

On another occasion at the Council of State, when certain regulations for the university were under discussion, he said: "Prejudices are great factors in governing and we have destroyed too many of them; I only wish I could create a few. A prejudice is the current coin of more than one virtue. What a misfortune it is that every religious corporation should be dependent on a foreign spiritual sovereign —the Pope. If it were otherwise I should hand over the education of France to the congregations tomorrow. You will never find in the university so many traditions, such esprit de corps, zeal, devotion and good will at so cheap a price."

Usually it seems, in the Council of State, the Emperor spoke coldly and somewhat brusquely, though always forcefully; at times, however, according to our author, he became impassioned and approached the sublime.

Frequently Napoleon worked ten, twelve, fifteen hours a day without any interval for rest or refreshment. Then he would say.

"My legs are swollen; I need exercise; write to Berthier."

Thereupon he would tire out six horses take a bath on his return, dine, and then go to bed, sleeping 8 hours, on end, and recover strength enough to last him for a week. With the exception of his dinner, his food was simple; he breakfasted when he could spare the time. He always dined in private with the Empress, except on Sunday, when he gave a family dinner then the only guests were all crowned heads. On the other hand, when there was a hunt a magnificent dejeuner would be laid out at the rendezvous, to which all those on duty and several other guests were invited; the Emperor took advantage of this opportunity to show attention to certain important personages.

Never, we are told, was a great household conducted upon more economical lines than those imposed by Napoleon on the Grand Marshal. New candles were given out to the servants only when they produced the burned out ends of the old candles. No fires were lighted before the first of November. The tables of the Emperor's attendants were splendidly served, but in their own rooms they could order nothing but cool drinks, Madeira and rolls, no fruit, not a cup of tea, coffee or chocolate. We learn, too, that Napoleon never expended more than one thousand dollars annually on his wardrobe, and he was sometimes angry when that amount was reached.

The peremptory tone in which Napoleon spoke to those whom he wished to reprimand our author describes as "terrible." Yet, "imperious as was his manner sometimes, no one could show more delicacy in bestowing praise, although the commendation might be only a word or a smile, a gesture or a question discreetly put, but which would be enough to show that he had a retentive memory and was worth more than volumes of praise. His anger moreover, did not last long, especially with his soldiers, for whom he reserved his caresses, jests, and familiarities he was proud of them, proud even of their occasional pranks, which always savored of high spirited daring.

At the same time the author of the recollections bears witness that the Emperor's good nature never impaired his dignity. "With you Frenchmen," he said one evening, "it is absolutely necessary to keep one's distance If you were permitted to shake my hand, then you would want to climb on my shoulder." But he spoke without a touch of haughtiness or arrogance; he was kind and unaffected, and, our author is convinced, loved the people as much as he detested the mob, "only the canaille found him pitiless."

HOW MAXIME ELLIOTT BEAT OUT STAGE HAND

New York, Jan 8—The Herald says, Miss Maxine Elliott thought she would make a little tour of inspection over her new theatre in Thirty-ninth street yesterday morning. It is a very pretty theatre and Miss Elliott is as fond of it as a child is of a new toy.

Adjoining the star's dressing room is a perfect dream of a bath with tiled floor, an enticing porcelain tub, all the latest thingumbobs in the way of showers, sprays, mirrors, pomades sachets, and perfume dwaters, known in their fullness only to a popular actress.

Miss Elliott entered her dressing-room, opened the door of her bathroom, and started in. She only started, for in a fraction of a second she backed away with a shriek. A vision surpassing fair, had met her gaze.

Lolling luxuriously back in the tub which was nearly filled, was the unadorned of—well call him Mike—one of the stage hands. His head was above the water, and from his lips protruded a dainty gold tipped cigarette, the curling smoke of which mingled with the delicious vapors of the bath.

Miss Elliott summoned her attaches of the house and a charge was made upon the bath room. Mike was found sitting up in the tub, rubbing a delicate cream into a beard of several days' growth while one table near by stood half a dozen bottles of fragrant waters, all of which had been sampled.

He laughed when they caught him. A few minutes later a husky but odorous person about three-quarters clad, might have been seen making towards Sixth avenue.

They were one stage hand shy at the Maxine Elliott theatre last night but Miss Elliott played with unusual fervor.

Hains' Trial Nearing End.

Flushing, N.Y., Jan. 11.—With the calling of one or two minor witnesses to-day the defence in the trial of Thornton J. Hains will sum up its case to the jury. Prosecutor Darrin promised Justice Crane Saturday afternoon that he would only take an hour more to get in all the evidence.

All of the session Saturday was given over to rebutting the evidence that James Tierney, the defence's eye-witness to the shooting of the publisher, was on the float when the tragedy occurred. Members of the Bayside Yacht Club swore that they did not see Tierney. These witnesses further declared that the actions and appearance of Capt. Peter C. Hains were those of a rational man.

Benefit Society Fight.

Hamilton, Jan. 11.—Chairs and knives, it is alleged, were used to canvass votes for the candidates for treasurer for a benefit society in connection with the employes of the steel plant at a meeting held Saturday evening in the Orange Hall. George Fox, Gibson avenue, was cut in the head and received a wound that required five stitches when he was carried across the street to Dr. Wardell's office. From what the police are able to learn about the affair, some Italians wanted to see the treasurer of the society elected, and in a row that started chairs were used and knives drawn.

Woman Slain In Feud.

Williamstown, Ky., Jan. 11.—Miss Ethel Ransom, aged 25 years, was killed, and five other persons injured, two probably fatally, as a result of a feud fight on the streets of Williamstown on Saturday, between the Lantern and Ransom families.

Miss Ransom's brother, Sidney, was probably fatally wounded, as was also Chas. Clark, Gov. Clark, Emmit Hoffman and Thos. Turner were wounded slightly.

Grover and Geo. Lantern, both of whom escaped serious injury, were arrested.

King Edward Not Sick.

London, Jan. 11.—King Edward's appearance at various shooting parties in the recent severe weather has quieted the ever-prevalent rumors concerning his enfeebled condition. He has several times remained out for some hours in thick snow and then ridden home in the cold air.

King to Visit Kaiser.

London, Jan. 11.—King Edward has relented, so it is said in court circles, and, after all, he and Queen Alexandra are going to Berlin to visit the Kaiser. In official quarters the general view is that the visit to Berlin had better be deferred.

Evil Days In Japan.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—According to Prof. W. D. McClintock of the University of Chicago there were more suicides in Japan last year than in any twelve months in the nation's history.

The professor attributes the increase in self-destruction among the Mikado's subjects to hard times, the pessimistic spirit of the people and the breaking down of the old religion among the upper and lower classes.

"The cost of living in Japan," said Prof. McClintock in a talk before the George Howland Club, "is very high and the people are complaining of the huge war debt. Japan, like many other countries, is face to face with the labor problem."

Attacked by Burglar.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 11.—At one o'clock yesterday morning Officer Farrell of the city police found the back door of A. E. Dell's grocery store, Niagara Falls south, open. Stepping inside he was immediately attacked by the burglar, but after a severe fight Farrell overpowered his assailant, who is a man named Hopkinson of this city. The burglar had secured entrance by breaking the back window and unfastening the catch. Evidently he had opened the back door to make a quick exit in case of discovery. The stock was not in disorder nor was the safe disturbed.

Charged With Forgery.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 11—Charged with forgery Alexander Anslow, an Englishman, aged 25, is under arrest here.

On Saturday morning Anslow went to the Imperial Bank and tried to borrow $50 on his own note. The bank told him he could have the money if he got two other signatures. Anslow went out returning in about 30 minutes later with the note signed by Robert Albertson, Grand Trunk ticket agent, and H. J. Jackson, agent for Michigan Central Railway at Niagara Falls Centre, and got the money.

The bank, on enquiry, found both signatures were forgeries, and Anslow was arrested by Chief Mains on Saturday afternoon.

Buoy May Lead to Pole.

Christiania, Jan. 11.—The Meteorological Institute has received a letter from Soeroe, Finmark, stating that a buoy which was driven ashore Nov. 3 last contained a notice to the effect that the buoy was set adrift on July 24, 1900, near Cape Bathurst and about 284 miles northeast of the Mackenzie River.

It is believed that the buoy was carried through the Polar Seas between Greenland and Spitzbergen. It would seem to support the conclusions on which Capt. Ronald Amundsen bases his expedition on the Fram, which will start from San Francisco early in 1910.

Door Open For England.

London, Jan. 11.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Ottawa despatches lead The Sunday Observer to declare that Canada is determined to keep the door open for the Mother Country.

"Ottawa will respond to any overture from Canada's great neighbor upon condition the imperial interests shall not be penalized. This is the strongest national statesmanship. The true destiny of Canada is to be the great link between the Empire and the United States and not to cause anther separation between America and the rest of the British race."

Water $1 Per Barrel.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 11.—Prince Rupert has been without water for a week on account of the freezing up of pipes in the cold snap, in which the mercury stands about zero. The only available water is from a small creek, which is peddled around town at a dollar per barrel. The freezing of the water mains has resulted in the suspension of railway construction within the town limits.

Taft Will Keep Secret.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 11.—President-elect Taft has determined that no new Cabinet appointment shall be known until March 4. He will deny all Cabinet rumors, predictions or announcements from any source or quarter whatsoever.

James Collins, of Montreal, was sentenced at London to two years at Kingston for robbery.

Forget For Senate?

Montreal, Jan. 11.—It is rumored here that Lieutenant-Governor Forget of Saskatchewan, whose term is drawing to a close, will be called to the Canadian Senate, replacing the late Senator Bernier, whose death was announced the other day from St. Boniface. As an official of the Department of the Interior at Regina, then lieutenant-governor of the Northwest Territories, and later on first governor of the new province of Saskatchewan, Hon. Mr. Forget has had excellent opportunities to study the Canadian west.

Not a Reformer.

New York, Jan. 11.—The nephew of the great Chinese reformer, Kang Yu Wei, Y. S. Wan, who is at present in this city, said in an interview with a representative of the Associated Press yesterday: "The American people have made a mistake in believing that Yuan Shi Kai, recently dismissed from his great offices in Pekin, was a reformer. Not only was he not a reformer, but a destroyer of reforms."

Two Brothers Disappeared.

Worcester, Mass., Jan. 11.—John Charbonneau disappeared from Brampton, Ont., Dec. 14, 1887. The same day, two years later, his brother disappeared. Neither has been heard from, and the court here on Saturday found that both left the same estate here to a penny.

Suing For Million.

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—Suit for nearly $1,000,000 was filed against local street car companies on behalf of the City of St. Louis Saturday.

The claim is based upon the nonpayment of a tax of one mill for every paid passenger since March 25, 1903.

Big Storm In West.

Salt Lake, Utah, Jan. 11.—The unprecedented storm of the last few days over the northwestern Pacific states gives no indications of abatement. The unusual cold continues and the snowfall is beginning to impede railway traffic.

The inquest on the skelton found on a farm near Churchville didn't reveal the man's identity, nor how he met death.

Petitcodiac Instructs Emmerson.

Petitcodiac, N.B., Jan. 9.—Much interest is manifested over the resolution adopted at the Emmerson banquet Thursday night. Practically the Liberals gave the ex-Minister a mandate to oppose the Government if it attempts to alienate the I.C.R.

Ottawa, July 9.—Alex. Johnstone, ex-M.P., who is urging the Government to transfer the I.C.R. to Mackenzie and Mann, called upon Hon. Mr. Graham yesterday afternoon, accompanied by D. D. Mann. It is understood that the Minister was noncommittal.

William Sloan For Senate?

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—It is asserted here that William Sloan, M.P. for Comox-Atlin, B.C., will be appointed to the Senate, and that Hon. Wm. Templeman, Minister of Inland Revenue, who was defeated in Victoria, will contest the constituency by a bye-election.

It is understood that the printing bureau has received a rush order to print the voters' list for the constituency.

Caught Under Tree; Loses Leg.

Tamworth, Ont., Jan. 9.—Fred Coughlin, a farmer near here, was caught underneath a tree he was felling and pinned down for some hours. He was found by a searching party. One leg has been amputated about four inches above the knee.

Envoy a Spendthrift.

Pekin, Jan. 9.—Tang Shao Yi, who is at present in Washington on a special diplomatic mission from the Chinese Government, has been recalled to Pekin.

His mission has been enormously expensive.

Ottawa Has Surplus.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—Ottawa's total revenue for 1908 was $490,693, and expenditure $489,214, leaving a balance of $1,479.

Magistrate Removed.

New York, Jan. 9.—City Magistrate Otto H. Droege yesterday was found guilty of the charge of unlawfully freeing women committed by him to the workhouse, and therefore was ordered moved from his position.

It was charged against Droege that he signed orders for the release of only such prisoners as had paid fees to two lawyers who formerly had been associated with him in the practice of law. In addition he was alleged to have offered to bribe reporters to suppress publication of the discovery of the practice.

Suicides After Prayer Meeting.

Woodstock, Jan. 9.—After attending a prayer meeting at the Methodist Church at Hickson Thursday evening, George Brickwood, the 19-year-old son of a railway section boss, swallowed a big dose of strychnine from a bottle that he had in his pocket, and died several hours after.

The young man recently underwent an operation for an abscess on the brain. At the prayer meeting he asked a number of questions. On his way home he took the poison. Then he went on home, and told what he had done.

Murdered by Boys.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 9.—Five boys, ranging in age from 8 to 13 years, were arrested in their class-rooms in the Shaw school yesterday, and charged with the murder of William Wachter, a peddler, who was found with his skull crushed on Thursday.

The boys told the police that they had stoned Wachter "just for fun."

Walks Half a Mile In Nightdress.

London, Jan. 9.—Mary Cuthbertson, an aged woman, escaped from the Victoria Hospital Thursday night during the absence of a nurse, and clothed only in her nightdress and a pair of open work stockings made her way to a friend's house, nearly a mile distant. The thermometer registered seven degrees above zero, and a bitterly cold wind was blowing, but despite this yesterday morning she appeared quite well. She had been wandering from place to place in Ontario for several weeks and had been placed in the hospital in the hope of curing nervous troubles.

Coasting Trade.

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—By an order-in-council the time has been extended during which vessels which are at present engaged in the coasting trade may continue to do so till July 1, 1909.

The Cobalt Range Railway Co. is applying for power to extend its line westerly from Haileybury to Gowganda Lake and northerly from Ville Marie via Opasitca Lake to a junction with the National Transcontinental Railway.

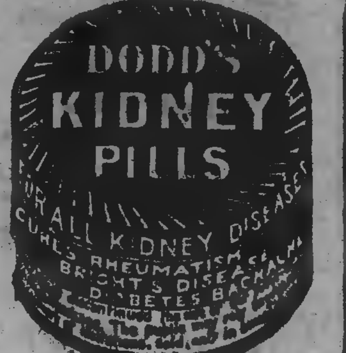
Additions to U. S. Navy.

Washington, Jan. 9.—About $75,000,000 will be required to carry out the program for increasing the navy, as outlined to the House committee on naval affairs yesterday by Secretary Newberry of the Navy Department.

Four battleships of 25,000 tons are asked for, in addition to four scout cruisers, four submarines, ten destroyers, three colliers, one repair ship and one ammunition ship.

Donald McElvridge rescued Irene Haffy from drowning in the Welland River.

Luke Buttrey's barn near Bowmanville, and the season's crop, fodder, live stock and poultry were destroyed by fire.



The Cabinet Council won't interfere in the case of George F. Johnson sentenced to be hanged at Kenora for murder.

PREPARING FOR POULTRY SHOW

Three Day Show to be Held at Lindsay at End of Month

Lindsay, Jan 9.—Determination to make the coming poultry show a success was the watchword at an enthusiastic meeting of the Lindsay Poultry Association held last evening, and the large attendance of members and the interest manifested in the proceedings augurs well for the success of the annual show on January 26th 27th and 28th.

PLACES HEARD FROM.

President B. L. McLean occupied the chair and from the communications read by the secretary Mr. J. P. Riley from poultry fanciers in different parts of the province, the show is destined to be a huge success. Among the places heard from are Toronto, Zephyr, Whitby, Ballantyne, St. Catharines, Penetanguishene, Orillia, New Hamburg, Napanee, Markham, Locust Hill, Guelph Collingwood, Woodville, Colborne, Cannington, Bowmanville, Peterborough, Bracebridge, Spenverville and Wicklow.

THIS EDITOR SHOWED FIGHT

Editor of Orangeville Sun Mixed it up With a Municipal Candidate

Orangeville, Ont Jan 9— Deputy-Reeve-elect Arnott called yesterday at the Sun office to pay for his election card, and incidentally to stop his subscription for the Sun paper. Mr. Arnott did not like the editor's criticism of his candidature in the recent municipal contest, and threatened the editor with corporal punishment.

Editor Foley told the irate gentleman he did not give a continental for him or his dollar. He was invited downstairs and promply accepted the invitation. A rapid mix-up on Broadway was followed. No decision was given as the police and a number of citizens jumped in and stopped what promised to be a good exhibition of boxing. No police court proceedings are likely to follow.

Attention is called to the Auction Sale of a very pretty and comfortable home, South of Aberdeen Avenue and East of Aylmer Street, at present occupied by Mr. R. F. Ivey. THE PETERBORO KENNEL CLUB HOLD SHOW HERE IN SPRING

The Peterborough Kennel Club, purposes holding a show here in the spring. The Review was given this information on good authority.

Since the Kennel Club has been organized, there seems no reason why a most successful show could not be held here.

"I think the show would be a financial success," said the gentleman, who gave the above information, "and it would be an easy matter to get the dog owners to exhibit here. There should not be any difficulty in the way of getting prizes. The show would be open to all classes and if it is held the time will probably be around Good Friday, and either immediately before or after the one in Toronto."

THE GOSPEL TEMPERANCE MEETING

Large Attendance at the "Crystal" Yesterday

The gospel temperance meeting held yesterday afternoon was a most encouraging success both as to numbers in attendance and the quality of the addresses given. Every seat at the "Crystal" was occupied and all the available standing space taken up, while numbers who sought entrance were unable to get in. The meeting was in the hands of the various Bible classes of the city and short addresse were made by representatives of these classes.

The first speaker was ex-Alderman Johnston, from the George street Methodist church. He spoke on the question of revenue, pointing out that the 19 bars and five wholesale liquor establishments in the city were greatly in excess of the needs, and expressing the opinion that if all the money that is worse than wasted in these places were directed into proper channels there would be little trouble about the revenue.

He was followed by Mr. Stabler of the Murray street church who discussed the question of influences dealing especially with the influence that can be legitimately exerted by a young man who is not a voter. He showed that education is a most important factor on this question, pointed out the advantage of pledge-taking, and urged young men everywhere to put themselves on record as against this evil.

The next speaker was Mr. George Hall, of Knox church, who spoke on the responsibility of a Christian in the matter of his example. Should he by his example encourage moderate drinking when he saw the effects that are being produced on home and social life by the liquor habit. He should by his example and influence do all he could, not only to put a stop to drinking, but to promote the passage of prohibitory legislation.

Mr. Downey, from Charlotte street church, said that the history of the world had consisted of three things—movement, achievement and improvement. Nations had moved in the direction of the abandonment of slavery, which had resulted in the achievement of freedom and the improvement of the condition of the race, so it must be with this question. More in the way of education and agitation, when the time comes, closing the bars by popular vote and so bring lasting benefit.

Mr. R. A. Jackson, of Park street church, drew a contrast between the effects of spending money for the products of agriculture and manufacture, and for liquor, showing how the one brought benefit and the other degradation and death.

Mr. R. Lees, in the absence of Mr. R. Patterson, spoke briefly on the evils of the treating habit, and Mr Hassard, of the Y.M.C.A., brought the meeting to a close with a pointed address, in which he stated the position of the institution he represented.

The orchestra of the George street church was present and took charge of the musical part of the programme, to the delight and satisfaction of all present. The chair was occupied by Dr. Middleton.

Next Sunday's meeting will be addressed by Rev. H. J. Keith of Knox church.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

The Woollen Question

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—The Examiner and its friends are by no means the only people who have read the unauthenticated statement going the rounds of the press that Mr. Costello has made public the result of his mission to Great Britain. Let me assure the Examiner that the woollen manufacturers have not lost an hour's sleep over this report. But with the Examiner "the wish is father to the thought," and so that paper hastens in its columns of Friday last to make comments and taking for granted that the report is bona fide, it seizes the opportunity of once again making capital against the woollen industry, hoping thereby to prejudice the local public against the Auburn Woollen Mills—its favorite target.

The Auburn Woollen Mills have been running under its present management over thirty years and have paid out in that time over two million dollars in wages; this money having been drawn from all parts of the Dominion into Peterborough and spent here. The general public is not perhaps aware that since the present Government came into power the duty on woollens has been reduced on two different occasions, thus singling the woollen industry out from others, which have been allowed to remain undisturbed.

The Examiner with its up-to-date knowledge of the woollen business—which its proprietor so extensively aired during his recent campaign, even down to the cost of every man's suit of clothes—now exclaims with triumph, "This is just what the woollen manufacturers have been told," and goes on to prove by the success of the Penman's Limited, the fact of the imperfect equipment of every other mill. Should Mr. Costello make in his report any statement reflecting on the equipment or methods of Canadian Woollen Mills as compared to those of Yorkshire the woollen manufacturers will see to it that such a statement will not go unchallenged. The Auburn Woollen Mills have an equipment equal to any mill in Yorkshire, and can produce textiles equal to any made there, its operatives are just as skilful as are the operatives of any English mill; the great advantage they have over us is that the English operative receives from 50 to 60 per cent. less wages than we pay in our mills. The Examiner points to Penman's Limited to prove the statements. Here again it shows its ignorance of the subject; as Penman's Limited have had several mills shut down or running short during the last six months. Then again their principal business hosiery and underwear, has no competition from Yorkshire, their rival is Germany, against which country there is a surtax of 1-3 more duty than on the cloth business. In conclusion I would just say to the Examiner that its little sermonette on modern equipment and methods may have its application nearer the Examiner Office than the Auburn Woollen Mills.

JAMES KENDREY.

BONSPIEL WILL OPEN

At Curling Rink To-morrow—Rinks From Many Towns Expected

The local curlers are anticipating with keen pleasure the opening of the big bonspeil at the curling rink to-morrow.

Rinks from Lindsay, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Beaverton, Keene, Lakefield, Napanee and Oshawa, are expected and the greatest annual event in connection with the curling club promises to be particularly successful this year. Five rinks are expected from Lindsay among them Flavelle's famous curlers. The bonspeil is likely to last till Thursday night.

MILLER IS MAKING GOOD

What Brantford Expositor Has to Say About Former Peterborough Player

Saturday's Brantford Expositor contains an interesting article on the professional hockey team of that city. It is illustrated with cuts of the players, one of whom is Walter Miller of Peterborough.

The following sketch of "Jiddy" also appears;

Walter Miller, who is now playing centre or rover looks to have struck his gait. He was secured from Peterborough last year, where he had but few opportunities in fast company. Roy Brown thought he looked good, although in need of development, Miller worked faithfully to make good, and may be he hasn't. Thursday night he was cheered to the echo for spectacular rushes. If Walter improves his checking a little he will be a star. He is at any rate a fixture on the team and is probably the youngest one of the bunch. He has the physique and style for a great future.

SHEPPARD-NEILL TROPHY GAMES

The Sheppard-Neill trophy will be played for by the rinks of Orillia and Peterborough chosen for that purpose this Monday evening at 9.30 o'clock. The recent welcome change in the weather has made it possible to accommodate the visitors without keeping them over to-morrow.

WILL BE DO-AS-YOU PLEASE MATCH

The Vancouver World says;

Fred O'Neil, the Detroit wrestler, has returned from Seattle and lost no time in announcing that he was ready to take up the challenge issued to him by M. Matsuda, the Japanese wrestler in The World a few days ago.

It will be remembered that Matsuda wanted to bet $100 that he could throw O'Neil three times in 30 minutes providing there were no holds barred, and strangle, hammerlock, double Nelson and the toe holds were all allowed.

So confident is O'Neil that Matsuda would find that too large a contract that the white boy wants to raise the bet to $300 instead of $100. O'Neil is quite willing that the bout be held under lumber camp rules and says that Matsuda can use his dreaded jiu-jitsu or any hold in any and every known style of wrestling. O'Neil even goes so far as to bet $300 that instead of Matsuda getting three falls in 30 minutes, he cannot do it in an hour of actual wrestling.

O'Neil stated his readiness to meet the Jap any time, any place that he could get a fair deal and with any referee Matsuda wishes to name, presiding. He is even willing to allow Matsuda to have a Japanese referee, as the Detroit lad with his superior weight and strength cannot see where Matsuda could get any advantage in a bout such as he proposes.

O'Neil suggests that Matsuda post his money at once with the sporting editor of the World, and then he will talk business with the Oriental.

SHRUBB KEEPING ABILITY DARK

The chief topic in Marathon running these days is the Shrubb-Longboat race in Madison Square Gardens, New York, on January 26th. The opinion is gaining ground that Shrubb doesn't want to let the people know just how fast he can do the 26 miles 385yards in and keep the betting public guessing as to his form at this distance.

Longboat has the largest number of supporters for this event, but it is probable that there will be no odds on the race and that the betting will be even, with lots of Longboat money in sight. Shrubb, however, has a good following, who are willing to back him [illegible]

AN ENGLISH OPINION OF THE INDIAN

W. W. Alexander, a noted English athletic writer, has the following to say of Longboat after his first victory over Dorando;—

Longboat's triumph over Dorando in the Marathon race in New York on Tuesday evening came as a great surprise. I have no wish to underrate the ability of Longboat and it may be I am one of those who fail to appreciate the full prowess of the Canadian champion; but from information I have received from time to time from clubmates who are settled in the Dominion, I am led to believe that we have in England to-day upwards of twenty runners who would beat the Indian for any distance from one mile up to twenty. I took particular stock of Longboat both before and during the Marathon at the Olympic contest in July last, and unless Longboat was running then much below his best form, I feel sure that I could name at least eight midlanders who would defeat him in a fast-run race.

In the race on Tuesday Dorando seems to have tried the cutting-down tactics which so successfully broke up the Canadian in the race from Windsor to the Stadium, and though the time for the first ten miles was not nearly fast as it was on that occasion, the pace must have been pretty warm in the early stages seeing that ten miles were covered in 58 minutes 57 1-5 seconds, or 1 minute 9 seconds faster than the time made by the Italian in his race with Hayes last month. This time, however, is 2 minutes 13 seconds slower than that which was registered when Price was leading at the end of the first ten miles in the Olympic Marathon. On that occasion the time was 56 minutes 4 seconds and it must be remembered that our runners were competing over dusty roads and were also greatly impeded by the traffic.

The pace set by Dorando may have caused his own downfall, and I should say that being unable to break up the Indian in the first fifteen miles he lost his head at the occasional sprints made by his opponent and was thus unable to bring to bear the cool judgment which is so necessary in a race of this character. A very large amount of money is said to have changed hands over the results and there is little doubt that the Canadian's supporters have landed a big stake.

The chances are that if Alexander had awaited the result of the second race and studied the time to 18 miles he would have changed his opinion.

HOCKEY

The following Strathconas are asked to be at the practice of the team tomorrow night between seven and eight o'clock: Wilson, Dobson, Roddy Dusty, Ray, Weatherstone, Long, McMillan, Seymour.

MR. BUCHANAN IS NOMINATED

To Contest Riding of Lethbridge for Legislature in Liberal Interests

Lethbridge, Alta., Jan. 7.—The Liberals of the electoral district of Lethbridge met in convention to-day, nominated W. A. Buchanan to contest the riding in the by-election for the Alberta legislature to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of W. C. Simmons who was the Liberal candidate against C. A. Magrath, M.P., for the federal house. A Labor candidate is in the field, and up to to-day it was understood the Liberals and Conservatives thought it was not worth a contest when a general election is understood to be but a few months away. However, W. C. Ives, barrister, has announced that he is a candidate, and if he runs there will be a three-cornered fight, as the Liberals, while willing to allow a labor man to have the seat by acclamation, are not willing to leave the fight to a Conservative and a labor man.

Mr. W. A. Buchanan is well known in Peterborough, being a former member of the Review staff.

ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL IS PRAISED BY THE INSPECTOR

New Addition Has Made a Great Improvement—Everything Found in Satisfactory Condition—The Question of Grants.

Below will be found some notes of the inspection of St Joseph's hospital which is under the management of the Sisters of St Joseph. The date of inspection was Dec 28, 1908.

Buildings—The building is brick, three storeys with basement, well constructed, the furnishings are excellent. Wards, beds, bedding and furnishings were all inspected and found neat, clean and in perfect order.

There is a splendid new operating room.

The heating, lighting, ventilation, water supply, and sewage disposal are all very satisfactory.

The new plumbing is a great improvement.

Fire protection—Six interior stairways; Three fire escapes; a stand pipe with hose in good condition attached thereto; night watch regularly employed; satisfactory protection of gas jets, lighting and heating fixtures.

Dietary—The dietary is suitable, properly prepared and nicely served. The records are neatly and correctly kept. A careful record of the disposition of all supplies is kept.

An inventory is kept of every article purchased and its use is carefully accounted for each month. This is very satisfactory.

Dietary features observed at the inspection—Special note must be made of the new addition completed during the year and which greatly improves the accommodation at this hospital. The work of construction has been well done. Other improvements, particularly the installation of new closets, baths add greatly to the comfort and sanitary equipment of the institution. The expenditures have evidently been well and wisely made and this hospital will now compare favorably with any in the province.

Needs and Recommendation for Improvement—Ninety-seven patients, averaging a stay of twenty-three days each in the hospital, were treated entirely free during the past year. The large majority of these patients were from the city of Peterborough and strange to say, the city council makes no grant to the hospital. Brockville council votes to the two hospitals there each year, $800.

Chatham votes to its hospital each year $4000; Guelph's municipal grant to its two hospitals annually amounts to $3000. Why does the city council of Peterborough become an exception to all other hospital centres in Ontario.

Signed—R W Bruce Smith,
Inspector.

GOING TO LONDON AND NEW YORK

Mr. W. J. Coleman Will be Temporarily on Staffs of Big Restaurants

Mr. W. J. Coleman, of Coleman Bros. George street, is leaving shortly on a visit to London and New York. In both the English and American metropolis he will have a month's experience in one of the leading catering houses of the city and when he returns will undoubtedly be thoroughly equipped to meet the demands in all departments of plain and fancy baking in the most approved cosmopolitan and satisfactory way.

A PRESENTATION OF MUCH MERIT

"San Toy" Was Excellently Sung by the Imperial Opera Company

Artistic interpretation and vocal expression of a much higher character than that usually displayed by a travelling comic opera organization, were two of the prominent features of the presentation of "San Toy" by the Imperial Opera Company at the Grand on Saturday. This clever and splendidly balanced company has just completed a most successful season of five months at the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, and has in its cast artists of recognized standing in its realm of light opera, who have played parts in some of the most important musical productions of the metropolis. The captivating work of the Imperials thoroughly delighted the matinee and night audiences. In spite of its wide success Sydney Jones' pretty Chinese opera was new to the great majority of the audience, as it had not been since in this city before, and was given a very appreciative reception. The story is one of interest, the lyrics are daintily written, and the music is of a clinging tunefulness which makes it long remembered. Miss Agnes Cain Brown essayed San Toy and possesses quite the best soprano voice of any comic opera star who has visited Peterborough. Her voice is beautifully sweet and clear and her different numbers were warmly encored. Besides being a vocalist of unusual culture, she has an attractive presence and is a gifted and appealing actress.

Mr. Sam Collins is the new comedian of the company and filled the principal comedy role of Li in a way that showed a splendid understanding of the possibilities of the part, and with an originality that had the audience in constant laughter. He was exceedingly funny at all times and produced great merriment in the employment of his gifts of droll imitation.

Other members of the cast who distinguished themselves by their splendid characterizations were Hallen Mostyn as Yen How, a mandarin; Harry Girard, as Captain Bobby, and Miss Violet Colby, as Dudley, Poppy's maid. The six little wives of the mandarin were cute and winning. Practically every song in the score is a gem of light melody, and all of the 25 musical numbers met with considerable favor. The stage pictures in their appropriate completeness corresponded to the generally excellent and satisfactory work of the company.

The Imperial Opera Company will probably appear here in "The Runaway Girl" in a return engagement in a short time.

The Thunder Bay Elevator Company is to have an immense terminal elevator at Port Arthur, to cost General

At Washington before the Ways and Means Committee of the 60th Congress of the United States, "Salada Tea was spoken of as the "King o Fleas."

IMPERIAL SCOTS CONCERT CO.

Will Give Programme at Conservatory Music Hall To-night

An unusual opportunity to hear their favorites of the concert stage will be given the lovers of Scotch music and entertainment when the celebrated Imperial Scots Concert Company will give its first concert in Peterborough at the Conservatory Music Hall to-night.

The company is headed by J. M. Hamilton, the "Caruso of Scottish song," and three talented artists, a humorist of the Harry Lauder type, a gifted soprano, and a veritable entertainer.

During the entire programme the delightful atmosphere of the heather will be in evidence.

COL. MAPP AT THE BARRACKS

Will Give Addresses There on Saturday and Sunday Next

Next Saturday evening and all day Sunday special meetings will be held at the Salvation Army barracks. Col. Mappat, of Toronto, will give addresses at each gathering. He is a very interesting and forcible speaker and no doubt large crowds will avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him.

OBITUARY

ROBINA McBURNEY.

The death occurred very suddenly in Toronto this morning of Robina McBurney, wife of Mr. H. G. Lockhart, of Fernie, B.C., and daughter of the late George McBurney, of this city. The deceased had only been visiting in Toronto and she was joined there at New Year's by her husband.

She was 27 years of age and was born here.

Three sisters are left to mourn her loss, Miss May McBurney, of this city; Gertrude, of Oakville, and Verna, of Toronto.

The funeral will take place here on Wednesday on the arrival of the C.P.R. train from Toronto and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment.

warded to the council, will be materially more than last year. This sum must be raised, and will increase the tax rate for that purpose, and that we may keep the total rate as low as possible consistent with proper service we will have to lay our plans for the year's work with utmost care. Careful estimates of cost of every projected work should be made before it is undertaken, and the expenditures guarded to produce the best results.

The question of increased sewer accommodation was taken up last year and will require to be dealt with this year, so that the congestion in the outlet will be relieved, either by the construction of a new outlet or by such other means as may be found expedient.

I am sure that we can look forward to a year of harmonious effort to advance the interests of the city.

THE ELECTIONS.

Ald. Morrow moved, seconded by Ald Bradburn, "That the Council proceed to the selection of chairman without nomination."

Ald. Morgan objected to this mode of proceedure. He wanted to have them elected openly. He was sure the latter method would be satisfactory to all.

Ald. Morrow's motion carried.

Ald. Hicks said that a compromise might be made by taking a ballot when there was a contest for a position. He moved, seconded by Ald. Morgan, that Ald. Phelan be elected chairman of the Board of Works. This was carried unanimously.

Ald. Phelan expressed his appreciation of the honor conferred on him.

Ald. Phelan and Bradburn moved that Ald. Morrow be chairman of the Finance Committee. The motion carried unanimously.

For the Chriman of the Property Committee, Ald. McIntyre was proposed by Ald. Morgan and Ald. Metheral and Ald. Bradburn by Ald. Morrow and Ald. Gillespie.

A vote was necessary and Ald. Bradburn was elected, the vote standing 6 to 5. Ald. Hicks did not vote.

On motion of Ald. Morgan, and Ald. Bradburn, Ald. Buller was elected chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, on motion of Ald. Morrow and Ald. Phelan.

The chairman of the Legal Committee went to Ald. Turner, on motion of Ald. Bradburn and Buller.

Ald. McIntyre was elected to the Chairman of the Special Power Committee, on motion of Ald. Gillespie and Bradburn.

The chairmen elect all made short speeches thanking fellow-chairmen for the honor done them.

Ald. Phelan moved, seconded by Ald. Morrow, "that the Committee of the Whole Council strike the standing committees."—Carried.

Ald. Turner said the chairman of the Board of Works should be provide with some accommodation for travelling about the city in looking after the work.

It was enough that he should give his time free let alone pay money out of his own pocket.

Ald. Hicks said something should be done along that line. There should be a certain amount of expense money for the chairman of all the committees.

The Mayor said the suggestion would be considered.

VERY LITTLE REVEALED IN SCRIPTURE AS TO WHERE THE SOUL GOES AFTER DEATH

First of a Series of Special Sermons on the "Last Things" Preached by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt at St. Luke's Church Last Night—Belief That Soul Passed Into Heaven at Moment of Death not in Keeping With Scriptural Teachings.

The first of a special series of sermons on "The Last Things" was preached by Rev. Dr Langfeldt at St. Luke's church last evening. The reverend gentleman in his interesting and instructive discourse pointed out that the belief which many Christian people held, that after death, their souls passed into Heaven, and that at the end of all things they were turned out of Heaven to go back to earth to be judged, was wrong and that it was without Scriptural guarantee.

Rev. Dr Langfeldt chose for his text the 19th verse of the 8th chapter of Romans. 'The earnest expectation of the creature waiteth for the manifestation of the Sons of God.' He began by stating that he supposed that there was no point in the Christian faith, about which, such vague, nebulous conceptions had been formed as about the hope that was set before them. And there were few things that were laid down more distinctly in both the Old and New Testaments than in what that hope should consist. Dr Langfeldt thought that the ordinary idea that people held as to what was in store for them was that after death their souls passed into Heaven and at the end of all things they were turned out of Heaven to go back to earth. Then they would stand up for judgment and hear their sentence. Whether on that occasion certain of these souls would learn with infinite surprise and dismay that during some thousands of thousands of years, they had been where they had no right to be, and had then to join the lost, the reverend speaker could not say, but he added that it was obvious that if their final lot was determined at the moment of death, a last judgment would be superfluous and then the good souls, united to the bodies would return to be forever in Heaven, where they were before.

But the speaker likened this scheme to a patchwork of incongruous notions and said that it was not in keeping with Scriptural teachings. In the Book of Revelations there were seven exhortations made by Christ to the seven churches that were in trouble in Asia and in not one of them was there a promise that they should go to Heaven, which to the modern mind was everything. They were assured that they would eat of the fruit of life in Paradise and would sit on His throne. On the Mount, Christ spoke the Beatitudes, but gave no word of promise that any of those he referred to would go to Heaven.

The words of the text taught that a cloud had crept between the light of God and His creation, that this blight would be taken off, imperfection removed and the shadow swept away, that there would be a re-creation and that in this new creation all once more would be very good. It also taught that the restoration depended on the restoration of man, the manifestation of the sons of God, and that would be in the future, and that the glorification of the Saints did not take place immediately after death, but in the future, at the redemption not of the soul, but of the body.

Looking at the condition of the world, Dr Langfeldt said that there was much happiness, but there was also much misery and always would be. There was a great deal of ignorance and wretchedness among men many children were badly brought up, being given no chance to develop their fine facilities Then in the Mohammedan world, woman had no future, and was but a slave of man. The earth itself was befouled by man and beast. But all creation had set before it the deliverance from the bondage of corruption and entry in the new heavens and new earth, into the glorious liberty enjoyed there by the children of God. Thus the whole teaching of St. Paul was inconsistent with the received notions of the bulk of Christians. In it the great hope set before the faithful was the restoration of all things when all that offends would be cast out of the earth and this earth would pass through the re-creating hands of God, to fit it to become the habitation of His Sons in their risen and glorified bodies.

The preacher went on to point out that in the Acts of the Apostles and throughout the epistles the hope set before men was not "going to Heaven" but "the Resurrection from the dead through Jesus Christ." Christ promised His people that they would be recompensed, not when they went to Heaven but at the Resurrection of the just. As to the intermediate stage between death and the Resurrection, very little was revealed. "It is only known," Dr Langfeldt said, "that the souls of the righteous are in God's hands."

In conclusion, the speaker remarked that if the hope that was set before men, be the Resurrection of the dead—which is the only hope, professed in the creeds—then the risen bodies would live on a risen, renovated earth, that earth being in Heaven, where God was, and Dr Langfeldt ventured to think that there was very ample testimony in Scripture that this risen and glorified creation would be the place of residence hereafter.

KNOCKED DOWN BY A CUTTER

Mrs. Hart, Bethune St. Sustained Painful Injuries Yesterday Morning

While on her way to church on Sunday morning, Mrs Hart, Bethune St, sustained painful injuries as a result of which she will be confined to her house for several days. As Mrs Hart was going across George street on London street, a horse and cutter swung around the corner, the cutter striking Mrs Hart, knocking her down. She was taken by some friends into Mr Richardson's home on London street and later on was driven home. Fortunately she was not seriously injured.

Going to Springville

A trip to Springville by the Young People's Society of Knox church is taking place to-night when the 'busses will leave at 6.30 p.m. from Knox church. The Young People of the Springville Presbyterian church are entertaining those from Peterborough. A good programme has been arranged. A fine time is expected by all.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS OF THE CHOSEN FRIENDS

The installation of officers of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends took place on Friday evening in the S.O.E. Hall. Grand Organizer W. F. Campbell of Hamilton, presided at the installation. The following officers were duly installed;—

Past Councillor—Dr. Marshall.
C.C.—W. Payton.
V.C.—V. Doxsee.
Recorder—Mrs. A. Gibbs.
Treasurer—Albert Hanna.
Prelate—Miss E. Marshall.
Marshall—J. W. Brownlee.
Warden—Miss H. Doughty.
Guard—A. Elliott.
Sentry—A. Ivory.
Representatives to the Grand Council—Dr. Marshall, A. McGill, Mrs. A. Gibbs.

After a number of new mebers had been received into the society, Grand Organizer Campbell spoke on the growth of the Order, which had been so great in the past few years that it had branches all over the Dominion.

CASE OF LOCAL INTEREST BEING TRIED AT OTTAWA

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—Among the cases coming up at the Assizes which open here to-day is the following one of interest at Peterborough;—

Koster Jarvas, a confectioner, of Peterborough, leased the store and dwelling, numbers 53 and 55 Rideau street, from George Tormey. He was to pay $1080 a year until February, 1907, after which he was to pay $1,900 a year and have the premises until February, 1910. In January, 1907, the building was partially destroyed by fire and the tenant moved out while repairs were going on and when he desired to return he was refused. He claims possession of the premises. The defendant Mr. Tormey, has a counter claim of $1,390 because he says during the fire Jarvas as tenant did not try to prevent the spread of the flames as the law requires a tenant to do and caused a loss of $1000 to the premises, which could have been avoided. He claims damages because he alleges Jarvas left the city for the purpose of avoiding creditors after the fire, and he had to seek other tenants. O'Connell & Gordon, of Peterborough, are acting for the plaintiff, and Latchford & Daly for the defendant.

Byron Burr and Roy Iler at Chatham were nearly asphyxiated by natural gas.

VOL. LVIII., No. 9. PETERBOROUGH, ONT., CANADA, TUESDAY, JANUARY 12, 1909 TEN CENTS PER WEEK

TREATY IS COMPLETED BETWEEN CANADA AND U.S.

Secretary Root and Ambassador Bryce Conclude International Difficulties Between Countries by Signing New Agreement.

Washington, Jan. 12.—After a long period of hard, patient work, some features of which ran into years, United States Secretary of State Root and Ambassador James Bryce of Great Britain last night signed a treaty for the settlement of international differences between Canada and the United States.

This is the agreement which has been popularly alluded to as the "waterways treaty," but its scope is broader than that designation implies, as it contemplates a disposition of everything in the nature of differences between the two countries, and machinery for questions that may arise along certain lines in the future.

Provision is made for a joint high commission to be made permanent in character.

The final draft and printing of the treaty was not finished until late yesterday, almost at the last moment, a whole page having to be reprinted because of a slight alteration in the text

Dependent upon the final ratification of the treaty rests the settlement of numerous complex questions connected with the water boundaries, which have been the source of more or less annoyance at different times.

Included in these are the regulations of the use of the waters of the Great Lakes, with the secondary, but none the less important question of the diversion of the waters of these boundaries, including Niagara Falls, which involve that of the amount of water to be taken out for power purposes, the navigation of the St. John river between Maine and New Brunswick, and the use of the Milk river in the northwest.

The work of the present commission will be continued by the organization until it is completed—its other work gradually being absorbed by the joint high commission to be appointed in accordance with the treaty signed last night.

Not Unsatisfactory.

London, Jan. 12.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The absolute agreement reached between Great Britain, the United States and Canada on the waterways question and the fisheries draft treaty are regarded by Great Britain as "not unsatisfactory." The matter now rests with Canada and Newfoundland.

CARMICHAEL FOUND LEFT CONFESSION

Cut His Own Throat--Slayer of Gideon Browning Says He Was Under Hypnotic Influence of Man He Slew.

Carthage, Ill., Jan. 12.—Rev. John Haviland Carmichael, the clergyman who is wanted for the murder of Gideon Browning at Rattle Run, Mich., is under arrest here. He was taken into custody early yesterday after an attempt to commit suicide by cutting his throat. Carmichael made two serious wounds in his neck, and it was at first believed by the physician in attendance that he would recover, but he died at noon.

A letter of ten pages was written by Carmichael before he attempted suicide, admitting his identity, and confessing that he killed Browning, cut up the body, and burned it in the church stove while under the hypnotic influence of Browning.

Carmichael had been staying here for the last two days at a private boarding-house.

His attempt at suicide was made while in an outhouse on the premises of the place at which he had secured a room.

He has a sister living here, a Mrs. Hughes, but he has not been with her to any extent.

The confession given out yesterday afternoon, follows:

Carthage, Ills., Jan. 9, 1909.
To Mr. Waggonsteil, Port Huron.

Honored Sir: I write this letter to explain some things in connection with Columbus church tragedy. I am guilty only because I am a coward. The man had such a hypnotic influence over me that I felt that something must be done. I felt greatly ashamed that a man said to be short-minded should be able to compel me to yield to his will, but I said nothing about it.

At first he said: "It's all right, elder, don't be afraid." Then he began to talk about how we two could get rich. Three times he came to the rear of my barn and talked to me through the manure hole, twice he was at the river when I went to water my stock, and each time I felt that he was doing something that he was proud of. Once when I was going out to Columbus he was on the pike near the pike schoolhouse. When I overtook him he asked me to ride. I could not refuse. He asked me if ever I had driven up the pike to Port Huron, and said: "Come, let's drive up"; I dissented, but he kept on until he persuaded me to go. He got out and stood at the corner while I went to the barn with the rig.

Then after we had been at the restaurant, for which he paid, also for the horse, he gave me half a dollar and he wanted me to go across there and buy a small hatchet for his boy to play with. I began to tell him to go and do his own buying when he set his eyes upon me in the queerest sort of a look, something like the look of a snake's eyes.

Then I felt his influence tightening his grip on my mind, so I went, intending to go into the store and out the back way to get the horse and rush off for home. When I turned to close the door he stood looking upon me through the window and I just thought of the hatchet and came out again, but by that time he had disappeared, so I went to the barn, got my rig and started for home. When I made the turn into Military street, he was at the corner to get in. He rode as far as South Park, where he got out to take the car. He took the hatchet with him and said nothing, nor did I think anything at the time about the change.

Once at the depot at Adair he came out of the house in his shirt sleeves and exercised me by compelling me to walk the rails. All the while I felt as small as a bantam chicken.

When he arranged with me about his wedding he said he would go to Port Huron and meet me on the road between that place and the church. I thought he fully meant to get married when he engaged my services, but when he said it was all right, the others would come in a carriage.

When we went into the church I wanted to light a lamp, to which he dissented, saying "No, Elder, no light unless they should come." Presently he said: "Maybe you'd better have a little fire." So I went and passed wood to him through the window. When I had put in what I thought would be enough he said: "Now, Elder, the moon is shining right on the front door and if you go around there to come in some one may see you. Just put up some wood here and come in at this window." I brought a few sticks and laid them across each other, from the top of which he helped me in the building. He let the window nearly down again and we kept looking out through the opening to see the others come down the state road. Presently he took a big hearty laugh and said: "There ain't no use looking for there ain't going to be no wedding."

RAILWAY COMMISSION JOLTS THE EXPRESS COMPANIES

Chief Commissioner Mabee Takes Swift Action in the Matter of the 1909 Schedule of Express Rates—New Tariff Issued Under Misconception.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—The Railway Commission took prompt and effective measures yesterday afternoon to protect the public against the increases in express rates all over Canada involved in the new classification, which went into effect on the first day of the year. Chief Commissioner Mabee, after hearing further evidence from the companies and from shippers, handed out a judgment summarily cancelling the new classification and restoring the old rate in force prior to January 1st. He explained that the board's order approving the new classification had been issued under a misconception as to the real effect of the changes applied for by the companies. It had been understood by the commissioners, he said, that the new classification would on the whole mean a slight reduction in rates to the general shipping public, and they had relied on the companies keeping the agreement entered into with the late chief commissioner, Judge Killam, that no radical changes would be made in the rates pending the result of the general inquiry into rates now proceeding, but now that it was made evident that the new classification involved serious changes and general increases, the board's plain duty was to recall the order of approval issued under a misconception. The companies are ordered to notify their agents at once to restore the old rates.

Notice of Appeal.

The question of claims for rebates on overcharges under the new rates from the first of the year until now will be settled according to individual cases. Counsel for the Canadian Northern Express Co. gave notice of appeal to the Governor-General in Council from the ruling of the board.

THE GIFT OF TONGUES

The following is from the "Literary Digest";

One member of the band who went forth into foreign lands equipped only with the "gift of tongues" has returned to admit the gift was not of God. A year or more ago the movement so named was rife in parts of this country and several accounts of "manifestations" were presented in this paper. Now The Evangelical Messenger, Cleveland, gives the story of Mabel Collins, "a pretty girl of 18 years,' 'who having succeeded in return home after wanderings in India and South America, "looks like a woman of fifty." The story in her own words is thus;

'We were driven out of New Yrok. We were members of the Holy Ghost sect and we had the gift of tongues and went out to teach the rest of the world the real Christ. We decided to sail to London. We escaped a great shipwreck, but they would not receive us there. Then six of us got the call to go to India. We went from London and reached Calcutta in July. Mr cMIlroy, who led us, thought we could do great things in India

"Besides me, there were three girls, from New York, and two from Philadelphia. We nearly starved in Calcutta and went to the north. We reached Benares a month later. There two of four girls disappeared. They were very pretty and there were some Indians we met who liked them very much. We were destitute, and the girls—well, they just vanished. We didn't complain to the authorities, because we knew pretty well where they had gone. They are now in harems and I can't blame them much. We did not have the real gift, and life was far more terrible than I can tell you.

"'Again we went north to Lucknow. Another girl, Mabel Charles, of New York, was taken from us one night after we had camped for the night. There were some wild hill men who rode down and stopped at our camp. Next morning all were gone. There were only three of us left. Mr McElroy and Lillie Thomas and I and we went back to Calcutta. From there we sailed to Buenos Aires to join the others. We had even harder times in Argentina than in India. Then my parents succeeded in getting me home. Our gift of tongues was not from God. It was from some devil."

IMPERIAL SCOTS CONCERT. AN ARTISTIC TRIUMPH

The Imperial Scots Concert Company were welcomed by a small audience at the Conservatory Music Hall last night but the genuine enjoyment from the artistic and thoroughly enjoyable programme given was quite disproportionate to the size of the attendance. The artists contributing to the programme gave a wealth of song and entertainment of the most finished character.

Mr. J. M. Hamilton the tenor, has a voice of great culture and sang with expression and warmth. His singing of the beautiful ballads of Scotland was appealing and fine. The rest of the company showed much talent and training, and the concert was one of the greatest artistic successes in local musical circles for some time.

The programme not including the numerous encores was:—

Soprano Solo The Auld Scotch Songs—Ruby Seath Grant.

Tenor Solo, Afton Water—J. M. Hamilton.

Comic Song, Oor Work Soiree—Fred Barclay.

Duet Hunting Tower—Miss Grant and Mr. Hamilton.

SLIGHT 'QUAKE AT VANCOUVER

Earth Trembles for Thirty Seconds—Coast Cities Shaken.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 12.—A slight earthquake was felt here yesterday afternoon, about 3.45 o'clock.

In Fairview, Grandview and other high altitudes around the city, people rushed from their houses into the streets.

Reports of a slight shock came from Seattle, Victoria, Sumas, Tacoma and Bellingham.

The shock lasted from 7 to 30 seconds, according to various reports from different parts of the city.

In Bellingham plaster was knocked off the walls of houses and electric chandeliers shaken to the floor.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Fire badly damaged the building and plant of The Kemptville Advance on Sunday.

"Teddy" Elliott of Wingham was struck with a hockey puck and is in a serious condition from hemorrhage of the lungs.

The Dominion Government has decided to improve the steamboat channel through the Thousand Islands to make an all-Canadian waterway.

The bureau of the inter-Parliamentary union is unable to accept the invitation to Quebec in 1910, but if the offer holds good it would accept in 1912.

ROUTINE BUSINESS BEFORE CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT

Many Communications Read and Referred to Committees—Reduction of Pool Licenses Opposed.

The city council for 1909 met in regular session last night and transacted considerable business. The following were present, Mayor Rush, Aldermen Hicks, Duffus, Duncan, Morgan, Buller, McIntyre, Turner, Gillespie, Metheral, Bradburn, Morrow and Phelan.

ACETYLENE EXPLODES

Gas Plant in Stratford Rink Blows up—Caretaker Burned.

Stratford, Jan. 12.—As the result of an explosion at the acetylene gas plant in the curling rink here at 6.15 last night, Anthony Morris, the caretaker, lies in the city hospital terribly burned about the face and hands, and the east end of the new rink is a total wreck.

The plant was located in an outbuilding adjoining the rink, and the force of the explosion shattered the whole front. The shock was followed by fire, which was speedily extinguished.

D. D. Hay, B. S. Frame and K. C. Turnbull, prominent manufacturers, were passing the rink shortly before the explosion. They detected the smell of escaping gas and entered the rink to warn the caretaker. Scarcely had they told him when the explosion occurred. All three escaped serious injury, however, Mr. Frame having the buttons blown off his coat.

The loss will be in the neighborhood of $500; partially covered by insurance.

DIED.

MENZIES—In Peterborough, at 228 Stewart street, John Menzies, eldest son of the late James Menzies, aged 68 years.

Funeral Wednesday morning January 13th, from the G.T.R. station, on arrival of train from Toronto, 11.40 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

LATEST CABLE AND TELEGRAPHIC NEWS

Tackled Two Burglars.

Kingston, Jan. 12.—Arthur Ellis, architect, caught two burglars in his house on Saturday night. He and his wife were out, and on their return heard persons upstairs. The electric lights were turned on, and the men sought refuge in the bathroom, where Ellis hung to the door knob until pulled into the room. He switched off the lights and found the men cowering and afraid. One disgorged all his thefts, money, trinkets, etc., and then, seizing a razor, flourished it and got away. Ellis held the other burglar, who cried and pleaded for mercy. Finally Ellis let him go.

Posed as Priest.

New York, Jan. 12.—When arraigned in court yesterday on a charge of abducting Juliette Testa, a Newark, N.J., girl of 15 years, Nicolas Siani declared in court that he was not ordained by the Roman Catholic Church as a priest, although he had posed for three years as such. Siani was curate of the Church of St. Rocco in Newark.

Siani was discharged by the court and he and Miss Testa were sent to the City Hall in the custody of a detective to secure a marriage license.

Blythe Committed.

East Toronto, Jan. 12.—Haggard and worn and apparently now fully realizing his awful position, Walter Blythe of Agincourt was yesterday morning brought before Police Magistrate Ellis, charged with the murder of his wife by beating her to death with a poker. The prisoner pleaded "not guilty." After hearing the evidence of the constable, Blythe was committed for trial at the spring Assizes.

Transfered to Toronto.

Brockville, Jan. 12.—Miss J. Gibson, for some years the matron of the Eastern Hospital for the Insane here, has been notified of her appointment to a similar position in the Toronto institution. She will be succeeded here by Miss Jones of London, Ont.

Kingston, Jan. 12.—John Cheevers, Gananoque, aged 60 years, was choked to death on beef which he was eating at dinner in his boarding-house.

Meets Long-Lost Daughter.

Hamilton, Jan. 12.—Many years ago George T. Comfield married here, but his wife left him and with their one-year-old daughter left for the States. Last week Comfield heard that one of the chorus girls of the "Gay Musician" Co. was visiting relatives of his wife. He called at her hotel, and the recognition of father and daughter was mutual.

Cattle Free From Disease.

Brantford, Jan. 12.—Dr. Wingate, veterinary inspector of the Department of Agriculture, who has been making a tour of Tuscorara Township in search of cases of foot and mouth disease among cattle, has been recalled. The Department will recall the inspectors, as Canadian cattle are considered free from disease.

Soldiers as Burglars.

New York, Jan. 12.—Tied to a chair, with his outcries stifled by a gag forced far back in his throat with the muzzle of a pistol, Harry Rawlinson, night watchman for a contracting company in its stables on West 15th street, was robbed by three soldiers from Fort Hancock early Sunday. Two of the soldiers were captured through information given by their comrades.

Oberne Stays In Toronto.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—D. McNicoll, general manager of the C.P.R., stated yesterday that there was no truth in the report emanating from Toronto to the effect that James Oberne and C. Murphy, superintendents respectively at Toronto and Montreal, are to be transferred to each other's posts.

Just One Hail For the Chief.

Washington, Jan. 12.—If President-elect Taft has a sensitive musical ear, it will not be jarred on inauguration day with a constant repetition of the tune, "Hail to the Chief."

Heretofore it has been the custom of every band, drum corps, and other musical aggregation taking part in the inaugural procession to strike up this time-honored air in passing the President's reviewing stand. At the forth-coming inauguration the musical salute will be played but once and then by the band first passing in front of the President.

Under Ruins, Alive 12 Days.

Messina, Jan. 12.—Sunday at noon a man named Bensaja, who had spent 14 days without food locked in the ruins of his home, was taken out unconscious and resuscitated. He had been caught in a kind of a straight jacket formed by the debris and unable to move, was compelled to watch the lingering death of his wife and four children.

A ROAST FOR ROOSEVELT

President Held up to the Scorn by Senator Tillman.

Washington, Jan. 12.—The galleries of the Senate were crowded yesterday when Senator Tillman rose to reply to President Roosevelt's strictures in respect to the Senator's connection with the Oregon timber land transactions. The President, Senator Tillman said, live in a house of which even the floor was glass. Later on in the session it was his intention to devote some time to bringing Theodore Roosevelt face to face with his true self, so as to let the people of the United States see what sort of man they had bowed down to. For the present he would content himself with applying to him this quotation from Spencer:

"He ranges throughout the whole world; neither is there any that can restrain him. Of late he has grown especially presumptuous and pestilent, barking and biting at all alike whether they be blameworthy or innocent. None are free from his attacks. He spares neither the learned wit nor the gentle poet, but rends and tears without regard of person, reason or time."

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, JAN. 12, 1909.

THE SICILIAN DISASTER

How very easily poor mortals are reduced to a condition of animalism. The lack of food after the earthquake in Sicily produced a state of frenzy that was almost ludicrous. Deeds of heroism of the first order, were performed in getting a crust of bread. Frightful encounters resulting in much loss of life ensued over a few bones or bits of garbage. Members of a family engaged in pistol duels for a handful of raisins. At a customhouse where were stored some varieties of food, a pitched battle took place. One man fell with his throat cut from ear to ear in defence of a few crackers. The ruin of the water pipes and water supply produced unspeakable misery. It is said that the Pope is greatly depressed and will be unable to go to the stricken districts.

THE RESURRECTION

Once again the resurrection of Jesus is attacked and denied. The centre from which these scientific or philosophic denials emanate is Germany. The latest Protestant defender of the biblical account takes what to us appears new ground. He first of all establishes the credibility of miracles. Once established it is established that miracles can and do occur. The miracle of the resurrection is made easy to understand and to credit. The former idea of seeking to establish the facts as related, and upon this to found a theory of miracle-working which would confirm the scriptural is regarded by many as arguing in a circle. The universal immanence of God combined with the possibility of Providential interference supplies all that is needed for a system of religion such as ours. The efficacy of prayer is ipso facto established. The power of working miracles or of securing them through prayer is a matter of immediate result. The allegation of Meyer that the women who sought the tomb were mistaken in its location is seeking to oppose the theory of the resurrection on wholly insufficient grounds. The re-appearance of Christ is just as miraculous as His disappearance. This must be denied also. If as maintained by the anti-miraclists a miracle is impossible, then the greater includes the less. But is not the fact with which we are most concerned the very demonstration of the miraculous itself? Why then write so many books on an instance which is so difficult of what is known as particular or detailed demonstration and yet with a foundation of miraculous power it would shift the burden of proof at once.

TAKE IT BACK

"A recent Ottawa despatch quoted Mr. T. Costello of the Customs Department, as declaring that the inability of Canadian woollen mills to compete with the English manufacturers was not due to an insufficiency of tariff protection, but rather to lack of equipment and antiquated methods of business on this side of the water. The dispatch represented Mr. Costello as having come to this conclusion after investigating a number of Yorkshire plants.

Mr. Costello now denies the story. A telegram received in the city says; "No ground for report. I have not expressed any opinion on this matter."—The News.

In order that the public may supply its own answer to the Examiner's attack on the woollen manufacturers of Canada, we publish that attack herewith;

"In a dispatch published in another column it is stated that the commission appointed by the Government to investigate the conditions connected with the British and Canadian woollen industries, has reported to the effect that the Canadina woollen industries do not require more protection, and that all that is needed to enable the Canadian woollen mills to hold their own in competition with those of Yorkshire, is modern equipment and improved methods. This is what the woollen manufacturers have been told, and we have examples of the correctness of the statement, Penman's, Limited, is one of these. By virtue of first class mechanical equipment and production of first-class goods, the company is able, under the present tariff, to compete with the world. It is in fact one of our most flourishing industries and the shares of the company are of the gilt-edge variety—much above par. No tariff, however high, can take the place of first class machinery and modern methods. As well might a newspaper publisher think of competing in the journalistic industry in these days, with an old hand press and a corresponding typographical and mechanical equipment."—The Examiner.

That our good Canadian institutions, the fruit of toil, the product of industry and the hope of our industrial future should be "knocked" as the Examiner has knocked them, is both unaccountable and unpatriotic. Why should that journal or any other of the minor Liberal organs seek to disparage men who have done so much to build up the Canada of to-day? It is pardonable to support a party and the policy of its leaders even as is the present case, although the facts may be dead against both, but to anticipate a report in all haste by giving the public to understand that what it says has already taken place is also to give the public to understand that the Examiner is not slow to take advantage of an opportunity which it should rather have shown a disposition to overlook. Politics may be a good thing, but political bias run mad is inexcusable.

The Examiner's conclusion respecting the Penmans' is also wholly unwarranted, as Mr. Kendrey, in his able letter to the Review has shown. Taken altogether we would ask our contemporary to be a little more alert to the state of Canadian industrial affairs and conditions as they really exist and not so slow to accord praise and assistance where both are justly and immediately due.

THE FRANCHISE

The other evening at the St. Peter's annual concert and lecture Mr. Bennett, a Scottish visitor, spoke on the good of temperance and also told a story. He said that when the Creator made the world He rested. Then He made man and rested. He made woman and neither God nor man had had a moment's rest since.

EDITORIAL NOTES

It is said that modern churches of an up-to-date character will have dining halls attached.

Madame Albani, the great Canadian cantatrice, having lost nearly all her money in bad speculations has come down to singing in London music halls.

There's quite a row going on about the proposed introduction of "u" into "honor." Surely there is no necessity for such a pother. In Canada the word is scarcely ever used and is rarely needed.

According to the official returns of the election of 1904 the Liberal majority was 52,853, or nearly three times the majority at the last election. The following are the changes in the majorities by provinces;

Provinces.	1904.	1908.
Ontario........	3,441 Con.	12,098 Con.
Quebec	36,250 Lib.	29,029 Lib.
Nova Scotia	8,575 Lib.	819 Lib.
New Brunswick	1,801 Lib.	5,771 Lib.
Prince Ed. Is.	545 Con.	216 Lib.
Manitoba.........	713 Lib.	6,849 Con.
British Col... ...	2,676 Lib.	4,000 Con.
Alberta and Saskatchewan ...	7,797 Lib.	say 6,613 Lib

The Government majority in 1908 in Alberta and Saskatchewan will be increased by returns not included in the clerk's report.

Conservatives had majorities in two provinces in 1904, while in 1908, they had majorities in three; and in proportion to the vote cast they made gains in every province except Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. A like change in the popular vote in the next election would give the Conservatives a majority of some 10,000.

C.P.R. Acquires Paper.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 12.—The transfer of The Tribune to the C.P.R. and other corporation interests is one of the topics of conversation on the streets this morning. The deal has either been closed or will be within the next few days.

According to a report the consideration is $47,000 for The Tribune plant. R. L. Richardson, owner and manager, will retain the building and editorship of The Weekly Tribune, while the new management will increase and improve the plant with the intention of bringing out a morning as well as an evening edition. It will be an Associated Press paper, of which organization the C.P.R. controls the Canadian franchises.

OF INTEREST

Mr. Carnegie has himself experienced the usefulness of a trained subordinate who ultimately becomes a partner in the business. To some extent he may be said to have made the men who helped him in the steel trade. They advanced under his eye and ultimately grew rich in his company. It is something of this kind which he has in his mind when he discusses the subject of making wage earners partners in the business.

No doubt Mr. Carnegie believes that he has found a remedy, and if all the wage earners were like his partners, and if his plan applied to all the wage earners, he would unquestionably have made a discovery of far reaching importance. It is difficult to see, however, where any new method is really propounded. The servants of an industrial corporation are always at liberty to buy its stock if they think it cheap, and of the industrial workers by far the larger number in this country, are employed not by private individuals, but by large corporations. But what else does Mr. Carnegie really propose? Certainly nothing which would enable a workman to be at once a partner and a member of his union.

The union is unalterably opposed to partnerships between employer and employed. It would not be to the interest of a partner in the business however humble, that he should go out on strike. It would be to his interest that he should pay only reasonable wages. The longer the hours worked the better his dividends would be. No wonder the executive officials of the labor union, whose very livelihood depends upon the independence of the men they govern, have always opposed anything approaching to co-operation or profit-sharing.

The workman's conception of his "partnership" rights, although erroneous, is one which his leaders have always encouraged. He believes that he should share the profits; but not the losses. He can see all manner of reasons for an advance in wages even where they have long ceased to be a true measure of the wealth he is creating, but he can see no reason for reducing wages when the price of commodities and the demand for them falls off. No profit-sharing business can be conducted upon any such lines as these, and with due respect to Mr. Carnegie, he is wasting his time in discussions which can only have an academic interest.

It is the tendency of trades unionism to establish a class and to keep the workingman for ever in that class. Any effort of his to differentiate himself from his fellows, to rise above them, to endeavor to reach a position of independence through his extra ability and toil is sternly discouraged. It was the journeyman of the old days who ultimately became the master. It is this workman Mr. Carnegie has in mind and thanks to the workman's own shortsightedness the type seems to be rapidly disappearing.—The Trade Review.

In the course of two articles by John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie on entirely different subjects, in the December World's Work, each gives us an illuminating justification of his right to his great riches. Mr. Rockefeller's article is mainly devoted to elucidating "the difficult are of giving," and should prove helpful to any who experience difficulty along this line, while Mr. Carnegie's article is in the main an argument for taxing great fortunes heavily by death-duties. It will be seen that each of these topics naturally prompts the reader to ask what right the multimillionaire has to his hundreds of millions in the first place, and neither one of these writers flinches from the question. Mr. Rockefeller says;

"Investigation will show that the great fortunes which have been made in this country, and the same is probably true of other lands, have come to men who have performed great and far-reaching economic services — men who, with great faith in the future of their country, have done most for the development of its resources. The man will be most successful who confers the greatest service on the world. Commercial enterprises that are needed by the public will pay. Commercial enterprises that are not needed fail, ought to fail."

Mr. Rockefeller then goes on to outline at considerable length his philosophy of giving, but again returns to the defense of wealth. He writes;

"It may be asked, How is it consistent with the universal diffusion of these blessings that vast sums of money should be in single hands? The reply is, as I see it, that, while men of wealth control great sums of money they do not and cannot use them for themselves. They have, indeed, the legal title to large properties, and they do control the investment of them, but that is as far as their own relation to them extend or can extend. The money is universally diffused, in the sense that it is kept invested and it passes into the pay envelop week by week.

"Up to the present time no scheme has yet presented itself which seems to afford a better method of handling capital than that of individual ownership. We might put our money into the treasury of the nation and of the various states, but we do not find any promise in the national or state legislatures, viewed from the experiences of the past, that the funds would be expended for the general weal more effectively than under the present methods nor do we find in any of the schemes of Socialism a promise that wealth would be more wisely administered for the general good. It is the duty of men of means to maintain the title to their property and to administer their funds until some man, or body of men, shall rise up capable of administering for the general good the capital of the country better than they can."

Mr. Carnegie's argument for the multimillionaire runs along much the same line. Evidently these two writers, reasoning independently, have reached identical conclusions. Mr. Carnegie says that "practically every thousand" of the wealth of the great financier is at work for the development of the country, and earning interest, much of it paying labor, while "the money-making man, in contrast to his heirs, who generally become members of the smart or fast set, is abstemious, retiring, and little of a spendthrift." He goes on to correct a popular impression thus;

"Those who have not had opportunity to study the operation of wealth in the world are naturally led astray. They see its possessors in their palaces surrounded with every luxury, their gorgeous carriages in the park; they read of their extravagant balls, of riotous living, and inordinate expenditure, and, worse than this, of gambling at cards, and upon horses—horse-racing in Britain is still unfortunately under the highest patronage—sights naturally hard to bear by those suffering for the necessaries of life.

"The writer has no desire to minimize this sad contrast, nor to say one word in its defence. It is one of the saddest and most indefensible of all contrasts presented in life; but when we proceed to trace the work of wealth as a whole, it is soon found that even these extravagances absorb but a small fraction of it. The millionaire's funds are all at work; only a small sum lies in bank subjects to cheque. Our railways and steamships, mills and furnaces, industrial structures, and much of the needed working capital to keep these in operation, are the result of invested wealth. The millionaire with two, and the new multimillionaire with twenty millions sterling, keep only trifling sums lying idle. All else they put to work, much of it employing labor. They can not escape this unless they turn misers and keep the gold to gloat over, which no rich man does whom the writer knows or has heard of. On the contrary, the millionaire as a rule is both mindful and shrewd, more apt than those of smaller fortune to invest his capital carefully. Besides, he is usually a man of simple tastes and averse to display.

"Whatever impressions the workers may receive of the wealthier classes, the fact is indisputable that their surplus money, minus a small fraction, must augment the wage fund, and in some line or other benefit those who labor. Even their extravagance must in their course contribute to the business of many people struggling to obtain a competence, and hence to the employment of labor. Little can be spent by the rich without drawing upon the labor of others, which must be paid for. All that the millionaire can get out of life is superior food, raiment, and shelter. Only a small, a very small percentage of all his millions can be absolutely wasted.

"When the Socialist, therefore, speaks of all wealth going back to the State, he proclaims no great change in his mission. The State, sole owner, would use it just as the owners now use all but a fraction of it; that is, invest it in some of the multiform ways leading to the reward of labor. It is simply a question whether State as against individual control of wealth would prove more productive, which, judging from experience, may gravely be doubted.

It could not make much difference to the workers whether the title to the wealth rested in the State or in individuals now do, to recompense labor, according to value as determined by demand—the fairest standard. All would remain very much as now; one would still get five talents, one ten, and a few would get very many talents and individualism would reign."

GIVE THE CHILDREN PLENTY OF FRUIT

It Helps to Keep Them Well.

In a growing, active child the cells of which the body is composed are being worn out—and replaced — very rapidly. This dead tissue must be gotten rid of somehow, and the danger is that the eliminating organs—the Bowels, Kidneys and Skin—may not do their work well enough. Then the blood becomes poisoned and the child does not thrive.

Nothing has such an invigorating effect on these organs as ripe fruit juices. Apple juice increases the action of the kidneys; other fruit juices stimulate the liver to secrete more bile, and bile produces easy and regular movements of the bowels; others stir up the glands of the skin to throw off more waste matter.

The difficulty is that to get these effects a great deal of fruit must be eaten, and the excess of pulp and woody matter may upset the digestion. The better way is to give the children "Fruit-a-tives", which are tablets made of concentrated fruit juices with valuable tonics added.

"Fruit-a-tives" have the combined effect of the different fruit juices, helping all the eliminating organs to work properly, curing Constipation, toning up the system, and keeping the children plump and rosy. 25c. for a trial box. 50c. for regular size—6 boxes for $2.50. A Tariff Reform Move?

London, Jan. 12.—The London correspondent of The Lancashire Post says in connection with the Imperial Press Congress an interesting point has arisen in regard to those back of it in London, and in response to a request from an Ottawa resident a Canadian journalist in London is anxious to ascertain if it is all a manoeuvre on the part of the English tariff reformers. The correspondent adds, if so, any British tariff plan for "hobbling" the Dominion press will be hopelessly ineffective in view of the movement in the United States to secure reciprocity with Canada.

Woman Frozen to Death.

Winnipeg, Jan. 12.—A despatch was received from Creelman yesterday giving meagre details of a brutal crime following a domestic quarrel. A man, whose name is unknown, drove his wife out in the bitter cold, with the thermometer standing at 50 below zero. The unfortunate woman was frozen to death beside the woodpile, where she had sought shelter from the wind.

The Mounted Police are investigating the sensational story.

Ask $90,000 Increase.

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—In his inaugural address before the new City Council yesterday morning, Mayor Hopewell urged the abolition of all civic committees, in view of the success of the board of control, and advised a new agreement with the Dominion Government, by which the city shall secure an increase of from $60,000 to $150,000 in the grant for fire protection and water service given to the Government.

Blinded by Excitement.

Chatham, Jan. 12.—While Mrs. Jas. Wardell was preparing to go to Hamilton to attend the wedding of her son, she fell on her porch and broke her wrist. She was lying on the ground when her husband found her. He became so excited that he was stricken stone blind and remained in that state for several hours.

Additions For U. S. Navy.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 12.—The increase of the U. S. navy to the extent of $20,000,000 was agreed upon yesterday by the House committee on naval affairs.

The following naval program for appropriations at this session adopted by the committee: Two battleships of 26,000 tons displacement, $19,000,000; five torpedo boat destroyers, $4,000,000; three colliers, $3,600,000; four submarines, $2,000,000; one sub-surface boat, $400,000.

Two battleships are recommended by the committee instead of four, as estimated for by the Navy Department.

Says He Didn't Say It.

Montreal, Jan. 12.—J. W. Levesque, M.P.P. for Laval, who is one of the numerous defendants in libel actions instituted by Hon. Geo. E. Foster, M.P., arising out of speeches made during the Federal election campaign of last fall, in which Mr. Foster's relations with the Union Trust and Foresters' affairs were criticized, has filed his plea in court here.

He denies the statements attributed to him and claims that what he did say was justified by the facts and in the public interest.

Waited at Church.

Cornwall, Jan. 12.—A young man named Lanthier, who originally hailed from Montreal, was to have been married at St. Columban's Church yesterday moring to a Miss Walsh, with whom he had been keeping companw for several months. The bride and her relatives were in the church on time and the priest was waiting, but Lanthier came not. Finally a message was sent that Mr. Lanthier had left town suddenly the night before, for parts unknown.

Prayer For Pentecost.

New York, Jan. 9.—William Hall, president of the evangelical commission of the New York East Conference, left for Toronto yesterday.

While in Toronto Rev. Mr. Hall will deliver his appeal verbally, calling for a world-wide prayer for a present-day Pentecost. This appeal has already been sent broadcast and is meeting with universal approval by the clergy throughout the country. Such men as Bishop Jos. F. Berry of Indianapolis, W. T. Mallalieu of Boston and Rev. Dr. G. Edward Reed, president of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pa., have written their endorsement of the plan and believe it will result in much good.

Elgin Man Killed.

St. Thomas, Jan. 11.—Malcolm C. Leitch of Dutton, and one of the best known men in Elgin County, was instantly killed at West Lorne on Saturday evening, being struck by a fast Michigan Central eastbound train from Wolverine. Mr. Leitch has been bailiff for more than ten years, was in West Lorne serving papers and walking along the road in the village at 7 o'clock. The flyer was late and he did not see it. He was thrown eighty feet and decapitated.

Confesses to Murder.

Syracuse, N.Y., Jan. 11.—A despatch to The Herald from Oneida, N. Y., says:

George Burlingame, charged with the murder of Elbert W. Baldwin, whose body was found in the canal in Oneida a month ago, has confessed that he stabbed Baldwin in a quarrel over a woman, then struck him over the head with a heavy stone and threw the body into the canal.

Luke Buttrey's barn, near Bowmanville, and the season's crop, fodder, live stock and poultry were destroyed by fire.

Thrilled.

He was sitting where the gleams of light shone on his face and his eyes were so brilliant that I was thrilled through and through with the queerest sort of feeling. I asked why then he had made the present arrangements, when he said, "Well, Elder, I just wanted to have a little fun. You consider yourself an educated man, and look down on a poor ignorant fellow like me. And I just thought I would show you what I could do. I knowed if I could handle you I could handle other men, too, and make a big thing out of it."

Then he said, "Now, if I say raise your hand, up she goes, see that's no dream." I felt my hand raise without no effort whatever on my part.

Then he said, "If I say let down your hand, down it goes," and I felt it going down in a singular manner.

The Combat.

By this time I was so alarmed I was in a cold sweat. I leaned over to see if anyone might be on the road when he began to laugh again and I saw that he was holding a weapon of some sort up his sleeve. Instantly I made a grab for it and got the hatchet from him and asked what he meant to do with that.

He said, "I'll show you," and from his overcoat pocket, drew out a knife in each hand. He came at me, striking with both hands, while I backed across the church, down the side aisle and across the front, but I did not dare to turn about to open the front door. Then I threw the hatchet and struck him and he fell. I then turned to open the door when he grabbed my leg and threw me down where my hands came upon the hatchet. There was a desperate struggle, in which I used the hatchet until he laid quiet and still.

I cannot tell all that happened after that. I was wild to dispose of the body. I was in a horrible terror, so I began pulling off his garments that I might drag the body somewhere and hide it. Then when my eyes fell upon one of those knives I flew into a rage and began to cut it when he woke up and grabbed me again.

Cremated the Body.

Then for a while I used that hatchet until I was sure he was dead. Then I saw the fire was hot enough to make the stove pipe red nearly to the elbow, so I grabbed him by the feet and dragged him down there and cut him to pieces, putting in each part as it was dismembered. Then I began to put the garments into the front stove when I remembered that it had a poor draft and the things might not burn. Then I saw that my clothing was torn and bloody, while some of his were yet whole and I changed and then took all but a few of mine and piled them in along with the body. I then went up nearly to tunnel station, where I turned my rig about and started it on the back track. My big coat hid my torn and bloody garments until I got to Chicago, where I purchased others. I am tired of trying to hide, though I have succeeded in eluding the detectives so far. If you get this while I am yet alive, come and get me, I shall not be far from Carthage, Illinois.

(Signed) J. M. Carmichael.

LETTER FROM A FORTY-NINER

Here is a simple, interesting and sincere letter from a rugged pioneer of '49, who braved the dangers and hardships of the overland trail to California. It should appeal to all catarrh victims.

Santa Rosa, Cal., May 5, 1908.

Booth's Hyomei Co., Buffalo, N.Y.

Dear Sirs;—I was afflicted with catarrh and tried a number of remedies, but received no relief. I purchased an outfit of Hyomei, and before I had used the bottle I noted a marked relief. I used it for a month or so, and thought I was cured, and stopped using it for a year or so. Thought I was getting catarrh again, and started using it again. I used it every morning, and keep myself clear of catarrh. I consider it the best catarrh medicine that is used. I have often recommended it to my friends. I am 81 years old. I came to California in 1849, and of course am not as vigorous as I was 58 years ago. My address is 841 4th street. Yours truly, W. Mock.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is guaranteed by Wm. Madill, druggist, Hunter-st., Peterborough, not only for catarrh, but for grip, coughs, colds, bronchitis and croup. A complete outfit, including inhaler, costs only $1.00; extra bottles of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, cost but 50 cents.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Cattle and Hogs 25c Lower In States.

LONDON, Jan. 11.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 13c to 14½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¼c to 9½c per lb.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Jan. 11.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 48 carloads, consisting of 936 cattle, 5 hogs, 253 sheep and lambs, with 6 calves.

Exporters.

The export trade was active and more would have sold readily had space on the boats been available. Straight loads of steers sold at $5 to $5.50, the latter price being obtained by Dunn & Levack for one load of the best cattle; export bulls sold at $3.75 to $4.25; with an extra quality one or two, at $4.50 per cwt.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers' cattle, butchers' weights, sold at $4.80 to $5.10; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.75; medium, $4 to $4.30; common, $3.50 to $3.90; canners, $1.50 to $2.50.

Milkers and Springers.

A limited number of milkers and springers were quoted at $30 to $50 each, the quality not being very good.

Veal Calves.

A few veal calves sold at $3 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts of sheep and lambs were moderate, with prices firmer. Sheep, ewes, sold at $3.50 to $4.15; lambs, $5.50 to $6.35 per cwt.

Hogs.

Gunns, Limited, report prices firmer at $6.40 for selects, fed at market, and $6.15 to drovers at country points, f.o.b., cars.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 11.—At the Montreal Stock Yards' West End Market the receipts of live stock for the week ending Jan. 9 were 2365 cattle, 1114 sheep and lambs, 2689 hogs and 135 calves. The offerings for local consumption to-day were 1100 cattle, 550 sheep and lambs, 1500 hogs and 50 calves. There was no important change in the condition of the market for cattle, as compared with a week ago, except that feeling was former, owing to smaller supplies, but prices are unchanged. The attendance of buyers was large, and as the weather was more favorable than last week for keeping stock and prospects of a colder wave coming they showed a disposition to operate more freely and in consequence a fairly active trade was done. Cables from Liverpool on Saturday reported the market for cattle and noted no change in prices, but this fact was no inducement to exporters here, and trade in this respect was slow. A few extra choice stall-fed Ontario cattle were sold as high as $5.15 per cwt., while choice brought 5c; choice northwest ranchers, 4¾c; good beeves, 4¼c to 4½c; fair, 3¾c to 4c; common, 3¼c to 3½c, and inferior, 1½c to 2¾c per lb. A weaker feeling has developed in the market for sheep since this day week, and prices have declined ¼c to ½c per pound, notwithstanding the small supply coming forward. The demand is only fair and sales of choice lots were made at 3¾c to 4c, and culls, at 3¼c to 3½c per pound. In lambs, the feeling remains firm under a good demand and all the offerings met with a ready sale, 5¾c to 6c for choice lots, and at 5¼c to 5½c for good per pound. Calves were scarce, for which there was a fairly good enquiry, at prices ranging from $2 to $8 each, as to size and quality.

An easier feeling has prevailed in the live hog situation since last Wednesday, and prices this morning were 10c to 15c per cwt. lower, in spite of the continued small supplies coming forward, and the fact that the prospects are they will become still scarcer in the near future, as packers in some cases state that they are not in the country to come out, consequently they expect values to react again soon. The demand this morning was good and sales of selected lots were made at $6.90 to $7.10 per cwt., weighed off cars.

SPEECHES BY SCHOOL PUPILS

At the Regular Meeting of the Philomathean Society Yesterday Afternoon

The regular meeting of the Philomathean Society was held on January 11th, in the assembly hall of the Collegiate. As usual, a fine programme was presented.

The first item was a speech on the life of Hannibal, by Mr. C. Moore. The way in which he dealt with it showed that he knew his subject.

A piano solo was then rendered by Miss U. Hill in a very creditable manner.

Then followed a speech on "The Early History of Peterborough County," by Miss G. Yenney. It proved instructive as well as interesting.

Miss Carrol Johnson next gave a humorous reading, followed by another speech by Mr. G. Mowat, on "Searches for the North Pole."

Messrs. Murray and Douglas Carlisle gave a vocal duet. This was especially enjoyed as formerly the boys have not taken part in the programme.

Miss Stinson then made a speech on "The Awakening of China." It was decidedly the best feature of the evening.

Mr. Stubbs criticized the meeting. The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem.

Walter Fanning of Dartford is in jail at Cobourg charged with stealing a horse from Wm Hooper, of Percy township.

THE NEW ARMOURY

The Formal Opening Will Take Place Early in the Summer.

At the rate of progress that is now being made the new armoury will be ready for occupation in April. A staff of men is at work on the interior and the work is going ahead very satisfactorily.

Officers of the local regiment are already discussing plans for the opening of the armoury which will likely take place early in the summer.

There will be a formal opening ceremony at which the Minister of Militia will in all probability be present at One or two outside regiments will also visit the city on the occasion of the opening and it will be a red-letter day in the military history of Peterborough. If it is decided to have the ceremony on an elaborate scale, the celebration will likely cover two days.

There are three regiments that will visit Peterborough in the near future and one or two of them will likely be here for the opening of the new drill hall.

ANNUAL MEETING OF EXHIBITION

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be held on Friday afternoon, January 22, in the City Council Chamber. The meeting is called for two o'clock and a large attendance is requested.

FUNERAL OF LATE REV. D. O. CROSSLEY

The funeral services of the late D O Crossley took place on Sunday morning at 10.30, and were attended by a large concourse of sorrowing people, including many members of the Methodist clergy.

Rev Robt. McCulloch, of Omemee, president of the Bay of Quinte Conference conducted the service and led in the opening exercises. The addresses were delivered by the Rev J B Wilson of Lindsay, Rev H M Manning of Peterborough, Rev F E Howard, of Manilla, Rev Dr Hare, principal of the Ladies' College and the local clergy.

Interment took place at King today.

OBITUARY

MR. JOHN MENZIES

An old and well respected citizen passed away yesterday in the person of Mr. John Menzies, oldest son of the late James Menzies, in the 69th year of his age. Death came peacefully at the family residence, 228 Stewart street, while surrounded by his faithful wife and a number of relatives and friends. The illness was of short duration the deceased having been stricken down by the rupture of a blood vessel which rendered him unconscious and closed his earthly life at noon yesterday. The late Mr Menzies was born in Perthshire, Scotland, November 1840, and came to Quebec with his parents in 1851, afterwards removing to Peterborough in 1853, where he has resided ever since. He was married to Sarah Bradfield, daughter of the late William Bradfield of Douro in 1875. One child was born to this issue, which died in infancy. Deceased was of a quiet, genial nature, an affectionate husband, and an exemplary member of St John's church. Sincere sympathy will go out to his sorrowing wife, who has been so suddenly bereft of her faithful companion in life, and to his four brothers and three sisters, William, Donald Jennie and Kate, of this city; Robert J, of Lindsay; James of Montreal and Mrs Walter Paterson of Milwaukee.

Funeral will take place from the family residence, 228 Stewart street, on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock.

WAS NINTY-ONE YEARS OF AGE

Death of Inmate of the Protestant Home This Morning

The death occurred at the Protestant Home this morning of one of the inmates in the person of Wm. Badge. He was a very old man, having reached the age of ninety-one years. He had been an inmate of the Home for the past six years. He had no friends here, having come to Peterborough from England.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral.

YOUNG PEOPLE AT SPRINGVILLE

Six Sleigh Loads Went Out From Knox Church Last Night---An Excellent Programme

Six sleigh loads of young people to the number of eighty drove to Springville last evening where they were pleasantly entertained by the young people of the Presbyterian church of that place. They left here about half past six and arrived at their destination shortly after eight o'clock.

An excellent programme was given, Rev. Mr Thompson of Millbrook acting as chairman in the absence of Rev. Dr Marsh, who is ill. After an opening prayer, the following was the programme rendered:

Vocal solo—Rev H J Keith.
Recitation—Miss Barr.
Reading—Mr Parker.
Vocal solo—Miss Ethel Hunter.
Vocal trio — Misses Thompson, Buchanan and Davenport,
Vocal solo—Miss Jessie Miller
Dialogue—By the Misses Bartley, and J Miller, and Messrs C Stewart, and W F Cartner.
Vocal solo—Mr Harry Common.
Recitation—Mr Jackson;.
Vocal duet—Mrs Parker and Mr. B Buchanan.
Vocal solo—Miss A Carr.
Vocal duet— Messrs Thompson and Common.
Vocal solo—Miss J Miller.
Vocal solo—Miss Eva Bartley.

At the close of the programme refreshments were served and a social time was spent.

An invitation was extended to the young people of Springville to a return visit on February 15th which was accepted.

The party returned home in the early hours of the morning.

THE FRANCHISE IS EXTENDED THREE MONTHS

Natural Gas Company are Unable to Secure Leases on Entire Block of Property

At the meeting of the City Council last night Mr. R. H. Leary stated that he was in receipt of a letter from Mr Chas. E. Dettman, of Pennsylvania, asking that his franchise to test this neighborhood for natural gas be extended. It had been difficult to close up the block of land as there were four families who held out and refused to rent or do anything with their property. They would like to have the franchise extended for six months. Mr. Dettman and his associates are confident that they will find both gas and oil there.

It was moved by Ald. McIntyre and Ald. Metheral, that the franchise be extended for six months.

Moved in amendment by Ald. Bradburn, and Buller that the time be only three months.

The amendment was carried.

REHEARSAL OF THE SECRETARY

A rehearsal of "The Private Secretary will be held tomorrow night in the Knights of Pythias hall, Simcoe street. All the parts in the play have been given out and the members of the cast are asked to be in attendance as the rehearsal will b ea most important one.

"The Private Secretary" will be produced at an early date and judging from the rehearsals already held, will be given a very able presentation.

A naval seaman has once every day to salute the quarter-deck of his ship, even if no officer is upon it. "Salada" Tea is in such popular favor that many people feel like saluting a packet wherever seen.

PRICE OF LEMONS IS BEING RAISED

Dollar a Box in New York Already ---An Advance at Toronto

The price of lemons on the New York fruit exchange has already gone up one dollar per box. At Toronto the brokers have raised the price $1.50 to the wholesalers, so that by the time the fruit passes through the hands of the retailer and wholesaler its selling price has advanced about five cents per dozen all as a direct result of the Messina disaster.

THE SILVER NORTH

Cobalt, Lorraine, Larder Lake and Gowganda

Travellers returning from the great mineral fields of the north are more enthusiastic than ever regarding the permanency of the Silver Camp. Traffic was never better and is steadily on the increase One hundred and fifty teams are employed daily in moving passengers freight and supplies to the new Gowganda finds from Earlton Englehart and Charlton. It is only 18 miles from Charlton to Elk Lake, where there are 22 mines and from Elk Lake to Gowganda is 32 miles.

Leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily, on the Grand Trunk "Cobalt Special" Elk Lake can be reached the next afternoon via Cobalt Haileybury, New Liskeard and Charlton and this will continue to be the best way.

The Ontario Government are being strongly urged to push on the extension of their line from Charlton which will open up this rich territory.

THEATRICAL

PAID IN FULL.

"Paid in Full" is a play that has met with a wide diversion of opinion. But critics may express either approval or disapproval, one thing is certain—it is a play full of power, full of dramatic interest and could not fail to stir the coldest and most indifferent nature. To say piece is clever would be to state the truth in a weak and altogether insufficient way. It is undoubtedly clever — it has bright comedy lines and is cleverly written, But it is also more than clever; it has a vein of real strength underlying it that makes it a great play, or a great play at least in contemporary American drama.

The commencement of the play does not indicate this strength. The first act, even the second does not, but they lead up to the outstanding third act when the wife of Joseph Brooks proves herself a good woman, and the somewhat boisterous but deep captain after putting her through a subtle and almost fiendish test of her character, gives her a statement that the books of her defaulting husband have been audited and have been ordered and found correct. This is where the real climax of the play comes where the meaning of the title "Paid in Full." i sunderstood.

Josep Brook wi semployed as a clerk by Captain Williams president of the Latin American Steamship Company. He approratipes trust funds to the extent of over $10-0000. When discovered he sends his wife to visit the captain and in order to save him (Brooks), do anything in her power, even to the extent of sacrificing her good name. She makes the visit and asks if nothing can be done to save herself takes place and the statement of the balanced account is given by the captain.

The wife loathes her husband for his cowardly selfishness and the last act shows her bidding him farewell and leaving him alone. The conclusion is somewhat pathetic but the only logical ending that would suggest itself.

The principal parts in "Paid in Full" wer etaken by four artists of ability, Clara Blandick as Emma Brooks, Lionel Adams as Joseph Brooks, her husband; George Backus as James Smith ("Jimsey"), and Scott Cooper as Captain Blandick in the role of Mrs. Brooks. presented a delineation such as it would seem the author desired when he wrote the play, and was very effective and versatile in all the phases of her portrayal. Lionel Adams had a fnei character study as the nervous, irritable and "backboneless" husband and his acting was fine drawn and artistic.

The good natured noble "Jimsey" was made one of the most attractive figures in the play by the really excellent treatment of the part by Mr. Backus, who showed himself an actor of unusual excellence.

Scott Cooper lent a wonderful force an dvigor to his understanding of Captain Williams and at the same tim eplayed this difficult part in a way that proved him a character actor o funusual equipment.

The support of the cast was excellent.

ORILLIA HAS LEAD OF 4 IN THE FIRST HALF OF COMPETITION

For Sheppard--Neill Trophy---Skip Neill's Rink Won by Substantial Majority.

By four shots Orillia won the first half of the Sheppard-Neill trophy at the curling rink last night. The score was 61—57 in favor of the men from the north.

Eight rinks were in the contest and three of the games went to Orillia. Peterborough's victorious rink was skipped by R. Neill and defeated J. B. Tudhope's rink by 20—9. This gave the local curlers quite a reserve, but the aggregate of the majorities let Orillia out with a small lead. The ice was conducive to gilt-edge playing and the ends were hard fought. It was the fifth annual competition for the trophy and the second half of it will be played out in Orillia in the near future. There was quite a gathering of interested spectators, who saw the game.

The Orillia curlers did not get here until the nine o'clock train arrived and as a consequence play did not start till 9.30. It was not concluded until after 12.30. Orillia holds the cup at present and with their small lead in the first competition the next games in Orillia will be looked forward to with interest.

The results last night were as follows;

Peterborough.	Orillia.
Dr Wightman	J. Millison
J. E. A. Fitzgerald	Wm. Fox
T. Brightman	Angus Cares
C N Brown, sk 15	G Thompson, sk 22
L. Hall	W. Crow
J. Montgomery	T. W. Robbins
W M. Lang	A. B. Thompson

Orillia total 61.

THE SPEEDY WHITBY JUNIORS WILL PLAY HERE TO-NIGHT

The second junior OHA game of the season on local ice will be played here tonight when the local juniors will bump up against the fast seven from Whitby. When the Peterborough outfit played in Whitby they were defeated by 7-1.

The locals are in great trim and do not intend to let the visitors get away with the game tonight. The Whitby seven is a very speedy and aggressive seven however, and the home youngsters will have to show their best turn of play to beat them.

The rink in Whitby is smaller than the one here but even on the big ice Whitby should be able to perform to great advantage as it will give them an opportunity to let themselves out and they have speed to spare.

The local lineup will be:

Goal—L Giroux.
Point—Wade.
Cover—Pentland.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—C Giroux.
Right—Shortt.
Left—Hillier.

T.A.S. WILL HAVE GREAT LINE-UP FOR THURSDAY; LAKEFIELD'S STRONG SEVEN

A battle royal is expected when TAS and Strathconas come together in their city league game on Thursday night. TAS won't have the same seven that West Ends gave such a close run last week but will place a team on the ice that should make the Straths work their hardest to win from. In fact, on paper it would seem that the abstainers would have an even chance of registering a defeat against the clever Straths. It is said that several members of the team that won the Trent Valley League a few seasons ago will figure on the lineup and TAS will make a big effort to carry off the honors. The match should be one of the most interesting of the season.

The first game will be between Lakefield and Belmonts. This will be the cement towns first league game of the season and they are said to have been a better seven than last year. Simpson, the fast centre, is playing again this year. Gordon Nicholls, the husky former defence man of the Charlotte street city league team will play on the defence and a couple of new men who are on the staff of the Traders Bank will hold down positions on the forward line. It is stated that both are very speedy and effective. The Belmonts will present a stronger lineup than they did for their game with Strathconas.

28 RINKS FOR THE ANNUAL BONSPIEL

Thirteen From Peterboro'—The Places Represented and the Skips---Draw for This Afternoon's Game.

The curling rink has a home-like appearance this afternoon with its big family of curlers on hand for the 10th annual bonspiel of the Peterborough curling club. The first stone was sent sliding towards the tee at two o'clock this afternoon and since then the rink has been the scene of great excitement with loud shouts "sweep," "nice shot," and other familiar expressions heard when curling games are in progress. The veteran ice maker, Mr. Angus McIntosh, has taken special pains to have the ice in the best condition possible and a sheet as smooth as glass has been prepared for the curling event of the season.

The visitors are most favorably impressed by Peterborough's splendid new rink.

"I had no idea there was such a splendid rink in Peterborough," one of them remarked to a Review reporter this afternoon. It is one of the best in the Province."

TWENTY-EIGHT RINKS.

There are 28 rinks for the bonspiel, thirteen of which are from Peterborough and this speaks well for the interest taken in the game in this city.

The following are the towns represented and the number of rinks from each place;

COMPETITIONS TODAY.

This afternoon about 1.30 o'clock the rinks for the preliminary were drawn by the widely known Lindsay skips Mr. J. D. Flavelle. The preliminary and first round in the primary competition are being played this afternoon and evening. There will be one game in the consolation to-night at seven o'clock and the balance of the first round in the consolation will be played at 9 o'clock to-morrow morning.

The bonspiel committee is composed as follows;—R. Neill, G. H. Giroux, W. M. Lang, T. Brightman, R. Hicks, H F. Foote, secretary.

ACKERMAN'S WON THE GAME

Defeated Auburns by 4-2---Winners in Lead by 2-0 at Half Time

ackertmans acker

Ackermans and Auburns played an interesting game at the Brock street rink last night from 9.30 to 10.30, the harness men winning by a score of 4-2. At half time Auburns had not found the nets while the harness men had tallied twice. In the second half that play was very even both teams getting two goals.

Mr V. Morphet gave satisfaction as referee.

PARK STREET WAS SHUT OUT

Murray St. Won Game in Junior Church League by 4-0

The second game in the junior series of the Church Hockey League was played on Park street rink last evening when Murray street Baptists got away to a grand start in the league race by whitewashing Knox juniors to the tune of 4-0. Neither septette indulged in much combination work but confined the play to individual rushes in which Evans and Sullivan starred. Dwyer in goal for the Presbyterians was called upon to stop some hard ones and his gilt edged work won him favor with the big crowd on the boards. With some team practice, both septettes should play a good brand of hockey before the season closes and hold their own with the other teams in the series.

The following line ups took the ice when the game was called;

PRAY WON VERY CLOSE MATCH

Mr Jas. Harrison, the Peterborough walker, has handed the Review the following clipping which is of local interest on account of Blake, the negro pedestrian, being one of the contestants in the walking match mentioned;

Plattsburg, NY, Dec 27—Harry C. Pray, the champion heel and toe walker, of New England, and J E Blake, of Syracuse, pulled off the most exciting 50-mile walking match on Christmas Day that ever took place in this city.

Until the twenty-fifth lap in the last mile it was impossible to pick the winner, when Pray got the jump and by the finest kind of sprinting, won out by five yards.

Considerable betting was done on the match at the hotels, over $1000 being placed on the outcome. The feet of the men were so badly blistered from the hard floor of the hall that the contenders had to be taken to their quarters in a hack.

The time for the 50 miles was nine hours, thirty-four minutes. The track ran 28 laps to the mile.

Eddie Weier, Trenton

And others are expected to start.

Fifty per cent of gross receipts given to walkers.

To be eligible for prizes each party must walk at least 60 miles.

PLAY THE RINK GAME

La Patrie, of Montreal, gives an illustration of the rink at Crossing-loof in Scotland, in which the great international tournament takes place. The building is somewhat low but the cut shows it to be considerably more artistic than the usual Canadian rinks. That Scotland had adopted the Canadian rink game is not generally known. No doubt many games between Canada and Scotland will be played in this rink.

HOCKEY

The Strathconas will practice to-night from 7 to 8.

Ex-Ald. Johnston Appointed a Member of Board of Health—Mr. Murty Re-Appointed

At the meeting of the city council last night ex-Ald W J Johnston was appointed a member of the Board of Health to succeed the late Mr Alfred Parker.

Mr James Murty whose term of office had expired, was re-appointed.

The Board will meet for the first time on Tuesday, January 26th, the members for 1909 being as follows; Drs Burnham, Young and McNulty, and Messrs Edgar, Murty, Johnston and Mayor Rush, ex-officio.

WATER GUAGE BURST

C. P. R. Fireman Badly Scalded

C.P.R. fireman, Geo. H. Duffus, who lives in Robertson street, Fort William, while on his engine near Westford happened a nasty accident. The water gauge of the locomotive burst and scalded the whole of the left side of his face and head terribly.

"It so happened," said Duffus to our representative, "that I had a box of Zam-Buk in my pocket, which I used for a sore on my lip, and when I had recovered from the first shock of the accident, I produced the balm and had it applied freely to the scalded parts. At the time I applied it I was suffering acute agony, but within a wonderfully short time Zam-Buk gave me ease. I was able to continue my journey, and upon reaching home I obtained more Zam-Buk and continued the treatment. It acted wonderfully well, and in a few days had the wound nicely healing. I don't know anything so fine as a healer for burns, scalds, cuts, and similar injuries which workers are so liable to; and in my opinion a box of Zam-Buk should be kept handy in every worker's home."

There is something different and superior about Zam-Buk. Time and again workers in all branches of trade have proved its vast superiority over the advertised ointments and salves of the day. No doubt the fact that Zam-Buk is made entirely from herbal essences and extracts, while ordinary ointments contain more or less animal fats and oils, goes a long way to explain Zam-Buks' superiority. However this may be, the fact remains that in four continents to which it has been introduced within ten years it has become the leading household balm!

For burns, cuts, scalds, bruises, eczema, piles, ulcers, ring-worm, itch, salt-rheum, bad leg, festering sores, chapped places, cold-sores, frost-bites, and all skin injuries and diseases, Zam-Buk is beyond doubt a most marvellous cure.

Druggists and stores sell at 50 cents a box and the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, will mail a box, post free, upon receipt of price, to any of our readers who may have difficulty in obtaining a supply of the genuine Zam-Buk from their local stores.

Order your Invitations for Afternoon Teas, Evening Parties, At Homes or Dances in latest styles of card and type at the Review Office.

The City Engineer made his report.

POOL ROOM LICENSES.

From Rev Dr Langfeldt protesting against the reduction of the pool-room licenses. He protested against the existence of these places altogether, as he claims they were frequently used for gambling and young boys resorted there also.

A protest was also received from Rev Henry J Keith, president, and Rev E A Pearson, secretary of the Ministerial Association, against any reduction in the pool room licenses—Finance Committee.

COST OF EDUCATION.

When the demand for $59,000 from the Board of Education was read, the Aldermen asked that the Board furnish full information in reference to the demand and also the debenture for $10,000 the Board desires issued.

The Board will be asked to meet the council in the near future.

In the meantime the first month's proportion of the demand will be paid.

BY-LAWS.

Bylaw No 1428, authorized the City Trust Commission to sell one acre of the Hilliard farm to Mr Weatherstone for the erection of a mat factory.

Bylaw No 1429, authorized the construction of a sewer on part of Dublin street as a local improvement and provided for the payment thereof.

Bylaw No 1430, authorized an agreement with the Peterborough Light and Power Company, whereby the city has control of the city streets and not the company.

Bylaw No 1431, appointed the members of the Board of Health for the year as follows; James Murty, W J. Johnston, to fill the vacancies caused by the death of Mr Alfred Parker and the expiration of Mr Murty's term.

The toll house on the Holland river road was burned.

PETERBOROUGH LIBERALS MIGHT VERY WELL COPY GALT

"Last night was a red letter night for the Liberals of Galt, the occasion being the formal opening of the new rooms of the Galt Liberal Club. The rooms are in the Elliott block, Main street, and occupy the whole of the second floor, which was finished up expressly for the club by the owner, Mr R Elliott. The entrance is on Main St, and a wide stairway leads to a short hallway, above which divides the assembly hall from the parlors. The assembly hall is 30x60 feet and affords seating accommodation for over 300. It will be used for general meetings, rally nights and dancing, and is admirably suited for the purpose. It is located in the rear end of the building. The two parlors face Main street and have been fitted up tastily. They will be used for committee meetings and as reading rooms, and in the case of dances and entertainments as ladies and gentlemen's cloak rooms. The floors are covered with linoleum, and on the walls which have been nicely decorated by Mr James Stevenson, are hung portraits of many Liberal leaders. Two lavoratories complete the equipment of the rooms, which are as complete and comforable as could be desired. They are well heated by steam from the Galt Steam Laundry.—Galt Reformer.

The inauguration of a Liberal Club in Galt is a good thing for Galt and also for the Liberal party. The Review has on many occasions endeavored to call the attention of the Liberals of West Peterborough to the great desirability of forming a club which can be a centre of information and usefulness to the Liberal party. To "run" a party it is necessary to have an executive and to run a party fairly and decently it is necessary to have a place of assembly where the real public opinion of that party is constantly in evidence. The Young Conservative Club of this city is not perfect. It is not pretended that it is. But as it costs only $1 a year for a Conservative of any age to join the club and enjoy many of its privileges, chiefly of course that of holding meetings and discussing party and public affairs, manifestly it affords, as the Galtonians have discovered, an unrivalled opportunity for wholesome democratic and thoroughly representative party management. Likewise, such a club becomes an intelligent centre of Liberal thought and as such it would be very desirable. No harm can come of such enterprises, but a great deal of general good. What are the Liberals of Peterborough doing? Anything that can diffuse information respecting the political history of Canada and can develop the spirit of representation in its people is good for the country both at large and in particular.

WEDDING BELLS

FEBBO—THOMPSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning at eight o'clock when Miss Rose Thompson of Peterborough was united in marriage to Nicholas Febbo, also of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev W J McColl. The bridesmaid was Miss L Cupoli and the groom was ably supported by Mr N Jory. Mr and Mrs Febbo will reside at 496 Parnell street.

MACKENZIE—MINSHALL

A very interesting nuptial event was celebrated at Grace church at half-past two o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Hilda S. Minshall, formerly of Hampstead, London, and recently of Grace church parish, and Mr. Norman Seaforth Mackenzie, youngest son of Venerable Archdeacon Mackenzie and accountant of the Merchant's Bank branch, Victoria, B.C., were united in holy wedlock. The event was of a quiet nature and the immediate relatives and friends of the contracting parties only were in attendance. Mr. Frederick C. Thomas played the wedding march. The father of the groom, Venerable Archdeacon Mackenzie, assisted by Rev. A. W. Mackenzie, M.A., of Lakefield, officiated at the ceremony. The groom was supported by Mr. Edward Poyntz Wood, of the Crown Bank, bridge. Mrs. E. C. Ashton acted as maton-of-honor, while Miss Winifred Mackenzie, of Lakefield, made a very pretty flower girl.

The bride looked very attractive, wearing a semi-empire gown of white crepe de chene over white satin trimmed with stoles of white satin and yoke and cuffs of Carrickmacross lace, a cornet of orange blossoms and tulle veil and carrying a bouquet of white roses.

Mrs. Ashton, as matron-of-honor, wore a white crepe de chene Empire gown and white picture hat with trimming of pink roses. She carried white carnations.

After the ceremony the wedding party participated at a buffet luncheon at the rectory, when the congratulations of the hour were extended. Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie will take up their residence in Victoria.

The bride, who is the eldest daughter of the late Thomas E. Minshall, of London, England, is well known in Brantford, while the groom is especially well liked by a large circle of friends. He received his early education at the Brantford Collegiate Institute, which he left to enter the bank service in which he has been particularly successful. Many Brantford friends will join the Expositor in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie a long and prosperous life together.

Among the guests at the event were Prof. Mackenzie, Toronto; Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Mackenzie, and Miss Winifred, Lakefield; Mr. J. Boyer, Dr. Geo. Boyer, Kincardine, Rev. Dr. Minshall, North Hampton, Mass.; Dr. Allan and Mrs. Cleghorn, London; Col. and Mrs. Ashton, city; E. P. Wood, Woodbridge.—Brantford Expositor.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

SEVEN YEARS FOR SILAS H. PEARSON

Former Peterboro' Man Pleaded Guilty at Pittsburg---Broke Down When Sentenced.

Special to the Review.

Pittsburg, Pa, Jan 13—Silas H Pearson, of Peterborough, Ont pleaded guilty in the Allegheny county criminal court this morning to a charge of shooting Jacob Knoedler in the latter's store at Hays station on the night of November 24.

Pearson was surprised in the act of robbing the store and in an effort to escape wounded Knoedler so badly that he will be permanently crippled. Pearson made no defence but asked the court to be lenient.

He was sentenced to seven years in the State penitentiary at Riverside, and will be taken there this afternoon. Pearson who expected clemency as the result of his pleading, collapsed at the sentence and piteously pleaded for a lighter punishment. He was removed to the county jail with difficulty.

Many people believe him to be of unsound mind. His wife who was with him when he was arrested two weeks ago on his return from Peterborough was sent to her Canadian relatives by the local detective bureau it having been learned that she had no knowledge of her husband's misdeeds.

A purse was raised by the police to see her to Peterborough.

Several alleged accomplices of Pearson in his raids of country stores, are yet to be tried in criminal court.

DEAD WITH LIE ON LIPS

Police Think Carmichael's Confession Was a Fake —Expected Trial.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 13.—"To my mind, Rev. J. H. Carmichael died as he had lived, almost, you might say, with a lie on his lips."

This was the statement of Prosecuting Attorney Frederick B. Brown, after a careful perusal of the confession left by the minister, murderer and suicide.

"His recent life has been a lie. Of that I am convinced. His confession appears to me as merely the pitiful attempt of a guilt-stained man to right himself in the eyes of the world before ending his miserable existence.

"I do not think that the confession shows mental weakness. Perhaps Carmichael's mind had become poisoned, but the statements he made appear to me to be as carefully thought out as the crime.

"Browning was a weak, simple-minded man. I doubt if he even knew what hypnotism was. He certainly could not have exercised an influence over Carmichael.

"I shall always believe there was another and deeper motive for this crime. What it was, neither you nor I nor any other man can tell. These facts died with Carmichael. They may never be revealed."

Other officials regard the confession as a "poor excuse."

"That was never written for a death-bed confession," said Under Sheriff Petit, "Carmichael wrote that with the idea that he would mail it to the sheriff and then come back, or be brought back, and stand trial. Then he found it getting too hot for him and he killed himself."

MINERS KILLED

Explosion in Lick Colliery May Result in One Hundred Deaths.

Bluefield, W.Va., Jan. 13.—Again the earth trembled yesterday and that unknown substance in which there is more deadly energy and destruction to the atom than in tons of dynamite let go its awful engine of disaster in the mines of the Lick branch colliery, and snuffed out 100 lives.

It was in these same mines where two weeks ago to a day 50 miners were killed by a similar explosion.

In the quiet of the early morning there came a mighty rumbling in the bowels of the earth reverberating along the miles of corridors and air passages crowded with those who work there.

Scarcely had the detonation died away before a throng of terrorised women and children, in anxiety and dread, rushed to the mine mouth and implored those there to allow them to aid in the effort to save some of their loved ones. Mine Foreman Bowers, who was near the entrance, was blown from his feet, but managed to crawl out safely, as did also Robert Smith, a miner. With the foreman was a miner named Holiday and he, too, was bowled over.

A rescue party, organised on the moment, rushed into the jaw of the smoking mine and tried to rescue him. They were driven back by the deadly fumes of the after gases and were compelled to leave him to his fate.

A train was rushed from this city to the scene of the disaster, some 25 miles away, carrying bratticing and other material, to be used in the work of exploration and rescue.

There was supposed to be from 60 to 80 miners in the section of the mine affected. The debris from the explosion of two weeks ago had not been cleared away and 20 men were engaged in this work. Nineteen contract miners, with their crews, were at work in a new entry, and it is feared that all of these men were lost.

The explosion was in a different part of the mine than that of two weeks ago. Since that catastrophe the mine had been inspected by Government officials and by the most experienced mine men in the region, and all, it is said, expressed the opinion that it was safe.

LADY VIOLET ELLIOTT WEDS

Earl of Minto's Daughter Married to Lord Charles Fitzmaurice.

Calcutta, India, Jan. 13.—The wedding of Capt. Lord Charles Fitzmaurice, 1st Dragoons, and Lady Violet Elliot, celebrated at St. Paul's Cathedral, Calcutta, yesterday, was an event of unusual interest.

The imperial significance of the union is noteworthy. The bridegroom's father, the Marquis of Lansdowne, has been Governor-General of Canada and of India, while the bride's father, the Earl of Minto, assumed the Governor-Generalship of India immediately on his return from Canada. Only last spring the bride's sister, Lady Ruby Elliot, married Viscount Errington, the eldest son of the Earl of Cromer. As a further testimony of imperial service rendered by members of these families, it may be mentioned that just one hundred years ago the Right Hon. Hugh Elliot, brother of the first Earl of Minto, was governor of the Madras Presidency.

Lady Violet Elliot's wedding dress was of ivory satin charmeuse, fastened with ornaments of pearls and silver. The train was of silver cloth, beautifully embroidered in a design of feathers and roses worked in crystals and diamonds. With her going-away dress Lady Violet wore a cloak of blue satin charmeuse, lined with apricot satin, and a hat of pink straw trimmed with pink satin ribbon and a spray of wisteria. All her trousseau had been sent out from London, and she received many articles of jewelry from her relatives and friends.

LABOR MEN AT OTTAWA WAIT ON THE PREMIER

Representatives of Dominion Trades and Labor Council Ask Prohibition of Strikebreakers During Investigations—Retention of I.C.R.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—The representatives of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress who waited upon Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux yesterday afternoon were given considerate hearing.

The requests of the delegates were that legislation should be passed to: Prohibit strikebreakers during investigations; let onus of asking for conciliation board rest with company; adopt eight-hour day on Government work and fair wage schedule; increase pay of letter carriers; appoint Minister of Labor; retain I.C.R.; repeal provision requiring $200 deposit for Federal candidates; make election day a public holiday; abolish assisted immigration; exclude Asiatics; appoint technical education commission.

J. A. O'Donoghue, who was the first speaker, asked that during the progress of investigations under the Lemieux Act, the introduction of strikebreakers should be prohibited. Taking the case of the C.P.R. machinists' strike, he pointed out that the machinists had suffered criticism because it was at their instance the board of conciliation was named and they had declaimed to accept its findings. He argued that the onus of asking for a board should rest with the company in all cases.

Alphonse Verville, M.P., in urging the adoption of the eight-hour day, said the reduction of hours on the I.C.R. was proof that eight hours was sufficient for Government work.

James Simpson urged an increase for the letter carriers. He said: "It is a fine thing to have a surplus, but a surplus that is built up by starving the employes is creditable neither to the Department nor the Government."

P. M. Draper, in asking for the appointment of a Minister of Labor, alluded to the reports that the Intercolonial may be allowed to pass out of Government control. Against this he protested on behalf of the laboring people. "It is the centre and inspiration of Government ownership in Canada," he said.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux, who was the first to reply, said the suggestion in regard to a holiday election day would be laid before the Minister of Justice. He promised that the matter of better pay for letter carriers would be looked into, but pointed out that the Department is in receipt of hundreds of applications from men willing to become letter carriers at the present rate of pay. It should be remembered, he said that letter carriers who receive $2.25 a day, are allowed three weeks' holidays every year and a free uniform.

Mr. Lemieux assured the delegates that but few Japanese are coming into Canada at present, that of the four hundred who entered during the past year, the majority were of classes whom it would be undesirable to exclude. As to the Hindoos they were British subjects and for this reason their coming was a more difficult matter to control.

"None of them are coming in now," remarked Sir Wilfrid.

"The British Government," continued Mr. Lemieux, "is endeavoring to send them to Honduras."

"But," interjected Sir Wilfrid, "they do not want to go."

Mr. Lemieux saw difficulty in complying with the request made as to conciliation boards. Sir Wilfrid remarked that no matter which side called the board, it was upon the findings that public opinion was formed.

Mr. O'Donoghue admitted that it was a difficult matter. He declared, however, that the act was favorable to the employers. As it was being upheld by the unions the Government should give consideration to the requests in amendments they might make.

Proceeding Sir Wilfrid said that while a few Chinese were coming into Canada it must be remembered that they were needed in the west as domestic servants.

Touching on the matter of technical education, the Premier made it plain that while the Government would collect the information required it would be handed over to the Provincial Governments to do the best they could with it as the Dominion had nothing to do with education.

Mr. Draper wanted to know if the door had not already been open to technical education by the establishment of experimental farms.

"Well, we won't open any more doors," replied Sir Wilfrid.

THREE YOUTHS SPENT NIGHT IN POLICE CELL FOR THEFT

Three youths, the oldest of them, fourteen years and the youngest ten, were prisoners in the dock at the police court this morning. They had spent the night in a cell, having been arrested by P C Adams between 10 and 11 o'clock last evening.

About six o'clock yesterday afternoon, the three while in a place on George street, had seen a man place an envelope containing $5.60 in his overcoat pocket. The gentleman then went out, and while away the boys, it is believed, took the money. It is said that they had bought three meals each as well as some pipes and tobacco. $3.25 of the money had been spent

Mr E L Goodwill appeared for the accused on behalf of the Children's Aid Society.

The fathers of two of the boys were in court and were censured by the Magistrate for the conduct of their children. The youths had not been at school for days according to their own statement and had been allowed to be out at night as late as they wished to stay.

"It is the parents who ought to go to gaol," said the Magistrate. "It is moral regeneration in the home that is needed. I will adjourn this case until Friday morning and in the meantime the boys may go home.

WILLIAM WEIR HAS RESIGNED

Mr. Wm. Weir, father of Mr. David Weir, township clerk of Harvey township, who has been treasurer of the township for 35 years has resigned. Mr. David Weir has been appointed to the dual position. Mr. Weir, who was born in Otonabee, went to Harvey over 40 years ago, being one of the first settlers there. Those who have the pleasure of Mr. Weir's acquaintance know what a fine man he is and it is not strange that he has retained the confidence of the people of Harvey for so long a time.

PELLETIER PARTY IS LIKELY SAFE

No Need For Alarm About Inspector Who Visited Peterborough---Surveyors Reach Ottawa.

An Ottawa despatch says:

Wrong inferences drawn from a few hurried remarks made as he left the train in Winnipeg, J E Morrier, D LS, who has just reached Ottawa says were the cause of the sensational stories about the loss of the Pelletier party of seven men and another searching crew published in last week's paper

Mr Morrier, who left Fort Churchill on November 21, and is the last man to return with news from the northland believes there is no need to be alarmed about Inspector Pelletier or his men.

Mr Morrier spent the past summer with a party surveying out the townsite of Fort Churchill and when going back to Winnipeg was joined by R D Fry, an engineer who was in charge of party number five, surveying the Hudson Bay Railway.

"When we stepped off the train at Winnipeg" said Mr Morrier, "we were accosted by a couple of young reporters very anxious to get an account of our trip to the frozen north as they called it. I told them that I felt more like having a bath and something to eat than giving an account of the trip, but they were anxious for something so I made a few remarks which certainly were not understood by the reporters for they did not write what I told them. There was no one more surprised than myself when I read the report in the paper next day and immediately sent word to Major Perry at Regina not to hold me responsible for the report, as facts were not stated."

"Do you think the story came from Engineer Fry," the reporter asked.

"No. Mr Fry was not interviewed and gave no information."

"The story I told them was that in May last Colonel Pelletier and party left on a patrol to Chesterfield Inlet on Hudson Bay. Major Moodie who is in command of the Churchill division was instructed to send a boat to Fullerton. In August the boat left Fort Churchill and I was there to see them off. The party was to remain at Fullerton until September 1, but not later after which time they were to return to Fort Churchill. They were awaited during September and no word of them was received.

GROSS CRUELTY TO HIS WIFE

Saskatchewan Man in Serious Trouble---Brutal Treatment Alleged.

Creelman, Sask., Jan. 13.—Investigation of the reported murder of a woman near here by the police reveals a harrowing story of a husband's brutality, which may result in sending him to the gallows. The man's name is Charles Coles, a homesteader, five miles south, who came from the United States several months ago. He and his wife quarelled frequently, and it is alleged he treated her most brutally. But his brutality reached the limit a few nights ago when he threw her out in the cold, when the thermometer registered 42 below zero, and with nothing to protect her from the storm but a thin cotton night dress. A neighbor, who happened to be passing and wished to obtain protection for the night, sought admission to the house, but was ordered to leave at once on pain of being shot. As he turned to go he heard groans from the direction of a wagon box, and going to investigate found the unfortunate woman lying there almost frozen to death. He picked her up and managed to reach his own home with her, but she was so terribly frozen that recovery is impossible. She has so far refused to lay a charge against her husband, and as a result he has not yet been arrested, but will be should she die or should he attempt to leave the country.

BLACKLISTED MAN IN POLICE COURT

James Wilson Was Drunk Yesterday---Allowed to Go

At the police court this morning James Wilson, a blacklisted man, was charged with being drunk in a public place. He pleaded guilty but Staff-Captain Walton of the Salvation Army, made a strong appeal to the Magistrate with the result that he was allowed to go.

WITNESSES COACHED?

Charges Made That Evidence of Witnesses Was Manufactured—The Hains Case.

Flushing, N.Y., Jan. 13.—Charges that the testimony of members of the Bayside Yacht Club was manufactured and witnesses were withdrawn from the stand because their evidence was not sufficiently rehearsed, were made by Lawyer John F. McIntyre yesterday in summing up for the defence in the trial of Thornton Hains.

Mr. McIntyre had not finished his closing address when adjournment was taken until to-day.

Counsel spent over five hours yesterday in reviewing the evidence and pointing out discrepancies, which the lawyer asserted, showed much of the testimony of the state had been rehearsed in an instruction school. Mr. McIntyre declared that much of the testimony of Mrs. William E. Annis, whose husband was shot and killed by Capt. Hains, was "manifestly false, and she had been taken from the witness stand when it was seen that her story had not been sufficiently rehearsed."

W. J. KEARNS GIVES BIG OPTION

Mr. W. J. Kearns, the well-known prospector and capitalist, is up in the North Bay district at the present time, where he has given an option on an immense iron property which belongs to him. He reports the weather as by no means close or sultry, but notwithstanding its inclemency at the present time, he considers the New North the place to head for.

ARRIVED AT TERMS

Austria's Offer is Acceptable to Turkey—The Trouble Smoothed Over.

Constantinople, Jan. 13.—The Turkish Government accepts the Austro-Hungarian offer of $10,800,000 indemnity for the annexation of Bosnia and Herzegovina, thus removing every possibility of war. The Grand Vizier Kiamil Pasha received Marquis Pallavicini, the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador, at noon yesterday and notified him of the decision of the Council of Ministers.

The Grand Vizier made an effort to induce Austria to increase the compensation another half million pounds, but Ambassador Pallavicini declared that an increase in the amount was out of the question. If the offer was rejected, he declared, negotiations would be broken off. It is believed that settlement of the difficulty with Austria will facilitate an understanding with Bulgaria.

Montenegro and Servia Angry.

Vienna, Jan. 13.—It is felt here that the settlement reached between Austria-Hungary and Turkey may have an irritating effect on the other countries concerned in the near eastern difficulty. According to reports that have come into Vienna, Servia and Montenegro resent the fact that they were not considered in the arrangement, and they may be expected to raise objections. But the agreement between the two principal powers has made war to-day a more remote possibility than at any time since the annexation.

The Government continues in the belief that Servia has no grounds for complaint, and as a protection against any surprise will keep up military preparations in the annexed provinces and on the Servian and Montenegrin frontiers. Its next step will be to rebuild the [illegible] in Turkey by the removal of the [illegible] which led to its collapse.

Erie, Pa., Jan. 13.—A fine of $2,000, the return of the property embezzled, or the value thereof, and imprisonment in the Western Penitentiary for one year was the penalty imposed by Judge E. A. Walling of the Criminal Court upon William A. Ensign and Charles W. Ensign, father and son, who conducted a bank at Northeast, and were convicted of receiving deposits, knowing the bank was about to fail.

The elder Ensign is about 80 years of age.

Railway Offices Attacked.

Pernambuco, Brazil, Jan. 13.—The Brazilian employes of the Great Western Railway of Brazil, a British concern, employing 4,000 men, went on strike yesterday afternoon.

Race feeling against the English runs high in the state, and the police were called out to preserve order. They were powerless, however, to prevent the raiding of the company's main offices.

The strikers have seized the rolling stock and practically are in possession of the terminals.

Dutch Steamer Sunk.

Singapore, Jan. 13.—The French liner Polynesien ran down and sank the Dutch steamer Dyamdi at the wharf here yesterday. Seven natives were drowned. The Polynesien proceeded on her way.

Assault on Policemen.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—Charles Westman, aged 20, of London, Ont., was arrested yesterday on suspicion of being implicated in an attack on two London policemen last week.

Big Burglary at Kingston.

Kingston Jan. 13.—Thieves smashed the lock in the store door of Louis Abramson, gents' furnisher, Princess street, Monday night, and made off with goods valued at $2,000.

The thieves also rummaged through the old safe, which was unlocked, and carried off farmers' notes, to the value of $1,500.

Great Demand For Record.

Washington, Jan. 13.—The demand for copies of The Congressional Record containing the proceedings of the House last Friday when the secret service portion of the President's message was laid on the table has been so great that members cannot comply with it. To meet the further demand Representative Langley of Kentucky has introduced a resolution calling for an edition of 2,000,000 copies of The Record.

General Staff of Empire.

London, Jan. 13.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Sir Frederick Borden sails for Canada on Friday. The Canadian Associated Press understands the discussions of Sir Frederick Borden with Gen. Hood, Minister of War, will result almost immediately in written regulations for the constitution of a general staff of the Empire for submission to the oversea Governments.

Murdered and Body Buried.

Allantown Pa., Jan. 13.—The body of Leopold Ermann, a Philadelphia jewelry peddler, who has been missing since Nov. 18, was found buried under the concrete floor of a chicken brooder on George N. Schaeffer's premises near Schenecksville.

Fire In Church.

St. Catharines, Jan. 13.—St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, Merritton, had a narrow escape from destruction by fire Monday night. New transformers for the electric light plant were being installed, and in some manner the wire, which runs along a room, became ignited and when first discovered a portion of the roof was in flames. An immediate alarm was given and the quick response of the firemen saved the church, the damage being confined to a small area of the roof and to portions of the interior, the damage to the latter being due to heavy smoke.

Clay Products Manufacturers Meet.

Brantford, Jan. 13.—Canadian clay products manufacturers assembled here yesterday for the seventh annual convention. About 100 delegates are in attendance from all parts of Canada. Mayor Wood delivered an address of welcome.

Moir Trial To-Day.

London, Jan. 13.—The trial of Private William Moir, charged with the murder of Color-Sergt. Lloyd of Stratford, at Wolseley Barracks, began this morning before Chief Justice Meredith.

Sultan's Brother Dead.

London, Jan. 13.—A despatch from Tangier to The Daily Telegraph says that news has been received here from Fez reporting the sudden death of Mulai Mohammed, brother of the Sultan and at one time pretender to the Moroccan throne.

There are rumors that Mulai Mohammed was poisoned.

Verdict For $30,000.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—A verdict of $30,000 against the Ottawa Electric Co. was given by the jury at the Assizes yesterday in favor of Edward A. Bredenberg, the London mining engineer, who was injured in the Britannia line accident last May.

Mr. Bredenberg had his leg amputated. He claimed $60,000 on the ground that being a mining engineer in the Yukon at a salary of $6,000 he was unable to continue his profession and his earning powers was lost.

Quits Cigarettes and Dies.

Hazleton, Ind., Jan. 13.—Edward Lane, twenty years old, died here as the result of keeping a New Year's resolution in which he gave up the use of cigarettes. He was addicted to excessive smoking and was urged to stop them with the New Year.

So accustomed had the young man become to their use, the denial of them affected his nervous system seriously. But he determined to do without smoking, thinking the keen desire for them would pass away.

Gompers to Meet Roosevelt.

Washington, Jan. 13.—President Roosevelt will have a conference with President Gompers and other officials of the American Federation of Labor at the White House on Thursday morning.

The conference is at the request of Mr. Gompers and in accordance with the action taken by the Denver convention of the Federation which directed its officials to take up with the president a number of questions affecting labor interests.

Scores of Lives Lost

A philosopher has said that "All men think all men mortal but themselves," and it is quite true that there is a tendency to look upon our own individual case as being, somehow or other, different from others, and outside the influences which affect the health and lives of our fellow-men and women.

Perhaps someone who reads these lines is in the grip of Lung trouble. You have tried all sorts of remedies, and paid heavy doctors' bills, only to be told at the end that nothing can be done for you: that your case is hopeless, and that nothing remains but to face the inevitable as bravely as possible.

There is indisputable proof that PSYCHINE is a genuine and certain remedy for such cases as yours. Mr. I. Peer, of Belmont, Ont., says: "Some time ago I was in a very low condition physically owing to severe Lung trouble. THE DOCTORS GAVE ME UP with the assurance that I should not live until the spring. My attention was called to your remedies, and I ventured to send for a trial bottle of PSYCHINE, which did me so much good that I continued the treatment, and in two months I was completely cured. I have not needed to take any medicine since." In a recent letter his wife states: "Since last writing to you I am delighted to tell you that my husband has had splendid health, although there is no doubt at the time he began to take PSYCHINE he was in the last stages of Consumption. We are certain that it was nothing but PSYCHINE brought him back from the verge of the grave. My husband works hard, and never was stronger and better in his life than now."

What PSYCHINE has done for Mr. Peer it can do for you. The chance of complete recovery is in your own hands. Do not delay any longer, but try PSYCHINE and prove its marvellous power as a health restorer. Sold by all druggists and stores in bottles, 50c. and $1.

HAULTAIN ON GOLF

Arnold Haultain, the well-known writer, has given to the public a volume on "The Mystery of Golf." It is a book which in every chapter propounds a learned and philosophic question and answers it in the Socratic way. It is a learned and in many respects beautiful essay upon a fine game. There is no "mystery of golf." It is a hard game to play well, and as the time during which a man can learn to play it is a long one, there is a greater range than the ordinary one of ecstatic appreciation. Good players who have been such in cricket, tennis, racquets, golf, etc., say that golf is a good game, but that its charm lies in its physical conditions and in its opportunities for old men to get a breath of fresh air. Golf is merely a walk over the hills with a boyish interest in a series of "cockshots" occurring at frequent intervals. Billiards lays even a greater spell upon its votaries than golf. Old men are but boys "writ large." They have a dignity to maintain and a conceit of early prowess to keep up. Then again men "play at" golf who can not even play at most other games. They play off their own bats too, in a way that allows them to continue playing when in any other game they would be consigned to the scrap heap or the toddy-table. Golf, as a matter of fact, has a smaller range of shots than any of the other games. It is mystified no doubt by a lot of directions how to play that serve to keep people "dubs" when if they would do as the caddy says they would be able to play. The real so-called mystery of golf doubtless consists in the fact that a man goes "off" unaccountably. Golf is not a mystery to the good player, only to the duffer. Mr. Haultain's book is a most enjoyable one and in its fine literary and artistic finish is worthy of a place in any library.

THE INDUSTRIAL FUTURE OF CANADA

The 140th annual banquet of the New York Chamber of Commerce took place on November 19th, last. One of the most notable utterances was that made by Mr. Byron E Walker, President of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It has become a custom here as well as in other countries for the head men of financial institutions to enlighten the public on questions of industrial importance. It gives statesman and voter alike an opportunity of learning the actual conditions of business affairs from experts. Mr. Walker and Sir Edward Clouston have conferred unestimable blessings upon the people by their candid and correct statement of the conditions, precedent, actual and subsequent without which the various commercial catastrophies of the past would pass without teaching us a lesson. Mr Walker began by saying that just one hundred years ago the United States had Canada's present population, that Canada and the United States had begun in Nova Scotia and Quebec on the one hand, and in Massachusetts and Virginia on the other, practically at the same time. The difference of development was mainly due to the greater population of the latter in the early stages. Old Country people flocked to their own American colonies while the French did not emigrate in large numbers to Canada. The unification of the States, however, long preceded the federation of the Canadian provinces. Geographical conditions were against an earlier development here. Racial difficulties also have presented themselves. "Great Britain takes our products far beyond our purchases from her and buys our securities as well. You sell us 60 per cent of our imports but buy only 35 per cent of our exports and rarely buy our securities. It is true that we are improving our purchases from England and that you are improving your purchases from us." It will be noticed that our leading bankers become missionaries on our behalf in the financial world capitals. Mr Walker invites the Americans to consider these things. It will be news however to many that "when you threw his (Alexander Hamilton's) system overboard we picked it up and based our first charters largely on the charter of the first United States Bank." Mr Walker then proceeds to dilate upon the inspiring glow of our Canadian winter climate. To the individual who takes exercise, the physical conditions are ideal while snow furnishes the basis of our water powers. In minerals, grain producing, timber, &c. the prospects for Canada are splendid. Canadians may well be grateful for Mr. Walker's really magnificent address.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Toronto News has demonstrated the entire unfitness of Mr. Marcil to be Speaker, but that will make no difference. "Everything goes" at Ottawa.

Contrary to surmise the South African natives taking part in Marathons have not done any too well. There are signs of the Marathon being run to death.

The Times says it is rumored that the bottom of the Straits of Messina is so altered as to render navigation difficult, but this is not confirmed. If it were it would greatly increase the length of the voyage to Egypt and India. It would prevent also the sight of Etna, for which the traveller always looks.

The Straits of Messina run between the classic rocks of Scylla and Charybdis. "Avoiding Scylla he fell into Charybdis. It was Circe who changed Scylla into a frightful sea monster and Jupiter who changed Charybdis into a whirlpool.

"Proportionately with other towns Reggio gave the highest percentage of orphans as a result of the earthquake. The boys were eagerly taken care of by relations but the girls mostly were abandoned. Fortunately, however, they have been entrusted to the ladies' committee which arrived here from all parts of Italy and doubtless will secure good homes for them."

"But the girls mostly were abandoned!" How far removed are the people of this world from barbarism pure and simple! Just fancy that for mere utility's sake, boys who can work hard and endure toil are "rescued" by the survivors of the great catastrophe, while the gentler sex is abandoned to death by starvation. It is high time that more attention was given to the cultivation of the simple qualities of love and pity by our clergy and those in dominion over us. If the "common people" of Italy can do such things as are contained in this cable-clipping it is a serious reflection on the bombast of a so-called enlightened age.

Fire at Killarney.

Killarney, Man., Jan. 13.—About 8 o'clock yesterday morning fire broke out in the brick building owned by George Gear and occupied by Rollins and Middleton's poolroom on the lower flat, and by G. Hay, a lawyer, and W. T. Weeds' dental parlors on the upper flat. Loss $10,000; covered by insurance.

Dog Attacks Live Stock.

Ayr, Jan. 13.—A vicious dog attacked several head of swine and cattle in the barn of James Black. The animal was killed with a pitchfork and the head sent to Ottawa for examination.

OF INTEREST

It was Byron, I think, who said that nothing was more amusing than the spectacle of the British public in one of their periodical fits of morality. But more amusing still is the spectacle of this same people in one of their periodical fits of what may be called espiomania. From this malady in its acutest form, a very large section of the English people are now suffering—to judge from the letters which they have been writing to the papers and from the questions with which their alarmed representatives in Parliament have been heckling an astonished Government.

It is agreed by all those alarmists, those panic stricken apprehenders of invasion that espionage on a most audacious scale is now being carried on in this country and that the perpetrators of all this Caleb-and-Joshua criminality are Germans, who are thus preparing for the time—and a not far distant one, either—when they shall land their legions on our defenceless coasts and go for us like blazes. This sort of thing, argue the alarmists, ought to be put a stop to; but the first question to be considered is, does the thing itself really exist

Spies are of two kinds—those that are used in war and those that ply their functions in time of peace. Both are legitimate only one of these two kinds is more so than the other. Frederick the Great—one of the largest employers of spies that ever lived—laid it down that "In war one must alternately assume the skin of a lion and a fox," while Napoleon said that every general whose operations are carried on in an inhabited country and not in a desert and who does not make use of spies is ignorant of his trade. The doom of the war spy, if caught in mufti, is hanging, and even Washington applied this punishment to our Major Andre for being round in civilian dress on the Hudson river, whereas Colquhoun Grant, Wellington's famous spy in the peninsula, when once captured by Marmont had his life spared for "something resembling uniform which he wore."

In war the spy walks about with his life in his hands, but the peace penalty is much less severe, and rarely exceeds his being kicked out of the country where he has been found in flagrante delicto. Have we ever exposed ourselves to the danger of this punishment. Of course we have hundreds of times, and much more frequently now than formerly. For the truth is that, from their very nature, British officers do not readily lend themselves to the work of espionage, and for the same reason that, for long they could not well adapt themselves to the new rules of tactics which enjoin the courting of cover as much as possible. Consequently in the Boer war they got shot down owing to their large possession of those very qualities of uprightness, straightforwardness and sense of honor which make them reluctant to act as spies.

As the word "spy" grates upon a Britons ear it was discarded in favor of "scout" and then of "intelligence officer." There's so very much in a name, you see, and a man who would disdain to act as spy is rather proud than otherwise of being employed on secret service by the Intelligence Department of our War Office. It would astonish the general public to know to what extent we ourselves practice the kind of espionage which we are now so indignantly imputing to the Germans. But the window shutters of secrecy on the subject were partialy opened a year or two ago by the publication of Major-General Tulloch's "Recollections of Forty Years of Service." There he relates how, under pretence of snipe-shooting expedition to the Nile Delta he made an exhaustive study of the preparation of Arabi Pasha for the rebellion which was to be crushed at Tel-el-Kebir. These fortified lines had again been reconnoitred before the assault by Major Tulloch—now acting as chief intelligence officer to Sir Garnet Wolseley—and the official papers found after the capture of the position showed that his previous statements to the number and nature of the enemy's guns were wonderfully accurate, as were also the plan and section of the works he had drawn up as a spy, disguised as a harmless snipe shooter.

On several occasions, previous to that Capt Tulloch had been despatched on secret military service to the continent and once he was sent to survey the Yorkshire coast with reference to suitable landing places for an invading force of all arms. In this connection he writes:

"When doing the Yorkshire coast I heard of a German officer staying at a hotel in Scarborough which he had made his headquarters while doing work, which on enquiry turned out to be precisely that on which I also was engaged and my headquarters were close to, viz, at Bridlington Quay. My regret was that I did not hear about my German colleague until my work was just finished. We might have done it together."

Now be it noted that Major Tulloch did not see this German officer; he only "heard of him," which is a very different thing and the same remark applies to almost all the statements about German espionage which have lately been appearing in the papers. I have been at the trouble to collect and collate as many of these statements as I could lay my hands upon, and all of them suffer from the taint of being of the nature of indirect and second hand evidence which would not be accepted by any court of law.

"A friend told me." "One of the ladies of the party said" "A friend of mine not long ago," "Another gentleman made the following statement, "A lady friend of mine not long ago in Germany." "One of my constituents told me." "The proprietor of a good boarding house informed me," "A most trustworthy authority states" "The following definite statements were made to me," In two cases I have received statements from people who believe me," etc.,—such are a few of the authorities who vouch for German espionage in our midst and I can find nothing of a more definite kind in support of the charge.

Has any one ever positively seen a number of Germans officers engaged in staff ride in this country, or ride, whether on horseback or in motors, which it would be quite impossible to conceal. Has any one ever seen with his own eyes a suspicious individual using his camera on our fortifications, if so, let him come forward and enter the witness box, which has hitherto been devoid of all such testimony of the direct kind. Nevertheless asserts Col. Lockwood, the choir leader of all his suspicious scouters, "I say without the possibility of contradiction that this thing is going on." If so why does he not prove it, which he certainly has not yet done? I think I know who this main informant has been, and the man could not stand cross-examination for a single moment, for I have tried it.

Seeing in the press certain definite statements as to the alleged acts of German espionage in the Epping district, I took the trouble to go down there and make personal inquiry into the whole matter; I came away with the conviction that Col. Lockwood's informants had been indulging in cock-and-bull flights of the imagination. A German, it was said, had been seen photographing a fortification about three miles to the north-east of Epping. I went to the spot where he had been described as using his camera and found it to be at least a mile away from the disused old field work which is not even now used as a magazine. To judge from the fact that there was no lightning conductor over the corrugated iron outhouses, where the German fancied our cartridges to be stored.

Neither could I find any positive proof whatever that the suspicious characters who were supposed to have been doing all this were Germans at all. It is amusing to read that one of those suspicious characters—who had been seen prowling about, not in Essex, but in Lincolnshire, proved to be no less a person than our own "Banjo Bard of the Empire!" The inventors of these stories are really too clumsy, for they make their German spies hunt—not only in couples but in trios and walk abroad openly with sunshades, and cameras, and cycles, and notebooks and land-surveying apparatus, when they could obtain the best existing maps of England for a few shillings. "Ah! but then," ask the alarmist, "what about the forage and fodder, and live stock, and water supply, and other things that are not put down on maps but can only be got from unsuspecting farmer-folk under cloak of the purchase of a pennyworth of milk?" "Only a few more details remain to be added," writes one patriotic Briton, "and when these are complete the the crisis will have arrived. I say, without reserve, that we are nearer invasion to-day than we have been since the great Napoleon threatened this country."

This will certainly raise a smile in Germany itself, where they know full well that an invasion of this country will not come within the range of physical possibility as long as our sea power is overwhelmingly superior to that of the fatherland, which we are all resolved that it shall continue to be. But, then, did not the Germans industriously spy out the land of France before the great war? Certainly they did, because they knew that a war with France was inevitable. But it is certain that the Germans no more think of a war with England as inevitable in the near future than they do of a war with Japan. Do you suppose that the Germans are doing in Japan what they are now declared to be doing in England? They are not quite so foolish as that.

They are only amused at the spectacle of so many well-meaning patriots in this country making such utter asses of themselves. So little, indeed, do the Germans concern themselves with an invasion of England and with the necessary preparations there anent, that if some English Esterhazy were to go to Berlin and offer them all the secrets of our War Office in a bunch, I verily believe he would not receive a single groschen for his pains. We resent their alleged espoinage in our midst, but our feelings would be much more hurt if we only knew that the Germans do not set upon our so-called military secrets the smallest possible value.—London Chronicle.

STOMACH COMFORT

When the Stomach Rebels, Headache, Indigestion and Nerve Pain Follows—Mi-o-na Brings Relief.

Just as soon as you are done eating the healthy stomach commences to churn the food around and mixes it thoroughly with the juices of the stomach.

If the food is not churned, it lays heavily on your stomach, turns sour and causes all kinds of distressing symptoms, such as headache, indigestion, stomach pain and dyspepsia. Mi-o-na helps the stomach to properly mix the food.

John H. May, of Isabella street, Belleville, Ont., says: "For over seven months I was in constant agony with a case of nervous dyspepsia and indigestion that medical skill could not relieve. I was weak and had lost much weight through loss of appetite and suffering. My meals would fill me with gas and a feeling of oppression across the stomach and all up the left side left me in a miserable condition. I was restless at night and as tired and unrefreshed in the morning as on going to bed. A choking sensation in my throat was always constant when lying down, and my heart seemed to flutter and pound as though it were coming out through my side. I was benefitted from the first two days' use of Miona. I began to feel like myself again, my appetite returned and the depressive feeling left me. I can enjoy my meals without suffering the least worry of after sufferings. I have gained in weight and can sleep the night through in comfort."

Go to Wm. Madill, the druggist and get a 50 cent box of Mi-o-na Tablets. Money back if Mi-o-na does not cure.

Lieut-Governor Forget, of Saskatchewan, may be appointed to the Senate to succeed the late Senator Bernier.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

French Deputy Goes to Jail.

Paris, Jan. 13.—Pierre Bietry, a member of the Chamber of Deputies from Finistere, was yesterday sentenced to six months' imprisonment for breaking the seals placed a fortnight ago by the Paris police upon the offices of Le Jaune, a newspaper edited by him.

The case of Bietry is closely allied with the Mattis incident. Mattis is the unemployed waiter who on Christmas Day waylaid ex-President Fallieres on the streets of Paris and made an attempt to pull his beard. Mattis was connected with the "Yellow Syndicate," a supposed Royalist organization, and, as a result the police sealed the office of Le Jaune, the originator of the syndicate, with the intention of making a thorough search of the premises.

Earthquake on Coast.

Port Townsend, Wash., Jan. 13.—An earthquake shock caused considerable damage here at 3.30 o'clock Monday afternoon, lasting from 10 to 15 seconds. The trembling took the form of a vibratory convulsion, swaying buildings and breaking many windows and fragile roofs.

Reports from adjoining towns and cities show that the force of the shock extended over an area of at least 50 miles square, and in several places two distinct shocks, separated by more than a minute, were felt. In many places in this city where water pipes lay in frozen ground, the earthquake broke the pipes and flooded the houses.

It is reported that immediately after the shock smoke was seen arising from Mount Baker, an extinct or dormant volcano.

Blinded by Excitement.

Chatham, Jan. 12.—While Mrs. Jas. Wardell was preparing to go to Hamilton to attend the wedding of her son, she fell on her porch and broke her wrist. She was lying on the ground when her husband found her. He became so excited that he was stricken stone blind and remained in that state for several hours.

Charges Against Negro.

Windsor, Jan. 13.—Jeremiah Jackson, a negro, 36 years of age, was arrested at Puce, a village about fifteen miles east of here, on a charge of attempted murder.

It is alleged Jackson burned the home of Thomas Carter another negro, because the latter's 15-year-old daughter refused to elope with him.

When arrested the officers identified him as the man who thirteen years ago figured in a murderous assault and escaped. He will be charged with assault with attempt to kill, arson, and bringing stolen goods into Canada.

$50,000 For Alienating Affections.

New York, Jan. 13.—A verdict for the full amount of $50,000 sued for by Mrs. Una Goslin against Miss Annie Irene Magher for alienation of the affections of her husband, Alfred R. Goslin, of so-called "get-rich-quick" fame, was brought in by the jury here yesterday.

Both Goslin and the defendant, who was his stenographer, now live in Paris, France.

Sausage Casing 73 Feet Long.

Carey, O., Jan. 13.—Truman C. Keller, farmer near this village, who is butchering his hogs, Saturday made a sausage from a single casing that is 73 feet and 9 inches long. It was taken from a hog that weighed 381 pounds.

Skaters Narrowly Escape.

Brockville, Jan. 13.—David Lewis and Fred Amond skated into an airhole on the river and for several minutes their lives hung in the balance, particularly that of Lewis.

The boys did their best to extricate themselves, but their efforts were nullified by the thin ice breaking around them. Eventually a plank was shoved out by a rescuer. Amond succeeded in catching it and was saved. Lewis, who was farther away, did not fare so well. He was rapidly becoming chilled and made frantic appeals for aid. The plank was too short to reach him and finally a rope was procured. Lewis' hands, however, were powerless, but he caught the rope in his teeth and in this way was pulled out more dead than alive.

Saw Scene In Vision.

Hartford, Conn., Jan. 13.—Rev. Charles E. Stowe in a speech here Monday night before a church club said his mother, Harriett Beeches Stowe, received the idea of "Uncle Tom's Cabin," in a vison which she had in church, in which she saw clearly depicted the pathetic death of old Uncle Tom.

He said his mother began the story with this scene, writing the book backward.

In a recent court case it was shown that Mrs. Stowe's sister, Mrs. Isabella Beecher Hooker, held communication with spirits concerning her will and the phases of her every-day life.

Montreal Italian Murdered.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—Dominico Ranieri was stabbed to death on Vitre street on Monday night.

Cries for help attracted investigation by a passerby, who reached the spot of the crime just in time to see Ranieri fall to the ground with blood welling from his mouth, and to catch a glimpse of two running men. No suspicion of foul play was then entertained, as no marks of violence were visible. At the morgue three knife wounds were found in Ranieri's back.

New Transportation Company.

Kingston, Ont., Jan. 13.—Forwarders, Limited, a transportation company, has been organized in Kingston. The Moore's elevator will be taken over and suitable steam barges and other floats secured to carry grain from Kingston to Montreal. Ald. W. G. Craig is president and outside capitalists are represented on the board. They have secured a charter from the Dominion Government, authorizing a capital of $500,000.

To Investigate Contract.

Regina, Jan. 13.—The Saskatchewan Legislature after a hot debate has called for the appointment of a royal commission, composed of judges provincial of the Supreme Court, to enquire fully into the whole subject of the Morang school book contract.

Eight Hurt In I.C.R. Wreck.

Quebec, Jan. 13.—At 5 o'clock yesterday morning the I.C.R. local train, loading freight at St. Michel de Bellechasse, was struck by a special from the Maritime Provinces.

Three passenger coaches were demolished and eight passengers were injured.

Dies After Cleaning Snow.

Brantford, Jan. 13.—Gibson W. Sence, aged 78 years, dropped dead at his home here yesterday morning after cleaning snow from his walk. Heart failure was the cause. Deceased was prominently connected with St. Judge's church for many years. Six sons and three daughters survive.

Alderman Resigns.

Belleville, Jan. 13.—Ald. Thomas has resigned from the council. He thinks the aldermen used him badly in giving him an unimportant chairmanship as he stood next to the head on the poll. J. B. Harker, next on the list, will take Mr. Thomas' place.

Both Feet Frozen.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 13.—Romeo Cote, aged 16, was found in a box car at Milwaukee Junction on Monday with both feet frozen and was brought to the central station. He told the police he ran away from his home at St Henri, Que., five weeks ago.

Death of J. H. McLeod.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—John H. McLeod, secretary of the agricultural committee of the Commons, died yesterday, aged 70. One of his sons is Robt. H. McLeod, well known newspaper correspondent. He himself was at one time a member of the Parliamentary press gallery. Prior to that he was schoolmaster at North Sydney, N.S.

Double Funeral.

Parry Sound, Jan. 13.—A joint funeral service in the Methodist church of the victims of the double drowning accident of Saturday evening was one of the largest ever held here and as a mark of respect and sympathy business was suspended and all places of business closed during the hour of the funeral.

The toll house on the Holland river road was burned.

A FAMOUS RUG.

China's Most Famous Bit of Carpet Destroyed by Fire In Toronto.

It will be remembered that during the Boxer troubles of 1900, Christian civilization was disgraced by the looting of the Empress Dowager's palace in the inner city of Pekin by the troops of European nations. Afterwards this loot, containing all that was most precious in Chinese arts and crafts, was piled up in the public squares and accessible to the many adventurers that thronged the city. This was destined to have a sequel right here in Toronto.

A few years ago there came to Toronto a dealer in curios and objects of art, and among the things he had for sale was a spun metal rug, which he declared was of Chinese workmanship and of great antiquity, although he did not know much about its history. He finally sold it to a firm of local architects who collect such things, for the sum of $40. They kept it in the office for months, and one of the partners became doubtful of its authenticity because it appeared so fresh in color and texture. Finally they sold it to a very well-known dealer in antiques for $70. This dealer kept the rug lying in his warehouse for another considerable period, and being unable to dispose of it, offered to sell it back to the architects who declined to repurchase.

Last summer there came to Toronto one of the world's greatest experts on antique rugs, and he was entertained at the home of one of the architects. In the course of conversation he told of a wonderful rug three hundred years old which had been looted from the palace of the Empress Dowager and had disappeared. He had never seen it, but had a minute description of it.

"Why, that very rug is in Toronto," said his host, "I had it in my office for months."

The expert was amazed. "Where is it now?" he demanded, all excitement. "It's worth $500 a square foot."

"Well, I can buy it back any time I want it for $70," said the architect.

A deal was struck then and there. The dealer knew an American connoisseur who would willingly pay five thousand dollars for it, and it was agreed that the two architects and the expert should secure the rug, sell it, and go thirds on the profits. Joyfully one of them sought out the dealer in antiques and told him he had come to buy back that Chinese rug.

"Here's what's left of it. I'll make you a present of it," said the dealer, showing him a burnt fragment. "You know we had a fire in here the other day."

And in that architect's office to-day lies the charred and ruined fragment of what was once the most valuable Chinese rug in the world.

The Law Against Ju-Ju.

The proclamation provides similar penalties for the making and using of ju-ju for illegal purposes and for the practice and encouragement of ju-ju worship; and any chief who countenances such trials by ordeal or prohibited ju-ju worship is liable, on conviction, to a fine of $1,000, or to imprisonment for three years. These are far-reaching provisions, which our vivacious Nigerian correspondent, in the exercise of his quasi-chieftain jurisdiction, will do well to avoid. But probably he is fully aware of the difficulties of proving a charge of this sort to conviction, and will consequently continue to extract a little occasional fun out of his rather unique situation. His opportunities for diversion in this direction are not likely to be seriously curtailed in a hurry, for in the opinion of most Europeans who have had opportunities of observing the tenacious hold which the practices alluded to have on the native mind, the proclamation of Sir Percy Girouard is not likely to prove efficacious for many a year to come in eradicating the popular belief in the mysterious powers of witchcraft and ju-ju.—Standard of Empire.

All He Needed.

A boy of twelve years of age, with an air of melancholy resignation, went to his teacher in one of the Liverpool schools the other day, and handed in the following note from his mother before taking his seat:

"Dear Sir,—Please excuse James for not being present yesterday. He played truant, but you needn't thrash him for it, as the boy he played truant with an' him fell out, and he thrashed James an' a man they threw stones at caught him and thrashed him; an' the driver of a cart they hung on to thrashed him; an' the owner of a cat they chased thrashed him. Then I thrashed him when he came home, after which his father thrashed him, and I had to give him another one for being impudent to me for telling father. So you need not thrash him until next time. He thinks he'd better attend regular in future."

His Excuse.

Diggs—You believe that whisky is good for a cold, don't you? Swiggs—Yes, but how did you know? Diggs—Oh, I've noticed that you nearly always have a cold.

Repetition.

Husband (entering house with bag of chestnuts)—I brought home some more chestnuts, dear. Wife (wearily, without glancing up)—I'm listening.—Judge.

The face of a wife shows what her husband is; the shirt of the husband shows what his wife is.—Servian Proverb.

LIVE HOGS GO UP IN PRICE

A Substantial Advance During the Week — More Grain Being Marketed

Peterborough, Jan. 15.—The improvement in the sleighing accounted for a brisk movement in the market this week. Considerably more grain is being brought in, and barley and peas both advanced in price. The scarcity of hogs for the last few weeks has resulted in a sharp rise in price, selects bringing as high as $6.35 to $6.40, with other grades proportionately increased in price.

No change is noted in live cattle quotations, and offerings are still very light. Hides of all classes remain the same.

Death of Mrs. Alexander Fife of Otonabee, Aged 89 Years--- Daughter Resides in This City

One of Otonabee's oldest residents in the person of Mrs. Alexander Fife, passed away last night. She was 89 years of age and had suffered for about a week from acute indigestion. Deceased maiden name was Margaret Eason, and she was born in Otonabee township and had resided there all her life. The father of the late Mrs. Fife was one of Otonabee's pioneer settlers. Mrs. Fife's husband predeceased her forty years ago. She is survived by three sons, John and Geo, of Otonabee, and Alexander, of Dakota, and two daughters. Mrs. McConnell, of Dakota, and Mrs. Jas. Heal of Peterborough.

In religion, Mrs. Fife was a Methodist, and she was highly respected by a large number of friends. Her death will be learned with deep regret.

The funeral will take place to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon, at two o'clock to Bethel church. Interment will take place in the Fife cemetery.

FINANCES OF Y.M.C.A. THIS YEAR SHOW SMALLER DEFICIT

Annual Meeting of the Association Held Last Evening—Encouraging Reports Presented—Work Steadily Progressing--Past Year Has Been an Excellent One.

The most encouraging and harmonious annual meeting of the YMCA, of Peterborough for some time, was that which was held last evening in the Association parlors. The reports presented, showed remarkable progress in all branches of the work during the past year, which indeed must have been highly gratifying to the directors and members of the Association. The financial statement was probably the most encouraging the large deficit last year of $1800 having been diminished to thirty dollars. The Young Men's Christian Association of Peterborough is making rapid progress and the present year will see greater efforts put forth towards extending the work and awakening interest in it among all the young men of this city.

The president, Mr J G Shook, occupied the chair at last night's meeting and conducted the opening devotional exercises. The attendance was not large, those present being Messrs J J Howden, A McFarlane, V Eastwood, J F Thornton, A W Cressman, J J Turner, jr. W Campbell, J J Hartley and Dr Middleton.

Mr C E Eason acted as secretary and read the minutes of the last meeting.

The following were the various reports presented and were upon motion adopted;

MEMBERSHIP COMMITTEE.

On Jan. 1, 1908, there were 175 full privileged members, 135 limited privilege and 105 boys, making a total of 415 members.

All these members were not taking part in the activities of the association and were consequently struck off the membership list and placed on the subscribers' list. Therefore the report for this year of active members is a record one.

Full privileged members, December 31st, 1908—163.

Limited privileged—90.

Boys—135.

Total—388 active members.

This shows a decrease of 27, although many more are taking advantage of the privileges.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.

Considerable progress was reported by the Physical Committee, under the efficient leadership of Mr. Collings. Great interest had been developed in athletics. There was one team in the O.R.F.U., one in the city Rugby league, but were handicapped for want of a practice field; a basketball league of five teams played for the Cressman trophy, which was also a track and field club; a boxing and wrestling class was formed. The work along all these lines has been very favorable.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT.

The interest in the Boys' Department is showing a general increase. The Y. M. C. A. Chieftain Baseball team won the championship last summer. Five Bible classes have an enrollment of 56. Two are taught by older obys. The boys' rooms were moved from the basement to the second floor, which is a great improvement. The visit of Mr. F. H. T. Ritchie, Canadian Boys' Secretary, was very successful and the older boys' conference on November 7th, 8th and 9th, when 152 boys from all parts of Ontario attended, did much to stimulate the work of the department. The visit of Mr. R. A. Waite, of New York, on November 28th, 29th and 30th, increased the activity in the religious work in the department. The boys have their own debating club and harrier club for the promotion of literary attainments and athletics. Besides a mock court trial in the Conservatory Music Hall in September, the boys have had three socials.

EDUCATIONAL COMMITTEE.

The Educational Committee in its report referred to the several improvements that have been made. In the reading room there are 6 daily and 8 weekly papers and 16 monthly magazines, or a total of 30 periodicals. Classes in junior matriculation were held on three nights a week.

PROPERTY COMMITTEE.

The Property Committee reports showed in addition to many incidental repairs there was installed one pair of bowling alleys complete, provided for by the members of the association. A jacket boiler was installed which will prove an economy in heating bath water in the summer. Repairs were made to the boiler, the first since it was installed twelve years ago.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE.

The Social Committee's report referred to various social functions during the year, including the New Year's reception, at which the Ladies Auxiliary assisted, and the formation of a social service club.

RELIGIOUS WORK.

The Religious Work Committee reported that during the winter and spring men's meetings were held Sunday afternoons at 4.15, but in the fall it was decided to hold opera house meetings once a month if suitable speakers could be secured. Only one has been held so far. The Bible class on each Sunday afternoon has taken the place of the mass meeting. Practice on the part of the religious committee is to put in touch with the pastors of the churches all those who in any of the meetings, express a desire to lead a Christian life and they have thus been brought into contact with the churches. The universal week of prayer for young men was observed by the Association from November 7th to 15th. In connection with the work the members are helping to support a representative in India, and towards his support forty-eight of the members, have with a five dollar contribution from the Ladies' Auxiliary contributed $100 the largest figure raised for several years.

I beg to certify that I have checked the books and vouchers of the Young Men's Christian Association, of Peterborough for the year 1908, and up to the 12th January 1909, and have found them correct. The above statement is in accordance with the books which are neatly and well kept.

Every faculty and all information asked for has been willingly afforded me by the secretary Mr Hassard.

W R MORRIS,
Auditor,

Peterborough, Jan 12, 1909

GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr Hassard, did not present any written report but referred to the different branches of the work, speaking first of the educational department. An endeavor had been made to assist the employed boy who had not the opportunities to receive an even ordinary education, by teaching three nights a week such subjects that would fit them better for their various vocations.

The boys' department was doing grand work and the vast improvement made during the past year was ample evidence of the necessity of appointing a boys' secretary. This was by far the most important branch of the work. The boy was the future man and it was easier to work with him now than when he reached the age of twenty-one or over.

The physical department had shown the results of extra expenditure in that direction. Mr Hassard said that while the membership appeared less, there were more men taking an active part in the Association than ever before.

Mr Hassard said that new lockers were needed and better equipment was required in the Gymnasium.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE

The report of the nominating committee presented by Mr W Campbell, recommended the appointment of the following gentlemen as directors,—Messrs R J Kidd, A B Cunningham, P Kerr, J F Thornton, A McFarlane, and J J Turner, jr. The report was adopted.

Mr Shook, at the conclusion of the reading of the reports remarked how gratifying were the results of the past year's work. He hoped that the good work would go on. Much had been done but there was yet a great deal more to do. As president of the Association he was pleased to note the progress. He had been away during a great part of the year but through the enterprise of the directors and officials in charge, the work had gone steadily on.

RESOLUTIONS

A resolution of thanks was passed to the Ladies' Auxiliary for their assistance to the Association.

Mr Vincent Eastwood made the motion and Mr J J Howden seconded it.

Mr J J Howden moved, seconded by Mr W Campbell that a resolution of thanks be tendered Mr J W Bennett for the presentation to the Association of a handsome memorial to the late Mrs Nicholls which was placed in the reception hall of the building on New Year's Day.

This motion was unanimously carried.

Mr V Eastwood, moved, seconded by Mr McFarlane, a resolution of thanks to the executive officers of the Association.

OTHER MATTERS

Ald J J Turner, jr. brought up the matter of changing the date of the annual meeting from the second Tuesday in January to the third Tuesday. He moved a motion recommending the above question be referred to the committee on the revision of the constitution.

It was seconded by Mr McFarlane and carried.

The president brought up the matter of having a printed annual report circulated among the subscribers of the Association.

Mr A W Cressman thought that it was a capital suggestion and moved that the president, general secretary and Mr J J Howden, be a committee to draft a report.

Mr McFarlane seconded the motion, and it was carried.

Mr Vincent Eastwood closed the meeting with prayer.

PRESENTATION TO THEIR PRINCIPAL

Pupils of Business College Remember Mr. J. A. McKone on Occasion of His Marriage

Yesterday afternoon at the Peterborough Business College, just before the close of the school, the principal, Mr. J. A. McKone, was made the recipient of an address and presentation in the form of a handsome marble clock by the pupils of the school. Mrs. McKone was also given a beautiful bouquet of American beauty roses.

The address was read by Miss Ethel O'Connor, and the presentation to Mr. McKone was made by Mr. T. Miller, and to Mrs. McKone by Miss Nora Shevlin.

The address was as follows:—

Mr. J. A. McKone,
Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Mr. McKone,—We, the students of the P.B.C. gladly avail ourselves of the opportunity presented by your recent marriage to show in some slight degree our appreciation of your many kindnesses and untiring efforts during the year that you have been with us to promote in every way our best interests.

We extend to you our heartiest congratulations and, as a token of our esteem would ask you to accept this clock, hoping that it may tick for you and Mrs. McKone, during many years of life together, only hours of happiness and prosperity.

We also would ask Mrs. McKone to receive these roses, assuring her that with them are given a hearty welcome to her new home in the city of Peterborough.

Signed on behalf of the College.
F. O'CONNOR,
E. HALL,
G. LONG.

Peterborough, Jan. 12, 1909.

Mr. McKone in a few well-chosen remarks, expressed his thanks to the scholars, assuring them of his deep appreciation of their kindness.

Mrs. McKone also expressed her appreciation of the pupils' kindness and extended a hearty invitation to visit them in their home.

WEDDING BELLS

SCOTT—SCOTT

A quiet wedding was solemnized in the guild room of St. Paul's church yesterday afternoon when Miss Ada Marie Scott, daughter of Mr. Hugh Scott, of Norwood, was united in marriage to Mr. Robt. A. Scott, of Asphodel. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. Pogue.

The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl crescent.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott will reside in Asphodel.

BALL—McCAMUS

The marriage took place at the home of the bride, Cavan, this afternoon of Miss Martha Kathleen, youngest daughter of the late Thomas McCamus, to Mr. Henry Wilbert Ball, also of Cavan. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. C. Allen, rector of the English church of Cavan, in the presence of about sixty friends and relatives. The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Ball, sister of the groom, and the groomsmann was Mr. T. W. McCamus, brother of the bride. The bride's dress was of white satin trimmed with baby Irish lace and seed pearls, with veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of roses. The bridesmaid's costume was of white silk. She carried pink roses. The ceremony took place in the drawing room under an arch of evergreens. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. Robert McCamus, of Cavan, and the wedding march was played by Mrs. W. C. Allen. The house was beautifully decorated with evergreens and Christmas bells and holly.

After the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served, the catering being done by Mr. T. H. Hooper, of Peterborough.

The happy couple left on the 9.30 G.T.R. train at Garden Hill on a wedding trip to Toronto and Buffalo. On their return they will reside at "Maplehurst," Cavan.

Among the guests from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Hutchinson of Huntsville, and Mr. and Miss Fair, of Peterborough.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball will have the best wishes of a host of friends.

"Early in October Major Moodie decided that something must be done. He and a party of five men set out in a small whaleboat. They were gone about a week when the steering apparatus broke and caused their return which was made with great difficulty. They decided to wait for the freeze up, having no fit boat to attempt the trip. On November 22 a party with two dog teams were sent north in search of news of the crew. The party was to go by Baker Lake, then to Fullerton if no information was then received.

"There is a Mounted Police post at Fullerton and it is possible that all are safe there and will not leave it until the spring."

"What do you think happened to Caldwell, the missing explorer."

"I believe he is all right' He went on a long trip and six months or a year makes little difference up there, and I believe that he is still safe and sound I believe Pelletier is also safe. He is a very conscientious man and would never leave one post unless he was sure of reaching the next one.

Mr Morrer said that the party that left by dog train could not possibly have reached Fullerton yet, as they went inland by Baker Lake, and probably the party at Fullerton came back by the coast of Hudson Bay, and therefore would soon be heard from. It takes considerable time to bring the mail out, the trip taking from forty to fifty days.

Mr Morrer and party were 46 days making the trip from Fort Churchill to Gimli, Man.

300 HORSES WERE HELD UP

All Those Bought by Canadians May Now Come in

New York, January 11.—The Canadian Government has decided to permit the importation of stallions and brood mares from this country. While the bars are still up against all other horses and cattle from the States because of the prevalence of mouth and hoof disease among the quadrupeds, horsemen see in this latest ruling of the Dominion a chance that the embargo against race horses will be removed in time to permit of the shipment of thoroughbreds to take part in the spring race meetings at Toronto, Montreal, Hamilton and Fort Erie.

At a recent sale of blooded stock in Kentucky various breeding bureaus of the Dominion bought nearly 300 sires and matrons. This was the largest batch of horses ever bought by Canadians. Scarcely had the sales been consummated than the edict went forth that no horses shipped through New York, New Jersey or Pennsylvania would be allowed to enter the Dominion. This restriction tied up the stallions and mares bought in Kentucky.

NORWOOD NEWS

Special to the Review.

Norwood, Jan. 14.—The Board of Education met on Monday evening, Jan. 11th.

Present: Messrs. J. L. Squire, chairman; F. Anderson, A. S. Harrison, Wm. Webster, E. P. Cuffe, J. F. Elliott, J. A. Finlay, C. W. Waters and J. Doherty.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

Mr. Squire reported that the Public School Government grant was paid amounting to $252. He stated that the blackboards and metallic ceilings had been placed in the public schools.

Mr. Cuffe stated that the readers for the 2nd class in the public school had been procured. He also stated that he had procured a new minute book.

The Special Committee also reported re ventilation that on account of the magnitude of the undertaking they would recommend that the matter be laid over for some time.

The Board agreed to meet the principal of the High School on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at the school to take up the matter of blackboards and improved seating, to be reported at next meeting.

Mr. Bruder, Public School Principal, was present and addressed a few remarks to the Board.

THE SILVER NORTH

Cobalt, Lorraine, Larder Lake and Gowganda

Travellers returning from the great mineral fields of the north are more enthusiastic than ever regarding the permanency of the Silver Camp. Traffic was never better and is steadily on the increase. One hundred and fifty teams are employed daily in moving passengers, freight and supplies to the new Gowganda finds from Earlton, Englehart and Charlton. It is only 18 miles from Charlton to Elk Lake, where there are 22 mines and from Elk Lake to Gowganda is 42 miles.

Leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily, on the Grand Trunk "Cobalt Special," Elk Lake can be reached the next afternoon via Cobalt, Haileybury, New Liskeard and Charlton, and this will continue to be the best way.

The Ontario Government are being strongly urged to push on the extension of their line from Charlton which will open up this rich territory.

Full information can be obtained by writing J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, G.T.R., Toronto, Ont. 5d

SPORTING NEWS

WHITBY COULDN'T HOLD PETERBOROUGH JUNIORS ONCE LOCALS GOT GOING

Things took a somewhat unexpected turn at the match last night when Whitby had the score 2-0 in their game with the local juniors. For the first fifteen minutes the blue and white boys played all round the home seven and looked as though they would be able to win quite conveniently. During this period they displayed great form. They covered the ice in a remarkably fast manner, played pretty combination and as for the play went pretty nearly had matters their own way. The Peterborough kids were right after them all the time and the crowd saw the keenest and best hockey of the night. The small following of Whitbyites who came to town with their favorites made themselves known by their enthusiasm — then the disorganization of the visitors began.

After 16 minutes of the initial half had been played Ray secured the first goal for Peterborough, making the standing 2-1.

Giroux repeated two minutes later and the half time score was 2-2.

In the second half Whitby was clearly outplayed and before they had increased their count a single point, the locals ran theirs up to 6.

With the figures 6-2 Blanchard was credited for one which looked suspiciously uncertain.

The goal umpire, a Whitby man, was immediately the centre of attraction for a bunch of argumentation players who showed their hostility to him by what they thought a very bad decision. He was given his ticket of leave, and the spectators among whom he found himself began to tell him of his bad eyesight.

The goal had to be counted however, and made it 6-3 with the home team with the big end of it.

They kept in the lead to the finish of the game and won by 9-6.

The match was easily the best from a spectators point of view that has been seen here this winter and also produced the fastest hockey of the season on local ice.

In the first twenty minutes or so some playing up to a pretty good standard was seen. Both septettes executed some clever team play and the Whitby men travelled around the ice in quite a spectacular manner. They showed a great burst of speed and both teams went through a fast grind.

The visitors took possession of the puck from the face off and made a sweeping combination rush on Peterborough's goal sending in a hot one to Giroux before thirty seconds of play had gone.

In the last few minutes or so of the half the locals had them pretty well looked after however, and commenced to gain a slight advantage.

In the second half Whitby seemed unable to pull themselves together for any great length of time although they flashed out at times with some shows of the splendid playing had done in the earlier stages of the contest. But the Peterborough forwards watched their checks very closely and the defence had no give to it. Besides this the pace the visiting juniors had set in the first half seemed to have taken a lot of snap out of them. Both teams travelled at a mighty lively clip just the same.

Whitby, while they played a pretty game had that fault so common among young players of using poor judgment in the most critical places—around the net and tried too many long shots on goal. When the locals found their feet they showed an advantage in this respect and carried the rubber well in before delivering it.

Ray, Wade and the Giroux brothers distinguished themselves by brilliant and effectives playing. Ray's dazzling rushes were a feature and he had rings around his check and gave the Whitby defence a whole lot of bother.

The ice was hard and fast and just suited him to perfection.

Stan Wade at point, played the best game of his life and not a man on the ice had anything on him in stellar work. In the second half he excelled himself and scored two goals on thrilling rushes from his position at point. He secured one after he had been tripped and was responsible for another carrying the puck right up to the goal and then passing.

Giroux in goal played a wonderful game and stopped many shots that the spectators were sure would find the nets. A big share of the credit of Peterborough's victory must be given to him for his great work.

Cyril Giroux played a whirlwind game and bore in on the nets and took advantage of all openings.

Whitby's stars were Smith at centre and Waugh at cover point.

H Smith in goal played a fine game. Blanchard did some pretty stickhandling but was not effective in the second half.

Referee Livingstone of the Mail and Empire's sporting staff refereed impartially. He was unusually strict and had the fence well lined with players from both sides.

Near the conclusion of the second half Peterborough was playing three men to Whitby's six but the latter could not score at that.

THE PLAY.

The game started with a great display of speed and the puck was soon in Peterborough territory. Giroux blocked a hot one. Hillier was penalized for 2 minutes. Lavery was given the same rest shortly afterwards. The minimum penalty was 2 minutes.

Smith scored the first in 11 mins.—1-0.

Blanchard got a measly goal on a shot from the wing. 4 min—2-0.

Ray made the nets jingle after a beautiful rush 1 min.—2-1

Giroux scored in 2 min—2-2.

Ray, 2 min; Wilson 3 min; Hillier 2 mins. were penalties handed out before the end of the half.

SECOND HALF

Hillier and Jones were given 10 minutes to watch the play from the side, for becoming involved in a gad duel.

Giroux score. 7 min—3-2

Wade had to do 2 minutes and Giroux was given the same.

Shortt, who was getting them on the nets in great fashion, tallied Peterborough's fourth. 4 min—4-2.

Blanchard made a dash up the ice but Wade put an end to his mazy travels by taking the puck from him and going to the other end with it. Lavery checked him and he went down but reached out and poked it through on the play that won the applause of the night—5-2.

Lavery was given 2 minutes for tripping Wade.

Whitby then obtained the goal that caused so much confusion and the removal of the goal umpire—5-3.

Wade broke away again and went from one goal to the other and scored. 6 min—6-3

Shortt did the trick but it was offside and did not count.

Ray rushed and passed to Shortt, who beat out Smith. 5 min—7-3.

Ray got the puck behind Peterborough's goal took it all the way to Whitby's and passed to Ray who completed the play for a goal 3 min—8-3.

Whitby secured the next in 30 seconds on a shot from Smith—8-4.

Blanchard made it interesting by adding another to the visitor's number in 3 mins—8-5.

Ray took one in 30 sec—9-5.

Ray was benched for 2 minutes.

Wade followed him for the same breathing spell.

Smith scored the last goal of the match in 4 mins—9-6.

HOCKEY

The Belleville intermediates are well satisfied with the showing that they made against Lindsay and will practice hard for their game in Peterborough on Friday night. They are by no means dismayed by last Friday's defeat, and still have strong hopes of winning the championship of the district—Belleville Ontario.

A CHALLENGE

The canoe builders challenge the B. F. Ackerman hockey team to a game to be played as soon as suitable arrangements can be made.

A NEW RECORD AT P.B.C. FOR THREE CONSECUTIVE GAMES

A notable bowling feat was accomplished at the PBC last night when Mr R B Gray, a traveller, who is a frequent visitor to Peterborough and is well known among the local bowling fraternity, established a new record for three consecutive games, adding five pins to the record of 656 made by B A Lillie some months ago.

Mr Gray dropped in for a series of games with J B Hay, but in his first three strings the visitor was off color. In his fourth, however, he started in to make the pins turn somersaults, running up a score of 253 which is only eleven pins below the single game record held by Geo. Cairns.

In his second game Mr Gray piled up a total of 236.

In his final game the pins were not falling so well for him and his score was only 176, a total of 661 for the three games, a figure which will take a lot of beating and which will compare with a couple of exceptions with any three game record made in Canada this season.

It has been decided to make the silver trophy donated some time ago a challenge trophy emblematic of the city bowling championship. A series of games will be started at once for the trophy and practically every bowler now taking part in the league games will compete.

In addition new and less experienced bowlers will also be encouraged to try their luck and will be allotted generous handicaps.

BIG BONSPIEL AT WINNIPEG

Hardly more than a month and Winnipeg's annual sporting carnival, the Winnipeg bonspiel, with attendant attractions, will be in full blast. President Lowe and the active committee of the curling association, who have the bonspiel preparations in hand, are now making their annual canvass of citizens in support of the event which has become such a regular and popular fixture in Winnipeg's winter season. They have already received many assurances of support, and with extra ice provided for it, is expected that this year's bonspiel will be the best ever held in the west which is saying a great deal.

The bonspiel expenses will be heavy this year owing to the fund also raised to assist in the expenses of the Manitoba curling team for Scotland, a goodly portion of which will be paid from the funds of the association. The committee also ask friends to remember the charity bonspiel held last year under the auspices of the city curlers netted the sum of $1,778, all of which was devoted to charitable institutions and the deserving poor of the city. The bonspiel will open for play on the morning of Wednesday, Feb. 10th. All curlers are expected to reach the city if possible, on the evening of Tuesday, Feb. 9th, when the semi-annual meeting of the association will be held. The bonspiel will extend over eight or ten days, but with increased ice accommodation it is expected that many of the preliminary games will be concluded earlier in the bonspiel than has been possible during the past year.

THE RING

Regardless of Jack Johnson's easy victory over Tommy Burns, Bob Day, the amateur champion, does not think the black man anything to be afraid of. In recounting his little mill a year ago in the Star Theatre with Johnson, Bob's narrative coincides with the newspaper stories as given out the morning after. They were to go three rounds of one minute each, Johnny Lees bringing the amateur out of the west end iron shops where he is a foreman only an hour before he pulled off his jersey.

Sam Fitzpatrick held the watch, and they were soon ready, after the dismissal of the matinee house. Day sailed right in, surprising the colored man as much as the select assembly. Undoubtedly the amateur had all the better of it, so that in thirty seconds Fitzpatrick called time. Johnson improved in the second, also the third, each round being only half a minute duration.

When the word was given for the fourth workout, Lees cautioned Day, and this, the latter says, worried him considerably, though his friends say it aws a timely warning. For Johnson cut loose a terrific right-hand swing that Day only partially stopped with his left shoulder, raising the blow above his jaw and causing an abrasion on the nose. It was undoubtedly intended for a narcotic, and almost landed. However, in talking over the incident yesterday, Day said he had no fears, and he would like nothing better than a set-to-to-morrow, if the champion were available.

Looking over the different men who are after Johnson, it is no wonder that Bob Day's friends think that the Toronto champion would make a better showing in a match with the champion than Ketchell, Kaufman, Langford, Hart, or even Tommy Burns. Day in all his bouts in Scotland and Canada has never been knocked down.—The Toronto World.

The C.P.R. Telegraph seven want to get a game on with the G.N.W. team as soon as the ice at the Brock street rink can be arranged for.

COBOURG BEAT THE ONTARIOS

The Ontarios played their return game in Cobourg on Saturday evening and were defeated by a score of 9 to 2. Many reasons are set forth for the defeat but the fact of the matter is that Cobourg had a better team and played faster hockey.

Cobourg had two changes on their line-up from New Year's evening, Hayden playing cover and Doheny rover. Both men are very speedy and they made the team 50 per cent. stronger. The locals had one change from New Year's night. Lowthian replacing Hewson at cover point. The Ontarios were accompanied by a strong band of rooters and notwithstanding the defeat they made a lot of noise. Every available rig in Port Hope was in use and many went down on the 7.30 train taking a chance on a ride back.—Port Hope Guide.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. J. M. Tweedale, 12 Napanee Street, Toronto, Canada, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was a great sufferer from female troubles, had those dreadful bearing down pains, and during my monthly periods I suffered so I had to go to bed. I doctored for a long time but the doctor's treatment failed to help me. My husband saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised and got a bottle for me. I commenced its use and soon felt better. I kept on taking it until I was well and an entirely different woman. I also found that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made childbirth much easier for me. I would recommend your Vegetable Compound to every woman who is afflicted with female troubles."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Tweedale, it will do for other suffering women.

SPORTING TALK

The Lindsay Warder man chatters as glibly as Sam Hughes defending the Ross rifle, but he forgets that a Belleville team, in Lindsay, once made his Midgets quit and demand that the match be stopped, and Referee Wagborne, who had unfortunately left his backbone at home on the piano, was weak enough to give it to them. The Bellevilles will see the Midgets again on the 29th of the month. If the lads, after three weeks more practise, are beaten fairly, we'll doff our chapeau to the Blue and White flyers, but in the meantime we fail to see where Lindsay has much on Belleville, and our address will be Missouri, till after the 29th, anyhow.—Belleville Intelligencer.

INTERCOLONIAL SOLD, PERHAPS

Mackenzie and Mann, Said to Have Bought Government Road.

Montreal, Jan. 13.—There is a rumor current here that Mackenzie and Mann have got the Intercolonial hard and fast and that the prices paid will be forty millions.

The purchasers will no doubt bond the road. At $20,000 a mile from Halifax to Montreal this will be equal to sixteen millions.

There can be no doubt that the announcement of such a deal will encounter a great deal of opposition from the lower provinces, although evidence is not wanting that agencies are at work attempting to win Nova Scotia and New Brunswick over to the idea of a sale to one of the big corporations.

It is stated that the whole Government is so tired of the deficits that very little opposition to the project has been met with.

Mr. Borden will of course oppose the measure.

PUBLIC RIDICULE.

The Time When It Served as Punishment For Lawbreakers.

It is the problem of all ages to make the punishment fit the crime, but they seem to have come nearer its solution in Plantagenet times than they ever were after the introduction of flogging.

When burglary meant the total ruin of the man who kept his whole fortune in his house the burglar was hanged. But in the same period public ridicule served as a punishment for most crimes, and the man who sold bad meat was placed in the pillory and his bad meat burned to windward of him; the vintner who sold bad wine was forced to drink some of it and the rest was poured over his head; for more serious offenses the criminal had to walk along Cheapside bareheaded, dressed only in a shirt and carrying a wax taper, escorted by the mayor's sergeants.

The result was that law and order were maintained far better than when men became brutalized by the horrible floggings of Georgian times.

Punishments became worse with religious persecutions, and after the reformation the pillory, with its terrible accompaniment of slit ears, whippings, etc., became popular, to say nothing of torturing, burning at the stake, and so on. At St. Thomas' hospital one of the sisters, "for a grave offense, contrarie to ye lawe of God and according to the proffe of three wytnesses," was ordered to "be punished and have xil strypes well laid on."

But all this, bad as it was, was less demoralizing than the terrible criminal code of George II.'s reign, when there were forty-eight crimes punishable by death and forty punishable by whipping, transportation or pillory. Flogging for mere vagrancy began with Henry VIII., and as late as 1804 six women were publicly whipped at Gloucester for this unavoidable offense. And never did public morality sink so low.

In those good old days we flogged our sailormen "to encourage the others," and there were many trussed at the triangles who would now be simply admonished. A pleasant form of punishment was "flogging through the fleet." It was given to the ignorant sailorman who struck a superior officer. And when he had been carried from one ship to another and flogged in each he survived—if he was unfortunate—for six months. The lucky man died accidentally.—London Chronicle.

CONFEDERATE FLAGS.

The Stars and Bars and Then the Red Battleflag.

The first Confederate flag was the stars and bars, a blue field and three stripes, one white and two red, and on the blue field seven white stars in a circle, a star for each state that up to that time had seceded. In battle, however, it was seen that this banner bore altogether too close a resemblance to the stars and stripes, and thus there came into use the Confederate battleflag, the origin of which seems to have been as follows:

This is the statement of General William L. Cabell: "When the Confederate army commanded by General Beauregard and the Federal army confronted each other at Manassas, it was seen that the Confederate flag and the stars and stripes looked at a distance so much alike that it was hard to distinguish one from the other. General Beauregard, thinking that serious mistakes might be made in recognizing our troops, after the battle of July 18, at Blackburn Ford, ordered that a small badge should be worn on the left shoulder by our troops and, as I was chief quartermaster, ordered me to purchase a large amount of red flannel and to distribute it to each regiment."

This Confederate battleflag was adopted in September, 1861, and was designed by Generals Johnston and Beauregard. Red was its color, with a blue St. Andrew's cross reaching from corner to corner and white stars on the cross representing the different southern states. The women of the south made these flags by hundreds out of their red and blue silk dresses. Miss Constance Cary, who afterward became Mrs. Burton Harrison, the well known novelist, was one of the three southern girls who made the first three battleflags.—Magazine of American History.

The Man In the Moon.

The dark markings so conspicuous on the moon and known as the "man in the moon" are great plains, lying at a much lower level than the brighter parts. In all probability they are old sea bottoms, some of them having undergone upheavals and other changes since the water retreated from them, others presenting the appearance of being unchanged since the time when the waters dried up or were in some other way removed from them.

His Thirst.

Husband—May, just send up some filtered water. Wife—Which was it last night, "Detained at the office" or "A friend at the club?" Husband—Why? Wife—Because I didn't know whether you wanted a tumbler or a pailful.—London Opinion.

Off His Mind.

"Have you forgotten that X that you borrowed of me some time ago?"

"Oh, no. I still have it in my mind."

"Well, don't you think this would be a good time to relieve your mind of it?"

The sorrow of yesterday is as nothing, that of today is bearable, but that of tomorrow is gigantic because indistinct.—Euripides.

The Taber Companys store, post office, and Eastern Townships Bank at Taber, Alta, were burned.

THE POOR WHIFFLETIT.

And the Low Down Trick by Which It Is Subdued.

Seating himself at a restaurant table, a Chicago man said:

"Waiter, what kind of fish have you?"

"Oh," said the waiter, "all kinds—whitefish, bluefish, graylings, sea bass, weakfish, perch"—

"Pshaw!" yawned the customer. "Cut that out. I'm tired of those common fishes. Ain't you got some new kind of fish—some kind I never ate before?"

"Well," said the waiter, "the whiffletits is very fine this morning."

"What in thunder is a whiffletit?"

"Why, doesn't a fish sharp like you know what a whiffletit is? Common enough here. You see, the whiffletit lives only in circular lakes. You go out and find a circular lake and hire a boat. Then you row out all alone to the middle of the lake, about a mile or so, and anchor. Then you take an augur and bore a hole in the water and bait it by putting a piece of cheese on the edge of the hole. The whiffletit comes up to get the cheese, eats it, and it makes him swell up so that he can't back down the hole."

"Well," said the customer, breathless, "what then?"

"Why," replied the waiter as he filled a glass of water, "you lean over the side of the boat and laugh the whiffletit to death. Want a few?"

A LUCKY ESCAPE.

Thrilling Experience of a Cyclist on a Swiss Mountain.

A Dr. Bach was cycling down the pass near Goschenen, in Switzerland, when his brake snapped and the machine darted forward at terrific speed. At the foot of the mountain is a bridge spanning a deep river gorge. The physician tried to guide his flying machine on the bridge, but the front wheel struck a side wall, and he was flung over the parapet. While falling through the air he caught a chain hanging from a girder. The momentum of his body, suddenly arrested, nearly wrenched his grip loose, but he was a strong man and kept his hold. While swinging in midair suspended over the raging river and unable to improve his perilous position an automobile came chugging down the pass. The hapless man shouted for help, but he could not be seen from the bridge, and his cries were drowned by the noise of the motor and the sound of the river. A few minutes after the automobile had passed a carriage drove across the bridge. Again he cried out for help, but in vain. The awful strain on arms and fingers was becoming intolerable, and the doctor was about to drop into the torrent to an inevitable death when two peasants came by and saw him. They flung a noose over him and pulled him up. He fainted and was ill for a long time.—Strand Magazine.

Couldn't Remember His Star.

As illustrative of the fits of abstraction to which some men are subject in an extraordinary degree, Sir Henry Irving was fond of relating a story of his former manager, Charles Dillon. Some years after "The Bells" had made Irving famous he chanced to meet Dillon and was outspoken in his delight.

Dillon looked him over, finally remarking that he had no recollection of him. Irving reminded him of the tour they had made together and mentioned his name. Dillon thought for awhile, and, recognition appearing to dawn upon him, he extended his hand. "Irving? Oh, yes. I remember the name," he declared reminiscently. "And what are you doing now, Irving?"

A Poet's Breakfast.

George Meredith and Rossetti were to take up house together, but it occurred to the former to go and see what the house was like first. He arrived at noon. Rossetti was not up. But on the table was his breakfast—six eggs on as many slices of bacon. The repast had been waiting some time. The eggs were draining out their lifeblood on the coagulating bacon. Rossetti came in in a dressing gown, otherwise just as he had got out of bed. He sat down and, "devoured the plat like an ogre." Meredith sent him a check for the quarter's rent next day, but he and the poet never kept house together.

An Incident of Travel.

In Nuremberg, having occasion to ask my way, I said in my best Meisterschaft to a gentleman passing:

"Koennen sie mir vielleicht sagen wie man nach das Deutschen museum geht?"

Imagine my mortification when he replied: "I am going that way. I will show you."

We walked on, and, learning that I was an American and had traveled in England, he said:

"I am professor of English here. That is why I speak English so well. But I didn't been in England already once yet."—Lippincott's.

Unlucky For His Side.

"So you cling to that childish superstition about thirteen being unlucky," said the traveler.

"Yes," answered the other. "Can't get away from it."

"But see how completely it is disproved. This glorious country started with thirteen colonies."

"Very true. But I am an Englishman."

Innocent.

Mrs. Knicker—How did you know your husband was working down in the office? Mrs. Youngbride—I telephoned, and central said, "Busy."—New York Sun.

Frank Stenlake aged 50, of Windsor, fell twenty feet from a load of hay which buried him for a time.

UNREST IN INDIA.

London Paper Says Ungloved Hand Is Needed to Avoid Trouble.

Every morning the papers give fresh evidence that nowhere in the world is there freedom from trouble or the apprehension of trouble. Nation is stirring against nation; creed against creed; class against class. No longer do we hear, even from our sentimentalist rulers, the confident assertion that the day of the sword is past, and that reason will henceforth rule the world. Unhappily, the signs of lawlessness and of coming danger are nowhere more apparent than in India. Fifty years ago, after the Mutiny had been suppressed with a sternness which was the truest mercy, the responsibility for the Government of that great congeries of tribes and tongues was assumed by the British Crown. For fifty years the devoted servants of the Sirkar have driven the road and bridged the ford; fought plague and famine; worked and died for the people, with the result that the shrewdest, but, happily, the least virile, race among them, encouraged by sentimentalists, and swollen with the pride of ill-digested learning, are asserting, with every form of dastard violence, equality with their white rulers.

Meanwhile, the talking political parrots at home ignore the fact that India was won by the sword, has been retained by the sword, and must be held by the sword in the future. Lord Morley, to his credit be it said, has, on several occasions, shown an admirable firmness. But how far the hands of the men on the spot are tied by sentimental squeamishness it is impossible to tell. At any rate, a lamentable hesitation is being shown in grappling with the state of rebellion, scarcely veiled, which exists in Bengal. An English lady blown to pieces in her carriage; four attempts made on the life of the lieutenant-governor; police agents shot down in the open street and in broad daylight; an informer killed actually in a Government prison; these are some of the events of the past twelve months which are causing grave searchings of heart among all who know the conditions on which British rule in India is stayed. And, in face of this, the Government commit the phenomenal blunder of handing the body of an executed criminal over to his relations, and permitting his funeral to be made the occasion of a political demonstration, and an incitement to violence. Have they never read Mark Antony's speech over the body of Caesar?

In the commander-in-chief we have, fortunately, a strong, stern man, and were the preservation of peace handed over to the military arm we should feel confidence. But it is, unfortunately, not realized as yet that the charming qualities which make a man an acceptable and successful figurehead in Canada are not those which avail to rule over races of another color and another mind, who own no argument but force and mistake leniency for weakness. Lord Minto is an amiable man, and has proved himself a gallant soldier. But he is an ordinary man, and it is the exceptional man of clear sight and firm purpose whom India needs as her ruler to-day. It is an ungrateful task to criticize any man who is at the post of danger; but the interests of British rule in India and of India herself must be set before those of any individual, and criticism has become a public duty.—The London Graphic.

TRY THIS RECIPE FOR RHEUMATISM

A Simple Mixture Anyone Can Prepare, Makes the Kidneys Filter Out Acids

To make up enough of the "Dandelion treatment," which is claimed to be relieving nearly every sufferer who uses it for backache, kidney complaint sore weak bladder and rheumatism; get from any good prescription pharmacy one-half ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion, one ounce Compound Kargon and three ounces Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Those who have tried it claim that it acts gentle but thoroughly on the kidneys, relieving backache and bladder troubles and urinary difficulties before you realise it. Many cases of rheumatism are known to have been relieved within a few days, the pain and swelling diminishing with each dose.

This simple receipt is said to strengthen and cleanse the eliminative tissues of the Kidneys so that they can filter and strain from the blood and system the poisons, acids and waste matter, which cause not only Rheumatism, but numerous other diseases. Every man or woman here who feels that their kidneys are not healthy and active, or who suffers from any urinary troubles whatever, should not hesitate to make up this mixture, as it is certain to do much good, and may save you from much misery and suffering after while.

THE RULE OF THREE.

A Superstition of the Men Who Build the Skyscrapers.

These airy crews are a generous crowd, says Ernest Poole, writing in Everybody's Magazine of men who work on skyscrapers. They earn high pay. When working full time they make $27 a week, and, like their rough brothers out on the plains, they are quick to give of their earnings. On Saturday afternoons when they line up at the pay window the Sisters of Charity are always there, and quarters and dimes jingle merrily into their little tin boxes.

Behind this generous giving is a superstitious belief that amid risks like these it is well to propitiate fate all you can, for fate is a relentless old machine, and when once its wheels begin grinding no power on earth can stop them. The "rule of three" is centuries old. You may hear of it out on the ocean, in the steel mills, in the railroad camps and down in the mines. And you find it up here on the jobs in the skies.

"Believe it?" said an old foreman. "You bet they believe it."

"Do you?" I asked.

"Well," he said, "all I can say is this: It may be a spell or it may be because the way of the whole crew is expecting it. But, anyhow, when two accidents come close together you can be sure that the third ain't very far off."

BUYING CHAIRS BY SIGHT.

Few Folks Ever Think to Try Them by Sitting In Them.

"I went with some folks the other day," the man said, "to buy a couple of chairs. We went to a furniture store and looked over what they had to offer.

"There were just ordinary chairs for a bedroom, so that it wasn't a very momentous purchase. The folks I was with looked at the cloth on the chairs and asked questions about the wood and how the chairs would wear. Then they bought the chairs and ordered them sent home.

"What struck me as peculiar about the transaction was that never once did either of the two persons with whom I was think of sitting down in the chairs to see whether or not they were comfortable. I dropped into a furniture store not long afterward and asked a salesman about it, and I wasn't surprised to learn that very few persons buying chairs ever seem to think about testing them by sitting in them.

"Except in the case of rockers, that is. Few persons can resist the temptation to take a few preliminary rocks in a prospective purchase."

Learned by Experience.

"I always make it a point," said the man with a wart on his nose, a couple of cross eyes and a hair lip, but otherwise possessing a perfectly good face, "to say polite and complimentary things to the ladies. It does me no harm, and I notice it always gives them a lot of pleasure. My motto is to scatter sunshine provided it costs no money as I journey along."

"I used to do that, too," said the man whose set of neglected whiskers were calling plaintively for the lawn mower, "but I have been broken of the habit. No more sunshine radiating from these quarters."

"And what cured you?" asked the other.

"A couple of breach of promise suits."

Yes, It Was True.

"Is it true that you threw something at Mike that caused the swelling over his eye?" the squire inquired of a little woman.

"Yis, sor, I did," said the woman, catching her breath, "but I niver mint to hurt him, an' well he knows it. We'd just come home from me cousin's weddin', an' I was feelin' kinder soft to Mike, an' I up an' axed him if he loved me as much as he did the day we was married, an'—an', yer anner, he was so slow answerin' me that I up wid the mop an' flung it at him! If we poor women don't have love our hearts jist breaks inside uv us!"

TWO DRUG STORES OPEN EACH NIGHT

Instead of Only One as Heretofore—Decided Upon at Meeting

In future there will be two drug stores in the city open late. This was decided upon at a meeting of the druggists and will go into effect at once. Heretofore only one store has been open, but it was thought better for the convenience of the public to have two open each evening.

The following arrangement was decided upon;—

Monday—Wm. Madill and Warne Drug Co.

Tuesday—H. S. Macdonald and R. Davidson.

Wednesday—J. D. Tully and McDermid & Jury.

Thursday—E. S. Payne and R. Davidson.

Friday—Jas. Lynch and Nugent Drug Co.

WEDDING BELLS

KELLY—MOORE

A wedding that is of interest to many in the city was celebrated to-day at "Moorevale," Smith, the residence of Mr. and Mrs. J K. Moore, when their daughter Mary, became the wife of Thomas Noble Dean Kelly, son of the late W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth. The ceremony took place at two o'clock in the presence of over sixty guests, the Rev. Mr. Bonner, pastor of Gilmour Memorial Baptist church, officiating.

The bride was handsomely gowned in ivory satin, wearing the conventional veil and orange blossoms and carrying a beautiful shower bouquet of white bride roses. She was attended by Miss Mary Elliott, of Peterborough, and Miss Beatrice Kelly, of Bridgenorth, both of whom wore fancy cream empire gowns and pearl rings, the gifts of the groom. The wedding march was played by Miss Ida Sanderson, who, when the ceremony was over, sang, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden." The groom was assisted by Dr. Burritt Kelly, of Toronto.

The large number of presents that were received evidenced the popularity of the happy couple.

Mrs. Moore wore a handsome gown of black marvellieux silk.

An elaborate luncheon was served before Mr. and Mrs. Kelly left on their honeymoon, which will be spent in Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo. The bride wore a travelling suit of navy blue with Persian lamb coat and toque.

Many guests were present from the city and outside points, including Mr. F. D. Moore, of Lindsay, Dr. McQueen, of Yarker, Miss Zetta Bottum, of Bobcaygeon; Mr. George Morrow and the Misses Morrow, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. E. Elliott, of this city.

OBITUARY

MRS. CLARENCE LUFFMAN.

The death occurred at Nicholls Hospital this morning at four o'clock of Lucy Elliott, wife of Mr. Clarence Luffman, 224 Lake street, after an illness of nine weeks. She was 27 years of age, and her death at such an early stage of life is much regretted. She was a woman highly esteemed by all who knew her and the news of her demise will be learned of with the profoundest regret. She was the daughter of Mr. John Elliott, of Tyendinaga, and was married six years ago to her now surviving husband. She was a member of Park street Baptist church.

Two children, one three years old and an infant, only two days old, and four sisters and one brother are left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at ten o'clock, from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

SPORTING

CITY LEAGUE GAMES FOR TO-MORROW

The most interesting game of the City League takes place to-morrow night between the Straths and the T.A.S. The abstainers will trot out a very strong seven and one that should give the champions the busiest time of their lives to beat them.

Lakefield will bring a team with them to play the Belmonts that should figure very prominently in the championship race. On account of the condition of the ice and the amount of practice the teams have had, the games should be fast and clean.

HANDSOME TROPHY IS PRESENTED

Additional interest has been created in curling circles here by the presentation of a very handsome shield for annual competition between Bobcaygeon and Peterborough clubs. The shield was donated by Mr. A. E. Bottum, of Bobcaygeon, and Mr. J. E. A. Fitzgerald, of Peterborough, and will be known as the Fitzgerald-Bottum shield. The trophy is a very handsome one of quartered oak with silver mountings. Around the top is a metal drape, in the centre of which are the words Peterborough and Bobcaygeon. Immediately below this is a figure of a curler ready to put his stone. The centre of the shield is mounted with silver with the words "For Annual Competition. Presented by Fitzgerald and Bottum. Under this are two brooms and a pair of stones. It is a very handsome trophy and will weigh about 25 pounds. The conditions for the competition are that three rinks from Bobcaygeon play three Peterborough rinks here and four rinks from Peterborough will play four Bobcaygeon rinks there, and it is very likely that the first half of the first competition will be played here this week after the bonspiel.

The curling clubs of this city and Bobcaygeon greatly appreciate the gift of Messrs. Fitzgerald and Bottum. The annual competition will create a more friendly feeling between the curlers of the two towns and will also add much interest to the game as has the Sheppard-Neill Cup games between Orillia and Peterborough.

ASSOCIATION HAS SURPLUS

Poultry Association Has a Balance of $114—All Accounts Have Been Paid

A meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association was held in the Bank of Montreal building last night, when everything in connection with the poultry show was cleared up. Cheques were issued to all the prize winners in full and all accounts were paid. To the credit of the Association after expenses were paid was $114, and of this $15 was voted to Mr. George Paxman, the superintendent of the show, and to Mr. C. J. Hicks, the secretary, was voted $20. The association has now $75 to their credit in the bank to start next year with, besides having paid for the 125 coops built this year. The surplus will be used in building some 300 more coops, as the show next year will be more than double the size of this year's.

The next meeting of the association will be held the first Thursday night in February, when officers for the ensuing year will be elected.

Hamilton Hebrews will establish a Jewish school.

PERSONAL

Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P., who has been confined to the house with la grippe for the past few days, is around again.

REGULATE PRICES ELECTRIC POWER

Railway Commission Will Have Charge of Electric Energy Developed on Trent Canal --Will Regulate Prices.

An Ottawa despatch says:

In view of the very large development of water power which will result from the completion of the Trent Valley Canal across the province of Ontario from Georgian Bay to Lake Ontario, the Minister of Railways has thought it well that a policy should be laid down which will ensure the sale of this power to individual users at reasonable rates.

Where power from the Trent Canal therefore, is being sold to the public in electric energy or other form it will be in the hands of the Board of Railway Commissioners to regulate the price which the public will have to pay for it. This will apply to existing power works as well as to those which are established hereafter.

The completion of the canal will largely increase the power which present leases are able to draw from it and this will necessitate a readjustment of the terms of lease. Authority to place this matter in the hands of the Railway Commission will be taken from parliament at the approaching session.

TO RECOVER THE AMOUNT OF A BAD INVESTMENT

Six Nation Indians Sent Delegates to Ottawa to Request Government to Refund Their Tribe $153,025 With Interest From 1834 for Money Spent on Defunct Canal Scheme.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—Three Indian chiefs, with blood in their eyes passed through Toronto last night bound for Ottawa. They were Chiefs Dekanenraneh (two ranks of men), Shohskoharovane (big raft), and Sakokares (much bite) — modernly known as A. G. Smith, William Smith and Josiah Hill.

They are after a refund from the Dominion Government of $153,025, with compound interest from the year 1834 to the present time; the price and accrued interest upon 1,800 acres of valuable corn land which was flooded by the construction operations of the Grand River Navigation Co. in the early thirties; also the price and interest of 300 acres of land said to have been forced from their people by the Canadian Government to be utilized as tow-paths along the waterway which was never developed.

They have been deputed by the council of the Six Nation Indians of the Brant Reserve, and, armed with a voluminous legal brief and a letter of assurance from Hon. Frank Oliver, superintendent of Indian affairs, that they will be given a fair hearing, they are in high hopes of securing a remittal in full without going into the law courts.

Senator Belcourt and Solicitor A. G. Chisholm of London have been their legal advisers.

The trio left Brantford at 4.30 and had supper with "Chief" Tom Flanagan at the Grand Central Hotel, leaving for Ottawa via C.P.R. at 10 p.m.

The Claim.

Their case is this: They always had the privilege of selling land in order to secure money for improvement and living purposes, and the Imperial Government permitted them to deposit the proceeds with the crown for safekeeping with interest. In 1834, when a chartered company wanted to make the Grand River navigable from Lake Erie to Brantford, the Government appropriated their people's funds and invested it against their wish in stock of the Grand River Navigation Co.

Enough money was subscribed in this way to absorb three-quarters of the capital stock. The Buffalo & Lake Huron Railway (now the Grand Trunk) was chartered and killed the scheme.

In addition to surrendering some 300 acres of land for a tow-path along the canal, 1,800 acres of corn land were flooded and rendered forever useless. While the scheme was still in embryo the Government of Upper Canada got the trust of the Indians' money in its hands, and, according to Chief A. G. Smith, "did as they pleased with it afterwards."

Realizing that the Brant River Navigation scheme was a failure, they urged time and again that their money be restored to them, and were so anxious to get rid of the stock that they agreed to surrender an additional 40,000 acres of land providing that the purchaser would take over the defunct stock. The Government took the 40,000 acres, but left them still laden with the stock, Sir John Colborne, they say, was governor at that time.

There are now in Canada about 4,000 descendants of the Six Nation Indians, and they expect that the Government's sense of justice will refund to them $600,000. They now have between $800,000 and $900,000 invested with the Government, upon which they are drawing interest.

ONE DEAD AND ONE BADLY INJURED

John Hoy and John Trempe of Toronto, Fell Fifty Feet From Roof at Newmarket.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—John Hoy, 35 years, married, 221 Maria street, West Toronto, a foreman tinsmith, is dead and John Trempe, 25 years married, 254 Sydenham street, a helper, is in so critical a condition at the General Hospital, that an ante-mortem statement was taken last night.

This is the result of the collapse of a roofer's scaffolding on the new Friends' College, in course of construction at Newmarket, at four o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The two men had been at work upon the sub-contract of A. Matthews, who was putting on the slates and tin work of the roof.

They were finishing up the slater's work, which had been left two weeks ago, and, according to Trempe, were at a point of 25 feet from the edge of the roof, using the scaffold tackle that the slaters had used when this gave way. The men slipped to the eaves and unable to stop their flight, dropped 50 feet to the ground.

Hoy's right arm was broken and three ribs were crushed, one of these puncturing his lung, causing a severe internal hemorrhage.

Trempe's left thigh was broken and his right arm was fractured. Both suffered severely from shock.

Trempe was met at the Union Station by a private ambulance and hurried to the General Hospital. Hoy's body was sent to Harry Ellis' College street undertaking rooms. Dr. Scott, who is a coroner, communicated with County Crown Attorney Drayton, who did not decide as to the necessity of an inquest, but ordered the taking of a statement from Trempe, which was done.

Hoy is an Englishman. He, with Trempe, who is a Canadian, had been employed by the Matthews' firm for two years.

He leaves a widow and one little girl, four years old.

IS NOW SETTLED

Province Finally Severs Connection With Industries at the Soo.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—Hon. Col. Matheson, Provincial Treasurer, has been in New York for several days taking part in the arrangements by which the affairs of the Canadian Improvement Co. and the Soo Corporation are being settled up.

It will be remembered that one-half of the amount guaranteed by the province was paid off some time ago, leaving the provincial liability at $1,000,000.

Last night Sir James Whitney received the following telegram from Col. Matheson:

"The Canadian Improvement Co. paid in $1,000,000 and Morton Trust Co. gave certificate that all guaranteed certificates are cancelled and the matter closed."

"This," said James Whitney, "puts an end to the provincial liability and the Provincial Treasurer deserves great credit for the pains he has bestowed upon this matter from the beginning, ending in the satisfactory result above mentioned."

SMALLPOX AT PORT HOPE

No New Developments---Disease is of a Mild Form

Port Hope, Jan. 13.—There are no new developments in the smallpox outbreak to-day and the disease is confined to two places. Vaccina- is being merrily carried along and a large number of both sexes have had their arms attended to.

The local physicians state that the disease is a very modified form and with the proper precautions should be easily stamped out.

NATURAL GAS FOR LINDSAY

Mr. R. H. Leary There on Behalf of American Capitalists.

Mr R. H. Leary, of Peterborough, is in town on behalf of an American firm of capitalists who have a proposition that should be of interest and may be of advantage to the town.

A meeting is called for tonight in the council chamber at 7.30 to discuss and consider the question.

Briefly the company desire an exclusive franchise for the laying on town streets of natural gas mains. They also desire options on about 3000 acres of adjoining farm land for the privilege of boring for gas.

They do not wish anyone to take stock. If gas is found the farmers and the town get the benefit. If gas is not found, the company guarantee to leave the properties in proper shape and to pay all damages to crops, fences, etc. through the operations.

The Town Council and the Board of Trade are to be present tonight and Mr Leary will explain his case. There should be a large turnout of citizens. —Lindsay Free Press.

FRENCH GOVERNOR IS LOOKED FOR

Quebec Paper Says One Should Succeed Forget.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—The announcement that Lieutenant-Governor Forget of Saskatchewan may be called to the Senate in place of the late Senator Bernier of St. Boniface, has caused a good deal of comment in the Quebec press.

L'Action Sociale, the Quebec clerical organ, not only wants the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Bernier filled by a French-Canadian, but that journal also wants the governorship to go to a French candidate.

L'Action Sociale says they do not want to raise the race cry, but simply to ask that they shall retain their position in the west.

The French, the paper says, were the first to occupy the great west, and they should count for something in the opinion of the paper.

HAINES TRIAL NEAR THE END

Case Will be in Hands of the Jury To-night---A Juror's Pluck.

Flushing, N.Y., Jan. 14.—Events crowded fast yesterday in the trial of Thornton Jenkins Hains. When court adjourned last night, Juror Thomas Walsh, injured in a street car accident in New York Tuesday night, was placed in the care of a physician by Justice Crane, that his injuries might not cause a mis-trial of the case.

Counsel for the defence concluded their summing up yesterday afternoon, and Prosecutor Darrin began his address to the jury. Mr. Darrin will conclude his speech some time to-day, and Justice Crane after his charge will give the case over to the jury.

Only the pluck of Juror Walsh saved the Hains' case from mis-trial and postponement yesterday. Battered almost beyond recognition from a fall from a street car, Walsh came from the hospital to the court and sat through the day's trial, though at times he appeared to suffer greatly, and Justice Crane took frequent recesses that the injured juror might recover his strength. The juror informed Justice Crane that he felt that he could continue, but only when a physician gave his assent would the justice permit the case to go on. He was cared for last night by a physician in Flushing.

Prosecutor Darrin, following the closing address of Mr. McIntyre for the defence, bitterly scored many of the defence's witnesses called to testify as to the insanity of Capt. Hains. For over two hours the state's attorney dwelt upon the question of the rationality of the army officer. His address to the jury was clothed in no dramatic terms of forensic utterance, and he confined himself to marshalling the facts from the evidence.

OFFICERS WILL BE INSTALLED

High Court Deputies D. N. Brown of Norwood, and A. Bradshaw, of Roseneath, arrived in the city this morning and will attend the meetin of Court Chemong, No. 530, I.O.F., to-night. They will perform the interesting ceremony of installing the officers. The meeting will be held in the Sons of England Hall at eight o'clock.

WIFE RECEIVES NEWS OF THE DEATH OF HER CHILD ON SAME DAY HER HUSBAND DIED

On the same day that her husband passed away, the young wife of Wm. Vanness Haggart, who died yesterday at his father's residence, 619 Union street, received the sad intelligence that her child only a month old, had died at Richfield Springs, N.Y. Mrs. Haggart came here to attend her husband in his illness, leaving her child with her mother. Much sympathy is felt for the sorrowing wife.

The late Mr. Haggart was 21 years, 11 months old. The deceased was very well known in Peterborough, having been born here and lived the greater part of his life in this city. He was a resident of Richfield Springs, N.Y., for three years, but returned to Peterborough last summer and had lived here since. He had been ill for some time with pulmonary affection.

The deceased was married and his wife survives as well as his parents, one brother, Mr. Fred. Haggart, and one sister, Mrs. Mutton, residing in Creston, in the Kootenay District, B.C.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock from the family residence, Union street, to the Little Lake cemetery.

THE AMERICAN PICTURE SHOWS MUST BE REFINED

A Chicago despatch says: — Five cent theatres and the moving picture business generally throughout the United States are to be regenerated, morally and physically, by the producing interests themselves in this field of amusement enterprise.

It transpired Wednesday that the ten manufacturers and importers supplying America with moving pictures have entered into an ironclad agreement to uplift the character of the entertainment and its surroundings.

Pictures of crime and immoral and indecent scenes are to be barred from the 5 and 10 cent theatre stage and the small fry of showmen with their ill ventilated, unsafe, bandbox halls are to be driven out of business.

It is denied that the arrangement includes any trust features or any advance in the sale price of film though it is admitted that the renting rates to the small theatre will be raised 50 per cent.

MOIR TRIAL AT LONDON

London Soldier Was Subject to Fits Plea of the Defence.

London, Jan. 14.—When the trial of Private William A. Moir, charged with the slaying of Color-Sergt. Lloyd, was adjourned at six o'clock last night, all the evidence for the crown was in and the defence had advanced far enough with their case to give a clear idea of the line upon which they are fighting in their efforts to save the young soldier.

The evidence given by the defence favored strong the "brain storm idea." Evidence was brought out to show that Moir was subject to fits, but no evidence was adduced to show that he still retained the use of his limbs during these attacks. A good deal of testimony, however, was advanced to show that such cases are not impossible, and the defence appear to be prepared to back this line of argument by further witnesses, who are being called to-day.

The evidence of the crown traced the tragedy from the time that Moir reached the barracks until he was captured in the stable near Arthur.

There is no shadow of doubt that Moir did the shooting. It is a point to which the defence hold, however, that Lloyd was reaching for the muzzle of the rifle in Moir's hands when the fatal shot was fired.

One feature of the trial was the statement of one of the witnesses at the barracks, who said that he had in his own possession at the time of the shooting from 1,500 to 2,000 rounds of ammunition.

It is expected that the evidence will be concluded to-day, and the fate of Moir will probably be in the hands of the jury before night.

Want Poultry Show

RAILWAYS IN WEST

Two Thousand Miles Have Been Built During Past Year.

Special to the Review.

Winnipeg, Jan 14— The railways have played a most important part in the development of Western Canada in the past year. Two thousand miles of railway has been built in that time by the various systems, which has opened up a vast amount of good country, paving the way for new settlement. Of this the Canadian Pacific built 826 miles, the Grand Trunk Pacific 854, and the Canadian Northern the balance. This remarkable extension in railway construction has contributed as much toward the good conditions prevailing in business circles in the west as has the record crops that have been marketed. The total mileage of all railway companies now operating in Western Canada at the close of 1908 is 10,757 miles.

Thirty million dollars has been mentioned as the amount of the Canadian Pacific will appropriate toward western extension this year in the building of numerous branches and connecting lines as feeders to their great main line carrier.

The Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern have hundreds of miles of graded and surveyed work in hand, and are negotiating for the purchase of terminal properties at Calgary for a union station.

The Great Northern railway —the Hill system—will it is expected, be into Winnipeg by midsummer as from an official announcement the central property purchased by this company two years ago at a cost of over $2,000,000 is being cleared and put in readiness for the erection of magnificent terminal buildings. The net work of steel being laid in the province of Manitoba is as essential to its agricultural and industrial development as a net work of streets to any city. And farms that are being brought within easy reach of railway accommodation are steadily advancing in values.

LIVES LOST IN AN OTTAWA FIRE

Two Children Burned to Death---Wife Was Saved.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—Annie, aged five; Elisabeth, aged three, the two children of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. O'Neill, Armstrong street, were burned to death at three o'clock yesterday morning.

When the temperature was 15 degrees below zero fire broke out. The father, sleeping downstairs, rushed up and managed to save his wife, though both were badly burned about the hands and head.

The place was a frame structure and burned rapidly. Wm. Marriott, his wife and four children occupied one part of it, but all escaped safely, though their possessions were burned, including Marriott's cork leg.

DID HE SLAY HIS BROTHER?

North Bay, Jan. 14.—Maurice Ryan, awaiting trial here on a charge of highway robbery, was served yesterday with information charging him with the murder of his brother on or about Nov. 6, 1907. The preliminary hearing begins before Police Magistrate Weegar this morning.

The body of the murdered man was well concealed under brush and leaves in a wild, uncleared covering which had hidden the remains for nearly a year, before the crime was revealed.

Detective Greer has secured a striking piece of evidence in the form of a Traders' Bank check with the name of Joseph Ryan forged to it. It was made out for $200 against a bank at Tupper Lake, New York State.

Tennessee Votes "Dry."

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 14.—The bill to prohibit the sale of all intoxicating liquors in Tennessee passed the lower House of the General Assembly last night by a vote of 62 to 34.

The measure now goes to Governor Patterson, who, it is expected, will veto it. Under the constitution, his veto only acts as a suggestion, not as a stay, and a bare majority may pass a bill over the executive's unfavorable action.

The bill provides that prohibition become effective July 1, 1909.

Sunday Cars In Alberta.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 14.—A deputation of the City Council interviewed the Government with reference to Sunday street car operation, which last session was expressly forbidden by statute.

The Government gave assurance that the law would be amended to permit Sunday operation, provided a majority of ratepayers declared themselves in favor thereof.

FRUIT JUICES CLEAR THE SKIN

The skin mirrors faithfully the state of the blood, and the blood shows how well—or how badly—the liver, bowels, kidneys and the millions of tiny glands in the skin are doing their work. If these organs are not properly clearing out the waste matter, the blood will be poisoned and the skin sallow, "muddy" and sprinkled with pimples.

Plenty of ripe fruit helps more than any other food to cure this condition, but even more effective, as well as less expensive, are "Fruit-a-tives." These are little tablets of concentrated fruit juices, combined in such a way as to many times increase their action on those organs that eliminate impurities. One or two "Fruit-a-tives" a day will keep the blood pure and give the skin the clear glow of health. 25c for trial size box—50c for regular size—6 for $2.50. Dealers everywhere should have both sizes. If you are unable to obtain "Fruit-a-tives" in your neighborhood, they will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, JAN. 14, 1909.

CHIT-CHAT.

Mr. H. W. Lucy quotes this incident, which happened when he was staying with Lord Rosebery at Dalmeny House, and Mr. Gladstone was also there;—

"Mr. Gladstone came down half an hour late, and was rallied by our host upon his unpunctuality. Lord Rosebery reminded him of something he had once said about punctuality at luncheon time. Mr. Gladstone took up the point with as much energy as if it were one of Lord Randolph's accusations in the House of Commons. Finally he drew from Lord Rosebery the admission that he had been in error, that he, Mr. Gladstone, had never said anything about being punctual at luncheon, but had recommended the desirability of absence of formality—that anybody should drop in as they pleased and sit where they liked."—Public Opinion.

We can well fancy that if Mr. Gladstone and Lord Rosebery were to walk in unknown and sit down to a battle of the wits many listeners would say "What asses those fellows are! They oughtn't to be allowed in here at all. Why doesn't someone tell the steward to speak to them. Who are the idiots anyhow?" So it is with those who cannot see anything in doing anything well unless it is something they themselves more particularly desire. Discussion is the father or mother or both, of clear ideas and correct statement, he who regards it as "taboo" and a bore, is himself an arid waste as his conversation or mental achievements will be found to testify. How much better too is it than that gossip which begins in idleness and ends in doing great injury. Nevertheless the latter is the sort the objectors to the other sort chiefly prefer or will alone tolerate.

"THE SUPREMACY OF CHRIST"

"Nearly every great daily newspaper on the continent has published reports of the resolution of 1,500 young people of Cleveland to "live as they think Jesus would" during the current fortnight. And the experiment is watched and discussed as eagerly as any incident of the week. A despatch to the Chicago Tribune of Thursday gives the experience of one young lady, a stenographer in a large wholesale house. Here is the verdict;—

"You can't live as Jesus would and be an employee of a large Cleveland business house. It can't be done by an employee. The employer himself might carry the morality of Jesus into his business if he chose. The case is not hopeless. But the employer—at least my employer—doesn't. And it is suicidal for the employee to attempt it. Christ's morality and business tact clash. An employee insisting upon rigid honesty would be discharged instantly. I don't mean to say my firm is dishonest. Along broad lines it isn't. But the department managers resort to many evasions of truth in order that they escape unpleasant consequences.

"For instance, a retail store is writing or wiring in for an explanation of why a certain order has not been sent. The reply is that it is the fault of the manufacturer, though such is not the case. Of course, that isn't serious lying. It's a white lie. But it is a lie just the same. No doubt it is necessary in business to tell that kind of lies, but Jesus wouldn't. And when I type the letter I must tell the lie too. Jesus wouldn't be implicated in the lie. He would refuse to write it. If I did that I would lose my position."

There is nothing more dangerous than misguided optimism. It serves and is used as a cover for humbug. It must not be forgotten that the guiding principle of money-making is as a rule jollying, kidding, lying and thimble-rigging. Optimism is employed to still suspicion and to enable the thimble-rigger to continue his work with the aid of the enthusiasts. The present unrest, however, shows that at last the thin veneer has worn through. It must be said that it is largely due to the female element in business that the humbug has been exposed. The difference between real and sham Christianity will no doubt be emphasized by the recent attempt of 1,500 Cleveland young people to live as Jesus would. They are the butt of the continent, which shows that what has been so long assumed to be the realisation of life is not even the ideal of it.

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA

The Bank of Nova Scotia has just made its 77th annual report. The local manager, Mr. Ferguson, who is a very popular gentleman and capable man-of-business, has brought the local branch into successful prominence. The net profits of the Bank of Nova Scotia for the year 1908 are $550,577.58. The dividend is 12 per cent. per annum. This bank is one of our most successful and old-established institutions.

COMMON HYPOCRISY

"Boodling prosecutions in San Francisco are extending. The present opportunity of eradicating the evil will be fully improved, and convictions are opening new avenues of information."—The Globe.

Not long since a man who called himself a Christian found every excuse for boodling and corruption because the boodler concerned was a man who "had been of service to many." This alleged Christian further alleged that he was not playing the Devil's advocate by reason of his own opinion, but from that of others, showing by this statement that he himself was well aware that no honest man, or even pretended Christian, could legitimately advocate it. Hence he was content to try an obvious subterfuge. For such a man to occupy positions in which he is called upon to exercise the functions of a Christian leader, and in which he does exercise them, is, in view of the premises merely the meanest form of hypocrisy, which is, if anything, more offensive and corrupting than boodling itself. The unmitigated brass in a man that will allow him to hold up to the world "a Christianity which has done so much for him," and to implore others to adopt it, is more obnoxious even than the corroding influence of the common briber. The only hope, although it must be admitted that it is a remote one, is that an awakened conscience will make the hypocrite ashamed some day. The Globe hints in the above at an offence which it has often severely denounced. It is this form of duplicity and hypocrisy that allows of so much crookedness in the public service. In Dante's hell the hypocrite gets the worst punishment of all, and there is no doubt he deserves it. He is an ally and accomplice of crime when he is not the originator of it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Rev Mr Findlay contrasted the "flippant, idle" children of Ontario, with those of Quebec who had manners of courtesy foreign to the youths of Ontario.

"If you ask a common civil question of a group of children here, you will usually get an answer a million miles removed from civility," he declared.—Toronto Star.

This scathing rebuke is in line with Police Magistrate Dumble's charge, that parents of children who are allowed to do as they please and commit crime, should themselves be sent to prison. This would be a fine "topic" for societies that abound in connection with churches in this country. Officers of the Children's Aid Society will back up the Magistrate in his statement. The evil of the hour is the complete neglect of discipline at home.

A very pretty little incident, well worth noting took place at the rink in Charlotte street on Tuesday evening. Skip Read of Bobcaygeon, and Skip McFadden of Lindsay, had played their bonspeil draw to a tie. One end to play off the tie was ordered. Through the magnificent work of Mr W T C Boyd, Skip Read's second player, Caygeon lay shot and guarded. The vice-skips, Messrs McNetty of Lindsay and Robinson of Caygeon, then came to play. The Caygeon vice-Skip was all nerves. He was putting his stone away when in an excess of caution he held it too long, fell on the ice and destroyed the value of his stone. "Take it back" cried his opponent. He took it back and although he put it "through" the fact remained that Lindsay was willing to "play the game" and did so in a way that reflects much more credit upon the individual rink and its mother club than probably it would care to have a note made of. Chivalry has been so flouted for the last ten years in this district that the onlookers were delighted beyond measure. "There is hope for us Canadians yet," said one. Yet the remark is not altogether called for, Canadians as a rule are not bad sports.

ANNUAL MEETING OF EXHIBITION

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition will be held on Friday afternoon, January 22, in the City Council Chamber. The meeting is called for two o'clock and a large attendance is requested.

A LETTER TO THE DAIRYMEN OF PETERBOROUGH COUNTY

To the Dairymen of Peterborough:

Having just returned from attending the 32nd annual convention of the Eastern Ontario Dairymen's Association held at Prescott, I wish to say to you that the convention was one of the most successful ever held in the history of the Association. Addresses were given by the most prominent men at the head of the dairy business, and all were enthusiastic as to the outlook for another season.

The address given by Mr. Barr, which was delivered at the annual meetings at the factories in the Peterborough District last fall, was highly commented on, and a resolution was passed to have it printed in bulletin form and mailed at an early date to the dairymen of the province.

I also visited Montreal and examined cheese still held in the warehouse there. I was very much pleased to find that the cheese from the Peterborough section compared well with the best sections that I saw.

I would ask the co-operation of all engaged in the dairy business to make the year 1909 the most successful, both in quality and quantity, in our history. Also to keep the products from the Peterborough section where they justly belong as an example for others to follow.

The following is a chart showing the defects in cheese from milk handled in different ways, which proves conclusively that the proper way to handle milk is to cool and not aerate.

JUST CURED HIM THAT WAS ALL

What Dodd's Kidney Pills Did for Thomas Moon.

Doctors Could Not Cure His Dropsy but Dodd's Kidney Pills Cleared it Out Completely.

Maidstone, Sask., Jan. 13.—(Special) "Cured me completely. That's what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for me." Such is the statement made by Thomas Moon, a well-known resident of this place, who for two years suffered with Dropsical swellings brought on by diseased Kidneys.

"I had pains in the small of my back," Mr. Moon continues, "and across the loins. The swelling commenced first in my legs and gradually got to my body. I tried different doctors, but kept getting worse every day until I was swollen up to an awful size.

"One doctor sent me to the hospital, where I got a little benefit, but the swelling all soon came back.

"Then I used Dodd's Kidney Pills, and as I said before they cured me completely."

Dropsical Swellings are caused by diseased Kidneys failing to take the surplus water out of the blood. Cure the Kidneys with Dodd's Kidney Pills and the Dropsy naturally cures itself.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 13.—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings were 600 cattle, 225 sheep and lambs, 625 hogs and 50 calves. The weather was all that could be desired for this trade, it being good and cold; consequently buyers generally were in good-humor and showed a disposition to operate freely in cattle; in consequence an active trade was done, as the supply was just about large enough to go around. The undertone to the market was firm, and the advance in prices noted on Monday was fully maintained. Choice beeves sold at 5¼c; good at 4¾c to 5c; fair at 4c to 4½c; common at 3¼c to 3¾c, and inferior at 2c to 3c per lb.

There was no change in the condition of the market for sheep and lambs, prices being firm under a good demand and small offerings. Sheep sold at 3½c to 4c, and lambs at 5¾c to 6c per lb. A few odd extra choice lambs brought as high as 6c per lb. There continues to be a very firm feeling in the market for hogs, owing to the limited supplies coming forward and the good demand for the same from packers, and sales of selected lots were made at $7 to $7.25 per 100 lbs., weighted off the cars. The demand for calves was fair at prices ranging from $3 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 13.—Cattle—Steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75. Veals—Receipts, 300 head; active and 50c higher, $7 to $10.25.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 8000 head; active; sheep, steady; lambs, 15c to 25c higher; lambs, $5 to $8.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Beeves—Receipts, 1874; steers, slow and 10c lower; bulls and cows, steady to strong; steers, $5.55 to $7; oxen and stags, $2.50 to $5; bulls, $3.60 to $4.50; cows, $1.90 to $4.50.

Calves—Receipts, 1238; veals, firm; barnyard calves, steady; western calves, nominal; veals, $6 to $10.50; culls, $5 to $5.50; barnyard calves, $3 to $4.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 13,577; full, steady; sheep, $3 to $5; lambs, $6.75 to $8.

Hogs—Receipts, 6700; feeling a trifle firm; quotations, $6 to $6.35 for light to heavy hogs; pigs, included.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Cattle—Receipts, 18,000; market steady to strong; steers, $4.65 to $7.25; cows, $3 to $5.50; heifers, $3 to $5.75; bulls, $3.40 to $4.80; calves, $3.50 to $10; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.15.

Hogs—Receipts, 32,000; market 10c to 15c advance; choice heavy shipping, $6.20 to $6.40; butchers, $6.20 to $6.35; light mixed, $5.75 to $6.20; choice light, $5.95 to $6.10; packing, $5.90 to $6.15; pigs, $4.50 to $5.60; bulk of sales, $5.90 to $6.30.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 15,000; market for lambs steady, but for sheep weak; sheep, $4 to $6; lambs, $5.25 to $8; yearlings, $4.25 to $7.25.

Text Books a Nuisance.

London, Jan. 14.—Dr. Bovey, addressing the Mathematical Association, thought text-books and examinations an unmitigated nuisance, if perhaps necessary. They were being abandoned in America as much as possible. He expressed a high opinion of mathematics as mental discipline.

U. S. Pension Decrease.

Washington, Jan. 14.—An appropriation of $161,018,000 for pensions was agreed on yesterday by the committee on appropriations in the drafting of the annual pension appropriation bill. This amount is over $2,000,000 less than the appropriation last year.

Labor Organizer in Quebec.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—The executive council of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada have renewed the engagement of John G. O'Donoghue as their solicitor for 1909. It was also decided to place an organizer in the province of Quebec.

Militia to Oust General.

Bismarck, N.D., Jan. 14.—In spite of a court injunction an armed guard of the state militia patroled the state capital Tuesday night and it will remain on duty pending the settlement of the legal controversy regarding the relative rights of Gen. T. H. Poole and Col. A. P. Peake.

Gen. Poole was retired by Governor Burke. The militia was called out on Tuesday after Gen. Poole had re-entered the capital and taken possession of his offices, from which he had been ousted the preceding day.

Another Concession.

London, Jan. 14.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Regarding the waterways treaty, The Standard says we apparently decide on Canada's behalf the Canadian suitors shall be compelled to submit to the decision of a joint commission, while the United States suitors will find a court appeal in their Senate. Such a provision is extremely unfortunate. The day of concessions to the beautiful eyes of the United States or any other power, has definitely passed away.

Fort William Marine Traffic.

Fort William, Jan. 14.—The customs house returns show that during the season of navigation for 1908, 1,885 vessels arrived and departed with a tonnage of 3,530,460, and crews of 46,856. For 1907 the number of vessels to arrive and depart was 1,889, but the difference in number was more than made up in 1908 by the larger size of the vessels as they aggregated a greater tonnage capacity of over 1,200,000, or a greater tonnage capacity per boat of 600 tons.

Carmichael Often Mesmerised.

Wellsburg, W.Va., Jan. 14.—Rev. John Carmichael wrote his brother, M. O. Carmichael, of this place, in part:

"I have now shipped you a little package containing something. If any of these can be published so that the family may get the good of them, it might help a little in their living."

It is stated here that as a boy the dead man was often easily mesmerized, and that he had a horror of hypnotism.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Coal Output Checked.

Washington, Jan. 14.—Bituminous coal production in the United States in 1908 reached a total of between 320 and 330 million tons.

In 1907 more than 400,000,000 tons were produced.

The surveys' investigation showed that the cause for less activity in the coal mining industry was one of the result which followed the financial depression in the latter part of 1907. A short cotton crop and a period of idleness from April 1 to June 15, pending a settlement of the wage scale controversy, also affected coal production adversely.

Railroad shipments of anthracite in the last year amounted to more than 64,000,000 long tons, as compared with more than 67,000,000 long tons the previous year.

Fired the Suffragette.

Birmingham, Eng., Jan. 14.—During a dinner given to Winston Churchill last night, a woman in evening dress went to the table where Mr. Churchill was sitting and commenced to argue with him in favor of votes for women. The conversation was carried on for some time, the woman standing facing Mr. Churchill, who, with his wife, remained seated, eating his dinner. Finally the officials insisted that the woman leave the dining hall, and, upon refusing to do so she was taken by the shoulders and escorted to the door, meanwhile shouting suffragette battle cries.

Trees Scarce In America.

Washington, Jan. 14.—"The time is coming in this country when trees will be as scarce as diamonds unless immediate steps are taken to preserve our forests."

This was the dark picture painted in an address by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson at the 28th annual meeting of the American Forestry Association here yesterday. The secretary declared that our forest growth is getting scarcer and scarcer every day and that we are using three times as much wood as we are growing.

Graham Denies Story.

Ottawa, Jan. 14.—Hon. George P. Graham emphatically denies the story to the effect that Mackenzie and Mann have bought the Intercolonial.

No negotiations for sale or lease have taken place and no offer has been received, he says.

J. E. Walsh, transportation manager of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, on behalf of the association, waited on the Minister yesterday to advise against selling or leasing the road.

Condemned Man Now a Father.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—The wife of Stephen Swyryds, the Galician who is to be hanged at Brampton on Feb. 11 for the murder of a young fellow-countryman at Erindale, has given birth to a child.

The woman is living in the city in very poor circumstances. Efforts are still being made to have the death sentence commuted.

Broke Through Ice.

Kingston, Jan. 14.—Seven degrees below zero was the record yesterday. A sheet of ice formed across the harbor, not strong enough to hold a horse. Patrick McDermott, Wolfe Island, broke through with his horse and had a thrilling rescue.

Professor of Aeronautics.

Goettingen, Germany, Jan. 14.—The first aeronautical professorship in the world has been founded by the University of Goettingen and Dr. Ludwig Prandl of the mathematical and physical faculty has been assigned as professor.

Henry J Boyd, tinware dealer of London died suddenly [illegible]

Messina Is Rebuilding.

Messina, Jan. 14.—While thousands still are buried under ruins, any signs of revival of the city are greeted with enthusiasm by the survivors. A fruit merchant, who was the first to reship yesterday a hundred cases of oranges, lemons and other fruit for the far east, was saluted like a hero, while the appearance of two cabs on the streets was considered an historic event.

Amid the ruins of the city, villages of huts are springing up. One of these villages includes not less than three thousand huts, extending for a distance of two miles.

To Appeal Against Sentence.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 14.—The appeal from the recent decision of Judge Wright in sentencing Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison to jail for contempt will be vigorously pressed and a call for funds for that purpose will shortly be issued by the American Federation of Labor.

This action was decided upon at a conference here yesterday between the executive council of the federation and Alton B. Parker of New York, chief counsel for the federation officials.

Russia Didn't Like It.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—The settlement between Austria-Hungary and Turkey of the Bosnian and Herzegovian question is considered here as a reverse for Russian diplomacy. The press is irritated.

Thirty-Five Recovered.

Bluefield, W.Va., Jan. 14.—Thirty-five bodies have been taken from the mine at Lickbranch.

Truce In Chinese Feud.

San Francisco, Jan. 14.—Merchants in the Chinese quarter, who have Tong affiliations, had their doors open yesterday for the first time in several weeks. The two warring organizations, the Sue Don and the On Yick, have signed a truce which is to hold until Feb. 10, or 20 days after the Chinese New Year. The war has paralysed business.

A Vain Sacrifice.

London, Jan. 14.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—Col. George T. Denison, Toronto, writes The Standard with reference to Great Britain's marked loss of prestige in Canada, in the last seven years.

The feeling is general, he says, that the Canadian blood shed in South Africa was a vain sacrifice to aid the Empire which is too feebly governed to profit by such loyal devotion.

If Britain does not soon reciprocate the preference, or at least take measures to protect herself from impending disaster, Canada may be induced to play her own business game.

U.S.-Jap Immigration.

Washington Jan. 14.—During the 12 months ended Nov. 1 last, the total number of Japanese admitted to the United States was 6,017, and the total number which left the United States was 5,832, an increase in the Japanese population of 185.

Will Await Mr. Mackenzie.

Winnipeg, Jan. 14.—The City Council yesterday decided to await the arrival on Saturday of Wm. Mackenzie before concluding contracts involving $2,000,000 with the Street Railway Co. for power.

Light Plant Has Surplus.

Kingston, Jan. 14.—The civic light plant will show a slight surplus for 1908. The year stands as a most strenuous one, in view of reduced rates, increased taxes and general repairs.

Silk Train on Fire.

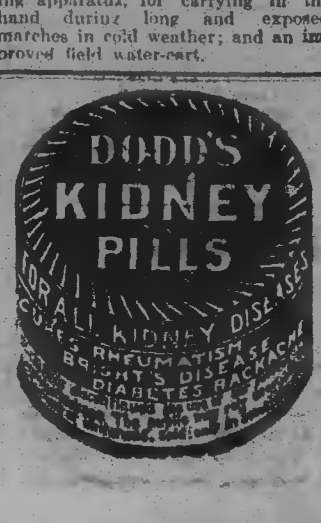
Medicine Hat, Jan. 14.—A rear-end collision is reported at Tompkins, Sask. A million-dollar silk train is said to be on fire.

Were Quickly Converted.

At a British army post where a number of recruits were temporarily stationed an old sergeant was ordered to ascertain to what religious sect each man belonged, and to see that he joined the party told off for that particular form of worship. Some of the men had no liking for church, and declared themselves to be atheists. But the sergeant was a Scotsman and a man of experience. "Ah, weel," said he, "then ye hae no need to kape holy the Sabbath, and the stables hae na been claned oot lately." And he ordered them to clean out the stables. This occupied practically the whole day, and the men lost their usual Sunday afternoon's leave. Next Sunday a broad smile crept over the face of the sergeant when he heard that the atheists had joined the Church of England.

Soldier and Inventor.

The world does not know a great deal of the Earl of Dundonald, who recently celebrated his fifty-sixth birthday, for he is a man who has never sought advertisement, content that deeds, not words, shall speak of him. In addition to being one of the keenest soldiers we have, Lord Dundonald is a man of science—an astronomer and an inventor. He is responsible for a patent gun-carriage, for the rapid conveyance of small guns in the field; a patent nosebag for horses, to give them proper ventilation when feeding; a patent heating apparatus, for carrying in the hand during long and exposed marches in cold weather; and an improved field water-cart.



THE LITTLE DUKE.

Early Death of His Father Gave This Nickname to the Duke of Leinster.

The Duke of Leinster has had a beautiful bust of his mother chiselled in marble as a gift from him to the Alexandria College in Dublin, of which the late Duchess of Leinster was a brilliant student. The duke, who came of age in March of this year, is the premier duke, marquis, and earl of Ireland, and has held this unique position since his sixth year. "The little Duke," as he is called—a nickname which has stuck to him since childhood—lost both father and mother within two years. Under the terms of his father's will he is obliged to spend the greater part of the year in Ireland. One day a gentleman visited Kildare for a few days' hunting, and when the hounds were close to Carton, the duke's beautiful seat, every one was invited in for refreshments. The gentleman in question, riding up rather late, could see no groom to take care of his horse, but noticing near the hall a man dressed in the costume formerly worn by the Irish countryman—now rarely seen out of the patriotic Irish drama—smoking a clay pipe, he called him over and asked him to hold his horse. Returning about fifteen minutes later, the visitor found the animal in charge of a groom, to whom the countryman was talking. The latter had evidently finished his observations, for, to the visitor's horror, the groom touched his hat and replied, "Yes, my lord." "Surely not one of the family?" said the visitor to the groom a minute later, to which the answer was, "Yes, he is his grace's uncle, sir!" Two monkeys figure on the crest of the Leinsters. It is related that a fire broke out in the home of one of the duke's ancestors, and everyone was got out of the building except the youthful heir, who was sleeping in one of the top rooms. Just as he was given up for lost a monkey, which had been kept as a pet, was seen clambering up to the nursery window. The animal flung itself into the room, and shortly afterwards returned carrying the young heir in its arms!

KING'S NEW EQUERRY.

King's New Equerry-in-Waiting Is Member of an Ancient Family.

Captain the Hon. Seymour Fortescue, R.N., who has succeeded Lieutenant-Colonel F. Ponsonby as Equerry-in-Waiting to the King, belongs to one of the old Devonshire houses. The name is said to have been derived from the words "fort ezcu," which referred to the brave deed of an ancestor who shielded the Conqueror on Hastings field. Among the old Fortescues was a chief justice of the King's Bench, who died in 1476, over 80 years of age, and Sir Adrian, who was accused by Henry VIII. of intimacy with Annie Boleyn and executed. His son was a conspirator for Romanism against Elizabeth, whose tutor was his eldest brother, Sir John, the friend of Raleigh, Essex, and Bacon. Two Fortescues were Royalist leaders, Sir Faithful and Sir Nicholas. The latter fell on Marston Moor. Captain Fortescue, who entered the navy in 1869, served through the bombardment of Alexandria in 1882 and the Egyptian War. He was naval A.D.C. to the Comander-in-Chief in South Africa, and was mentioned in despatches. He was also a member of the Naval Intelligence Department for three years. Captain Fortescue is partial to a breezy sea-yarn and is very interested in novel inscriptions. One day a brother officer noticed on the wheel of a small destroyer the lettering "Ut veniant omnes." When the lieutenant in command was asked for an explanation he smilingly replied: "Oh, that means, 'Let 'em all come'."

Plymouth as a Terminal Port.

The ports on the English Channel are all feeling the pressure of these days of competition. It is announced that Plymouth proposes to increase its facilities as a terminal for ocean liners by constructing new docks, which are to be the largest in the United Kingdom. The proposal is to make a large harbor at Wembury Bay, between Plymouth breakwater and the river Yealm, to enclose an area of one thousand acres of water by means of four breakwaters to be built out from the land. The estimated cost of this undertaking amounts to a sum of between two and three millions. It is understood that Parliamentary powers are to be applied for next session. The Admiralty has so far monopolised the harbor to an extent which has interfered with the ambitions of the town. If the suggested scheme is successfully carried out, Plymouth will come to the front at once as a terminal port of the first importance for ocean traffic.

Man-Eating Tigers.

About 4,000 men were eaten by tigers in India between 1900 and 1904 A large proportion of these unfortunates perished during periods of famine, when the beasts are made bold by hunger and are driven to the plains in search of water. The deaths caused by tigers in India constitute 37 per cent. of the whole number due to wild beasts. All tigers are not man-eaters, but when a tiger has once tasted man's flesh he will not be content until he has had more of it. Where flocks and herds abound, however, man is rarely a victim of the tiger. An old man-eater is usually very clever and tricky and can avoid the most skillful hunters. It is affirmed that a single tiger in southern India has killed 200 men, and that one in the Himalayas has killed more than 300.

Partition of Bengal.

The third anniversary of "Partition Day" was celebrated throughout Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam by the Bengali mourning after the native fashion—that is, going without all food, wearing no clothes made outside India, totally discarding footwear, and closing all the shops. Forty thousand Bengalis paraded the streets of Calcutta. Police precautions prevented public speaking and subdued any tendency to general turbulence.

Clarence Grey of Wallaceburg while crossing the Thames on the ice, fell through and was rescued by George Bury. [illegible]

QUEER DEFINITIONS.

An Early Eighteenth Century Interpreter of Hard Words.

Bailey's Universal Etymological Dictionary, with the subtitle, "An Interpreter of Hard Words," was first published in London in 1721. Most of its definitions are eccentric, and some of them incredibly so. Here are specimens plucked at random:

Man—A creature endowed with reason.

Thunder—A noise known by persons not deaf.

Lightning—A meteor.

A Rainbow—A meteor of divers colors.

Weapon Salve—A sort of ointment which is said to cure a wound by being applied to the sword or other weapon that made the wound.

Balloon—A football; also a great ball with which noblemen and princes use to play.

Cow—A beast well known.

Milk—A food well known.

Peacock—A fine bird.

Elephant—The biggest, strongest and most intelligent of all four footed beasts.

Medlar.—A fruit which is grateful to the stomach, but is not ripe till it be rotten.

Snow—A meteor well known in northerly and southerly climates, especially beyond the tropics.

Mouth—Part of the body of a living creature.

Eye—An instrument of death.

THE DOMINION BANK'S REPORT

Prosperous Year --- 12 per Cent Dividend—Increase in Deposits.

To the rapidly growing list of annual statements recently issued by financial institutions is added the exceptionally satisfactory exhibit of the Dominion Bank. Comparison with previous yearly reports by the same bank reveals the fact that the increase in the paid-up capital by $134,795, during the year fractionally decreased the percentage of profits. The net profits were actually several thousand dollars greater than in the previous year, a very fine achievement in a year when general business experienced the contraction felt during the last twelve months. The profits were $641,318 or 16.25 per cent on the present paid-up capital of $3,983,392. The dividends at the rate of 12 per cent took $473,462, $100,000 was written off Bank premises account, and a balance of $302,996 was carried to profit and loss. Last year $235,140 was carried forward. An amount of $148,274, the premium received on the new capital stock being carried to the reserve fund, increases that fund to $4,981,731, or a million dollars more than the paid-up capital. The great strength of the Bank is best shown, however, by a glance at its assets. Cash assets are over ten million and immediately available assets $17,866,000 or 43 per cent of the total liabilities to the public. The tendency of deposits to increase at the present time is emphasised in this instance by the growth in this item to a record level, total deposits by the public being nearly $35,000,000 or $3,700,000 above last year. At the same time the amount of bills discounted and advances current indicate a large and profitable business in hand.

HARRY ADAMS

DIED WHILE WORKING IN INTERESTS OF HUMANITY

The Late Rev. D. O. Crossley Sustained Cold While Fighting for the Temperance Cause in Whitby—Memorial Service Held at Charlotte-st. Church.

Many of the late Rev. D O Crossley's congregation during his five year's pastorate at Charlotte street Methodist church paid a token of respect to his memory by attending the memorial service at the Charlotte street church last evening. The church was well filled and short addresses, eulogistic of the splendid services rendered by the late Mr Crossley during his residence in Peterborough were delivered by Messrs A B Cunningham, Dr M A Morrison and Rev. H M Manning.

The service was opened with a hymn appropriate to the occasion and the opening devotional exercises were conducted by Rev G W Henderson. A quartette consisting of Mrs. Hughes, Miss Lee and Messrs O'Harmar and Jas Browne, sang, and after scriptural reading Mrs Hughes sang very effectively, "He shall wipe the tears from every eye."

Mr A B Cunningham spoke specially of the good work of the late Rev. D O. Crossley, financially, to the Charlotte street church. Figures could never show, he said, what valuable work he had done. Rev Mr Crossley was a man who believed in the unity of the material and the spiritual. But his purpose was not merely to get the church out of debt but he wished to prepare that it might perform greater things. During seven years $13,000 of debt had been wiped out. When Mr Crossley first called for money to wipe off the debt there were not one hundred subscribers but when the last $1000 was asked for, there was a general response. The readiness with which people gave was largely due to the indefatigable efforts of the late Mr Crossley. His days at Charlotte street church were strenuous ones, but the speaker thought that the congregation should follow out the deceased pastor's suggestion and strive to perform even greater things for the Master.

Dr Morrison said that he was sure that their hearts were full of sorrow as the memories of the past were called to mind by the recent death of their former beloved pastor, the late Rev D O Crossley.

"There were two things that were outstanding in the character of the late Mr. Crossley. One of these was his great love for work. He had a great desire to be doing something by which he could lift Charlotte St. church out of the condition it was in at the time of his pastorate. Many would remember that he often visited homes when he would have been better in bed. His physical condition was weak, but he worked steadily on.

Then there was his great devotion to his work, the ministry. During his pastorate here he was offered a position in secular life with a much larger salary than he was then getting but he had devoted his life to the ministry and he would not give it up.

There were many lessons to be learned from their late pastor's life. He was always bright and of a sunshiny disposition. Even when he was very ill he would preach to his people.

Dr Morrison thought that if the late Mr Crossley had never done another thing, his five year's pastorate in Peterborough was worthy of "Well done thou good and faithful servant,

Rev Mr. Manning, who attended the funeral of the late Mr. Crossley, stated that the latter years of his pastorate were spent with that same zeal and energy that characterized his whole life. He was a man of varied talents. He was as good at moral reform work as at wiping a debt off a church. In Whitby he commenced the local option campaign and it was while in the struggle to abolish the bar that he was seized with the cold that caused his death. He had much to fight against. Very few were with him in the good cause he was advocating, at first, but he went on never tiring. In Peterborough he had an easy task as compared with the one God gave him to do in Whitby. On the Sabbath previous to election day he conducted three services and though quite unwell he went out to vote for local option. Although he failed to accomplish his great desire, the passing of the local option bylaw, it can be truly said that he died while fighting in the interests of humanity, in the advocacy of right.

Rev Mr Manning referred to the memorial service held in Whitby last Sunday morning at which congregations of other denominations as well as the Methodist, joined to pay respect to the memory of a martyr to the cause of good.

The service was closed with the singing of a hymn and prayer.

THE LATE D. O. CROSSLEY

Citizens generally were profoundly shocked and grieved by the death of Mr. Crossley. All who knew the late pastor of the Tabernacle must have felt his earnestness and manliness. His sincerity was real and abundantly manifest. He was ever the same —unassuming, yet intense and earnest. He took life seriously, but not sadly. It meant much to him to have the privilege and responsibility of the pastoral charge of a great church. He stood in his relation to men as a representative of God; a champion of every good thought and movement; the enemy of all forms of vice and evil. One was never in any doubt as to what Mr. Crossley's attitude would be upon questions relating to moral reform, or the social or spiritual welfare of the community. The excuse of expediency couldn't live for a moment in presence of his sense of what was true and right. He was not all things to all men—but was all things for God.

As a gentleman and a citizen he was worthy of the friendship and esteem of everyone. He was a worker—never tiring of service for others. His indomitable spirit kept his delicate physique to its tasks when less courage and pluck would have been vanquished. The poor and needy have lost in Mr. Crossley a friend indeed. Only God knew all that Mr. Crossley did for and gave to those in distress.—Whitby Chronicle-Gazette.

PITIFUL CASE OF A WOMAN AT THE AGE OF SEVENTY-FIVE LEFT TO WANDER STREETS

Appeared Before Magistrate Dumble This Morning—Protestant Home Would Take Her if Charity Board Would Assume Responsibility of Giving $1.50 per Week for Her Keep—Charity Board Refused.

Mary Drury, a woman seventy-five years of age, without a home and without any visible means of maintaining herself, appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning after a week spent in the county gaol on remand. His Worship dismissed her, giving the following judgment;—

"The charge is that Mary Drury is a vagrant, that is, she has no home and no visible means of maintaining herself. It appears that she is the wife of Robert Drury, who works for the Peter Hamilton Co., and he earns $8 per week. The wife is ten years older than her husband. She has three married children, two of whom live here. The woman is frail both in body and mind. The husband boards in an hotel, where he says that he pays $4 per week for his board. He has no home for his wife and is anxious to have his wife taken care of by the public. Under pressure he finally gave an order for $2 per week for the care of his wife.

An application was made to the Protestant home to take her in. They consented to do so if the Charity board would become responsible for her keep at $1.50 per week. The Charity board refused to take this responsibility. The problem for the court is to find a place for her so that she will not perish on the streets. The gaol is not the proper place and the city has not provided one. The court can do nothing but turn her out. The husband having set apart two dollars per week for her, thought that the charity board would not hesitate to assume the responsibility.

The criminal code forbids the imprisonment in gaol of any one on a charge of vagrancy who has been a resident of the municipality over two years. It seems that this homeless woman must go out to wander the streets at a season of the year when her life is in danger.

The responsibility rests on the charity committee, if she dies from exposure and there I leave it."

Magistrate Dumble gave money for one week's board at the Protestant Home, in the hope that something in the meantime might be done for the poor unfortunate woman.

WILL PRESENT REPORT FOR HALF YEAR

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the new council will likely meet for the first time on Monday night. At the meeting Fire Chief Howard will present a report for the half year from July 1st to December 31st.

LEGAL COMMITTE HELD FIRST MEETING LAST NIGHT

The first committee of the new Council to meet this year was the Legal which met last night. Ald. Turner, the chairman, presided and he notified the committee of the request for damages from Mr. McClusky, whose horse was struck by the fire department rig some time ago on Hunter street. The request was considered, but as there was no information to hand the matter was left over until another meeting. In the meantime evidence will be gathered to enable the committee to deal intelligently with the subject.

The city has had to bear a portion of the cost of the flagman at the C.P.R. crossing on Aylmer street ever since the flagman was put on. Recently the Grand Trunk put a siding across Aylmer street to connect with the C.P.R. siding to the Matthews' Company's factory. The Legal Committee considers that the G. T.R. should pay the city's portion of the cost of maintaining the flagman.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams presented a claim for damages on behalf of Mrs. Kennedy, who fell on the sidewalk last February. The matter will also be looked into and taken up at another meeting. Those present were Ald. Turner, McIntyre and Metheral.

PHOTOGRAPHY AS AN AID TO SURVEYING

Subject of Paper Read Before Camera Club Last Night by Mr. J. A. Delisle---Club Will Hold an Exhibition.

The regular meeting of the Camera Club was held last night when a very interesting time was spent. The chair was taken by Mrs A McCarthy and there was a fairly large number present.

A paper on "Photography as an aid to surveyors and surveying," was read by Mr J A Delisle and proved very instructive.

It was decided to hold an exhibition the latter end of April or the first week in May when amateur photographers from all over the Province will send in their work.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, the 26th of this month when a representative from the Eastman Kodak Co, will give a demonstration on how to print and develop on velox paper and sepia effects for redevelopment.

At this meeting arrangements will also be made for a sleigh ride into the country for the club.

EIGHT HUNDRED VIOLENT DEATHS

Record of Montreal for 1908---Seventy-nine Were Drowned.

Montreal, Jan. 14.—Statistics issued by the city morgue show that during the year just ended there were 850 deaths from violence or under auspicious circumstances. Of these there were 22 deaths from foul play, ten of which were Italian murders. There were 29 suicides, poison being the favorite remedy for too much existence with firearms a good second while the other popular means of taking life were razors and the rope. Nineteen people started for the next world by the gas route, while one person was registered as choked with laughing.

Seventy-nine people were drowned in the St. Lawrence most of whom left no evidence to show how they got into the river. Fifty people were killed by the railways and twenty-two by the street railway all classed as due to imprudence on the part of the victims. Fifteen deaths were caused by explosions ten at once by the Ile Perrot dynamite affair, and one by the explosion of a barrel of forty-rod whiskey. Automobiles only killed two while there was one solitary death from hunting.

There were 218 sudden deaths and fifty-seven unauthorized by physicians which had to be investigated. One fireman was killed while on duty and fifty-seven people were burned to death while six were killed by scalding and two frozen to death.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS' GYM. EXHIBITION

Boys Will Give an Exhibition of Their Work on Thursday Jan. 21st.

The boys of the YMCA will put on an exhibition of their gymnasium work on Thursday evening, Jan. 21st.

This exhibition will give the parents and friends an opportunity to see what the boys are doing in the gymnasium. The programme is a very good one, and will include drills, marches, apparatus work, games, races burlesque basketball, and a Ladies championship walking race and many other features.

The drill will be put on by the junior school boys, and will be in the form of running formations with musical accompaniment.

A dumb bell drill will be put on by the business boys, and apparatus work by the Collegiate boys.

Among the specialties will be ball hustle, blind pillow fight, obstacle race potato race, Ladies walking race and sack basketball.

Great interest is being taken in the ladies walking race, and this race promises to be one of the best sporting events of the season.

The blind pillow fight and sack basketball will give lots of opportunity for a good laugh and the races will make plenty of excitement.

A very pleasant evening is looked for and will be an education to some who do not know what goes on in the YMCA gymnasium.

Tickets can be had from any of the boys or at the YMCA office. The admission will be 15c or two for 25c.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Review does not hold itself responsible for opinions expressed by its correspondents

The Civic Finances

Editor of the Review,

Sir,—Shortly before the late municipal election I wrote you a letter, criticising the management of the city finances by the Mayor and Council of 1906 and I predicted an overdraft on the current business of the year, of $15,000. To that letter, Mayor Rush replied accusing me of making "misleading" statements and by stating one side of what had still to be taken into account and not the other side, he tried to make it appear that all would be well in the end.

I want now to invite your readers attention to the statement of the actual position at the end of 1908, as shown by the City Treasurer's report to the first meeting of the new council. I said the deficit would be $15,000. The treasurer shows it actually was $20,000. Now will the Mayor tell us who was making the "misleading" statements.

Possibly the Mayor will again claim credit for the outstanding taxes amounting according to the Tax Collector's statement to $11,800. If so, he must deduct the similar arrears of the preceeding year, which according to the same statement amounted to $8,700. If this allowance should be made the deficit at the end of the year will still be $17,600 which is, in addition to the spending of the surplus of $6,500 received from that terribly extravagant council of 1907.

Yours truly,
R F McWILLIAMS.

While it is advisable that the columns of newspapers should be open to the discussion of civic and public affairs it is at the same time, necessary to ask correspondents to close as soon as possible and we would take it as a favor if this discussion were allowed to end with this letter—Ed.

THE SILVER NORTH

Cobalt, Lorraine, Larder Lake and Gowganda

Travellers returning from the great mineral fields of the north are more Enthusiastic than ever regarding the permanency of the Silver Camp. Traffic was never better and is steadily on the increase One hundred and fifty teams are employed daily in moving passengers freight and supplies to the new Gowganda finds from Earlton, Englehart and Charlton. It is only 18 miles from Charlton to Elk Lake, where there are 22 mines and from Elk Lake to Gowganda is 42 miles.

Leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily, on the Grand Trunk "Cobalt Special" Elk Lake can be reached the next afternoon via Cobalt, Haileybury, New Liskeard and Charlton and this will continue to be the best way.

The Ontario Government are being strongly urged to push on the extension of their line from Charlton which will open up this rich territory.

Full information can be obtained by writing J. D. McDonald, District Passenger Agent, G.T.R., Toronto, Ont. 5d

NEW WHARF IS DAMAGED

Capt. McAllister, of Gore's Landing, was in the city yesterday afternoon. He said that the ice on the shores of Rice Lake was piled twelve feet high. In all the years that he has resided at Rice Lake he said that he had never before seen anything like it. After the mild weather new ice formed on top of the first ice forcing it upon the shore. One of the new Government wharves has been badly damaged by the ice.

A War Correspondent

SAVED BY ZAM-BUK!

BLOOD-POISONING AFTER A SCRATCH CAUSED 31 ULCERS

WHEN our Canadian troops were fighting the Boers in South Africa, we read reports of their various engagements from the pen of the famous war correspondent, Mr. Frank Scudamore. Mr. Scudamore is well known for his exposures of the Armenian Atrocities, and his vivid word-pictures during the wars of Turkey and the Soudan campaigns, prior to his writings during the Boer War. He has passed unscathed through twenty-nine battles, but came near meeting death at home through a mere scratch! Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, saved him; and in gratitude, and the hope that his experience may lead others to a means of relief in time of suffering, he tells how Zam-Buk released him from the terrible agonies of blood-poisoning. Every scratch you receive, every cut you sustain, every sore, every open wound, every skin-disease is liable to turn to blood-poisoning. The air is full of poison germs, which, falling on to sores and wounds, may set up festering and blood-poisoning. How important then that Zam-Buk (which is science's latest and best protector against blood-poisoning, as well as the finest healer) should be kept handy in every home!

Mr. Scudamore writes:—"I have experienced the extraordinary benefits which come from the use of Zam-Buk and desire not to keep the knowledge thereof to myself, but to make it known to any others who may be suffering as I suffered.

"Some time ago, after escaping the dangers to which one is exposed in the hazardous trade of war, I fell a victim to an evil—the evil of blood-poisoning—just as deadly in peace at home. The blood-poisoning started owing to the poisonous dye in some underclothing penetrating a small scratch or sore. I was treated by doctors in the usual way and told to hope for the best, but the inflammation, pain and swelling did not appear to be relieved by their treatment. Ulcers broke out on my foot and limbs, and for some time it was quite impossible for me to put my foot to the ground or get about.

"On my left leg, below the knee, I had seventeen deep holes, into any one of which I could have put my thumb, while I had no fewer than fourteen similar ulcers on the right leg.

"Worn out with pain and lack of sleep, I yielded in despair at last to the advice of a friend that I should try Zam-Buk, of which my friend gave the highest accounts. I applied this herbal balm to the sores and ulcers, changing the dressings frequently. For a week I persevered with the Zam-Buk treatment, leaving off all else. At the end of that time the pain and inflammation had gone, and the skin, which had before so obstinately refused to heal, was now growing beautifully. I persevered with the treatment, and the benefit increased, until in the end the blood-poisoning was cured, the ulcers cleansed and healed, and new healthy skin covered the previously diseased places.

"What impressed me most about Zam-Buk was the immediate relief it gave from the burning pain. It seemed to bring ease immediately it was put on, and then the cleansing and healing process went on painlessly.

"Yours faithfully,

Frank Scudamore

A FATAL CARD.

How It Killed the Religious Department of the London Times.

When the Thunderer decided to devote one or more of its columns daily to an ecclesiastical department all England sat up and admired. The man chosen to conduct the column was a rather elderly and occasionally convivial younger son who for years had contributed church news to the paper, but had never dreamed that he should attain the extreme honor of actually becoming one of the editors of the Thunderer, that world shaking power. The promotion went to his head, made him dizzy. He saw himself a power in the land, one who perhaps would make or unmake ecclesiastical dignitaries.

On the morning of the announcement of the new venture the new incumbent came into town on his usual train from Surbiton, his head swimming with delight. At the foot of Ludgate hill he met an old friend, whom he forthwith led into the Green Dragon bar.

"Arthur," said he, "we really must celebrate. What d' you suppose has happened? Oh, you'd never, never dream it! Look! What d' you say to that, old boy?"

"That" was a newly engraved card on which appeared this announcement:

MR. CECIL APPLEBY BOTSFORD-HETHERINGTON,
Ecclesiastical Editor, The Thunderer.

"My word, old chap, it's the most delightful news I've heard in an age!" cried his friend. "Let's have just one more. Here's to you! Success!"

Before he reached Temple Bar the ecclesiastical editor had met five other friends. To the fifth he observed:

"D' ye know, Ned, with that card I could call on the ar-archbish'p 'f Canterbury. Yes. He'd see me immediately. Won'erf'l card this. Indicates position 'f strordinary responsibility 'n' dignity."

Halfway to the office of the Thunderer Mr. Botsford-Hetherington hailed a hansom.

"Have you," he inquired, with much gravity—"have you a fast and well appointed cab? Yes? Very well, then. You may drive me to Lambeth palace."

At the palace a footman took one of the new cards and conducted the owner of it to a pleasant reception room, where he snuggled in a vast chair and instantly went to sleep.

The archbishop of Canterbury happened to be very busy with his chaplain, but at the sight of the card he felt sure that something of importance was at hand and sent his chaplain to inquire. That tall, slender, dark, ascetic gentleman strode slowly to the reception room and after a slight but decorous struggle succeeded in waking the caller.

"His grace," said the chaplain, "begs to know how he can serve the Thunderer?"

"Tell his grace," responded Mr. Botsford-Hetherington, "that I'm awf'ly busy thinking and I'm sorry I shan't be able to see him till tomorrow. Very sorry."

Forthwith he relapsed into slumber. Two sturdy men deposited him in his fast and well appointed cab and ordered the driver to deliver him at the office of the Thunderer. There the ecclesiastical editor and the ecclesiastical department simultaneously vanished.

SPORTING NEWS

AN AMERICAN OPINION OF THE HIAWATHA RUNNER

A New York despatch says:

Tom Eck, the veteran trainer, is a rare good judge of athletes, and when he says he has a world beater under his wing most people will think twice before they give him the laugh. Eck has charge of Fred Simpson, a full-blooded Indian and a runner, who according to his manager, is destined to run away from them all.

Simpson, with Frank Kanaly and Tom Williams was on the relay team which raced twelve miles against Alf Shrubb, the English professional, Saturday night.

In build Simpson greatly resembles Tom Longboat. He is a typical redskin of the Ojibway tribe about six feet tall and weighs around 137 pounds. He has a wonderful chest is hard as nails but according to American standards is rather old to be just breaking into the professional game. He was born twenty-seven years ago. Best of all he is already married so there will be no dusky sweetheart, daughter of the forest, and all that sort of thing to cheer him on to victory or faint if he should fail to show up to expectations.

Simpson's life has been an ideal one for training purposes. He has a farm on the Hiawatha reservation a rough tract of land about one hundred miles from Toronto but puts in most of his time hunting and trapping, a calling which compels him to cover between 30 and 40 miles a day. With this sort of a bringing-up there is no reason on earth why he should not develop into a real wonder. Unlike others of his race, he is not so fond of liquor that he cannot keep his thirst under restraint.

Although he never knew what it was to have a trainer until he went to London last summer Simpson never, up to that time, finished worse than fourth in a distance run. In the Olympic Marathon he took 6th prize. Just previous to the Marathon the Canadian distance men were given a try-out at Brighton. Simpson led the pack home covering the 20 miles in 1 hour and 58 minutes. He was third in the Montreal Star run and has won any number of races at 10, 20 and 25 miles.

Tom Eck came across his record, looked him up and finally induced him to join the money getters. Simpson will go after all the Marathoners, Longboat in particular. He has run against Tom several times, but has never beaten him. This he attributes to the fact that he has never had competent men handling him.

EDMONTON TEAM AT WINNIPEG WHITCROFT DESCRIBES TRIP

The Winnipeg Free Press says;—The members of the Edmonton hockey team and about a dozen supporters arrived in the city Saturday and took up their quarters at the Corona Hotel where they will remain during their stay here.

"We are all in splendid shape," said Manager Whitcroft to the Free Press this morning, "and will be ready to put up a hard game against the Winnipeg teams. If we failed to lift the Stanley cup we will make a bold bid to take the Tit-Reform trophy back to Edmonton with us.

"Yes," he said, "we came very nearly achieving the object of our [illegible] not in a position at present to search. We knew full well that we would have our work cut out to lift the Stanley Cup but how we failed is now only a matter of history. We certainly had bad luck in just failing by the small majority of two goals; but there is no good crying over spilled milk.

While on the trip the Edmonton boys achieved a record of which they can well be proud. Four matches in all were played and with the exception of the first game, when they lost by four goals to seven to the cup holders, the other matches all went in their favor. "I thought we had the cup" he continued, "when we almost played the Wanderers off their feet in that second game, but it was not to be and scoring six goals to five we finished only two goals to the bad."

At Ottawa against the Senators the westerners put up a splendid game, doubling the score by 4 to 2 and at St. Paul they outplayed the Saints throughout the score being 9 to 3.

Asked regarding the line-up for to-night's game with the champion Maple Leafs, Mr. Whitcroft said he announce the septette. The visitors have a splendid man to guard the nets in Nicholson of the Montreal Shamrocks who was picked up down east and with the other players available who so easily defeated St. Paul they will take the ice hopeful of victory. The team will be chosen after a practice which will be held at the Winnipeg rink at six o'clock this evening.

Asked regarding his future plans the manager of the team said they would go back to Edmonton and would again go after the championship of Alberta. "The rumors that we are going to disband is incorrect." Mr. Whitcroft said, "for we hope to be very much in evidence when we return to Edmonton."

That sterling player, Tom Philips, was not with the team. He has remained east to conduct some business he had down there and will return to his home shortly. His injured foot is rapidly recovering.

YUSIF MAHMOUT BEAT OLSEN

Cyclone Burns Defeated Simard the French Canadian Wrestler

Chicago, Jan. 11.—Yusif Mahmout, the Turk, to-night defeated Charles Olsen, of St. Louis, in straight falls, in a catch-as-catch-can wrestling match. Mahmout won the first fall in 38 minutes and 53 seconds and the second in 31 minutes and 30 seconds.

"Cyclone" Burns won two straight falls from Charles Simard the Montreal French-Canadian wrestler in a match in the club house of the Cercle Paroissiale, Ville St. Louis, last night. Burns won the first fall after 48 minutes' wrestling during which time he was on the aggressive practically all the time. The second fall was won in three minutes. The match was for a $50 side bet and the gate receipts and it was witnessed by the largest crowd that has ever gathered in the Ville St. Louis club house.

Burns, after the match, left the city to wrestle Maupas in Manchester, N.H., to-night, and to meet Yankee Rogers in the Columbia Theatre, Boston, on Wednesday.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—George Kennedy, manager of Raoul de Rouen the giant French wrestler, is out with a novel offer to Mahmout's manager.

Kennedy would like to get the Turk to wrestle his man at Graeco-Roman style but does not care to make the match at out-and-out catch-as-catch-can style.

So he suggests that they sign articles of agreement for a match and to get some club to handle it the style to be left void until the men get into the ring. Then he wants to toss a coin to decide whether it shall be Graeco-Roman, de Rouen's favorite style, or catch-as-catch-can, Mahmout's best method of wrestling.

Antoine Pierri, the Turk's manager has not been consulted about the matter and the offer is now presented to him for the first time.

"If Pierri will agree to a mixed match I would make it for De Rouen" Kennedy said. "But there is something novel about the other proposition, and as a lot of people have told me that they would like to see the big fellows meet, I would ask Pierri to give me an answer to the proposition."

Kennedy left this morning for Kansas City, where his wrestlers will perform for two nights.

FARMER BURNS STILL YOUNG

Remember the big-chested Austrian wrestler named Delivuk, who stood on one of the mountain peaks near Butte and hurled challenges at Dr. Roller last spring when the wrestling game was flourishing in Seattle.

Well he has been hanging around Wichita for quite a while and had built up quite a reputation tossing the hay miners around like so much baled excelsior, until he got to believe himself that he was pretty good.

Then he made a match with Farmer Burns. The old farmer appeared on the mat in those black trunks that are sadly in need of a bath. He looked so old and stoop shouldered that Delivuk actually felt sorry for him. Consulting with his manager, Delivuk said;—

"I don't like to hurt the old man. Don't you think I had better let him stay for a while just to give the crowd a good run for its money?"

A friend of Burns' heard the conversation and told the veteran. So when the gong clanged the old Farmer leaped out of his chair, set his teeth out like whip-cords, and grabbed the Austrian around the neck.

There was a swish as the Austrian was swung through the air and the building was jarred when he struck the mat. Burns took hold of Delivuk's feet, stood him on his head, spun him around until he thought he was just recovering from a New Year's jag and then flattened him out. The bout lasted just 30 seconds.

He did the same thing in the second fall and then draping his shabby overcoat around his stooping shoulders he walked sedately to his dressing room. Meanwhile Delivuk's friends worked hard over him and finally convinced him that there had been no earthquake but that he had merely seen the old Farmer when he was a bit peeved and very busy.

That experience should last Delivuk for a while and he should have no trouble getting his hat on in the future.

NORTH MONAGHAN COUNCIL HELD INAUGURAL MEETING

The inaugural meeting of the North Monaghan Township Council was held on Monday, the 11th of January, in the County Court House at the hour of two p.m.

There were present Messrs. John Brown, reeve, and Wm. G. Howden, Jas. Morrow, R. A. Dobbin, and Walter McKee, Councillors.

After each member had made and subscribed the satisfactory declaration of qualification and of office the Council organised for the transaction of public affairs.

The reeve presided. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were then read from the following:

The Ontario Municipal Association asking the Council to petition the Legislature to have section 606 of the Municipal Act repealed. No action taken.

The Municipal World soliciting subscriptions. No action taken.

Wm. Stevens, re arrears of taxes, as referred from last meeting. No action taken.

W. J. Armstrong re refund of dog tax as referred from last meeting. No action taken.

Mr. Eastwood, of North Monaghan, attended the meeting and requested the Council to take such action as might bring about a conference between the county and city authorities with a view of making such an arrangement as might permit county pupils to attend the Collegiate Institute in Peterborough without payment of a fee. This was referred to the reeve, who was requested to act conjointly with the Reeve of Smith township and to bring the matter before the County Council at its next session.

Mr. Heasman, of North Monaghan, attended the meeting and said that owing to an entire failure of his crop he was in slightly strained circumstances financially and asked for little time in which to pay his taxes for 1908. This was referred to the tax collector.

Mr. R. Lillico also attended the meeting and asked the Council to alter the boundaries of road districts Nos. 1 and 2, so as to take lot 1 in the 11 concession from No. 2, and add it to No. 1, and thereby place the road from Scott's Corners to the line between 11 and 12 cons. in road district No. 1.

This was referred to the next meeting.

The clerk reported having received from the County Registrar a copy of the plan of sub. division of part of the south west 1-4 of lot 12, in the 13 Con. in the township, as registered on the 17th day of Dec. 1908.

Applications for the office of assessor for 1909, were received from Wm. Stevens and B. Johnston.

Accounts were presented from the Times Printing Co., balance of contract 1908, $12.30.

Election expenses deputy returning officer's account, $8.00.

Rent of house, $4.00.

Moved by Messrs. Morrow, and Howden, that the accounts as read be passed and paid. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. Howden and Morrow, that Mr. Osway Carver be re-appointed a member of the local Board of Health for a term of three years.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Dobbin and Howden, that Mr. B. Johnston be re-appointed assessor for the year 1909, at the same salary as in 1908. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. McKee and Morrow, that Messrs. T. M. Hunter and B. Sanderson be appointed auditors of township accounts of 1908. This was carried.

Moved by Messrs. McKee and Dobbin, that Mr. Howden is hereby authorized to purchase necessities for a needy family in the township, to the amount of $5. This was carried.

On motion, by-laws Nos. 607 to appoint auditors, 608 to appoint an assessor, 609 to appoint pound keepers, etc., 610 to appoint a member of the Board of Health, 612 to borrow money to meet current accounts, were introduced giving the necessary publication and finally passed. Another by-law, No. 609, the appointment of the same poundkeepers and fenceviewers as were appointed in 1908, were confirmed for 1909. Council then adjourned to meet in the town hall, North Monaghan, on Monday, February 8th, at 2 p.m.

THE AMERICAN PICTURE SHOWS

In this scheme of operation, the film exchanges, which are the middlemen between the producers and the theatre managers, are threatened with extinction. The exchanges are to be given an opportunity to reform the theatres, but if they fail the manufacturers threaten to deal directly with the theatres.

The concerns that have entered into the agreement are the following:

Edison Manufacturing Company, New York City.
Essanay Company, Chicago.
Kalem Company, New York City.
S. Lubin, Philadelphia.
G. Melies, New York City.
Pathe Freres, Paris and New York City.
Selig Polyscope Company, Chicago.
Vitagraph Company, New York City.
George Kleine, New York City and Chicago.
American Biograph Company, New York City.

These ten concerns supply all the moving pictures in America. The European manufacturers are Pathe Freres, Charles Urban & Co., and the L. Gaumont Company, the last two being represented in this country by Geo. Kleine.

The understanding was reached at a conference in New York two weeks ago. The articles of the agreement state that:—

"No pictures of an immoral, indecent or shocking character or embodying suggestions pernicious to the minds of youth shall be manufactured, the penalty for each violation being a fine of $5000.

"Theatres shall be required to furnish expert operators and to obey the health, fire and peace regulations.

"Moving picture theatres shall be required to eliminate vaudeville acts with the exception of the illustrated song.

"Exchanges shall be required to raise the minimum film rental to a figure that will keep the irresponsible small from of showmen of the business."

The manufacturers admit that they are determined to drive the cheap 5-cent theatre out of the business. They don't want to trifle with the man who starts a cheap theatre wherever a store becomes vacant.

The small fry now pay 10 a week to an exchange for a reel of film and $4 for "changes" a term that applies to old film. The manufacturers advocate raising the minimum price to $15 a week.

TABLE DECORATIONS.

Bisque Figures in Pose of Premiere of the Ballet.

Hostesses who are at their wits' ends trying to break away from the trite and formal in the matter of decorations for the dinner table appear to owe a debt of gratitude to the result of the happy collaboration of two Frenchmen, M. Pierre Carrier-Belleuse, the painter, and M. Gregoire Calvet, equally celebrated as a sculptor.

Together these two artists have spent three years in designing and executing a dozen or so of the daintiest and most bewitching dancing girl figures imaginable.

Each figure perpetuates a characteristic pose of a premiere of the ballet. It is the psychological moment of the dance, when the little figure, the gauzy skirts, the graceful limbs, the expression of the irresistible countenance, all combine to define an emotion that is captivating.

The graceful abandon of the figures and the management of the ballet skirts convey a wonder sense of motion. The figures seem almost to skip on toe tips, to whirl about, to fly, so painstaking, yet apparently careless, have the artists been with their detail.

The material of these joyous little statuettes is "biscuit de Sevres." The models are executed for the art market at the French national factory at Sevres. Probably no other medium would express the artists' ideas half as well. Every one acquainted with examples of bisque statuary will understand how exquisitely light and fragile must appear these dainty figures.

It can be imagined how well these charming figures serve as accessories to the decorative piece de resistance on a dinner table. Perhaps they are placed in a line up and down the length of the table or in groups here and there. If the hostess is lavish in such matters, she may place one before each cover—to be carried away as a souvenir.

Preserving Lingerie Waists.

The lacey lingerie waists so popular of late are "things of beauty," but, alas, not "joys forever" by any means, says Housekeeper. They are easily ruined in the laundering, and the broken lace is difficult, well nigh impossible, to mend. To greatly prolong their usefulness buy common waist net, cut in strips or the shape of the insets, and sew upon the underside of the inserted lace when the waist is new or as soon as it begins to break. Even badly torn pieces may be mended in this way, the pattern being darned down invisibly upon the net. Many very open patterns are really improved in looks by the addition of the net.

If You Would Look Well—

Use hairpins, visible, invisible and all kinds.

Wear a net or thin veil to keep in vagrant locks.

Cleanse your face with cream every night before going to bed.

Wear immaculate neckwear, a clean shirt waist and gloves without holes.

Don't allow the public glimpses of a soiled white skirt or a shredded silk one.

But, above all, look at your back in the glass before you start out. Just remember that the punishment of Lot's wife does not await you if you do.

Appearances Deceitful.

"Looks like rather poor soil in this part of the country," said the stranger.

"Well, it ain't," replied the native. "A man over on the adjoining farm plowed up a tin can with $50 in it one day last week."—Chicago News.

Truth Versus Politeness.

Ethel was going to take supper with a little friend.

"Now, dear," said her mother, "when you are leaving you must bid Marian's mamma good night and tell her you have had a very pleasant time."

When the little girl returned her mother asked if she had done as she told her.

"Not 'zactly, mamma," was the reply. "Marian took the biggest piece of the apple and spilled lemonade on my new dress, so I couldn't say what you told me, but I told her mother good night and said I guessed Marian had had a very pleasant time."—Judge.

Called Him in Writing.

A tourist in an out of the way region of England put up one night at an amiable old lady's cottage, the village inn being full. Now, the tourist was very deaf, which fact he took pains to impress upon the old lady, together with instructions to wake him at a particular hour in the morning. On waking a good deal later than the time appointed he found that the amiable old lady, with commendable regard for propriety, had slipped under his door a slip of paper on which was written:

"Sir, it is half past 8!"

Her Husband's Business.

"Now, madam," said the gas man with the gray curl in the middle of his forehead after he had asked her twenty questions more or less apropos of her application for the privilege of paying for gas, "what is your husband's business? What is he doing now?"

"I can't be sure, of course," the woman replied, "but I have my suspicions. I had to divorce him before he died."

CASHIER DEPARTED LEAVING NOTE TELLING OF HIS THEFT

Toronto Firm Victim of Former Lindsay Young Man Who is Well Known in Peterborough.

A Toronto despatch says;—Leaving a note addressed to his employer in which he stated that he had taken 2.165 of his money, and enclosing the key of his store, Claude E. Preston, also known as C. E. Colin, for some time past book-keeper and cashier for R. H. Hunter & Co., tailors, at 31-33 King street west, left town on Monday and is now being looked for by the police.

Mr. A. E. Brownlee, the proprietor of the store, was out of town on business, and it was during his absence that Preston took the money. On his return to town he found the letter advising him of his loss and called in auditors to go over the books, with the result that they found the shortage. Mr. Brownlee immediately communicated with the police and circulars are being sent out.

Preston's home is in Lindsay, Ont., where for years he worked for Flavelle & Co. Four years ago he was engaged in the produce business in New York and when he left there he came to Toronto. He is 35 years of age, six feet tall, weighs 180 pounds, is clean shaven, has auburn hair, a prominent nose and wears glasses. When last seen he was wearing a dark suit and a grey overcoat. His right name is Colin, but he was brought up by a family named Preston and took that name.

CITY LEAGUE HOCKEY WILL HOLD THE BOARDS TO-NIGHT

There are three city league games on the Boards at Brock street rink to-night, one junior and two senior contests.

At 6.45 the Chieftains will meet the T.A.S. in a junior fixture, and at eight o'clock the Belmonts and Lakefield seniors will clash. The last game will be between the Strathconas and T.A.S. seven and it promises to be a great go. Both teams will be the strongest that can be put on the ice. George Lynch will referee.

The Strathconas' line-up will be as follows;—

Goal—Wilson.

BELLEVILLE IS COMING

Will Open the Intermediate O. H. A. Season Here To-morrow Night—A Great Game

Belleville will open the intermediate OHA season here tomorrow night, when the Bay of Quinte septette will clash with the Peterborough seven. The visitors are coming here determined on victory and the struggle promises to be almost as interesting as some of those between the same teams in the days of old. Belleville has a very strong team and it will keep the locals going at top speed all the time to beat them. The game is called for 8.15 o'clock and there should be a big turnout of the fans.

The Peterborough team will be picked from the following players;

Desocher, Wasson, Glover, Moore, Ray, Dusty, Parnell, Long and Rose.

TRENTON HAS A GOOD TEAM

Won From Belleville in Junior O.H.A. Game 7-4.

Belleville, Jan 12—An exciting junior OHA hockey match was played here tonight between the Trenton and local junior teams. A large number of spectators witnessed the game, which resulted in a victory for Trenton by a score of 7 goals to 4. In the first half the score was 3 to 2, in favor of Belleville. In the second half, Belleville scored one goal and Trenton five goals. Mr F O Wegborne, of Toronto, was in every respect an impartial referee.

The line-up was;

BELLEVILLE

Goal—Boland.
Point—L. Spangenberg.
Cover—Moyer.
Rover—Symons.
Centre—A Spangenberg.
Left—Nutt.
Right—Connolly.

TRENTON

SPORTING TALK

In another week or so Fred Simpson, the Peterborough Indian, will be a great Marathon runner. In addition to being some prunes as a trainer, Tom Eck is strong on the press agent job and he is already at work boosting his charge. Down New York way Eck is rapidly bringing Simpson into the limelight.—Hamilton Spectator.

HOCKEY

GOING TO COBOURG

Messrs Metheral and Milburn will accompany the juniors to Cobourg tomorrow night.

ACKERMAN'S ACCEPT

Ackerman's have accepted the challenge of the canoe builders and are anxious to hook up with the boat makers. Ackerman's would like to meet them at Brock street rink on Saturday night between six and seven o'clock or at any other time that suitable arrangements can be made for.

EDMONTON WON

Winnipeg, Jan 13— The Edmonton hockey team cinched the championship of Western Canada by again defeating the Maple Leafs tonight after a hard game by the score of 3-2. This gives them a margin of nine goals for a series of two games. They will play an exhibition game with the Shamrocks on Friday night, but will not go to Port Arthur as requested owing to the fact that the financial arrangements are not satisfactory.

The Canadian Express Company challenge the Dominion Express Co. to a game of hockey, to be played as soon as the ice at Brock street rink can be secured.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES

Mr. A. Mowat will resume the study of MacBeth with his large and enthusiastic class this evening. The members of Mr. Mowat's class feel that this Thursday evening hour is one of great privilege and benefit, worth much more to them than the price of a members' ticket. There is no extra fee for this class, which is growing weekly in numbers and interest. There are about fifty names on this class roll, but we will be very glad to have yet others enjoy this helpful hour. This study of MacBeth will be finished in two or three more lessons, when Mr. Mowat will lecture on "The Development of the English Novel," at the same hour, eight o'clock sharp each Thursday evening. The development of the spiritual life is the underlying purpose of all Association work. No book will so richly repay study as the Bible, the desire to welcome many new faces to our Bible circle, which meets each Friday evening at eight o'clock.

Short, helpful, heart-to-heart talks of present day interest gleaned from the character studies of men and women of like passions as we are, are given each week.

The Educational Committee is planning new classes which will be announced shortly. Watch for the announcement.

The Montreal Ice Palace will cost seven thousand dollars and will be built by Chas Thackeray and Company.

In sight of three policemen and a civilian, an Italian was murdered on a Montreal street and the murderers escaped.

Long vs. Short Sleeves

Notwithstanding that long sleeves have been declared modish for all but ball gowns, one sees short sleeves in the majority of theatre frocks, and there is no gainsaying the fact that they are prettier, their grace enhanced by the long glove rippling to above the elbow. The short glove is really hideous in the evening, and long sleeves do not convey the idea of full dress, no matter how elaborately made nor of what sheer materials. It is encouraging to see that American women have the independence to revert to what is becoming and graceful, rather than to follow, sheeplike wherever French makers choose to lead

TWENTY INJURED IN WRECK ON GRAND TRUNK NEAR GUELPH

Car Went Into the Ditch—Some Seriously Injured—Hockey Players From Brantford Suffer Heavily.

Guelph, Jan. 15.—Over 20 of the 50 passengers in the last coach of the Grand Trunk southbound train leaving here at 10.30 yesterday morning were injured in a wreck that occurred about two miles from Guelph Junction at 11 o'clock.

The cause of the wreck was, it was understood, due to the steel flange, or tire, of the rear truck breaking off and allowing the car to leave the rails. The car rode along a short distance on the ties, then tipped and overbalancing rolled into the ditch, sliding a considerable distance.

The instant the hose of the airbrake was disconnected the brakes worked automatically, bringing the train to a sudden stop. There were only two cars on the train besides the baggage car, a first-class and a smoker. It was the first-class car that is now smashed to pieces at the bottom of the gully. The engine and combination coach did not leave the track.

Rescue of the confined passengers was at once started, all the uninjured lending a helping hand. In the meantime the engine was uncoupled and the engineer proceeded to run to Hespeler alone, leaving the fireman to flag and the rest of the crew to aid in the rescue work. Three doctors were brought from Hespeler, and aided Dr. Peters of Hamilton, who was on board.

One of the doors of the badly wrecked car was used as a stretcher and on this the most severely injured were placed and taken to the baggage car. As soon as all were on board a start was made for Guelph, which was reached about 12.30, and some of the injured were at once taken to the hospital.

Among the injured were a dozen prominent citizens of Guelph, the Brantford professional hockey team, returning home, after their game here the night before, and many Hamilton and Acton people.

George Gillis of Acton, an elderly man, is in St. Joseph' Hospital in a very dangerous condition.

Alex. Stewart, a well-known Guelph druggist, is at the General Hospital with both legs badly crushed and serious injuries to his hip.

R. H. Brydon, a local insurance man had both feet crushed and G. B. Ryan, chairman of Guelph water commission, is at his home in Park avenue with a broken rib and internal injuries.

Those who received treatment and have since left the hospitals are: J. H. McCormick, 45 Woolwich street, Guelph, not seriously hurt; F. W. Goulding, 39 Delhi street, bruises; Brakeman Kearns, back and arm hurt; J. Knowles, head cut; Mrs. Knowles, hip hurt; Miss Craig, Aberfoyle, bruises; J. H. R. Anderson, 281 East avenue, Hamilton, head cut; Richard Jasper, 128 Paisley street, Guelph, head cut, not seriously; J. M. Darling of Callendar, Ont., eye and arm bruised; Warren Moore of Bathneau, N.D., bruises on body, not serious; Miss Angeline Holm, bruises, and Miss Agnes Holm, internal injuries.

The following members of Brantford's professional hockey team suffered severely: Marks, broken finger; Miller, hand cut; Hutton, six fingers broken; Smith, nose and head cut; Bradley, hand cut and head bruised.

C.N.R. WILL HAVE A LINE ALONG LAKE SUPERIOR

William McKenzie in Interview Confirms Reports That Eastern and Western Systems Will be Linked up by Line Which Will be Between C.P. R. and G.T.R.

Montreal, Jan. 15.—Reports that Mackenzie and Mann will build round the north shore of Lake Superior, and thus connect the eastern and western sections of the Canadian Northern Railway, were confirmed yesterday by William Mackenzie, who is here, so rumor says, in connection with the offer that firm are said to be contemplating for the Canadian Government (I.C.R.) system from Montreal to Halifax.

Although the president of the C.N.R. would make no admission as to the amount they would be willing to give Mr. Mackenzie stated that for five or six years past he had been favorable to the absorption of the I.C.R. as the eastern link of the Canadian Northern, and he still considered the project a profitable one to the Dominion. Not knowing much about the present rates on the I.C.R., he could make no statement as to what the C.N.R. would do in this connection, except that no corporation would put rates into force that would be detrimental to the best interests of the country through which the line runs.

Mr. Mackenzie was more definite as to the north shore line.

"Yes," he said, "we are going to build that section in the near future, and already a good portion of the road is permanently located from Port Arthur eastward. We have found a first-rate route and the location lies between the Grand Trunk Pacific and the C.P.R., and while in some places we come nearer the G.T.P., at other points we approach nearer to the shore route of the C.P.R."

Mr. Mackenzie intimated a policy to build this line as soon as possible, but the beginning of the work during the present year depended upon circumstances. The road now being constructed from Hawkesbury to Ottawa would be fully completed during the coming summer and the link from Hawkesbury to Montreal permanently located to a point on the Back River would likewise be shoved ahead.

It is understood as soon as the link is completed from Port Arthur to Parry Sound the section of road now being operated by the Grand Trunk between the capital and Parry Sound will be transferred to the foot of the Rocky Mountains. It is likely that long before the section round Lake Superior is completed the Canadian Northern will have begun work on the Pacific side of the Rockies. They have a charter to build through the Yellow Head Pass.

MAURICE RYAN IS PLACED ON TRIAL AT NORTH BAY

Preliminary Hearing of Man Charged With Highway Robbery is Commenced—Another Man in the Case.

North Bay, Jan. 15—The preliminary trial of Maurice Ryan, charged with highway robbery, and with the murder of his brother, began yesterday afternoon before Magistrate Weegar. The town hall was filled to the doors.

The highway robbery charge resulted in a committal. Joseph Goulet, of Waverley, Mass., swore that while returning from a trip to Winnipeg he stopped off at North Bay to meet some friends, but got acquainted with Ryan, who proposed driving out a short way in the country and having a good time. Ryan gave him drink, and the last he remembered was holding his money about $65, in his hand, with Ryan taking it away. He recovered consciousness lying in the road with his money gone.

Two witnesses testified to seeing a buggy driven rapidly from the scene and finding Goulet unconscious.

The evidence of William Ryan — a brother of the accused, furnished a a surprise in setting up an alibi for the prisoner. William Ryan works in a livery stable and swore that on the night of his brother Joseph's disappearance the prisoner and Joseph came to the stable and engaged a rig. They drove away, but Maurice returned about midnight saying that Joseph Driscoll, a chum of Joseph Ryan, had driven his brother to Callendar. Prisoner then went to bed in the office, and remained all night, and could not have left without his knowing it. The rig was found in the morning in an outside shed with the murdered man's grip in the buggy, and blood stains on the robe. The witness did not think there was anything strange about these circumstances. Driscoll he has not seen since.

James Ryan, another brother, testified to seeing Maurice with a hundred dollar bill after Joseph's disappearance. Joseph had at least one thousand dollars in cash on his person the night he started to leave town.

Joseph Cook swore that Maurice Ryan paid a note for $150 after Joseph Ryan disappeared.

Evidence was also given that Maurice Ryan had sold the furniture in his brother's resort for $200 and kept the proceeds, took charge of his brother's trunk and effects and tried to draw $200 out of a bank in Tupper Lake, New York State, signing his brother's name to a check. One witness swore that the prisoner said he had received a letter from his brother Joseph.

An important witness, Nora McKeown, has not been seen since 9 o'clock Wednesday night, although every effort is being made to locate her.

G. L. T. Bull is defending the prisoner and Crown Attorney Browning is prosecuting.

PTE. MOIR IS NOT GUILTY VERDICT FOUND QUICKLY

London, Jan. 15.—After 15 minutes' consideration the jury yesterday morning acquitted, on the ground of insanity, Private Moir, late of the Royal Canadian Regiment, charged with the murder by shooting of Sergt. Lloyd at Wolseley Barracks last spring. Chancellor Meredith in his charge to the jury said there was no doubt Moir had been insane.

Moir will be committed to the Hamilton Asylum, and Dr. Bruce Smith, provincial inspector of prisons, says that not in 33 years has anyone sent to the asylum on account of epilepsy been allowed his freedom.

"Under the verdict," said the chancellor, "the prisoner will be kept in close confinement till the pleasure of the crown is known, which means practically he will be confined to an asylum for life. This trial shows the public are in danger from epileptics such as the unfortunate prisoner. Such people may go around without having knowledge of their condition and their homicidal mania may develop at any time.

"Those in charge of affairs should see that epileptics such as the prisoner should be subject to imprisonment for life, or until such time as medical science will have discovered a remedy, which has not yet been done."

Moir, who had flushed and shown emotion by twitching lips and gulping throat when the verdict was announced, was then led away through the crowded court-room.

The chief witness yesterday morning was Dr. W. J. Robinson, superintendent of London Asylum, who declared Moir to be an epileptic, having treated him for that disease in 1906. Alcohol would excite an attack and when senses were recovered the patient would have no knowledge of what might have occurred. Alcohol and epileptic mania were frequently confused.

Dr. C. K. Clarke, superintendent of Toronto Asylum, believed Moir to be an epileptic. An epileptic was usually irritable. Up to a certain point this irritabilty might have nothing to do with epilepsy, but after that it had.

GEORGE ST. SUNDAY SCHOOL HAS HAD SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Annual Meeting Held Last Night—Teachers and Officers Entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong.

The annual meeting of George street and Grace church Sunday schools was held in the parlor of the George street church last night. There was a large attendance of the officers and teachers and after the business part of the meeting was over, those present were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Armstrong, Mr. Armstrong being the Superintendent of the George street Sunday school. A most enjoyable time was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong having made complete arrangements to entertain their guests.

Rev. E. A. Pearson the pastor, occupied the chair, and the following reports were read covering the work of the Sunday schools during the year;—

GRACE SUNDAY SCHOOL.
Peterborough.
January 14. '09.

To the Teachers and Officers of Grace Church Sunday school:

I herewith submit my report for the year ending Dec. 31st. 1908.

Total number of scholars on roll	70
Average attendance	57
Total number of teachers and officers on roll	15
Average attendance	13
Total membership of school	85
Average attendance	70
Avereage collections per Sunday	$1.07
Total ordinary collections per day	$55.64

SOLD TOBACCO TO MINORS, WAS FINED TWENTY DOLLARS

C I. Woo, proprietor of the Chinese restaurant, at George and King Sts, was fined ten dollars in each of two charges against him of selling tobacco to minors on Tuesday evening last. Mr G N Gordon appeared for the accused and stated to the Review at the conclusion of the court that he would immediately give notice of appeal in the two cases. C I Woo, plead of not guilty.

Eddie Shera said that he was at C I Woo's on Tuesday night. He did not buy any tobacco but Jordan and Hartley bought some Old Chum. Jordon bought a package for the witness and one for himself.

John Jordan was called. He knew the Chinaman. He bought two ten cent packages. He had no order from his parents.

Witness told the Chinaman that he was only fourteen years of age.

Stanley Hartley also swore to having purchased a package of tobacco at C I Woo's restaurant.

C I Woo said that he owned the restaurant, and Ing, who was alleged to have sold tobacco to the boys was a new cook who came from Toronto. Witness instructed Ing Loney not to sell tobacco to boys. He never saw Hartley in his shop.

Ing Loney, the cook, said that he sold to young Jordan who said that he was eighteen and the tobacco, he said, was for his father.

His Worship imposed the above fines without costs.

TRAINMEN ARE KILLED

Freight Train Carrying Silk Wrecked at Sidewood, Sask.

Medicine Hat, Jan. 15.—Two trainmen were killed in a rear-end freight wreck Wednesday in which silk valued at about $100,000 was very badly damaged.

The dead men are, J. D. King, fireman and —. Porter, brakeman, of Medicine Hat. Engineer Degan and Brakeman Tatmount were seriously hurt.

An eastbound freight carrying silk stopped at Sidewood, Sask., 55 miles west of Swift Current, when a second eastbound freight struck it, destroying the caboose and six cars.

The silk on the leading train formed part of the cargo of the C.P.R. liner Empress of India, which arrived the other day from the Orient.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Blanche Goddard of Newton Abbott has divorced Oliver John Goddard, now in Canada.

At Minneapolis, 39 engineering students at the university have struck in protest against the teacher's "kindergarten methods."

Inspector James L. Hughes has presented a library of 100 volumes of literature, history and travel to the Girls' Industrial School.

The foot and mouth disease has been eradicated in New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Michigan, but the Federal quarantine will not be completely lifted at present.

The new Cuban congress is in session at Havana, occupying for the first time in the history of the republic, its own home, having met during the former period of independence in an old tobacco warehouse.

Frederick Hardy Ruffles, about 45, who described himself as a Winnipeg dairy farmer, disappeared at Meopham, Kent, and several dairy farming pupils regret the payment of heavy premiums. Many tradesmen would also like to see the color of his money.

HAINS IS NOW FREE

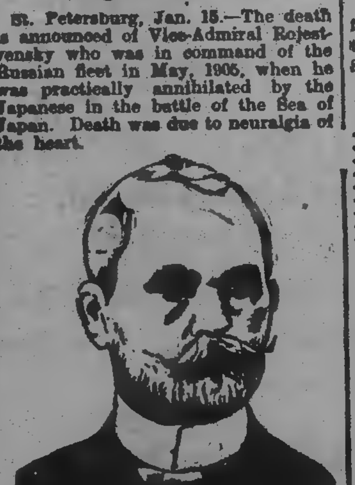
Jury Brings in Verdict of Aquittal After Being Out All Night.

Flushing, Jan. 15.—The jury in the Thornton Hains' case, shortly before three o'clock this afternoon, brought in a verdict of acquittal. The jury was out all night, but at luncheon to-day they stood 10—2 in favor of acquittal.

ROJESTVENSKY PASSES AWAY

Russian Admiral Succumbs to Neuralgia of the Heart.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 15.—The death is announced of Vice-Admiral Rojestvensky who was in command of the Russian fleet in May, 1905, when he was practically annihilated by the Japanese in the battle of the Sea of Japan. Death was due to neuralgia of the heart.



VICE-ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY.

Sinovi Petrovitch Rojestvensky, who was about 60 years of age, had been in the Russian naval service the greater part of his life. Graduating from the Michael Military Academy, Rojestvensky rose steadily until he became chief of the naval headquarters' staff and the head of the intelligence department of the Russian navy.

Returning to Russia after the battle with Togo, he pleaded guilty to charges of cowardice to save his brother officers, but was declared not guilty. Others were condemned to death, but their sentences were commuted.

Bouquet From Mud Village.

The Peterborough city fathers will attend church in a body next Sunday, it being the annual event arranged by the Ministerial Association. These Peterborough councillors must be a bad lot when such a combination as the Ministerial Association can get them to church only once a year.—Lindsay Free Press

SENTENCED TO 15 YEARS

Special to J. N. Barber.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 15.—Rhinehart found guilty of bank robbery, was to-day sentenced to 15 years in the State Prison.

Phone Rates Lowered.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 15.—An order in council has been passed putting into effect a readjusted schedule of rentals and tolls on the Government telephone system. The reduction will average 25 per cent., but will not affect exchanges where there are over a thousand subscribers, though there will be a reduction in all exchanges on private residence 'phones.

Engine Plunges Into Lake.

Revelstoke, B.C., Jan. 15.—Carrying its engineer and fireman with it, the locomotive of a westbound C.P.R. freight train ran into a snowslide at Three Valley Lake at full speed at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and, leaving the rails, jumped down the embankment and plunged into the lake. Both men were drowned.

140 Miners Entombed.

Vesprim, Hungary, Jan. 15.—In an explosion of fire damp in the Auka coal mine here yesterday, which was followed later by a dust explosion and fire, 140 men were entombed.

Sixteen living miners and the bodies of 45 dead persons thus far have been brought out of the pit.

Willing to Wear Clothes Now.

Prince Albert, Sask., Jan. 15.—Warden Fred Kerr of Prince Albert jail will take six Doukhobor women, who have been confined to jail for the past six months, to their homes at Hiteberno, to-day.

These women are some of the pilgrims who spent last winter at Fort William, and who persisted in doing without clothes last year. They have quite recovered from frenzy and wear clothes and eat anything given them. When they first arrived at the jail they had to be fed by force.

Awaiting Verdict.

Flushing, N.Y., Jan. 15.—The jury in the case of Thornton Jenkins Hains retired at 4.55 o'clock yesterday afternoon to determine whether the indictment charging him with being a principal with his brother, Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., in the killing of William E. Annis has been proved or not.

The case was given to the jury after Prosecutor Darrin had completed his closing and Justice Crane had charged the law and reveiwed the evidence.

Books Stolen From Sheriff's Care.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—A peculiar disappearance of important books from the store of Irving & Co., tailors, Sparks street, has occurred.

The firm had gone into liquidation and the stock and books were seized by the sheriff. The place was locked up, but someone secured entrance and the books have been abstracted.

Mr. Turgeon Out.

Montreal, Jan. 15.—There is a rumor current here to-day that Hon. J. Adelard Turgeon will be out of the Government. It is said that Sir Lomar Gouin accepts his colleague's resignation with extreme regret.

More Police For Kingston.

Kingston, Jan. 15.—On account of many recent burglaries, some merchants are agitating for more police.

Did Brother Malign Sister?

Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—A peculiar case is pending in the provincial court.

J. C. Stuart of La Riviere, Man., became possessed of some anonymous letters containing scandalous stories about his daughter, Margaret. The provincial police, after investigating, charged the brother of the girl, Duncan R. Stuart, aged 19, an agricultural college student, with writing the letters, and offer expert evidence of the handwriting. The youth denies the accusation. Neither father nor girl credit the charge.

A Raid at Gananoque.

Gananoque, Jan. 15.—The police on Wednesday night raided a supposed poker club, making four arrests. Three others got away. The police long suspected the rooms were frequented by young men for the purpose of gambling. One table and three packs of cards were confiscated. Two ten-cent pieces were found on the floor. The frequenters yesterday pleaded not guilty and were remanded.

Kern Beaten For Senatorship.

New Messina May Arise.

Paris, Jan. 15.—Duke Pompeo Little of Lombardy called on the Italian ambassador, Signor Gallint, yesterday and offered to donate part of an extensive tract of land in Manatee County, Florida, owned by him for the purpose of colonizing 5,000 victims of the earthquake in Calabria and Sicily.

The ambassador has communicated the duke's proposal to the Italian Government.

The duke would allot to each family two farms, one free and the other to be worked for a small rental.

Connaught at Messina.

Messina, Jan. 15.—The Duke of Connaught arrived here Wednesday afternoon on board the British cruiser Aboukir. He said:

"This beautiful city seems to have passed through a sieve like ground wheat."

A crowd of people pressed around the duke imploring aid. He distributed a large sum of money and then after taking several photographs of the ruins shook hands with the soldiers working at the excavations.

Fiend With Penknife.

Hamilton, Ohio, Jan. 15.—Rudolph Wirts, a promienent business man, ran amuck with a penknife, injuring six persons including his wife, who will probably die. He cut and stabbed the woman forty-four times, cut out her left eye and severed her right thumb.

WHOLESALE ACCUSATIONS

Express Companies Charged With High-Handed Actions—Defence Holding Back.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—All kinds of accusations were hurled at the express companies by complaining shippers, before the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners in the city hall yesterday.

Loose business methods, double charging, excessive rates, utter indifference as to prompt shipment and delivery, collusion in increasing prices and discrimination against certain districts of cities, wholesale destruction of merchandise through careless handling and even threatening employes with dismissal if they attempted to deliver or collect packages outside of certain prescribed bounds, were all mentioned, and left for Chairman Mabee and Commissioner McLean to ponder upon.

The complainants represented wholesale milliners, lobster merchants, fruit growers pop manufacturers, hardware establishments, etc., and came from various parts of the province. Some protests were by letter.

At the adjournment last evening Counsel E. Lafleur, K.C., for the Canadian Express Co., announced that the companies would produce no evidence at the present session, as they wanted time to investigate all the complaints.

A MODERN CRUSADE

The battle between Modernism which can best be understood or described as individualism on the one hand and collectivism or the Church on the other hand is now being waged in earnest. A perusal of the widespreading and intensely serious influence and character of the literature of the subject must impress even the most casual with the fierce character of the struggle recently begun. Modernism is the claim of the individual to do his own thinking. Collectivism, to use a convenient term, is the claim of a body "commissioned from On High" to do the thinking for the world at large if that body considers it necessary, and at any rate as much of it as may seem to it at any time to be necessary. The latter, therefore, considers itself the final court of appeal as against even the individual himself.

It may be said that this struggle has always been going on, but such is not the case in the present sense. The growth of individual or personal independence has been so great of late years as to require an understanding to be reached at once, and once for all. Hence the Pope's Encyclical denouncing Modernism. The Encyclical is really a re-affirming by the "Vicar of Christ" of the claim that speaking "ex-cathedra," or from the chair of St. Peter and as representative of the Church he is to be regarded as supreme in matters of faith and in all other matters concerning which an individual might seek to have his own ideas as opposed to those of the Church. The independence of the individual must yield in faith and morals to the word or command of The Church through the Pope. Protestantism, or non-Catholic Christianity speaks also in the name of Christ, but not as having any power within itself to enforce its orders. It does not assume to bring down punishment or to lay upon a nation an interdict curse or boycott. It may assert "what will surely take place," but a denial of its assertion entails no temporal punishment as a direct consequence. It commands that men shall obey Christ, but not that they shall obey an earthly "Vicar of Christ." Hence it leaves to the individual the settling with God of his own account by himself. It does not claim infallibility in faith and morals but it claims a spiritual insight acquired through faith and prayer, amounting to complete self-satisfaction and infallible certainty and when a non-Catholic Christian under the influence of faith affirms that God or Christ means this or that, he is "sure" of it, believing that he has received his assurance from God. The Protestant doctrine of toleration means the toleration of all sorts of ideas respecting the relations of God and Man, so far as at all possible. To the Catholic there can logically be no toleration of anything the Church does not approve, hence no "toleration" as Protestants understand it.

To sum up, one might say that the real difference between the Roman Catholic and all other Christian communions lies in the question of the responsibility of men and women to God. The non-Catholic avers that God speaks to each individual directly and that He does not say that any man is His only ambassador to Humanity and His sole vicerulen upon earth. The questions here involved have now become a daily topic of conversation. The papal encyclical and the rebellion of France against The Church have been followed by a complete overhauling of the missionary movement of the Roman Catholic Church on this continent. The Church may be said to have declared war once more against those who deny its faith and the first engagement since that declaration is now going on. There is no doubt that but for the doctrine of Infallibility the different forces of Christianity, Catholic and non-Catholic would ere this have all become reunited. That doctrine necessitates the declaration by the non-Catholic Christian of his belief in a radically different form of human liberty or human guidance from that which he now believes in and it will necessarily prevent re-union on any other basis than on acknowledgment of the supreme power of The Church and the infallibility of its vicarious head. The struggle therefore comes back to one between the two forms of Christianity, between modernism or freedom to criticism and believe or disbelieve on the one hand and obedience to the Church as vested by its earthly head, without criticism, properly so-called, on the other. In other words, it has come to be a question with each man of whether he will obey in matters of faith and morals, the Pope, who alone shall say what men may think or continue to think and do, or obey his own will in that respect, assuming all responsibility for his own final outcome and for what his own idea may be of what God commands or does not command. It is a question of being intellectually free, humanly speaking, or of finding "perfect freedom" in a renunciation of that intellectual freedom.

It is a momentous question and is now being fought out as never before. The last three years have witnessed what may be described as a call to arms, a modern crusade against the modernist. It looks as if the result of this great struggle would mean for at least many centuries if not for all time, the decision of the religious world as to whether it shall stand for the one idea or the other.

Outside of all forms of Christianity or indeed it may be said of any religion, there exists a body of men or mode of thought known as the free and independent. Their creed is Virtue and the love of it and the practice of it for its own sake. It is a large and influential body and while towards the Christian's idea of things eternal it preserves a somewhat agnostical attitude, it strives to make up in works what it lacks in faith. It is to this body that The Church is most strongly opposed. Crime needs no explanation or excuse in its suppression but the Virtuist is quite another matter. Moreover, he demands no sacrifice or martyrdom of others as a necessity of salvation. Such a sacrifice must according to his claim be of the individual himself. According to this theory, Jesus by His sacrifice exalted His own personality but not that of those for whom He died, except by example of what a good man will do. The life of a man alone counts in the Virtuist's eye, not his professions. Taken altogether the New Year opens with matters of most vital concern. Public opinion will be so influenced by them within a few years if not months as to materially alter the face of the world.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Police Magistrate Dumble has made out a case against the people of Peterborough respecting Mrs. Drury, which no self-respecting citizen can ignore.

The Globe still maintains its fierce attack begun some years ago on the Attorney-General's Department of Ontario. When the Globe runs up against Sir James Whitney, however, it does not usually come out best.

Ottawa, Jan. 13.—As a result of the negotiations between the two Governments during the past year an agreement to limit the use of Niagara water for power purposes has now been reached. Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works for Canada, visited Washington last week, and he, with British Ambassador Bryce and United States Secretary of State Root, embodied this agreement in a treaty, which has been signed on behalf of the Canadian and the American authorities. It is understood that by the treaty on the American side, in addition to the ten thousand feet of water taken by the Chicago drainage canal the power companies will be permitted to take 20 000 cubic feet of water per second which will allow a development of 236 000 horse-power. On the Canadian side the diversion of the water for power purposes is limited to 36 000 cubic feet of water per second, allowing a development of 425 000 horse-power. The total diversion of water at Niagara Falls is therefore restricted to 56 000 cubic feet per second, and the power which can be developed from it is 661,000 horse-power.

The treaty will run for a limited term of years. The period is understood to be long enough to allow of a demonstration of the effectiveness of the proposed limitation. It is subjected to the approval of the American Senate and the Canadian Parliament, before which it will be laid at the opening of the session this month. If approved by the Senate and by Parliament, the two countries will name a joint commission to see that the terms of the treaty are adhered to by the power companies of both countries.

CABLES DAMAGED BY TRAWLERS

Crews of Steam Fishing Boats Often Cut Cables to Free Nets.

In the last few years a great change has taken place in the methods of fishing with trawls or drag nets. Small nets drawn by fishing boats have given place to great machines towed by steamers. Steam trawlers originated in England. They have multiplied rapidly, and now France possesses a fleet which, after having been tried in French waters with remarkable success from the fishermen's point of view, though not from that of persons interested in the preservation of marine fauna, has extended its field of operations to Iceland and Newfoundland, where it is rapidly destroying the time-honored industry of fishing with hooks and lines.

This is not the only damage done by the steam trawlers. Their heavy nets become entangled with telegraphic cables, and either break them or drag them to the surface, where the fishermen often cut the cables in order to free their nets. The hooks of the old Newfoundland fishing boats never inflicted any such damage, for they were not dragged along the bottom, and if a hook happened to foul a cable, the line simply parted and the hook was lost, while the cable remained uninjured.

As the steam trawlers mark wide furrows on the sea bottom in every direction they cannot fail to encounter the cables and break them, to the great injury of the cable companies and their service. It has cost the Commercial Cable Co. $100,000 to repair the damage caused by trawlers in three months. In May last there was an almost daily interruption of service on some one of the 13 cables which connect America with Europe, and these interruptions occurred 40 miles from shore in the waters frequented by the trawlers.

The cable companies demand laws prohibiting trawling in the vicinity of their cables, and the fishermen complain that the cables interfere with their work and damage their nets.

LAZIEST MAN IN THE WORLD.

Remarkable Case Where a Man Stayed In Bed For Three Months.

There have been many lazy men, but none to equal Archibald Dehan, of Suffolk Place, West Green, England, who was accused at Tottenham, England, of neglecting his four children.

Mrs. Dehan said her husband had done no work for fourteen months, although he had been offered employment.

"Instead of looking for work he lies in bed until all hours of the day," she stated. "Once he stayed in bed for three months, although nothing was wrong with him.

"I have tried to persuade him to bestir himself, and I have even dragged him out of the bed, but he went back to it again. One day I took him a letter containing an offer of employment. He read it and said he would not go out until the next day, as it was raining.

"When he was offered another situation he stated he could not take it until he obtained a new set of teeth and had his hair dyed.

"He was in the workhouse in the early part of this year. After he came out he took to his bed again, and remained there for a week."

"I suffer from insomnia," Dehan pleaded in an injured tone.

"No body can expect to sleep all the 24 hours of the day," remarked the magistrate drily, in sentencing him to six months' hard labor.

Perilous Sleepwalking.

There is a curious case told of an old gentleman living in London who every morning when he awoke could not find his nightcap. This continued for two months, and as no one could find any trace of his missing nightcap his relatives came to the conclusion that he must be a somnabulist. So one night he was watched. About one o'clock in the morning he rose from his bed, proceeded to the top floor, opened a window, climbed out of it on to the eaves of the house, along which he made his way with the greatest agility. Then he climbed up the chimney pot, pulled off his nightcap and carefully placed it in the pot. The next day on investigation his relatives found dozens of his caps hidden away in that spot. When the old man saw the route of his perilous walk he shuddered, and yet he had made that trip night after night without evincing any sign of fear.

Ancient Japanese Iron Making.

The Japanese were acquainted with iron from very early times. A sword that was used by one of the ancestors of the present emperor about 800 B.C. is still in existence. Later, when the great civil war broke out in the sixth century, sword smiths and armor smiths came to occupy a prominent place. Many interesting stories are connected with sword smiths, although this is no place to go into these. From this time on down to about 300 years ago no noticeable progress had been made. At the beginning of the seventeenth century, when the Tokugawa dynasty came into possession of the political power and peace was restored, all branches of industry began to prosper. The demand for iron implements increased, and the scarcity of iron supply began to be felt.

Birds as Ventriloquists.

Many birds form their sounds without opening their bills. The pigeon is a well-known instance of this. Its cooing can be distinctly heard, although it does not open its bill. The call is formed internally in the throat and chest and is rendered audible only by resonance. Similar ways may be observed in many birds and other animals. The clear, loud call of the cuckoo, according to one naturalist, is the resonance of a note formed in the bird. The whirring of the snipe, which betrays the approach of the bird to the hunter, is an act of ventriloquism. Even the nightingale has certain notes which are produced internally and which are audible while the bill is closed.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Are Firm—American Markets Steady For Hogs and Cattle.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12c to 14½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9⅝c to 9¾c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 14.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market on Wednesday and Thursday, as reported by the railways, were 116 carloads, consisting of 1710 cattle, 3014 hogs, 1300 sheep and lambs, and 57 calves.

Exporters.

During the week there has been an excellent demand for export cattle, prices for which steadily advanced, growing a little stronger each day until $5.75 was bid. Maybee and Wilson, for an extra choice load of steers, to be delivered Friday morning. Outside of this sale, prices ranged from $5 to $5.60 for steers; bulls sold from $4 to $4.50, and one extra quality bull, the best on the market, brought in by C. Capes, Brigden, Ont., which brought $5 per cwt.; but this price must not be regarded as a criterion by any means, as it is seldom there is an animal of this kind of as good quality on the market.

Butchers.

The market for good to choice butchers has been strong all week, and prime picked lots sell readily at $5; loads of good, $4.50 to $4.80; medium to good, $4 to $4.40; common, $3.25 to $3.90; cows, $2.80 to $4.50; canners, $1.50 to $2.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. and W. Murby report a fair trade, with prices higher. The Messrs. Murby bought 160 cattle this week at following quotations: Feeders, 950 to 1100 lbs., $3.90 to $4.60; feeders, 800 to 900 lbs., $3.50 to $3.90; stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., $2.25 to $3.00 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

There has been a fair delivery of milkers and springers, the bulk of which classed as medium not many choice cows coming forward. Prices ranged from $30 to $55, with a very few at $60, and only one cow at $70.

Veal Calves.

Veal calves are scarce, especially those of good quality. Common to medium sold at $3 to $4.50, and good to choice $6 to $7.50 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts moderate, prices firmer. Ewes, $3.75 to $4.25; light butcher ewes, yearlings, $4.50; rams, $3 to $3.50; lambs, $5.50 to $6.00, with a few selected at $6.60 per cwt.

Hogs.

The hog market has been firm all week and closed at still higher prices. Mr. Harris quoted selects fed and watered at $6.50, and $6.25 f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, N.Y., Jan. 14.—Cattle—Receipts 75 head; fairly active and steady; prime steers, $6.50 to $6.75.

Veals—Receipts 200 head; active and 50c lower; $7 to $9.75.

Hogs—Receipts 7700 head; slow and steady; yorkers, $5.75 to $6.30; roughs, $5.25 to $5.65.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 5800 head; active; sheep steady; lambs 25c lower; lambs, $5 to $7.75.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 14.—Beeves—Receipts 1564. Feeling nominally steady. Dressed beef in moderate demand at 8c to 10½c. Calves—Receipts 398. Feeling steady. Fair to good veals sold at $9.75 to $10.12½. Dressed calves firm. City dressed veals, 8c to 16c; country dressed, 8c to 14c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 6598; feeling steady; one car unsold. Common sheep at $3.50; prime yearlings, $6.75; lambs, $7.50 to $7.75; no choice lambs offered; culls $5.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Must Not Receive Visitors.

Detroit, Jan. 15.—Judge Wisger of Flint, Mich., delivered a unique judgment yesterday when he sentenced Mrs. Grace Conger, a resident of that city to "stay at home nights, report to the court every 60 days, and to receive no callers for the next three years, except in the presence of the adult members of your family."

Mrs. Conger, who is an unusually attractive looking woman of 40 years and mother of a family of five children, was arrested in Syracuse a few days ago, whither she had eloped with Odson Brooks, a prominent resident of Flint, and a close friend of her husband.

Brooks was given a sentence of three months in the Iona Reformatory.

Motorless Aeroplane.

Canton, O., Jan. 15.—Wm. H. Martin, former surveyor of Stark County, announces that he has made eight successful flights in a motorless aeroplane of his invention.

His wife rode in the machine at a height of 30 feet for a distance of two hundred feet.

The aeroplane is operated on sleigh runners. As soon as it receives sufficient velocity it rises in the air and sails.

Martin will purchase a motor, he says.

Co-Operation Pays.

Ottawa Jan. 15.—About a year ago members of the Government Workmen's Association, initiating a co-operative purchasing scheme, made arrangements with a company for one thousand tons of coal, on which the members saved one dollar a ton. Later, they purchased butter and saved $[illegible].

Altogether by their co-operative plan they have saved about $1,500 and have made arrangements to extend operations.

To Reply to Grain Growers.

Winnipeg, Jan. 15.—Premier Roblin stated yesterday that the reply of the Premiers to the Grain Growers' executive had been declared satisfactory, and that he would sign it at once.

It will be sent to Regina for Premier Scott's approval and signature, and thence to Edmonton to Premier Rutherford, who will present it to the Grain Growers' secretary at Calgary.

Tuberculosis League Meeting.

Arnprior, Jan. 15.—There was only a small attendance at the public meeting held in the town hall for the formation of a local league of the National Association for the prevention of tuberculosis.

It is proposed to build a tuberculosis hospital for the Counties of Lanark, Renfrew and Carleton, at some convenient point if at all possible.

Newspapers Mustn't Print Liquor Ads.

Augusta, Ga., Jan. 15.—The Georgia Anti-Saloon League will prosecute newspapers of the state for printing whisky advertisements, on the ground that the papers are hired agents and solicitors for whisky houses, in violation of the state prohibition law.

Nurses to Visit Quebec Schools.

Quebec, Jan. 15.—An innovation has been introduced in the public schools by the appointment of two trained nurses by the Protestant board of school commissioners, who will visit the city schools and render what services may come to their notice.

Provost Macklem Resigns.

Toronto, Jan. 15.—Provost Street Macklem sent his resignation to the corporation board of Trinity College on Jan. 2, to take effect on Sept. 30, and the fact was made public yesterday. An earnest effort is to be made to induce him to remain.

Not to Tutor Alfonso.

Pau, Jan. 15.—Wilbur Wright, who arrived here yesterday with Hart O. Berg, says there is no truth in the report that he has been engaged by King Alfonso of Spain to teach him to fly.

$100,000 For a Site.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 15.—American capitalists yesterday paid $100,000 for a site for a grain elevator at False Creek.

Not Asking For $35,000,000.

Montreal, Jan. 15—President Whyte of the C.P.R., who arrived here yesterday to go over the estimates with Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, denies reports from the west that he demands an expenditure of $35,000,000 in western lines for the coming season.

Another Jolt.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The Senate committee on public buildings soon will start an investigation into the demolition of the old Pennsylvania depot, which was torn down by order of the President, apparently in the absence of legislative authority.

Northcliffe Buying Stock?

Montreal, Jan. 15.—The recent purchases of Laurentide Paper stock in the local market are attributed on good authority to Lord Northcliffe.

Italians Honor Victoria.

A movement has just been set on foot by The Petit Nicois, of Nice, Italy, for the erection of a monument to the late Queen Victoria. It will be remembered that her late Majesty was associated in a special sense during her lifetime with the Riviera, wintering there year after year until she became a familiar figure to the native population.

The Petit Nicois therefore, voicing the sentiments of the French population, is appealing for subscriptions to this monument to the memory of the Queen whose presence did so much to render the Riviera known to English people. While the initiative of the movement is entirely and suitably French, the Paris Daily Mail is associating itself with The Petit Nicois in the expectation that many English people in the habit of visiting the Riviera may desire to contribute to the monument fund.

The Flying Frog.

Amongst the amphibia, not the least remarkable of Borneo, is Wallace's flying frog, Rhacophorus Pardalis. This frog is of striking appearance, being brilliantly colored, with varying admixtures of red and yellow. Its flight is effected by means of the much-extended webs between the digits of the hands and feet. Only one fresh specimen has been seen by Mr. Hewitt, and this came from Sibu. Another rare frog is Colpoglossus Brooksii—its specific name in honor of the discoverer, Mr. C. J. Brooks. It is a rotund creature, larger than our common frog, and has very curious and distinctive markings on the back. According to Mr. Boulenger, Borneo can boast of producing the longest-legged frog (Rana Jerboa) and the longest-legged toad (Bufo Jerboa) in the world!

Remedy For Unemployment.

A new way of dealing with unemployment has been announced by a Northwich (England) firm. They have decided to reduce the number of hours a day worked by their men in order that work may be found for 250 more men. As the men are paid by time, they will have smaller incomes, but it is reported that they recognize that good will be done to those who are out of work. The scheme will not affect the wages bill of the firm.

Septuagenarian Woman's Feats.

Miss Olivia B. Williams, of St. Mabyn, Cornwall, England, has achieved remarkable walking records, although she is more than 70 years of age. She covered 2,358 miles last year, or an average of 46 miles a week, in visiting her employers, whom she helps with sewing, and one week recently she walked 50 miles.

BEETHOVEN AND BUSINESS.

Selling His Music Was Distasteful to the Great Composer.

An extremely interesting article which has appeared in a German musical and theatrical paper under the above heading contains the following statement, says a London exchange: Beethoven never bargained in the ordinary way. His fees for a composition were demanded briefly and in a decided manner, and he always pointed out when mentioning a price that he meant guineas and not sovereigns, or, rather, their equivalent in Austrian coin. In 1801 he wrote to a music firm at Leipzig: "Now the unpalatable business part is done with. I wish things could be managed differently in this world. There should be only one music publisher to whom the artist might take his work, knowing that he might ask a fee according to his requirements. As it is, he has to be partly a tradesman. Good heavens, how different and unpalatable this is!" But this pious wish was never fulfilled, and Beethoven had to remain "half a tradesman" to the end.

As a suggestion of how dedications are occasionally made, the following letter, which Beethoven wrote to the same publisher in 1802 from Vienna, is interesting:

"The lady in question can have a sonata, and I will do my best to carry out her aesthetic ideas. The price is 5 guineas (ducaten), and for this she may retain the sonata for a year as her private property, but not for publication. At the end of the year the sonata becomes my property—that is to say, I have the right to publish it, and if she thinks it an honor she may ask to have the work dedicated to her."

This, from the business point of view of the lady in question, is surely a tempting offer. At least, so the art patroness of today would think if she had a chance of suggesting to a Beethoven the "aesthetic idea" for a sonata, to retain such a treasure in her own hands for a twelvemonth and thereafter have it dedicated to her—and all for 5 guineas!

AVERTED A DUEL.

The Soft Answer That Was Returned to the Challenge.

Mrs. Minnie Walter Myers, in her "Romance and Realism of the Southern Gulf Coast," gives an account of one of the last challenges to a duel which occurred in Louisiana. The affair was between M. Marigny, who belonged to one of the oldest families of Louisiana, and a Mr. Humble, a sturdy ex-blacksmith of Georgia, who had become a man of political consequence.

Mr. Marigny took offense at some remarks of the Georgian and sent him a challenge. The big ex-blacksmith was nonplused.

"I know nothing about this dueling business," he said. "I will not fight him."

"You must," said his friend. "No gentleman can refuse."

"I am not a gentleman," replied the honest son of Georgia. "I am only a blacksmith."

"But you will be ruined if you do not fight," urged his friends. "You will have the choice of weapons, and you can choose so as to give yourself an equal chance with your adversary."

The giant asked time in which to consider the question and ended by accepting. He sent the following reply to M. Marigny:

"I accept, and in the exercise of my privilege I stipulate that the duel shall take place in Lake Pontchartrain, in six feet of water, sledge hammers to be used as weapons."

M. Marigny was about five feet eight inches in height, and his adversary was seven feet. The conceit of the Georgian so pleased M. Marigny, who could appreciate a joke as well as perpetrate one, that he declared himself satisfied, and the duel did not take place.

New Novitiate Near Toronto.

Toronto, Jan. 14.—The Christian Brothers are negotiating for a large property on the Kingston road, very near St. John's Church, Norway, which, it is expected, will pass into the hands of the order. The price is to be $30,000 and the land will be used as a site for a novitiate or preparatory school for young men contemplating joining the Brothers.

Editor Sent to Jail.

Plattsburg, N.Y., Jan. 14.—Geo. W. Harper, who was convicted of criminal libel Tuesday night, was sentenced yesterday to 30 days in prison and to pay a fine of $500.

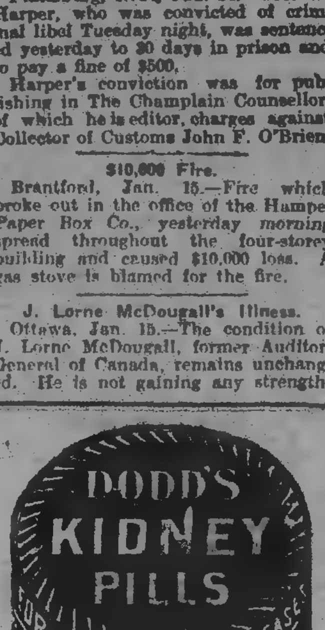
Harper's conviction was for publishing in The Champlain Counsellor, of which he is editor, charges against Collector of Customs John F. O'Brien.

$10,000 Fire.

Brantford, Jan. 15.—Fire which broke out in the office of the Hampel Paper Box Co., yesterday morning spread throughout the four-storey building and caused $10,000 loss. A gas stove is blamed for the fire.

J. Lorne McDougall's Illness.

Ottawa, Jan. 15.—The condition of J. Lorne McDougall, former Auditor-General of Canada, remains unchanged. He is not gaining any strength.



THE DRUG FIEND.

Hasheesh Makes its Slave Utterly Useless For Any Service.

One of the drugs that are most striking in their effects is hasheesh, or Cannabis indica, largely taken in Asiatic countries, where I used myself to meet its votaries. Its chief peculiarity is to make one believe with all his might whatever is suggested to him.

If he is an Arab, tell him that he is a sultan, and straightaway he orders heads to be cut off. Tell him he is a rooster, and he will crow. I knew of two Americans who experimented on themselves, and when the first was told that he was like a locomotive he snorted and whistled and kept going round the table puffing and blowing until he dropped from sheer fatigue.

The other somehow conceived the idea that he was dead and forthwith gave elaborate directions for his own funeral till he waxed wroth at the unseemly mirth of his companions when they should have wept.

Hasheesh makes its slave utterly useless for any service, and so with the other drugs. Their victims one and all end in becoming do-nothings. Self made do-nothings, or those who are so by drug taking, are much worse than useless.

As they usually do not begin till as adults they reach the working period of life, they become wretched burdens on the real workers, since our social system lacks any constitutional enactment whereby, as occurs in a community of bees, the workers systematically put their drones to death.

The opium fiend from long living in an unreal world becomes transformed into the most all round liar in the land, the very embodiment of unveracity. One of them victimized me with a loan that he might go and close the eyes of his dying mother when her eyes needed no such closing for years afterward.

Another sent from a western city to his wife a telegram which purported to come from an undertaker demanding money to pay for shipping his body home. This money, when it came, he, and unfortunately no undertaker, pocketed and then went his way.

We all know what the confirmed drunkard becomes, but not till the judgment day will the whole story be known of the griefs and tears of the innocent ones whom the drunkard made to suffer while he was here.

AVERTED A TRAGEDY.

Nerve Displayed by Daniel O'Connell at a Critical Moment.

Daniel O'Connell, the famous Irish agitator, had a contempt for physical danger. On a certain occasion a meeting had been convened, and a large crowd assembled in a room on the first floor of a building in a small city in Ireland.

O'Connell was about to address the people when a gentleman, pale with fear, made his way to the platform and hoarsely whispered:

"Liberator, the floor is giving way! The beams that shore it up are cracking, and we shall fall through in a few minutes!"

"Keep silent," said O'Connell. Then, raising his voice, he addressed the assembly:

"I find that the room is too small to contain the number who desire to come in, so we must leave it and hold the meeting outside the building."

At this a few rose and went out, but the majority retained their seats. Then O'Connell said:

"I will tell you the truth. You are Irishmen, therefore brave men. The floor is giving way, and we must leave this room at once. If there is a panic and a rush to the door we shall all be precipitated into the room below, but if you obey my orders we shall be saved. Let the twelve men nearest the door go quietly out, then the next twelve, and so on till all have gone. I shall be the last to leave."

His instructions were obeyed to the letter, and he waited, patient and calm, till all had gone out in safety. Then he walked quietly across the sundering, cracking floor, reaching the door just as the shattered beams gave way. And thus, by the force of his strong will, a terrible accident was averted.

His Glorious Victory.

The commanding officer had surprised the young lieutenant and his daughter trying to occupy the same chair.

The lieutenant sprang to his feet and saluted.

"Sir," he said, "I have the honor to report an engagement at close quarters in which I have been entirely victorious. It now merely remains for you to give your sanction to the terms of surrender."—London Scraps.

Influence of Pluck.

The blindest, the most purely instinctive, effort of mere pluck has a lifting power and deserves our thankful admiration. Every degree and every form of courage tends to raise the whole tone of life within the range of its influence in proportion to the amount and the quality of the endurance exercised.

His Phenomenal Luck.

"You say he is lucky?"

"You bet."

"In what does his luck consist?"

"Marriage, you see, is his hobby."

"Well?"

"Every woman he marries gets a divorce."

Wooden.

Tenement Tessie—And de novel says de heroine had a willowy form, used to pine for her lover and would spruce up when she seen him coming froo de gate. Shanty Sue—Gee, where did she work—in a sawmill?—Exchange.

Clarence Gray of Wallaceburg while crossing the Thames on the ice, fell through and was rescued by George Bury.

The Proper Word.

Reckoning from the standpoint of the lexicographer, Ruth, aged seven, committed an unpardonable assault on the king's English, but the seventy-five other persons living in that apartment house would swear that she chose the proper word. Ruth's comment concerned the vocal gymnastics of a lady who was learning to sing.

"She is having her voice difficulted," said Ruth, and every one of the seventy-five nerve racked neighbors echoed, "She is."

Three Signs.

Peculiarities of signs are a source of never ending delight to some people. One man reached his office grinning the other morning because on his way downtown he had seen three signs that read as follows: "Teddy Bears Retailed," "Baby Carriages Retired" and "Umbrellas Recovered."

Defined.

"John," she said, looking up from the paper, "what is a political boomerang?"

"Why, I'd define it," he answered, "as a roorback on the return trip."

NEW OFFICERS OF COURT CHEMONG

Installed at Meeting Last Night---Addresses Given by Visitors

New Officers

The regular meeting of Court Chemong, No. 530, Independent Order of Foresters, was held last night in the S.O.E Hall. Several applications for membership were considered for installation next meeting night. Several members were reported on the sick list, and two were reported permanently disabled and the court recommend that they received the half of their insurance at the end of six months. After the business was concluded Chief Ranger Bro. W. G. McKee, requested Bro. G. N. Brown, D.H.C.R., to take the chair, and with the assistance of Bro. A. Bradshaw, D.S.C.R., who acted as High Conductor, and Bro. A. Allison, S.P.C.R., who acted as High Marshall, the twelve officers for 1909 were duly installed in their respective chairs of office

Under the order of good and welfare several musical selections were contributed by Mr. P. Wilson, and were much appreciated. Brief, but cheery speeches were made by Bro. G. N. Brown, D.H.C.R., and Bro. A. Bradshaw, D.S.C.R., who both reported progress and prosperity throughout Eastern Ontario, where they had labored during the past year, the Order had an experience of 35 years and now had 250,000 members, a surplus of $12,500,000 and had paid $27,000,000 in benefits, they were both pleased to renew acquaintances with the Peterborough brethren. Bro. A. Allison, S.P.C.R., in a splendid speech referred in feeling terms to the commendable work of the I.O.F. in so tenderly caring for the orphan children of deceased members, and quoted an instance where the house of the widow built by the insurance money of her late husband, had been destroyed by fire, the Order came to the rescue and provided for widow and children, another widow and children were assisted to the Canadian Northwest and provided for and were now locating land there. He paid a high tribute to Bro. J. C. Morgan, M.A., superintendent of Orphans Homes whom he said the children loved like a father. He was proud of the Order for carrying on a work so Christian like as this. On motion of Bro. Wallace and Bro. Spring, votes of thanks were tendered to Bros. Brown and Bradshaw. The meeting then adjourned until Jan. 28th, when the officers' reports will be given.

PERSONAL

Peterborough, Jan. 14th, 1909.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Mr R H Best, secretary, presented a report showing the following interesting information;

The following is the report of the George street Methodist Sunday School for the year 1908:

Number of boys	104
Number of girls	117
Bible classes	292
Primary Department
Girls	48
Boys	53
Inthon Bible Class	130
Home Department	125
Cradel role	30
Officers	16
Teachers	47
Orchestra	13
	975

The total attendance of scholars exclusive of Home Department is 21,706

The average attendance of scholar, exclusive of Home Department and Cradle roll is 418, which is an increase over last year of 15.

The total attendance of boys 9,046

Total attendance of girls 10,220.

Total attendance of teachers, 1918.

Total attendance of officers 521.

The report from the Home Department is as follows:

Amount received was $35.99 from the 16 visitors.

Death visited the Department twice taking from its list Mrs Frize and Mrs Chas Reynolds.

LIBRARY REPORT

To the Officers and Members,

The Librarians desire to report that the library is now in a very satisfactory condition with regard to equipment, supply of books and very comfortable quarters The change in all these respects is most marked, and is a source of satisfaction to those concerned in the operation of the library.

The Senior Library contains 728 volumes. The Junior Library 346. It would seem that the number of books is fairly ample if those taking out books would return to the library promptly after reading. From the operations for the last year it is inferred that not so many books will be lost as in previous years, the number being very small during the last ten months.

The increased call for books owing to the increased attendance at the Bible classes and Home Department call for additional assistance to handle the details during the school hours, and the Librarians express the hope that they will be able to find those who will give assistance and attend regularly. Intermittent attendance interferes with the efficiency of the staff and retards the work.

The librarians desire to thank the school whose liberality and enterprise have so well equipped the library and afforded, after an interval of many years facilities for the work.

E H DOBBIN,
Librarian

FINANCES

The ordinary account of the George street Sunday school showed receipts of $935.15, and expenditure of $544.71, leaving a surplus of $390.44

The ordinary account of Grace Sunday school showed receipts of $145.97, and expenditure of $4.85, leaving a balance of $141.12.

The musical programme included selections by the Sunday school orchestra, a duet by the Misses Chasty, solo by the Rev. E. A. Pearson, recitation by Miss Lizzie Smith and a solo by Mrs. G. Bruce Hughes. The programme was one of much merit.

A geography contest was a feature of the evening, the prize being won by Mrs. B. Shortly.

Dainty refreshments were served by a number of young ladies.

A vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong for their kindness in entertaining the officers and teachers was moved by Mr. T. W. Robinson, and seconded by Dr. J. E. Middleton. Messrs. J. J. Hartley and Wm. Miller spoke in connection with the resolution referring to the splendid service of Mr. Armstrong as superintendent, and to the enjoyable evening that those present had spent as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong. Rev. Mr. Pearson called upon Mrs. Armstrong to reply to the vote of thanks and she made a neat speech.

LATEST NEWS FROM APSLEY

Peterboro' Man Gave Address at Entertainment --- Personal Pointers of Interest

Special to the Review.

Apsley, Jan 14—Miss Maggie Lean and Mr Harry Monerief of Peterborough spent Christmas at Mr Isaac Lean's.

Miss Gladys Kilbourn of Lakefield who was home for a few days has returned to that village.

Our worthy teacher Mr Wm Spence, has returned and resumed duties.

Mr and Mrs J W Hales, Miss Hattie and Mr and Mrs W C Hales, visited friends in and around our village during the Christmas holidays.

Mrs Austin, of Arcola, Sask, is visiting her mother Mrs Wm Masters.

The Misses Hendley of Toronto, are visiting at their home here.

We are sorry to learn of the illness of Mrs Wm Hales. Burleigh.

Miss Edna McIlmoyle spent the holidays at Havelock the guest of her sister, Mr Jos Bertrand.

Miss Nellie Nesbitt of Harvey, was the guest of Miss Bessie Hales for a few days.

A grand tea and entertainment was held here on Christmas night under the auspices of the Methodist church which was a decided success in every way. Tea was served in the town hall, after which all assembled in the church where an excellent programme of songs, recitations, drills, dialogues and instrumental music was given. Two items of special mention, were two exercises by children from No 2 Burleigh. The children who took part in those are worthy of much praise, having gone through the parts without a pause or mistake. Another item worthy of special mention was a recitation entitled 'A Christmas Carol' by Miss Mildred Kilbourn, a child six years of age.

Towards the close of the programme Mr J W Hales, of Peterborough, was seen to be present and was called upon for a short address. Mr Hales, who was formerly of this place addressed the audience in a few, well chosen words.

Before singing the National Anthem a vote of thanks was tendered to all who so ably assisted in making the evening a success.

The following is the result of the municipal elections for Burleigh and Anstruther, held on Monday, January 4th.

Reeve—Wm Tucker.
Councillors— Almond Harris, W G. Stone R McCauley and R Hales.

PLEASURE AND BUSINESS TRIP

Mr. W. A. Coleman of Coleman Bros. Leaves for England

W J. Coleman, of the firm of Coleman Bros. left the city today for New York where he will sail on the White Star Liner 'Celtic' bound for Liverpool. Mr Coleman is combining business with pleasure as well as visiting his home in Wiltshire. He will stay some time in London, for the purpose of gaining a month's experience with a well known firm of Caterers and Confectioners. On his return he will have the advantage of a week's knowledge in New York to get further knowledge of American work This knowledge combined with the determination to still further improve the business in Peterborough, will be utilized for the benefit of his firm's patrons.

Mr George Hutton, who has been with Coleman Bros. since September, is taking full charge of the bakehouse in the absence of Mr C E. Coleman. Mr Hutton was formerly in charge of a well known Dundee firm for seven years.

Attention is called to the Auction Sale of a very pretty and comfortable home, South of Aberdeen Avenue and East of Aylmer Street, at present occupied by Mr. R. F. Ivey. It lies a little West of the New Normal School, where so many houses are now in course of erection. The house has good cellar, large rooms, handsome grate and fire place, &c., &c. Sale at the MUNRO HOTEL, 25th January, at 2 p.m. 4d

THE SILVER NORTH

Cobalt, Lorraine, Larder Lake and Gowganda

Travellers returning from the great mineral fields of the north are more enthusiastic than ever regarding the permanency of the Silver Camp. Traffic was never better and is steadily on the increase One hundred and fifty teams are employed daily in moving passengers, freight and supplies to the new Gowganda finds from Earlton, Englehart and Charlton. It is only 18 miles from Charlton to Elk Lake, where there are 22 mines and from Elk Lake to Gowganda is 32 miles.

Leaving Toronto 10.15 p.m. daily, on the Grand Trunk "Cobalt Special" Elk Lake can be reached the next afternoon via Cobalt Haileybury, New Liskeard and Charlton, and this will continue to be the best way.

The Ontario Government are being strongly urged to push on the extension of their line from Charlton which will open up this rich territory.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS' GYM. EXHIBITION

Boys Will Give an Exhibition of Their Work on Thursday Jan. 21st.

The boys of the YMCA will put on an exhibition of their gymnasium work on Thursday evening, Jan. 21st.

This exhibition will give the parents and friends an opportunity to see what the boys are doing in the gymnasium. The programme is a very good one, and will include drills, marches, apparatus work, games, races burlesque basketball, and a Ladies championship walking race and many other features.

The drill will be put on by the junior school boys, and will be in the form of running formations with musical accompaniment.

A dumb bell drill will be put on by the business boys, and apparatus work by the Collegiate boys.

Among the specialties will be ball bustle, blind pillow fight, obstacle race potato race, Ladies walking race and sack basketball.

Great interest is being taken in the ladies walking race, and this race promises to be one of the best sporting events of the season.

The blind pillow fight and sack basketball will give lots of opportunity for a good laugh and the races will make plenty of excitement.

A very pleasant evening is looked for and will be an education to some who do not know what goes on in the YMCA gymnasium.

Tickets can be had from any of the boys or at the YMCA office. The admission will be 15c or two for 25c.

STRATHCONAS TRIMMED T.A.S. LAKEFIELD BEAT BELMONTS

City League Hockey Last Night—Lakefield Team Showed Fine Form—Chieftains Won From T.A.S. Juniors.

SENIOR

Strathconas 8; TAS 2.

Lakefield 13; Belmonts 2.

JUNIORS.

Chieftains 8; TAS 4.

The above were the results of the games in the city league at Brock St. rink last night. Over 500 fans turned out to see the contests and got their money's worth in a big bundle. The ice was in fine shape and some great hockey was witnessed. The surprise of the evening was the showing of the Lakefield team. The boys from Cementville swamped the Belmonts, having the game well in hand at all stages. Quinn was the star of the bunch his end to end rushes being one of the features of the night.

The TAS seven did not give the Strathconas the hard struggle that was expected, the champions never being in danger of being defeated.

The junior game was played between seven and eight o'clock, the Chieftains doubling the score on the TAS. The youngsters put up a fine brand of hockey, the Chieftains showing the same splendid form that they displayed last winter. Lees in goal, and Hall and Crane on the forward line were the pick of the winners while Coughlin at cover point was the best of the Abstainers. Coughlin also played for the TAS senior against the Strathconas and showed up well in older company.

The teams in the junior game were.

CHIEFTAINS

Goal—Lees.
Point—Munroe.

Rover—Crane.
Centre—Hall.
Left—Burritt.
Right—Fortye.

TAS.

Goal—Callahan.
Point—Heffernan.
Cover—Coughlin.

Right—Gorman.

The half time score was 3-2 in favor of the Chieftains. "Bill" Rose made a satisfactory referee.

LAKEFIELD VS BELMONTS

From the outset it was plain that the Lakefield bunch were going to outscore the club team. Taylor scored the first goal of the match for the Belmonts but after that it was somewhat of a procession. Lakefield got five before Waram scored again for the Belmonts and then Lakefield took two more before the half was over. The visitors scored six goals in the second half, while the Belmonts failed to find the nets.

Les Quinn and T. Sabatino were the stars of the Lakefield team, although there were no weak spots. With a little more practice together the Lakefield team will give the Champion Strathconas an argument that will be worth going a long way to see.

Davidson in goal played a great game for the Belmonts. He had a busy night and although thirteen got in nearly a hundred were stopped. Meyers was good at cover point and Waram was the best of the forwards.

The teams and summary follow;

STRATH—TAS

The Strathconas vs TAS game was the one that many of the fans had gone to see. The Straths took an early lead scoring four goals before the temperance seven found the nets.

The half time score was 4-1 and the final 8-2.

The game was free from roughness as was also the Lakefield-Belmont contest. There was considerable slashing but nothing of a dirty nature. The Strathconas were all good while Derocher, Crough, Quigley and Coughlin were in the limelight for the losers.

The teams and summary follow;

DID REFEREE MOXON HAVE MONEY BET ON THE GAME?

The Port Hope Times says;—Did Mr. J. Noxon, the Toronto O.H.A. referee, who handled the Cobourg Port-Hope match in Cobourg on Saturday, have any money on the game?

An answer to this query from the tall and handsome Mr. Noxon will be eagerly awaited in little old Port Hope.

A half dozen sports who went down to Cobourg on the local, and who were in the same coach as the athletic O.H.A. official claim that Mr. Noxon remarked to a fellow traveller that he (Noxon) had twenty on Cobourg to win.

The rumor was well afloat in the Cobourg rink during the game and, at half time when Mr. Noxon came into Port Hope's dressing room for a moment or two a number of Port Hope's hockey club followers recognized him as the chap who said he had money on Cobourg. No one spoke to him of the matter, however.

Later on, in one of Cobourg's noted restaurants, when the teams were fighting the game over again, and discussing a few good steaks, Mr. Noxon blew in and was promptly informed of the rumor.

He made no definite reply, but offered to present anyone with a $25 gift if the charge were proven. So far no one has claimed the reward.

Mr. Noxon has a good reputation as a sport, and certainly appears to be a fair referee. Did he have any money up on the game?

By the way (and the writer has seen a score of Stanley Cup matches) Port Hope's team needs a system—fast game, brainy forwards, and a defence that knows how to smash a combination. Smash is a good word. The present Port Hope team after getting its bumps as it did get them in Cobourg, and with a season's knowledge of each other, ought to just about trim the best of them. The boys are fairly speedy—fast enough to stay with most junior lines and when they have been seasoned to numerous jabs, slashes, hooks, and raps, and have secured a nice combination, the rest is easy. And the best teams are hard-checking sevens.

BAND at Street Railway Rink TO-NIGHT.

ST. ANDREW'S DEFEATED GEORGE ST.

Playing five men aside St. Andrew's defeated George street in a senior church league game at Park street rink last night. The score was 7-3 and the Presbyterians had a shade the better of the argument throughout. The half-time score was 5-2. There was not much picking between the teams in the second half, St. Andrews scoring two and the Methodists one. The game was played between eight and nine o'clock and was watched by a large number of spectators. The ice was a little sticky, but despite this the play was fast. Only five of the George street team showed up and St. Andrews dropped two men to even up. The teams lined up as follows;—

St. Andrews—Goal, Patterson; point, Stanton; forwards, Flanagan, Rae and Curry.

George-st.—Goal, Williams; point, Ackerman; forwards, Curtis, Lang and Pratt.

Jas. Squires was referee and had to inflict one penalty, Curry being off for one minute for a trip.

The time keepers were E. N. McWilliams and E. Reid.

SUMMARY.

The summary follows;—

1, St. Andrews, Rae, 3 mins.
2, George-st., Pratt, 6 mins.
3, St. Andrews, Rae, 2 mins.
4, St. Andrews, Curry, 6 mins.
5, George-st., Curtis, 1 mins.
6, St. Andrews, Rae, 6 mins.
7, St. Andrews, Rae, 1 min.

SECOND HALF.

8, George-st., Lang, 10 mins.
9, St. Andrews, Rae, 5 mins.
10, St. Andrews, Rae, 1 min.

For St. Andrews, Patterson in gaol played a fine game blocking cleverly. Flanagan was all to the good at point and Rae loomed up largely on the scoring end. Pratt and Long did good work for the losers.

EDMONTON AT WINNIPEG

Speaking of the Maple Leaf-Edmonton game at Winnipeg on Jan. 11th, the Winnipeg Free Press says;

Whitcroft, Deeton and Millar, all of whom starred in the series at Montreal, lived up to their reputations. They out-played their checks and ripped through the local defence in irresistible fashion. Hugh Ross, the Portage lad, was the seventh man on the ice, Slated for cover-point, he was really a fifth forward, playing right up behind the line all the time. This might look like poor judgment. But as a matter of fact, it proved a most effective system, as the whole bunch of them checked back so well that the Leafs seldom got going.

ALWAYS IN THE GAME.

Whitcroft's men played hockey every minute they were on the ice. When not engaged in carrying the puck towrds the opposing goal they were bustling back to defend their own citadel. And they could both skate and handle their sticks in a manner that drew forth applause from spectators long accustomed to seeing artists on the baldes. Their combination play was effective. Sometimes it was a three man, and sometimes only two, but always there was another following up to grab the puck in case it was poked back.

Millar, the curly-headed chap on the right wing, was the spectacular player of the bunch. He reminds one very much of "Sox" Griffis, as he is about the build of the Kenora star, and plays with the same dash. Whitcroft is faster than he was a few afew years ago, and much more effective around the nets. Deeton is the right man for centre.

CURLERS HAD A JOLLY BANQUET

Enjoyable Time Spent at Coleman Bros. Last Night

A number of the visiting curlers were entertained to a banquet at Coleman Bros., last night, when a most enjoyable time was spent. The chair was occupied by the president of the Peterborough Club, Mr. C. N. Brown, and short speeches were made by Rev. Mr. Wallace and Mr. J. D. Flavelle for the Lindsay Club, and Mr. Ham for the Napanee curlers. Mr. Robt. Neill also spoke briefly.

The visiting curlers referred to the success of the bonspiel and complimented the local club on their new rink.

HOCKEY

GAME POSTPONED.

Norwood hockey team was to have played their initial game in the Trent Valley series at Hastings last Friday night, but owing to the soft weather the ice was not in condition. Consequently the game had to be postponed.—Norwood Register.

RUNNING AWAY FROM HOME.

Gray-Haired Man Remembers a Boy Who Tried It Years Ago.

"Whenever I read in the newspapers that a boy has run away from home to fight Indians or seek some other sort of adventure, it takes me back forty years," said the gray-haired man in the club smoking room, "for I ran away from home once, just as I suppose every other youngster does, once at least, only in my case I wasn't seeking adventure. I was escaping tyranny.

"It seems foolish now, but it was all very real to me then. The tyranny consisted of the one fact that I got my first licking, and I guess there's no doubt that I deserved it. But I couldn't see it that way then. I was very bitter, and the one idea I had was to get away where life was free and tyrants were not.

"The impulse to depart on my travels was carried out so suddenly that I found myself wandering far away from the house before it dawned on me that I was ill provided for a journey. In fact, I had gone just as I was, with the smart of my physical as well as my mental wrongs still acute.

"As I went I pondered over the matter of provisions, and the idea came to me that I would make my first stand in a cranberry bog right on the farm. With this as a headquarters, I would make raids on neighboring orchards, and if worse came to worst I supposed the cranberries would support life.

"Well, I reached the cranberry bog presently and bivouacked. Here I should spend the first night under the friendly stars. I picked out a soft place for a bed and sat down to wait the coming of night.

"Now, cranberries are not very filling, especially in the raw, green state, but I managed to eat some of them. And then it began to get dark.

"Well, sir, the shadows fell quickly on the hills about me, and the air grew chill. Fantastic monsters reared their horrid heads on every hand. The free life began to pall.

"So it won't surprise you to learn that a very little boy ran home crying before the supper things had been cleared away and that he never ran away again."

Common-Sense v. Law.

An Ontario municipality not many miles from the Niagara frontier was considerably agitated a few years ago over a question that required a number of public meetings to settle.

At one of the meetings the local lawyer had the floor and was advising a line of procedure that was obviously against the interests of the town, and which strongly hinted of a retaining fee from "the party of the second part."

It is surprising how many different viewpoints a lawyer can find from which to argue, when it suits his purpose, and the way he put the matter to the citizens was summed up in the words, "But it would be only common-sense," etc.

One of the solid citizens of the town rose to his feet. Pointing his finger at the legal light he thundered:

"We're not asking you for common-sense—but what's law!"

Duke Who Broke the Bank.

The Czar's uncle, the Grand Duke Alexis, who has just died, was one of the few men who have ever broken the bank at Monte Carlo. Playing roulette one afternoon the duke had an extraordinary run of luck, winning about $50,000 in half an hour. Play stopped at the other tables, and everyone crowded round to watch the Imperial gambler. When finally he broke the bank there was a roar of applause and cheering. Like most Russian grand dukes, he knew what it was to have his life attempted. The conspirators pulled up a section of the permanent way near Cette, in France, over which it was known that the duke's train would pass. But they were too premature in their plans, and a luggage train which preceded the duke's train crashed over the embankment, killing one of the conspirators, who was on the watch. No one else was hurt.

The Age of the Earth.

The possibility of definitely arriving at the age of the earth through the radio-active properties of radium and helium has been pointed out by R. T. Strutt before the Royal Institution of London. Accepting the hypothesis that helium is constantly at a definite speed from radium, Mr. Strutt proposed a quantitative estimation of the radium and the helium present in various minerals as a means of determining their relative ages. Proceeding on similar lines, when once the rate at which radium is transformed should have been estimated a simple operation in arithmetic would solve the problem of the age of the earth. "I have," said Mr. Strutt, "been able to find that the age of flints present in chalk is only one-thirtieth of the age of the mineral that is being mined in Cornwall."

Daudet's Ideas of Death.

Alphonse Daudet constantly suffered severe physical pain and was unable to sleep without the aid of chloral. He was always speaking about death and especially rejoiced in the theory propounded by an English doctor that death was in itself a delightful sensation, voluptuous, resembling the action of anaesthetics.

Daudet on one occasion dreamed of dying surrounded by his friends and conversing of the hereafter.

He once told Goncourt, who afterward related the incident, that whenever he entered a new apartment for the first time his eye instinctively searched for the spot where his coffin would be placed.

The Oldest Books.

The oldest books, proper, were in roll shape, the rolls being kept in jars or boxes. Very anciently the change was made from the roll to the folded form of book, the vellum, or parchment, being stitched together. The most ancient writings of all were painted on wood or stone, as among the Egyptians, or encharactered on mud bricks, as with the Assyrians.—Exchange.

EX-AUDITOR GENERAL OF THE DOMINION

J. Lorne McDougall, C.M.G. Passed Away at Ottawa This Morning

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, Ont., Jan. 15.—J. Lorne McDougall, formerly Auditor-General of Canada, died at 11.30 to-day. On Tuesday last he sustained a severe paralytic stroke, the second of the kind and sank to the floor. Mr. McDougall died at his home, 115 Parkdale Avenue.

THEIR CRYSTAL ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Elliott Honored by Number of Friends Last Evening

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Elliott celebrated the crystal anniversary of their marriage last night at their home, McDonnel street. About fifty were in attendance and spent a most enjoyable evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott's friends took advantage of the occasion to present them with a handsome cut glass bowl and mirrored stand. The presentation was accompanied by an address, referring to the high esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Elliott are held and congratulating them on the fifteenth anniversary of their marriage. The address was read by Mr. J. P. Cunningham and the presentation was made by Mrs. Geo. Hall. Mr. Elliott made a suitable reply for himself and Mrs. Elliott.

COMEDY TO BE REPRODUCED

Mr Irving Beers, the gentleman who managed the amateur production "All the Comforts of Home," returned to town today, and intimated that the production would be reproduced in Lindsay on January 25th, which would be followed by a one act sketch, "The Littlest Girl."

STREET LIGHTS.

How Thoroughfares Were Illuminated in the Seventeenth Century.

Lighting the streets of a large city in olden times was a far different thing from the illumination of our thoroughfares now. In 1661 the streets of London were directed to be lighted with candles or lanterns by every householder fronting the main road from nightfall to 9 o'clock, the hour of going to bed.

In the last year of King Charles II.'s reign one Edward Hening obtained the right to light the streets with lanterns placed over every tenth door from 6 o'clock on moonless evenings until midnight between October and April.

During the reign of Queen Anne in July, 1780, Mr. Michael Coke introduced globular glass lamps with oil burners instead of the former glimmering lanterns. In 1716 an act was passed which enjoined every householder to furnish a light before his door from 6 to 11 o'clock at night, except on evenings between the seventh night of each moon and the third after it reached its full.

In a few years a company was formed to light the street from 6 o'clock till midnight, each householder who paid poor rates being required to contribute for this purpose 6 shillings a year.

Gaslight, at its introduction in the beginning of the last century, presented such a novel spectacle to the eyes of foreign ambassadors that they were vain enough to imagine that the brilliant lamps were a part of a general illumination to celebrate their arrival. —Harper's.

Light and Pain.

"Light is good for toothache," said the doctor. "Darkness is bad for it. If you are a toothache sufferer, haven't you often noticed how the pain in your jaw increases when late at night you turn off the lamp and try to sleep? Light, you see, is good for the toothache. There are a number of diseases it is good for—asthma, cold in the head, earache. These diseases in the dark all grow worse.

"Darkness is good for a sick headache and for neuralgia and for nausea. Haven't you noticed it? Light and darkness—they are remedies recognized at last, and today we prescribe them the same as we do quinine or nux."

Ignorance of Our Customs.

"What caused the hitch in the progress of the courtship of Miss Coynerox by the duke?" asks one interested party.

"He got the idea that her father didn't have any money," explained the other.

"But couldn't he look the matter up?"

"He thought he had. The trouble was he looked at the tax duplicate just after the old man had finished swearing off his assessment."

One Way.

Child—Suppose I called you a mean old pig. What would happen? Governess—I should tell your father, and he would punish you. Child—And if I only thought it. Governess—No harm so long as you don't say it. Child—Then I only think it.

Consoled Her.

"Why do you wear that ridiculous hat?" he growled.

"Do you really think it ridiculous?" she replied graciously. "How lovely of you! I was afraid it wasn't quite the style."

Too Warm.

"And have you clothes for all climates?"

"Yes; except the one my husband mentions when he gets the bill."

If a man asks a candid opinion of a friend and gets it, it makes him mad.—Atchison Globe.

A Stinging Retort.

Wax Bead (proudly)—I am going in a necklace which I am assured cannot be told from real pearls. Brass Ring (sarcastically)—Aw, they're stringing you.

As a Caution.

Weeks—The true American always saves the under dog in the fight. Wise—Yes, and then gives him a swift kick for being chump enough to get into it.

In infants levity is a prettiness, in men grown a shameful defect, but in old age a monstrous folly.

KING TO THE BOYS.

At Eton His Majesty Gives Advice Meant For Lads of the Empire.

His Majesty King Edward VII has just delivered the following address to the school-boys of Eton and through them to the boys of the whole Empire:

"We have always felt a special interest in successive generations of Etonians, and deep concern for their welfare while at school, and for their success and credit in after life. Of those whom I now see before me some will, I have no doubt, aim at high positions in the state and attain distinction equal to that of their most honored predecessors. Others will serve their country with vigor and reputation in our forces or in the professions of art and learning.

"Your success and the reputation which you enjoy in the mouth of men, and, what is still more important, in your own mind and conscience, depend upon the use which you make of the means which are now placed generously at your disposal for the cultivation of your minds and bodies, and the development of your character. Whatever may be your subsequent careers, you all have the opportunity of leaving Eton, trained in the knowledge and accomplishments of English gentlemen, and disciplined to the self-restraint, the consideration of others, and the loyal acceptance of private and public duties which are the ideals of our race.

"I exhort you to value and to make the most of that training and discipline. You can have no better example than that of the brave men of whom this splendid building is a loyal and lasting memorial. They sacrificed themselves with devotion to the great cause which we have all at heart—the cause of our country—and freely laid down their lives for her sake. In their lives and by their deaths they maintained the traditions which have made Eton renowned in our history.

"Those traditions are now in your keeping. Be worthy of them. I pray earnestly that the blessing of God may attend the career of every one of you."

PLAYED IN THE GUTTER.

Famous 'Cellist Pays a Romantic Vow of Long Ago.

The west end streets of London have just witnessed a unique and romantic spectacle. An old man, in worn and tattered garments, played a 'cello like a master and collected pence from the crowds that assembled. He was Auguste Van Biene, the famous and wealthy 'cellist, and he was paying a romantic vow of long ago.

Forty years ago when a penniless youth he was playing his 'cello in the gutters of London. Sir Michael Costa, who passed, heard the music, rescued the player, and gave him a place in the Covent Garden Orchestra.

Mr. Van Biene from this start in life found fame, and he vowed that on the anniversary of his deliverance from poverty and starvation he would play again the streets.

The money he collected—15s 2d in all—with a five-pound note from the musician's own pocket, has gone to the Music Hall Benevolent Fund.

Mr. Van Biene, in a shabby black frock coat, a flowing black tie and slouch hat, took with him on his pilgrimage of remembrance the original old 'cello he played in the gutter.

Electing Lord Mayor.

The picturesque ceremony of electing a new Lord Mayor of London takes place some weeks before Nov. 9, and is preceded by a religious service in St. Lawrence Jewry, the parish church of the civic chamber. This service has been held continuously for more than 500 years. The Lord Mayor, sheriffs, and aldermen, in their glittering chains of office, scarlet robes, and each carrying a nosegay of autumn flowers, assemble at the Guildhall and march to the church in procession. Subsequent to the service the procession returns to the Guildhall, which is strewed with sweet herbs, where the Lord Mayor, aldermen, and officials take their places on the hustings. The business of the election, says The Pall Mall Gazette, is preceded by the Common Crier's proclamation that all persons be uncovered, and that "all those who are not liverymen shall depart the hall, on pain of imprisonment." The name of the alderman eligible for election is then put to the meeting, and after this has been received with applause various questions are put to the newly-elected Lord Mayor, a spirit of good-natured "banter" permeating the whole proceedings.

The Sheepfarmers' Enemy.

Perhaps the deadliest foe of the Australian sheepfarmer is the eagle-hawk, and many and wonderful are the contrivances invented for his destruction or capture. In a letter to hand by the current mail a correspondent at Singleton says it is no uncommon thing for a farmer with a run of quite average extent to lose a hundred sheep in a season through the depredations of these carnivorous birds. "Their strength," he writes, "is so abnormal that it is practically impossible for the sheep on which one pounces to resist the attack, and their appetite for live mutton appears to be insatiable. They are occasionally caught by means of a trap attached to the carcase of a sheep, and sometimes poisoned; but their numbers are, nevertheless, continually increasing. There is a fortune for the man who invents a means of dealing effectively with these pests."

To Dredge the Mersey.

The biggest sand pump dredger in the world has just been launched at Birkenhead from Cammell, Laird & Co.'s yards. Her name is the Leviathan, and she was built for the Mersey Dock Board. Liverpool's harbor engineers have been fighting for years the never-ceasing inset of sand in the mouth of the river Mersey. The Leviathan is able to deal with no less than 10,000 tons of it in fifty minutes. The vessel is 487 feet long, and has a draught of 23 feet. Her launching weight was 7,500 tons, a record for the Mersey.

Hawthornwaite, Socialist, was re-elected for Nanaimo to the British Columbia Legislature.

The Road to Arcady.

By TEMPLE BAILEY.

Copyrighted, 1908, by Associated Literary Press.

"How very extraordinary!" said Christopher Kent. He sat up and surveyed the red covered cart drawn by a very plump pony hat had stopped by the side of the road.

A girl in a smart costume of tan covert climbed down from the front seat and led the pony out of the shafts, tied him with a long tether so that he might crop the juicy sod and then, returning once more to the cart, helped a somewhat fragile but smiling lady to descend.

"Well, of all things!" said Christopher helplessly.

But words failed him as he watched the further proceedings of the girl in tan.

From the depths of the cart she brought forth a little folding table, which she proceeded to set up in a place screened from the gaze of passing folk by a hedge of wild honeysuckle.

On the table the girl set a shining copper kettle, two cups, two plates, a small teapot and various tin boxes and little glass jars, whose gay labels proclaimed the deliciousness within.

"It's a picnic," the young man decided, and as the older lady lighted the alcohol flame and it burned beneath the copper kettle Christopher sighed.

In ten minutes he was due at the Sunset inn for his supper. He would eat it with the rest of the surveying party of which he was the head. They would have fried ham and boiled potatoes and pie, and the only woman would be the girl who waited on the table and who was big and frousy and stupid.

And here within a stone's throw of where he lay under the great oak were two ladies making tea as daintily as if they were in their drawing room.

He laid down his book. "It's a romantic situation," he reflected, "and far be it from me to evade it." With that he stepped jauntily into the open.

He saw the girl lift her head and look at him, and as he went toward her she rose and came forward.

"I am so glad," she said, "to see some one who will tell me if there is a place near here where I can get oats for my pony. I gave him the last this morning."

"I was just coming," Christopher replied gravely, "to find if there was anything I could do for you. It is an unusual circumstance, I might say a great treat, to see ladies up here. I felt that I must offer you the hospitality of the mountain road—the keys of our city, as it were."

The girl gave him a quick glance, noting the strength of the tall figure and his air of good breeding. "I am sure," she said, "that you are very kind, and now if you will tell me your name I will present you to my mother, Mrs. Ames."

The older lady acknowledged the introduction genially.

"You must stay and have tea with us," she said. "I am afraid we can't offer you much but tinned things. But they are really good, and Eleanor was able to get some eggs and some lettuce this morning, so she is going to have a salad and make an omelet in the chafing dish."

"Then your picnic has been an all day affair?" was Christopher's question.

"It has been an affair of two months," Mrs. Ames said, with a smile. "We live in the cart."

"You live"— Words failed the young man as he looked at the two graceful women, each with the indefinable something that proclaims the sheltered woman.

It seemed incredible that they should trust themselves alone in the mountain wilds with their pony and their frail little cart.

But the daughter was explaining smilingly. "We lost everything," she said, "in the panic last fall. And mother's health failed at the same time. The doctor said that she must have the mountain air, and we had the pony—he was a pet from my little girl days—so we bought the cart and started on a trip of adventure.

"We have been on the road two months and haven't had a single uncomfortable experience. Mother has gained ten pounds, and we have had a lovely time."

"But isn't it a bit dangerous?" Kent asked.

"We were a little scared at first," Eleanor admitted, "especially at night. There was always an owl to hoot or a dog to howl or a frog to croak, but after we got used to it we slept like babies."

Kent shook his head. "There's a pretty tough class among the miners up here. It's different lower down, where you come in touch only with agricultural communities. But some of these men are very ignorant and very rough."

"Please," the girl cautioned, "please don't tell us about them. We want to reach the top of the mountain, and I am not a bit afraid."

She was making the omelet as she talked, turning it expertly with a thin knife and taking it up when it was puffy and brown.

"It is a food fit for the gods," Kent commented when she had served it with the salad and cream cheese and crackers.

"If you only knew," he continued, "how good it seems to eat once more of the food of civilization. You should see the cooking we have at the Sunset inn."

"This is the food of Arcady," Eleanor told him. "Mother and I call this the perfect land. And tomorrow we shall reach the heights!"

The way she said it thrilled Kent with a new emotion. How beautiful she was with the dreams in her eyes!

"You must let me watch over you while you are here," he said after a silence. "I am afraid some of these half savage foreigners may make it unpleasant when they know you are unprotected."

But Eleanor would not hear of it. "Indeed we are safe," she protested. "Every one we meet has treated us with fine courtesy."

But he was not convinced, and all that night he slept on the ground within calling distance of the red cart.

The next day the pony drew the red cart to the top of the mountain, and there the ladies set up a permanent camp, facing the sunset, with the valleys stretching far below them.

Every day Christopher Kent climbed the forest road, taking with him sometimes a fish that he had caught in the stream or a brace of birds to be broiled over the fire.

And always the two lonely women welcomed him, Mrs. Ames frankly and Eleanor with a dawning shyness that gave him hope.

"I have had a bit of good fortune," he told the girl one morning eagerly. "My uncle has written that when I go back in December I am to have a part interest in his business. It means a big income and a settled place for life."

"And you won't come again to the mountain?" she asked.

"No, my work will be done in town."

She sat very still, looking off over the valley. "Poor mountain!" she said. "How lonely it will be when we are gone and the winter comes!"

She shivered a little. "It's such a gray October day," she added.

"What are your plans?" he questioned.

"Mine? Oh, I don't know!" a little drearily. "When I can leave mother I will go to work. In the meantime we will live with a distant cousin."

It was on his tongue to tell her how he loved her, but he felt that this was not the time or the place. Here he must be her protector, not her lover.

That night he could not sleep, and at last he rose and looked out of the window. The wind moaned and sighed in the trees; the moon was overcast by clouds. Somewhere in the distance he heard a drunken song. As he listened the song grew fainter. Some of the miners were going up the mountain.

He dressed hurriedly and followed. As he came near the little camp he heard the snarl of angry voices mingled with Eleanor's clear tones.

"You must let the pony alone," she said, "at once."

Then, as the whistle of a lash cut the air, she spoke again. "If you touch him," she said, "I'll shoot."

Christopher came into the circle of the firelight on a run. A half dozen swarthy men were grouped about the pony. Within the cart cowered Mrs. Ames. Eleanor stood on the back step and pointed her pistol straight at the snarling crowd.

She was enveloped in a long raincoat, and her hair was braided into two long golden ropes. She looked like a child, with her white face and slight figure, and when she saw Christopher she swayed toward him.

"Oh, make them go away!" she cried helplessly, and the pistol dropped from her nerveless hand.

The men turned and saw him, and at the sight of his set face they at once began apologies. "We just wanted to have some fun with the pony," they said. But he waved them away. "I'll deal with you later," he said, and they slunk away in the shadows.

Then Christopher went to the girl, who was bending over her mother. The older woman revived immediately in the comfort of a strong man's presence. "I was very silly," she said, "but they looked such brutes."

Eleanor made some coffee under the trees, and when Kent had carried a cup to Mrs. Ames, who was still in the cart, he came back and issued orders.

"I am going to drive you down into the valley," he said. "You and your mother must spend the night at one of the farmhouses."

"But"— Eleanor protested.

"There are no 'buts,'" he told her. "You are to obey," and he smiled down at her.

The light from the dying fire showed the tenderness in his strong face, and, seeing it, she said "Oh!" with quick drawn breath.

"Dear heart," he murmured, "just once you must obey. But if you could promise to love and honor always we might make a marriage service of it tomorrow. There's a little church in the valley, and I know the minister."

"You are doing it just to take care of me," she said, flushing.

He took her hand in his. "I am doing it because I love you," he said. "Shall we find the little church, Eleanor?"

"Oh, who would have believed that the road to Arcady led there?" she whispered, with a wonderful light in her eyes.

Fatal Abstraction.

History tells how Archimedes the Great, while busily engaged in tracing geometric figures in the sand in his home city, Syracuse, forgetful of the fact that the city was besieged and all the inhabitants in danger of being slaughtered by the Romans, was speared by the victorious foemen, who had forced their entrance. Archimedes perished. And Plato was near to death on account of his abstraction. While walking forth one evening, his eyes fixed on the stars, his mind busy at solving some celestial problem that occupied it, he fell into a well, from which he was extricated with difficulty.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A DREADFUL WEAPON.

The Slashing Sharks' Teeth Club of the Polynesians.

Clubs were the weapons of primitive and savage man. Ancient specimens from Mexico are heavy sticks grooved along the side for the insertion of blades of obsidian—that is, volcanic glass. The Sioux club is a flat piece of wood, curving and widening away from the grip and terminating in a spherical head, which in modern times carries a long spike, while the blades of several butcher knives are commonly inserted along the margin. The national museum of the United States possesses a great variety of these shocking weapons, designed, as the frontiersmen say, to "knock down the white man and then to brain him and cut him into mince meat." The Kingsmill islanders and other Polynesians make dreadful slashing weapons by securing rows of sharks' teeth along a haft of wood.

These weapons vary from a few inches to sixteen feet in length, and it has been said that in all the range of weapons devised by mankind there is nothing more blood curdling to behold. They show how the sword may have been evolved from the club even by tribes unacquainted with the use of metals. African weapons, again, are exceedingly complicated owing to the acquaintance of the natives with iron. The standard club is converted into a sort of tomahawk by the addition of blades or into a primitive spear by the addition of a sharp spud. The plain clubs in the African area are used chiefly for throwing.

The small knobbed clubs, or "kerries," such as are found among the Kaffirs and other African tribes, are generally used as missiles. Whereas the club proper was soon brought to perfection among savage tribes and was long ago abandoned as a weapon of civilized warfare, the missile—typified by the thrown clubs or "kerries"—is still being improved upon in boomerangs, bows and arrows, crossbows and firearms.

Duke as Engine Driver.

The largest landowner in the British Empire is the Duke of Sutherland, who has had a new house built in the South of France. He owns in Scotland alone nearly 1,500,000 acres, or more than a sixteenth part of the kingdom. He has also a good deal of property in Florida, Wyoming and Canada. One of the duke's estates is provided with a light railway, and on many occasions his lordship has acted as engine driver. Dunrobin Castle, Scotland, is a magnificent modern pile, and is connected by corridor with the ancient castle, believed to be the oldest inhabited house beyond the Tweed. It was visited in 1840 by Catherine Sinclair, the clever daughter of Sir John Sinclair, who thus wrote in one of her books: "I never felt a sensation so like being up in a balloon as when gazing from the drawing-room window of Dunrobin Castle."

WALTER MILLER OF THIS CITY ONE OF THE INJURED IN THE RAILWAY WRECK NEAR GUELPH

Amongst the passengers on the train that was wrecked near Guelph yesterday, were the members of the Brantford hockey team, returning to their home city after a game with Guelph last night. A couple of them were in the smoking coach and escaped without injuries, while the others were more or less seriously hurt. Two of the members of the team, Marks and Miller, were so seriously hurt that they will not be able to play again this winter, while the others bore traces on their faces and clothes of the experience they had come through.

Marks is in the most serious condition. His arm is broken, some ribs are crushed in, and he is otherwise cut up. Miller has his left leg practically put out of commission, as the result of injuries to the hip and knee, while the fingers of the right hand are badly cut. He states that he was on the outside of the seat when the turnover occurred, and after that he remembered but little, being cast about in the coach with other passengers.

Mr. Walter Miller, or as he is better known here as "Jiddy" Miller, is a son of Mr. Finch Miller, Water st. Mr. Miller received a wire from his son yesterday afternoon stating that he was in the wreck but was all right. Fortunately his injuries are not as serious as they might have been, but his many friends here will regret to learn that he will have to retire from the game until he has fully recovered.

THE LOWEST IN HALF A CENTURY

The water in Stony Lake is lower than it ever has had been since the dam was built at Young's Point and that is nearly a half century ago.

A Peterborough gentleman who has just returned from the lake informed the Review today that this is the opinion of the oldest residents living in that locality. The Review's informant stated that the lowering of the water has made islands out of large stretches of rock that one could paddle over last summer. As a result the number of islands has been largely increased. There is practically no water coming into Stony Lake from the "feeders" in the north. Lovesick lake is also very low.

Stony Lake is frozen over with the exception of a few places. A large amount of wood cutting and teaming is going on at the lake.

SAID TO HAVE ASSAULTED HER HUSBAND

Sarah Emmerson was arrested today at noon by P.C. Meagher, and appeared before Magistrate Dumble this afternoon charged with assaulting her husband, George Emmerson, on Tuesday night. She pleaded not guilty. The case was enlarged until Tuesday next, Mrs. Emmerson in the meantime being allowed to go.

Third consolation—Prize, four cut glass bon bon dishes:

PETERBOROUGH
R Carton.
H A Morrow.
G L Hay.
W G Morrow.

The 'spiel came to a close last night about eight o'clock, when the finals in the consolation competition was played. The gathering of curlers has been a great success, the visitors expressing themselves as well satisfied with the bonspiel, the new rink here and the way they were treated, while in the city. They take away with them the most pleasant memories of their stay in Peterborough.

There was as much interest taken in the semi-finals and finals of the consolation as in the primary and a big crowd of spectators travelled from end to end to watch the stones. The semi-finals were played by W G Morrow and L V O'Connor of Lindsay, resulting in a win for the Lindsay curlers with eight up. The other rinks were skipped by W J Reid of Bobcaygeon and G S Ham of Napanee and was won by the latter by four shots.

The finals consolation was played off by L V O'Connor and G S Ham for the first prize, and was won by five shots by the Napanee curlers who curled a splendid game and worked hard. They deserved their victory and were warmly applauded by the spectators.

The losers, O'Connor's rink, took the second prize, while W G Morrow and W J Reid had to play off for the third consolation prize, and it was won by Mr Morrow, with a score of 8-7. This brought to a close at 8 o'clock last night one of the greatest bonspiels ever held here.

The scores in the semi-finals and finals of the consolation were as follows:

Lindsay	Peterborough
L V O'Connor—8	W G Morrow—10

Napanee	Bobcaygeon
G S Ham—14	W J Reid—10

Finals

Lindsay	Napanee
L V O'Connor—15	G S Ham—20

Third prize.

Peterborough	Bobcaygeon
W G Morrow—8	W J Reid—7

Great credit is due the officers of the local curling club for the splendid arrangements made for the bonspiel. The clerical part of the bonspiel was well looked after by Secretary J H Ferguson and Messrs R Kerr and J S Knapman. Mr Angus McIntosh had the ice in great shape and was highly complimented by the curlers.

PETERBOROUGH LEADS BY FOUR SHOTS IN FIRST PART OF SHIELD CONTEST

The first part of the Fitzgerald-Bottum contest was played at the curling rink last night between Peterborough and Bobcaygeon. Three Bobcaygeon rinks were to have been here, but only two came for the bonspiel. Peterborough was four shots up on the two games, both of which were closely contested.

The scores follow;—

Bobcaygeon.	Peterborough.

W A Davis	J H Connal
A E Bottum, skip...14	J E A Fitzgerald skip...13
C Dickson	W M Lang
W T C Boyd	H Foote
J T Robinson	R Neill
W J Reid skip...9	C N Brown sk.14

Peterborough curlers will go to Bobcaygeon during the winter for the second half of the Shield competition.

THE BANKERS DROP TWO NOW OUT OF FIRST PLACE

For the first time since the ten pin season opened the Bankers are out of first place in the league race and the Examiner A. team now hold the leadership, with the Pacifics a good third. The Bankers dropped out of their old position yesterday when they lost two games to the Pacifics. The contest was played in the afternoon, and the Bankers started off in winning style, putting up a score of 579 in their first game, just two pins below the record. In the second and third games however, they were away off color and the Pacifics had little difficulty in capturing both games. Lillie and Ferguson tied for the high score with 491.

In the evening the Lock Works, minus the services of HoPlant, dropped three games to the B.A.C., while the Hams succeeded in taking two from the Greys.

FINED $25 FOR SUPPLYING LIQUOR TO BLACKLIST MAN

For the first time in the history of the local Police Court, a man was heavily fined this morning for supplying intoxicating liquor to a man who is blacklisted.

William Clark was fined twenty-five dollars by Magistrate Dumble at the Police Court to-day, he having pleaded guilty to purchasing liquor for James Wilson, a man who was placed on the blacklist last September. Clark said that Wilson asked him to get some liquor, as he was suffering terribly from asthma.

Wilson swore that he told Clark that he was on the blacklist and was unable to procure liquor.

His Worship imposed the minimum fine and gave the defendant ten days to pay it in and in default of payment one month in jail.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

The old Southland Sextette, a company of artistic and intellectually high-class jubilee singers, has been secured by the Leaders' Corps of the Y.M.C.A., to give a concert in the Opera House on the evening of the 29th inst.

They will put on a programme of high merit intellectually and artistically, so that those who fail to hear this one of the best concert companies touring this country will miss a treat of southland melodies and plantation music such as has not been offered to the people of Peterborough for many a day.

BROTHER OF SLAYER OF W. E. ANNIS FREED BY JURY

Novelist is Acquitted for Second Time in His Life on Charge of Murder—Enthusiasm in the Court.

Flushing, N.Y., Jan. 16.—After reviewing the evidence for twenty-two hours and taking fifteen ballots before all were agreed the jury in the trial of Thornton Jenkins Hains at three o'clock yesterday afternoon found the prisoner not guilty as a principal with his brother, Capt. Peter C. Hains, Jr., in the killing of William E. Annis.

For the second time in his life, Thornton Hains had been found not guilty of the charge of murder, the magazine writer being acquitted of shooting a companion named Edward A. Hannigan in an open boat in Hampton Roads, 17 years ago.

Thornton Hains had an affecting greeting with Capt. Hains in the Long Island Jail, where he hurried in a motor car after the verdict, to bring his brother the news. Old Gen. Hains and his wife, who had been anxiously awaiting in the Hotel Astor in Manhattan since the jury went out Thursday night, heard the news from their son Thornton who telephoned his parents as soon as he left the court room. Mrs. Hains nearly fainted with joy at the news. After spending an hour with Capt. Hains in the jail, Thornton Hains went to the Hotel Astor, where he remained through the evening and night with his father and mother.

Rarely in any court of law has such a demonstration been witnessed as that which occurred yesterday afternoon when the jury made known it's verdict, which came like a thunder bolt. The packed court room of spectators rose as one man and cheered and applauded with such mighty vigor that the gavel falls of Justice Crane on his desk could not be heard. Before proceeding further Justice Crane ordered the trial chamber cleared, and the spectators put out on the street.

Judge Crane had sent for the jury to learn if there were any prospects of agreement and word came back that the jurors desired a few more minutes. Thornton Hains was brought into court by Sheriff Harway and seated beside his counsel. His Saffron-hued face became pallorous and the lines in his face became drawn with anxiety. None of his family were in court. He spoke nervously to counsel and watched with inquiring glance the field of tired jurors as they entered the room and took their places. Justice Crane asked the jurors if they had reached a verdict and Foreman Hill, his voice trembling, though he could be heard all over the court room, said that they had.

"The jurors will rise and face the defendant," cried Clerk Peace, "Gentlemen, what is your verdict?"

"Not guilty," said the foreman, and with the words the uproar came that Justice Crane subsided. The courtroom cheered, then came a rapping at the door and Major John Hains, who had heard the verdict outside, rushed into the room. An officer held him back from within the enclosure, where his brother and counsel sat, until after Justice Crane had thanked the jury. Then he hurried to his brother's and embraced him and kissed all of his counsel. Thornton Hains could scarcely realize the verdict for a moment and then he half rose in his chair and smiled and bowed to the jury. Tears filled his eyes and he brushed them away with his handkerchief. Justice Crane discharged the storey-writer and Mr. McIntyre, his chief counsel, who had quite completely broken down at the verdict, briefly thanked the court and jury.

"Under this verdict it is perfectly safe for any person who is ingenious enough to frame up a defence to go out and kill. Private vengeance seems to have taken precedence over the people's law," was the only comment that Prosecutor Darrin has to make on the jury.

FOUR ARE KILLED WHILE RETURNING FROM A DANCE

Terrible Tragedy Early This Morning Near Grimsby—One of Injured Not Expected to Recover—Marvelous Escape of Child.

Special to the Review.

Grimsby, Ont., Jan. 16.—A sleigh load of people returning from a dance at Winona, was struck by Grand Trunk express, No. 8, running at the rate of sixty miles an hour this morning about three o'clock, at a crossing just east of Grimsby Station.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wilson and Geo. Teeter were instantly killed and Mrs. Geo. Teeter so badly injured that she died shortly after. Miss Lottie Teeter was badly shaken up and Gordon Nelson was terribly injured and is not expected to recover, but the Teeter infant child, which was with the party, miraculously escaped with only a few bruises. Both horses were killed.

LATER.

Hamilton, Jan 16—Mordon Nelson, who was injured in the crossing accident at Grimsby this morning, died at the city hospital here at eleven o'clock. This makes the fifth death as a result of the accident.

CARMICHAEL IS BURIED CROWDS AT THE FUNERAL

Officiating Clergymen Severely Score Scandalmongers Who Say Murderer Used Drugs—One Pastor Highly Praised Dead Man's Life.

Romulus, Mich., Jan. 16.—Rev. John H. Carmichael, murderer of Gideon Browning in the Methodist Church at Rattle Run, was buried here yesterday from the Methodist Church.

Rev. C. W. Baldwin of Detroit and president elder Rev. John Sweet of the Detroit district, both made brief addresses. A large floral tribute from the Detroit Methodist Episcopal Church district, with the words "Our Brother," lay on the coffin.

The local Methodist Church was crowded to the doors during the funeral services. Some of the crowd, it was said, had driven 20 miles to be present. Many of them stood throughout the services. Most of them braved the cold and attended the services at the grave.

Before the funeral services began, the casket was opened and the crowd permitted to view the face of the dead minister who, while located in Romulus, had built the church from which he was buried.

Rev. F. D. Leele of Detroit in a prayer severely criticized gossip mongers, who, he thought, might have spared the Carmichael family, some of their sufferings.

Rev. John Sweet in a brief address, scored the persons who were responsible for spreading false reports about the dead minister, such as the allegation that he was addicted to the use of drugs. He praised Carmichael, saying that he had always found his living up to the high ideals of his profession.

Carmichael's Malady.

Port Huron, Mich., Jan. 16.—That Rev. John Haviland Carmichael was suffering from an acute mania, was the verdict arrived at by several prominent Detroit physicians, following a post mortem examinations. They also decided that there was no evidence of Mr. Carmichael having used a hypodermic syringe.

OPENING OF HOUSE

February 11 is Reported as Date of Legislature's Beginning.

Toronto, Jan. 16.—Next Thursday or Friday the date of the Legislative session may be announced. Anticipations are circling around Feb. 11 as the date to be chosen. Hon. A. G. MacKay if consulted would postpone the date for two or three weeks, and thinks there is no need for the session to last longer than two months.

If the estimates are ready and the House meets on the 11th it is quite possible that the session may be prorogued by Easter Sunday, which falls on April 11.

It is semi-officially announced that W. H. Hearst Sault Ste. Marie, and J. W. Johnson, West Hastings, will move and second the address in reply to the speech from the throne.

Among the items amending legislation which may come before the Legislature several may affect the Railway and Municipal Board. Sir James Whitney indicated at the time the board handed out its decision on the street railway's rights on the city streets that the constitution was elastic enough to deal with such a situation.

It may be taken for granted that something will be done in this connection.

Whether the board will be given wider jurisdiction or powers of initiative which it does not now possess, so that where a deadlock occurs in which it cannot interfere until one of the parties asks for intervention, it may represent the public and bring about negotiations, is not to be discovered from Government circles, but many people are undoubtedly expecting something of this sort.

NEW ROAD PROJECTED

To Run From Prince Albert, Sask., to Hudson Bay—Other Railways.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The Prince Albert and Hudson Bay Railway Co. will apply to Parliament for an act of incorporation. A line is proposed to be built from a point near Prince Albert, Sask., to the mouth of the Nelson river on Hudson Bay or York Factory.

The Fort Erie and Buffalo Bridge Co. is seeking for incorporation with power to construct a bridge across the Niagara river.

The Windsor, Essex and Lake Shore Rapid Railway Co. will apply to Parliament for an extension of time of construction.

The St. Mary's and Western Ontario Railway wants power to build the following lines: From Woodstock to Brantford; from St. Mary's to Stratford; from St. Mary's to Exeter to Milverton and Goderich, and from Exeter to the Harbor of Grand Bend.

The Cabano Railway Co. will apply to Parliament for incorporation and for power to construct a railway from Long Lake Temiscouata, Que., on the line of the National Transcontinental Railway of Cabano.

GENERAL STAFF PLAN PROPOSED

Sir Frederick Borden Discusses Imperial Defence Scheme.

London, Jan. 16.—In an interview regarding the relations existing between Canada and the United States Sir Fred. Borden said: "On political questions we want to be good neighbors and friends, but on trade questions the United States has taken a line of policy, presumably from national motives, which excludes us. We accept the situation, and will pursue our own line of policy. Any concession or reopening of the trade question must come from the United States."

Sir Frederick also stated: "I had serious conferences with Mr. Haldane and members of the Army Council and also Gen. Hood of Australia with reference to the proposed Imperial General Staff. An advance is being made and steps are being taken to make regulations and formulate plans for what was at first only a general idea. There are, however, certain difficulties as to questions of administration and the like to overcome. The scheme has hardly yet crystallized, but still there has been progress. The exchange of officers between the varous parts of the Empire has been going on for some time, but this is only a part of the scheme. In the case of Canada, for instance, we may have four or five members of the General Staff, or, in other words, our own General Staff, which would form a part of the Imperial General Staff."

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Valentine Ratz a Senator.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The Senate vacancy in the Province of Ontario was filled at yesterday's meeting of the Cabinet Council. Mr. Valentine Ratz of Parkhill, who represented North Middlesex in the last Parliament, was appointed to succeed the late Senator Merner. The new Senator will represent in the upper House the German element in the population of the province. There are still three Senatorial vacancies to be filled, two in Nova Scotia and one in Manitoba. It is unlikely, however, that these appointments will be made for some days yet. The Nova Scotia vacancies await Hon. Mr. Fielding's return from Europe.

Says Alderman Wanted Bribe.

Montreal, Jan. 16.—A sensation was sprung yesterday before the incineration committee when J. A. Jacob declared that Alderman Lesperance had asked $1,000 to secure the contract and later on he came down to $600.

The alderman denied the charge, and then Ald. Martin, M.P., said Lesperance had come to him and said there was $600 in it for both.

At this Ald. Lesperance declared he would take action both against Jacob and Ald. Martin immediately.

Bombarded German Ship.

Konakry, French Guinea, West Africa, Jan. 16.—News has just been received here that the Liberian customs gunboat Lark has bombarded a German steamer of the Woerman line off the coast of Liberia.

The Lark was purchased by Liberia last September to stop ships coming into ports that are not open to the trade of the world.

Knee Broken by Horse.

Belleville, Jan. 16.—Dr. Thomas Purvis, V.S., Thursday night had his right leg badly fractured at the knee. He was holding a horse for a patient, when the animal became frightened and threw the doctor to the pavement. Physicians fear he is crippled for life.

Bank President Sentenced.

Owensbury, Ky., Jan. 16.—T. S. Anderson, former president of the defunct Davies County Bank & Trust Co., was found guilty yesterday of swearing falsely to a statement of the bank's condition. He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Aylesworth Off to Washington.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—Hon. A. B. Aylesworth has left for Washington, having been summoned by Hon. James Bryce in connection with the waterways treaty between Canada and the United States.

MR. T. HOOPER TO ENLARGE NORTH STORE BY ACQUIRING THE JORDAN BROS. PREMISES

It is understood that Mr. Thos. Hooper will further enlarge his premises at 414 George-st., by acquiring the shop at present occupied by Messrs. Jordan Bros., the florists, and immediately north of Mr. Hooper's upper store.

This will give Mr. Hooper much additional room, and the accommodation of his present grill room will be greatly increased. It is his intention to have a first class banqueting hall, that will adequately supply the demands of any parties desiring to hold banquets.

Messrs. Jordan Bros. will vacate their present stand on the first of February, moving into the store now occupied by McGregor and Reid, whose new premises will be at 432 George-st., the store formerly occupied by J. W. Young.

EIGHTEEN KILLED AND MANY HURT

Terrible Wreck Near Denver Colo. — Passenger Train Collided With Freight.

Special to the Review.

Glenwood Springs, Colorado, Jan 16—Eighteen known dead and at least thirty injured is the result of a collision last night at Dostro between a west bound Denver and Rio Grand passenger train and an east bound freight.

Dostro is but twenty miles from here but there is no communication with the place other than the railway telegraph lines which are now out of commission. This accounts for the lack of details of the wreck.

The freight was taking a siding and had almost cleared the line when struck by the passenger. The chair car was cut in two and one tourist car telescoped. It is probable that the number of dead will be increased.

Eighteen bodies have already been recovered. No one was injured in the sleeping car.

A train left here early this morning for the scene of the wreck, carrying all available doctors and nurses in the city.

THIS SUIT COST IMMENSE SUM

Action to Dissolve Standard Oil Company Cost $10,000,000.

New York, Jan. 16.—The Government suit for dissolution of the Standard Oil Co. practically closed yesterday.

The case will undoubtedly go down in legal history as the greatest civil action ever brought in this country. The record already comprises twenty-two printed volumes and represents a cost to the litigants of nearly $10,000,000.

Arguments of both sides will be made next April before the full bench of the United States Circuit Court sitting in St. Louis and the case is to be taken to the Supremee Court of the United States, no matter what the decision of the Circuit Court is.

The suit to dissolve the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey was commenced in 1906 with the filing of a complaint in the Federal Court of St. Louis. Besides the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey 69 subsidiary companies and seven individuals were named as defendants. The latter were John D. Rockefeller, John D. Archbold, Wm. Rockefeller, H. H. Rogers, M. M. Flagler, O. H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt.

In all about 192 witnesses were called by the Government and 140 by the defence. The record of the testimony proper totals up 4,500,000 words. The exhibits, consisting of 73,500 groups of words and figures, adds another 10,000,000 words. The printing office in Washington has been kept busy day and night for months completing the records which will make 22 volumes. The maps showing the company's pipe-lines and oil fields are printed in four colors a procedure never heretofore undertaken in legal record making.

BOOKINGS AT RINK TO-NIGHT

The Chieftains will practice from 6 to 7 to-night at the Brock street street rink. T.A.S. will have a work-out from 7 to 8 and from 9.30 to 10.30, the Canoe Builders and Ackerman will play.

CHILDREN'S AID TOOK TWO CHILDREN FROM LOCAL HOME

Two children in a local home were temporarily taken over by the Children's Aid Society this week. Owing to there being considerable illness in the home the society decided that they would take the children until the mother had fully recovered and the family was in better circumstances.

CANADIAN CLUB'S FIRST MEETING ON MONDAY NIGHT

The first meeting of the year of the Canadian Club will be held at the Hotel National on Monday night, dinner commencing at 7.30 o'clock. speaker of the evening will be Rev. Dr. Gould, who has spent some years in Turkey. His subject will be "the recent crisis in Turkey." Dr. Gould has been heard in Peterborough before and is a very interesting and forcible speaker. He is well acquainted with the situation in Turkey and no doubt will have some valuable information to impart to those who avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him.

All the present members are expected to be present and any others who would like to join the club are cordially invited to become members.

FIRST CASE OF ITS KIND EVER TRIED IN ONTARIO

According to the statement of Chief Roaseh the case of Wm. Clarke, who was fined twenty-five dollars for supplying liquor to a blacklisted man was the first of its kind ever tried in the Province of Ontario. Liquor dealers have been fined for giving liquor to men on the "Indian list" but never before yesterday had anyone outside of hotel-keepers appeared before a magistrate for the offence.

ENGINEERS ARE KILLED

C.P.R. Train Swept Down Bank of the Fraser River.

Kamloops, Jan. 16.—At one o'clock yesterday afternoon train No. 97 was derailed by a snowslide about 7 1-2 miles east of Yale. On account of the recent heavy snowfalls in this district the train was being handled by two engines, and these, together with the baggage, mail, express and colonist cars, went down the bank of the Fraser river. Three other cars were also derailed. Engineers Carscadden and Foster were killed, and three trainmen and a number of passengers slightly injured. None of the injuries are serious and the passengers are being made comfortable in the sleeping cars, which were not derailed. The names of the injured will be obtainable later. The train is reported to have been running cautiously, at a speed of only fifteen miles per hour at the time, and it is stated that only the caution with which trains are operated over this section of the road, particularly during the season when snowslides may be looked for, prevented the accident turning out more seriously. A relief train was at once despatched from North Bend, and another with doctors and nurses from Vancouver. It is expected the line will be clear in a few hours.

BEAUTIFUL ICE PALACE

First Work Done on Structure for Montreal Carnival—Programme is Elaborate.

Montreal, Jan. 16.—The first blocks of ice were frozen in yesterday for the foundations of the ice palace, which is to be the big feature of the winter carnival, and energetic preparations were made for rushing the work ahead.

The ice palace is to be built on a scale unprecedented in the history of previous carnivals. Its main feature will be the King Edward tower, which will be a glittering mass of ice 190 feet high and 40 feet square. This, built on a plateau 200 feet higher than the top of the famous Notre Dame towers, will give a magnificent prospect. The royal tower will be flanked by two lesser ones, named after the Prince of Wales and the Queen, the three connected by ice arches about 60 feet high.

Over a quarter of a million cubic feet of ice will be used in building the palaces, and stalls for exhibition purposes will be opened inside. The whole will be brilliantly illuminated with arc lights, and surrounded by an ice wall.

An elaborate program extending over ten days is being prepared, and, despite the opposition of the railway interests it is expected that the carnival will be a huge success.

GRAHAM SAYS NOT FOR SALE

Regarding Reported Transfer of the Intercolonial—Discussion Has Done Good.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—Hon. G. P. Graham Minister of Railways, referring to the discussion as to the Government's intention regarding the I.C.R., said:

"I do not regret this widespread discussion because it tends to a better understanding of a problem which is not as generally understood as is desirable.

"It is a mistake to think the idea of any change in the working of the I.C.R. was inspired on account of the falling off in the traffic this year. The truth is that the Government line in this respect is like all other roads, its condition is certainly no worse.

"But company roads are constantly making changes for the better in their methods of management, and why not the Government lines?

"I might say that if changes be decided on they will not include either the sale or the lease of the Government line."

THE SAULT

The Examiner would ascribe the boom in the Soo mills to the Ross Government. Had Mr Ross done what Sir James Whitney has done, viz, secured the intervention of Old Country capitalists instead of providing a guarantee for the ultimate benefit of the Soo mills' rivals in the United States there would be a different tale to tell. Sir James Whitney's administration has more brains, more honesty and more go in one minute than the whole Ross outfit in ten years. In fact the latter were a lot of impossibles who were ultimately relegated by an indignant public to the political scrap heap. To confound the Ross government guarantee with the Whitney methods is moreover to confuse an unpermissible way of doing business with a thoroughly legitimate and up to date plan of developing the public interests.

OUR SUBSTITUTE FOR TIMBER

Professor Baker, of Queen's University has contributed a new idea to the discussion of our resources in his paper on "Our Substitute for Timber," in the current number of Queen's Quarterly. Timber heretofore has played a chief part in the construction of buildings broadly speaking. But the height and strength of the later variety of buildings and the necessity of making them fire-proof demanded a new variety of building material. Stone is too expensive and cement is found to be too heavy for flooring, partitions, etc. In some parts of Europe siliceous volcanic cinter, a light porous material not unlike pumice, is freely used. We have little if any of it in Canada. But in Canada we have a clay that will serve the same purpose.

"Clay is a substance with which almost everyone is quite familiar, but one of its chief properties viz., its fusibility, may not be so well known. When clay is heated to a temperature of about 1800 F., it begins to fuse and the particles weld or knit together, and the clinker when cooled assumes a hard rock-like consistency. In the manufacture of clay-lumber, the raw clay is mixed with some combustible substance usually sawdust, and sufficient water to make a stiff mud. This mixture is then put through an auger machine, which consists of a hollow steel barrel about the shape of a cannon within which an auger is turning, thus constantly forcing the clay towards the muzzle of the machine. Dies of any desired shape are bolted on to the muzzle of the machine and as the clay is forced out it must of necessity take the shape desired. The clay issues as a long column which can be cut off into blocks of the proper size by means of fine wires set on a frame. By changing the dies to suit the architect's plans any shape of block may be made suitable for domes, arches, ceilings, cornice, partitions, roofing, etc. When the goods have sufficiently dried to be handled they are placed in a kiln, and the sawdust or other combustible mixed with the clay, will burn out, thus helping to distribute the heat and at the same time producing a light, porous, and fire-proof block.

For walls and partitions this clay-lumber is made in the form of hollow blocks which have many other advantages besides being light in weight. The air-space within the blocks acts the same as the air-space between our double windows in winter. Air is a poor conductor of heat, and these blocks therefore keep a building warmer in winter, by preventing the loss of heat; and cooler in summer by preventing the entrance of it. Moreover, this air-space makes a much quieter building by deadening the noise from surroundings. Another great advantage is that owing to the porous character of the blocks, one can plaster and finish the walls and ceilings without first lathing them; but if one wishes to finish with lumber of any particular kind, he can nail into this clay-lumber almost as easily as into timber.

Another class of hollow blocks finds a steadily increasing use. These differ from the porus blocks in that they are made entirely from clay, with no addition of sawdust or other combustible material. They are in reality hollow rectangular tile, and being free from pores are stronger and able to carry a much greater load. They are usually made 8 inches deep, by 10 inches wide, and 12 to 16 inches long. They have two or three partitions inside the block to give greater strength."

In addition to this suitableness there is another feature of adaptability of importance. Buildings with hollow block foundations are not struck by lightning, because possibly these hollow blocks are of burned clay, and porcelain is also burned clay, and porcelain is the best of insulators. Already the clay industry is assuming large proportions, and in the near future it may relegate lumber to the limbo of ornamentation or of "forgotten things."

SOFTNESS AND SORROW

"So the man behind the graft in Pittsburg was the late Chris Magee, the notorious boss, who looted the city right and left for twenty years and died a multi-millionaire—and the most popular man in Pittsburg. He was a typical Irish political buccaneer. He stole franchises—but he never forgot a friend. He looted millions—but gave away thousands. He was never overthrown because he never got what is vulgarly called the "swelled head." He was as genial to the crossing sweeper as to the Senator. The foe to all the city, he was the private friend and benefactor of hundreds. Now his nephew is in training as the Republican party's candidate for Mayor of Pittsburg. The man who is to conduct the graft prosecutions is an appointee of the dominant party's machine. The present Mayor is a fine, timid old "silk stocking," whose chief desire is to get outside papers to cease discussing the rottenness revealed in Pittsburg" — Mail and Empire.

The lesson to be learned from the Pittsburg rottenness is that softness of heart is not always a healthy sign. The boodlers and bribers have a stock-in-trade. It consists of an open hand an open heart and a closed mouth. Time has developed it into a work of art. All but good judges are fooled by it. The recipient of small favors, of course, ask no questions, and the recipient of large ones, that is the briber himself, goes on his easy off-hand, way rejoicing and smiling. He need not be and in fact must not be honest, virtuous, or otherwise respectable, but he must possess the simple natural instincts that gratify others of the same class, viz; gentleness to friends unbending cruelty to enemies and a great capacity for lying. Altogether the "boss" is a laughable instance of human weakness and a sorry product of 20th century civilization (Sic). Yet many there are who pretend to be of the elect who prefer the emoluments of his service. They are perhaps a little worse than their master whom in the abstract they condemn but never in the concrete.

WEDDING BELLS

THE BRIDE A COUSIN OF MRS. HARTSHORNE

The following item will be of local interest;

New York, Jan. 14.—The marriage this afternoon of the Earl of Granard and Beatrice Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, and niece of Ambassador Reid, has been awaited as one of the season's social events of importance.

The bride is a granddaughter of D. O. Mills, the financier and philanthropist. The Earl of Granard is Master of Horse to King Edward and the head of the Royal Equerries.

A temporary altar was erected in the Louis XV. room of the Mills residence in West 69th street, for the marriage ceremony, which was performed by Bishop Cusack, of St. Stephens Roman Catholic church. The bride was attended by Miss Alice Astor, Miss Grace Vanderbilt, Miss Edith Taylor and Miss Beatrice Bishop.

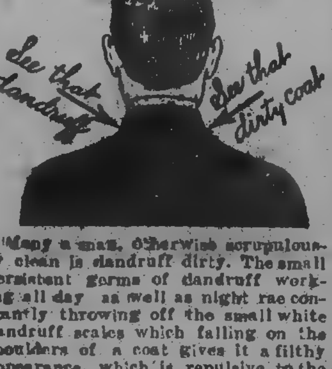
Lord Grandard's brother, the Hon. Donald Forbes, was best man. The guests numbered about 250. The gifts to the bride included a cheque from her father for $100,000 to be supplemented later on, it is said, by a London town house from her grandfather, D. O. Mills.

The bridegroom's gifts to her were a collar, tiara, and corsage ornaments, of diamonds, but of these she has seen only the photographs, the originals remaining in London to greet her when she arrives to take up her residence there.

Numerous other ornaments of diamonds and other precious stones and a great quality of silver were showered upon her, the total value of her wedding presents being said to reach half a million dollars.

A dispensation was granted recently by Archbishop Farley for the marriage of Miss Beatrice Mills. The earl is a Catholic, while Miss Mills is a Protestant.

A Filthy Condition



Many a man, otherwise scrupulously clean is dandruff dirty. The small persistent germs of dandruff working all day as well as night are constantly throwing off the small white dandruff scales which falling on the shoulders of a coat gives it a filthy appearance, which is repulsive to the friends of the victim.

Many men allow this condition to exist because they believe there is no cure for dandruff; they have tried various so-called cures with unsatisfactory results and naturally condemn all.

The famous prescription called Parisian Sage now put up in America, but only by the Giroux Mfg. Co., of Buffalo, NY.. It is for sale in Peterborough by Wm. Madill druggist, who guarantees it to cure dandruff in two weeks or money back.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed to do more; it will make short, thin hair, grow long, lustrous and luxuriant; it will stop hair from falling out; it will cure all diseases of the scap. W. Madill guarantees it—every bottle of it. The price is only 50 cents and if you want to stop the filthy dandruff flakes from lodging on your coat and disgusting your friends, get a bottle at once.

SHREDDED WHEAT BANQUET HELD LAST EVENING

At the Murray St. Baptist Church —An Excellent Programme Rendered

The shredded wheat banquet held last evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the Murray street Baptist church was a great success. The Sunday school hall was well filled and everyone apparently enjoyed the excellent menu provided and the programme of readings and music after the banquet. Supper was served from 7 to 8 o'clock, the Canadian Shredded Wheat Co. contributing the entire menu, it being a complimentary banquet from them to the Ladies Aid of Murray street church.

The tables were prettily arranged and the wants of everyone were supplied by a number of young ladies, who acted as waitresses.

The chairman of the evening was the pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, and the programme given cannot be praised too highly, many of the contributors having to respond to encores.

The programme was as follows;

Solo, Mr. D. Ferguson.
Reading, Miss Aldridge.
Quartette, selected.
Mrs Millar, Miss Kidd, Messrs. Raddon and Ferguson.
Address, "Natural Food," Mr. J. Hewitt.
Solo, Miss Sanderson.
Piano duet, Misses Quinn and Walker.

RECOMMENDS THIS HOME MIXTURE

Noted Authority Gives Simple Remedy for Kidney and Bladder Trouble

This is a simple home recipe now being made known in all the larger cities through the newspapers. It is intended to check the many cases of Rheumatism, kidney and bladder trouble which have made so many cripples and invalids and weaklings of some of our brighest and strongest people.

The druggists here have been notified to supply themselves with the ingredients and the sufferer will have no trouble to obtain them. The prescription is as follows:—Fluid Extract Dandelion one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce, and Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle. The dose is one teaspoonful after each meal and at bed-time.

Recent experiments prove this simple mixture effective in Rheumatism, because of its positive action upon the eliminative tissues of the kidneys. It compels these most vital organs to filter from the blood and system the waste impurities and uric acid which are the cause of rheumatism. It cleanses the kidneys strengthens them and removes quickly such symptoms as backache, blood disorders, bladder weakness frequent urination, painful scalding and discolored urine. It acts as a powerful stimulant to the entire kidney and bladder structure.

Those who suffer and are accustomed to purchase a bottle of medicine should not let a little inconvenience interfere with making this up.

FOR ITS GENERAL USEFULNESS

The Grand Trunk Railway system have just issued what is considered to be the most complete map of the North American continent, showing the relative positions of the Grand Trunk Railway System, the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and their connections. The map is printed in five colors, the combination of which allows for different colors being used for each of the states of the Republic and each of the provinces of the Dominion. The colors used for the water portion of the country is light blue making a pleasing contrast with the tints used for the land portion. The map is 45 inches by 65 inches, printed on heavy coated stock, mounted on rollers and bound with linen.

Among the special features that are embodied in this map may be mentioned the following;—The Grand Trunk Railway system is shown with reference designating the double track under operation, other lines of the company in operation, through car lines and connections. The lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific under operation, under construction and the proposed branch lines are also shown in an accurate and comprehensive way. The Trans-Atlantic and Trans-Pacific steamship routes appear in dotted lines and include all the principal lines operating from all the prominent seaports on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

The typographical features are shown, such as mountains, lakes, rivers, etc. In addition to the main map there are two key maps, one showing the routes around the world on Mercator's projection, which is a most interesting feature, and one that shows the relative positions of all the countries on the globe with the around the world routes. The other key map is a part of Alaska showing north Pacific coast points, steamship routes, Behring Sea and a part of Siberia.

The execution of the map is a credit to the publishers and it is the best railway map published and one that will be sought after for its general usefulness.

PAST YEAR WAS THE BUSIEST IN HISTORY OF THE TRENT CANAL

Shown by Report of Superintendent McClellan—Lockages for the Season—Passengers Traffic Was Large—Much Merchandise Was Carried.

The Superintendent of the Trent Canal Mr J H McClellan has received from the various lockmasters on the Trent Canal their returns showing the number of lockages and amount of traffic general through the different locks during the past season. Comparison with the returns of other years shows that the past year has been the busiest year on the Trent Canal.

The report of the lockmasters are as follows;

ROSEDALE LOCK

A A Sackett, Act.-Master

A substantial new lock, much larger than the old wooden lock formerly at this place is now about completed. A splendid new concrete dam is also being constructed at Rosedale. Balsam Lake just above the Rosedale Lock constitutes the summit waters of the Trent Canal. From Balsam Lake the waters of the Trent Canal flow eastward to Lake Ontario while the artificial stretch from Balsam Lake to Lake Simcoe carries a very slight portion of the water from Balsam Lake to Georgian Bay.

A record of the lockages at Rosedale during the past year is as follows.—

HYDRAULIC LIFT LOCK, KIRKFIELD.

Wm. Jobe, Lockmaster.

This is the second year that the Kirkfield Hydraulic Lift Lock has been operated, and notwithstanding the fact that there is no through route from Georgian Bay as yet, and therefore, nothing to demand very much traffic on Lake Simcoe Balsam Lake division of the Canal, there has been, nevertheless, a slight increase in the number of lockages this year. BOBCAYGEON LOCK

John J Walker, Lockmaster

The lockages at Bobcaygeon during the past year totalled 826, a slight decrease over the number of lockages during the preceding year. It might be noted, however, that this decrease was not in connection with the steamboat traffic, but in the matter of the number of scows that were locked through during the past year, and also in the matter of the number of rafts. In 1907 the number of rafts locked through at Bobcaygeon totalled 363, whereas this year they dropped to 225. The number of steamboats passing through this lock during the past year showed an increase of 25 over the season of 1907.

YONG'S POINT LOCK.

P. P. Young, lockmaster.

Young's Point still maintains the proud position of being the busiest lock on the entire Trent Canal. Each year the number of lockages show an increase over the preceding year and during the past season the number of lockages at this point totalled 2,130. This of course, is due to the fact that local option prevails in a number of the municipalities that border on Stony Lake. It is significant that Lockmaster Young reports that 8 tons of whiskey passed through his lock on the way to Stony Lake during the past season.

Lockmaster Young's official returns for the past season are as follows;

LAKEFIELD LOCK

John H McWilliams, Lockmaster

This lock is known as Lock No 1, of the Peterborough-Lakefield section. In former years the traffic through this lock was almost exclusively freight, but during the past season the Otonabee Navigation Company ran a passenger boat from Peterborough to Stony Lake each day, which has brought up the total number of lockages from 539 in 1907 to 858 during the past year.

PETERBOROUGH LOCK.

Wm. Collins, Lockmaster.

The traffic through the Peterborough Lock does not at the present time indicate the volume of traffic down the Otonabee river to Rice Lake, as it did some years ago, before the Peterborough Street Railway Company extended its line to a point on the Otonabee river just below the locks. As is well known, a handsome new dock has been constructed on the Otonabee river at the foot of the Peterborough Street Railway, and a great deal of traffic commences at this point. Notwithstanding this fact however, the total lockages through the Peterborough lock during the past year amounted to 1158. Of this amount it is worth noting that 450 of these lockages consisted of small boats, chiefly gasoline launches, but it should also be noted that there was one passenger boat less plying on the Otonabee River than there was in the preceding years. The Water Lily, which formerly travelled on the Otonabee river last year, had its route last year from the Wolfe street wharf to Stony Lake points.

The record of the traffic at this lock during the past year is as follows—

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her. Read her letter.

Mrs. J. A. Laliberte, of 34 Artillerie St., Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For six years I have been doctoring for female weakness, heart and nerves, liver and kidney trouble, but in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I can safely say I have found a cure.

"I was continually bothered with the most distressing backaches, headaches, and bearing-down pains, and I kept growing more and more nervous.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of all these distressing symptoms and made me a well woman. I would advise all suffering women, young or old, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

A local veterinary surgeon reports a monstrosity born on the farm of Mr. George Weston, Anstruther. It is a five-legged calf, and the fifth leg, which is a fore limb, is almost as well developed as the other two. This is somewhat unusual in the case of a freak of a similar kind, as the superfluous limb is generally considerably smaller and more shrunken than the others. The calf seems quite healthy.

HARRY ADAMS

WALTER MILLER IS IN A HOSPITAL AT BRANTFORD

Peterborough Boy is Badly Injured, His Hand Being Lacerated to the Bone and His Body Cut in Many Places—Deep Regret at Brantford.

Describing the wreck near Guelph in which Walter Miller and others were injured yesterday, the Brantford Expositor says;—

The complete story of the disastrous wreck on the Grand Trunk railway near Guelph yesterday morning, in which the members of the Brantford hockey team conspicuously figured, given in the early edition of the Expositor, was the sole topic of conversation in this city last night. Seldom has an event created more universal interest and brought out more genuine expressions of sympathy than the event did of yesterday, the results of which are not even yet fully known. Jack Marks, considered by many the greatest player on the Brantford team, and Walter Miller, conscientious and hard working, a young player full of budding promise, both are lying today in the John H. Stratford hospital maimed and bruised, bones broken and with prospects of being laid up for some time and remote possibilities of being crippled for life, as the result of a broken flange on the wheel of a Grand Trunk coach on the train out of Guelph yesterday. Certain it is that neither player will again figure in the game this year.

"The toughest kind of luck," was the expressions on all sides from the multitude of fans last night when the news of the railway disaster near Guelph, and the injuries to Jack Marks and Walter Miller were first learned, through the medium of the Expositor. The keenest sympathy that could be given was extended on all sides in expressions of heartfelt grief among the fans to the crippled stars of the team which looked good to travel fast the whole season through and for once in a decade land Brantford the hockey championship. The loss to the team through the injuries of the players was not the only thing that put the fans in a regretful mood. There was felt a personal loss to each and every fan with whom both Marks and Miller were distinctly popular.

"Poor Marks" was the expression heard on all sides last night. "And Miller, too." They were brought to the city early in the evening and were taken to the hospital. Dr Pearson was the examining doctor, and merely looked the players over. The examination was not a thorough one and the exact nature of the injuries could not be ascertained. Examined at Guelph, Mark's arm was found to be broken in six places below the elbow, two ribs were fractured, and worse internal injuries were feared. Miller has a hand lacerated to the bone, his body is cut in a hundred places and his knee and hip are badly put out of commission.

Mr Fred Westbrooke, who was with Miller when he came out of the debris believed the Peterborough man to have been injured even more dangerously than Marks.

Jack Marks, at the hospital, is resting easily. His story resembles the others the main feature being that he did not realize how badly he was hurt until some time after the accident. When the coach had been dragged for some distance it stopped and Marks found himself in the pile of wreckage. He managed to get his head up through the debris and looking out saw Fred Westbrook and Hugh Howie, who assisted in rescuing him. For some fifteen or more minutes he walked around before collapsing, not knowing that his ribs were fractured or that the break in his arm was so serious. There are six breaks in the left arm between the wrist and elbow.

Walter Miller was with Marks and passed through the same experience minus some of the more serious consequences. He is also doing well. All of the cords of his two injured fingers were broken and the flesh had to be sewed up with 7 stitches

Incidentally, it may be remarked, that he underwent the stitching ordeal without taking anything.

THE DEATH OF FORMER CITIZEN

R H Green, a former resident of this city passed away this morning in London, Ont, at the Home for Incurables in his 70th year. He was formerly in business here for a number of years, also market clerk of this city. The late Mr Green took a paralytic stroke about 11 years ago, which left him quite helpless ever since. His wife was Miss Ellen Fowler, who predeceased him about nine years ago.

The funeral will take place from the residence of deceased's brother, W J Green, 375 Brock street on Monday 19th inst, at 2.30 pm and proceed to Little Lake cemetery. The body will arrive here Sunday night CPR.

He was a member of Corinthian Lodge, Masonic order, of Peterborough.

DEATH OF REV. FATHER O'CONNELL

The Rev. Father Daniel O'Connell died this morning at St. Joseph's hospital Ashburnham, of pneumonia. Father O'Connell was born in Ireland, coming to Canada as a lad. He was educated for the priesthood at Regiopolis College, Kingston, and Laval University, Quebec. He was for one year stationed as curate at Perth, whence he moved to Douro, where for 20 years he was the much beloved priest of that parish. From Douro he went to Ennismore, where he ministered for three years. For the last 16 years of his life he had been chaplain of St. Joseph's hospital where he died this morning at the age of 74 years.

The death of Rev. Father O'Connell has removed from Peterborough, and especially from amongst those of his own faith, a much respected and beloved priest, who, while possessing strong opinions and firm convictions, was of a very kindly and generous disposition. He will be much missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral will take lace on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from St. Peter's Cathedral, where the funeral ceremonies will be held, to Roman Catholic cemetery.

LADIES' AID ENTERTAINMENT

Held at the Cavanville Methodist Church Last Night

A highly successful entertainment was given last evening at the Methodist church, Cavanville, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of that church. Early in the evening an oyster supper was served, the tables being nicely arranged and bountifully supplied. Following the supper a splendid programme was given in the church and was heartily enjoyed by the large audience present. The Bethany male quartette, Miss Magill, Miss Chalmers of Toronto, the Misses Chestey W F Skitch and David Moore, of this city, were among those who contributed to the programme. Encores were numerous and the several entertainers were generous in responding, so that a programme of over thirty numbers was heard.

An address given by Rev Mr Adams of Bethany added much to the evening's enjoyment. Rev. Mr Quinn was the chairman.

At the conclusion W H Staples moved a vote of thanks to those taking part and to the Ladies Aid for their hard work in providing and successfully managing the entertainment, which, he said, was one of the best in the history of the church.

TEMPERANCE AND MORAL REFORM

DIS. DEPUTY AT COLBORNE

District Deputy J. J. Turner, sr., of the A.O.U.W., was in Colborne on Thursday night installing the officers of Faith Lodge, A.O.U.W. A very enjoyable evening was spent. Immediately after the installation an oyster supper was served and a pleasant time spent around the festive board. Mr. Turner met many friends in Colborne, including Grand Master Workman B. Mooney, of Rodney, Ont. A feature of the evening was the presentation of a gold locket to a young member of the lodge who was only initiated two weeks ago, and has succeeded in bringing in thirteen new members in that period.

Only Fair Attendance at This Morning's Market

Eggs sold at 35 cents a dozen at the market this morning, although a few were obtainable at 32 cents. The market to-day was only fairly well attended, the extremely cold weather evidently preventing many farmers from coming into the city. Butter sold at 28 cents per pound; chickens at $1.00 and $1.25 pair, and geese at $1.25 to $1.50 each.

On the outside market beef was 4 1-2 and 5 1-2 cents, and pork 10 and 11 cents.

COL. MAPP OF TORONTO AT S. A. BARRACKS

Will Give Addresses There To-night and To-morrow--Mayor Rush Will Speak at the Sunday Afternoon Meeting

There will be special meetings at the Salvation Army barracks tonight and tomorrow. Col. N. W. Mapp and his wife will be here from Toronto and will give addresses. Col. Mapp is Chief Secretary of the Army in Canada. This will be his first visit to Peterborough, as he is a most interesting and instructive speaker. Many should avail themselves of the opportunity to hear him.

The meeting to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock will be the most important one. Mayor Rush and a number of the aldermen have promised to be present. Mayor Rush will extend a civic welcome to Colonel Mapp.

WHAT IS HE DOING?

A Question Many Parents are Asking

Parents who have boys who are members of the Y.M.C.A. are no doubt, wondering what their boys are doing when at the Y.M.C.A.

On Thursday, the 21st inst., the boys of the Y. will give an exhibition of their work in the gymnasium.

There will be drills, marches, games, races, blindman's pillow fight, and sack basketball.

This exhibition will be an education to the parents and friends, who do not know what goes on at the Y.M.C.A.

The races will make plenty of excitement, while the sack basketball and the blind man's pillow fight are very amusing.

The ladies walking race promises to be the hit of the season.

The proceeds of this entertainment will be used for securing a number of new magazines for the boys' library.

Tickets can be had from any of the boys or at the Y.M.C.A. office.

CARNIVALS OF OLD

People have not grown too old yet to recall to their memory the grandeur of the Carnival Celebrations in Montreal.

The streets were alive with people, who laughed and chattered in the frosty but bracing air, until you'd have thought the whole town had gone mad, or that all the grown people had become children again. The great walls of the Ice Palace on Dominion Square loomed up in the darkness like wall and granite on a moonlight night, but all was quiet within. Twice around the silent castle marched the army of the Fire King, pausing at each gate and demanding in loud tones the surrender of King Borealis.

A refusal to surrender was in order, and as soon as the word was out there arose from the ranks of the attacking multitude a volley of of rockets and fiery explosives that you would have thought at least a thousand men were killed, and the light of which turned the snow-covered square into a field of silver, and made the beautiful Ice Palace stand out like a ghostly thing against the dark background of the winter sky. The next instant came the answering volley from the Ice King forces. From every window and port-hole streamed out the hissing rockets and popping balls of light from furiously shaken Roman candles and up over the walls of the Palace went huge canisters which, exploding in the air, sent showers of blue and purple drops of fire falling upon the heedless heads of the combatants.

What will such an attack be these days with all the new elements that have been introduced into the art of fireworks and with that radium-magic-like light, electricity, remains to be seen.

The Montreal Carnival of Winter Sports with the grandest of all Ice Palaces will last from February 10th to 20th 1909. It will be a lifetime's opportunity to appreciate the charming elements of a true winter scene in a country where the spring is delightful and where the prettiest roses are grown in summer.

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN PEARSON.

The death occurred this morning after a week's illness from peritonitis of Mrs. John Pearson, at her late residence, on the seventeenth concession of Smith. She was forty years of age and was the daughter of Mr. D. W. Blewett, of Smith, her maiden name being Jennie Blewett. She was woman highly respected for her many estimable qualities. Besides her husband, a large family is left to mourn her loss. Her parents also survive her. Mr. Milson Blewett, of this city, is a brother of deceased.

The funeral will take place on Monday at two o'clock from the family residence to the Little Lake cemetery.

Royal Bank Made Splendid Showing for the Year

The statement of the Royal Bank of Canada for the year ending Dec. 31st, last, published to-day, shows net profits of $740,775.50, being at the rate of 19.12 per cent. on the bank's capital of $3,900,000.

Deposits show an exceptionally large growth, and now total $37,443,441.59, an increase of more than $4,200,000 for the year.

The bank is in a very strong position, the liquid assets being $21,944,440.19, equal to 52.63 per cent. of total liabilities to the public.

The net earnings of the bank are the third largest of any Canadian bank, and its investments have proved very satisfactory and profitable. This is especially so in the case of the new head office building just put up the past year, and the fine building near the corner of King and Yonge streets in the heart of the business district of Toronto. The rental of the upper flats of these buildings produces a splendid return for the investment.

BELLEVILLE BEATEN BY BETTER BUNCH

Local Intermediates Had Little Difficulty in Winning From Visitors---The Score Was 5-0.

The OHA intermediate season opened here last night when the home team defeated Belleville 5-0, leading at the half, 3-0.

The visitors were not as strong as was expected and the locals had the game well in hand from the start. In fact they were able to win by playing hockey of an indifferent nature at times. The Belleville players appeared to realize the hopelessness of their ambition long before the gong sounded for the finish.

The game was remarkable in one respect at least and that had to do with the penalties. In the neighborhood of twenty-five were handed out, with an average time for each of about three minutes, which would total something over an hour.

The referee was Dr Gilfillen of Newmarket and he handed out a pretty square deal all around.

The checking was hard and there was considerable slashing and tripping. A couple of fights started among the players and they were nipped in the bud.

The attendance was in the neighborhood of six hundred and the gathering was quite enthusiastic. The majority of the fans had seen better hockey than was dished up but they enjoyed the contest for all that.

Leo Derocher gave a great exhibition of goal tending. He picked off everything that came his way and relieved in a manner that was good to see. Ahead of him was Glover, as reliable as ever and taking an occasional rush down the ice to show that he hadn't forgotten how to do it—and to score if possible.

"Jakie" Moore was at cover point and checked effectively, showing up well although he only had two practices.

Charlie Ray was great as rover and played brilliantly. He was checked heavily but stayed with it gamely. Dusty shone at left wing and Rose and Parnell were superior to the men they were up against.

With more practice the Peterborough team will make them all go some. It was hard to get a line on the seven last night however, as the visitors were never very dangerous and the winners took it rather lightly.

Belleville had a good defence but the forward line wasn't up to much. Pepper and Gilbert blocked numerous shots and rushes. Burke was good at rover and Reeves showed up well in the second half.

THE TEAMS

The teams lined up as follows:

PETERBOROUGH

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Glover.
Cover—Moore.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Parnell.
Right wing—Rose.
Left wing—Dusty.

BELLEVILLE

Goal—Boland.
Point—Pepper.
Cover—Dr Gilbert.
Rover—Burke.
Centre—Allen.
Right wing—Reeves.
Left wing—Spangenburg.

Referee—Dr Gilfillen, Newmarket.

SUMMARY.

1 Peterborough, Parnell 3 min.
2 Peterborough, Dusty, 20 min.
3 Peterborough, Dusty, 1 min.

Second Half.

4 Peterborough, Rae, 6 min.
5 Peterborough, Moore, 14 min.

HOW IT HAPPENED.

Peterborough rushed from the start and almost had a goal in a half minute. Boland blocked. Parnell scored in three minutes after a nice rush by Glover and Ray—1-0.

Moore started the penalty business with three minutes for a slash.

Rose was hurt about the head and retired for a few minutes, Spangenburg going off with him.

Pepper got three minutes in the box for cutting up and hardly got back on the ice when he got three minutes more.

Spengenburg was hurt and was carried off the ice. Rose was dropped until he came back.

Moore got another three minutes with the timers for wooding too much.

Dusty scored. Time 20 minutes—2-0.

Dusty repeated in one minute—3-0.

Burke went off for 4 minutes and when he came back Allen got three for a trip.

Moore got three minutes more of a rest Dusty and Burke were also benched for mixing up.

Gilbert tripped Ray and was chased to the fence amid hisses.

It was then half time.

SECOND HALF.

Parnell and Pepper both went to the fence soon after the opening of the second half.

Ray made some nice rushes and finally scored after a bit of combination with Dusty. Time 6 min—4-0.

Pepper, Dusty and Burke went to the penalty box, Pepper alone, and Dusty and Burke together.

Play was largely around the Belleville net and it looked as if Peterborough might have scored a half dozen.

Moore made a great rush up the right side and score in fourteen minutes—5-0.

Rose and Moore got breathing spells for being too strenuous. Rae was caught loafing and was chased for two minutes. Allen and Parnell also did time within the railing.

Moore was only on again a few minutes when he and Doc Gilbert made some passes at each other near the Belleville goal and were caught in the act. Result, more time with the timers.

Before the gong sounded for the finish Glover was put off for some misdeed that was hard to see.

The whistle sounded without any further scoring.

At one time Belleville had 6 men to 3 for four minutes but could not score. They were ineffective around the net or perhaps it was Derocher's good work. At any rate there was nothing doing.

PUCKLETS.

Jack Thornbeck had a fine sheet of ice.

Belleville players wore red sweaters, the locals blue.

Ray was one of the most effective men on the Peterborough team. The Belleville defence laid for him in the second half.

Although the penalty list was large no one was hurt to any extent. It was pretty much give and take all the way.

The Peterborough team should be able to beat Belleville in the Bay of Quinte city. But it will be a great struggle.

Ben Dusty did some great shooting from left wing. He had it on his man by a good deal.

COBOURG TRIMMED JUNIORS BY SCORE OF 14-3 IN THE LAKE TOWN LAST NIGHT

The Peterborough juniors didn't fare as well as the intermediates last night, and were beaten in Cobourg by the substantial score of 14—3. Cobourg won the game with a big majority, and had the better of the play, but the lop-sided score is no criterion of the play. Wade and Pentland were both forced to leave the ice through injuries. With Wade off five goals were scored and were netted with Pentland out of commission, so half the tallies were made with Peterborough's defence demoralized.

In the first half the struggle was see-saw all the time, and the crowd was greatly interested. Up to 1 minute of half time it stood 3—2 in favor of Cobourg. Pentland received a cut over the eye and retired, and the lake seven got two more, making the score 5—2. Porter was seized with cramps and had to retire in the first half.

In the second half it was all Cobourg as far as the scoring went, Peterborough only managing to get a solitary one, while their opponents run their score up to 14. In this half Wade had his eye hurt. It did not incapacitate him but bothered him greatly, and interfered with his effectiveness. Peterborough came short a man and Cobourg dropped one to even up.

For the winners Glidden and Doheny were the pick. Giroux, in goal, played a very fine game for Peterborough, and Wade and Shortt were always conspicuous. "Dick" Turpin of Cobourg gave satisfaction as referee.

The attendance was a particularly large one for a district junior match, over 1,200 seeing the game.

The teams were;

CURLING

The Examiner editorial staff has not accepted the challenge for a game of curling issued by the Review editorial room, and as the defi was distinctly stated and appeared on the sporting page of this paper it seems quite reasonable to assume that the Grit outfit has cold feet. The challenge is transferred to the Times or any other local newspaper.

MANY PRIZES.

Congratulations are being showered upon the Lindsay curlers by their friends on their triumphs at the Peterborough bonspiel. They arrived home on the flyer last night carrying with them four pairs of curlin stones, the first prize, which Mr. Little secured in his defeat of Mr. Flavelle besides a consignment of gold lockets won by Flavelle, and a set of ebony brushes by Mr. O'Connor.—Lindsay Post.

Port Hope, Jan 15—In a hard and fast junior league match tonight Port Hope defeated Whitby 2-0. For the winners Record, Hewson and McMillan starred. 'Nick' Lillie, of Toronto refereed to the satisfaction of all. For the losers Waugh and Jones were the choice but neither seven displayed much team play. The result puts Port Hope in the lead for the district. The line up;

Port Hope—Goal, Record; point, Nixon; cover, Hewson; centre, McMillan; rover, Brown; left Dow; right, Lowthian.

HOW TO REDUCE FAT PROPORTIONATELY

Proportion is the thing. A fat woman yearns to reduce her abdomen but she doesn't want to produce a scrawny neck. This fact condemns the dieting method of reducing. You can't starve the fat off one place and not off another. Simply impossible. But why try dieting, or even exercising when there is a better way of reducing fat than either.

Try the following;—One-half ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 4 3-4 ounces Peppermint Water. Any druggist will fill the above cheaply. Take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime and see if in a few weeks you are not losing about a pound of fat a day—not from places where you are normally plump but from those that are overly fat. The receipt works like a charm I am told, and though it produces delightfully apparent results yet it is perfectly harmless. Doesn't even cause wrinkles they say who have used it nor interfere with one's diet which are two other exclusive and important matters it possesses over all other fat reducers I ever heard of. Instead of being harmful in fact, as so many of the advertised remedies are, it improves the health and appetite and complexion.

Probing Suicide.

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—The Ontario Government has ordered C. W. Mitchell of Ottawa to appear in connection with the case of Hilmer the civic official, who committed suicide a fortnight ago. The unfortunate man had mortgaged practically all his household effects to Mitchell, and it is stated that financial embarrassment led to his suicide.

Inspector Rogers is working on behalf of the Government, and has unearthed facts in connection with the affair which in his opinion justifies action by the province. Many other loans have been negotiated locally along the lines of the Hilmer case.

Man Frozen to Death.

Winnipeg, Jan. 16.—Thomas Walker, a Scotchman, was frozen to death, and two Galicians were badly frozen, one of whom will lose a foot and part of his hands, and the other a part of one foot, as the result of leaving their lumber camps about 100 miles north of here to walk to Winnipegosis.

They were lost on the lake and in the bush for 15 days. The Galicians were found lying on ice by some fishermen. Walker left them while lost on the lake and no trace of him has been seen since. They were without food for ten days.

Wiarton Cement Company Failure.

Wiarton, Jan. 16.—The Colonial Portland Cement Co. has assigned to E. R. C. Clarkson of Toronto and a winding-up order has been granted. The step did not cause any great commotion here, as it had been anticipated for some time.

At present there are from 8,000 to 10,000 barrels of unfinished cement, known as clinkers, at the works, along with 800 barrels of the finished product. All of this, it is understood, is held by the Union Bank.

Brantford Citizens' League.

Brantford, Jan. 16.—The organization of a citizens' league, with the one object of carrying local option here, was effected Thursday night. Announcement was made that the fight would cover the entire County of Brant. Officers elected were: President, C. F. Verity; vice-president, Dr. Nichol; secretary, C. B. Hitchon; treasurer, A. Moyer; council, Henry Yeigh, Fred Mann and John T. Ham.

WILL PRESENT REPORT FOR HALF YEAR

The Fire, Water and Light Committee of the new council will likely meet for the first time on Monday night. At the meeting Fire Chief Howard will present a report for the half year from July 1st to December 31st.

Gave Wrong Verdict

AGED FARMER HAS NARROW ESCAPE FROM PREMATURE DEATH.

One of the most ancient families of the British nobility has for its motto "Dum Spiro Spero" ("While I breathe I hope"); and surely this might well be taken as the battle cry of every sufferer from Lung disease in this fair Canada of ours.

That many lives have been allowed to sink into the grave by default, especially in cases of Lung trouble, is apparent from the constant testimony of those who after having received such a verdict, by the use of PSYCHINE have been restored to complete health and vigor, and who have proved that the doctor's judgment was erroneous, by living to a good and robust old age.

Such a case is that of Mr. John Radford, of Ruskview, Co. Dufferin, Ont., who some years ago had reached such a low state of health that his medical attendant assured him that his Lungs were so seriously affected that it was absolutely useless for him to take any more medicine; and in fact that nothing more could be done for him. It was at this point that Mr. Radford started to use PSYCHINE. In a very short time his health began to improve, the Lung trouble disappeared, and he was soon able to go out to work on the farm again.

On August 24th of this year Mr. Radford writes: "If it had not been for your PSYCHINE, I would have been in my grave years ago. I have had no need of any more medicine since, as I have enjoyed perfect health. I am now 82 years of age, and feel quite smart. I recommend PSYCHINE to all sufferers from Lung disease as a SURE CURE."

Such evidence as the above cannot be gainsaid. It is genuine, convincing, and conclusive; but why not get a sample bottle and prove its merits for yourself?

PSYCHINE is an infallible remedy for all disorders of Throat, Lungs and Stomach. Sold by all druggists and dealers at 50c. and $1. Prepared only by Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, of Toronto.

Toronto is the dearest place in the world—to live in.

The Montreal Ice Palace will cost seven thousand dollars and will be built by Chas Thackeray and Company.

NO MORE HEADACHES

Suffered From Constant Headaches—Cured by "Fruit-a-tives" When Doctors Failed.

"I was a sufferer from fearful headaches for over two years, sometimes they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicines, was treated by physicians, and yet the headaches persisted. I was rarely free from headache. A short time ago I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so with, I must confess, very little faith, but after I had taken them for three days my headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of the tablets my headaches were quite cured. My appetite was always poor and my stomach bad, and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion is excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant headaches, but now not only have I been cured of all these awful headaches, but my strength is growing up once more, and I feel like a new man. I have taken in all three boxes of "Fruit-a-tives." I am exceedingly grateful to "Fruit-a-tives" for curing me, and I give this unsolicited testimonial with great pleasure, as I hope thereby some other sufferer of headaches will be induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and will be cured."

LADIES' WELCOME BIBLE CLASS ADDRESS AND PRESENTATION

The members of the Ladies' Welcome Adult Bible Class of the George street Methodist church to the number of sixty met at the home of their teacher, Mr W C Switzer, Weller street last night and spent a most enjoyable evening. The first thing on the programme was the reports from the different committees which showed a marked increase in every department, following which the election of officers took place which resulted as follows:

Teacher—Mr W C Switzer.

Assistant Teacher —Mrs S R Armstrong.

Hon-Pres—Mrs W C Switzer.

President—Mrs Fife.

Vice-Pres—Mrs W J Devins.

Rec-Sec—Mrs W H Cunningham.

Fin-Treas—Mrs Fisher.

The last two were elected by acclamation

Convenor Membership — Miss K Thornton.

Con Social—Mrs S A Oke.

Con Devotional—Mrs F Moore.

Con Flower Committee — Miss Middleton.

There was a short programme of music, readings, solos and speeches in the midst of which Mr and Mrs Switzer were asked to come forward while Mrs Devins read the following address;—

Peterborough, Jan 15, 1909.

Mr W C Switzer,

Dear Teacher—

The members of the Welcome Bible class of the George street Methodist Sunday school desire to give united expression to their appreciation of your work as their teacher and their gratitude for the time and effort you give to the work of the class.

We recognize to have charge of a class as large as this one, makes large demands upon your time, especially when the work is conducted with the success that has attended this class for so many years as shown by its growth in membership and the large attendance every Sunday. Your instruction has been appreciated by and has been very helpful to us. The knowledge that we have gained by your teaching and by the inspiration to study that is imparted by your guidance in learning the scripture lessons has been of great value and will benefit us always.

The friendly and social spirit that prevails in the class is also largely owing to yourself and Mrs Switzer, as is also the benevolent work that is carried on under the auspices of the class and which has been so helpful to a large number of people. We earnestly hope that you will for many years remain in charge of this class and continue the good work for our Lord and Master which you have conducted with marked success and as a tangible evidence of our esteem for you and Mrs Switzer and our appreciation of your work for us, we ask you to accept the accompanying gifts.

Signed on behalf of the class,

MRS W J DEVINS,

President.

Mrs Hartley presented Mr Switzer with a handsome electric reading lamp and Mrs Zepp presented Mrs. Switzer with a beautiful jardiniere and palm, and a handsome hand-painted plate from Mrs Hounsell. Mr. Switzer replied in a few well chosen words for Mrs Switzer and himself, thanking the class for their expressions of appreciation the more so because it was entirely unexpected.

The class sang altogether, "He's a jolly good fellow."

There were a few short speeches from Mr J Thornton, Mr T W Robinson, S R Armstrong, Rev E A Pearson.

The evening was brought to a close singing God be with you till we meet again. Mr Pearson closed with the benediction.

DO JUST WHAT IS CLAIMED FOR THEM

That's What Joseph Macklin Says of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They Cured His Neuralgia, Cramped Muscles and Heart Disease From Which He Had Suffered for Two Years.

St Paul, De Metz, Alta, Jan 15—Special— "Dodd's Kidney Pills have done for me all that is claimed for them." So says Joseph Macklin, a well farmer of this district. "I was ill for over six years with Neuralgia, Cramps in my muscles, Backache and Heart Disease. I called on different doctors but got no help. I heard that Dodd's Kidney Pills were meant for just such cases as mine and bought eight boxes of them. Now I feel just like a new man. I recommend them to all as a sure cure for Rheumatism and all troubles arising from diseased Kidneys.

Thousands of farmers all over the west relate similar experiences to that given by Mr Macklin. They find that Dodd's Kidney Pills do just what is claimed for them—cure all diseased Kidneys and all diseases arising from diseased Kidneys.

12 Tumors Removed Without an Operation

Silver Lake, Ontario, September 20, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah:—

"I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms, I am very grateful for my present health, and I think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."

Mrs. Louis E. Bolteridge.

ORANGE LILY

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment, and comes in direct contact with the organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders including painful periods, falling of the womb, leuchorrea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 day's treatment absolutely free to any woman who has not yet tried it if she will send me her address.

Address with stamp.

LAKE SIMCOE—BALSAM LAKE DIVISION.

The above list of locks does not by any means constitute the entire number of locks on the Trent Canal. For instance, on the Lake Simcoe (Balsam Lake division, there are five locks between Lake Simcoe and the Kirkfield hydraulic lift lock, of which no mention has been made above. This is owing to the fact that a record on the lockages at Kirkfield indicates pretty much the volume of traffic through the other five locks on that division.

PETERBOROUGH—LAKEFIELD DIVISION.

There are five locks on this division that are not mentioned in the above list. The records of the Lakefield lock and the Peterborough hydraulic lift lock indicate the amount of traffic in the remaining five locks on this division.

PAST YEAR THE MOST SUCCESSFUL

In History of St. Paul's Sunday School--Excellent Reports

The annual meeting of St. Paul's Sunday school was held a few nights ago, when a large number of the teachers and officers of the Sabbath school were present. Mr. W. Madill, the superintendent, was in the chair.

The reports presented showed that the past year had been the best in the history of St. Paul's congregation. The superintendent's report showed a total enrolment of 479, with an average attendance of 333. The record of the various departments of the school is as follows;—

	On roll.	Average
Intermediate	132	103
Bible class	190	105
Young Men's Class	20	15
Kindergarten	49	35
Primary	57	43
Teachers	29	27
Officers	6	5

During the year 46 members of the school united with the church. Master Hugh Carmichael repeated the whole of the shorter catechism at one sitting, and Mina Clark attended every Sabbath during the year.

The contributions to missions have shown a decided increase. The Home Department has a membership of 100, and the cradle roll a membership of 42.

A large number of Chinamen of the city are being taught at St. Paul's Sunday school.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are;—

Superintendent—Mr. W. Madill.
Asst. Supt.—J. A. Lillie.
Sec.-Treas.—H. O. Fiske.
Librarian—J. H. Connal.
Pianist—Miss F. Scott.

NOT SO BADLY HURT AS WAS FIRST THOUGHT

Mr. Finch Miller left last night to join his son, Walter, who was injured in a railway wreck. Mrs. Miller received a telegram to-day from Mr. Miller, stating that Walter was not injured as seriously as was first noted. He was in the hospital and was progressing favorably.

Long vs. Short Sleeves

Notwithstanding that long sleeves have been declared modish for all but ball gowns, one sees short sleeves in the majority of theatre frocks, and there is no gainsaying the fact that they are prettier, their grace enhanced by the long glove rippling to above the elbow. The short glove is really hideous in the evening, and long sleeves do not convey the idea of full dress, no matter how elaborately made nor of what sheer materials. It is encouraging to see that American women have the independence to revert to what is becoming and graceful, rather than to follow, sheeplike wherever French makers choose to lead.

Cartwright and Hepworth repealed local option but an explanation of the facts of the case are interesting. These villages have been incorporated recently, and hence manage their own municipal affairs. When the last campaign was an issue, Cartwright and Hepworth were parts of the township, but each gave an adverse vote on the bylaw. In the recent vote the villages voted against local option, but this is exactly what they have always done.

In no place in the Province has a local option bylaw, once passed, been repealed.

In 55 places where local option was voted on for the first time, 22 places were carried; in 20 others a majority vote was polled; but only in 13 places did the liquor interests win.

In eighty-four contests the net result was;

Total votes for local option	26,905
Total votes against local op'	18,258

OWEN SOUND.

The result of the campaign for the repeal of the local option bylaw in the town of Owen Sound is one well calculated to make every opponent of the bar-room take courage. This is the largest town in Ontario in which local option has been tried. It has been in operation there for three years The Mayor, Council, Police and all the officials have been unfriendly. Every possible effort has been made to discredit the temperance law. The liquor interests have pointed to Owen Sound from all quarters of the Province as an example of the failure of local option. It was declared that when the time came for a repeal vote and the people had a chance to pronounce on the question they would settle for all time the question of temperance legislation for Owen Sound.

What is the result. Local option is sustained by a vote several hundred in excess of that by which it came in three years ago. Not only that, but the anti-temperance Mayor and nearly all his colleagues on the council failed to be re-elected. Owen Sound having been made a test case by the liquor interests, they having bent all their energies in the direction of securing a verdict there, as an example to the rest of the province, the temperance workers may well be encouraged by the result.

BRANTFORD

In this city a local option by-law should have been submitted, but was thrown out by an unfriendly city council. As a result the temperance question became an issue at the recent municipal election.

Result—Of a council of fifteen members, the Mayor and ten other members are pledged temperance advocates

LAKEFIELD

Locally the result of the vote in the village of Lakefield is very gratifying. It is a well known fact that there the officials have been unfriendly. Determined efforts have been made for the past three years to so manage things as to lead the general public to believe that, the local option bylaw was a failure. The people here as in Owen Sound, have given a decisive answer. The temperance law has been sustained by a good majority and a council thoroughly in sympathy has been elected. The bar-room is doomed.

NO BAR ROOMS

In connection with the recent vote in the city of Toronto, as a result of which forty bars are to be cut off, it may be of interest to many to know that there are at present in that city just about that number of hotels in which there are no bars. Of these, ten are illustrated in a recent Toronto paper, and the statement is made that these ten furnish more accommodation than fifty licensed houses that could be named.

DISEASE COMES THROUGH THE BLOOD

To Cure Common Ailments the Blood Must be Made Rich and Red.

Nearly all the diseases that afflict mankind are caused by bad blood, weak watery blood poisoned by impurities. Bad blood is the cause of headaches and backaches, lumbago and rheumatism, debility and indigestion, neuralgia and other nerve troubles, and the disfiguring skin diseases like eczema and salt rheum that show how impure the blood actually is. It is no use trying a different medicine for each disease because they all spring from one cause—bad blood. To cure any of these diseases you must get right down to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is just what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do. They make new, rich blood. That is why they cure these diseases when common medicines fail. Mr. Henry Baker, Chipman, N.B., says;—"About a year ago I was so weak and miserable that I thought I would not live to see spring again. I could neither work, eat nor sleep. My blood was in a terrible condition. My entire body broke out with pimples and small boils that would itch and pain and cause me great trouble. I went to the doctor and tried several medicines but to no effect. I was almost in despair, when one day a friend asked me why I did not try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I decided to try them and took altogether eight boxes. By the time I had finished them I was like a different man. They not only purified and enriched my blood but built up my whole system and I have not had a pimple on my flesh nor a sick day since."

To enrich the blood you must get the genuine Pills with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper around the box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50c a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AN INCIDENT OF THE PRAIRIES

Hirsch, Sask., Jan. 4.

During the night of Dec. 29th and the day following a severe blizzard raged over southern Sask. which made it very dangerous to be out doors, both on account of the intense cold and also the fine driving snow which made it almost impossible to discern even the nearest objects. On the night mentioned a young man named Sneller who had been workimng on the Moose Creek bridge near Oxbow, left the train at Hirsch intending to walk out to his father's farm about four miles north-east of here. His friends in town urged him not to go as the night was absolutely unfit for such a trip. As he had some provisions which he wanted to take home and as he wanted to get back to town to catch the east bound train in the morning, he started on his long trail in spite of the warning of his friends. On Thursday, two days following, as the section men were going to work they noticed a dark object lying a few yards from the track, and thinking it was a horse blanket, went to secure it; when they found it to be the body of young sneller.

The parcels he had been carrying were found some distance away where he had dropped them on becoming exhausted. The snow was tramped in a great circle where he had wandered, and it looked as though he had struggled along on his hands and knees for some time before the end came. The body was taken to Frobisher where an inquest was held, although from the first it was plainly evident that death had been caused by exposure.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

CRIMES OF A MINISTER CHARGES ARE SERIOUS

Detectives From Canada, U.S., and England Are Hot on Trail of Rev. Evan T. Evans, Once Pastor in Sarnia—Charged With Leading Girl Astray.

Windsor, Jan. 18.—Detectives from Canada, the United States and Scotland Yard are diligently searching for Rev. Evan T. Evans, up to a short time ago attached to St. John's Episcopal Church, Sarnia.

Rev. Mr. Evans came to Sarnia, presumably from a city in eastern Canada some eighteen months ago. Posing as a bachelor, he at once became extremely popular with the ladies of his congregation. To one of them, Miss Nellie St. Clair Davis, his attentions were most marked.

On Sept. 26th last Miss Davis quietly left home and Evans did likewise 24 hours later. The two met in a town in Niagara County, N.Y., and were married, afterwards proceeding to Cleveland, where the clergyman succeeded in inducing his bride to turn over to him a large sum in cash which she had. Then he sent the girl back to her home in Sarnia, after exacting a promise that she keep the wedding a secret until he could secure another parish.

This was the last anyone in Sarnia saw or heard of the clergyman. No word came from him, and under the stress of her secret and failure to receive the promised letters young Mrs. Evans sickened and died. This was only a few weeks ago.

With the lowering into the grave of the body the people of Sarnia generally hoped that the scandal would be hushed for all time, but it is again revived by the statement now made that the 16-year-old daughter of one of Evans' former parishioners charges her downfall to the missing clergyman. The latest developments have decided the church authorities to take action in the case, and the matter has been turned over to the police with a full description of Evans. The authorities of Niagara County, New York, where Evans' bigamous marriage occurred, are also to be urged to act.

Evans has a wife and four children in Landpeter, Wales, but this fact only became known after search of his effects, left behind at Sarnia, had disclosed letters from across the sea.

HAD TO ESCAPE IN NIGHT ROBES

Fire at Home of Mr. S. S. Brown, Outside City Limits---House and Contents Destroyed---No Hydrant Was Within Reach.

At about one o'clock on Saturday night the sky was illuminated by a fire a short distance from the city at the residence of Mr S SBrown, a teamster for the Auburn Mills. So bright and wide was the glare that the citizens thought the Auburn woollen mills were on fire. The house which is the property of Mr. David Hesslip was destroyed with its contents. The house was valued at $900, and the contents at $400, with insurance. The alarm was sent in from box 59 which is the last one north, near the Auburn mills. The scene of the fire was about 4000 feet from the nearest hydrant so a line of hose could not be laid to fight it and chemicals had to be used.

If the brigade had had a chemical engine the flames could have been stayed but they had made considerable headway on the frame dwelling when the fire fighters arrived and with the limited apparatus at their disposal it was impossible for the brigade to check the fire with chemicals. However, the chemicals were applied to the houses nearby and no damage was done to any of these.

When the situation was summed up, the sleighs were sent back to the fire hall but Chief Howard and three men stayed until two o'clock when the danger appeared to be all over. The Chief left the ladders till daylight in case they might possibly be needed.

At about 12.20 on Sunday morning Mr Brown was aroused by the smell of smoke. This was the first clue to the fire which started in the kitchen but the cause is unknown. He and his wife and five children went out into the snow clad in nothing but their night clothes.

The neighbors were soon awakened but could do nothing to check the progress of the fire and the alarm was sent in, the fire brigade making the long run in quick time.

The unfortunate householders were cared for by their neighbors.

VESSEL LOST IN A GALE OFF LONG ISLAND COST

Wreckage Strewn Over Beach Shows That Ship With Her Crew of Five or Six Went Ashore and Was Pounded to Pieces.

New York, Jan. 18.—In a biting, driving snowstorm off the Long Island shore, the schooner Swallow of St. John's, Nfld., and her crew, was lost yesterday, according to evidence furnished by a turbulent sea which has strewn the beach east of Fire Island for several miles with bits of wreckage from the ship itself and from her cargo.

On some of this flotsam appeared the name "Swallow, St. John's, Nfld." and this told the beachman who found the wreckage what vessel it was that had pounded itself to pieces in a few short hours in the howling gale.

Of the crew, probably five or six, judging from the schooner's size with its attending bitter cold left no doubt in the minds of the beachmen as to the crew's fate. No human power could have aided them.

It was at two o'clock yesterday morning while a patrolman from the Blue Point life-saving station, a few miles east of Fire Island, was toiling through the storm, on the lookout for trouble at sea, that he saw some black objects tossing about close to shore. He hauled some of them in, and finding it was new wreckage hurried back to his station to report and secure aid. Other beachmen were soon on the scene, hauling in the flotsam and making a study of it. There were timbers, new lumber, frozen herring and fishing tackle and finally they came upon a sign board or two which told the vessel's name. The life-savers stood by and patrolled the beach all day in the hope that they might find some trace of the crew, but nightfall came, and their quest had been in vain.

It is supposed the Swallow, presumably a fishing boat, was bound from Newfoundland to New York with a cargo of frozen herring and that she carried a deckload of lumber to help make her trip pay. Caught in the storm, the crew probably lost their bearings and struck on one of the many sand bars a mile or so off shore, near the Blue Point station. There the wind and heavy seas pounded the vessel to pieces in a short time and the men aboard were speedily lost in the sea.

The Swallow, according to the marine register, was a small schooner of 73 tons. She was built 30 years ago at Moses River, and was owned by John Dawson of St. John's. Nfld.

RATIFY THE PACT

Dandurand Reports That French Senate Will Pass It.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Hon. Raoul Dandurand, ex-Speaker of the Senate, who was giving the Canadian Finance Minister a helping hand with the Franco-Canadian treaty negotiations in Paris, returned home yesterday, and says that Mr. Fielding authorized him to say to the Canadian people that the treaty would be ratified by the French Senate.

So far the discussion has not proceeded further than the customs committee of the Senate and here is where the block took place. Senator Dandurand says that the Minister of Commerce, who signed the treaty with Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur, had left that Department and had taken the portfolio of public instruction, consequently his successor, M. Cruppi, while loyal to his colleagues, did not have that interest as his predecessor, and when it is considered that Ministerial responsibility is different in France, it is evident that Mr. Fielding has had a pretty difficult task to overcome.

The ex-Speaker of the Senate says, however, that after three weeks of hard work keeping in constant telegraphic touch with Ottawa and the Imperial Foreign Office. Mr. Fielding has been able to smooth over the difficulties and is confident that the Senate ratification will not be long delayed.

BOURASSA WAS BLACK-BALLED

English Members of Garrison Club Council Are Indignant at Such Action.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Generally, newspapers refrain from announcing blackball incidents at social clubs, but in the case of Henri Bourassa, M.P.P., who was shut out of the Garrison Club at Quebec the other day, the contrary is the case. L'Evenement says in reference to the matter:

"The Garrison Club council is composed of eight English and eight French-Canadians and the result of the ballot showed that nine white and three black balls had been deposited, resulting in the rejection of Henri Bourassa's name.

"Who committed this piece of folly, we are unable to answer the question, as the ballot was a secret one. We know, however, that eight English-speaking gentlemen and one French-Canadian were expressing the greatest indignation over the result of the vote. The three French-Canadians who expressed no indignation are, it is stated, personal friends of Hon. Mr. Turgeon, and while we do not attribute to the Minister of Crown Lands the responsibility of the act, we are sure that his friends did not render him any great service in blackballing Mr. Bourassa.

"As a matter of fact, the members of the club are generally indignant at the council's action and there is a petition in circulation asking that the matter be considered by a general meeting of the club. Armand Lavergne, M.P.P., who proposed the name of his friend for membership, has resigned from the club."

BRING STRANGE STORY OF PIRACY AND MURDER

Victoria, B.C., Jan. 18.—News of a plot to pirate the schooner Louise J. Kenny and murder Capt. Hendley was given by Thos. F. Dunn, a Sydney engineer, who was a passenger on the steamer Aorangi, wharved yesterday, to Suva, to give evidence against the plotters, Mortimer and Taylor, two men who are on trial at the Fijian port for the piracy of the Peruvian schooner Neuever Tegre from Callao, and murder of her master and mate, who were thrown overboard by Mortimer.

The pirates were little acquainted with navigation. They used an eight day clock for a chronometer and sailed into the South Seas, and their vessel was wrecked in a Panama lagoon on the Gilbert Island, where the suspicions of the traders who visited the wrecked schooner, which was without registered clearance or flag, with the name White Rose obviously painted over the former name, were aroused.

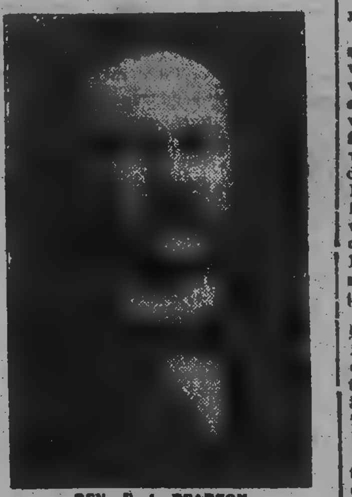
Taylor, breaking down under questioning, confessed the piracy and murder. Commissioner Murdoch at Tarawa arranged with Capt. Hendley of the Louise J. Kenny to carry the two men to Tarawa. Mortimer, who seemed to make Taylor his tool, informed him he had planned to seize the Louise J. Kenny to replace the wrecked "Neuever Tegre," stolen from Callao, and kill Capt. Hendley, retaining the white cook to force him to act as mate and keeping the native crew of sixteen until they could be landed and replaced by other unacquainted with the piracy. Taylor saw an opportunity to scribble a note which he tossed through the skylight into Capt Hendley's cabin where it was afterwards found by the captain, who mustered his crew and put the men in irons.

"COURAGE" SUBJECT OF THE ANNUAL CIVIC SERMON

Preached at George St. Church Last Night by Rev. E. A. Pearson—Heroism Regarded as the Greatest of All the Virtues.

"Many men who had held positions of public trust are in oblivion today as far as public life is concerned, because they could not resist the voice and influence of their friends. It is easy to take a stand against one's enemies, but it requires courage to resist the voice of one's friends."

The above was one of the statements of Rev E A Pearson, in his sermon to the aldermen and civic officials at George street church last night. It was the annual civic sermon and His Worship Mayor Rush, a good number of the Aldermen and several of the civic officials attended in a body. There was a large congregation.



REV. E. A. PEARSON

Who Preached the Annual Civic Sermon at George St. Church Last Night.

Rev Mr Pearson chose as his text the sixth verse of the first chapter of Joshua. "Be strong and of a good courage."

Before dealing with his theme he welcomed the civic representatives very heartily to George street church, and asked that the blessing of Him, upon whom the government of the world rested, be upon the city and its representatives during the year.

Dealing with the text, Mr Pearson said that in the Word of God, courage was regarded as the greatest of the virtues. Both in perception and example the Bible showed that heroism was the greatest of the virtues. In fact, the Latin word 'virtus,' from which the English word valour, was derived, meant valour or bravery. The Bible contained many examples of heroism. The life of Jesus Christ, was perhaps the greatest story of courage ever written. The apostle Paul was a hero, and there were many other examples that might be quoted.

There was more than one kind of bravery. Courage was not fearlessness. A man might not be afraid because he was not aware of the danger they were facing. True courage was in knowing the danger and facing it bravely. There was another kind of bravery besides the heroism of the battle field. In pagan and barbarian times the warrior hero was about the only kind but it was different today. There were heroes in other fields. They were true heroes, who perhaps, alone, fought and conquered the trials of the world. The speaker quoted several examples in this connection. It was the coward who murmured and turned back when he found those around him strong against or being indifferent to the reforms he espoused or the work he was trying to do, believing they were right. It was the hero who was able to stand alone. It was the hero who was able to overcome the temptation and desire to go astray in the every day walk of life.

The music was of a special nature, and added greatly to the service. During the offertory Miss Reesor sang, "The Holy City" in splendid voice and a ladies quartette was also of a very high standard of excellence. The National Anthem was the closing hymn.

Montreal Paper Angry Over Article in Argentine Paper.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—The commercial community here think the Government should take steps to prevent in future the publication of the erroneous statements going the rounds of the Spanish newspapers, notably in the Argentine Republic. In a recent editorial one of these read:

"The observations relating to Canada, published by Dr. O'Farrell, are absolutely correct. Canada is a great agricultural country, but is completely dead during the six winter months. He was in Montreal last year at the beginning of September, and the River St. Lawrence was frozen over, while navigation was at a standstill. He left Montreal the following April and the St. Lawrence was still frozen."

The paper adds: "What a difference in our country, as here we do not know what snow is, and where the flocks and herds can remain out doors all the year round."

MINING BROKER FOUND GUILTY

Toronto Mining Broker Convicted After Four Minutes.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—Frank Law, the mining broker was found guilty by the jury at the sessions Saturday afternoon, after eight minutes' deliberation of the charge of conspiring with W. L. Russell to cheat and defraud the public, in connection with the flotation of the Highland Mary Mining Co.

T. H. Lennox, after the verdict was given, gave immediate notice of appeal on the ground of the arrangement made with Law by the crown to give evidence in the extradition proceedings against Russell at the Police Court about a year ago.

Mr. Lennox asked that Law be admited to bail, but Judge Winchester said he could not grant that, otherwise the Court of Appeal would not hear Mr. Lennox when he made his application. Law consequently remains in custody pending the decision of the court.

DID NOT HAVE ANYTHING TO EAT FOR OVER 48 HOURS

Richard Price did not have anything to eat from Saturday at noon until this morning after 10 o'clock and yet he said that he was not hungry. Price appeared at the police court this morning, charged with being drunk in a public place. He was arrested on Saturday afternoon.

He promised that if allowed to go, he would return at once to the farm near Hastings where he is employed.

It was not that the police would not give the prisoner anything to eat yesterday but Price did not want anything he evidently being able to live on less than anybody else.

REVIEW WAS MISINFORMED

Mr. T. Hooper Will Not Enlarge His Upper George St. Premises

The item appearing in Saturday evening's Review to the effect that it was understood that Mr T. Hooper, the local restaurateur, would enlarge his premises by acquiring Jordan Bros. store was wrong, the reporter having been misinformed. As a matter of fact, Jordan Bros. will vacate their present premises but not for the purpose of allowing Mr Hooper to enlarge his place of business.

PRESENTATION TO MISS LANCASTER

On Sunday morning the hymn for those at sea was sung in connection with the journey to England of a member of the choir, Mr. Wm. Coleman. After Evensong an interesting event took place in the vestry, when the rector, on behalf of the choristers of St. John's, presented Miss Florence Lancaster with a handsome piece of plate on the occasion of her leaving the choir. Miss Lancaster's marriage is announced and will take place in the near future, and she will reside in Montreal. Best wishes were expressed by the choir for her future happiness. Her departure will be very much regretted.

DREADNOUGHTS OF BRITAIN

Only One Old Vessel Now Remains on North Sea Station.

London, Jan. 18.—Just as England was the first to have a Dreadnought, so she is before all other nations in having a fleet of these, the most modern of fighting ships.

With the commissioning of the new battleship Lord Nelson, and her assignment to the Nore division of the home fleet, the first line of defence against a possible attack from across the North Sea, that fleet, in the words of a British admiral, became "a combination of strength and homogeneity unequalled, ship for ship, in the world's fleets."

A year ago the Nore division, which is under the command of Vice-Admiral Sir Francis Bridgman, consisted of the Dreadnought, which had hardly completed her trials, the Bulwark, London, Magnificent, Majestic and Victorious. During the year the new battleship Agamemenon and the armored cruisers Indomitable and Inflexible, which are to all intents and purposes, battleships, replaced older vessels, and last week the Lord Nelson relieved the Magnificent, leaving the Victorious the only representative of the pre-Dreadnought era to Admiral Bridgman's command.

Before midsummer it is anticipated the fleet will be further strengthened by the Dreadnaught battleships Temeraire, Bellerophon and Superb.

A NEW SCIENCE

It may seem odd to say it, but in most countries of the world farming is merely a question of toil. Whether it is that necessity is the mother of invention or not the fact remains that increasing population means increasing productivity, and the application of more brains to the hitherto common work of the farm. Intensive farming will supply this demand. Men who seek a wider field for their intellectual energies than the farm will be able to find a field literally on the farm. A miniature experimental station and laboratory will be connected with every farm some day. Then will come the days of "scientific farming." When these days come the ambitious youth of energy and brains will be able to satisfy his longings at home on a farm. At present farming, unless out of the ordinary, as in the case of breeding fine cattle, &c., is a yearly round of commonplace that palls upon men of quick intellectual faculties. The farming "profession" is not, generally speaking, as yet on a level with other professions or indeed with mechanical work or commercial work. It must rise to their level, and when it does no vocation will rival it. The Bobcaygeon Independent is of this opinion and severely scores the "dull clay" that neglects its opportunities to improve its farming methods. Canadian farming, broadly speaking, is very primitive. It is not far removed from that of the dawn-age man. In remote districts it is so uninteresting as to produce insanity. When intellectual farming begins the golden age of mankind will begin. Every phase of human happiness is comprised in it as in no other occupation.

THE LAPSE IN FAITH

Further advices to hand indicate an extraordinary lapse of faith in Germany. Roman Catholics and Lutherans alike have apparently resolved suddenly to "let the churches go." It is rapidly becoming the custom there also to be married at the mayor's office only. France and Germany are both "waking up as a man out of a slumber," as one journal puts it. It is openly averred in both countries that the Christian faith is unwarranted. How this will affect missionary enterprises it will not be hard to figure out. This is a practical age and the people have looked for results which have not come. The late lapse suddenly developed at the Christmas services when the churches of all denominations were ignored. Revivals are talked of throughout the empire, but the people pretend to laugh at the idea. It is a most serious state of affairs.

LOCAL OPTION

The local optionists are beginning a serious and systematic campaign in the city. Polling will take place early in the New Year. There can be no question that there is a feeling that too few licensees "keep hotel." Some are inclined to look for the bar trade only. This has helped to develop the feeling that the licensing of places for the sale of liquor over a bar has no longer the excuse of being part and parcel of hotel life. We hope, if local option is determined on that the supineness characteristic of the prosecuting authorities in the days of the Scott Act will not come in again. Even the most scoffing of criminals has respect for law, well-administered, but the Scott Act as worked out in Peterborough was an exhibition of weakness amounting to a scandal. If we are to have Local Option as the trend of public opinion at present, appears to indicate then let it be enforced and we have no doubt it will be enforced so far as our inspector and the police can enforce a law that is regarded by a large proportion of the population as an invasion of their individual rights. The old idea, however that a member of a municipality had a right to do as he pleased is passing. He must do and in many cases rightly so, as the majority pleases. It is the incident of communal life. When a man becomes one of an incorporated company or municipality he must yield to the majority in it. However, this much must be said. When the supply of licensed houses of entertainment is cut off what are we to have in their place? The majority should think this matter out thoroughly. Then there is something farther to consider, as the Toronto Star pointed out recently. The bar is to many men a club in which they congregate, drink, talk, smoke, etc. When these men are turned adrift with the old craving still upon them what is to become of them? Amusement must be found for all that part of the population which finds its present form of amusement gone. Customs cannot be uprooted in a day. Then to prevent the rendering of the law innocuous to those most concerned penalties must be stiffened. Unless breaking the law is found "not to pay" it will be broken. That is the way of the world. The dive-keepers must be "terrorized" by the fate awaiting them. Otherwise secret drinking will go on as it did under the Scott Act when it was much farther-reaching, more harmful and more horrible in its worst consequences than in the days of the open bar. We say this because we know it to be true. It is doubtful if many of our local optionists have given this matter sufficient attention. The number of cellars that became secret drinking-holes was surprising. In horror they exceeded all previous records. The fact of it too seldom became known to the Public except when a few "drunks" staggered up to the daylight and wandered home. In Water street in those terrible days, we have seen as many as twenty drunken wrecks wandering along on the Sabbath Day. Congregations were frequently faced by as a frightful an exhibition of drunkenness as ever existed before. In rural municipalities secret drinking places cannot very well be carried on. In centres of population it is exceedingly difficult to stamp them out. "Why" it is frequently asked "are there more arrests for drunkenness in license districts than in local option districts?" In the first place we do not know this to be true. But one explanation of it if it is true, is that dives keep their drunks until they sober up. To send them into the daylight drunk, would be to incur a useless and serious risk. Therefore if we are to have local option every phase of it must be provided for. Never again we hope shall we be degraded by such an exhibition of human weakness, ten times worse than existed in the days of licenses as was afforded in the days of the Scott Act, nor do we want any Owen Sound performances here. If we are to "ring in the new" let it also be the true and then possibly we may find that people are reformed by legislation after all, in which case let us have more of it.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The lockmaster at Young's Point reports that last year eight tons of whiskey passed through the lock on its way to Stony Lake. Eight tons means 1,462,708 horns, or an average of 500 for each man, woman and child at the lake, and assuming that the children are not permitted to drink, which is a fair assumption, it amounts to 2,000 horns per man, that is 1,000 a month or over 30 a day, including Sunday. Is it any wonder the water in Stony Lake this season has been lower than ever before?

CONSERVATIVES ASK EXPLANATION

Ottawa, Jan. 16.—One of the earliest acts of the Conservatives when the House opens will be to demand an investigation of the question whether there has or has not been a bar in operation of late within the Parliament Buildings. During the campaign Dr. Schaffner, one of the Conservative members of Manitoba, asserted that the bar was running despite the statement, by Liberals that the Government had abolished it. A telegram of inquiry was despatched to Speaker Sutherland who replied that there was no bar in operation, and this was given active circulation. Hence an investigation will be demanded.

FIRST MEETING OF NEW COUNCIL

Otonabee Legislators Appoint Officials and Transact Other Business

The newly-elected Council for the township of Otonabee met on January 11th, as follows;—J. H. Fife, Reeve; W. B. Stewart, Deputy Reeve, and Councillors D. K. Cameron, John Miller and W. A. Anderson.

The following officers were appointed;—J. P. Hope and J. J. Moore, auditors; W. H. Borland assessor; Walter Dickson collector; Dr. McCamus Medical Health Officer; John Dinsdale and Wm. McCallister, Sanitary Inspectors. A grant of $5.00 was made to the Sick Children's Hospital. Robert Chambers was refunded $4.25 of his 1907 school tax, as he had been placed in S.S. No. 10 instead of No. 16, this amount being the difference in the section rates on his assessment. Jas. Grey applied for leave to cut balance of wood on the quarter line which he had purchased about 20 years ago. His request was not granted as the time had expired for its renewal. On motion Frank O'Brien's 1908 taxes were remitted on account of his crops being burned. One copy of the Municipal World was ordered for the office. James Manley notified the Council that after the 1st of November next he would close the road through his lot, being the east half of lot 18, concession 9. The following accounts were passed;—Wm. Wedlock, plank, $14.63; Dr. McWilliams, inspecting No. 12 school house $5.00; for deputy-returning officers. Wm. Weir and poll room, $5.00; Wm. Girvin and poll room, $5.30; Wm. O'Leary, $3.50; George Robertson, $3.50; J. A. Drummond, $2.50; A. Shearer, $2.50 for poll rooms; trustees town hall at Stewart's, $2; hall at Mathers's $2.00; S.S. No. 3, $2.00; expressage, 65 cents; J. H. Pallin, rep. ac., $2.10; George Scollie, care of Allandale water trough, $1.50; R. Redmond $3.00; D. McCarthy, $1.40; F. Weir, 30 cents; D. Hunter, drawing culverts, $3.00; Wm. Taylor & Co., culverts, $6.05.

Council adjourned to 15th of February.

OF INTEREST

"The character of a nation may always be judged by the sports which delight it most, and on which it is willing to spend the largest sums of money. Horse-racing—as an accompaniment, not to say, a pretext, for gambling on a tremendous scale—is perhaps the chief delight of an Australian crowd; but just now prize-fighting is at an extraordinary height of popularity. Nothing attracts such crowds, at such high prices, as a prize-fight. No singer, though she had the voice of Jenny Lind or of Melba; no lecturer, though he had the science of Huxley and the eloquence of Gladstone; no actor, though he possessed the mimetic art of Garrick, could crowd a building with such throngs, or stir such a passion of excitement as at the present moment can even a couple of second-rate boxers.

MAD ON BOXING.

In Melbourne, on a recent evening, the great Cyclorama was crammed to suffocation, and more than a thousand people waited outside, unable to secure entrance at any price, all to see a few pairs of quite unimportant pugilists beat each other to the point of exhaustion. For the fight betwixt "Tommy" Burns and "Bill" Squires a great building was specially erected, and the sums paid to watch the fight would almost change the complexion of a State Budget. Burns is to fight with yet another rival, a negro named Johnson, and it is probable that a yet vaster building will have to be erected to hold the spectators, and yet higher prices be demanded for entrance. A cynic might well smile at the spectacle; a philosopher might perplex himself with trying to analyze the passions to which such scenes appeal. But a sensible man will grow disquieted if he has to accept this new passion for prize-fights as a revelation of Australian character.

AUSTRALIAN SELF-DENIAL.

"But there is another group of facts pointing in an exactly opposite direction, which deserve recording. In 1888 the Salvation Army throughout Australasia established a week of self-denial, and raised by it the modest sum of £1,036 for the support of its work. The self-denial week has been observed every year since, and this year the sum raised is £33,700; last year it was £32,935; self-denial week has come to yield the Salvation Army over £30,000 every year. In twenty years it has yielded a total sum of not less than £400,000. The Salvation Army is looked upon with a certain amount of distrust by some and with a certain touch of contempt by others, if only because it moves in the realm of sentiment, and works by forces which the world, in the intensely secural mood which for the moment possesses it, is inclined to dismiss as unpractical. But a sentiment which crystallises into £30,000 in a single week of each year is practical enough to justify its own existance. There is plainly a rare energy of spiritual force in the Army to collect this sum.

SPRINGTIME IN AUSTRALIA.

"It is springtime for Australia and New Zealand, and everywhere the land is lush with grass, fragrant with blossoming orchards, and rich with the promise of a great harvest. During the month a most timely rain swept across the whole floor of the continent from west to east, and if the money value of this rain could be expressed in cold arithmetic, it would run up to many millions. A shower of glittering gold dust falling from the sky over hill and plain would hardly have made a more direct contribution to the national wealth than the gains of a season so 'genial.'—Public Opinion.

Western M.P.'s at Capital.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—The western members are the first to arrive in numbers for the opening of Parliament on Wednesday. A coach load of members from the middle west, who left Winnipeg on Friday night, have arrived. They were preceded by McIntyre of Strathcona, McGrath of Lethbridge, Bradbury of Selkirk and Ralph Smith of Nanaimo, who have been here for some time.

All the British Columbia members have arrived. To-day the members from the Maritime Provinces and other eastern provinces will commence to put in their appearance. It is expected that by Wednesday morning, when the signing of the roll will commence, there will be but few members of the new Parliament missing.

Fire at Niagara Falls.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 18.—The homes of Wm. Dobson and Richard Sheppard were destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Loss about $4,000.

The fire was caused by Mr. Dobson applying a lighted torch to water pipes to thaw them out. There was no water in the pipes, as owing to the east winds which have prevailed the water in the river was low and the flumes of the waterworks were blocked with ice, and there has been no supply of water through the night.

Caught at Border.

Montreal, Jan. 18.—Ten Chinamen were arrested yesterday as they were being smuggled over the American frontier. The Celestials were brought back to the city.

Increase In Cholera.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 18.—There has been a marked increase in cholera in this city. Fifty cases have been reported in the last 24 hours, and 21 deaths.

Cuba's New Birth.

Havana, Jan. 18.—On Jan. 28 at noon the Cuban people will come into their own for the second time at the hands of the American Government.

No Grant This Year.

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—There will be no grant for a Dominion exhibition this year.

It was to have gone to New Brunswick, but there are four New Brunswick towns in dispute for the honor of holding the show.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

CARTER MEDICINE CO., NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 16.—A conditional bequest of $1,000,000 is made to Jewish charitable institutions of New York City by the will of Louis A. Heinshimer, banker and member of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who died on Jan. 1.

The proviso is that the Jewish Benevolent Institutions of the city be consolidated into one body.

Baseball Pitcher Suicides.

Scranton, Pa., Jan. 15.—Nicholas Mathewson, a baseball pitcher brother of Christy Mathewson, the pitcher of the New York National League Baseball Club, died yesterday from a bullet wound in the head, self-inflicted Thursday. Ill-health brought on a physical breakdown.

A SURGICAL OPERATION

"If there is any one thing that a woman dreads more than another it is a surgical operation.

We can state without fear of a contradiction that there are hundreds, yes, thousands, of operations performed upon women in our hospitals which are entirely unnecessary and many have been avoided by

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

For proof of this statement read the following letter.

Mrs. Letitia Blair, Cannifton, Ont., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was sick for five years. One doctor told me it was ulceration, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor, and advised an operation. No one knows what I suffered, and the bearing down pains were terrible.

"I wrote to my sister about it, and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"It has cured me of all my troubles, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me to pass safely through Change of Life."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains and backache.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Unemployed Organize.

Toronto, Jan. 16.—With 1,500 men inside St. Andrew's Hall and about 500 unable to get in, yesterday morning there was organized an "unemployed association." The speakers criticized the methods of the Associated Charities Labor Bureau.

More than 150 enrolled as applicants for work from the city, most of them being married men with children. One man with ten children has been out of steady work for seven months.

Of 2,487 applications for work at the Toronto Free Employment Bureau, 968 have got temporary work, 16 permanent work in the City Hall and 16 out of it while 165 applicants misrepresented the facts.

A Correction

In the obituary notice of the late William V. Haggart in the Review a few days ago, it was stated that the deceased's death was due to pulmonary trouble. This statement was wrong, the late Mr. Haggart having died from disease of the heart.

Revival Services

Every night this week revival services are being held at Mark street Methodist church. The services will be preceded by a song service at 7.30. The pastor, Rev O H Coon, will have charge and will preach each evening. Everybody is cordially invited to attend these meetings.

LONGBOAT AS A THIEF CATCHER

Indian Overtook Coat Snatcher in New York---Handed Him to Patrolman

New York, Jan 16— The Tribune this morning says:

Tom Longboat, the Indian Marathon runner, used his speed yesterday to bring into the hands of the police, Jas Smith, a negro, who it is charged, tried to steal a coat from a Tenderloin tailor shop. Sixth avenue, in the neighborhood of Thirtieth street, was treated to the sight of the famous long distance runner giving a public exhibition without charge.

Paul Pashkin, a tailor at No 145 West 31st street had vainly pursued the man with the coat to 31st street where Longboat and his manager, chanced to be. Smith was turning into 30th street going toward Broadway at top notch speed. Before the short block had been covered by Smith the Indian speeded up behind him and took him by the collar to Patrolman Haggerty of the West 30th street station where he was held on a charge of attempted larceny.

A GOOD FEATURE IN BUSINESS

Payment by Check Becoming the Rule—Its Advantages

That people are making use of the local banks to an extent very much greater than ever before, is an admitted fact. The banks have been preaching the gospel of savings and investments and the benefits of having a bank account as a sort of snubbing-post for one's savings. The bank returns and statements show that the campaign is bearing fruit in the increasing amounts on deposit. A local business man said last week that never before in his experience had so many small accounts been paid to him by check. A few years ago it was a novelty to get a check for a small amount, showing that people did not bother with banking, but that he had received sixty-seven checks for amounts varying from 78 cents to $6.50. If for no other reason payment by check is a good thing in that the check, endorsed, and coming back to the man issuing it is an absolute receipt for the money. All of the local banks are so obliging and willing to handle accounts of depositors in the savings departments that this branch of banking is growing very rapidly.

INSTALLATION OF THE OFFICERS

Of Lift Lock Circle Companions of the Forest---Presentations Made and Banquet Held

Mrs A E Riggs, of Toronto, High Chief Companion of the Companions of the Forest, AOF, installed the officers of Lift Lock Circle No 142, AOF, in the Knights of Pythias hall, Simcoe street last week. Immediately after the installation a presentation was made to Companion Mrs White, of a hand painted biscuit jar, she receiving the prize given by the circle for obtaining the greatest number of names for the autograph quilt. The retiring Chief Companion, Miss N Smith, received a past chief's jewel, while the retiring Secretary, Mrs Goodenough, received a pretty fern and pot, as a mark of appreciation for her faithful services.

At this time the High Chief Companion, Mrs Riggs, was made the happy recipient of the autograph quilt, at which the members had been working diligently for the past few months. It was wrapped around her by two girls Misses Maude Titterson and Ethel Goodenough, after which Mrs Riggs made a very appropriate reply.

Speeches and a musical programme followed. At this juncture Mr. H. Moore, a photographer of this city, and a guest of the evening, kindly offered to take a flashlight of all present. The guests numbering about fifty sat down to an excellent banquet prepared by Coleman Bros. The tables were beautifully decorated in crimson and green, the Foresters' colors. A pyramid of crimson carnations and maiden hair fern made a beautiful centre piece.

An hour or two of pleasant social intercourse was then enjoyed. After heartily singing the National Anthem, the friends dispersed to their several homes, expressing themselves well-pleased with the evening's entertainment.—Com.

DOING THINGS DIFFERENTLY

Peterborough likes to be doing things differently. A woman was in the dock in that city on Thursday charged with assaulting her husband. The enterprising Peterborough papers neglected to publish a picture of the Amazon or her poor spouse. A picture of the man would be a matter of general interest in these days with Toronto and its nearby towns giving evidence of the male sex being the bullying brutes.—Lindsay Free Press.

GOWGANDA

The quickest and best route will continue to be via Grand Trunk and T. and N. O. Railways to Charlton, thence 18 miles by stage to Elk Lake and 32 miles from Elk Lake to Gowganda. This route will enable stops to be made at Temagami, Cobalt, Haileybury, New Liskeard and Englehart. Cobalt special leaving Toronto, 10.15 p.m., daily makes direct connections with stage reaching Elk Lake next afternoon. Full information from W. Buntin, C.P. and T. A.

GOOD WORK OF THE INSTITUTE

Past Year Has Been Successful One For Women's Institute at Mount Julian

Special to the Review.

Mount Julian, Jan 15—Below will be found a report of the year's work of the Women's Institute.

The Mount Julian Women's Institute meetings were as a rule well attended through the past year and eleven new members were added to the list which now numbers thirty-three.

The officers for the year were the same as 1907, having all been re-elected by acclamation.

We had a visit from Mrs Shuttleworth in June who gave an interesting talk on preserving and canning fruits.

Throughout the year papers were read on the following subjects;

Home and Mother—Mrs Charles Lander.

How to make the Institute interesting—Mrs Albert Reid.

Gossip—Mrs Israel Church.

Friendship—Miss Laura Windover.

Autumn—Mrs W M Church.

Thanksgiving—Miss Emma Reid.

Discussion were held on the use of raw fruits; preserving and pickling fruits; summer drinks and salads, and thanksgiving dinners.

A bazaar was held with a very good result for the funds in the common and part of the money was spent in subscribing for a copy of the Toronto Home Journal for each family represented in the Institute.

The treasurer's report for the year shows the finances in a good condition, there being a balance of nearly seventeen dollars on hand.

In the report of Eden Methodist church Christmas tree programme of last week, two numbers by a quartette were left out by mistake:

Mrs Thomas Reid, organ.
Mr Joe Northy, violin.
Gordon Northy, mouth organ
Oliver Church, mouth organ.

The Canadian Club dinner tonight, will commence at 7.30 o'clock at the Hotel National. The president, Mr. Dan O'Connell will act as chairman. The speaker of the evening will be Rev Dr Govid, of Toronto, whose subject will be "The recent crisis in Turkey."

WHAT IS HE DOING?

A Question Many Parents are Asking

Parents who have boys who are members of the Y.M.C.A. are no doubt, wondering what their boys are doing when at the Y.M.C.A.

On Thursday, the 21st inst., the boys of the Y. will give an exhibition of their work in the gymnasium.

There will be drills, marches, games, races, blindman's pillow fight, and sack basketball.

This exhibition will be an education to the parents and friends, who do not know what goes on at the Y.M.C.A.

The races will make plenty of excitement, while the sack basketball and the blind man's pillow fight are very amusing.

The ladies walking race promises to be the hit of the season.

The proceeds of this entertainment will be used for securing a number of new magazines for the boys' library.

Tickets can be had from any of the boys or at the Y.M.C.A. office.

The Cast for Local Production of "The Private Secretary"---A Brilliant Comedy

The second presentation by local amateurs, under the direction of Mr. Irving Beers, will be given at the Grand Opera House on February 1st, when the celebrated farcial comedy by Chas. Hawtrey, "The Private Secretary," will be produced. Several rehearsals have been held and the production of the piece promises to be a highly interesting one. It is very cleverly written and contains many intensely funny lines and situations. The plot is most original and the story a very amusing one—in fact the play is one long laugh from the first to the last curtain, the only breathing space for the audience being in the intervals between the acts.

The cast as given the Review by Mr. Beers is:

Mr. Marsland, M.F.H., B. Gillespie.

Harry Marsland, M.F.H., B. G Ilespie. Hillhouse.

Mr. Cattermole, D. B. McRae.

Douglas Cattermoll, his nephew, Chas.

Rev. Robt. Spalding, an ill used secretary, A. C. Yokome.

Mr. Sydney Gibson, tailor of Bond street, Walter S. Davidson.

John, a servant, T. Savigny.

Knox, a writ server, M. Moore.

Gardner, Irving Beers.

Edith Marsland, daughter of Mr. Marsland, Miss M. Brooks.

Eva Webster, her friend and companion, Miss B. Brightman.

Mrs. Stead, Douglas' landlady, Miss Overend.

Miss Ashford, Mrs. J. N. Barber.

DR. BARNARDO'S WORK OF RESCUE

The December issue of Night and Day, the quarterly organ of the well-known Dr. Barnardo's Homes, furnishes a crowded record of "Something attempted. Something done." A copy will be sent to any reader who applies for it at the Headquarters of the Homes. The numerous facts which it sets forth do indeed speak no alone of the immense importance of child-misery and suffering which appeals for rescue but of the extraordinary fruitful results that follow the operations of the Homes in carrying out this rescue. Nearly 68-000 boys and girls in all hav epassed through the institutions. Over 20 000 of these have been emigrated and others have been placed out and are doing well. To-day's family in the institution, it appears, numbers no fewer than 8 268.

MUCH HARDSHIP IN GOWGANDA

Cobalt, Jan. 17.—The conditions in Gowganda and the Elk Lake country are becoming serious. Prospectors are going in less than half prepared. The snow is deep and the cold intense. It is reported to be fifty-six below zero. Six men had their feet frozen on Friday at Gowganda and others had noses or ears frozen. The miners having cabins have been compelled to refuse lodging and assistance, owing to their own personal needs. Twenty-six head of cattle driven in by Mr. Conroy of Ashburnham and four assistants, reached Gowganda on Thursday afternoon and were killed and strung up to trees around Gowganda Lake and sold at 12 cents per lb. The cattle were nearly frozen from exposure and lack of feed. The stopping houses, five in all, built for accommodation are now filthy according to reports from those returning and typhoid is predicted unless conditions are improved. The conditions call for the attention of the Provincial Health Department.

Mr. McFadden at McFadden's Landing, Elk Lake, died on Wednesday of typhoid fever. He leaves a wife and dauhter who were unable to accompany the remains to North Bay. A brother took charge of the remains.

The snow at Gowganda is becoming very deep, even snowshoeing being difficult on this account.

PLANK ON THE BRIDGE SNAPPED

Chief Howard and Fireman Grange had a close call to being seriously injured while driving to the fire at Mr. Brown's residence at Auburn. They were driving across the Smith street bridge on one of the sleighs when a piece of heavy plank snapped on being struck by the bobs.

A piece of it struck the fireman on the ankle and as a result he will be home for a few days. The chief had a narrow escape from being hit.

OBITUARY

MISS MARGARET SULLIVAN.

After an illness of some length the death occurred in Valligo, Cal., of Miss Margaret Sullivan, a former resident of Peterborough, who will be remembered by the older citizens. Word of Miss Sullivan's demise was received Saturday night by the deceased's nephew, Ald. Harry Phelan, and Rev. Father Phelan, of Young's Point.

The late Miss Sullivan is survived by two sisters and a brother, and several relatives in Peterborough and vicinity. The sisters are Mrs. P. J. McCauley, who, with her husband, left for Miss Sullivan's bedside about five weeks ago, and Mrs. Wm. Atchison, LeRoy, N.Y. The brother is J. Sullivan, of Orlando, Cal. Mr. Walter Phelan, formerly of this city, and now of Pittsburg, Pa., is a nephew.

The funeral annoucement will be made later.

MRS. CATHAARINE GUTHRIE

The death occurred on Sunday morning of Catharine Jackson, relict of the late John Guthrie at her late residence in Emily. The deceased was 71 years of age and had been a resident of Emily for a number of years.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of Mr John C Wright, lot 1, con 4 in Smith, to Emily cemetery.

Attention is called to the Auction Sale of a very pretty and comfortable home, South of Aberdeen Avenue and East of Aylmer Street, at present occupied by Mr. R. F. Ivey. It lies a little West of the New Normal School, where so many houses are now in course of erection. The house has good cellar, large rooms, handsome grate and fire place, &c., &c. A full attendance of members is requested, and a very cordial invitation is extended to visitors who may feel disposed to attend.

STYLES FOR THE SEASON OF 1909

Women will wear in 1909 almost exactly what they wore in the fall of 1908. There are a few things that are going to be avoided by the fastidious woman, whether she be rich or not, fashionable or otherwise.

One of these is the extra narrow coat that confines the figure rather severely below the hips. These have been too much worn by a large number of women, especially girls who like to be conspicuous.

The fastidious woman who dresses wel and never with eccentricities, will wear her long coat in the slightly newer and more approved fashion, which has a kind of circular fullness from hips to knees. It does not confine her figure and does not button all the way down.

Another pretty fashion that she is apt to discard because it has been run to ground is the wide Directoire flap to the hip pocket. It is a pity to abolish this, for it is distinctly good looking and adds character to the surface of a plain frock.

She will make her skirts even narrower and shorter than they have been but they will not have that distinctly freakish cut which every one has abhorred except the woman who wears it.

There are two distinct kinds of jabots, each intended to fit certain occasions. On the street when shopping the jabot is a single or double panel of plaited material edged with lace.

For matinees, luncheons, afternoon calls, the double, fluffy jabot is appropriate. The latter is made of accordion pleated mull, net or lace and runs from the collar almost, if not quite, to the top of the high-waisted skirt.

This is plain or lace edged. It was fashionable in the beginning to add many loops of velvet or satin ribbon throughout its length but this style has vanished and the plain material is used.

LOCALS GO TO LINDSAY ON THURSDAY NIGHT

Date of Game Has Been Changed --Special Train Will be Run

The game between the Peterborough and Lindsay intermediates which was to have been played at Lindsay on Friday night has been changed to Thursday night. The local club have made arrangements to run an excursion to Lindsay and it is expected that a big crowd will accompany the team. The special train will leave Peterborough at seven o'clock and will return after the game. The low rate of $1.05 has been secured.

SCHEDULE OF TRENT VALLEY

Madoc, Jan. 15.—The dates of the remaining games in No. 2 district of the Trent Valley Hockey League are;

LINDSAY RINKS.

George A. Little and L. V. O'Connor will skip the two Lindsay rinks which will enter the Ontario Tankard event this year. Both are capable and expert curlers and the much-sought-after Tankard should remain in Lindsay. The primaries in this competition will be played next week and the rinks will go to Toronto early in the week.

Lindsay has won the Tankard five times and have now the coveted "Mug" in their possession.

Dr. Walters and W. McLennan, two of the best, will be absent from the Tankard rinks this year, but strong rinks will be ent to Toronto. The rink will be comprised of the following men;—R. Butler, Cuthbert or F. Knowlson, T. Burke, L. V. O'Connor, W. Recser, M. Sisson, J. D. Flavelle, Geo. Little.

COMES FROM LINDSAY.

Mr. J. H. Ham, the Napanee curler, who skipped the rink of the eastern stalwarts who won the consolation event at the Peterborough bonspiel, from Larry O'Connor's rink, is an old Lindsay boy, and the love of the roarin' game, together with the ability to play it, was inculcated in Mr. Ham in Lindsay. With this knowledge forthcoming there is little to wonder at his winning the event.—Lindsay Warder.

ANOTHER FLEET RED RUNNER

Tom Flanagan's mail to-day contained an official letter that was pleasing to him. It is from the Chiefs of the Six Nations Reserve, and is dated from the council chamber. This letter thanks Mr. Flanagan for his care and management of Tom Longboat, and expresses delight that he should be turned over to so eminent a man as P. T. Powers, and asks Mr. Flanagan to take hold of and develop and train a 16-year-old Indian boy, a son of Chief Smith, whom the Chief believes to be a runner of as great promise as Tom Longboat. They offer to send the boy to Tom any time he says so. Mr. Flanagan will probably take charge of the boy and see what he can do with him.

SPORTING TALK

What's the world coming to when such gentle and loving young men, such as those who play hockey for Peterborough and Belleville, get fighting over a game of hockey. Tut, tut! boys, this will never do.—Lindsay Warder.

C.G.E. TEAMS HAD GAME SATURDAY

Armature Beat Metre Department on Saturday Afternoon 11-2

The following report of a hockey match has been handed to the Review for publication;

One of the best games of the season was played at the Park street rink on Saturday afternoon and was witnessed by a large gathering of poor losers to be sure. It was between the Armature and Metre Departments of the CGE. The scoring was not large, only 11-2, at half time it was 3-0 in favor of the Armature Dept.

Of course the Armature had to let the boys have a little hockey, so Campbell, the big kind-hearted fellow that he is, moved out of the nets in order to allow a couple to slide in while he was out. The game commenced at 1.20 and referee Beckett had his hands full trying to keep the boys from wooding it too much. He gave perfect satisfaction to both sides. It took him all his spare time keeping down the score. Very few accidents occurred during the play. Everything went off nicely; except Mowry having a mix-up with the fence, but one bump did him as he found out the fence was too much for him. Roe Pecord and Cassidy proved to be the stars of the Metre team, and Lacombe, Flowers, Archibald and Mowry starred for the Armature. Campbell proved to be an artist on skates.

The teams were;

ARMATURE

Goal—Campbell.
Point—Archibald.
Cover point—O'Neill.

Centre—Mowry.
Right wing—Flowers.
Left wing—Hayes.

METRE.

Right wing—Slight.
Left wing—Roe.

TREMBLAY USES ORIGINAL HOLD

Wins From Hansen at Sohmer Park---No Gotch-Hack Match

With ten pounds advantage in weight and some inches in height and reach, Hansen the winner of the Olympic welter-weight wrestling championship at London last summer gave Tremblay a hard match at Sohmer Park last night, the local lightweight winning out only after 74 minutes of straight wrestling.

Tremblay won the first fall in minutes and the second in 22 1-2 minutes, both falls being won on exactly the same hold, a hold that was entirely new to the patrons of the Park and when successfully executed Tremblay won warm rounds of applause. In each case Tremblay started the fall by securing a part waist and part thigh hold, holding his man's head down to the mat. A dozen times in the course of the match Hansen got away from this by catching Tremblay by the legs and pulling the local man over with him. The two occasions on which Hansen failed on the counter were fatal. Tremblay bent the Chicago man's back in an arc, with his neck pressed into his chest, and forcing down his legs, bent him until the two shoulders came even with the mat.

Dr. Gadbois, who was a spectator at the match last night, instead of filling his usual position as referee, was enthusiastic over the cleverness with which Tremblay won the falls. When the local wrestling expert was asked under what name the hold was was known, he replied; "You can search me; I have never seen a man down that way before."

Tremblay, as usual, was the aggressor through the greater part of the match. He worked in his persistent style, never tiring, and never voluntarily taking the defence position in order to rest up. He showed remarkably good form, considering all the work he went through in Chicago and the danger of going stale. Hansen was a big one for the little fellow to handle, and the first fall was drawn out to nearly an hour. Hansen is a fine physical type and knows the game thoroughly. He was, however, much more effective in defense work than in attack, and it was only in the bout preceding the second fall that he showed to really good advantage. During the 22 minutes he worked as hard as the Frenchman, but could not break down the latter's defence.

The match marked the opening of the 1909 wrestling and there was gathered about 2,500 spectators at the Park.

THE LADIES WALKING RACE

To be Held on Thursday, 21st, for Championship

This is a new feature in athletics in Peterborough and it is arousing a great deal of interest. The ladies' walking race has proven a great success in other places and will no doubt attract large crowds here.

The race will be a half mile, and will be held under the auspices of the YMCA boys' department in connection with their Boys' Gymnasium Exhibition on Thursday evening. Several entries have been received to date, and the race promises to be very interesting.

Besides the walking race, there will be drills, marches, games, races, blind man pillow fight, and sack basketball.

The proceeds of the exhibition will be used to secure several new magazines for the boys' reading room.

The admission is 15c or two for 25c. Tickets can be had from any of the boys or at the YMCA office.

SECOND GAME IN DISTRICT

Peterborough Play Intermediate Game in Belleville To-night

Peterborough plays the second intermediate game in Belleville tonight. The locals' line-up will be;—

Goal—Derocher.
Point—Glover.
Cover—Moore.
Rover—Ray.
Centre—Parnell.
Right Wing—Rose.
Left Wing—Dusty.

HOCKEY

READY AT LINDSAY

Peterborough intermediates will meet the Midgets on local ice next Friday night, and then watch for a struggle. This game should attract an immense crowd. Peterborough will likely run a special train on the occasion and the team is coming up, as they say in Peterborough, to trim the locals on their own ice. They have induced Rolly Glover and Ernie Wasson to don sweaters and battle for the championship of this district. The Midgets, however, are ready for them and will put the kiosh on their aspirations.—Lindsay Post.

THROUGH BELLEVILLE EYES.

The Belleville Intelligencer says;—Belleville's intermediate hockey team were last night at Peterborough defeated by a score of 5 to 0. From reports received the game was exceptionally rough and in this respect our boys suffered the most. Spangenberg, left wing player, had the misfortune to have his nose broken and other members of the team to-day bear marks of the affray. An indication of the roughness of the game can be gathered from the fact that during the match no less than twenty-four penalties were inflicted. Our boys feel confident that they will reverse the score on Monday night when they meet the second team. Dr. Gillfillen, of Newmarket, was the referee, and he was apparently favoring the home team when it was at all possible.

Creasman's and McGregor & Reid's play at the Brock street rink on Wednesday next from 6 to 7 p.m.

WRESTLING

GOTCH AGAIN

London, Jan. 16.—Frank Gotch, the world's champion heavyweight wrestler, having been unable to arrange a match with George Hackenschmidt, the Russian lion, from whom he won the title in Chicago last year, will sail for New York, Jan. 27, on board the steamer Deutschland.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Chicago lovers of the wrestling game, it now appears will be deprived of witnessing the much advertised wrestling match between Yussiff Mahmout and Frank Gotch, the world's heavyweight champion. Unless Joe Coffey and his copartners of the Empire Athletic club can raise the purse offered by B. Martinnelli the match most likely will go to England. Antone Pierre, manager of the Turk, yesterday received a letter from Martinnelli, a wrestling promoter of London, offering a purse of £2,500 (about $12,000) for a match between Mahmout and Gotch, the match to be held some time in March in England. Martinnelli is well known in wrestling circles on the other side, and Pierre immediately answered that as soon as Gotch will post his forfeit he will hurry back to England with Mahmout.

Whipped Horse With Broken Leg.

Hamilton, Jan. 18.—For whipping a horse with a broken leg, and trying to goad it into dragging them along, Frank Carlbarg, who boards at the Commercial Hotel, and Harmen Anderson were arrested on Saturday evening charged with cruelty to animals and with being drunk. They hired the horse from Carson's livery stable and were driving it about the city. It fell and broke its leg, and while they were whipping it to make it go, two passers-by interfered and held them until Constables Gibbs and Bartell were summoned.

IMPROVING JAMES' ENGLISH.

Exquisite Divine Once Undertook to Improve on the Authorized Bible.

The King James version of the Bible is a classic of classics; but there have not been wanting men who fancied that it needed retouching and refining. Dr. Harwood, an English divine, once went so far as to make a new and "elegant" translation. His purpose, as he modestly expressed it, was to "clothe the genuine ideas and doctrines of the Apostles with that propriety and perspicuity in which they themselves, I apprehend, would have exhibited them, had they now lived and written in our language."

Some of his attempts to avoid "the bald and barbarous language of the old vulgar version" are worth quoting as terrible examples of what elegant writing is not.

The plain spoken warning to the Laodicean Church is improved thus:

"Since, therefore, you are now in a state of lukewarmness, a disagreeable medium between the two extremes, I will, in no long time, eject you from my heart with fastidious contempt."

The translator is especially happy in what may be called his personal euphemisms. Nicodemus is "this gentleman"; one of the apostle's Athenian converts is "a lady of distinction"; and the daughter of Herodias is "a young lady who danced with inimitable grace and elegance." The father of the Prodigal is "a gentleman of splendid family"; and St. Paul no longer leaves a "cloak" at Troas, but a "portmanteau," as was certainly more becoming to a dignified ecclesiastic.

On the Mount of Transfiguration, St. Peter no longer says in vulgar, every-day language, "Lord, it is good for us to be here"; but, "Sir, what a delectable residence we might fix here."

The apostle's saying, "We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed," becomes "We shall not all pay the common debt of nature; but we shall, by a soft transition, be changed from mortality to immortality."

Donald and the Prince.

King Edward was initiated into the arts of deer stalking by his father, of whose own 'prentice efforts the following story is told:

Lord Willoughby de Eresby had arranged a deer-stalking expedition for Prince Albert in the forest of Glenartney, and the prince's new-fledged zeal threatened to spoil the sport to such an extent that Mr. Campbell, his mentor, whispered to the forester: "Hold the prince back, Donald, while I creep to the brow to see where the deer has gone to." "Haud the prince! Haud the prince!" Donald answered. "I'll no do it! Ye maun just grip him yoursel', and I'll look owre the broo!" And Mr. Campbell had perforce to "haud the prince" till the crisis was over. All the same, the prince gave a good account of himself before the day was ended, for he brought down two stags and three hinds, much to Donald's astonishment. "Ye'll dae verra weel—in time," was Donald's tribute of praise to His Royal Highness.

How Far a Waiter Walks.

Have you any idea of how much ground a waiter covers in performing his day's work? At a certain London hotel which has a long, narrow dining-room the matter was recently put to the test, and the head waiter was armed with a pedometer when he went on duty at 7 a. m. When he had retired after the dinner hour he had covered ten miles and a fraction. He asserts that this long record of distance covered in a single room is largely the result of the telephone and the social life of the hotel. He not only must seat all patrons, but he personally carries to them the names of callers and all summonses to the telephone. The latter, he says, is one of the greatest annoyances the head waiter undergoes.

Perishable Property.

A merchants' carnival was in progress, and all the maidens of the village were representing the various shops. Pretty Sarah Moffatt, in a lace gown strung with garlands of bonbons, advertised the principal candy store.

At the beginning of the festival Sarah fairly glistened with attractive confectionery, but as time wore on the girl's decorations dwindled. By the final act not a bonbon glistened among Sarah's ruffles.

"Where in the world," asked the stage manager, noting the plainness of Sarah's attire, "are all your decorations? Have you lost them?"

"No," returned Sarah; "they're perfectly safe. I'm wearing them inside."

The Eternal Feminine.

Among some African tribes when a man professes his love for a woman and asks her in marriage she invariably refuses him at first lest it should appear that she had been thinking of him and was eager to become his wife. By so doing she maintains the modesty of her sex as well as tests the love and abases the pride of her lover. This policy is also intended to be of use to the woman in her married life, as, should there be quarreling and the husband threaten to send her away, she can remind him of how he made repeated professions of his love and urgently pressed his suit before she consented to become his wife.

Meteors.

In Chinese literature there is mention of meteors which fell in 644 B.C. The oldest known meteorite which was seen to fall is now on exhibition at Ensisheim, Alsace, Germany. In 1492 it came crashing down through the air with a roar that prostrated the peasantry with fright. It buried itself deeply in the earth. It weighed 260 pounds and hangs to-day in the parish church.

Queen's Favorite Rose.

It is said that Her Majesty's favorite rose is one of the old-time sorts known as Hermosa, a lovely, free-flowering pink rose, which yields a rich harvest of beautiful fragrant blossoms. So fond is the Queen of this rose that she causes it to be grown by thousands in huge borders near her favorite dairy, as well as in the gardens surrounding her home.

G. A. Aldwick was awarded $500 at the London Assizes against the Canadian Electric Traction Co.

"FREAK CHECKS."

Sir Felix Schuster Speaks on Danger From Forgery.

Sir Felix Schuster delivered his inaugural address as president to the Institute of Bankers in London recently. He regretted a tendency against writing. Signatures were impressed with rubber stamps and checks were typewritten.

How, he said, would they guard against forgery in such cases? He doubted whether public companies were authorized by their articles to sign checks with a rubber stamp, and he asked why they should wait to take action until some case arose which had to be taken into the court. He also advocated co-operation as to the size of checks, which now seemed to vary between that of a newspaper and that of a visiting card.

He could not see the value of a check as an advertisement, and did not think the clerks who handled them would be induced by it to transfer their custom to the offending firm. Yet there was no doubt that in many cases checks were intended to be advertisements, and the name of the paying banker was the least conspicuous part of the check.

These "freak checks" occasioned not only great inconvenience, but loss of time, and the Clearing House ought to have power to decide what size check it would clear.

As regarded present business conditions, a period of abnormal activity has been followed by depression and stagnation. It was for statesmen to consider how far in the endeavor to effect social improvement burdens could be laid on the industrial community. He thought that at present they were too much given to depression, and ought to look for the silver lining. Generally the prospects were hopeful.

OLD-TIME RULES IN INDIA.

Queer Stories Are Told of Examinations In Regime of John Company.

King Edward's proclamation to the princes and peoples of India, with its hint of something approaching representative government, accentuates the difference that exists between the enlightened rule of to-day and the cast iron methods of the Honorable East India Company in the days when the enlightened baboo had not come into his own and every appointment, civil or military, was held by Britons, when Indian nabob had much the same meaning as American millionaires has to-day.

The earlier examinations for cadets for commissions under the East India Company were of a quaintness almost passing belief. When Sir John Malcolm at the ripe age of 12 was presented for examination a director asked him:

"My little man, what would you do if you met Hyder Ali?"

"Out with my sword, sir, and cut off his head," was the reply.

It was good enough. He passed. The notorious Col. John Mordaunt passed even more curiously. The examiners failed to get one word of sense out of him. At last one of the directors, who knew he was connected somewhat intimately though irregularly with the family of the Earl of Peterborough, asked the boy if he knew anything about cribbage. He woke up and offered to play the gentleman for any sum he cared to mention. He also passed.

In after years he turned his talent for shuffling cards to great advantage. He played a notorious card sharper at whist and successfully dealt himself thirteen trumps. The card sharper was absolutely awed.

Partition of Bengal.

The third anniversary of "Partition Day" was celebrated throughout Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam by the Bengali mourning after the native fashion—that is, going without all food, wearing no clothes made outside India, totally discarding footwear, and closing all the shops. Forty thousand Bengalis paraded the streets of Calcutta. Police precautions prevented public speaking and subdued any tendency to general turbulence.

The Southams of Hamilton have purchased a corner of St. Catherine and Guy streets, Montreal, for $260,000.

GRAND LODGE CONVENTION HERE ON MAY 24 AND 25

At the regular meeting to-morrow night of Sentinel Lodge No. 66 Ladies' Orange Benevolent Ass'n., the delegates to the annual meeting of the Right Worshipful Grand Orange Lodge of the L.O.B.A., will be elected. The meeting of the Grand Lodge will be held in Peterborough on May 24th and 25th and in view of the fact that this is the first year of the local lodge, it is a decided honor to have this city selected for the Dominion convention. Delegates from the different lodges in Canada will be in attendance.

At to-night's meeting arrangements will be made towards getting Controller Hocken, of Toronto, editor the Orange Sentinel, to lecture here. He will deliver an address of particular interest under the auspices of the Peterborough Association on February 5th.

CANADA, THE LAND OF PROMISE

On Friday evening an interesting essay was read by Miss Nora Fitzgerald at the regular meeting of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T.A.S. She chose as her subject, "Canada, the Land of Promise," but confined her sketch to the very early history of Canada, when her promise of wealth and future greatness appealed to every civilised nation in Europe. The essayist dwelt at some length upon the conditions of the different French settlements some 250 years ago, when the malignity and treachery of the Indians made life in this country one of constant peril for the white man. Considerable prominence was given to the spreading of Christianity during those early days and the results to be seen at the present day of the efforts put forth by the different religious orders along this line.

In 1640 Maisonneuve, one of the real creators of Canadian civilization, came to Canada with a few followers and the address of Father Vimont to this little group of enthusiasts is a striking one.

"You are a grain of mustard seed," he said, "that shall arise and grow until its branches overshadow the earth. You are few, but your work is of God. His smile is upon you and your children shall fill the land." Our Canada of today is a living testamony of the truth of Father Vimont's words.

Miss Fitzgerald took up the exploration of Jean Nicollet, an interpreter at Three Rivers, who had spent much time with the Indian tribes in the west and who had gone down the the Wisconsin River in search of the "Great Water," of which the Indians had told him. The Jesuits were also gradually pushing their way westward to the wilderness and in 1641 Joques and Raymbault preached the faith to a concourse of Indians at the outlet of Lake Superior. Then in 1666 came La Salle, who took up a grant of land near Montreal, improved the land, studied the Indian language, listened to their strange stories and those of the other explorers who had travelled westward and his imagination took fire. He was sure he could find a western passage to China and the Lachine of today is commemorative of a nation's dream, of a hero's disillusion and of the cheap diversion of his enemies. The essayist gave a minute description of the explorations of La Salle and also of Joliet and Marquette and her essay as a whole was a splendid review of the history of Canada in her infant days.

During the evening the following programme was presented:

Instrumental duet—Misses Dorris.
Vocal solo—Miss M Flood.
Recitation—Miss M Sullivan.
Instrumental solo—Miss M Grady.
God Save the King.

The next meeting will be held on the 29th inst., when a paper will be read by Miss Vivian Donohue.

SPLENDID MEETINGS AT S. A. BARRACKS YESTERDAY

Col. and Mrs. Mapp of Toronto Visit the City—Mayor Rush Presided at Meeting Yesterday Afternoon—Will Conduct Services Here During This Week.

Yesterday was a big day in the Salvation Army, the barracks being at all services, filled to the doors, and earnest interesting meetings were held. It was the occasion of the visit of Colonel and Mrs Mapp, of the Salvation Army headquarters in Toronto.

The visitors spoke at all services, but the afternoon gathering was of special interest. His Worship Mayor Rush and Mr J R Stratton, MP were present. His Worship the Mayor making an address of welcome to the visiting officers on behalf of the citizens. Mayor Rush also acted as chairman. In his remarks he expressed his own and the sympathy of the citizens in the work the Salvation Army was doing.

M. Stratton spoke of the praiseworthy work the Army was doing in the Dominion. They were doing good among a class of people which other religious denominations failed to reach.

Mrs Mapp, who has accompanied her husband in all his travels, made a very feeling address in which she gave her experience when a young girl, when she first identified herself with the Salvation Army. She spoke in a most touching manner of her work in the dives and slums and cellars of Old London, where she and her companions entered and carried the gospel.

From London she went to India and she told of her labor among the people of that country. The missionaries in those days had all the trials and troubles it was possible to have, but yet it was God's work she was doing and she was now glad that she had done it. Mrs Mapp is a very pleasing quiet and convincing speaker and her address made a great impression.

Col. Mapp, on being introduced to the assembly said that he would like to have closed the meeting with the words of his wife, but in the face of the whole-hearted and very cordial welcome he had received he could not without first expressing his sincere thanks and appreciation.

He said that while this was his first visit to Canada, he had had associations with Canadians in India, and found them noble, earnest and devoted workers. One of the characteristics of Canadians which marked them different from other people, was their loyalty to their Master, their love of humanity and their whole hearted comradeship.

Colonel Mapp told briefly of his joining the Army and his decision to enter the ranks as an officer, and to give his whole time to the work. He is a man with a fine appearance, a clever and an impressive speaker and one who speaks with authority. His visit to this city will undoubtedly be of great benefit to the local corps.

Sergeant-Major Braund made a few remarks.

The band rendered music at all the services.

Colonel and Mrs Mapp will be here for one week.

MANY PERSONS THESE DAYS ARE ASKING FOR CHARITY

There has been an exceedingly large number of applications for charity at the city relief officer's quarters, Saturday and today. Many have applied stating that they are without wood, to keep them warm or sufficient food to keep them from starvation. In nearly every case if it has been a deserving one, help has been given.

WALTER MILLER DOING NICELY

Mrs. Miller Received Letter From Her Huscand in Brantford To-day

Mrs Miller received a letter from her husband today, who is in Brantford attending his son, Walter, who was injured in the wreck a few days ago. Mr Miller says that Walter had eight stitches put in two of his fingers and that his hip and back was very much bruised. He would be unable to leave the hospital for several days. Mr Miller will arrive home on Wednesday.

WALKER WAS WALKED TO CELLS

Another athlete who has fallen down to allurements of the "great white ways," is William Naughan of Hiawatha, the celebrated pedestrian. After noggin, by the side of Hoagland, Slater and the rest of them at the big international walking tournament here last spring amid the huskily voiced encouragement of hundreds of supporters today he could be seen walking forlornly to the police station, supported by P. C. McGinty.

The booze proved too much for the white shoed 'Billy' and when gathered in he had a capacious flask on him and the Indian walker was in a rambling state of mind. He will come up tomorrow morning at the police court.

This is only another example of an athlete breaking away from training regulations and hitting the pace that never leads to the front.

Crew Rescued by Steamer.

Queenstown, Jan. 18.—The steamer Dominion, which arrived off here yesterday, reported having rescued Capt. Crossley and the crew of the British ship Savona, about four miles off Fastnet. The Savona, which was lumber laden, was abandoned in a waterlogged condition.

A tug has started out to try and tow the Savona to Crookhaven, but this may prove to be a difficult task, as the weather is very stormy.

The Savona was bound from Liscomb, N.S., for the United Kingdom.

Gas Men Submit.

New York, Jan. 18.—Another great victory in the fight for 80-cent gas was won on Saturday when announcement was made that the Northern Union Gas Co., the Central Union Gas Co., the Standard Gas Co. and the New Amsterdam Gas Co. had determined to accept the 80-cent rate pending decision by the courts of their individual suits, asserting that the law is confiscatory.

There still remains out in the cold the New York Mutual Gas Co.

Ice Bridge Is Formed.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Jan. 18.—With the continuance of cold weather the ice bridge across the Niagara River, under the upper bridge, to within 100 feet of the horseshoe falls. The bridge is the largest in years.

In spite of zero weather a big crowd crossed yesterday. A path has been cut across and shacks have been erected for the sale of curios, refreshments and liquor. Photographers do a large business, being on neutral territory, and vendors of intoxicants do not have to obtain licenses to sell alcohol and license inspectors of Canada and the United States cannot interfere. The ice bridge is frequented by a large number who cannot obtain any intoxicants in either of the cities on the banks of Niagara River.

Newfoundland Not Satisfied.

St. John's, Nfld., Jan. 18—The United States and Newfoundland have not succeeded in deciding upon the terms of a new fishing agreement now being considered by Right Hon. Jas. Bryce, the British ambassador, and Secretary of State Elihu Root.

Early this week Sir Robert Bond, the Premier, will leave for Washington to confer with Ambassador Bryce and Secretary Root. It is understood that the Premier demands the inclusion among subjects to be submitted for arbitration a number of matters which the Americans maintain are absolutely guaranteed under the treaty of 1818.

GOT DRUNK ON CHOCOLATES AND PROSECUTIONS FOLLOW

Brandy Drops Containing a Half Teaspoonful of Liquor Are Found and 80 Confectioners Have Been Summoned to Appear at Montreal.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—As the result of a boy getting intoxicated on chocolates filled with brandy the other day, several hundred dollars' worth of chocolates have been seized in the Lowney factory, and some 30 confectionery storekeepers have been summoned for selling brandy illegally.

Chief Archambault of the provincial revenue police has found that brandy chocolates, with more than half a teaspoonful of brandy in each, and 25 to 30 of the chocolates in each half-pound box, have been sold extensively in the city at 60 cents a pound.

One of the largest chocolate manufacturing establishments in the city is concerned in the action. On Friday afternoon 100 cases, with four or five pounds of these chocolates in each, according to the statement of Mr. Archambault, were seized by the revenue police on the premises of the Walter M. Lowney Co. of Canada, and from 25 to 30 gallons of brandy in a cask was confiscated in the same establishment.

Following this, a tour of the city confectionery stores was made by the revenue officers, with the result that yesterday thirty candy-store proprietors were summoned to the Police Court. The charge in each case is "selling liquor without a license," this being the only accusation on which actions of the kind can be entered.

A similar charge has been entered against the Lowney company. Numerous cases of boys and young women having bought half-pound boxes of the chocolates and afterwards being noticed in a state of intoxication have been reported. The largest sale was in the neighborhood of the east end theatres and picture shows, matinee girls being the most noticeable purchasers.

Fully half a teaspoonful of brandy is said to have been found in some of the chocolates. An examination of the confectionery shows that there is only a small coating of chocolate, and inside a thin shell of white sugar, the interior being composed of pure liquor.

The Lowney company claim they had the brandy for flavoring purposes, and not for filling the chocolates.

ALTERATION SALE TO OPEN AT MERRELL AND MEREDITH'S

An interesting event at the present time, to many of whom the saving of a few dollars on a purchase means a good deal is the great alteration sale which starts tomorrow at Merrill and Meredith's big clothing store. The expiration of their lease on one-half of the store on February first, leaves them only ten days to reduce their large stock to such dimensions as can be accommodated in just half its present quarters, and in order to do this the staff are are all busily engaged with blue pencil and red tags, marking down the prices of everything in the store to cost or thereabouts, thus offering the citizens an exceptional opportunity to secure supplies for men and boys wardrobes at a great saving over the regular price. A glance in the store at the piled up tables and shelves gives a good idea of the big slaughter necessary if enough fine suits and overcoats are not cleared out in ten days to leave the stock the right size for the small space it must go into, the way it is to be done will be told tomorrow to all who visit the sale on opening day. In yesterday's Review a few prices were quoted an indication of what may be expected on other lines not mentioned.

ADMITS THAT HE MURDERED

Niagara Falls Italian Confesses That He Stabbed Woman Because He Loved Her.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Jan. 19.—"He killed my mother!" shrieked Mary Candiano when she was yesterday brought face to face at police headquarters with James Noc, the young Italian who stabbed Mrs. Tonnette Candiano to death at her home.

After his identification by the murdered woman's daughter, Noc made a complete confession of the crime to District Attorney Ackerson.

"I killed her because I loved her," declared the murderer. He told the district attorney that the woman had been wooed by him long before her husband died and that she had repulsed his advances.

He was greatly agitated when told that his victim was dead and wept like a child when the information was imparted to him.

It was only after a long and tedious chase that he was caught. He slung his left arm in a sling thinking the police would not seek a foreigner with an injured arm, but Detective-Sergt. Callinan recognized him from the description given by the dead woman's children. He will appear in the Police Court to-day to answer to the charge of murder in the first degree.

KILLS FAMILY AND HIMSELF

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 19.—With their heads submerged in water in a bathroom at their home, W. L. Seeley, an attorney, aged 56, his wife, aged 50, and daughter, Rene, aged 22, were found by F. W. Zibbell and Guy M. Smelzer, yesterday. Smelzer was engaged to marry Miss Seeley, and Zibbell was a friend of the family.

Mrs. Seeley and her daughter had been murdered with blows inflicted with some blunt instrument, believed to have been a hammer. Seeley had been drowned, according to Coroner Snyder.

Over the corpses of Seeley and his wife was a steamer trunk. An empty chloroform bottle was on the stand in the bathroom. Clutched in one hand of Seeley, which was beneath the water, was a pocket handkerchief which, although soaked in water, still carried a faint trace of the odor of chloroform.

LETTER CONTAINING CHARGES AGAINST THE FIRE CHIEF

Was Presented Last Night at Meeting of Fire Water and Light Committee—Special Meeting of Committee on Thursday

Ex-Ald. Johnston has written to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, of the City Council charging Chief Howard of the Fire Department with a variety of offences against good discipline. The charges of course, are of such a character that they cannot be ignored either by the committee or by the Chief. Ex-Ald Johnston further states that he brought these matters when a member of the council, to the attention of the Mayor, in time for an investigation and for a report upon them in December of last year but that for some reason no investigation of them was then held. He says that he feels it his duty on account of his former connection with the committee and the city's interests to bring these charges up again.

The Chief says that he understands charges of a similar character have been laid against former Peterborough brigades but that he is of the opinion that results should be allowed to explain themselves and he appeals to the efficiency of the brigade and its work under his control. He further says that whilst "he does not pretend to be perfect as possibly his accuser is" nevertheless he is firmly of the opinion that when the public comes to hear his side of the case they will acquit him of what may reasonably be termed wrong-doing.

OPENING BRANCH IN PETERBOROUGH

Knox Company Will Have Five Ten and Fifteen Cent Store Here---Opens Feb. 1st.

The S H Knox Company, will open a branch in Peterborough about the first of February. It will be a five, ten and fifteen cent store, and will be located in the north half of the premises occupied by Merrill and Meredith on George street. The latter firm is retaining the south half for their own business.

The Knox Company has branches in leading cities of Canada and the United States. Only goods that sell at five, ten and fifteen cents are carried.

THE LEGISLATURE WILL HAVE BIG LIST OF PRIVATE BILLS

Toronto is Applying for a Large Number of Measures Having to do With Civic Affairs---Salvation Army Wants to Incorporate.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Applications for legislation are increasing as the opening of the session of the Legislature draws near and private bills threaten to be numerous if not important.

Toronto wants $135,000 debentures or power to use street railway revenue for bridges, paving, eastern entrance to the Exhibition ground and other improvements.

The same city also wants to contribute $10,000 a year to the police fund; to create an audit department; to erect a memorial tablet to Toronto volunteers killed in 1885; to annex East Toronto; to enlarge the borrowing powers of the city; to provide that the electric distribution plant debt shall not count as part of the general debt to permit the issue of debentures for the cost of track elevation and other works.

James G. G. Badgeley has resolved to tempt fate by asking to be allowed to practice law without the usual qualifications. Even veterinary surgeons were denied this privilege last session.

The Salvation Army wants to vest all its property held by trustees or agents in itself and seeks incorporation for this purpose.

Chatham wants to bonus the Chatham, Wallaceburg & Lake Erie Railway Co., and pay 5 per cent. on $50,000 debentures for the purpose.

Cobourg, Peterboro & Kawartha Lakes Electric Railway Co. wants to issue bonds at the rate of $25,000 a mile.

Canadian Casualty & Boiler Insurance Co. would reduce its capital stock.

Cornwall wants to bonus the Modern Bedstead Co. with $30,000.

Peterboro Radial Railway wants an extension of time to build, and to extend to Stoney Lake.

Dunnville, Wellandport & Beamsville Electric Railway Co. wants extensions.

Fort William desires to fix the term of office for its fifth municipal street railway commissioner.

SAID TO HAVE SOLD LIQUOR TO A MAN WHO IS ON THE "INDIAN LIST"

Timothy Cavanagh was charged selling liquor to Fred Irwin, a blacklisted man on December 24th. Mr A. D. Poussette appeared for the defendant and pleaded not guilty.

Mr James Lillico, brother-in-law of Irwin was called. He had known him to drink heavily for two weeks at a time. He was drunk about December 24th for several days. He did not know where he had got his liquor.

Mr Desprey said that he was boarding at the Foster Temperance House and Fred Irwin was staying there too. Irwin and the witness went for a walk on the morning of Wednesday, December 23rd. They entered defendant's hotel and had two drinks of whisky. They returned and had another in the afternoon. It was not good whisky. He did not know that Irwin was on the blacklist.

Fred Irwin was called and testified to getting liquor at the Cavanagh House one morning about the 22nd or 23rd of December. He did not remember being there with the last witness.

Mr Poussette did not put in any defence, stating that the one who got out the 'blacklist' paper had died before the offence was committed and he argued that the papers did not hold good on that account.

His Worship enlarged the case until Friday.

HAD EXCITING EXPERIENCE

Thessalon Men Were Charged by Wolves Which Are Roaming in Packs.

Thessalon, Jan. 19.—While crossing upper Cedar Lake, about 35 miles north of here, in the Township of Gould, John Hope and Robert and David Foster were pursued by a pack of wolves thirteen in number. When the animals got well spread out the party who were well armed, stopped and fired sixteen times at them. The wolves were frightened away.

Members of the party say there are swarms of wolves in the vicinity, and a wolf hunt to take place next month is being organised.

GOWGANDA

Cobalt special leaving Toronto, 10.15 p.m., daily makes direct connections with stage reaching Elk Lake next afternoon. Full information from W. Buntin, C.P. and T. A.

NO THOUGHT OF THE TRAIN

Girl Who Escaped Grimsby Disaster is Sure to Recover---More About the Accident.

Grimsby, Jan. 19.—Miss Lottie Teeter, seriously injured in Saturday morning's railway crossing accident when five were killed, is improving in the hospital at Hamilton, and her recovery is assured. Baby Teeter, the 11-months-old survivor, shows no ill effects. The funeral of Mr. and Mrs. George Teeter yesterday was largely attended.

Miss Teeter has given the following account of the accident:

"We were all in the best of spirits and never gave the danger of the track a thought. I was sitting at the back of the rig, near Gordon Nelson, and the first intimation I had that the express was approaching was when Mr. Wilson, who was driving, stood up and attempted to rein in the horses. I knew a train was due at three o'clock, but did not think it was that late when we approached the crossing. The horses stopped suddenly and wheeled around, and then the engine crushed full tilt into them."

She felt herself flying in the air with great force. Twice the sleigh had stopped to unload a portion of the passengers. At the corner of the main street Arthur Wentworth and Mr. Burt got out and said good-bye cheerily to their friends. The sleigh drove on and again it stopped when Orian Colwell dropped off.

CALLS THEM ELECTIONEERS

Charge Against Baptist Ministers in Pittsburg---Says Witnesses Can be Produced.

Pittsburg, Jan. 19.—Rev. Dr. A. W. Puller, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, a wealthy and prominent congregation, avers that the managers of W. A. Magee, candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Pittsburg, dickered for the services of five Baptist clergyman as press agents, the work to be done from the pulpit.

Those in charge of the Baptist congregations here, in addition to the Rev. Dr. Puller, are the Revs. Sims, Webb, Henderson and Scott. The five of them, according to Rev. Dr. Puller, were summoned last Wednesday to the office of William A. Roberts, a rich business man and friend of Magee. Puller says he will produce witnesses who he stationed outside of the door to hear what took place. The five pastors were invited, he says, to "boost" Magee in talks or sermons from their pulpits, and also to surrender personal letters which each had received from John Steek, another candidate for mayor. Each of the ministers was to receive $100 in payment for services rendered.

Rev. Dr. Puller alleges that Rev. Mr. Scott made the arrangements with him, and apparently was conducting the affair. Puller revealed the proposed transaction to friends previous to the meeting in Robert's office and was advised to see it through.

Roberts says Rev. Dr. Puller is angry with him because he refused to extend a mortgage on his home and that Puller more than any of the others arranged the meeting in the office.

THE FRUITS OF THE EARTH

Seem To Be Nature's Provision For Keeping Man Healthy and Warding Off Disease.

Cereals, vegetables and meat supply the elements needed for man's nourishment. Yet fruit — though it has very little food value—has proved to be absolutely necessary for perfect health.

Careful investigation has shown that all the common fruits act on the Liver, Kidneys, Bowels and Skin. These are the organs that rid the body of dead tissue and waste products, and the fruit juices stir them up to more vigorous action, thus keeping the whole body clean and healthy.

But few people eat enough fruit. Realizing this, after several years of experimenting, a prominent Canadian physician succeeded in combining the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes in such a way that the medicinal action is many times multiplied. Then he added valuable tonics and made the combination into tablets called "Fruit-a-tives." They are really Nature's cure for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness and Stomach Troubles. Mild as Nature itself — but more prompt and effective. Sold by dealers at 50c. a box—6 boxes for $2.50—trial size box 25c. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

A DISAPPOINTED AUDITOR

The death of ex-Auditor General McDougal recalls the splendid service performed by this vigilant officer during more than a quarter of a century Mr McDougall had served for ten years in the legislature and parliament as an uncompromising Liberal, when the Mackenzie government, almost on its last legs, made him Auditor-General. For 18 years he scrutinized the accounts of his former political opponents. He was strict and vigilant but the Conservative ministers saw the necessity of such an officer, and tried to keep their departments up to his standards. Mr. McDougal naturally expected still better things from his own party when at last it reached power on the promise of greater economy and stricter business methods. He was bitterly disappointed, and during his whole period of office after 1896, met with official and ministerial resistance to his efforts to prevent irregular, dishonest and wasteful administration, Departments, on some of which the light has since been turned triumphed over him. There were perpetual overrulings of his objections, and persistent refusals of information which he required. In the end the Auditor was worn out by the struggle and allowed himself to be retired from the service. From that time until the Courtney-Fyshe investigation, the machine men and grafters who overcame the auditor had things all their own way. But Mr. McDougall lived long enough to see some thing brought to light, which he had not been permitted to investigate.

THE CANADIAN CLUB

Notwithstanding the pessimistic utterances of one or two of the speakers at last night's banquet, who endeavored, quite needlessly, we think, to open the eyes of the lecturer to the fact that the attendance was poor, it was a really goodly number that sat down to a well-arranged dinner and listened afterwards to Rev. Dr. Gould's address. When it is remembered that only more populous places can permanently sustain a club with a permanently intellectual programme Peterborough may be said to be doing well when it can send 60 or 70 representatives even to so important a number on its evening programme of attractions. The lecture last night conveyed to the audience the idea the lecturer had in view, viz., that rottenness will sooner or later of necessity and of its own weight, fall to the ground. He objected to the words, "bloodless revolution," since it was through a maze of blood that the final victory had at last been obtained. The new president, Mr. O'Connell's fine panegyric upon British institutions came very suitably after the horrors described by Dr. Gould. The lecturer is a forceful and fluent speaker and made an excellent start for the programme of a promising season for the strongest of our local societies of the same character and influence.

DECLINE OF GERMAN FAITH

"Ecclesiastical circles in Germany are much exercised at the rapidly increasing desertions from the State Church" says the Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph.

"Although the process of official separation from the Church is one of the greatest difficulty, delay and expense, it is computed that in Berlin alone considerably over 10,000 persons have severed their connection with the Church during the past year. So great is the number of those who are notifying their intention to terminate their membership that special offices have been opened in Berlin to receive their applications, which now number between 300 and 400 daily. These applications are almost altogether from members of the Lutheran Church, and hardly affect the Roman Church at all. Added to this is the significant fact that the numbers of communions, baptisms and church marriages are rapidly diminishing. It is computed that for every five marriages celebrated five years ago in church and registry office only three are now celebrated in both places, the other two being satisfied with a civil ceremony alone.

"Among the working classes, especially those attached to the Social Democratic party, there exists a bitter hostility to the clergy and all institutions which they control. The clergy have not shown themselves sympathetic to democratic wishes siding on almost all occasions where conflict exists between poor and rich, between possessors and dispossessed, with the class in power. Apparently they have lost touch with the people, and complaints are loud and general that real pastoral work, such as exists in cities, towns, and manufacturing districts of England does not exist to any sufficient degree in Germany. There is, moreover, a widespread feeling that the clergy are paid far too high salaries, yet, notwithstanding this large additions have been made recently to their incomes.

"Much dissatisfaction is also felt at the methods employed by the ecclesiastical authorities in collecting those dues assigned to them by law. Defaulters are as ruthlessly treated as though their debt were a civil one, and it not unfrequently happens that defaulters' goods and chattels are sold to meet church demands. Lately also considerable feeling has been aroused by the clerical opposition to cremation, especially in Prussia, and also to their conduct at graves of suicides, which is entirely mediaeval in its character.

"But probably the chief cause of the movement against the Church is the spread of agnosticism among all classes of the population, and the fact that even in those universities where until recently an orthodox theology was taught there are now few chairs from which ultra-Liberal views are not proclaimed.

"The constitution of the German Empire provides for entire liberty of conscience and complete social equality among all denominations. The relations between Church and State varies in different States of the Empire. In Prussia the State Church is the Evangelical or Protestant, and since 1817 has consisted of a fusion of the Lutheran and Calvinistic bodies."—Public Opinion (England.)

A BELATED APOLOGY

"No civil servant ever deserved better of his country than did the late John Lorne McDougall, who filled the office of Auditor-General of Canada from 1878 to 1905. Prior to his appointment to the position the character of the office was greatly changed; its incumbent was invested with powers much greater than those exercised by his predecessors, and was saddled with correspondingly increased responsibility. The occasion of this change of system was a Parliamentary inquiry into certain expenditures, and as the then Auditor-General, the late Mr. John Langton, preferred retirement to undertaking the work of what was to be virtually a new and very exacting office, the Mackenzie Government secured from Mr. McDougall, who then represented South Renfrew in the House of Commons a reluctant consent to undertake the herculean task.

The strongest proof of his preeminent fitness for the work is the fact that though he had been but a few months in office when the Government that had appointed him went down to defeat, the succeeding one did not attempt to remove him, and it is well known that Sir John Macdonald always held him in high esteem in spite of the irritating persistence with which he blocked the way to expenditures of the legality of which he was not assured. There is nothing surprising in the fact that he was never popular with either party in office, but that will not tend to discount the estimation in which he was held by the general public in his lifetime, and which will be long perpetuated by the many annual volumes containing his voluminous criticisms of public expenditure. It is not too much to say that the way in which he discharged his duties during his long official term has greatly influenced for the better the methods of auditing the public accounts in all the Provinces of the Dominion."—The Globe.

It may be that the Globe's epitaph upon the tomb of Mr. McDougall is based upon "nil nisi bonum de mortuis," for on any other supposition its failure to censure the Laurier Government for his dismissal is unaccountable. If he really was all that the Globe hints then his dismissal was inexcusable. If the Globe did not mean it so then it is due to the desire to speak only well of the dead. It will ever remain one of the greatest disgraces of the Canadian governmental system that an administration could remove a non-partisan officer, who held the position of guardian of the Public Treasury, without protest from the dominant party. The Globe's present reference to Sir John Macdonald's retention of him notwithstanding his "irritability" or obstinacy, shows that the journal is well aware of the true character of the crime committed.

Neurasthenia was comparatively unknown fifty years ago, the medical journals say. Our ancestresses kept to hysterics or occasional outbursts or collapses. Today the feminine world has an epidemic of "nerves" running through it. It is probably due to the greater participation of women in commercial life or active literary work. At any rate it is producing unpleasant if not unhappy results. It must not be confused with the agitation for "the rights" of women.

"Rev D S Phelan, writing in the Western Watchman, has this to say of the lay management; In view of the recent revelations regarding the methods of the Fidelity Funding Company and the ruin brought upon many Catholic institutions the 'Independent' asks if it would not be better to place the management of all Catholic Church property in the hands of laymen. It was a layman that brought the Purcell failure and a layman that got away with what was saved from the wreck. It was a layman that brought the Catholic university to the verge of bankruptcy. Kieran is a pretty slick layman. We think the trouble is now too much layman."—Catholic Register.

Canadians who have a loyal respect for honors and titles coming ostensibly from His Majesty received a rude shock from a statement made the other day by Hon. W. H. Tuck, retired Chief Justice of New Brunswick. The former judge gave the particulars of an intimation made to him while he was yet on the bench, and when a judgeship was wanted for a certain politician. The proposition was that the Chief Justice should resign on a pension equal to his full salary, and in consideration of his doing so he would be knighted. Chief Justice Tuck replied he would rather be an untitled judge than an idle knight, and an untitled judge he remained. He retired later, when he found himself less able to perform his duties, but admitted that he could not claim the title as he had refused to make the vacancy when it was needed.

Negro Servant—"No, Boss. Nuthin' —'cep the dawg is dead.

Master—"The dog is dead! What did he die of?

NS—"Dunno boss—'less it was roast ed hoss-flesh."

Master—"Roasted horseflesh. Why, what do you mean?

NS—"Well, you see boss, the barn burned down and burned up the hosses."

Master—"What! How did the barn catch fire?

NS—"From the house, boss. You know the house burned down."

Master—"Good Heavens! Why didn't you tell me this before? How did it catch?"

NS—"From the candles around the corpse, boss, I guess."

Master—"What?"

NS—"You know you're mother-in-law's dead, boss."

Master—"Oh!"

OF INTEREST

The Year Book of the Non-conformist Churches are now ready, and from these may be gained the latest statistics.

The Congregationalists report 4,918 churches, with 497,662 church members, 715,371 scholars, and 70,102 teachers.

"On comparing these with the statistics published a year ago, it will be found that there is a decrease of thirteen churches and halls, of 1,291 church members, and of 13,976 Sunday scholars," says the British Congregationalist.

CONGREGATIONAL STATISTICS.

"On the other hand, there is an increase of 236 in the seating capacity of the churches, and 527 in the number of Sunday school teachers. The decrease of churches is due to the closing of a number of small mission halls and other buildings.

"The falling-off in membership too, may be accounted for to a large extent by the omission of certain returns in the Welsh list, and by the fact that in England there are forty-eight churches for which no figures are available. In regard to the number of scholars it may be pointed out that the new movement in the Sunday school world is to some extent responsible for the apparently anomalous position of an increase in the number of teachers at the same time as there is a falling-off in the figures as to scholars. Matters are in a transition stage, the plan of smaller classes for the younger children being adopted in many places, while a number of scholars, have been promoted to the rank of assistant teacher."

BAPTIST STATISTICS.

"The annual statistics of the Baptist churches in the 'Baptist Handbook' for 1909, which has just been published, give further evidence of 'arrested progress,'" says the Times, "For the second time in succession there is a large decrease in the total Baptist membership for the United Kingdom. The 3,046 churches, report an aggregate membership of 424,008, as compared with 429,877 in 1907, a decrease of 5,869. This decline is thought to be due mainly to the reaction from the Welsh revival which does not seem even yet to have run its course. Wales, with a total Baptist membership of 133,287, reports decline of 4,220 Of this a large part has been in Glamorganshire, the chief scene of the revival.

"During the year there was a considerable increase in the number of chapels. There are now in Great Britain and Ireland 4,124 Baptist churches providing accommodation for 1,450,352 worshippers. In 1908 fifty-five chapels were built, with seats for 23,451 persons. Sunday school teachers and scholars number respectively 58,187 and 578,344, a decrease, compared with 1907, of 115 teachers and 8,816 scholars. The handbook contains memoirs of fifty Baptist ministers and missionaries who died during the year. Eleven of these lived to more than eighty years of age, and sixteen were over seventy. The average age for the fifty, was 67.8 years."

METHODIST STATISTICS.

"In Great Britain and Ireland the Wesleyan Methodist Church has 2,695 ordained ministers, 20,409 accredited lay preachers, 551,816 church members, including parishioners, but not the large number of young people on the junior roll, 7,922 Sunday schools, with 134,767 officers and teachers and 1,016,128 scholars, and 8,999 churches, with seating accommodation for over two and a half million persons," says the Daily News.

"Primitive Methodists have 1,156 ordained ministers, 16,189 lay preachers, 212,204 church members, 4,156 Sunday schools, with 59,568 teachers and 465,726 scholars, and 5,136 churches.

"The United Methodist Church has 880 ordained ministers, 6,217 lay preachers 188,851 members.—Public Opinion.

The first article in the last issue of the Times Literary Supplement was devoted to Pascal, a new book on him and a new edition of his words having appeared in France. As we shall see, it gives a vivid picture of that extraordinary man of science and of vision.

In the same issue was a review of the poems of a man whose name even will not be known to many—John Clare. But his poems have just been issued in a new edition with an introduction by Arthur Symons, Clarendon Press, 2s, 6d. net; by post 2s. 9d. Piquancy is added to the lives of both of these men by contrasting their extraordinary differences in life.

PASCAL'S AMAZING VERSATILITY

Pascal, says the reviewer, was "one of those prodigies so exceptional that they seem different animals from ordinary men. His Provincial Letters, the work of a few months, has been sufficient to establish him as one of the masters of French literture." The extraordinary versatility of the man is bewildering to mortals.

"But art was not his main occupation; and posterity has in consequence a good deal neglected him. His interest lay in other directions, some of them opposed, and even hostile, to anything so pagan and sensuous as art. Primarily a man of science, geometrician, arithmetician, algebraist, physicist, hydrostatist, he makes large and historical contributions to these sciences in all their branches. He invented the Theory of Chances, he founded the Calculus, and solved hitherto insoluble problems in conic sections. His experiments and conclusions established the weight of air. He was a mechanical inventor and patentee, and constructed the first calculating machine. He was a man of business and a few months before his death carried out the idea which had struck him of having public omnibuses running in Paris. Nothing was too big, nothing was too small for him; to help his favourite and ingenious system of teaching little children to read, which immediately spread through France.

PASCAL, THE MAN OF FASHION.

"He ran into extremes and shone in all of them. He was a man of fashion for a short moment, the friend of the Duchesse d'Aiguillon, the lion of her salon in the Petit Luxembourg; intimate with the Duc de Roannes—a duc et pair, a personage consequently so great that it is bad manners to speak to him with your hat on. He was the correspondent of Queen Christina of Sweden, then the centre of European interest—as she well might be, for she had inherited in her youth one of the greatest Thrones in Europe."

PARSCAL'S YOUTH—HE DIED AT 40

But none even of these things possessed his full mind; he had a still greater interest; and yet we are told "he was never free from his pains for a day, and often could take no nourishment but liquids, hot, and only drop by drop. His fiery mind had really worn out his frail body from the very beginning; his parents had tried to arrest its prodigious development, but could not do it. He was only eleven when he wrote his first treatise on Sound; at sixteen his Traite des Coniques' was published; at twenty-one he had invented his calculating machine; at thirty-one he had finished this scientific work and retired from the world; he was not forty when he died. Even these crowded years of life could not quench his fire."

The one interest overshadowing and obscuring all others was religion. In an age of religion he is passionately religious. His family had been caught in that great revival in Catholicism which is contemporary with and near akin to Puritanism with us. Like Puritanism, it narrowed itself and became a similar austere, small, and militant sect, known as the Jansenists. In Pascal everything is really subordinated to religious interests. He is devout in every possible sense of the word; spending hours in intense meditation of the Christian mysteries, going, as was the fashion of the day, into a perfect solitude, a retraite, for months to do so; patient to the point of ridicule, and thinking charity so much the business of life that he was opposed to the first hospitals which were then being built as dispensing private individuals from performing their proper duty. He nevertheless left them his fortune."

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Liquor Restrictions In New Zealand.

Wellington, N.Z., Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the Auckland Brewers' and Licensed Victuallers' Association, representing all the wholesale and nearly every member of the retail trade, it was unanimously resolved to abolish barmaids in private bars and to raise the age limit at which youths may be supplied with liquor from 18 to 21. No woman is to be supplied with liquor for consumption on the premises unless she is boarding in the house.

Charged With Blackmail.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Mrs. Jos. Hubbard, who was arrested Sunday at Uno Park, north of Cobalt, by Provincial Detective Greer, charged with writing letters to John Waklin, Cannington, was taken through Toronto yesterday to the county jail at Whitby, where she is detained. It is alleged that she wrote a letter saying that if Waklin did not send $500 to her husband, she would blow up his house with dynamite. She is said to have written other letters to Port Perry, Ont., containing similar threats.

Telegraphers at Ottawa.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—Representatives of the Order of Railway Telegraphers from all the Canadian railroads will assemble this week in Ottawa. They will petition asking the Dominion Government to enact an eight-hour work day for all telegraphers employed on railroads.

Elopers Overtaken.

Chatham, Jan. 19.—Jules Labute, aged 20, and Georgina Tetreault, aged 17, eloped from Tilbury yesterday and vainly tried to secure a marriage license in Chatham. They were overtaken by the girl's mother, who marched her back to Tilbury.

Record Gas Flow.

Lethbridge, Alta., Jan. 19.—The C.P.R. have struck a splendid flow of gas at Bow Island.

A. M. Grace tested the flow and it indicates 5,241,060 cubic feet every 24 hours, four times as great as any Canadian gas well.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.

Montreal School Burns.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—Fire at nine o'clock yesterday morning completely destroyed the west wing of the Royal Arthur school, one of the largest Protestant schools in the city. Cause, a defective flue.

Three Children Cremated.

Quebec, Jan. 19.—Three children of six, four and three years of age lost their lives in a fire that destroyed the house of their father, Lewis Nadeau, Beauceville. The parents were visiting.

Relief Officer Resigns.

Brantford, Jan. 19.—City Relief Officer Ben. Hunn resigned yesterday after 30 years' service, retiring on account of advanced years. Ex-Ald. E. S. Eddy is mentioned as his successor.

Worst Blizzard In Years.

Winnipeg, Jan. 19.—Train service is practically at a standstill as a result of one of the worst blizzards in years.

Root Senator For New York.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 19.—Elihu Root, Secretary of State in President Roosevelt's Cabinet, was the unanimous choice of the Republican legislative caucus, which met last night to name a candidate to succeed United States Senator Thomas C. Platt, whose terms of office expires on March 4.

The Democratic caucus named former Lieut-Governor L. Stuyvesant Chanler of Dutchess, who was the Democratic candidate for governor at the November election.

Mr. Root's nomination is equivalent to an election as the Legislature is overwhelmingly Republican.

Big Fire In London.

London, Jan. 19.—Fire broke out this morning at 12.30 in the Globe Casket Co.'s factory, corner of Dundas and Adelaide streets.

By one o'clock the roof had fallen in and the building was practically destroyed.

The plant is valued at $150,000.

The building and contents of the Globe Casket Co. will be an entire loss.

Must Learn Value of Money.

Montreal, Jan. 19.—So that her son, Andrew Eric Copland, would "work for himself and pay his board as his brothers did, independently of any property which he may inherit, and so learn the true value of money," his mother, the widow of Edward H. Copland of Montreal, in her will, directs that he shall not share in her estate of $60,000 until he is 25 years of age.

Charged With Usury.

Chatham, Jan. 19.—W. White, a wealthy local moneylender, came up for his preliminary hearing at the Police Court yesterday, on a charge of usury. He pleaded not guilty, but has not yet elected as to how he shall be tried.

Steamboat Merger.

Detroit, Jan. 19.—Announcement is made that a merger of the Detroit and Cleveland Navigation Co. and the Detroit and Buffalo Steamboat Co. will probably be adopted at the annual meetings of the two companies next month.

Protest Against Big Navy.

Boston, Jan. 19.—A demonstration against a further increase of the United States navy, signed by 224 clergymen of various denominations in Boston and vicinity, was sent to Congress yesterday.

Western Millionaire Killed.

Salt Lake City, Jan. 19.—J. G. Wood of Salt Lake City, millionaire mine owner, and perhaps the largest sheep owner in the west, was instantly killed by an engine in the yards Sunday evening.

HOW THE BLOOD FIGHTS DISEASE

How the blood fights disease

How disease works and how it fights for mastery, and how it sometimes gets defeated are thus set out;

"The blood contains an enormous number of corpuscles or cells of two different kinds, both invisible to the naked eye, but larger than bacteria. These are the red, to which blood owes its color, and which are mainly oxygen carriers to the tissues, and the white, somewhat larger, a chief function of which has only lately been determined. These white corpuscles resemble the low form of animal life known as amoebae, single cells which, when they come into contact with a morsel of nutritive matter, mould themselves around it, and cause it to pass through their external envelope into their interior, where it is consumed.

"Metchnikoff, by whom this action of the white corpuscles was discovered, called them phagocytes or eating cells, on account of it; and it is now known, not only that invading bacteria of a noxious character are frequently thus consumed, but also that an invasion in normal conditions of the system, induces a rush of phagocytes to the invaded region, so that, if the force thus furnished be sufficient for the purpose, the invaders may be destroyed before they have had time to produce the specific effects which would arise from their continued presence and their multiplication. A period, known as that of incubation, is commonly interposed between the invasion of infective bacteria and the appearance of the disease which they set up. During this period the invading bacteria are multiplying and struggling for mastery with the invaded organism.

CAUSES OF TEMPORARY INDISPOSITION.

"The struggle may go on without any outward sign at all, or it may be accompanied by slight disturbances of health. If the phagocytes conquer, the disease never breaks out. It is practically certain that many temporary indispositions and fleeting local pains are the expressions of such conflicts, in which the defeat of the bacteria prevents the occurrence of grave illness, for it is certain that noxious bacteria enter the body far more frequently than the number of illnesses would lead us to suppose. If the first attempts at defence on the part of the body are futile, and the bacteria are able to multiply, then the disease breaks out, and severe symptoms show that the struggle between host and parasite has become intense. Of these symptoms, it is not always possible to say which are signs of continuing conflict and which of impending or accomplished defeat."

MR. STEAD AND PERSONALITY AFTER DEATH.

"For the past fifteen years I have been convinced by the pressure of a continually accumulating mass of first hand evidence of the truth of the persistence of personality after death and the possibility of intercourse with the departed. But I always said, 'I will wait until someone in my own family has passed beyond the grave before I finally declare my conviction on this subject," writes Mr. W. T. Stead, in an article entitled "How I Know that the Dead Return" in the January Fortnightly Review.

"Twelve months ago this month of December, I saw my eldest son, whom I had trained in the fond hope that he would be my successor, die at the early age of thirty-three. The tie between us was of the closest. No one could deceive me by fabricated spurious messages from my beloved son.

COMMUNICATION WITH THE DEAD.

"Twelve months have now passed, in almost every week of which I have been cheered and comforted by messages from my boy, who is nearer and dearer to me than ever before. The preceding twelve months I had been much abroad. I heard less frequently from him in that year than I have heard from him since he passed out of our sight. I have not taken his communications by my own hand. I knew him so well that what I wrote might have been the unconscious echoes of converse of the past. He has communicated with me through the hands of two acquaintances, and they have been one and all as clearly stamped with the impress of his own character and mode of thought as any of the letters he wrote to me during his sojourn on earth.

After this I can doubt no more, for me the problem is solved, the truth is established, and I am glad I have this opportunity of testifying publicly to all the world that, as far as I am concerned, doubt of this subject is henceforth impossible."

Lakes to Gulf Canal.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 19.—In his inaugural address to the Legislature yesterday, Governor Deneen said:

"It seems to be now an established fact that the Canadian Government is seriously considering the construction of the Georgian Bay Canal, which will give to Canada a deep waterway from the lakes to the Atlantic seaboard, and there should be a speedy beginning on the part of the United States and the states interested in the construction of the lake-to-the-gulf waterway, in order that this country may stand upon an equality in all commercial advantages with Canada and Great Britain."

A Government driveway, to encircle Ottawa is planned.

Horses in Canada have an average value of $46 and milch cows $34.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Steady—Hogs 10c to 25c Higher at Buffalo.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 13c to 14½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 9¾c to 10c per lb.

Toronto Junction Live Stock.

TORONTO JUNCTION, Jan. 18.—Receipts of live stock at the Union Stock Yards were 70 carloads, composed of 1500 cattle, 341 sheep and lambs, with 29 calves.

Exporters.

Export steers sold at $5 to $5.50 per cwt.; export bulls, $4 to $4.60, and two or three prime quality bulls sold at $5 per cwt.

Butchers.

The market for butcher cattle was strong at about the same quotations as were given on Friday last. Prime picked lots of one and two together sold at $4.90 to $5.15; loads of good, $4.60 to $4.85; medium, $4.10 to $4.40; common, $3.75 to $4; cows, $2.50 to $4.50; canners, $1.50 to $2.50 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

Between twenty and thirty milkers and springers sold at $35 to $51 each.

Veal Calves.

A few veal calves sold at firm quotations, ranging from $4 to $7 per cwt.

Sheep and Lambs.

The market for sheep and lambs continues strong, with prices very firm, as follows: Ewes, $4 to $4.50; rams, $3 to $3.75 per cwt.; lambs, $5.75 to $6.00 per cwt.

Hogs.

Hogs are reported steady, at $6.50 for selects, fed and watered, and $6.25 to drovers, at country points, f.o.b. cars.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.—(Special.)—At the Montreal Stock Yards, West End Markets, the receipts of stock for the week ending Jan. 16, were 2458 cattle, 1118 sheep and lambs, 3401 hogs and 127 calves. The supply for local consumption this morning consisted of 1300 cattle, 550 sheep and lambs, 1800 hogs and 75 calves.

A much stronger feeling has developed in the market for cattle since this day week and prices have scored an advance of ¼c to ½c per pound. This is attributed to the continued small supplies coming forward and the recent strength in the west, coupled with the good demand from local and outside buyers, owing to the very favorable weather prevailing for keeping stock. Another feature of the market this morning was the increased percentage of good to choice stock offered, which also tended to strengthen the situation to some extent as there was some demand from exporters for such and several loads were bought, notwithstanding the fact that cables from Liverpool on Saturday reported trade slow and noted a decline in prices of ¼c to ½c per pound, as compared with last Monday's. The demand from Quebec buyers was also good and they purchased a few loads, consequently an active trade was done. Choice beeves sold at 5¼c to 5½c, good at 4½c to 5c, fair at 4c to 4½c, common at 3c to 3¾c, and inferior at 2c to 2¾c per pound.

There was no further change in the condition of the market for sheep and lambs, prices being well maintained under a good demand from local and Quebec buyers and as the supplies were rather limited, there was a keener competition and a brisk trade was done. Choice lots of sheep sold at 3¾c to 4c, and culls at 3¼c to 3½c, while choice lots of lambs brought 5¾c to 6c, and good 5¼c to 5½c per lb. The offerings of calves were small, for which the demand was good and prices ruled firm at from $2 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

The market for hogs is unchanged from last Wednesday, but it is much stronger than it was a week ago and prices are 15c to 20c per cwt. higher. Supplies coming forward are small, for which the demand is good, and an active trade was done at $7.15 to $7.25 per cwt., weighed off the cars, for selected lots. Cables from all the leading foreign markets on Canadian bacon last week were stronger and noted an advance in prices of 1s to 2s per cwt., but packers here state that they will have to go much higher than they are before they will be able to export at a profit with hogs at their present level.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

Kept Open on Sunday.

St. Thomas, Jan. 19.—The Lord's Day Alliance communicated yesterday with Toronto headquarters in regard to the prosecution of the proprietor of the Empire Moving Picture Theatre.

He refused to listen to persuasion and opened his theatre Sunday night with the Passion Play and sacred songs. Though not advertised he had two good audiences. The crown attorney when appealed to delegated the police chief as censor, but the chief saw nothing objectionable.

Increase For Civil Servants.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—It is expected that the Parliamentary estimates at the approaching session will contain provision for a substantial increase in the scale of civil service salaries, based on the large increase which has occurred within recent years in the cost of living.

This increase, if granted, will not be on any percentage basis, but will be in the nature of a flat bonus addition to the salaries of public servants of all classes.

Engine Off Track.

Stratford, Jan. 19.—The engine, baggage car and smoker on the passenger train which leaves Toronto at 8.30 a.m., arriving in Stratford at 12.13, was derailed at Mosboro. Conductor Iles and Engineer Jones of Toronto were in charge of the train. No person was injured. The accident was due to a broken truck on the tender.

Over $5,000 Increase.

Toronto, Jan. 19.—The announcement was made at the offices of the Anglican Missionary Society yesterday that the full returns of the collections for the past year had just been completed.

The reports show a total of $111,637, against $95,817, making a net increase of $5,820.

A Question Many Parents are Asking

Parents who have boys who are members of the Y.M.C.A. are no doubt, wondering what their boys are doing when at the Y.M.C.A.

On Thursday, the 21st inst., the boys of the Y. will give an exhibition of their work in the gymnasium.

There will be drills, marches, games, races, blindman's pillow fight, and sack basketball.

This exhibition will be an education to the parents and friends, who do not know what goes on at the Y.M.C.A.

The races will make plenty of excitement, while the sack basketball and the blind man's pillow fight are very amusing.

The ladies walking race promises to be the hit of the season.

The proceeds of this entertainment will be used for securing a number of new magazines for the boys' library.

FITZGERALD—CAHILL.

This morning at eight o'clock at St. Peter's Cathedral, the marriage took place of J. W. Fitzgerald, O.L.S., C.E., son of the late J. W. Fitzgerald, O.L.S., C.E., and Agnes, third daughter of the late Thomas Cahill, Esq., Collector of Inland Revenue, and Mrs. Cahill, Gilmour street. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father McColl, rector of the Cathedral in the presence of a large congregation.

The bride was escorted by her brother-in-law, Mr. J. J. English, of Hastings, and the bridesmaid was Miss Amelia Cahill, sister of the bride. Mr. Wm. Grady acted as best man.

After the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served at the residence of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald left on the 11:26 C.P.R. express for Montreal en route to Boston, New York and the south. On their return they will take up their residence in this city. The bride and groom are well and favorably known to a large circle of friends throughout the city, who will wish them a long and happy wedded life.

WESTON—FRASER.

On Saturday, January 16th, at the home of Mr James Shields, 169 Darling street, a wedding took place, when Miss Alice Pearl Fraser, was married to Mr Harold Weston, the second son of the late J Weston, of this city in the presence of a large number of friends. The clergyman, was Rev Mr Caswell, of Colborne St. Methodist church. The young couple were unattended. The bride was given away by her father and wore a gown of white point desprit over white liberty satin in Empire effect. The veil was of tulle, crowned with lillies of the valley and the bouquet was of bridal roses and lillies of the valley. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the bride's sister, Miss Viola Fraser of Peterborough. The room in which the wedding took place was decorated with palms, ferns and carnations. After a wedding trip to Boston the young couple will reside at 169 Darling street. — Brantford Expositor.

ASK FOR CHARTER

Company Propose Electric Line From Cobourg to the Kawartha Lakes.

Toronto, Jan. 18.—An electric railway may be built connecting Cobourg with Peterborough and the Kawartha Lakes. An application has been made to the Legislature for a charter to the Cobourg, Peterborough and Kawartha Lakes Electric Railway Co. Two lines are proposed, one between Cobourg and Havelock going through the village sof Warkworth, Burnley, Centreton and Baltimore; and a second from Cobourg to the Kawartha Lakes, through Cold Springs, Plainville, Bewdley, Bailieboro, Centreville and Peterborough. The lines are not to exceed thirty miles each.

The company asks leave to issue bonds to the extent of $25000 a mile, which would amount to $1500,000 for the two roads.

Peterborough Radial Railway Co. asks for an Act extending the time for completion of the road, and for authority to extend it from Clear Lake to a point in Stony Lake in Peterborough county.

SOME WRANGLING OVER MATTER

Of Appointment Assistant Fire Chief—Chief Says Man is Just on Trial

The members of the Fire Department wrote the chairman of the committee stating that if the present foreman of the department was promoted to the position of assistant chief they would refuse to work under him.

They claim it would be unfair to the other men of the department, who had been there from the start.

The man objected to is Grange.

The letter was signed by nine members o fthe brigade.

Alderman Hicks suggested that the matter be laid over until more information was secured.

Ald. Turner said that he did not know much about the respective merits of the men, but the department was in charge of the chief and he should know who the best man should be. Personally he knew that Mr. Grange was a good man. But he thought that if the chief selected a man as assistant chief, that would be sufficient for him. He would be in favor of changing the whole brigade if they should show any insubordination. The chief must have full control of his men.

Ald. Hicks and Chairman Butler agreed with this an dthe former stated that if the chief's selection was not satisfactory then the committee could deal with the chief.

Chief Howard of the Department arrived at this moment and the letter was read to him.

The chief stated that Grange was a good man and that he had not really thought very seriously about the appointment. The man was only on trial anyway. Mr Brummell was also a good man.

On motion the matter was left in the hands of the chief and also that all matters in reference to the department should be communicated to the chief.

The chief also made the statement that five of the men had themselves applied for the position and were very anxious to get it.

PRAISE FOR MISS DAVIES

Miss Helen Davies, of Peterborough, scored a distinct success as soprano soloist in the cantata, "The Flag of England," which was presented by the National Chorus in Toronto last night. The Mail and Empire has the following reference;

"Sir Frederick Bridge's setting as a cantata of Kipling's "The Flag of England," was revived by the choir. Kipling is one of the most impossible of poets as a singable proposition, and Sir Frederick's military setting with its super-abundance of brass does not make him any easier, but the chorus climbed over the difficulties in fine fashion and was particularly effective in the charming lyric interlude, "Never the Lotus Closes." Miss Helen Davies, of Peterborough, whose powerful soprano voice, with its sweet and silvery timbre, is ever a delight, surpassed herself in the difficult declamatory passages of this ungrateful work. The fine quality of the organization in unaccompanied works was demonstrated in a delightful rendering of Lee Williams' setting of "The Peddler's Song," from "A Winter's Tale," and Leslie's "Lullaby" of life As an added feature, the chorus "Thanks Be to God," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," was given a most spirited rendering with a fine body of tone."

The Globe says;

The soprano soloist in "The Flag of England" was Miss Helen Davies, of Peterborough, whose bright, clear voice won her a gratifying demonstration.

THE NEED OF THE CHINESE

A Vast Field Demanding Man More Missionary Workers

Last night was missionary night of the Young People's Society of Knox church and Rev. H. J. Keith delivered a lecture on "China, its Missionary Problems." Only a handful of white people to 400,000,000 Chinese in China. The eastern race need the sympathy of the western, and the only solving of the problem is the Gospel of Jesus Christ. Education, was another problem, that had to be faced in China. The Canadian missionary movement wants to send out three young men to China to teach the way to teach, not to preach, but to teach the Gospel. Literature was a problem the speaker referred to. There are 11,000 different publications only 40 Christian, 100 non-Christian, yet 60 novels can be published in one year.

The number of missionaries in China is 4,000 to the great population of 400,000,000 people.

The number of missionaries must be multiplied to do the work, for there are vast tracts of land unoccupied and where many are without any means of hearing the gospel tidings.

The address was much enjoyed by those present. A trio was afterwards sung by Messrs. McCannon, Gatley and Davenport.

CARD OF THANKS

In connection with the fire at Auburn on Sunday morning Mr Brown, who was burned out, is overseer in the carding department for the Auburn Woollen Company, and he wishes to take this opportunity of thanking the neighbors and friends for their kind assistance in their time of need. Mr Brown and his family just escaped with their lives, Mr Brown having to pass the children out in the cold with nothing but their night clothes on. The loss on the contents of the house was in the neighborhood of $1000, partly covered by insurance.

Mr Brown also wishes to take this opportunity of thanking Fire Chief Howard and his men for the quick time they made after the alarm was turned in and also for their valuable assistance in saving the neighboring property, handicapped as they were by the lack of fire protection in this part of the city.

BIBLE CLASS HONOR TEACHER

Presentation and Address to Mr. Isaac Richardson Last Night

About fifteen members of Mr. Isaac Richardson's Bible class of the Charlotte street church, gathered at his house on Homewood avenue last evening and presented him with a pair of handsome gloves and a silk scarf. An address was read by Mr. S. D. Carver and the presentation was made by Mrs. Thistlewaite. The address was as follows;

To Brother Isaac Richardson;

We are gathered here this evening to give expression to a deep sense of our appreciation of your untiring efforts to instruct us in the Holy Scriptures;

For several years it has been our privilege to attend your Bible Class. We have noted your praiseworthy punctuality; we can always depend upon you being present. We feel sure, judging from your able teaching of the lessons, that you devote a great deal of time and thought to their preparation.

We not only desire to express our gratification for your past services, but at the same time to record our earnest wish and hope that you may be spared to break to us the Bread of Life.

It is with pleasure that we ask your acceptance of this slight token of our appreciation of your valuable services, praying that you and yours may still be the subjects of the Heavenly Father's care and love.

Signed on behalf of the Bible Class, Peterborough, Jan. 18th, 1909.

Refreshments were served during the evening and an enjoyable time spent.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S PROGRAMME FOR THE SEASON

The Peterborough Historical Society, of which little has been heard for some two or three years has taken on new life and now presents to the public a varied and interesting programme for four meetings to be held during the winter season.

This Society was organized on December 7th, 1896, and since that time has done some very effective though quiet work. Being in affiliation with the Ontario Historical Society, its aim has been to collect materials which would some day be of service as details in the history of the country, the Province or the Dominion. Much of this kind of work has been done, and the stories of the lives and struggles of the pioneers of Peterborough County have been collected and preserved.

However almost a greater work has been done by the Society in the collection of relics of historical events natural history and geological specimens. These and many collections loaned by citizens have been placed on exhibition in the Museum in Inverlea Park. This Museum is one of the points of interest visited every year by large numbers of tourists and it amply repays a visit. In the library there are many books and manuscripts of antiquarian interest, photographs of the city of Peterborough, when it was far from being a city, and collections of weapons showing the gradual development of the modern rifle. The room is set apart for the display of geological specimens and fossils discovered in the building of the Trent Valley Canal; another room is filled with natural history specimens and another is the Florida room, which is filled with representatives of the fauna and flora of that southern state. Historical relics, such as a Boer flag, weapons picked up on the field of Waterloo, the headlight of the first locomotive used in Ontario, and many other objects of interest are to be found in the halls. Some of our leading citizens who have lately visited the museums of other cities of about the size of Peterborough, state that one room in the Museum in Inverlea Park contains more than most of the museus they visited. The Victoria Museum is open every afternoon during the summer months until Oct. 15th, and in winter the caretaker will open the doors for any who wish to visit it.

Though in maintaining the Victoria Museum the Society has been doing a good work its members consider that there is other work which it should do. Therefore a series of meetings has been arranged at which addresses will be given by prominent men and discussion will be invited. These meetings are not held for revenue as they are free to the members of the Society and to the public. On February 11th it is expected that Mr. Barlow Cumberland of Toronto, President of the Ontario Historical Society, who has been so active in the agitation for the restoration of the Old Fort, will deliver an adddress on "The Attack on Fort York, April 27th, 1813."

The meetings are to be held in the Collegiate Institute and are arranged as follows;—

Jan. 26—"Volcanoes"—Mr. G. A Cornish, B.A.

Feb. 11—"Attack on Fort York, 1813"—Mr. Barlow Cumberland Ph.D.

Feb. 23—"Beginnings in Medicine"—Malcolm McCulloch, M.D.

March 23—"The British House of Commons"—Mr J. H. Burnham, M. A.

OFFICERS OF DORCAS SOCIETY WILL PAY VISIT TO NEEDY ONES

The Dorcas Society met yesterday at the home of Mrs. W. G. Rankin, Gilmour street. There was a very good attendance, and quite a large amount of work accomplished in the sewing line. Afterwards there was an election of officers. The officers are as follows;—

President—Mrs. W. G. Rankin.
Treasurer—Mrs. Atkinson.
Secretary—Mrs. Common.
Purchasing Committee—Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Evans.

City Relief Officer Miller gave the Society 20 names of those who had applied to the city for help, and it was placed before the meeting. The ladies of the society will form a committee of investigation and will visit the families requiring assistance for the purpose of finding out the nature of their requirements, and doing what they can to assist them in a charitable way.

ST. JOHN'S A. Y. P. A.

The A.Y.P.A., of St. John's church, held a most successful social evening last night, which took the form of a word building and a word guessing contest. The first prize was allotted to Miss Ola Cavanah, and the consolation prize was taken by Mr. A. Appleton. An observation table, was another pleasing and entertaining feature of the evening, at which Miss Lily Wesley won first prize and Miss Annie Roberts the consolation. A large attendance was present. The next social will take the form of a pancake social and will be looked forward to with much pleasure by all the young people of St. John's.

SPORTING NEWS

PETERBOROUGH WON ANOTHER

Electric City Seven Doubled Score on Belleville on Latter's Ice--Brilliant Hockey Played by Winning Team.

(By Staff Representative.)

Belleville, Jan. 19.—Four to two is doubling the score, and that's what the Peterborough Intermediates did to Belleville in an O.H.A. game here to-night.

And now the slogan is "On to Lindsay."

It was a great victory for the Electric City seven and places them right in the running for the district in which they are grouped. It was a greater victory than even the sanguine supporters of the team looked for.

The half time score was 4—1 and the game throughout was characterized by the most brilliant brand of hockey. One who had seen the same two teams perform at Peterborough Friday night would not know that it was the same two sevens that were playing here last night. The hockey at Peterborough could hardly be called classy; in fact there were times when it was of an indifferent nature. Last night's contest was different. Belleville was intent on victory and started off at a whirlwind clip. For the first five minutes the home team had the best of the play but after that the visitors settled down and then there was nothing to it but victory for the Peterborough outfit. Belleville never let up, however, and they were going just as fast at the finish as when the game started.

Ditto Peterborough.

The pace was a terrific one from start to finish, and the spectators, who numbered about six hundred, were agog with excitement throughout. The Belleville team displayed much better form than when they played at Peterborough, and to pull out a win the Peterborough seven had to cut loose. This they did in splendid style. The defence was like the side of a house, and the forwards skated shot and combined in a manner that was good to see. Time after time they would get away three or four in a line and go down the ice like a whirlwind. Had it not been for Pepper's splendid work at point for the home team, the score might have been counted in double figures.

The Belleville team was slightly different from that which played at Peterborough on Friday night. "Doc" Gilbert was moved out to rover and Burke was at cover. Allen was dropped from centre, and Lane Spangenberg, who is somewhat of a youngster, took his place. Reeves was at right, and K. Spangenberg at left. The change seemed to improve the team, for the way they travelled was in no way slow. Pepper did great work for the defence and Lane Spankenburg was all to the good at centre. Gilbert made some dangerous rushes but couldn't do much with the Peterborough defence.

Derocher had his eye peeled for everything that came his way and did sensational work in the net. Even the Bellevians had to applaud some of his brilliant stops. Glover was right there at point and seldom in his long career as a hockey player did he play a better game. Moore was perhaps the most effective man on the ice. He used his weight to great advantage and broke up rush after rush. Of the Peterborough forwards Rose was the star. The fair-haired boy played one of the best games of his life. He had it all over his man and held down the wing in splendid style. His shooting was good and he travelled like a Kansas hurricane throughout. Parnell did great work at centre ice, giving a great exhibition of stick-handling. Ray, though suffering from a severe cold, performed well at rover. Dusty was very effective at left wing and checked his man to a standstill.

The Peterborough forwards checked back in great style and never seemed to tire.

The game was not rough; the players showing a desire to play clean hockey and stay on the ice. Referee Moxon of Toronto, wasn't labelled I. K., and let a lot of rough stuff get away from him.

The game started at 9.30 and there were few delays. The ice space of the Belleville rink is a little larger than that of the Brock street rink but the lighting is not up to much. The ice was in splendid condition.

The Peterborough team was accompanied by about a dozen supporters. They arrived home at eight o'clock this morning staying at the Hotel Quinte over night.

HOW THE PLAY WENT

The game started with a rush. The ice was keen and it was apparent at once that the pace was going to be lively. Belleville was going strong, and enthusiasm prevailed among the big bunch of supporters. Derocher was called upon to block, which he did cleverly. Rose made a fine run along the side, but his shot was a little wide.

The puck travelled back and Glover secured it and rushed, passing to Rose but again the shot was a few inches out.

Gilbert brought the puck down but lost to Moore, who combined with Dusty for a sensational rush that was without result.

Rose went to the penalty box for two minutes and shortly afterwards, Dusty also got two minutes on the fence.

From a scrimmage in front of the Belleville net Rose poked the puck in and then there was a big noise from the small contingent of Peterborough rooters.

Peterborough 1; Belleville 0.

Shortly after play was resumed, Ray was hurt and a short delay followed.

Belleville pressed and the puck struck the goal post and bounded back. Belleville claimed a goal and a wrangle followed but the umpire claimed it was no goal and it was not allowed. Burke went off for slashing and Ray scored in three minutes.

Peterborough 2; Belleville 0

The Belleville line combined and K Spangenberg scored. Time 1 1-2 min.

Peterborough 2; Belleville 1

After six minutes play in which the visitors pressed strongly, Ray scored from a scrimmage.

Peterborough 3; Belleville 1.

Ray was doing some nice stunts in the centre of the ice and Glover and Moore were blocking with great effect. Ray brought the puck down and passed to Rose, who scored. Time 3 minutes.

Peterborough 4; Belleville 1.

Only a few minutes remained till the bell sounded for half time.

There had been no let-up in the pace in the first half and the ten minutes rest seemed to put the players in shape for another gruelling half hour. The second half opened with the players travelling at a terrific pace. Belleville was playing a desperate game and the visitors were not on the defensive. The forwards were combining splendidly, Rose being especially prominent at right wing. Burke laid for Dusty and gave him the butt of the stick. The latter retaliated and a scrap started. Both players got ten minutes with the timers.

Derocher made a great stop. K. Spangenberg was chased for two minutes for roughing it. When he came on Reeves scored for Belleville on a pretty shot. Time 17 mins.

Peterborough 4; Belleville 2.

That was the last of the scoring.

Belleville landed the puck in the net but an offside had been called and of course it did not count.

Moore was put off for two minutes and was with the timers when the whistle was blown for the end of the match.

TWO SCHEDULED GAMES IN P. B. C. BOWLING TOURNAMENT

Two scheduled games were played yesterday in the ten pin series at the P.B.C., the Examiner B's furnishing the surprise of the day by a three game victory over the Greys, and as a result the winners jump to last position in the first division of the league. The Hams and Frontenacs participated in the second contest and two of the three games went to the Frontenacs, the Hams getting away with the second string.

The Examiner B. team were lucky to get away with the series from their opponents, who put up a stubborn contest all the way and only lost the second string by three pins. McFaden was high man for the losers while Jim Clarke surprised the fraternity by carrying off the honors for the winners, his 195 score being a splendid effort.

To-night the Belmonts will play off a postponed game with each of the Examiner teams, and the B's will also meet the Frontenacs. Last night's scores follow;

SATISFACTORY YEAR SHOWN AT THE ANNUAL MEETING

Nicholl's Hospital is in Good Condition--Praise for the Superintendent--Financial Statement

The annual meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Nicholls Hospital was held yesterday afternoon in the chambers of the Dominion Bank. There were present Messrs. Richard Hall, chairman; W. H. Hill, J. McClelland, W. Kemp, W. Aldridge, W. Madill and Rev. J. G. Potter. The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed. Before the secretary's report was presented Mr. Richard Hall in the following remarks reviewed briefly the work that had been done during the past year.

The Members of the Nicholls Hospital Board, Peterborough, Ont.

Gentlemen,—It is with much personal gratification that I am able to testify at this time to the continued and well deserved popularity of the Nicholls Hospital. In all the departments pertaining to the treatment and comfort of the sick there is every evidence of careful administration. The superintendent, Miss Dela Matre, has been faithful and unremitting in her duties and has done her part in giving the hospital the high standing it now enjoys.

For some months attention has been given to the painting and improvement of the wards, the result of which has been to impart to them a bright and cheery appearance.

Considerable outlay has been incurred in providing a full complement of furnishings, linen, etc.

During the year Miss McGregor was appointed assistant superintendent and she has admirably fulfilled the expectations of the Board and has justified the high recommendation submitted to the Board at her appointment.

A large icehouse has been built which will provide for ice supply the year round.

The medical staff continue to perform their duties with the utmost fidelity and are most attentive to the free patients, who are placed under their charge.

I wish to congratulate the Board on the excellent code of by-laws, rules and regulations recently adopted for the government of the various departments of the Hospital.

The secretary will now present his financial report and I am glad to note that we were able to end the year with a substantial balance on hand.

RICHARD HALL,
Chairman.

INSPECTOR'S REPORT

The report of the government inspector of the Nicholls hospital was very complimentary and satisfactory. He summed up his observations thus, "My visit of inspection impressed me favorably in regard to the careful manner in which this hospital is conducted and the efficient management is very commendable."

"The dietary is excellent."

SPORTING TALK

The Lindsay Intermediates passed through town today enroute for Cobourg where they play a league match this evening. From the noise they made it was quite evident that they do not get away from home very often—Port Hope Guide.

At the Brock street rink last night in the Mercantile league a game was played between the GTR and the CGE, the latter winning by 4-1.

Will Be Tried For Usury.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—Chas. W. Mitchell, former newspaper publisher at Ottawa, will appear in court on Thursday on a charge of usury. He is alleged to have charged more than 12 per cent. on a loan of $150 to K. Hillman, a Government draftsman, who suicided recently. The Attorney-General's Department have investigated the case.

It is said that many civil servants are in the grasp of men who extort high interest for "accommodation."

He Loved Animals.

Of Blackmore, the novelist, an old friend said that his kindness to animals and birds was nearly divine. "Dogs loved him; pigeons followed him about. A blackbird built in a hole in his garden well one year, and he planked the well over lest the young ones, when they became venturesome, should be drowned. From the planks over the water he had a sort of ladder constructed for them to escape, which they all did and repaid him by bountifully devouring his strawberries. There is a picture of himself as a vine dresser in one of his Devonshire tales, 'Christowell.' His love for women and girls, especially girls, was as great as Mr. Ruskin's, but less outspoken, though evident in his books. There is always a Lorna or a Dariel as sweet as English air can make her. He was shy and retiring and not given to tongue."

The Sex of Ships.

The word "ship" is masculine in French, Italian, Spanish and Portuguese and possesses no sex in Teutonic and Scandinavian. Perhaps it would not be an error to trace the custom of feminizing ships back to the Greeks, who called them by feminine names, probably out of deference to Athene, goddess of the sea.

But the English speaking sailor assigns no such reasons. The ship to him is always and eternally a lady, even though she be a man-o'-war. She possesses a waist, collars, stays, laces, bonnets, ties, ribbons, chains, watches and a varied assortment of other distinctly feminine attributes.

The Tyranny of Custom.

Every human being has natural affections and natural antipathies. Instead, however, of obeying the impulse which makes us pursue the former and avoid the latter, we allow the most intimate relationship in life to be decided by calculating reason. Even in the matter of food and drink, we neither eat when we are hungry nor drink when we are thirsty, but whenever the ringing of a bell summons us to a meal for which we may or may not have the smallest inclination.—London Ladies' Field.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF
From Coughs, Colds, Sore Throats and Hoarseness by Using Hyomei.

When you catch cold you want to get rid of it as quickly as you can. You don't want to lie around the house for a week, swallowing nauseating drugs.

Why not avoid all this. Why not relieve your cold in five minutes. Why not cure it over night. You can do it by using Hyomei, the sure and guaranteed cure for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrh, bronchitis, and asthma.

William Guest, of Ayr, Ont. says; 'Booth's Hyomei has proven to be a most satisfactory treatment for nasal catarrh and bronchial trouble. I have doctored considerably for these troubles, and conscientiously say that nothing ever used has given me such quick and lasting benefit as this remedy. I have found it especially good for cold in the head and cough. I am very glad to endorse Hyomei as an article of uncommon merit."

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is medicated and antiseptic air. You breathe it into the lungs through a small pocket inhaler and its soothing influence as it passes over the inflamed membrane of the respiratory tract, stops the mucous discharge, allays the inflammation and the cold is cured. A complete Hyomei outfit costs $1.00 and Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, will refund your money if it fails to cure.

Women at Oxford.

Lord Curzon, chancellor of the University of Oxford, has now appeared as a champion of woman. Having been charged with being an opponent of higher education for women, he protests: "So absurdly untrue is it that in my scheme of reform for Oxford I am going to propose that degrees and not merely examinations shall be open to women on exactly the same basis as to men." Already the voice of alarm and protest has been heard from the conservative university.

The Daily Review

TUESDAY, JAN. 19

RECENT CRISIS IN TURKEY

which had meant so much to Egypt. Then another reason for the change lay in the building of railways. The constructing of the Bagdad railroad and the railway that runs from Acre to Damascus to the sacred provinces of Mohamed brought before the people the power of Germany in Constantinople. The influence of that country was looked upon as selfish. The fifth cause was the existence of Foreign Post Offices in Turkey, representing the different Western nations. These existed because of the unreliability of the Turkish offices. Anyone could open another's letters if he wished and no newspapers were carried at all. The administration of the telegraph system was somewhat similar. Five minutes after a telegram was received the whole community knew the contents of it, everyone having the privilege to read it. The liberalism of western people was not allowed to enter the country, but rather the Turkish people were subject to a strict censorship.

DESTRUCTIVE CAUSES.

These, the speaker continued, reflected back upon the old regime. The condition of the Christians in the Mohammedan world was one of the causes. There was no equality between the Mohammedans and the Christians or the members of other religions in the eyes of the law. The oath of one Mohammedan would outweigh the oaths of a dozen Christians.

Dr. Gould cited an instance in his own experience which bears out the above statement. A Christian man was brought to the hospital having been brutally beaten by a Mohammedan. Although it was well known who the offender was, the injured man's son was cast into prison for the offence.

The eloquent lecturer spoke of the maladministration of justice giving illustrations of the awful state of affairs which existed and which would almost seem incredible.

Then there was the chronic state of rebellion. It was impossible to overlook the rivers of blood that had been shed in Turkey. In an attempt to suppress the Yemen revolution, six years ago, alone, there had been engaged no less than 85,000 troops and of that number, the speaker was sure at least 65,000 died of starvation. He told how on one occasion, two years ago a regiment of a thousand men left Jerusalem for a march of five hundred miles through the disaffected districts. The entire commissariat of the regiment consisted of a few bags of unground wheat.

The spies and secret police, employed under the old regime, were a great drawback to the country. In this connection, Dr Gould said that it was considered the greatest crime to hold any reform ideas whatever. He spoke of how seventy-five or eighty young educated and intelligent Armenian men were left to die in a prison without light or air and which would not comfortably accommodate more than thirty.

Other contributory destructive causes were the insatiable appetite of government officials for funds, a large part of the Empire being the private property of the Sultan, the degradation of Sultan power, and the refusal to pay young men enlisted in the Army their legal rate of income. The whole state of the Empire was bad and the reformers rose in rebellion to overthrow the old regime and the influences, both constructive and destructive.

MANY DIFFICULTIES

The speaker thought that there were many difficulties in the way of the present progress of Turkey. There were the fundamental inconsistencies of the religious races that make up the Empire, the baneful results of the last regime, the awful state of civil affairs, and the power of the Bulgarians, a nation that came through the despotism of Turkey, as strong as they entered.

Dr Gould briefly referred to the way Mohammedan women were degraded. It was beyond his powers of description to tell of the awful lives of those poor creatures and in that, he said, was the ruin of Turkey in the past and the hope of the future.

FUTURE VERY DUBIOUS

In conclusion, the speaker thought that the future prospects of Turkey were very dubious. The reform principles were the reaction of intolerable despotism. But the Mohammedan people have turned to Britain for education on British lines, for reorganization of their army and they look to Great Britain as the home of liberty and model constitutional government.

VOTE OF THANKS

A hearty vote of thanks moved by M. F. D. Kerr and seconded by Mr. D. Hughes Charles was passed to Dr. Gould. Both gentlemen and the chairman, who tendered the thanks to the speaker, referred in complimentary terms to the eloquent address. Everyone had received a great deal of instruction as well as listening with intense interest to one who had labored in the Eastern world and who has a thorough knowledge of his subject.

Dr. Gould acknowledged the thanks of his hearers, assuring them that it gave him a great deal of pleasure to address them.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

SPECIALIST WAS BAFFLED

Child Tortured With Eczema—When All Else Failed Zam-Buk Cured Her

Once again the unequalled merit of Zam-Buk as a healer of skin disease has been demonstrated, this time at Lunenburg Co, NS.

Mr D G Mossman, of that place, says:—"My little girl, now nearly three years old, when about four months of age began to be afflicted with eczema. I consulted a specialist who did his best for that poor little thing but the disease baffled him, and after a long trial I was obliged to admit that his treatment was not doing any good. Then I tried various remedies, which were advised by friends, but with no better results.

Next I called in another doctor—Still the disease continued to spread. It began in the form of small spots and pustulates on the child's head. These increased in size and discharged. The discharge seemed to spread infection to other parts, and bit by bit the diseased area increased until at last the poor child's head and face seemed to be one great sore.

"When the second doctor failed to give any relief, I was at a loss of what to do. Someone who had tried Zam-Buk strongly advised me to give it a trial and I did so. The first few applications did not seem to have any effect at all but although not apparent it must have been attacking the very roots of the disease, for after persevering with the treatment for a little while we noted a marked improvement. Encouraged by this we continued with Zam-Buk and left off everything else. The disease was gradually subdued, the itching grew less acute, and the little one's suffering was relieved. Then the area of the sores grew less and less, and in the end every trace of the dreadful eczema was removed. Not only so, but there has been no scarring or marking left to disfigure the child's face.

"There is now no trace of the disease which caused her much suffering, baffled one specialist and one practitioner, and defied every remedy I could obtain, save Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk is Nature's own healing balm, being composed of pure herbal essences. It is a sure cure for eczema, ring worm, ulcers, cuts, burns, bruises, poisoned sores, chronic wounds, bad leg, piles, festering sores, chapped hands, cold sores, frost bite, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and stores everywhere sell at 50c a box, or post free for price from Zam-Buk Co, Toronto, 3 boxes $1.25. You are warned against harmful imitations sometimes represented to be "just as good."

Roblin Signs Answer.

Winnipeg, Jan. 19.—Premier Roblin on Saturday signed a reply of Premiers of the three Prairie Provinces to the Grain Growers' Association, on the latter's proposal for Government ownership of internal elevators.

The report was then sent west for signatures of Premiers Scott and Rutherford.

It is expected it will be in the Grain Growers' secretary's hands in about ten days.

In this connection it will be remembered that without committing himself to any action, Premier Scott recently announced that if the Government assumed ownership it would be only on condition that the handling of the grain became a Government monopoly.

New Dean Chosen.

Kingston, Jan. 19.—The committee appointed by St. George's Cathedral congregation to select a rector in succession to Bishop Farthing of Montreal, has unanimously chosen Rev. Dr. E. J. Bidwell, head master of Bishop's College School, Lennoxville, Que., and the choice has been confirmed by the Bishop of Ontario.

Dr. Bidwell has accepted. He will be made Dean of Ontario by the bishop. It is likely he will take up his duties at an early date, but will not move his family until about May 1. He is the son of an English clergyman, is 43 years of age, was ordained in 1892, and has been in Canada since 1903.

THE CUSTOMS OF INDIA

STRANGE TRADITIONS EXIST DESPITE CIVILIZATION.

Writers on Britain's Possession in the Orient Tell of Wierd Experiences Among the Natives—Rite of "Sati" Is Horrible Survival of Ancient Superstition—Treatment of Girl Wives.

India is still the home of strange cults and customs in spite of the waves of modern progress. India is still the land of legendary faiths in spite of the handful of "intellectuals" who would take on their shoulders the strenuous burden of western actuality. It is in the twentieth century still the incarnation of that eastern spirit of which Matthew Arnold caught at least something in;

The brooding East with awe beheld
  Her impious younger world.
The Roman tempest swelled and swelled,
  And on her head was hurled.

The East bowed low beneath the blast,
  In patient, deep disdain;
She let the legions thunder past,
  And plunged in thought again.

These lines are fittingly quoted at the beginning of Prof. John Campbell Oman's "Cults, Customs, and Superstitions of India," and all through these interesting pages one feels how seldom European eyes stray beneath the surface of this ironical submission. And of all the survivals from the past, the most sinister is the rite of sati, which condemns the widow to the funeral pyre of her husband. Sir George Lawrence has described in his "Forty-three Years In India" one of these horrible scenes, of which he himself was an eye-witness:

One morning, on dismissing the regiment from parade, the havildar major (native adjutant) requested my permission to attend a "tomasha" (an extraordinary sight). On inquiry it turned out that a suttee was about to take place in the neighborhood of the cantonment of Neemuch, and I resolved to witness it myself. On reaching the spot I found a large crowd collected around a funeral pyre, on which a poor victim about to immolate herself was seated. Seeing a number of my own troopers in the crowd, I asked them if they would stand by me if I attempted to rescue the woman from her dreadful fate, and finding that they were quite willing, I approached the pyre near enough to address her, saying that I was ready to save her life if she desired it. She expressed her gratitude, but refused, saying she was willing to die. Immediately afterwards the flames enveloped her, and in a few seconds she was burnt to ashes. Her calm intrepidity was most astonishing, especially as she had not even the excitement of her husband's body to be consumed with her—only a portion of his clothes, as he himself had died far from his home.

The author gives a story of a romantic rescue which was followed by an equally romantic sequel. Job Charnock, the agent of the East India Co. in Bengal, and the founder of Calcutta, is the hero of the story as related by Capt. Hamilton and quoted in Wheeler's "Early Records of British India":

He went one time with his ordinary guard of soldiers to see a young widow act that tragical catastrophe, but he was so smitten with the widow's beauty that he sent his guards to take her by force from her executioners, and conducted her to his own lodgings. They lived lovingly many years, and had several children. At length she died, but instead of converting her to Christianity she made him a proselyte to Paganism; and the only part of Christianity that was remarkable in him was burying her decently. He built a tomb over her, where all his life, after her death, he kept the anniversary day of her death by sacrificing a cock on her tomb, after the Pagan manner. This was, and is, the common report, and I have been credibly informed, both by Christians and Pagans who lived at Calcutta under his agency, that the story was really true.

A sati was performed in 1883 within five miles of a British cantonment, but the Jeypore Durbar punished severely the abettors of the crime. "Quite recently, too," said the author, "that is, in 1904, 1905, and 1906, a few widow burnings have, in spite of the law, been carried out in British territory."

But bad as was the death of the widow in India, the life of the daughter-in-law was, and is, almost worse. "It is a well-known fact," says Shib Chunder Bose in "The Hindus as They Are," "that females who commit suicide in India are generally between the ages of 13 and 20, and that these acts may almost always be traced to the oppression of cruel mothers-in-law. That the daughter-in-law is in every Hindu household regarded as a servant, is evident from the fact that when the bridegroom is about to proceed to the house of his bride on the occasion of the marriage ceremonies, his mother asks him where he is going to, and he replies with the prescribed formula: 'To bring in your maid-servant'."

Prof. Oman investigated a case of cruelty on the part of the mother-in-law to the wife of one of his own servants: "His fellow-servants stated that the young woman was up every day hours before daylight to grind the corn for the entire household; that she had to sweep the house and lay on a fresh wash of clay over the floor every day; that she had to cook the food, carry it herself two and a half miles to the river where the washermen were engaged, bring back the plates, and cook the evening meal against the return of the dhobis. According to all accounts she worked early and late, but could never please her mother-in-law."

Not the Same.

"The sun shines not on all alike,"
Said the maid unto the man.
"For some girls it merely freckles,
While others it does tan."

Joseph Brochu was whirled to death in the machinery of Joseph Goulet's sawmill at St. Layone.

HOW MANY HAIRS YOU HAVE.

About 120,000 of Them Are Apportioned to Each Person on an Average.

Hairs are composed of scarf-skin, and are covered with thin, flat, overlapping scales—which is the reason why an eyelash or other hair in the eye irritates it so much. Nobody has ever attempted to reckon the number of hairs that cover the human body, but those of the head have been counted, and it is known that 120,000 of them make about an average allowance.

Each hair is a tube, with a bulbous enlargement at the lower end, and grows out of a vase-shaped "follicle" with a narrow neck. At the bottom of the vase is the true root, which is clasped by the bulb aforesaid. When the hair is forcibly pulled out the bulb comes along with the stalk, but the root remains behind to produce another hair.

This is why, in the case of superfluous hairs, it does no good whatever to pull them out. The roots remain behind undisturbed, and presently there is a new crop. The only known cure for the mischief is to insert an electrified needle into each of the little vases, or "follicles," and burn the roots to death. It is a process almost painless, but expensive, because slow, and demanding no little skill on the part of the operator.

From the above explanation it will be understood also why a woman's hair may come out plentifully with the comb, and yet she may not become bald. In such a case it simply means that the hairs which drop out have lost their vitality, and their removal gives an opportunity for new ones to grow. But if the roots themselves die, baldness is the inevitable and incurable result.

Some women's hair is naturally curly or wavy, to the envy of their friends of the same sex; others have straight hair, which can only be made to wave or curl by artificial means. The difference between the two is easily explained. Straight hairs are cylindrical in form; curly hairs are oval in section. A negro's hairs kink because they are flat in places. The heat of the curling tongs when applied to straight hairs causes each one of them to contract on one side and to curl in that direction—whence the beautifying effect obtained, which is necessarily temporary.

The hairs on a woman's head grow at the rate of one-fiftieth of an inch a day, or seven inches a year. This represents an average, considerable variation being found in individuals. It is said that blond hairs have a higher tensile strength than brunette, and that 120,000 of them plainted into a rope will support a weight of eighty tons.

Needed the Prayers.

The late Lord Sackville became persona non grata to the Government while he was Ambassador to Washington through expressing an opinion of the political situation.

"It was through a mean trick that Lord Sackville was led into this expression of opinion," said a London journalist the other day. "Once, in describing the trick to me, he compared himself to a country clergyman.

"This clergyman, he explained, was waited on one Sunday morning by a young man.

"'Will you kindly ask the congregation's prayers this morning,' said the young man, 'for poor William Smith?'

"'Willingly,' said the clergyman.

"And at the proper moment in the service he besought all those present to pray earnestly for the unfortunate William Smith in the great trouble and peril that encompassed him.

"The request, he was pleased to note, made a deep impression on the congregation.

"After the service, meeting the young man who had asked for intercession in Smith's behalf, the clergyman said:

"'What is the matter with your friend? Do you think it would do any good if I were to call on him?'

"'I'm afraid not,' was the sorrowful reply.

"'Is it so bad as that?' said the clergyman. 'What is the trouble, then?'

"'Bill,' said the other, 'is going to be married.'"

China's Oldest Society.

The oldest society in China is the Triad society, known also as the "Sam Hop Hui." It has its lodges, and there are flags, banners and umbrellas connected with it. It holds regular meetings, and it forces influential individuals to join its organization if they are not amenable to persuasion. It has the power of life and death over its members, who have their own signs and password. You can tell, it is said, whether a man belongs to the order by the way he enters a house. Their motto is, "Drive out the Tartars," and one branch of the society dates back to 1664 A. D., or twenty years after the conquest.

Do Hedgehogs Milk Cows.

The London Board of Agriculture has just setled an old delusion about hedgehogs milking cows. In a circular the board informs farmers that the notion is unfounded in fact. The dentition of the hedgehog marks it as insectivorous, feeding on insects and small mammals, including such harmful forms as mice. They cannot, however, be described as harmless, as they have been proved to take the eggs of poultry and game birds, such as partridges and pheasants, while chickens and hens in coops are killed and worried.

Transfusion of Blood.

The earliest case of the transfusion of blood from the veins of one person to those of another on record so far as we know is that of Pope Innocent VIII., who is said to have been successfully operated on in April, 1492. In 1667 the operation was performed both in France and England apparently with success, but it again fell into oblivion till 1824, when Dr. Blundell in his "Researches" proved the feasibility of the process. Since that time it has been regarded as a legitimate operation.

"THE RECENT CRISIS IN TURKEY" SUBJECT OF INTERESTING ADDRESS

Delivered Before the Canadian Club Last Evening by Rev Dr. Gould of Toronto, and Late of Palestine—Circumstances Which Led up to the Rise of the Young Turkish Party.

"The recent crisis in Turkey" was the subject of a most instructive and interesting address delivered last evening by Rev Dr Gould of Toronto, but for many years a medical missionary in Palestine, before the Canadian Club of this city. Dr Gould is a powerful, fluent speaker, and thoroughly impressed everyone who was privileged to hear him. He dealt very learnedly with the recent establishment of constitutional government in Turkey and divided into two classes, the operative causes that brought about the bloodless revolution. He graphically pictured to his hearers the terrible despotism of those in authority under the old regime, the maladministration of Turkey, the awful lives of the Mohammedan men and their cruel treatment of Mohammedan women. Dr Gould did not entertain any great hopes for the future of Turkey. The one great obstacle in the way of establishing it on a sound and lasting basis was to be found in the fundamental inequalities between the Mohammedan and Christian religions.

Last evening's dinner was the first that the Canadian Club of this city have held this winter. It was regrettable that there was not a larger attendance, but those who were fortunate enough to be present were well repaid.

The chairman of the evening was the president of the Club, Mr D O'Connell, who introduced the speaker.

Mr O'Connell expressed his regret that the audience was not larger, but assured the Rev Dr Gould that though it was small, it was an enthusiastic and intelligent one. Dr. Gould, he said, had already captivated a Peterborough audience and he was sure that a man of his wide experience had many things of interest to tell them.

REV. DR. GOULD

Rev Dr. Gould was loudly applauded as he rose to speak. After expressing his great pleasure at being present he said that when he first went to Constantinople eleven years ago, he saw the places of the atrocious Armenian massacres, and at that time the country was in a state of unrest. When he left there last March the same condition of affairs existed. The speaker, in the course of his remarks, referred to the operative causes which brought about the recent proclamation of constitutional government, dividing them into two classes. There were the constructive those which brought about and tended to build up this constitution, and the destructive, those which worked back to the old regime

CONSTRUCTIVE CAUSES

Dr Gould enumerated five causes which he placed under this heading. Massacres in Armenia and Macedonia, the splendid work of the English ambassador, in Turkey, the successful administration of Egypt under British rule, the raising of that country from bankruptcy to the position of being the most prosperous on the shores of the Mediterranean, and its reflex influence when contrasted with the maladministration of Turkey. All honor was due the flag of Britain, the symbol of justice and truth.

LITTLE LAKE CEMETERY CO. HELD ITS ANNUAL MEETING

Yesterday Afternoon—Large Attendance of Shareholders—Reports Presented of an Encouraging Nature—Old Board of Directors Reappointed.

The annual meeting of the Little Lake cemetery Company was held yesterday afternoon at three o'clock in the city council chamber. The president, Mr W H Moore, KC, occupied the chair. There was a splendid gathering of shareholders and the reports presented were of an encouraging nature.

DIRECTORS REPORT

To the shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company;

The Directors of the company beg leave to report that during the year 1908 they have endeavored, and they hope with some measure of success, to continue the work of beautifying the grounds and of making considerable improvements in them that were desirable and requisite.

Rooms in the Suuperintendent's old residence have been fitted up for ladies, one as a sitting room and the other as a lavatory, and in the coming summer it is believed this will be appreciated.

The old tank house which was an eyesore where it stood has been removed and converted into a place for storing implements, vases and flower pots, and for making repairs to lawn mowers, etc.

A handsome rockery has been built near the main entrance and a fountain placed in it.

A new conservatory for flowers sixty by nineteen feet and somewhat larger than the first flower house has been finished for use in the spring, that was required in order to provide for the wants of lot owners, which have grown to unexpected dimensions. The stock now set out in the heated conservatory will be sufficient to fill both in the spring and an excellent supply of choice flowers and plants will be available to meet the expected demand.

A good deal fo grading has been done on the avenues on the east side near the river and at other points, and most of the driveways are in a very satisfactory state.

Attention of the new Board is directed to the condition of the fence along the front of the cemetery, and also to the chapel, both of which require repairs.

In the early part of the year your Directors purchased a city debenture for one thousand dollars, and it will be seen that another for a like amount can be taken shortly out of surplus moneys. This will bring the permanent fund for future maintenance to $12,917.31. A part of this has been received from those who desire assurance that their plots will forever be kept in proper condition. The income of the sum received is used yearly where the principal belongs, and the latter retained intact invested in city debentures. This is sanctioned by Legislative enactment, and it is hoped lot owners will more generally avail themselves of so obviously wise a provision.

The reports of the treasurer superintendent and auditors will be laid before you.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Mr E A Peck, secretary-treasurer presented the following statement of receipts and expenditures for 1907 and 1908, as follows:

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT FOR YEAR 1908.

Peterborough,
Jan. 9th, 1909.

To the President, Directors and Shareholders of the Little Lake Cemetery Company:

Gentlemen—The past year has been a very busy one in your cemetery not alone in new work undertaken, but I find a feeling among the lot owners to improve the appearance of their lots by placing them under extra care, so much so, that I have found it necessary to place a man entirely in charge of that work. I regret to say, however, that there are a number of lot owners who entirely neglect their lots so that they have become an eyesore to the part of the cemetery in which they are situated. I do not wish to infer from this that that the Company has neglected their part of the work as the grass has been regularly cut and trimmed upon these lots. A number of these lots contain many valuable monuments which seem to mock at their surroundings.

Probably an explanation of this neglect of family lots as observed by me, will be beneficial. We will suppose that a man loses a member of his family, a beloved wife, mother, daughter or son he purchases a family lot and makes an interment therein. As long as the father or mother are living the lot is well looked after; eventually they are both laid away and the sons and daughters are left to look after the lot which in all probability is too small for the entire family, who have become fathers and mothers themselves and prefer to purchase lots of their own. The old lot becomes neglected and for which there is seldom any excuse, as there is arrangement whereby for a small sum the lot can be placed in good repair for all time without any additional expense to the owner. I trust that the coming year will see a number of these lots placed in good repair and under good maintenance.

In my report last year I recommended an addition to your greenhouses and your directors instructed me to build one. This I have done and now that we have more than double our old greenhouse capacity we shall be in a much better condition to cater to the wants of the lot owners.

Last winter I removed the old tank house from its position near the chapel to the northwest side of the cemetery on Lake Avenue. A foundation was placed under under it, and it has been fitted up as a repair shop and tool house to replace the old one, which, in the near future it will be necessary to pull down.

The foundation which formerly sat in a basin is now placed upon a rockwork much improving its appearance.

The old office building at the residence in the cemetery has been turned into a Ladies' Lavatory and waiting room. This will supply a long felt want.

Considerable grading and seeding has been done on Section O. situated at the east side of the cemetery. This ground will soon be needed as burial plots, as Section D is nearly all taken up.

It will be found necessary during the next year to repair or place a new entrance gate to the cemetery. In a great many instances throughout the world this has been done by some public-spirited citizen who has erected a lasting memorial to his memory and I am sure that the thanks of not only the shareholders of the cemetery but the community at large will be extended to him should such a one be forthcoming.

Respectfully submitted.
F. WISE,
Superintendent.

The Cast for Local Production of "The Private Secretary"—A Brilliant Comedy

The second presentation by local amateurs, under the direction of Mr. Irving Beers, will be given at the Grand Opera House on February 1st, when the celebrated farcial comedy by Chas. Hawtrey, "The Private Secretary," will be produced. Several rehearsals have been held and the production of the piece promises to be a highly interesting one. "The Private Secretary" is very cleverly written and contains many intensely funny lines and situations. The plot is most original and the story a very amusing one—in fact the play is one long laugh from the first to the last curtain, the only breathing space for the audience being in the intervals between the acts.

The cast as given the Review by Mr. Beers is:

Mr. Marsland, M.F.H., B. Gillespie.

Harry Marsland, his nephew, W. H. Hillhouse.

Mr. Cattermole, D. B. McRae.

Douglas Cattermole, his nephew, Chas. Barber.

Rev. Robt. Spalding, an ill used secretary, A. C. Yokome.

Mr. Sydney Gibson, tailor of Bond street, Walter S. Davidson.

John, a servant, T. Savigny.

Knox, a writ server, M. Moore.

Gardner, Irving Beers.

Edith Marsland, daughter of Mr. Marsland, Miss M. Brooks.

Eva Webster, her friend and companion, Miss B. Brightman.

Mrs. Stead, Douglas' landlady, Miss Overend.

Miss Ashford, Mrs. J. N. Barber.

RICH OIL AND GAS FIELDS LOCATED AROUND COOKSVILLE

Drills to be Set to Work at Once.

Expert Locator Says There is Great Wealth Under the Ground.

Toronto, Jan. 20.—Gas enough to supply the whole city of Toronto with light and fuel, is promised within a very few months by the Toronto Oil and Gas Syndicate, who have leased up many acres of land in West Toronto, Cooksville and Port Credit, and will start drilling in Cooksville today.

A "rig," or drill, has already been set up on A. Roumegous' farm, about 800 yards west of the village, just north of the Dundas road.

To-day Thomas Cox, oil expert and "diviner" of Brantford, with Thomas Bull of Cooksville, will go to Port Credit to lease up more property, with the understanding that drilling will be commenced in that district within 30 days.

After a careful geological survey of the Cooksville district, Mr. Cox, whose original intention was to have confined his operations to West Toronto, is convinced that there is a wonderful field for gas and oil production there.

He received an intimation of this nature during a brief visit to the locality six years ago. While working quietly in West Toronto he bethought himself to re-visit the place Dec. 27, and was as strongly impressed with the indications, that he has since that time organized a strong company, secured enough property rights and raised sufficient capital to see the project to a decisive issue.

Mr. Cox characterizes the deposit as identical with that of Pennsylvania and Ohio. A continuation, deepening and widening of the Trenton strata, as found in shallow layers at Collingwood, Owen Sound, Thornhill and Orillia.

"I am convinced this is the very richest oil and gas field in Canada," declare Mr. Cox yesterday. "Trenton lime is the great gas, and oil rock of American, and we have it here, from 650 to 750 feet in thickness and extra good. Don't be surprised to see enough gas found here to supply the whole city of Toronto with cheap light and fuel."

TO INVADE CROW'S NEST

Grand Trunk Pacific Plans to Extend its Alberta Lines.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 20.—Apart from rushing the main line construction in the north this year, the Grand Trunk Pacific is about to formulate plans for building branch lines in British Columbia on a scale of magnitude never dreamed of by the public.

Nothing less than an invasion of the Crow's Nest Pass coal district in East Kootenay is contemplated.

This project constitutes one of the principal objects of the mission of D'Arcy Tate, assistant auditor of the G.T.P. Railway, who arrived from the east yesterday. Necessary authority to build into East Kootenay will be sought at the forthcoming session of the British Columbia Legislature. Formal application has not been made and it is certain that the rules of the Legislature will have to be suspended in order to grant the required authority.

The East Kootenay branch line will be an extension of the proposed G.T.P. branch lines in Alberta, construction of which, in accordance with arrangements, is to be rushed in the spring.

Mr. Tate wil endeavor to have a final settlement of the Prince Rupert town site with the Provincial Government and has an impression that lots will be on the market in May.

GOOD ICE AT RICE LAKE

Roads to the Landings--Much Teaming is Being Done

Special to the Review.

Keene, January 20—The ice on the lake is safe now, and the roads have been bushed across to the various landings from the mouth of the river. The farmers from the other side are taking advantage of the good roads and are doing a lot of teaming.

POLITICAL CHANGES IN QUEBEC

Many Moves Are Predicted in Houses in the Lower Province.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—Hon. Adelard Turgeon was yesterday appointed to the Legislative Council, replacing the Hon. Horace Archambault, and Mr. Turgeon was at the same time made speaker of the Upper House.

Sir Lomer Gouin will be here today and rumor has it that the following shuffle will be made: Hon. Mr. Foy, M.P.P. for Kamouraska, and Provincial Secretary, will take the vacant portfolio of Forests and Lands, while Dr. L. J. Lemieux, M.P.P. for Gaspe, will be the new Provincial Secretary. Then it is likely that Dr. Pelletier, M.P.P. for Sherbrooke, will be appointed Speaker of the House, with Perimie Decarie, M.P.P. for Hochelaga, as Deputy Speaker for the coming session, after which Dr. Pelletier will go to the Legislative Council and Mr. Decarie will be first commoner.

MEN JUMPED INTO LAKE

Seventy-five Workmen Did so to Save Their Lives--Several Drowned

Special to the Review.

Chicago, Ill, Jan 20—Seventy-five men employed on a crib several miles out in Lake Michigan, jumped into the lake this morning when the crib was destroyed by fire. Telephone reports say that several were drowned. When the fire broke out the men found themselves trapped and had the alternative of burning to death or risking their lives in the water. The crib burned to the water's edge. A lookout on another crib several miles away, telephoned just before nine o'clock that they could see fifteen or twenty men clinging to the edge of the wreck of the crib which was still aglow with a heavy sea running.

YOUNG MAN LOST MONEY ON SUNDAY

Dropped Five or Six Five Dollar Bills While Taking Out His Collection Near George St. Church

A young man on Sunday evening last, lost five or six five dollar British North American bank bills, near the George street Methodist church, while taking some collection from his pocket. He evidently pulled out the bills unconsciously and he thinks that they dropped on the street. Anyone having found the same would confer a great favor on the young man by returning the money to the Chief of Police.

ARE AFTER RECTOR EVANS SAID TO BE IN LIVERPOOL

Police in Canada and U.S. Have Given up Hunt for Alleged Bigamist on Discovering That He Has Returned to England.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 20.—It is reported that Toledo detectives have succeeded in locating Rev. Evan T. Evans, the clergyman who, with a wife and four children living, married Miss Nellie St. Clair Davis, Sarnia, Ont., and disappeared. Evans and Miss Davis lived for several weeks on East 66th street, in Cleveland, in a room rented from O. K. Black, a real estate dealer. Evans engaged the room about Sept. 7, and introduced the woman as his wife. He said that he was taking a vacation and had planned to spend most of it in Cleveland. Evans did not say what his business was, and it was not until the second Sunday that the couple were in the city that he announced himself to be a clergyman. After about two weeks Miss Davis left, Evans explaining that her mother was ill. Ten days later Evans left, saying he was going to London, but would be back again.

From the first Black and his wife feared that there might be something wrong about the couple. Evans went out a great deal and rarely took the girl with him. He was drinking heavily and she scarcely left the room, and when she did her eyes were red as though she had been crying. She was often heard sobbing after Evans had gone out.

The police have found that Evans bought a ticket for Liverpool and have given up their search.

CHINESE NEW YEARS WILL BE CELEBRATED TO-MORROW

"Gun hai."
"Ai Fait."

This is what the Chinese residents of Peterborough will be saying to each other tomorrow. Tomorrow is the Chinese New Year and the day will be observed by natives of the Celestial empire throughout the world.

"Gun hai," means "Happy New Year," and "Ai fait" is equivalent to the English, "Same to you."

The Chinese residents of Peterborough will celebrate the holiday quietly. However there will not be much work done in the laundries.

THEY REPEATED THE DANCE OF HALF A CENTURY AGO

Smith's Falls Jan. 19.—Mr. and Mrs. James Noonan of Perth, celebrated their golden wedding a few days ago. At the festivities in connection with the celebration of the event an interesting feature was a dance in which the bride and groom of fifty years their bridesmaid and groomsman participated the music being furnished by the same "fiddler." Mr. James Hogan who wieldedd the bow at the dance following the marriage of the couple fifty years ago.

Mr. Noonan was warden of Lanark County for many years and has long been prominent in municipal affairs of the county.

THE MEMBERS ARE SWORN THE HOUSE OPENS TO-DAY

CHARLES MARCIL, M.P.

Mr. Chas. Marcil to be Speaker.

Conservatives Not Likely to Oppose His Election—Regular Opening To-morrow.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—The election of the Speaker of the Commons will be the feature of to-day's opening of Parliament, and it is now likely that the Conservatives will abandon their intention of calling for a vote on the Premier's proposition to elect Charles Marcil. R. L. Borden has put his foot down on the suggestion, and it is likely that the caucus will support him.

The report from Toronto that Hon. A. B. Aylesworth contemplated early resignation to accept an important position in the gift of the Government is denied by the Minister of Justice, who states that it must have arisen through a statement to his constituents that is was not his intention to again be a candidate for Parliament.

There was a large influx of members of Parliament-elect yesterday, and it is expected that there will be but few absentees when the signing of the roll and the swearing in ceremony is completed.

After this at three o'clock to-day, the members of both Houses will gather in their respective chambers.

In the Senate chamber, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, the deputy of the Governor-General, will take his place in front of the throne and will despatch the usher of the Black Rod to summon the members of the lower chamber, whom he will instruct to elect a Speaker.

When the Commoners return to their own chamber Sir Wilfrid Laurier will move that Charles Marcil be elected Speaker of the eleventh Parliament.

The Speaker having been elected the House will adjourn till Thursday, when the formal opening will take place, and the speech from the throne will be read by His Excellency.

R. L. Borden has addressed a letter to the Conservatives of Carleton County formally announcing to them his intention to sit for Halifax in the House of Commons. Mr. Borden thanks the electors of Carleton County for having accepted him as their representative on two occasions, and referred to many warm friendships made by him through his connection with the county.

He will place his resignation as member for Carleton in the hands of the Speaker at an early date.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

There are three mild cases of smallpox at Port Hope.

Fire at Milton early yesterday did $1,000 damage in Roper's blacksmith shop and $800 to his residence.

By a unanimous vote the National Shoe Wholesalers' Association of the United States at a recent meeting in Boston adopted a resolution favoring the repeal of the duty on hides.

The Government of Liberia has tendered an official apology to Germany for the improper acts of its harbor officials in the recent stopping of two steamers by the customs gunboat.

Devout Brahmins are firm in their belief that a cow is a sacred animal, so a syndicate of local Hindoos have approached the Victoria, B.C., Creamery Co., with an offer to buy their abandoned premises on the Carry road for use as a temple.

THE ICE HARVEST

Local Concerns Will Start Work at Little Lake To-morrow--Big Supply

The ice harvesting season will open in Peterborough tomorrow.

Both the Allin Ice Company and T. H. Rehill will commence work on the Little Lake and if the weather continues favorable a large staff of men and teams will be employed until a sufficient supply of the frozen ice has been placed in storage. Tests have been made at the lake and it has been found that the ice is about sixteen inches thick and of excellent quality.

It takes over twenty-two million five hundred thousand pounds of ice to supply Peterborough for a year. The ice is cut out in blocks weighing 250 pounds. Each of the local concerns takes out about 45,000 of these blocks.

STABBED IN BRAWL IN A BARROOM

Clifford Hollingsworth, a Prescott Hockeyist, Seriously Injured ---Assailant Sent up for Trial.

Brockville, Jan. 20.—Wm. Scott has been sent up for trial here by the police magistrate of Prescott on a charge of occasioning grievous bodily harm to Clifford Hollingsworth, a Prescott hockeyist. Scott and a companion named Fish were drinking in a hotel when a dispute arose over a glass of whisky. Hollingsworth clinched Fish, and while on the floor, Scott is alleged to have stabbed Hollingsworth across the neck and three times in the face. On slash came within an ace of severing the jugular vein. Scott and Fish belong to Ottawa.

The Daily Review

WEDNESDAY, JAN. 20, 1909.

COL. DENISON'S ATTITUDE

The leading Toronto journals are pitching into Col. Denison for his remarks upon the future of Canada regarding the Empire. His remarks are born of sensitive affection for British institutions. Anyone who does not see that the U.S. is quietly and persistently making a bid for us behind the times, but not behind the scenes. We are in a disposition to consolidate and nationalize. The attraction of gravity alone should be worth noting in the direction indicated hence when assisted the gravity of the case becomes intensified.

INCONSISTENCY

On Tuesday week, the executive of the labor organizations appealed to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his Minister of Labor to assist in the work of technical education. The labor congress has declared that instruction and training in industrial arts is a national duty, and the case was presented to the Premier. Sir Wilfrid gave a distinct refusal. This, he said, was wholly a matter for the provinces, and the Federal Government would not interfere.

Mr Draper made the apt reply that the Dominion was educating the farmers through experimental farms, dairy stations, chicken fattening establishments, and similar enterprises. To this the Premier only said that if this opened a door the door would be opened no farther, and so the subject was abruptly dismissed.

On the previous day, Professor Sexton, of the Nova Scotia Educational Department, speaking in Toronto, declared that the Dominion Government had a duty to perform in this matter, and ought to take the lead in the promotion of industrial education. It would have been more honest to Sir Wilfrid to say that his government was hard up and had no money to spare for any new purpose, than to raise a false issue of jurisdiction. It is true, education is assigned to the provinces, but as Mr Draper says, the Federal government is engaged in the work of instructing farmers. Control of Crown Lands is assigned to provinces, but Sir Wilfrid's government in establishing the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, refused to allow them control of the public domain. When it suits a political purpose, as in the matter of the Manitoba schools, Sir Wilfrid refuses to interfere in school questions. When it suits a political purpose, as in Alberta and Saskatchewan, he interferes with the control of schools. When party interests require it, Sir Wilfrid insists that the control of the federal franchise and registration belongs constitutionally to the provincial authorities. When there is an urgent party necessity that the Manitoba, Ontario and British Columbia lists and districts should be so manipulated to give the Laurier government a dishonest advantage, Sir Wilfrid has both feet ready to trample on provincial rights. Therefore, the labor interests need not suppose for a moment that any question of principle is involved in the refusal of the government to assist in industrial education.

THE CORRUPTING POWER

Corruption has got to be so general and has become so much of a joke among the jokers, that a little thing like the following can scarcely be expected to arouse more than a casual interest. Although the case below is a little more appalling than usual, we cannot conceal from ourselves the fact that the clergy, not as a body, of course, but in isolated cases, are "easily led" into traps of this description. Inasmuch as clerical profession naturally professes most, any break connected with it is all the more sensational and we may add hopeless. The following item appeared in our columns yesterday, being telegraphed from Pittsburg, U.S.:

Pittsburg, Jan. 18.—The Rev. Dr. A. W. Puller, pastor of the Second Baptist church, a wealthy and prominent congregation, avers that the managers of W. A. Magee, candidate for the Republican nomination for mayor of Pittsburg, dickered for the services of five Baptist clergymen as press agents, the work to be done from the pulpit.

Those in charge of the Baptist congregations here, in addition to the Rev. Dr. Puller, are the Rev. Sims, Webb, Henderson, and Scott. The five of them, according to the Rev. Dr. Puller, were summoned last Wednesday to the office of William A. Roberts, a rich business man and friend of Magee. Puller says he will produce witnesses whom he stationed outside the office to hear what took place. The five pastors were invited, he says, to "boost" Magee in talks or sermons from their pulpits, and also to surrender personal letters which each had received from John Steele, another candidate for mayor. Each of the ministers was to receive $100 in payment for services rendered.

The Rev. Dr. Puller alleges that the Rev. Mr. Scott made the arrangements with him and apparently was conducting the affairs. Puller revealed the proposed transaction to friends previous to the meeting in Roberts' office and was advised to see it through.

When all were assembled the Rev. Mr. Scott is alleged to have assured Roberts that the five pastors were willing to accept the terms, quit fighting Magee and surrender the Steele letters. The Rev. Mr. Puller alleges that all except himself delivered their letters. He declares he balked and declined to have anything to do with the matter.

Roberts says the Rev. Dr. Puller is angry with him because he refused to extend a mortage on his home and that Puller, more than any of the others, arranged the meeting in the office. The other ministers say they have done nothing wrong, and were in the office "on business." Their charge, that the Rev. Dr. Puller first told of the alleged compact to Steele's manager, is not denied by Puller.

OF INTEREST

Although long looked for, the opening of hostilities between President Roosevelt and the Congress has come with a rush that for the moment staggers even an expectant press. The fight is on with a vigor never dreamed of, says a Washington correspondent, who adds that the battle is shaping itself along totally unexpected lines; and the end, remarks the New York Times, may be beyond anybody's guessing. The end of last week saw both branches busy assailing the President, whose immediate counterblast was the publication of a statement accusing Senator Tillman, one of his most virulent critics, of dishonest conduct, in an Oregon land deal. In the House the drastic report of the "spanking committee" was adopted by a vote of 212 to 35, while in the Senate the Judiciary Committee was directed to investigate the legality of the President's action in permitting the Steel Trust to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company. For the present interest centres chiefly on the action of the House in tabling the offending portion of the President's annual message, together with his later "explanatory" Secret-Service message in its entirety.

It will be remembered that in his annual message of December 8th President Roosevelt protesting about the action of Congress in cutting down the Secret Service appropriation and otherwise restricting the activities of that service, stated that "the chief argument in favor of the provision was that the Congressmen did not themselves wish to be investigated by Secret Service men." Interpreting these words as an impeachment of the honor and integrity of Congress, the House of Representatives on December 17th adopted a resolution asking the President for an explanation of his words. On January 4th, this "explanation" was forthcoming in the form of a message asserting that "I have made no charges of corruption against Congress nor against any member of the present House" and surmising on the part of Congress "an entire failure to understand my message." In response the House Committee, which has the matter in hand, reported in part that "We consider the language of the President in his message of December 8th, 1908, unjustified and without basis of fact, and that it constitutes a breach of the privilege of the House." It added to its report the following resolutions, which were adopted by an overwhelming vote;

"Resolved, that the House, in the exercise of its Constitutional prerogatives, decline to consider any communication from any source which is not in its own judgment respectful; and be it further

"Resolved, that the special committee and the Committee of the Whole House on the State of the Union be discharged from any consideration of so much of President Roosevelt's annual message as relates to the Secret Service and is above set forth, and that the said portion of the message be laid on the table; and be it further

"Resolved, That the message of the President sent to the House on January 4th, 1909 being unresponsive to the inquiry of the House, and constituting an invasion of the privileges of this House by questioning the motives and intelligence of members in the exercise of their constitutional rights and functions be laid on the table.'

Not since the time of Andrew Johnson has a quarrel between Congress and President reached such dimensions. The shot against Mr Tillman, says the Washington correspondent of the New York Times, "has plainly staggered the Senate." and he adds; "From a very authoritative source, comes the strong intimation that if the President cares to do so he can deliver a similar blow, or series of them, to the House."' In the same despatch we read further;

"At the White House it is openly said there is not the least concern what either the House or Senate does or says about the President. The only thing which concerns him is the restoration of the Secret Service to its old status. But it is pointed out this evening that after the disclosures he has made it will be practically impossible for Congress now to enact the old provision regarding the Secret Service without making a plea of guilty to his charge that its chief reason for making the restriction was the fear of personal investigation of its members."'

On every side are heard expressions of editorial regret over the unseemly developments at Washington. "The short session gives every promise of being not only short but ugly," remarks the New Haven Register. "An enmity akin to hatred between the two ends of Pennsylvania Avenue has been growing up for several years," says the New York Globe, which continues:

"Party and personal prudence tended to mitigate its expression, but now that the President is going out of office it has broken out with fury. On the one side, individual Congressmen now deem it safe to express opinions they have long entertained, and the President's partisans are retorting in a similar spirit. The President voluably talking to visitors, makes no scruple about questioning the good faith and integrity of Congress, while the lounge rooms of the Capitol are filled with men who challenge not only the wisdom and the sincerity but the sanity of the President.'

Many papers compare the situation to the clash beteen the Emperor William and the Reichstag, while some have the hope that the outcome may not be different. "The truth is" remarks the Rochester Post, "that President Roosevelt in his eagerness to strengthen the Secret Service, wrote eagerly, hurriedly, carelessly, and without due regard for the dignity of the Presidential office and the respect with which an American Executive should deal with the law making branch of the Government". By way of comment the New York Sun pertinently quotes the following sentence from one of Mr Roosevelt's own works his 'Life of Cromwell.' "Had Cromwell not become cursed with the love of power, had he not acquired a dictatorial habit of mind and the fatal incapacity to acknowledge that there might be righteousness in other methods than his own, he would certainly have avoided a break with this Parliament."

Says the New York Evening Post;

"'This formal action of the House of Representatives, in which his own party has a large majority, in a declaration that his messages contained statements not only in derogation of the privileges of the House, but 'unfounded in fact.' Mr Roosevelt has been very free with the lie; now he has it fastened upon himself, by a vote of 7 to 1 of the House. He brought this upon himself. What really had happened was well stated yesterday by Representative Sherley. The President, in a burst of reckless vituperation, had grossly libelled the members of Congress. When taken to task, two courses were open to him; he might prove his charges true; or if he could not do that he might withdraw his offensive words and apologize. Mr Roosevelt did neither. The natural result was the arraignment of his judgment and the impeachment of his veracity by the House. No air of bravado about this, such as is now reported from the White House can conceal the real nature of the occurrence. Mr Roosevelt may pretend not to care, but we may be sure he does care. He has said that there was to be 'no Andrew Johnson business in his Administration'. But now, not only has he got himself at loggerheads with Congress as Johnson did, but finds himself solemnly declared by the House to be guilty of a more serious moral fault than Johnson was ever charged with. No loud Rough Rider laughter can make this appear a joke."

The country is "interested but not edified," remarks the New York Times, which compares the affair to 'a street fight between reputable men.'

In defence of the President the New York Tribune asserts that in regard to the practical issue behind the controversy—the need of an efficient Secret Service—he is entirely in the right. We read;

"In our opinion the country will not greatly concern itself about the technicalities raised by the House in its controversy, with the President in regard to the latter's comments on the disabling of the Secret Service. It may be all right to assert an injured self-respect. But it is far more important to deal wisely with the practical issue at the bottom of the controversy. Was the House justified in the action which it took last year in restricting the function of the Secret Service Bureau. If it was in the wrong will it repair the blunder committed?

"The value of the Secret Service as an agency to detect violations of the Federal statutes in order that the wrongdoers may be punished and misappropriated Government property recovered can hardly be disputed. It has been a most efficient weapon in the Government's hands. for it has not only accomplished far-reaching positive results, but also serves to deter potential violators of the statutes who have learned to fear its wholesome activities. In the face of the results achieved it is hard to understand why the House should think that the public interest can be served by putting a check on its use. Can the work which the Treasury Secret Service Bureau has done be done better by special department agencies, one for each department? What is the advantage of confining the well organized Treasury Bureau to the pursuit of counterfeiters and the unearthing of frauds on the revenue? Will the House be able to show that it has a better plan in view for protecting the Government's interests than the plan so far followed with highly profitable results? That is a point which really interests the public."

Turning to the Senate's quarrel with the President, we find that last week that body "directed" Attorney-General Bonaparte to inform it whether any steps had been taken by the Department of Justice towards the prosecution of the United States Steel Corporation under the Sherman Law for its absorption of the Tennessee Coal and Iron Company in 1907. The President himself replied by a statement which intimate that the matter was none of the Senate's business. He said, moreover, that he was personally cognizant of and responsible for every detail of the transaction in question, which was put through for the alleged purpose of mitigating the panic. Senator Culberson, on the floor of the Senate, characterized this as one more lawless act of the President, and a resolution was adopted asking the Judiciary Committee to investigate whether the President was authorized to permit the absorption in question.

The New York Journal of Commerce thinks that public feeling will be on the side of the President in this matter, while the World considers it the crowning achievement of personal government. To quote the World further;

"If the President of the United States can license an ostensible violation of the Sherman Act on the pretense of preventing a panic, which had already taken place and for which he was largely responsible, we see no reason why he should not suspend any other Federal statutes whenever it suited his whim or desire or convenience or political plans. He might even authorize piracy on the high seas if it were represented to him that a little judicious buccaneering would prevent a panic, or save the situation."

"Mr. Roosevelt's methods differ in no important respect from those of an Oriental sultan who rewards or punishes his courtiers according to his caprice. There has been nothing else like it known to American institutions."

The Times regards the Senate resolution as a very serious matter, as indicating the temper of the Senate towards the President. We read;

"A report of the committee that the law had been violated would be conclusive of nothing; would, in fact, have but little more weight than an ordinary legal opinion of a matter that can finally be determined only by the courts. So we are not called upon to enquire whether the resolution adopted does not logically lead to impeachment proceedings, particularly as in acting in either sense upon the report of its Judiciary Committee the Senate would necessarily pass upon the very issues it would have to hear and determine sitting as a court of impeachment. The very great probability is that the committee will find no violation of law, and thus will close that branch of the question.

"The Senate is entitled to complain of the President under three heads; First, on the assumption that he has violated the law in the Steel Company transaction and violated his oath by neglecting to pursue the offenders, Second, that he was guilty of a gross impropriety in consenting to advise with the Steel Corporation officers about a possibly unlawful act; third that he used language derogatory to the dignity of the Senate in bidding it to cease calling upon the heads of his departments for information. The Senate is maddest on the third count, which, after all, is only a pin prick compared with the other two."

AN OPEN LETTER

Results so Surprising That They Seem Marvelous Are Common to Mi-o-na the One Dependable Stomach Remedy.

Mrs. J. A. Pillow, of North Street, Gananoque, Ont., says: "Mi-o-na is worth its weight in gold for quickly and permanently curing dyspepsia. I became so bad that I was a constant burning in my stomach, I would belch up gas every few minutes and could eat but very little, as the food would quickly ferment and make gas that caused a serious depression of the heart. Perspiration would break out all over my body, I would become so weak that I could not stir an would often fall on the floor in a helpless state. The pains in my stomach were terrible. I could find no position in which to sit or lie without suffering, and I was so nervous that the least noise affected me. Headaches were constant, I would become and dizzy and spots would appear beofr my eyes. I had no ambition to get around and everything seemed to tire me. The first box of Mu-o-na gave me more relief than anything I had previously tried. The box of Mi-o-na cured me. I am well and strong and I have not had an hour's suffering since. I will always feel grateful to Mi-o-na for the cure given me and glad to recommend."

In the face of such evidence it is easy to understand why Wm. Madill, druggist, Peterborough, feels assured in saying to you, money back if Mi-o-na fails to relieve either trivial or serious stomach trouble.

Consoled Her.

"Why do you wear that ridiculous hat?" he growled.

"Do you really think it ridiculous?" she replied graciously. "How lovely of you! I was afraid it wasn't quite the style."

Too Warm.

"And have you clothes for all climates?"

"Yes; except the one my husband mentions when he gets the bill."

If a man asks a candid opinion of a friend and gets it, it makes him mad.—Atchison Globe.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Guilty of Forgery.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—"Oh, I may as well plead guilty to the whole lot; you have me anyway," was the statement made yesterday by James Sugden, alias Wallace, alias Williams, held on a charge of forgery and obtaining money under false pretences, and pleaded guilty to the charges of swindling branches of the Dominion Bank, Bank of Commerce, Molson's, and Merchants' Bank.

W. F. Osler, manager of the Imperial Bank of Ottawa, then laid another charge. He stated that on Oct. 21 last Sugden opened an account at his bank with $10 and that two days afterwards he presented a check for $486 on the American National Bank of Los Angeles, which was a forgery.

Plumber Is Missing.

Welland, Jan. 20.—H. J. Griffiths, who has conducted a plumbing business here for the past two years, left town on Saturday, and there are a number of anxious enquirers. His wife left the same afternoon, but by another train.

Suffer From Cold.

Port Arthur, Jan. 20.—It is reported that some of the settlers in Conmee and O'Connor Townships are suffering considerably from the unusually severe and prolonged cold weather.

Rural 'Phones a Success.

Brockville, Jan. 20.—The first annual meeting of the Lansdowne Rural Telephone Co. shows the receipts of $3,625, and the expenditures $3,578, leaving a small balance. The operation of the line has given great satisfaction.

Two Killed by Train.

Brandon, Man., Jan. 20.—Walking westward Herbert Silles and Albert Cookson were overtaken by a train. The former was killed and the latter fatally injured.

Seven Years.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—Oliva Pepin was yesterday sentenced to seven years for attempting to rob, with force, a jewelry shop.

Farmer Sues Railway.

Windsor, Jan. 20.—A unique case was tried yesterday in the Division Court in Essex. A farmer named Beattie sued the Michigan Central Railway for $50 damages. The farmer's own hogs destroyed some of his corn, but he blamed the railroad on the grounds that the railroad company must keep up the fences along its line. Owing to negligence on the part of the railway, his hogs he says, escaped from one of his fields, wandered across the tracks and got into his corn field on the opposite side.

Alleged Horse Thieves.

Cornwall, Jan. 20.—Last Friday two young men, Dunkin Kemp, formerly of this section, and Nelson Mason of Boston, Mass., engaged a horse and rig from E. Warner to drive to Cornwall Centre, but instead brought up at Morrisburg, where it is said they tried to dispose of the outfit to a liveryman. They were arrested yesterday at Prescott, and remanded for a week. Kemp pleaded guilty to an old charge of stealing a watch and $40 in money.

Changes In Targets.

Ottawa, Jan. 20.—The Dominion Rifle Association at its meeting in February will discuss a change in the targets. It is felt that the 20-yard range and target is too easy, and probubly the same target will hereafter be used at 300 yards. Thus the actual ranges will be 300, 500 and 600 yards. A new steel target is proposed the size of a man's head and shoulders that lie flat on the ground in places unknown to the shooter at varying distances. By a button an operator brings one up which, on being hit, falls.

Briton Captures Chinese Boat.

Honk Kong, Jan. 20.—The Chinese harbor guard boat Samstui on Monday fired two shots at the British steamer Cherpo for fouling a wood raft.

This angered Capt. Lewington of the Cherpo, who, arming himself with a revolver, boarded the Samstui in a small boat, arrested the commanding officer, and turned him over to the captain of the British gunboat Roblin.

To Close Canals on Sunday.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 20.—The canals of the state will be closed to traffic from midnight Saturday to midnight Sunday, if a bill introduced in the Assembly yesterday becomes a law. The bill was drafted by the Association of American masters and pilots of steam vessels.

Thaw Still In Courts.

White Plains, N.Y., Jan. 20.—At the request of Thaw's counsel, Justice Tompkins yesterday rescinded the order for a trial on the question of Thaw's insanity, made at the request of Thaw's mother, and the proceedings were withdrawn.

Presentation to Pastor.

Brockville, Jan. 20.—At the annual congregational meeting of St. John's Church last night Rev. D. Strachan, who goes to Rosedale Presbyterian Church, Toronto, was presented with an address and a purse of gold.

Fire In Chesley Church.

Chesley, Jan. 20—Fire from an overheated furnace broke out yesterday in the basement of the English Church and destroyed the woodwork of the chancel and the organ.

Ottawa Alone Benefits.

Ottaka, Jan. 20.—The Government bonus of $150 a year to the civil service applies only to members of the "inside" service, or those at Ottawa.

Earl Crewe to Preside.

London, Jan. 20.—Earl Crewe will preside at the banquet of the Imperial Press Congress in June.

MUCH HAY AND WOOD BEING MARKETED HERE

Some Grain Also Coming in—Oats Have Advanced 2cts per Bushel

Peterborough, Jan. 22.—The market has been well pratronized during the past week, clear weather, ideal sleighing and good prices bringing in a lot of all kinds of produce. Oats advanced two cent ssince last quotation, this being the only change on the grain market. Hides and wool remain unchanged, the advances on beef hides quoted last week holding good for this week also.

Large quantities of hay and wood make the market a busy place daily.

The higher quotations for live hogs of last week still prevail and an occasional contest between the buyers brings a price a few cents higher, though $6.40 is placed as a limit in the majority of cases.

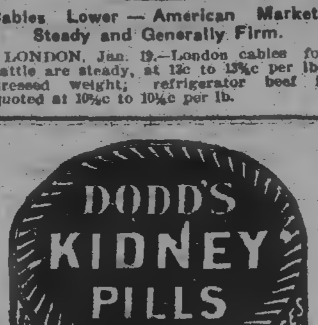
Cables Lower — American Markets Steady and Generally Firm.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12c to 13½c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10½c to 10¾c per lb.



Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways, were 120 carloads, consisting of 2087 cattle, 1350 hogs, 1299 sheep and lambs and 88 calves.

Exporters.

Not many export cattle were offered—not more than six loads all told. Choice shipping steers were scarce, and prices for them were firm, ranging from $5 to $5.60, the latter price being obtained by Dunn & Levack for the best load on the market, weighing 1350 lbs. Bulls sold at from $3.75 to $4.75.

Butchers.

Prime picked lots of butchers were very scarce—so scarce that Alexander Levack, who always buys the best, had to buy some of export weights to get the quality he required. For this class of cattle the prices were nearly as high as exporters, ranging from $5 to $5.35, and $5.45 was obtained by Maybee & Wilson for eight cattle, 1220 lbs. each, and Dunn & Levack sold the best heifer on the market, brought in by F. T. Strangway of Tottenham, at $5.50; but there were not more than a load of this class out of the 2087 cattle on sale. Loads of good, $4.50 to $4.80, and this class was not large in number; medium cattle, of which there were many, sold at from $3.65 to $4.10; cows, $3 to $4.25; common cows and canners, $1.50 to $2.60 per cwt.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a limited number on sale, with a demand for all on sale, as several farmers were on the market to purchase both feeders and stockers. The Messrs. Murby bought several lots at the following quotations: Feeders, 950 to 1100 lbs., $3.90 to $4.60; feeders, 800 to 950 lbs., $3.50 to $3.90; stockers, 600 to 800 lbs., $3.25 to $3.50 per cwt.

Milkers and Springers.

The number of milkers and springers on sale was fairly large, well up to the hundred mark. Trade was moderately good, considering that the Montreal buyers were not on the market. In their place were many farmers from the surrounding townships, especially York and Scarboro. Prices ranged at from $30 to $50, with a very few at $60 each.

Veal Calves.

About 100 calves were on sale. Prices for them were firm at $3 to $7 per cwt., with an odd new milk-fed calf now and again going at $7.50.

Sheep and Lambs.

Receipts were moderate—about 1300—but prices were easier, especially for lambs. Ewes, $4 to $4.50; rams, $3.50 to $4; lambs, $5.50 to $6.35 per cwt.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris reported the market steady, as follows: Selects, $6.50, fed and watered, and $6.25 to drovers f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 19.—Cattle—Receipts, 400 head; fairly active and steady; prime steers, $6.25 to $6.65.

Veals—Receipts, 200 head; active and steady.

Hogs—Receipts, 3500 head; fairly active and steady; heavy, $6.50 to $6.70; mixed, $6.60 to $6.65; yorkers, $6.15 to $6.60; roughs, $5.50 to $5.80; dairies, $6 to $6.40.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 12,000 head; sheep active; wethers 15c lower; lambs slow and steady; yearlings, $6.25 to $6.50; wethers, $5.25 to $5.50.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—Beeves—Receipts, 1787; no trading of importance; feeling weak for steers; dressed beef slow at 8c to 10c; extra prime do. 10½c. Exports to-morrow, 3200 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 504; veals quiet, but steady; western calves dull and easier feeling; veals, $5 to $10; Indiana calves, $4 to $6; barnyard calves, $3.75; dressed calves slow; city dressed veals, 8½c to 15c; country dressed, 8c to 14c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts 6415; sheep steady; lambs slow to weak; sheep, $3 to $4.85; yearlings, $6; lambs, $7.50 to $7.75; culls, $5.50.

Hogs—Receipts, 4642; market firm; light to heavy hogs, $6.35 to $6.60; pigs, $5.75 to $6.25.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 19.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 4500; market steady; steers, $4.60 to $7.50; cows, $3 to $5.50; heifers, $3 to $5.75; bulls, $3.40 to $3.80; calves, $3.50 to $10; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.15.

Hogs—Receipts estimated at 24,000; market generally 5c higher; choice heavy spring, $6.50 to $6.65; butchers, $6.40 to $6.60; light mixed, $6 to $6.20; choice light, $6.15 to $6.30; packing, $6 to $6.40; pigs, $4.75 to $5.85, bulk of sales, $6.15 to $6.40.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts estimated at 15,000; market steady; sheep, $4.25 to $6; lambs, $5.25 to $7.85; yearlings, $4.50 to $7.10.

Back Broken.

Uxbridge, Jan. 20.—James Buck, an employe of the tannery here, had his back broken by being thrown from a load of hay.

Woman May Be Executed.

Albany, N.Y., Jan. 20.—Whether or not Mary Farmer, indicted jointly with her husband, James D. Farmer, and convicted of the murder of Mrs. Sarah Brennan in the town of Mounsfield, near Watertown, on April 23, 1908, will be electrocuted in expiation of the crime, will be decided by the Court of Appeals which yesterday heard argument.

The Farmer and Brennan families were neighbors. One day in April Mrs. Brennan was seen to enter the Farmer home and was never seen alive again. Four days later her mutilated body was found in a big black trunk in the Brennan house, into which the Farmers had moved a day or two after Mrs. Brennan disappeared.

Prejudices Are Withering.

London, Jan. 20.—In an editorial yesterday morning, commenting on President Roosevelt's address at Washington on Monday night, in which he referred to the successful administration of India by the British Government, The Times acknowledges that it is deeply touched by the tribute.

"None of his predecessors," says The Times, "would have ventured such a tribute, and high as President Roosevelt's courage is, he could not have ventured it himself had he not known that the old prejudices cherished among his countrymen were fast withering away."

Congdon Elected In Yukon.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 20.—This was election day in the Yukon and reports received last night indicate the election of Fred Congdon, K.C., (Lib.) by 200, over Geo. Black (Con.). There were four candidates.

Fred T. Congdon, K.C., was defeated in 1904 by Dr. Thompson (Ind.). He since served as commissioner in the Yukon. His nearest opponent, Geo. Black, is a lawyer from Fredericton, N.B.

New Line by May.

Montreal, Jan. 20.—It is officially announced that Mackenzie and Mann's new route to Quebec along the north shore of the St. Lawrence, 175 miles, will be opened for traffic by the first of May.

This latest section of the Canadian Northern will run trains between the political and commercial capital of the province in five hours.

Young Australian Party.

London, Jan. 20.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—According to Australian newspapers, the national committee made the following additions to the party manifesto of the Young Australian National Party:

"Australian citizens to own control and rule the Commonwealth National Government and to acquire the following additional powers: The right to make treaties with any power or nation; right to appoint consuls to any country; an Australian navy, built and manned by Australians and under absolute Australian control; commonwealth legislation, defining citizenship; only Australian citizens to own lands and mines; the abolition of naval subsidy to Britain; the abolition of titular distinctions."

Yellow Immigration.

London, Jan. 20.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Royal Colonial Institute welcomed Lord Northcote, late Governor-General of Australia, at a banquet, Lord Crewe presiding. Lord Northcote remarked on the necessity of viewing the yellow immigration question from an Australian viewpoint, and declared Australia was increasingly protectionist. He urged the necessity of British emigration.

Fatal 'Quake In Turkey.

Smyrna, Turkey, Jan. 20.—A sharp earthquake was experienced here yesterday morning, but there was no local damage.

At Phocaeu, 25 miles to the northwest, a number of houses fell and three persons were killed.

Buildings were damaged in other towns.

Morgan's Gift to Britain.

London, Jan. 20.—J. Pierpont Morgan has purchased and presented to the British Museum the collection of pre-historic weapons which was made by Canon Greenwell, illustrating for the most part the bronze art in Great Britain.

WHAT IS HE DOING?

A Question Many Parents are Asking

Parents who have boys who are members of the Y.M.C.A. are no doubt, wondering what their boys are doing when at the Y.M.C.A.

On Thursday, the 21st inst., the boys of the Y. will give an exhibition of their work in the gymnasium.

There will be drills, marches, games, races, blindman's pillow fight, and sack basketball.

This exhibition will be an education to the parents and friends, who do not know what goes on at the Y.M.C.A.

The races will make plenty of excitement, while the sack basketball and the blind man's pillow fight are very amusing.

The ladies walking race promises to be the hit of the season.

The proceeds of this entertainment will be used for securing a number of new magazines for the boys' library.

Tickets can be had from any of the

ACCOMODATION FOR NEEDY CONSUMPTIVES

The following letter from the National Sanitarium Association, explains itself;

Since the opening of the New Year accommodation has been provided for twenty-five additional patients at the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. A new administration building has been opened an as a result the original main building is given up entirely to patients. There are now 95 beds available.

Applicants are admitted as quickly as their medical examinations are passed upon by the Medical Superintendent. In Muskoka only those in the incipient stages of the disease are admitted. This is the outcome of the Christmas stamp campaign and other special efforts that were put forth during the holiday season on behalf of this deserving institution.

In the two Muskoka Homes for Consumptives, namely, the Muskoka Cottage Sanatorium, and a mile distant the Muskoka Free Hospital for sumptives, 175 patients can now be accommodated.

Application for admission and all particulars may be obtained by writing Mr. J. S. Robertson, Sec.-Treasurer, National Sanatarium Association, 347 King street West, Toronto.

MORE INDUSTRIES FOR CITY OF PETERBOROUGH

Matter Discussed at Meeting Last Night—Recommendations of Board of Trade Considered.

There was a joint meeting of the Manufacturers' Committee, the Special Power Committee, and the Board of Trade Committee last night in the city clerk's office and a lot of valuable information was forthcoming. It begins to look like a business proposition and in the near future Peterborough will be brought before the attention of the commercial world in the proper manner.

Those present were.— Mayor Rush, Ald McIntyre, chairman of the Special Power Committee; Ald Gillespie, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee, Ald Bradburn, Duffus, Metheral and Morrow.

Messrs J H Larmonth, W H. Moore and Dr MA Morrison, president of the Board of Trade.

Ald McIntyre was elected to the chair, but as there was no quorum present no business could be done, although it was decided to discuss the business so that the evening would not be wasted

The chairman stated that the object of the meeting was to consider the two resolutions passed by the Board of Trade and forwarded to the City Council. He read the resolutions bearing on the power question and also the question of securing new industries and the appointment of a commissioner of industry.

Dr Morrison, president of the Board of Trade, stated that the idea of that body was that the city should inaugurate a more progressive policy to induce manufacturers to locate here. There is lots of machinery here to accommodate a much larger population and the best way to increase the population was to get more manufacturers here. Other cities were moving and it is time that Peterborough was moving. The board also discussed the advisability of securing more electric power. This would be left with the Power Committee. The Board also recommended the necessity of establishing a publicity department for the purpose of advertising the city. The department could also take up the matter of securing options on all property available for manufacturing sites so that they will be on file when required. The publicity agent could also go into the imports and find out what articles are not manufactured and then go after those people and endeavor to get them here.

W H MOORE.

Mr W H Moore stated that he had never yet seriously considered the question of securing manufacturers here. It struck him, however, that the city would do well to get more power, municipal power and cheap power. He mentioned Burleigh, Buckhorn and Healey's Falls powers, which might be secured. This is a great natural centre for manufacturing. One great feature is the wood supply which can be secured very easily. He mentioned the Auburn dam which was valuable.

J H LARMONTH

Mr Larmonth stated that he had intended to get evidence to show the council that they have lots of power here and that it is reasonable in price. The power companies now in existence will look after the manufacturers and will gladly increase their plant as rapidly as there is any sign of a market. Last year they spent $20,000 on their plant with the result that they have now 1000 horse power more.

Ald Morrow arrived at this time and made the necessary quorum.

Mr J H Larmonth stated that at the present time the city could with every confidence go to six or eight ordinary manufacturers, and assure them that there will be plenty of power at $20 per horse power.

Ald Bradburn asked Mr Larmonth if he would place on record in the hands of the committee that he would supply 1000 horse power. He stated that he would take it up with the head office in Chicago at once.

FACTORY SITES.

Chairman McIntyre then read the next resolution, viz, the tabulation of factory sites and the publicity department and asked if there was any discussion.

Dr Morrison stated that this city should certainly have a publicity department so that they could get after these new factories at once.

Ald Bradburn stated that he had taken this matter up last year and was convinced that it would pay this city to have a commissioner of industries, who would keep in touch with the manufacturers in the States and Europe, and when he got hold of a concern looking for a Canadian site, he could go directly after them and bring them here. This commissioner could also advertise the city within a radius of 100 miles, and induce many more excursionists into the city. Those outsiders leave money here and all benefit thereby. He was strongly in favor of trying this for two or three years anyway, and was confident that it would pay. He would take it up at an early date.

ALD MORROW.

Ald Morrow stated that the Power Committee had been doing everything possible during the past year. He agreed with Ald Bradburn in his ideas of securing a commissioner of industries.

ALD GILLESPIE

Ald Gillespie, chairman of the Manufacturers' Committee stated that he had been taking in all that had been said and would endeavor to carry out all or some of them.

Y.M.C.A. BOYS EXHIBITION

The Boys are Preparing for Their Exhibition on Thursday

On Thursday evening of this week, the YMCA. boys will put on an exhibition of their gymnasium work. The boys are practicing hard and it is expected they will put on an exhibition well worth going to see.

There is a very good programme of marches, drills games, races etc.

Such basketball will be a new feature and will make lots of amusement

The potato race, ball hustle, and obstacle race will make plenty of excitement.

The ladies' walking race is causing much excitement and promises to be a popular feature.

If you have never seen the boys at work in the gymnasium, do not miss this opportunity.

Got your tickets from any of the boys or at the YMCA. office, for 15c or two for 25c.

COLD WEATHER IS CONTINUING

And Recalls Predictions for a Long Winter

A Peterborough naturalist who watches the squirrels in fall storing away their winter store of food has predicted that this winter would be an unusually long one, as the animals collected more provisions than previous years. The amount of snow and the continuing cold makes it seem probable that the naturalist's prediction will not be far amiss.

WEDDING BELLS

PERKS—LANCASTER

A pretty wedding was solemnized this morning at nine o'clock at St. John's church when Miss Florence E. Lancaster, daughter of Mr Thos Lancaster, 198 Edinburgh Street, was united in marriage to Mr George Perks, of Montreal, and son of Mrs L R. Perks, 542 Gilmour street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Canon Davidson, in the presence of a number of friends of the contracting parties. The bride and groom were unattended.

The bride entered the church leaning on the arm of her father to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Mr R J Devey.

After the ceremony, the bridal party drove to the residence of the bride's parents, 198 Edinburgh St., where hearty congratulations were bestowed upon the young couple and a sumptuous wedding breakfast served

Mr and Mrs Perks left on the 11.26 train for Montreal where they will in future reside.

MORRISON—ROBINSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. Wm. Robinson of South Monaghan, on New Year's eve, when his youngest daughter, Miss Clara, was united in marriage to Mr. Russell Morrison. Only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Weatherall, of Fraserville. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison will reside in South Monaghan.

Mr. Isaac Puffer has the contract to fill the large ice house at Havelock, and has a large gang of men and teams busily engaged on the mill pond. They load from 18 to 24 cars a day.

The sleighing so far this winter is perfect and farmers of the surrounding country are taking advantage of the good roads. As a consequence dry hardwood is selling for $4.50 a cord, which is less than it has sold for here for several years. The sawmill yard is filling up rapidly with logs for lumber. Mr. Harrison expects a very busy season, and has a capable staff of men in his saw mill mill rushing out the lumber to its full capacity.

Mr. R. J. Stuart of Calgary, Alta., a former citizen of Norwood, is here at present renewing old acquaintances.

THE GREATEST TOBOGGAN SLIDE

Montreal Chief Winter Attraction —Special Opportunities at Winter Carnival

Those who have never enjoyed the pleasure of a toboggan slide, will have a grand opportunity of trying the experiment if they visit the Montreal Carnival of Winter Sports to be held in the metropolis city of Canada from February 10th to 20th, inclusive.

The toboggan slide in Montreal is situated on the west flank of Mount Royal, a mountain which stands near to a thousand feet above the sea level.

The slide is in the form of a chute with slight camel backs at the terminal to moderate the finishing speed. Shoot the chutes amusement devices are only miniature affairs compared to the slide where cyclone speed is attained without the slightest chance of accident to those wishing to enjoy this grand sport.

SPORTING NEWS

WHICH TEAM FOR DISTRICT PETERBORO' OR LINDSAY? GREAT GAME TO-MORROW

The game of the season in this district of the intermediate O.H.A. takes place to-morrow night in Lindsay, when the locals will meet the clever Scugog septette. A short time ago Lindsay looked good to win the district, but things have taken on a different aspect and Peterborough looks to have an even chance. Neither team has lost a game this winter and both defeated the Belleville team down in Belleville. The locals won in that place by 4—2 and Lindsay by 2—0. By this it would seem as though Peterborough and Lindsay would shake up pretty even.

The Scugogites have exactly the same team that carried them to the semi-finals last year and played hockey of the fastest order. The home team is well balanced and speedy and have surprised the talent by the form they displayed in their games. The defence is of the stonewall order and the forward line puts up an aggressive and gingery game. It looks like the flip of a coin when it comes to figuring out which is the better team of the two and the match tomorrow night will be a hummer.

An excursion will be run from here under the auspices of the local hockey club the train leaving the station at seven o'clock. The return fare will be $1.05.

The locals will have on the same lineup that defeated Belleville:

Goal, Derocher; point, Glover; cover, Moore; rover, Ray; centre, Patnell; right, Rose; left, Dusty.

HOAGLAND WON WITH SLATER FOURTH AND BLAKE FIFTH

Results of Four Days Walk at Auburn—Fenton and Graham Came Outside the Money—Slater Challenged Hubbell.

The invincible Hoagland captured the four days' walk which was concluded on Saturday night at Auburn, N.Y. Of those who took part in the walking tournament held here last year Slater came fourth, Blake fifth, our old friend Ray Fenton third from the last, which position was taken by Jimmy Graham, who took fifth money here.

The Auburn Daily Advertiser says;

Over 1,000 people attended the finish of the four days' walking match at the armory Saturday night and they certainly got the worth of their money. There was lost of excitement, although it was evident after the first half hour that there would be no change in position among the leaders. As was expected, Hoagland landed first money, with Brown of this city, in second place and Hubbell, Slater, Blake and Klubertanz the other money getters in the order named. During the evening Slater quit the track twice, once to protest to the officials about a lap that the scorers had overlooked for him and again to announce to the crowd that he challenged Hubbell to a ten mile match for $100 in any city outside of Auburn.

Before the walk was on Fred Sarsney of Port Byron, ran an exhibition mile and the time was announced as 5.07. There was no stop watch to time him with and that was as close as the timer could get.

SLATER LED AT START.

The peds started on their last grind with Slater in the lead. After a few laps Slater lost his shoe and had to stop to fix it. The bunch had half a lap on him when he started again but he soon caught them. The three leaders were again maikng things disagreeable for Slater and Hubbell was following him so closely that he stepped on his heels and took his shoeoff. The judges allowed Slater a lap for this. Howell was showing signs of the strain and quit after he had completed 49 miles and 8 laps. At the beginning of the sixth mile Hoagland, Brown and Hubbell got a lap on Slater, and after another mile the same three repeated the trick.

At the end of the first hour the score was;

	Miles	Laps
Hoagland	58	10
Brown	57	13
Hubbell	57	10
Slater	56	19
Blake	54	13
Klubertanz	53	13
Wright	52	1
Fenton	52
Howell	49	8
Graham	45	15

Early in the eighth mile Hogland and Slater had the hottest sprint of the race but Slater had to give up to the champion after three laps. Hoagland, however, maintained his sport until he had lapped the bunch. In the tenth mile a lively fight took place between Klubertanz and Blake, but no lap was gained. Hoagland picked up two more laps, one in the twelfth mile and one early in the fourteenth.

The score at the end of the second hour was;

	Miles	Laps
Hoagland	64	10
Brown	63	18
Hubbell	63	13
Slater	63	4
Blake	60	18
Klubertanz	60	1
Wright	57	17
Fenton	57	12
Graham	50	8

Towards the end of the race Hoagland took Fenton in tow and pushed him so that he would get over 60 miles, the people thinking that it would entitle him to a share of the money. Amid great cheering Hoagland finished the 10 hours with a great pace. Brown and Hubbell finished in that order.

The score at the finish;

	Miles	Laps
Hoagland	67	13
Brown	66	16
Hubbell	66	12
Slater	66	3
Blake	66	17
Klubertanz	63	1
Wright	60	15
Fenton	60	11
Graham	52	10

The distance travelled Saturday;

	Miles	Laps
Hoagland	11	11
Brown	16	5
Hibbell	16	5
Shater	16	2
Blake	15	17
Klubertanz	15	17
Wright	15	2
Fenton	15	2
Graham	12
Howell	2	19

FENTON WON THE SUIT.

Fenton won the suit in the popular voting contest with 277 votes. Graham got the derby hat with 259 votes.

An admirer of "Hungry's" presented him with a large bouquet early in the evening.

The first six walkers had $271 to divide. Hoagland got 40 per cent, and the others 25, 15, 10, 6 and 4 per cent.

W J Thompson.
Dr Wightman.
J H Connall.
S T Medd.
G L Hay.
R Carton.
Sam Ray.

These games will be played in the Granite Rink, Toronto.

ST. ANDREWS WIN ANOTHER; KNOX TEAM'S GOOD SHOWING

At Knox rink last night St Andrew's defeated Knox church team in a senior church league game. The score was 2-1 and at half time was 1-0. St Andrew's scored again after the second half had gone a few minutes. The [illegible] team scored their only game in the last two minutes of play. The game was fast and exciting and the spectators were on their tip toes all the time. Harry Morgan was referee and gave satisfaction. The game was clean, only five penalties being handed out and these were for minor offences.

For St Andrew's, Rea and Flanagan showed up well and Patterson in goal was almost invincible. Bartley and Hillier starred for the Knox septette. Rev H J Keith was also very effective at point.

The teams were:

ST. ANDREW'S

Goal—Patterson.
Point—McDonald.
Cover—Flanagan.
Rover—Staunton.
Centre—H Rae
Right—Curry.
Left—Dormer.

KNOX

Goal—Crowe;
Point—Rev H J Keith.
Cover—Gailey.
Rover—Bartley.
Centre—Hillier.
Right—Stewart.
Left—Reid.

In the second half, Knox moved Crowe to right wing and Stewart played the net.

Summary.

St Andrew's, Rae, 16 mins.

Second half

St Andrew's, Flanagan, 4 mins.
Knox, Bartley, 18 mins.

Penalties.

Bartley 2; Gailey 1; Flanagan 1; Stanton 1.

About ten minutes before time was called Bartley got an eye hurt and a delay was caused while he had it bandaged. With two minutes to play he made an end to end rush and scored the only goal for his team.

Knox team displayed pretty combination at times, although they had little on the winners in this respect.

There were over 300 spectators, the game being played between seven and eight o'clock.

PETERBORO'S BYE IN PRELIMINARY

In Ontario Tankard Games--Semi-Finals This Afternoon

Final game Thursday afternoon on ice to be named by Mr Rogers.

Port Hope and Cobourg sent notice that they would not compete in the Tankard this year.

GEORGE ST. AND KNOX CHURCH

The fixture in the church league tonight is a game at Knox church rink between George street and Knox church. The following players of the George street team are asked to be at the rink at 6.45 sharp:

Williams, Ackerman, Best, Curtis, Godfrey, Davidson, Sanderson.

BOWLING

The Examiner B team broke even in a double header in the ten pin league series at the P.B.C. yesterday taking two out of three from the Frontenacs and losing two to the Belmonts. The B's were a trifle off in their opening game with the Frontenacs, but improved as they went along and captured the second and third contests. Dela Fosse was high man for the winners, while Fryer had top score for the losers.

The B's started off well in their contest with the Belmonts, running away with the first game. After that, however, it was all Belmonts. Wareham's great work being mainly responsible for the large score put up by the winners. Wareham rolled in splendid form all evening and ended up with the record breaking score of 254 in his last game, a score that excells all previous league records by 18 pins, the previous record having been established by Herb Martin early in the season. Wareham's total for three games was only four pins below the best for three consecutive games, Cairns holding the mark at 600.

The scores follow;

EXAMINER B

DelaFosse	133	134	155—422
Craig	114	128	141—383
Clark	106	122	130—358

BELLEVILLE WILL DEFAULT GAMES

Intermediates Dropping Out —Collingwood Comes Back Again.

Belleville intermediates have notified the O.H.A. secretary that they intend to default their remaining games.

COLLINGWOOD BACK.

Collingwood juniors have changed their minds. After announcing that they would drop out of the O.H.A. owing to the heavy expenses which they had to fork out of their own pockets they telephoned Secretary Hewett and asked to play out their schedule. The intermediate management of the same place has taken in the junior team thus making it possible for them to remain in the game.

PRESCRIPTION FILLED OFTEN

Many Persons Here Benefitted by Home Prescription and Druggists are Kept Busy

That the readers of this paper appreciate advice when given in good faith is plainly demonstrated by the fact that one well-known local pharmacy supplied the ingredients for the "vegetable prescription" many times within the past two weeks. The announcement of this simple, harmless mixture has certainly accomplished much in reducing the great many cases of kidney complaint and rheumatism here, relieving pain and misery, especially among the older population, who are always suffering more or less with bladder and urinary troubles, backache and particularly rheumatism.

Another well-known druggists asks us to continue the announcement of the prescription. It is doing so much real good here, he continues, that it would be a crime not to do so. It cannot be repeated too often, and further states many cases of remarkable cures wrought.

The following is the prescription, of simple ingredients, making a harmless, inexpensive compound, which any person can prepare by shaking well in a bottle; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Any first-class drugstore will sell this small amount of each ingredient, and the dose for adults is one teaspoonful to be taken after each meal and again at bedtime. There's enough here to last for one week, if taken according to directions. Good results will be apparent from the first few doses.

WOMAN'S BACKACHE

The back is the mainspring of woman's organism. It quickly calls attention to trouble by aching. It tells, with other symptoms, such as nervousness, headache, pains in the loins, weight in the lower part of the body, that a woman's feminine organism needs immediate attention.

In such cases the one sure remedy which speedily removes the cause, and restores the feminine organism to a healthy, normal condition is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. J. A. Laliberte, of 34 Artillerie Street, Québec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For six years I have been doctoring for female weakness, heart and nerves, liver and kidney trouble, but in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I can safely say I have found a cure.

"I was continually bothered with the most distressing backaches, headaches, and bearing down pains, and I kept growing more and more nervous.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of all these distressing symptoms and made me a well woman. I would advise all suffering women, young or old, to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration.

SPORTING

NEGROES WILL BACK JOHNSON

It is said that colored citizens of Chicago stand ready to make up a fund of $100,000 with which to back Johnson against any white pugilist. Bert Williams, the colored comedian, says that he stands ready to back Johnson with $5,000 himself. "Negroes are proud of Johnson," says Mr. Williams. "He is the Corbett of the race. He is fast on his feet, has a world of strength and knows now to keep his brain clear when in action. He is the best fighter the black race has ever produced, and I think even the white followers of the ring are disposed to give him the credit."

CURLING

London, Jan 19—A remarkable welcome was accorded the Canadian curlers at Peebles, though the weather was most unpleasant. First there was a civic reception and next a banquet, where most cordial speeches were made. Lady Ballantyne presented souvenirs of the ancient burgh to the visitors.

Lieut-Governor Fraser handed Baillie Forest a miniature maple leaf in silver. The local curlers were present in force and extended the warmest greeting to the Canucks. The town is decorated in bunting.

Cannongate Kilwinning Lodge, Edinburgh, tonight conferred the unusual honor of honorary worshipful G M on Lieut-Governor Fraser. Twenty-nine members of the Canadian curling party accompanied Mr Fraser.

RUNNING

In the most strenuous of games, the winner must talk as well as strive. Jack Johnson was there with the talkfest as he handed Tommy Burns the wallops, and Tom Longboat beat Dorando Pietri every time they passed each other in Madison Square Garden.

Ulpiano Pietri brother and trainer o Dorando, was quoted somewhere after the race as follows:

"Dat a Longboat he a some runner, he be a great man. Anyone who beat my bruder, be a da peach I never forget dat a race. Longboat he look like a shrimp, but he have a legs like a da spider."

"He make me so a mad in first mile when he a say to my bruder, 'Ump.' "My bruder he gets mad and say, 'Toma, I beata you so bad you get a monk an' organ to make a living.'

"Toma say: 'Ump, I gets you to buy the monk, then he make a monk out my bruder and say, 'Oh, greata white chief, I come all the way from Canada to run this race and make a the jack ass of your bruder.'

"After the seventeenth mile Toma no speak to my bruder, all he say before dat be, 'Me big Injun heap good on run, an' then be a grunt like a pig.'

"Toma make my bruder run ahead a him to break the wind so a de running behind is easier, no wonder he beat my bruder.

"Then when my bruder fall did he a stop to pick him up. Not Toma, he run away and leave poor fella, a lying there."

FRANK GOTCH WILL WRESTLE THE BIG TURK

Word comes from London that Frank Gotch, tired of trying to force Hackenschmidt into a match, is coming back to America to wrestle Mahomout, the Turk, for the world's heavy weight title. If Gotch and Mahmout accept the terms of Joe Coffey, of the Empire Athletic Club, of Chicago the match will be pulled off in the Windy City in March. Coffey proposes a purse of $10,000.

Gotch has been doing little training while in London, but will soon get in shape again if the match with the Turk is arranged. The American grappler has been unable to get Hackenschmidt, the Russian Lion, on the mat with him while abroad, and is looking for other fields to conquer.

Mahmout comes to this country with a reputation, but Gotch may not take him on until he shows his ability on the mat. Mahmout defeated Americus in a recent match, but he has not yet met men of Gotch's class. However, he looks good.

Gotch is due to arrive with Ernest Siegfried, the German heavyweight champion, and with the arrival of these two men things in the wrestling line are bound to take a big boom.

Seigfried is conceded to be the most powerful of foreign wrestlers, and is invincible under Graeco-Roman rules. His first appearance in this country will be at Madison Square Garden on January 28th, against two of the best heavyweight wrestlers, whom he will agree to throw in thirty minutes of wrestling time or forfeit $500. The appearance of the big foreigner will arouse no little interest, particullarly as Prof. William Muldoon will act as referee.

WALKING

Mr. Jim Harrison has received word that he cannot get the Riverdale roller rink on the date that it was decided to hold a matched race there between Blake the negro and the local man, as a wrestling match is booked for that night.

Louis McLeod left Drummond Island a week ago to skate to Thessalon and has not been seen since.

Solomon Boydm of Kingston born in County Antrim, Ireland, a little over one hundred years ago, is dead.

Hon. R. F. Sutherland, M.P., takes the front row seat in Parliament vacated by the late Hon. Thomas Greenway.

Lieut.-Colonel Burstall will succeed Lieut.-Colonel Taylor as commandant of the Royal Military College, it is reported.

THE MOTOR HOUSE.

A Traveling Home on a Motor Car In England.

Caravan motoring, as it is called, is becoming not only a fashionable but a popular pastime in Great Britain and on the Continent. During last summer's rambling I met several; one in Germany, one in France, one in Austria and two in Great Britain. The most remarkable and, to my mind, the most practical was the one I saw in England. It is owned by a Mr. Fletcher, and I encountered him and his caravan in one of the prettiest flower-hedged lanes in the County of Kent.

Mr. Fletcher was eloquent, enthusiastic, in the praise of his vehicle, and told me that he had been accustomed to touring with horses in previous years, before he purchased his caravan, but he complained that horses were so liable to get lamed or used up by the heavy hill climbing work that he had determined to go in for a motor vehicle. As showing the ease with which the machine could be managed, his coachman, after a short course of instruction at the manufacturer's plant, took entire charge of the machine, and they have experienced no trouble.

The chassis plan and elevation and the general arrangement of the vehicle is carried out with a view to giving accessibility of the whole of the working parts, and this accessibility is the more apparent on viewing the vehicle itself. The frame is made with straight longitudinal members of channel steel, being well-stayed by substantial channel cross members, riveted and secured with gusset plates, were necessary, and forms an exceedingly stiff construction. The inner frame is made of channel steel. To a forward cross member are attached the two channel section members of the underframe, which carry both engine and gear-box, and this is well stayed throughout its entire length to the side members, of the main frame. The engine crank case is fitted with six substantial arms for securing the engine to this underframe.

The vehicle is divided into three compartments: the driver's seat, on which there is accommodation for two or three passengers in addition to the driver; the sleeping compartment, which is about seven feet six inches long, and contains two berths on each side, similar to the berths on board ship, and the kitchen and living room. There is also an opening in the roof and a step-ladder, with hand-rails, giving easy access to the outside seats. The seats on the roof, and also the hand-rails, are made so that they can be folded down to facilitate storing the machine in covered buildings, the whole of the sides and seats folding down flat with the top. The kitchen and living room are well provided with a handy, self-contained, cooking range, and also contain liberal provision in the way of cupboards for storage.

There is also a table and a couch on one side of the compartment, which makes into a bed at night for one of the attendants, while a folding bunk is provided above for the other attendant. Underneath the frame at the rear end of the vehicle are cupboards for coal, provisions and supplies of all sorts. On the roof there is, of course, in addition to the seating, plenty of room for carrying tents, if this is desired, so that if required the sleeping accommodations in the caravan itself can be reserved for the ladies of the party, while the gentlemen can sleep in tents outside. The machine is fitted in a luxurious manner, and is constructed of polished American teak in the natural color.

This idea of caravan motoring has a charm that house-boating lacks. One may wander over the country, in gypsy fashion, with a freedom restricted only by the course and passableness of the roads.

Making Shot.

Even among sportsmen there are probably many people who are not acquainted with the manner in which shot is made. The process is carried out at what is known as a shot tower. There is a tall tower of metal or stone with a tank at the top filled with molten lead. The bottom of this tank is perforated with holes, and there is a slide underneath it, also perforated. This slide is pulled from side to side, and every time two holes come opposite each other a small quantity of molten lead falls through. As these drops fall through the air they assume a globular shape, and if the tower is of sufficient length they solidify before reaching the bottom. Here they fall into a tank of cold water and are cooled. When the shot has to be small the slide is worked more quickly than when it has to be larger.

Old Manners.

A gentleman of the old school said some years ago: "When I was young two gentlemen meeting in the street took off their hats to each other. A few years later, and the bow had ceased. Then came a time when they merely touched the brims of their hats, and now a jerk of the chin and a little grunt, 'H'm, h'm,' is considered sufficient salutation between two men of quality and fashion."

The habit of remaining uncovered in the presence of ladies died hard, but it is a good many years since the late Lord D. was conspicuous as the only man who always stood bareheaded in the crush room of the opera.

The Gallery Answered Martha.

Of the Dublin gallery boys a famous baritone in his reminiscences tells some good stories—one of "Faust," in which he played Valentine.

After the duel Martha, who rushed in at the head of the crowd, raised Valentine's head and held him in her arms during the first part of the scene and cried out in evident alarm:

"Oh, what shall I do?"

There was a deathlike stillness in the house, which was interrupted by a voice from the gallery calling out: "Unbutton his weskit!"

St. Giles' Presbyterian church at Hamilton will have no pew rents and no envelope contributions.

BRITISH PENSIONERS

BRITAIN HAS A BIG LIST OF LUCKY ONES.

Some of the Persons on National Payroll Have Been Drawing Salaries For Fifty Years—One Man Inherited Pension Which Began Six Years Before He Was Born—Abolished Offices Account For Many.

A blue book containing the names of the nation's pensioners who have at one time or another held office in the civil service shows that there are some lucky individuals who have been drawing pensions since the fifties. The civil service pensioners draw between them £644,616 a year, and the amounts vary from the £1,700 received by retired ambassadors like Sir Horace Rumold and Sir Edmund Monson down to the £1 2s. 6d. a year received by Mr. E. Moran, apothecary in Dublin Castle, whose office was abolished in 1874.

The ages to which some of these pensioners live is astonishing. Men who retired on the ground of ill-health or old age back in the fifties still draw their annual stipend. There is one man named W. Learmonth, who appears to have inherited a pension which began six years before he was born. He was Lord Chancellor's messenger in the Supreme Court of Judicature, and the entries against his name are: "Retired at twenty-seven; cause, abolition of fees; pension commenced on Jan. 11, 1832, succeeded to compensation May 6, 1865." This individual also draws £47 12s., as a "commutation annuity," and since 1870 another £24 3s. as a "commutation annuity" from the National Debt Commissioners.

Then there is a Mr. F. R. Brande, whose office as moneyers' apprentice in the Royal Mint was abolished in 1851, when he was twenty-two. He has drawn £150 a year compensation allowance since then, or £8,550 in all. But as well as this, Mr. Brande put in forty-four years' service as a clerk in the Mint and retired in 1891 at the age of 61, with a pension of £311 2s. 2d. a year, his salary having been £466 13s. 4d.

There was another nineteen-year-old moneyers' apprentice named H. Finch when the office was abolished in 1851. He, too, draws £150 a year.

W. M. Carpendale, a clerk in the National Debt office, retired in 1854, at the age of 28, on the ground of "ill-health." He still draws a pension of £32 a year.

A curious pension granted in the same year is that under the heading of "Slave trade services" to a storekeeper at St. Helena, who still draws £43 a year because his office was abolished.

Since 1862 Henry Mills, formerly lower turnkey at the old Queen's Prison, has drawn £4 9s. 9d. because his office was abolished.

In the report there are numerous instances of men who retired thirty and forty years ago on the ground of ill-health still drawing their pensions. An instructor in mat-making at Pentonville Prison has drawn £22 18s. 11d. a year since 1866. An inspector of fisheries has drawn £367 a year since 1867.

The great majority of the prison pensioners seem to have retired because of bad health, and there are hundreds of cases given in the blue book.

When the tolls on Chelsea bridge were done away with in 1879, J. J. Browning, the collector, was given a pension of £17 1s. 2d., which he still draws.

A very large pension that has been paid for many years is that to Sir T. G. Fardell, M.P. for North Paddington, whose office as registrar in the Bankruptcy Court was abolished in 1872, when he was 38 years old. He held office for four years at a salary of £1,000. His compensation allowance has been £666 13s. 4d. a year for the last thirty-six years, or £24,000 in all.

Another active pensioner is Sir Courtenay Ilbert, the clerk of the House of Commons, whose salary is £2,000 a year. He draws £1,000 a year pension in respect to the office of Parliamentary counsel, which he held for fifteen years.

The names of a number of pensioners are given whose service in office ranged from thirty years to the forty-seven years of O. May, a laborer at Hampton Court, who retired at the age of 74, and the fifty-five years of a British museum attendant.

One of the most curious pensions in the report is that under the Irish Civil Service. It is £64 3s. 4d. given to T. Moriarity, a "seneschal" at Dublin Castle, whose office was abolished in 1859.

Here is a list of distinguished pensioners:

Lord Cromer, £900; Sir Henry Drummond-Wolff, £1,700; Sir E. Malet, £1,700; Sir Norman Lockyer, £533; Lord Welby, £1,541; Lord Sanderson, £1,533; Sir E. Bradford, £828; Sir Robert Anderson, £400; Sir Digby Pigott, £1,000; Lord Dunboyne, £1,200; Sir Nigel Kingscote, £200.—London Express.

England's Oldest Castle.

Manchester Castle is said to be one of the oldest inhabited houses in Britain. It was old in King Henry's time, for it appears to have been the Romans who first raised its huge gray towers to defend the passage of the river Esk running below its walls. From its perch on Hardknot fell it commands the country from the hills to the shore, a position of immense importance so near to the border. At the time of the Norman invasion the fortress was given to the Penningtons, who have held it ever since.—Westminster Gazette.

Not Too Blind.

Angelina—Oh, dear, the diamond in my engagement ring has got a flaw in it.

Edwin—Take no notice, darling. Love should be blind, you know.

Angelina—Yes, but it hasn't got to be stone blind.

MAY ABOLISH 200 YDS. RANGE

Important Changes Proposed by Dominion Rifle Association

Two important changes which if adopted will materially affect rifle shooting in Canada will come up for discussion at the annual Dominion Rifle Association meeting at Ottawa in February. One is to change in one regular distance from the 200 yards to the 300 yards range. It has been decided that the 200 yard target and range is too easy and with the object of making it more difficult it is proposed to shoot at this same target at 300 yards instead and 600 target at 300 yards instead, making the usual ranges, 300, 500, and 600 yards. Should this change be made in the D. R.A. it will probably be made in the Saturday afternoon shooting throughout the Dominion.

Another suggestion is that the Snow property, just south of the Rockliffe range, be used for a new kind of target which would be secured in England and would be the nearest to service conditions that has yet been devised. These targets are steel, the size of a man's head and shoulder. They are in sets of three, six or more, and the sets would be spread anywhere over the field at points unknown to the riflemen. They are connected with electric wires to a keyboard at the end from where the riflemen start shooting and by pressing a button the operator can raise into position any set he wants and the men start shooting at them at unknown distances. As the targets are hit they fall down and the operator can touch another key and thus raise another set at another distance into position and the riflemen would change onto that. There would be no distances known at all.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF THE INSPECTION OF PRISONS

Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith Paid Official Visit to Local Gaol on December 28th—Eighteen Prisoners in Custody—Good Discipline and Management.

An official visit of inspection was made to Peterborough goal on Dec. 28th, 1908, when there were 18 male prisoners in custody, charged with horse stealing, larceny, drunkenness and vagrancy. 10 of the prisoners had been committed to the gaol for vagrancy and the majority of these were from the city of Peterborough. Unfortunately no provision has been made for the care of the old people by the city, and it is deplorable that arrangements have not been made by the municipality for the care of its destitute poor instead of sending them to gaol as criminals.

On inspection the general condition of the building, beds, bedding, corridors, cells, yards, closets, drainage and water supply were found quite satisfactory. The ventilation is not satisfactory, for the building is heated by old stoves. The arrangement for heating this gaol is one of the worst in the Province.

The dietary is according to gaol regulations, but, on account of so many old people being sent in from the city of Peterborough, the rations have to be better than the ordinary gaol fare provides. This is as it should be, for these poor unfortunate old people should always be provided with nourishing food, no matter what the cost is to the municipality for the same. The cost of rations for the past quarter was only 10 cents per day. The supplies are obtained by contract. There were no complaints in regard to the quality of the food supplied.

There were 20 suits of clothing in good condition of repair.

On examining the books the entries were found neatly and correctly made and up to date.

My visit of inspection impressed me favorably in regard to the discipline and management of this gaol.

The attention of the County Council should be called by the Sheriff at the earliest possible date to the necessity of a complete and thorough renovation in the Court House and gaol as far as the heating is concerned. The Court House and gaol should be heated from one central plant, and when this is installed, a much needed improvement will be carried out.

R. W. BRUCE SMITH,
Inspector.

APSLEY WELLS ARE GOING DRY

Some of Them are Being Dug Deeper—Other News From The North

Special to the Review.

Apsley, Jan. 19.—The Council meeting was held in the town hall on Saturday for the transaction of business.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stone of South Burleigh, were guests at "Eelsview Villa" for a couple of days last week.

Master Everett Bertrand of Havelock is visiting his grandfather, Mr. Thomas McElmoyle.

Our stage driver, Mr. Michael Kennedy, has been busy during the past week getting in a supply of ice for his summer cottage at Loon Lake.

The Division Court was held in the town hall here on January 14th. There were a number of questions of dispute. Mr. R. Ruddy K.C., of Millbrook was present to mete out justice to those concerned.

The water supply in some of the wells in this vicinity is very low at present. Mr. Simon Windsor had to excavate his well to an additional depth of four feet.

A tea meeting and Xmas tree entertainment under the management of the Church of England, was held in the parish room on December 31st. The tree was very beautifully decorated and groaned under the heavy burden which consisted chiefly of presents for the children. A very lengthy programme was delivered to a well filled house. At the close of the programme the tree was stripped of its presents. Then a number of people assembled in the church where a watch service was held.

SEATS IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Ottawa, Jan. 18.—When the two hundred and twenty-one members of the Commons in the eleventh Parliament of Canada assemble on Wednesday the survivors from the last Parliament will find just one-third of the old crowd missing, and an additional effect of newness given to the scene by a general shuffle of seats. The defeat or retirement of seventy-one members of the old House has resulted in a promotion for many of their more fortunate colleagues to seats "nearer the front."

In this reallocation of seats greater changes have been made on the Conservative than on the Liberal side of the House. The Opposition front row will show five new faces. Mr. Andrew Broder the veteran representative from Dundas, has been brought down from the third row to the front row. He has the first seat on the speaker's left. Then come two new members of the House, Mr. Cowan, of Vancouver, and Mr. Doherty, of Montreal, replacing, respectively, Dr. Reid, of Prescott, and Col. Sam Hughes. Mr. Reid takes a seat in the second row behind Hon. John Haggart, and Col. Hughes moves over a seat to take the place left by Mr. Bergeron. Next come Dr. Sproule, Mr. Borden, Mr. Foster and Mr. Haggart, each keeping the same seat he has held for the past twelve years. Mr. Monk moves down to the first row, next to Mr. Haggart, replacing Hon. David Tisdale, and taking official rank as leader of the Quebec Conservatives. Mr. Maclean, of South York, Mr. Lennox, Mr. Northrup and Dr. Roche of Marquette complete the front benchers. The last named is promoted from the fourth row, and has precedence over his fellow-Opposition members from the Prairie Provinces. Mr. Geo. Taylor, chief Conservative whip, has placed himself directly behind his leader and has given up his old place in the front row. Mr. Barker will sit next to him, directly behind Mr. Foster. Then come in order, Dr. Reid, Mr. Porter, Mr. Lancaster, Mr. Blain, Mr. Armstrong and Mr. McCarthy, of Calgary, each having been accorded a better seat than he had in the former House. Mr. Osler retains his old seat, next to Mr. Lancaster and directly behind Messrs. Hughes and Sproule. Mr. Claude Macdonnell comes up two rows and is placed on Mr. Osler's right.

On the Government side of the House the only new face in the front row will be Hon. Mr. Sutherland, who takes the seat held by the late Hon. Thomas Greenway. In the second row Hon. Charles Murphy takes his seat among the Ministers next to Hon. Frank Oliver, Mr. Calvert moving over one seat to make room. Other changes in the second row are the promotions of Messrs. Conmee, Guthrie and German. Mr. E. M. Macdonald, of Nova Scotia, holds his old seat, and Mr. A. K. Maclean of Lunenburg, and Mr. Carvell, of New Brunswick, move over from the Liberal overflow on the Opposition side of the House to the third row on the Speaker's right. On the last row on the Government side of the House are the following five young back-benchers;—Messrs. McGiverin, Lloyd, Harris, Fowke, Manley Chew and Thomas Low, who constitute a unique and most promising line of "burdocks on the back benches." Twenty-three Liberals will sit on the Opposition side of the House.—The Globe.

MARCIL THE NEW SPEAKER OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

Sir Wilfrid and Mr. Borden Express Regret That Position is Not Permanent One During Political Career of Holder—Fielding, Borden and King Away.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Charles Marcil, M.P. for Bonaventure, was elected Speaker of the eleventh Parliament of Canada which opened yesterday afternoon. There was no other business. This morning the Commons was summoned to the Senate Chamber to listen to the announcement of the sessional program.

Mr. Marcil was Deputy Speaker of the last Parliament and custom decreed he should have a step up. There was practically a full House when the clerk asked the members to choose a presiding officer. Hon. W. S. Fielding is in Paris, Sir Frederick Borden is on the ocean. Mackenzie King is in China, and Dr. Sproule had not arrived from Markdale, where he is having a stock sale. These were practically all the absentees. Hon. Mr. Templeman has no seat.

When Sir Wilfrid Laurier made his entry, after the Commoners had arrived from the Senate Chamber, the Liberal benches broke into loud applause and the galleries, which were not filled, looked down in admiration.

Of the importance of the Speaker's position, said Sir Wilfrid, it was superfluous to say a single word, but in the case of the member selected for the chair, to the qualities that might be expected of him, integrity, dignity, fairness and impartiality, these would be an additional recommendation if he had also the experience of the same or similar duty. In the British House—the Mother of Parliaments—there was an unwritten law that decreed that once a Speaker always a Speaker. This was calculated to produce the high measure of efficiency that characterized the holder of the position.

Sir Wilfrid regretted that we had not advocated a similar rule. In the early part of his political career, when he was leader of the Opposition, he had made the suggestion to Sir John Macdonald, and in the last Parliament he had discussed it with the then Speaker, who had replied that while the honor was great, the sacrifice was greater, and unless there was a change in the methods of proceedings, it would be impossible to adopt the English system. The British House placed the Speakership on equal terms with judicial positions, with a salary of $5,000 a year, and on retirement a pension of $4,000 a year and a peerage. We could not give a peerage; as to pensions, he had a vivid recollection that they were not popular.

It was not in accordance with our traditions to re-elect a Speaker for a second term. But it was a tradition that the member who was next to the Speakership should be called to the chair, and the House was fortunate in having in Mr. Marcil a man of the highest character. As chairman of the committee of the whole House he had discharged his duties with grace, dignity, fairness and marked ability.

Sir Wilfrid hoped Mr. Marcil would give satisfaction to both parties, and keep the scales of justice without fear or favor.

Mr. Borden's Sentiments.

R. L. Borden said the Prime Minister had described very truly and forcefully the position of Speaker and was inclined to share the regret that all the traditions surrounding the office of Speaker in the British House of Commons had not been adopted here. Mr. Borden recollected being in England in 1895, when there was a great deal of discussion as to whether Sir William Gully should be re-elected Speaker, but in the end he was re-elected without opposition.

In this country conditions were somewhat different and possibly it was not regarded as practicable to carry out the condition obtained in the Imperial House, but he thought that in other respects, such as the dignity and importance surrounding the office, we had not been behind. He agreed with the Prime Minister that the office must be judicial.

As to Mr. Marcil, Mr. Borden observed that as Deputy Speaker he had conducted himself with dignity and impartiality.

"I don't propose," the Opposition leader went on, "to affirm or deny what has been paid—I have not the evidence—but as far as the system of offering bribes to constituencies is concerned, it is a vicious one—(Opposition cheers)—and as far as I am concerned, I lifted up my voice in favor of the prohibition of that by statute. The whole question may be discussed later on in a more complete way.

"I will say nothing more on that now, but I desire to say that the very judicial qualities with which the Speaker is invested, would negative the idea that a person in the position could be a suppliant for favors."

The Cassels' Report.

The resolution of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. William Paterson was carried unanimously and Mr. Marcil was escorted to the chair.

Speaker Marcil thanked the House, expressing the hope that he would be supported in his efforts to discharge his duties in an impartial manner.

Mr. Borden was told by the Premier that the report of Judge Cassels on the Marine Department had not been received, but would be to-morrow or the day after.

Mr. Borden also expressed anxiety in regard to recent treaties. The Prime Minister replied that the waterways treaty would be taken up and tabled as soon as received.

NOW IN SESSION

Earl Grey Opened Eleventh Parliament This Morning—Brilliant Scene

Special to the Review.

Ottawa, Jan 21—The first session of the eleventh parliament of Canada was opened today with the usual ceremony. The day was none too bright, and there was not a great deal of excitement save among those immediately concerned.

A detachment of dragoons escorted the Governor General from Government House to the Parliament Houses, where His Excellency was received by a guard from the Governor General's Foot Guards. Meantime a salute of nineteen guns boomed out from Nepean Point.

Earl Grey read the speech from the throne in the Senate Chamber, fair ladies and officials of Church and State in their robes of office, making a brilliant scene.

WON'T LET HIM RESIGN

Conservatives at Caucus Cheered Mr. R. L. Borden Again and Again.

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—The Conservative caucus last night declined to hear the word resign from R. L. Borden. Nearly all the party followers were present. Mr. Barnard, who defeated Hon. Wm. Templeman in Victoria, B.C., presided. Joseph Russell, M.P. for East Toronto, was at a live stock show. He called on Mr. Borden during the day.

Mr. Borden told his followers that he had been through two elections and he asked them to call a meeting, which he would not attend, to discuss the leadership. In the meantime he placed his resignation in their hands.

"Undoubtedly," said Mr. Borden after the caucus, "we have the strongest opposition man for man since 1896."

BURNED TO DEATH

Terrible Tragedy in Saskatchewan—Four Dead, One Escaped.

Kronon, Sask., Jan. 21.—While Frank Engle, a well-to-do farmer, was absent from home, fire destroyed his home, his wife and four children, the eldest 10 years of age, perishing in the flames.

One boy, 16 years old, who slept downstairs, escaped. The mother, who also slept downstairs, attempted to rescue the children that were asleep upstairs, but was suffocated before she could reach them. The boy who escaped made three unsuccessful attempts to rescue the family, but was driven back each time, the stairs giving way in the last attempt.

The first started about one o'clock yesterday morning from an overheated stovepipe. Mr. Engle was on a business trip to Milestone.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

E. A. Lancaster, M.P., has given notice of a resolution to petition the British Parliament to amend the British North America Act by abolishing the Senate.

At New York with gas escaping from every jet in his room, F. E. Osborne, 55 years of age, of the Inland Bank Co., was found dead in his room at Hotel Wellington.

Judge Anderson has set Feb. 23 for beginning the re-trial of the case against the Standard Oil Co., of Indiana. This is the case in which Judge Landis' fine of $29,240,000 was reversed by the Appellate Court.

The subject of commutation of the pensions of ex-soldiers and sailors with a view to enabling them to emigrate to the colonies as small capitalists has been sympathetically discussed at the United Service Institution.

WILL BE OPPOSED

City Against Extension of Time for Street Railway Extension.

The city will oppose the application of the Peterborough Radial Railway Company for an extension of time in which to extend their line from Peterborough to Lakefield and Young's Point. The matter was taken up at the meeting of the Board of Works last night and the above action was decided upon.

Ald. Phelan said that he noticed the street railway company was applying for an extension of time for extending their road to Lakefield. The company had had a two year extension already, and the city should get busy and see that it is not granted unless the company is compelled to start at once on their road.

The city needs that road and the council should make representations to the Legislature at once.

Ald. Buller brought to the notice of the board that a new company was going to build from Cobourg to the Kawartha Lakes and might go to Havelock instead of Peterborough.

Ald. McIntyre moved that the city oppose the company's application for an extension of time.

Ald. Phelan informed the committee that the street railway company begins this year to pay one-half the cost of snow cleaning for the next five years. Heretofore the city has had to pay the full cost.

The street railway company's charter permitted them to run their line to Young's Point. They then got an extension of time, and an extension to their charter to run to Stony Lake. They were to commence the work by May 14th inst., and that the whole thing was to be completed in five years.

Ald. Duncan seconded Ald. McIntyre's motion and it was carried.

Rector Called Into Court.

Islington, Jan. 21.—A sensation was caused yesterday when it was stated that the trouble between Rev. T. S. McGonigle of St. George's Church, and his churchwarden, A. B. Cooper, is to be aired before Magistrate P. Ellis at West Toronto on Monday next at 10 a.m. The rector is charged with having threatened an assault on Mr. Cooper last November, when differences existing between the two culminated one Sunday morning in an exciting altercation just outside the church. Mr. Cooper charges that the rector raised a heavy cane and threatened to brain him. He says he is now afraid to be out of his house after dark, and last week he made application to Crown Attorney Drayton for a court hearing.

Dynamite Kills Four.

Newark, N.J., Jan. 21.—Four men were killed and ten others injured, one fatally, when three tons of dynamite in one of the buildings of the Forcite Powder Works at Lake Hopatcong blew up late Tuesday. The detonation shook the country for miles around, and blew the building to atoms.

Suicides on Police Station Steps.

Love-Sick Swain and Revolver.

Kingston, Jan. 21.—David Hogan, a young man, was charged in the Police Court yesterday with threatening to shoot a former sweetheart, Florence Redden. The magistrate found that Hogan was only joking when he drew his revolver and exclaimed: "I want to die, but cannot die without her," and dismissed the charge. He fined Hogan, however, $25 or one month for carrying a revolver.

'Quake Tragedies.

Smyrna, Asiatic Turkey, Jan. 21.—Another earthquake was experienced here at ten minutes past two o'clock yesterday morning, but no damage was done.

News of the effects of the shock of Tuesday continues to come in slowly. Over 300 dwellings were destroyed in villages in the Phocaea district, 25 miles northwest of Smyrna, but only a few persons lost their lives. At Menomen two persons were killed and ten houses collapsed. A number of buildings collapsed at Casaba.

The local authorities have sent out doctors, tents and food.

Town Clerk's Predicament.

St. Boniface, Man., Jan. 21.—Certain papers connected with the poll having been turned over to the town clerk, Joseph Labarge (including poll books) by Magistrate Turenne, he could not find them when wanted by the parties interested in the prosecution of the poll officers in connection with the alleged improprieties in the municipal elections. The mayor and seven out of the eight councillors' rights to sit are being challenged in the courts. Accordingly, Labarge has been arrested, charged with stealing the documents.

Negro Accused.

Windsor, Jan. 21.—Jeremiah Jackson faced some of the worst crimes of the calendar when he appeared in the Police Court yesterday. He was charged with common assault, assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm, indecent assault and arson. He was acquitted on common assault, but committed for trial on six other counts. Thomas E. Carter charged Jackson with arson, because Carter's 14-year-old daughter would not elope with the prisoner.

WORKMEN IN A TUNNEL MET WITH TERRIBLE DEATH

Powder in House Near Crib Used in Construction of New Submarine Water Tunnel Explodes and Victims Are Blown to Pieces.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Blown to pieces by exploding powder, burned to death by the resultant fire or drowned in the icy waters of Lake Michigan, was the fate yesterday of some 50 workmen who were working on a submarine tunnel at a wooden crib, a mile and a half from shore.

The crib was used in the construction of a new submarine water tunnel connecting with the south side shore of the city at 73rd street. It is known that 96 workmen were employed in the crib and the connecting tunnel at the time of the explosion, which started the fire and blew or drove the men into the water.

The explosion is thought to have had its origin in a small powder house about 100 yards from the crib structure proper.

The drowsy attendant on shore was brought into action by a violent ringing of the telephone bell, and this was the message which set on foot the work of rescue:

"The crib is on fire. For God's sake send help at once or we will be burned alive. The tug——"

At this point communication ceased. Through the fog an occasional burst of flames and an unmistakable odor of smoke made it known to the watchers on shore that the telephone message was in earnest.

Men Jumped Into Lake.

The tug T. T. Moreford, in charge of Capt. Johnson, at anchor within a short distance of the imperilled crib, was the first to get into the work of rescue. The ice made it impossible for the tug to reach the improvised pier, but a small boat was used to carry the injured to the steamer and to rescue those who had plunged into the waters of the lake rather than brave the flames which were raging on the crib structure. After several hours of heroic work 39 workmen were rescued.

When the fire tug Conway and its crew had finally quenched the flames 50 bodies had been carried to the shore and placed in morgues in South Chicago awaiting identification. The bodies of the victims in the majority of instances were unrecognizable, and the contracting firm gave out a list of missing, which probably will be about the same as will be announced as the official list of the dead when the coroner has completed his investigation.

GRAND TRUNK IS CENSURED FOR THE GRIMSBY DISASTER

Grimsby, Jan. 21.—A verdict strongly censuring the Grand Trunk for not giving proper protection to the crossing, and recommending the Railway Commission to take necessary steps to safeguard it was brought in at 6.45 p.m. yesterday by the coroner's jury in the enquiry into the tragedy early last Saturday morning, whereby five persons lost their lives.

The jury were out one hour and 15 minutes. J. H. Campbell represented the crown, while Solicitor Pope and James Nixon, district passenger agent, appeared for the railway. The town hall was crowded.

"That the said William Wilson, Ida Wilson, George Teeter, Jennie Gertrude Teeter and Gordon Nelson came to their deaths from being struck by a Grand Trunk express on Depot street crossing at 2.55 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 16, 1909.

"We exonerate the train crew from any responsibility.

"We censure the Grand Trunk Railway for removing the night watchman from the said crossing at only a single track, culpable negligence in view of the past accident, together with the former jury's verdict in not protecting the said crossing with a watchman and gate and thus preventing recent accident.

"We also consider it is an extremely dangerous crossing and recommend the Railway Commission to take steps at once to have the said crossing properly protected."

AN OLD NEGRO PUT IN GAOL

Toronto Man, 110 Years Old Charged With Non-support of Wife.

Toronto, Jan. 21.—One hundred and ten years of age, and arrested for non-support of his wife is the strange plight of William H. Morgan, an old slavery days negro, who is locked up in the Court street station.

He says he was born in slavery and has been "sold on the block like a horse" three times. He was first sold at the age of 20 years for $2,000, when he was, to use his own phrase, "a good-lookin' nigger." Eighteen years later, having been once sold in the meanwhile, he was disposed of for $1,000.

INSURANCE FOR HORSES

Local Firm to Inaugurate This Department of Insurance.

It is stated that a local firm of real estate and insurance men will commence a branch for insuring horses. This department of insurance has never been taken up in Peterborough before.

The idea is to provide protection for horses of value and the policies are taken out and premiums paid in the same manner as they are in regular life insurance. Policies for livery horses will not be issued on account of the danger they are so often in on account of careless drivers.

Practically all the valuable race horses on the big circuits are insured.

HAVE ARRIVED IN ENGLAND

Mr. Fred Farthing Writes Relief Officer Miller — Expresses Thanks to Citizens

City Relief Officer Miller, who was instrumental in raising money in aid of Fred Farthing and his wife and family, in order that they might return to England, has received a letter from Mr. Farthing. They have arrived safely at Plymouth, England, and Mr. and Mrs. Farthing and Mr. Farthing's mother and sister express their thanks to the citizens of Peterborough, who gave their money to assist Mr. Farthing. He stated that he was in better health since his arrival home.

TRAIN FOR BUSINESS

Most men train their brains and almost entirely neglect their bodies. They do not seem to realize that keenness of judgment and clearness of thought depend as much on the body as on the brain itself. Any man can prove this to his own satisfaction by attempting to decide a weighty business problem while suffering with an acute attack of indigestion or a violent spell of biliousness.

The amount of work that the brain can do depends much on the healthfulness of liver, bowels, kidneys and skin.

"Fruit-a-tives" are fruit juices in tablet form. They act directly on liver, bowels, kidneys and skin—and enable these vital organs to rid the system of all impurities. Thus the blood will be kept pure and rich, the brain active, digestion sound, and life made pleasant.

"Fruit-a-tives" are now put up in two sizes—the new 25c box as well as the regular 50c size. If your dealer does not carry them, write Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

The Daily Review

THURSDAY, JAN. 21, 1909.

THE GAOL AND ITS INMATES.

The Government Inspector speaks in a very complimentary way of the staff of the county jail, his remarks including, we suppose, more particularly, Sheriff Hall, Mr. Nesbitt and Mr. Rae, the responsible heads. But he finds serious fault with two other features of this institution, (viz., the necessity of the city magistrate's sending aged people to it, in default of a house of refuge for the city and the heating of the building with stoves. We in the city are more directly concerned with the inspector's serious reflection upon the humanity of our citizens. We are fond of airing ourselves on various abstract subjects of a proper character, but when it comes to housing our aged poor at least so far as the Protestant portion of the population is concerned, they are simply sent to jail. An old song, "Over the hills to the poor-house," represents the aged father and mother being "put out" and compelled to go to the poor house. This pathetic recital of a too oft-recurring fact used to draw tears of indignation from an affected audience. But the word "affected" should be construed differently. It was a matter very largely of pure unadulterated affectation and the affectation exists to this day as the inspector sarcastically points out. This report or at least this part of it, should be the subject of a sermon by every clergyman in the city. A lack of affection for our aged poor or even rich, is a high crime against humanity.

A WARNING FROM THE NORTH.

We have repeatedly called attention to the ruin of the Canadian wool manufacturing industry under the local Canadian tariff on wool goods. The lesson taught by the gradual extinction of that industry in Canada should be taken to heart by those who are about to revise the Dingley tariff. The latest incident in the death throes of the Canadian wool industry is the following circular letter sent by the Montreal Woolen Mill Co. to its customers;—

Montreal, Dec. 7, 1908

Dear Sir,—It is with deep regret that we beg to announce to the trade our decision to liquidate our business of manufacturing woolens. We are compelled to this course of action by the realization of the fact that we cannot, under the existing conditions, hope to operate our mills profitably.

We consequently desire to inform you that we will only execute repeat orders for such goods as we may have the requisite raw materials for up to 31st inst., when we discontinue advance orders and only deliver stock goods and orders already booked.

We have at present a large stock of manufactured goods which we will be pleased to show the trade at clearing prices.

Yours truly,

Montreal Woolen Mill Co

As is our custom in such cases we requested detailed information from the Montreal Company, and received the following reply, which should be read with particular care by the lawmakers at Washington, that in their work of revision they may avoid passing the line of protection below which no American textile industry can exist in competition with the cheap labor of foreign countries;—

Montreal, Dec. 23, 1908.

Dear Sir,—We are in receipt of yours of the 21st, 1908, and note contents. We have done as requested in your slip and hope same will be satisfactory. We also enclose a circular, which explains our position. We have been in business for the past 30 years, and have always paid good interest on the capital invested until the last four years. Since the present Liberal party came into power they have lowered the duty from 30 to 23 1-2 per cent., and have practically annihilated the woolen industry. During their stay in power they have through their free trade policy been the cause of 75 per cent. of the woolen mills closing, and if they stay in power much longer there will be none left and the once biggest Canadian industry will be no more. We have during the last four years lost money but have been hanging on expecting a change in the Government which did not come, and we now have decided to liquidate our plant while we can pay 100 cents on the dollar. Do you know what the duty on second-hand woolen machinery is into the States? If same is low enough we may be inducted to move our machinery and go over, providing we could secure a good location at a reasonable figure. If not too much trouble we would be much obliged if you know of a place that you think would suit our requirements to let us have a line from you. We prefer a plant with water power if at all possible to get. Thanking you in anticipation of an early reply and wishing you a Merry Christmas and a prosperous and Happy New Year we remain.

REV. DR. GOULD'S LECTURE.

Those who had the privilege of being present at the first lecture under the auspices of the Canadian Club—that by Rev Dr Gould, on Turkey, will remember that he was very apprehensive of the future of that country. He considered the Sultan and the ruling class generally as merely pretending to favor representation and popular liberty. Popular freedom was, he affirmed, wholly inconsistent with Islamism. The following however, would indicate a more hopeful future for Turkey.

"On New Year's Day the Sultan gave a dinner to his new Parliament — a dinner which will certainly be historic. A most picturesque account of it was given by the Telegraph.

"In the dining room of the Merasim Kiosk three long tables were set out in horseshoe fashion, all brilliantly illuminated with electricity and decorated. Places at the tables were only reserved for the Sultan, the Grand Vizier, the President and Vice-Presidents of the Chamber, the presidents of the sections, the secretaries and the high officials of the palace. The deputies sat as they liked.

"On the Sultan's right were the Grand Vizier, the Minister of the Interior, and the Second Vice-president of the Chamber. On his left were Ahmed Riza Bey, the President of the Chamber, the First Vice-President, and the Minister of Justice.

"Later on the Sultan gave Djevad Bey the text of his speech, and ordered him to read it:

"It read as follows:

"Deputies and Effendis,— May the Almighty increase your felicity.—Cries of 'Amen.' Truly and sincerely, I am very satisfied to partake of a meal together with the representatives of all the Ottoman nation and of my Imperial subjects—that is with the nation itself. (Cheers). I think the event of this evening is the most happy omen in the history of my Empire. I congratulate you. May God honor us with many repititions of this example.

"This happy meeting is the first result and proof of the prosperity our Constitution has given, and will continue to give, please God, to the Empire, the nation, and the Fatherland, and as such it is worthy to be extolled. (Cheers).

"Deputies and Effendis, be pleased to know that the guardian of the rights of the Sultanate, the Empire, and the country is God, and next the nation and the Parliament. Loud cheers). Therefore, your duty is most important and holy. My decided wish is that your diligence, purpose and intentions, shall be in accordance with that importance and holiness. I, your Emperor, and Caliph, assure and confirm, by permission of the generous God, that I have devoted my person to the maintenance of our Constitution as being the voucher and surety of ours acred rights, and whosoever acts contrary to this I will be his opponent and enemy. (Cheers). The Sultanate is Constitutional and Liberal. May God the Highest be pleased to assist our efforts and diligence to secure the happiness and safety of the Empire, the nation, and the holy Fatherland. (Cheers).

"So many desired to kiss the Sultan's hand or the skirts of his uniform that a crush was apprehended, whereupon the Sultan is reported to have said, with the tears pouring from his eyes, 'I never have felt such satisfaction in my life, nor eaten such a sweet meal.'

"He then retired but received in private Ahmed Riza Bey, the Minister of the Interior, and some of the deputies and Talaat Bey, Vice-President, to whom he said, 'I am so happy that I cannot express my feelings in words.' When the deputies were about to leave, the Sultan's Secretary Djevad Bey, transmitted the following message to them from the Sultan;

"Whenever the nation wishes it, I am ready to sacrifice my life for her."—Public Opinion, (Eng).

The plot exposed in to-day's despatches does not in any way impair rather does it exalt the good faith of the Sultan.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The death of Father John of Cronstadt, is considered one more exemplification of what is supposed to be "a profound truth," viz., that Character alone prevails in the long run. Father John was a man of no particular ability.

"Prof. Haultain, of Toronto University, has uttered a note of warning against the great injury being done to the mining interests of Canada through the booming of worthless mining properties by unscrupulous promoters and brokers. Investments should be made, he states, only after a thoroughly competent expert has examined and reported on the property."—Utica Globe.

There is a hotel down Tennessee way the boys who have to stop there call the "Limit," because it is. The black porter stood there in the doorway ringing the dinner bell. A stray yellow dog hurried up, sat down on his haunches and howled as if his heart would break. The black one stopped ringing to plant a kick in the ribs. "What yer done howlin' yere for, you our dawg! You doan' have ter eat yere!"

Mr. Roosevelt wins! The haughty Congress finds that it does not represent the people as he does. Tons of letters have arrived to both representatives and senators from leading American citizens plainly affirming that the President is right and Congress wrong. There is no mincing matters in these letters. Tillman on the President is a little too cheeky for the people of the United States to stand. Mr. Roosevelt is, in our humble opinion, the greatest of American presidents. He stands for justice and has both the brains and the strength of character to back up his position.

OF INTEREST

The Lancet publishes a paper, read recently by Dr C. H Keetley, senior surgeon to the West London Hospital, before the surgical section of the Royal Society of Medicine, on "Why and How the Surgeon should Attempt to Preserve the Appendix Vermiformis: Its Value in the Surgical Treatment of Constipation," with a series of cases briefly reported.

"Sir William Macewen, Dr Keetly observes, has demonstrated that the appendix has physiological uses, possibly, if not probably, of considerable importance and that it is not the useless merely vesigial organ it has been represented. It has also a potential surgical value which appears greater the more experience one gains, of the removal of the appendix and the clearer one's insight becomes into a class of abdominal and other troubles which, among adults of various ages, and especially of the female sex, are exceedingly common. Dr Keetley has already at least twice been unable to attempt this operation in cases in which it was indicated, because the appendix had been previously removed. In one of these cases the exercised appendix was practically healthy.

"There is, further, the striking possibility, suggested by a biologist so eminent as Professor Metchnikoff, that the appendix is useful in staving off or postponing the degeneracy of old age. What Dr Keetley urges, therefore, is that we should preserve appendices instead of sacrificing them—ie, in all favorable cases transplant them instead of amputating them. An appendix transplanted into the abdominal wall need not be used for an appendicostomy at the time; but it is there if even it should be wanted.

"Appendicitis, he points out, in introducing a summary of the cases reported, is a dangerous disease, not because of the nature of the appendix, but because of its position. Its dangerous and even its seriously troublesome results are due to its relation to the peritoneal cavity. It becomes, however a trivial malady, when the appendix is securely imbedded in the substance of the abdominal wall, and Dr Koetley quotes a number of cases in which this operation restored the appendix to health and usefulness, the inference which he draws being that 'an appendix transplanted is an appendix disarmed.'"

An incident has occurred which leads the Times to advocate the abolition of what it calls 'the very nasty practice of kissing the Book,' in the Court of Justice. It advocates instead the the Scottish fashion of affirmation, "in which the witness holds up his right hand uncovered and declares with his own voice, 'I swear by Almighty God, as I shall answer to God at the great Day of Judgment, that I will tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.' The most effective remedy would be that suggested by Colonel Mapleson,' says the Times,' of new legislation, making the Scottish fashion obligatory instead of optional. Surely Parliament can spare the little time that is needed to get rid once for all of a practice which is degrading in form disgusting in fact, derogatory to the Bible, dangerous to the people, and altogether alien to the solemnity of an oath and the dignity of a Court of Justice."

Pittsburg is to industrial America what Washington is to the nation politically, and for this reason a group of from ten to thirty expert sociologists have been investigating Pittsburg for a year, finding out things that the city itself did not know, and laying the foundation for reforms to stop the loss of life that is wasting the city's human assets. This investigation is called "The Pittsburg Survey," and is partly financed by the Russell Sage Foundation. Its results are published in Charities and the Commons, New York. Pittsburg is a city of Slavs, Italians, Poles, negroes, Irish, Scotch, English, Germans, Jews, Syrians, Bohemians, Japanese, Corn-Planter Indians, and Americans. It might seem hopeless for the sociologist, however learned, to try to bring order out of all this chaos, but it was done by remembering that all these races are in Pittsburg with one object—to work. And if work is their object it would seem that they get their fill of it. Twelve hours a day is the rule for most of them, leaving them so exhausted that there is no time or inclination for reading, recreation, religion, or even home life. One man, after many years of such work, remarked that he would have been happier in the penitentiary.

It was found that as high as 50 per cent of all young foreigners who come to Pittsburg contract typhoid fever within two years of their arrival. Employment agencies, under no adequate supervision, were discovered in some cases to be carrying on an infamous business. In one part of Homestead, near the Carnegie Steel Works, it was found that one baby in every three died before seeing its second birthday. Worst of all is the frightful toll of life taken by accidents. A Japanese veteran of the recent war told one of the investigators that "he looks upon his experience upon battle-fields as quite commonplace compared with his experience in the steel mills." Over five hundred men are killed every year in the course of their work, and an unknown number seriously injured. The victims are usually the pick of the men; they are the young men; half of them are native-born; 51 per cent have families, and 30 per cent. more are single men, who partly, or wholly, support their families. The money loss to Pittsburg from this destruction of workers is declared to be something enormous, and the city is told that it can well afford millions in devising ways to stop t.

Mr. Paul U. Kellogg, director of the survey, scores the negligence of the city thus;—

"Faced with its great task of production, Pittsburg has not set itself to the thrift of self-knowledge. When half a thousand people were dying each year from typhoid fever, the movement to clear the water supply was blocked and exploited at every turn. Half a thousand workmen are now killed each year in the industries of Allegheny County, and yet the public has not taken the trouble to shift the accidents through and see which can be prevented. Nobody knows how many men are seriously injured every year; nobody knows how many men and women are beset with trade diseases. Nobody knows how much the community is paying for such wastes as these. Nobody knows how far the seeping off of human integers into hospitals and gaols, insane asylums, brothels, and orphanages could be checked; the guesses of the town's best men are that much is needless. Pittsburg is a town which does not know the number of its children of school age; nor the physical status of the children of its classes; it is a town which for five years did not so much as demand a report from its health department. In such an arrangement, we must bear in mind that there are notable exceptions in one phase of social concern or another to this lack in Pittsburg's self-knowledge, and that Pittsburg is not merely a scapegoat city. It is the capital of a district representative of untrammeled industrial development, but of a district which, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, for vigor, waste and optimism, is rampantly American."

Tabulated figures of the number of killed and injured give little or no idea of the reality. Misery can not be tabulated. One case out of many hundreds is given thus by Mr. Alois B. Koukol in his chapter on the Pittsburg Slavs;

"Often the handicapped man's problem is thrust directly upon the wife for solution as it has been upon the wife of John Hyrka. Hyrka is a Ruthenian of thirty; his wife is twenty-eight. He was making fair wages in the Duquesne mills; they were both healthy and strong, and they had high hopes for the future as is natural with the young. But May 26, 1907, John, who was working on a platform directly over a limestone mill, stepped on a rotten plank and both his legs shot down into the mill. Before he could be extricated the flesh had been torn from the soles of both his feet.

"Since then, or at least up to the time of my last report Hyrka had been in the McKeesport hospital, where attempts were made to graft flesh upon his soles. When I last heard about him his feet were still not healed and it was practically certain that the grafting would be a failure and that he would be a cripple for life.

"When this tragedy descended upon Mrs. Hyrka she was within a month of confinement. Into this grim situation entered the baby adding its cares. Until months after the accident she was in no condition to work, and when she did regain her strength the demands of the infant would not permit her to take up regular employment. For six months she lived upon thirty dollars a month the company paid her, then the company cut off this allowance and after she had felt the pinch of want for a time she demanded a final settlement. They offered her $600, she to pay all further hospital bills which up to then had been paid by the company. She talked the matter over with John, and between them they decided that to have the flesh scraped from your feet and to be a life-long cripple ought to be worth as much as $1000. But this seemed an exorbitant estimate to the company, and as Mrs. Hyrka held firm to her figures, the matter was still unsettled when I left Pittsburg. She was then living on what she could borrow; the high hopes of twenty-eight were all blasted; he knew she had a cripple on her hands for all his life, thirty or forty years perhaps and she was wondering, desperately wondering, how she was going to be able to support him."

Mr. Peter Roberts, another investigator, says of accident and compensation;—

"Many work in intense heat, the din of machinery, and the noise of escaping steam. The congested condition of most of the plants in Pittsburg adds to the physical discomforts of an out of doors people, while their ignorance of the language and of modern machinery increases the risk. How many of the Slavs, Lithuanians, and Italians are injured in Pittsburg in one year is not known. No reliable statistics are compiled. In their absence people guess, and the mischief wrought by contradictory and biased statements is met on all hands. When I mentioned a plant that had a bad reputation to a priest, he said, 'Oh, that is the slaughter house, they kill them there every day.' I quote him for the accuracy, but to show how the rumors circulate and are real to the people themselves. It is undoubtedly true, that exaggerated though the reports may be, the waste in life and limb is great, and if it at all fell upon the native born a cry would long since have gone up which would have stayed the slaughter.

"In the matter of compensation for injuries, the foreign speaking are often subjected to hardships and injustice. If the widow of a man killed in a mine or mill of Pennsylvania, lives in Europe, she can not recover any damages, although the accident may be entirely due to the neglect of the company. Because of this ruling, certain strong companies in the Pittsburg district seldom pay a cent to the relatives of the deceased if they dwell beyond the seas. I asked a leader among the Italians, 'Why do you settle the serious cases for a few hundred dollars.' He replied; "We find it best after much bitter experience. The courts are against us; a jury will not mulct a corporation to send money to Europe; the relatives are not here to bewail their loss in court; the average American cares nothing for the foreigner. Every step of the way we meet with prejudice and find positive contempt, from those in highest authority in the courts down to the tip-staff. When I settle for $200 I can do nothing better.'—Literary Digest.

Who's Had the Indemnity?

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—The contest for the Conservative nomination in Carleton County will develop into a contest between Edward Kidd, who made way for R. L. Borden, and ex-Warden Craig of North Gower.

Some statements to the effect that Mr. Kidd has all along drawn the member's indemnity was made.

The French Treaty.

London, Jan. 21.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—It is understood the points Hon. W. S. Fielding is negotiating in Paris concerns the question of Switzerland's most favored nation right. Hopes are entertained for a satisfactory solution. A supplementary convention deals with certain limitations of export of live stock from Canada.

Farmer Badly Hurt.

Brantford, Jan. 21.—John Whiting, aged 65 years, fell off the rear end of a train on Tuesday night and is still unconscious as a result of injuries to the head. It was some hours before he was found on the tracks. He also sustained a broken arm.

Trawler Sunk.

London, Jan. 21.—The trawler Arctic was in collision yesterday with steamer Haverstoe off Flamboro Head. The trawler went down and two members of her crew lost their lives.

Eruption In Mexico.

Mexico City, Jan. 21.—The volcano near the city of Colmina is throwing out a great quantity of ashes and pumice stone. Several slight earthquake shocks have been reported.

Vetos Prohibition Bill.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 21.—Governor Patterson yesterday vetoed the state-wide Prohibition Bill, which last week was passed by both Houses of the Legislature.

Ice Palace Won't Stand Long.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—The civic authorities yesterday compelled the management of the ice carnival to put up a $20,000 bond that they would pull down the big ice structure immediately after the carnival was over, before allowing them to proceed with the construction.

To Abolish Discount.

Montreal, Jan. 21.—The wholesale Boot, Shoe and Rubber Dealers of the Dominion, to the number of 40 delegates, who were in session yesterday at the Windsor, resolved to recommend that the 20 per cent. discount on rubbers sold to retailers be abolished.

Carnegie Hero Fund.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 21.—The Carnegie hero fund commission, at its annual meeting here yesterday, awarded 26 medals, $24,650 in cash, and pensions aggregating $545 per month for deeds of valor performed since the last meeting of the commission last October.

Newfoundland and the Treaty.

London, Jan. 21.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—It is understood that the whole question of the fisheries treaty now rests with Newfoundland, whose chief objections are that she considers any pecuniary claims in respect to fines inflicted on American vessels for breach of colonial regulations shall be decided by colonial courts. The United States desire that the matter shall be included in the pecuniary claims treaty, which is now being negotiated. Newfoundland also holds that Americans have no right to fish in inlets on the west coast of Newfoundland.

A Council of Arts.

Washington, Jan. 21.—President Roosevelt created a council of fine arts and directed that hereafter the heads of active departments, bureaus and commissions, before any plans are formulated, for publication, or grounds, or for the location or erection of any statue, must submit the matter to the council and follow their advice, unless for good and sufficient reasons the President directs otherwise.

A Preacher's "Break."

Montreal, Jan. 21.—Much comment is being made on the street concerning remarks made by the Rev. Father Dugas, S.J., chaplain of the Montreal Jail, in the course of his sermon to the prisoners.

The preacher, it appears, referring to a certain class of men who work against religion, denounced Godfrey Langlois, M.P.P. for St. Louis division, as a Free Mason.

Mysteriously Murdered.

New York, Jan. 21.—While seated in the basement of his home reading a letter from a son now in Sicily, Giovanni Cardinello, one of the wealthiest Italians of the South Brooklyn colony and whose nephew, Joe. Cardinello, was mysteriously killed in Coffey Park some time ago, was shot and killed. Two shots were fired.

Dropped Lamp, Burned to Death.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 21.—The town of Cumberland, Vancouver Island, came near being wiped out on Tuesday night by fire. A blaze started in James Scott's room. He allowed his lamp to fall, and was burned to death. Three small business places were burned. Loss will be $50,000.

New Canadian Loan.

London, Jan. 21.—A Dominion Government loan of six million pounds sterling, redeemable in ten years at the price of 99 1-4, with interest at 3 3-4 per cent., with the option to redeem in five years, has all been underwritten and will shortly be on the market.

THE GIANT ANT EATER.

A Most Peculiar Creature That is Found In Venezuela.

The giant ant eater of Venezuela is one of the most outlandish looking creatures in all the domain of nature. It is an animal about two and a half feet high. The body and tail taken together measure about seven feet in length. The tail is usually carried curved over the back, draping and shading the body. In appearance the bushy tail may be likened to a clump of ornamental grass. The head is very small, but it is prolonged into a snout a foot or more in length. The mouth is at the extremity of this snout.

The ant eaters belong to that group of the animal kingdom known as the edentates, a class usually toothless. If they have any teeth at all, they are very few in number, of a rudimentary or simple form, in the back of the head. They resemble in this respect birds, and they furthermore bear a resemblance to the bird creation in the possession of muscular, gizzard-like stomachs. One feature of the edentates is that they all have some peculiarity in the covering of the body. The armadillo, for instance, has a shell of armor, the pangolin a series of shingle-like scales, the aard vark, native to the Transvaal, a pig-like skin, scantily covered with hair, and, lastly, the ant eater, with a bushy tail and the body plentifully covered with hair.

The ant eater is in many ways unlike other animals. The most striking dissimilarity is in its mouth, which does not open and shut with an up and down movement of the lower jaw, as that of all other quadrupeds, but it is a mere aperture, opening only enough to admit of the passage of the foot long, whip-like tongue.

In captivity the ant eater is fed on bread and milk. In its native haunts, the forests of South America, it feeds exclusively on termites, or, as they are commonly called, white ants. These termites abound in the wilds of tropical America, and the ant eater tears open with its sharp fore claws their conical mud nests and with its slender tongue licks up the inmates out of every nook and crevice.

The ant eater has a queer way of walking. It is the manner in which it uses its fore limbs. The claws of its fore limbs are so constructed that they are incapable of sustaining the weight of the body, but are turned backward, compelling the animal to stand and walk on the outer surface of the wrists. When it ambles around, awkwardly, as it appears, it seems to be using two amputated fore limbs.

Laughs at Legend.

London society was much interested in a fashionable and interesting wedding recently, when Viscount Glamis, Scots Guards, eldest son of the Earl and Countess of Strathmore, was married to Lady Dorothy Godolphin Osborne, daughter of the Duke of Leeds.

The wedding recalls the story of the Glamis mystery, which, according to legend, hung about a hidden room in Glamis Castle. On the night of his coming of age the heir was taken to this hidden room by his father, or, if the father was dead, by his guardian, and there told a family secret so weird and horrible that he never smiled again. With the present generation the legend, however, evidently goes for nothing, for the bridegroom looked particularly happy as he stood with his young bride at the entrance to the chancel.

The Australian Blacks.

It is believed by many persons that the blacks in Australia are dying out. As a matter of fact, says a correspondent of The London Standard, no such thing is happening. The belief, however, is easily explained. As civilization advances, and it is yearly advancing, the blacks recede farther and farther into the back blocks and unknown country save a few who have acquired the craving for opium or drink. These latter succumb amid the advancing wave of civilization and seldom leave any children. Those who have passed inland, if they do not increase, have certainly not decreased. In some few cases whole tribes have died out when civilization has reached them, but these have usually been small tribes.

An Ugly Toad.

All toads are accounted ugly, but the most hideous of all perhaps is that of Surinam, with its flat and triangular head, unusually short neck and specially flat body. Its eyes are very small and are of an olive tint, spotted with red. Yet the parental instincts of these creatures are as kind in their way as those of the most beautiful animals in creation. The female in due course having laid her eggs, the male toad picks them up and deposits them on her horny back, when she immediately starts for the nearest marsh and immerses herself and the embryotic brood in the semi-liquid mud, where she remains until they are hatched.

A horse has been recovered alive from the ruins at Messina.

Six men were killed by an explosion in the Cyclone Canyon Coal Mines near Chancellor, Cal.

Robert Sproule, a farmer at Caledon, was very badly hurt by a gasoline engine falling on him.

There are about 2,000,000 feet of logs in value $200,000 piled up in a great mass in the Fraser River, B.C.

Cables Unchanged—Cattle and Hogs Lower at Chicago.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 13c to 13¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10½c to 10¾c per lb.

Montreal Live Stock.

MONTREAL, Jan. 20.—(Special.)—At the Canadian Pacific Live Stock Market this morning the offerings were 750 cattle, 300 sheep and lambs, 310 hogs and 100 calves. Owing to the continued small supplies of cattle coming forward of late, and the fact that butchers have only been able to secure sufficient stock to fill their actual wants, there was an extra large gathering of buyers, and, as they all wanted some beef, the demand was good and active trade was done. There was no change in prices, but the undertone to the market was strong, and if the stock offered had been of a better quality they would no doubt have realized more money. A feature of the trade was the demand for export account, and the price paid for the choice cows, and $5.65 could have easily been made for choice steers, weighing from 1250 to 1300 lbs., but there was none of this class on the market, consequently buyers had to fill their wants with a lower grade at 5¼c. The butchers paid from 3¼c to 5¼c for steers, 4c to 4½c for good cows, 3c to 3¼c for common cows, and 3c to 4¼c for bulls, per lb. There was a good enquiry for sheep and lambs, but owing to the limited supply trade was rather quiet and prices ruled firm. Sheep sold at 3¾c to 4c, and lambs at 5¾c to 6c per lb. The undertone to the market for hogs remains strong, and prices are steadily tending towards a high level, as the demand is in excess of the supply coming forward. Sales of select lots were made at $7.25 per 100 lbs., weighed off cars. The demand for calves was good at prices ranging from $3 to $10 each, as to size and quality.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 20.—Cattle—Receipts, 200 head; slow and 10c to 15c lower; prime steers, $6.25 to $6.50; shipping, $5.50 to $6.10; butchers, $4.85 to $6.

Hogs—Receipts, 5100 head; slow; heavy and mixed steady; others 5c to 15c lower; heavy, $6.60 to $6.70; mixed, $6.60 to $6.65; yorkers, $6 to $6.50; pigs, $5.75 to $5.90; roughs, $5.50 to $5.75; dairies, $6 to $6.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 12,000 head; slow; lambs 10c, ewes 25c lower; lambs, $5 to $7.50; yearlings, $6.25 to $6.50; wethers, $5.25 to $5.50; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75.

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Beeves—Receipts, 2593; steers extremely dull and 25c lower; bulls steady; medium and common cows unchanged; fat cows steady to 10c lower; common to choice steers, $5 to $6.30; oxen, $3.90 to $5.50; cows, $2 to $4.40; bulls, $3.25 to $4.70; yearlings, $3.75 to $3; dressed beef weak, at 8c to 10c. Exports, 3100 quarters of beef.

Calves—Receipts, 873; veals firm to 25c higher; barnyard calves higher; western dull; veals, $6 to $10.25; tops, $10.50; culls, $5; barnyard calves, $2.50 to $4.50; Indiana calves, $4.75 to $5.25; dressed calves steady to lower; city dressed veals, 8½c to 15c; country dressed, 8c to 13½c.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 8411; sheep steady; lambs slow and weak, except for choice stock; 4½ cars unsold; sheep, $3 to $5; few choice, $5.50; culls, $3; yearlings, $6 to $6.62½; lambs, $7 to $7.65; few choice, $7.80; culls, $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 4920; nominally steady.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 20.—Cattle—Receipts estimated at 31,000; market generally 25c lower; steers, $4.00 to $7; cows, $3 to $5.50; heifers, $3 to $7.75; bulls, $3.40 to $3.80; calves, $3.50 to $10; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.15.

BIG TIME LAST NIGHT AT CHEMONG INDIAN RESERVE

Annual Tea and Entertainment Held Last Night—Excellent Programme Was Given—Several From Peterborough in Attendance.

The 42nd annual tea and entertainment of the Chemong Indians was held in the hall at the village last night and the number in attendance was the largest on record. The event was also the most successful ever held at the village and the greatest credit is due those in charge of the arrangements. The programme was contributed largely by the members of the band and showed that a great deal of talent is possessed by the Indians. A number from Peterborough were in attendance and greatly enjoyed themselves. Mr E S Clarry of this city made an excellent chairman and contributed greatly to the success of the entertainment. Several of those from the city took part in the programme.

Tea was served in the school room between five and six o'clock and the repast was an excellent one. The tables were waited on by the Indian ladies and they performed their duties in a manner that brought them great praise.

After the tea, the entertainment was given. Solos, duets and dialogues were given by members of the reserve and the Indian choir sang exceedingly well. The accompaniments on the organ were played in a most acceptable manner by Miss Lavina Whetung.

The programme was as follows;

Opening chorus—Choir.

Address by the chairman.

March—I'm going to be a soldier—Little boys.

Grand Medley Chorus—Choir.

Dialogues—Minnie's Christmas; by Misses Coppway, Whetung and Johnston.

Humorous song—Mr D Whetung, jr

Dialogue—Trying to raise the price of butter;

March—Society Swing; Miss Lavina Whetung.

Duet—Miss Lavina and Mr D Whetung, jr.

Duet—Misses Clara Coppway and Ruth Whetung.

Solo—Miss Lavina Whetung.

Dialogue—No law suits in Heaven.

Song—Twinkle on my little star; Misses Ruth Whetung, and Clara Coppway.

Dialogue—Unappreciated Genius.

Song—Mr D Whetung, jr.

Recitation—Mr Irving Beers.

Song—Mr Comego, Alderville.

Speech—Mr W Hillhouse.

Recitation—Mr D B MacRae.

Anthem—Choir.

God Save the King.

The chairman, Mr Clarry, made an excellent address in which he expressed his appreciation for the honor conferred upon him in asking him to preside as chairman. He prophesied the continued prosperity of the Chemong reserve and referred to the necessity of having a bridge built across the lake at the narrows and also for improved educational facilities for the reserve. Mr Clarry also expressed the opinion that the suffrage should be extended to the Indians of Canada.

Representatives from the Indian reserves at Hiawatha, Alderville, Scugog and Christian Island were in attendance. Every hospitality was shown by the residents of the Chemong reserve, the home of Mr D Whetung being thrown open to the visitors.

A social is being held at Chemong tonight.

The proceeds of the tea and concert amounted to $62.00.

A LYNX SEEN LAST WEEK NEAR DICKSON COMPANY'S MILL, BURNHAM POINT

It was either a lynx of unusual boldness or one that had wandered without knowing it and trespassed on the conventional grounds of civilization that was seen early last Thursday morning at Dickson Co's mill, Burnham's point. It was shortly after seven o'clock in the morning when the animal was seen near the blacksmith shop at the mill by some of the employees. It went around the shop and stealthily disappeared in the uncertain light of the morning.

The men had no rifle or gun or would have taken a shot at Mr Lynx. The appearance of the big cat took them quite by surprise. It was thought it had roamed from Burnham's woods, perhaps in search of food.

"JIDDY" MILLER GETS $500 FROM THE RAILWAY COMPANY

Brantford Jan. 20. — The Grand Trunk to-day settled with the Brantford players and supporters who were injured in the wreck near Guelph. Marks got eight hundred dollars Miller five hundred, and Smith fifty. Other local men were settled with as follows;—Bradley $75, Hutton $50. Marks and Miller will leave the hospital to-morrow.

The Brantford hockey club has secured Walter Mercer, the speedy right wing player on the Guelph team. Learning that Guelph was likely to disband after to-night's game with Toronto, Manager Brown yesterday arranged to meet Mercer at Galt. While Mercer was journeying from Guelph to Galt he passed Manager Ming of Toronto, and Irving, of Galt, bound for Guelph in search of him. At Galt he signed Brown's contract, and will arrive here tomorrow morning. He is a right-hand shot and was the man most needed on the local team to replace Marks. George MacNamara will arrive from Montreal probably Friday and take the place formerly held by Miller and Crout. The latter, who was secured from Galt, will be traded. With the team thus strengthened, the Brantfords expect to defeat Toronto in the Queen City Saturday night.

Mr. Finch Miller, Walter's father, returned from Brantford last night, after visiting his son since the day after the accident. He states that "Jiddy" Miller will be home in a couple of weeks.

DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR GIVEN BY CATHOLIC ORDER FORESTERS

A successful and most enjoyable reception and dance in connection with the installation of officers was given by the Catholic Order of Foresters at their hall, Hunter street last night. Progressive euchre was a feature of the evening's entertainment Mrs Jas. Clancy winning the ladies prize and Mr Maurice Mead the gentleman's. Mr James Clancy obtained the booby prize.

After the euchre competition a dance was held and this concluded the evening of pleasure which lasted until about two o'clock. Over fifty couples were in attendance and altogether the affair was probably the most pleasing yet given under the auspices of the Foresters. Faultless music was supplied by an orchestra consisting of Messrs Frank Kearney, P Kane, Wilfrid Dwyer and Napoleon Tromblay. In the interval between the cards and dancing the guests sat down to a tempting and ample spread prepared by the wives of the members of the order.

The committee in charge are to be congratulated on the success of the function.

FEW BIG MEN IN THE HOUSE

The following somewhat severe comment is from the Montreal Star:

"The trouble with the Commons chiefly is that so many of its members are only local celebrities. They are not big men; but men with a little local popularity which gives them strength with a narrow electorate. The really big man may not be a good "mixer," and thus may be at a disadvantage with the merry joker of a hundred bar-rooms who knows and is known to all the "boys." Yet the big men are the men we want in Parliament; and if we could get constituencies large enough to render it impossible fo the "little joker" to cover them, we would compel the parties to nominate candidates who must run on their merits and not on their merriment. The big head would then beat the "glad hand"; and we might find ourselves with a Senate worthy of the traditions of that august name."

ALDERMEN TALK ABOUT THE BABIES

The Lindsay Warder has this;—

One of the members of the Lindsay Council is the authority for stating that Lindsay has more babies than Peterborough. The discussion arose while the committees of Council were in session. The aldermen were discussing the merits of the three foot the three and a half feet, and the four foot granolithic walks and one alderman vouchsafed the opinion that baby carriages would not be able to pass each other on a three or a three and a half foot walk. "That's something that ought to be considered," said another. "Oh, go on," said a third, "there are not many babies in Lindsay." "I don't agree with you there," said No. 1 party, "I tell you there are more babies in Lindsay than there are in Peterborough, and what is more, there are better looking ones."

AN OPPORTUNITY FOR ART STUDENTS

Great Paintings by Famous Artists on View at Montreal During Ice Carnival.

In conection with the Carnival of Winter Sports which is to be held in Montreal from February 10th to 20th inclusive, visitors to the great metropolis city of Canada, will have an unexceptionableo pportunity to attend the grand Exhibition of Paintings from French masters which will be held during the entire Carnival at the Art Association Building, Phillips Square,

These paintings which are amongst the best from the ancient and modern schools have been sent over the sea, by permission of the Government of the French Republic.

They will comprise over three hundred paintings and the exhibition will be held under the supervision of French specialists and a committee of Canadian artists.

This is the first time that the French Government has allowed paintings from its national museums to be sent to Canada. The collection will be somewhat identical to those which have been sent in previous years to the Chicago and St Louis World's Fairs

This event is looked forward to with the keenest interest by all those interested in things artistic and it is expected to attract great attention from all those who will come to Montreal to witness the great festivities planned for the Carnival.

ROW ON IN OLD QUEBEC

Mr. Bourassa's rejection by the Garrison Club of Quebec by which he was blackballed a few days ago is stated in some quarters to have been due to an insulting reference to the Governor-General, in Mr. Bourassa's organ the "Nationaliste."

Following His Excellency's visit to the Hochelega Convent the "Nationaliste" referred to the fact that he was accompanied by his dog which accidentally managed to break away and follow him into the convent, where the newspaper records, it started frantically to bite its tail and had to be chastized. This episode the "Nationaliste" construed into an insult to the ladies of the convent, and in commenting on it expressed itself toward the Governor-General in language which is regarded by the "Nationaliste's" contemporaries as as grossly insulting.

The Daily Telegraph of Quebec, in reproducing the "Nationaliste's" attack remarks:—

"Comment on this disgraceful publication is unnecessary. We can only regret with every decent-minded citizen of Canada that so gross and uncalled for an insult should be offered by any Canadian newspaper to so true and kindly a gentleman as the present deservedly popular representative of the British Crown in the Dominion to cause him even a moment's pain."

The "Vigie" has called upon Mr. Bourassa to repudiate all responsibility and sympathy for the conduct of his organ in the connection, but thus far such repudiation has not appeared.—Montreal Witness.

SMITH STREET BRIDGE AND STREET EXTENSION BY-LAWS TO BE VOTED ON AGAIN

Considered at Meeting of Board of Works Last Night—No Action Just at Present Regarding Romaine St. Sewer—Tax Rate for 1909.

The Board of Works held the first meeting of the year last night, and transacted a large amount of business. Ald Phelan, chairman, presided and the others present were Mayor Rusn and Aldermen Turner, Gillespie, Bradburn, Buller, McIntyre and Duncan.

The Smith street bridge will again be submitted to the people for consideration, but a new plan will be prepared and tenders will be called before the bylaw is drawn up.

The Romaine street sewer will not be touched until the report from Mr. Chipman on the Park street outfall sewer is received.

The committee is bent on economy this year, Ald Bradburn proposed a rate or 20 to 22 mill rate. A 20 mil rate is the lowest possible to be struck this year and the people will not stand for any further taxation.

Ald Phelan, in opening stated that this was the first meeting of this year and he hoped that everything would be as pleasant as last year. There were a few matters passed by last year's committee that did not come before the council. These were presented to the new board and were confirmed.

A letter was received from a number of teamsters notifying the committee that $3 per cord was not sufficient for drawing stone and asked that it be increased. The letter was signed by twenty-six teamsters.

On motion a deputation of the teamsters was heard.

Mr Hickey stated that the teamsters considered it was too cheap to draw stone three or four miles for $3 per cord. In many cases they had to pay for the stone also. They thought that they should have $4 per cord, but would be satisfied with $3.60 per cord.

Ald Phelan promised that the committee would give the matter their serious consideration.

Ald Bradburn stated that before the committee went into the stone business they should wait until the estimates are struck and it is ascertained how much money will be available. The council this year is up against a 20 mill rate at least, and if a lot of stone is contracted for and road work gone on with the rate will go up to 22 mills.

Last year 1000 cords of broken stone were put on the streets at a cost of about $700. The work was all necessary but the council has to economize some place.

Ald Buller stated that there was a lot of stone near the dam, and he recommended that the small crusher be put down there and used. All the rocks and granite stone can be had for nothing. It will save half the cost anyway.

The engineer and Mr Evans will go into the stone matter and report at once.

Mr T. A. S. Hay reported that the city would need some 600 cords of stone this year.

Ald McIntyre was out for buying stone now, so that the teamsters could get busy.

SMITH STREE TBRIDGE.

Ald Phelan in going through the fyle came across the Smith street bridge communication. He said this was a matter which must be brought up and dealt with now. The people did not understand the bylaw at first and thought that it was being built expressly for the street railway company.

City Engineer Hay said that he was confident that his figures were correct. He had gone over the figures himself and with others who were judges. He said there was only about three hundred dollars difference between concrete and steel, and in favor of the steel bridge.

Chairman Phelan explained that if $18,000 was spent for a steel bridge all that money would go to Hamilton, while a concrete bridge would mean that practically all the money would be spent in the city.

Ald Buller said that the committee should have the engineer submit a plan for a cheaper bridge and then advertise for tenders and let the contractors who build cheaper bridges come forward

Ald Buller made it in the form of a motion and it was seconded by Ald. Gillespie and carried.

ROMAINE ST SEWER

The engineer submitted the requirements for constructing the Romaine street sewer and also other sewers. The total cost would be about $25?.15,

Ald Buller and Bradburn were opposed to touching the Romaine street sewer until the report from Mr Chipman has been received as a much better fall may be had to the new trunk sewer that will have to be built on Park street.

Ald Bradburn moved that no action be taken at present. This was seconded by Ald Buller and carried.

STREET EXTENSION

That item for $21,500 for street extensions which was defeated in January will again be submitted to the people at the first opportunity and a full explanation given to the people that if it is not passed it will have to be paid for out of the current account which will mean an big increase in their taxes. It is expected that when the citizens understand this the bylaw will be carried.

NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada is about to publish a new issue of the official telephone directory for the district of Central Ontario, including Peterborough.

Orders for new connections, changes of firm names, changes of street addresses or for duplicate entries, should be handed in at once to,

INTERNATIONAL GO-AS-YOU-PLEASE MATCH AT MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

Thirty-six of the world's greatest pedestrians will start in a six-day race in Madison Square Garden a few minutes after the midnight of March 7th. This contest is probably the greatest in an international sense of any sporting event ever promulgated, for the athletes will represent every enlightened country of the earth, including the United States, Brazil, England, Ireland, Scotland, Wales, Italy, Germany, France, Russia, Belgium, Holland, Africa, Canada, Spain, Austria, Japan, China, and the Philippines.

The thirty-six runners will comprise eighteen teams, who will strive for the $5,000 prize money offered by the promoters of the race.

A representative is now in Europe selecting the men who will represent the countries of the Eastern Hemisphere. He has cabled that the only difficulty encountered in the search for the entries is the inability to select the real endurance men from the many who are anxious to carry their nation's colors in the contest

Since the wave of athletic sports has spread over the world in the last few years, the bent of the majority of the younger athletes has been towards the long distance running game, with the result that there are vast numbers of really excellent pedestrians who have had no big opportunity to distinguish themselves in an open international contest. Only one team from each of the countries mentioned will compete, except that the United States will have three teams to carry the American shield. They will respectively represent New York, Chicago, and California. It is highly probable that a team from the United States Army will be among the competitors. Inquiries on this feature of the event have come to the office of the International Sports Company, 47 West Forty-second st., from the Presidio, San Francisco, Forts Leavenworth and Assiniboine in the Far West.

SKIPS FOR GAMES TO-NIGHT AND TO-MORROW NIGHT

The following are the skips in the draw for the schedule games at the curling rink tonight and tomorrow night.

TONIGHT.

J. H. Connal vs Dr. Greer.
W. G. Morrow vs H. A. Morrow.
T. Brightman vs D. Davidson.
R. Hicks vs T. F. Matthews.
S. T. Medd vs H. R. H. Kenner.
R. Neill vs W. G. Thompson.
E. Clegg vs J. H. Burnham.

TOMORROW NIGHT.

W. M. Lang vs D. Fraser.
G. L. Hay vs J. H. Ferguson.
F. M. De la Fosse vs. W. C. Reid.
G. H. Giroux vs. G. B. Stevenson.
S. Ray vs Dr. Eastwood.
J. E. A. Fitzgerald vs A. Moore.
W. L. Talbot vs. Dr. McCullough.

PETERBOROUGH WON IN THE SEMI-FINALS IN GROUP 5

Tankard primary play in the Toronto groups began yesterday morning on keen ice, but late in the afternoon it reminded the old timers of the days they used to call on the games regardless of the probabilities.

In group 1 two games were decided in the morning on Queen City ice. Newmarket defeating Prospect Park, the winners being up in both rinks. Granites bowled over Toronto university because Tom Wilson pulled Tom Rennie out of a little hole. Student Cameron tried to make a runaway race of it, but the old Caledonian team stuck tenaciously, scoring heavily towards the close.

In the afternoon in the first round, Skip Rennie returned the compliment pulling out his partner with a big majority of 16.

Both Toronto skips were always ahead of Richmond Hill. They played at Queen City.

Over at the Victoria Rink, the Lindsay champion tankard holders, made their bow in the afternoon, both rinks displaying their class and defeating Lakeview handily.

The old Scarboro club bowled out Milton, due to Crawford's long margin over Dick. Heustreet was up 4 on Brown.

This leaves Granites vs Torontos and Lindsay vs. Scarboro for the semi-final this morning.

In group 5 Rev Dr Burns, the sporting parson, took Brampton through the first round at Prospect Park by his long margin over T. Cant as ex-Mayor Tom Thauburn finished 5 behind Coulter of Lakeview.

At the Granite, Queen City curled to form and Aberdeens were 23 down, with the returns all in, while the Scarboro Leafs had a margin of four on Bobcaygeon, though Read was 21 shots ahead of Henry Thompson. William Rennie was actually up 25 shots, but that did not show how good he was. It was not till the afternoon in the semi final that he displayed real class against Cousin Bob. The soft ice suited Thompson also and Haisley was forced to lower his colors. Thus the Queen City's promising tankard team are numbered among the missing. but it must be said that the first men on both rinks were unable to do themselves justice in the heavy going.

At Prospect Park. Brampton and Peterborough met in the semi final and the Excelsiors were obliged to retire, being short eight shots although they have a new club house. in which they are anxious to display the old and battered piece of silverware, known as the Ontario Tankard. Both Peterborough skips were up.

This leaves the Scarboro Maple Leafs and Peterborough to play the final game this morning for the championship of group 5.

DISTRICT CUP GAMES TUESDAY

Will be Played at Local Rink—Messrs. Matthews and Hicks Peterborough Skips

The District Cup games will be played off at the curling rink next Tuesday. The following towns are included in the district;—Peterborough Lindsay, Beaverton, Oshawa, Keene. Colborne, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon. Lakefield, Belleville and Port Hope, and the majority of these will be represented. The Peterborough rinks will be skipped by Messrs. R. Hicks and T. F. Matthews. The latter's rink will be as follows;—M. Lyle, D. Hall and W. Lang.

HOCKEY

THE GAME AT LINDSAY.

One of the fastest games of hockey ever played on local ice will be pulled off tomorrow night on the Lindsay street rink when the Peterborough intermediates clash with the local Midgets. The Peterborough boys have two wins and no losses to their credit so far this season, having defeated the Belleville team both times So far this season the Midgets have cleaned up everything in sight and they will do their best to put the trimmings on Peterborough. These two teams are fighting it out for the district and a fast game is assured—Lindsay Post.

A PRESS GAME.

If the Peterborough press hockey team wants a game with the Lindsay scribes let them speak now or forever hold their silence.—Lindsay Warder.

If there is one thing that marks a press hockey match it is a lack of silence. Hold our silence! Never! The Lindsay graphite wielders will be given a chance later. The majority of the Peterborough scribes have been farmed out to Omemee for seasoning. When they return Lindsay will be taken on.

JOCKEY MILLER IS SET DOWN

New York, Jan. 20.—Walter Miller, who was the best jockey in America, in point of winning mounts, year before last, and who has been leading the riders in the same respect at Oakland this winter. has got into serious trouble. and may never be seen in the saddle again. Ten days ago the Oakland stewards fined Miller $250 for breaking the rules of racing. Miller promptly refused to pay the fine and stopped riding voluntarily, declaring that he would appeal to Thos. H. Williams, his employer, who is the big man in California racing circles. Miller accordingly laid his case before Williams and asked to have the stewards ruling set aside. Williams called on the track officials for a statement of the facts, and after due consideration of the case he shocked Miller by cancelling his contract with the jockey immediately. While no further action has been taken by Williams, it is said that Miller has been permanently placed under the ban, and that he will not be permitted to ride in California again. Under the circumstances, it is believed that unless Miller can secure a clean bill of health in the Pacific Coast Jockey Club, which seems improbable, he will not secure a license to ride on the eastern tracks this year. Miller has saved his earnings and is said to be worth about $200,000.

JEFFRIES SIGNS BIG CONTRACT

New York, Jan. 21.—It was said by several theatrical men to-day that Jeffries had signed a contract for ten weeks to appear at the different vaudeville houses in New York at a salary of $3,500 a week. Joe Maxwell, it was said, had signed the contract in behalf of the big pugilist. who will arrive here in about three weeks with Sam Berger, Billy Delaney and a retinue of camp followers.

Word was also received from England today that Jack Johnson will open at a London theater on Feb. 8, and that his engagement on the other side will not end before September. This is taken to mean that if Jeffries and Johnson are matched they will not enter the ring before next December. It is the opinion, too, that they will settle their differences at Colma, Cal., under the management of James Coffroth, who says he will outbid any other promoter to secure the contest.

EDMONTON BEAT SASKATOON

Saskatoon. Sask., Jan. 17.—Edmonton 8 Saskatoon 5, was the score of Saturday's game. The locals made a fine showing. the first half ending two all and in four minutes after opening the second period Saskatoon had it 4 to 2. Boulton made it 4 to 3 and Ross evened up the score after play has gone ten minutes. Five minutes later Whitcroft made it 5 to 4. but Berrie evened up a minute later. Edmonton's speed began to tell, and Boulton, Whitcroft and Ross found the nets. The game was clean; there being only four penalties, three being Edmonton. Butts of the Winnipeg Shamrocks was in goal for Edmonton. Whitcroft and Boulton did great work. The teams;—

Edmonton — Butt. Powers, Miller, Ross. Deeton, Whitcroft, Boulton.

Saskatoon — Graham, Houlding, Rogers Brisbane, Ashley, Richardson, Berrie.

RETURNS OF GAME AT BROCK ST. RINK

A service that will be appreciated by those that attend the City League games at the Brock street rink tonight will be the bulletin of the Peterborough-Lindsay match, which will be reported by goals.

In the opening game T.A.S. will play the Belmonts and the other one will be between Lakefield and the West Ends. Lakefield is said to have a team with good prospects of winning the league, and it will be interesting to see how they shape up in comparison with the champion Strathconas.

T.A.S. and Belmonts should go pretty evenly. The clubmen have strengthened their line-up and mean to make a big bid for the honors.

The junior event will be a game between George street and T.A.S. juniors.

GAME HAS BEEN DECLARED OFF

The game that was scheduled to take place to-night between George street and Park streets has been declared off on account of the sloppy condition of the ice.

To Dredge the Mersey.

The biggest sand pump dredger in the world has just been launched at Birkenhead from Cammell, Laird & Co.'s yards. Her name is the Leviathan, and she was built for the Mersey Dock Board. Liverpool's harbor engineers have been fighting for years the never-ceasing inset of sand in the mouth of the river Mersey. The Leviathan is able to deal with no less than 10,000 tons of it in fifty minutes. The vessel is 487 feet long, and has a draught of 23 feet. Her launching weight was 7,500 tons, a record for the Mersey.

Ignorance of Our Customs.

"What caused the hitch in the progress of the courtship of Miss Coynerox by the duke?" asks one interested party.

"He got the idea that her father didn't have any money," explained the other.

"But couldn't he look the matter up?"

"He thought he had. The trouble was he looked at the tax duplicate just after the old man had finished swearing off his assessment."

Something Just as Good.

Long before Port Credit, Ont., attained the dignity of a summer resort, it was known to the owners of small yachts as a snug harbor, but a poor place for obtaining provisions. Two citified young men—green hands—tied their yacht up at the piers, found a store with a small but highly assorted stock, and enquired for bread.

"I don't keep bread," said the general merchant; "likely you can get some from Pat McCulley, the shoemaker."

This was startling to the citified young men, but after all, there was no reason why the staff of life should not be associated with the cure of soles. Sugar was the next item, and promptly supplied — the brown variety; some other purchase followed.

"Now, what else do we want? O, yes — marmalade," chorused the yachtsmen.

"What did you say?" asked the storekeeper.

"Marmalade—marmalade," chorused the yachtsmen.

The storekeeper carefully inspected a shelf devoted to pain-killer, horse-liniment and similar things, then shook his head.

"No," he said, "I haven't got it. Fact is, I don't do much in medicines, but I can give you quinine or Seidlitz powders. You will find them just as good."

Canadians In England.

The best noteless debater in the British House of Commons is a Canadian, Mr. Bonar Law, who fought the Government. He will shoot up at the end of a week's debate and without a single note before him, with only the faces of his opponents and the cold, bare top of the brass-bound box to encourage him, he will pick up one by one all the arguments of all his opponents on all the previous days. and will carefully, minutely, and crushingly answer them. But let some unwary Free Trader challenge one of Mr. Bonar Law's quotations. He has eight or nine pockets. Quick as thought he dives a hand into a pocket. Always the right pocket. He pulls out a cutting. Always the right cutting. He reads out an extract which makes the interrupter sorry he spoke.

Another superlative is Dr. Macnamara, also a Canadian. He is the breeziest speaker in the House of Commons. It was a great pity they put him on the Government bench, where responsibility and office sometimes stifle the best things men can do in the way of debate. Yet he deserved the honor more than most.

Lady Randolph's Repartee.

Lady Randolph has a sense of humor, or perhaps I should say wit, as exemplified in a short passage at arms with Bernard Shaw. She wrote a polite note to that gentleman asking him if he would come to a luncheon party, to which he curtly replied:

"Certainly not. What have I done to provoke such an attack upon my well known habit?"

To which she answered:

"Know nothing of your habits. Hope they are not as bad as your manners."

To this telegram Mr. Shaw wrote a long letter excusing himself on the ground that he did not eat "the unfortunate dead animals and things" that were usually provided for luncheons. As one always expects Mr. Shaw to be amusing, even at the expense of politeness, one is seldom disappointed.—Putnam's Magazine.

Effect of Fear on Wounds.

The fear of poison in a lacerated wound under certain circumstances is in itself quite sufficient to give a wounded man tetanus, or lockjaw, than which no more horrible complication exists. Thus for a long time it was thought that the natives of the Solomon and other neighboring islands used poisoned arrows, and many white men shot by them died in tetanic convulsions, including one very horrible case of a commander in the navy who had made a special study of tetanus.

At length the French governor of New Caledonia, noticing that the symptoms exhibited were not consistent with the use of any known poison, appointed a medical commission to inquire into the affair, when it was discovered that the arrows of the natives were not poisoned at all, although constructed in such a way that a small piece of the bone point almost always remained in the wound. The irritation produced by this prevented the wound from healing quickly, and the mental disturbance produced by fear and perhaps change of climate did the rest.

It was discovered at the same time that the natives of other islands who firmly believed in the poison theory seldom suffered much inconvenience from the arrow wounds, because they believed that the spells given them by their own sorcerers prevented the poison from taking effect.—Pall Mall Gazette.

One Way.

Child—Suppose I called you a mean old pig. What would happen? Governess—I should tell your father, and he would punish you. Child—And if I only thought it. Governess — No harm so long as you don't say it. Child—Then I only think it.

A Kind Audience.

The tragedian had just returned from his tour and was greeted joyously by his friends at the club.

"Well, Ranter, my boy," said Tomlinson, "I'm glad to see you back. Have a good trip?"

"Fair," said Ranter.

"Did you play my old town?"

"Yes," said Ranter.

"What kind of an audience did you have?"

"I don't know," said Ranter. "I did not ask him for a reference as to his character, but he was a genial kind of cuss and lent me $2 to get out of town with."—Harper's Weekly.

SHEEP HUSBANDRY IN CANADA

A timely bulletin entitled "Sheep Husbandry in Canada," by Mr. J. B. Spencer, B.S.A., has been issued by the Live Stock Branch at Ottawa. Mr. Spencer has taken up the task from practically all the standpoints that concern the sheep raiser in whatever province he may dwell. After describing the ideal mutton sheep he gives a brief, though comprehensive, history and description of eleven of the popular breeds. Next he covers in a practical way the establishing of a commercial breeding flock. Mutton production as a highly specialized industry is dealt with by reviewing the methods in vogue in Great Britain. Following this are appropriately described the various systems of finishing for the market in Canada. Nor does the treatment of the subject stop when the animal is fattened for for it is followed right through the butchering and curing processes until the joint is ready for the cook. Then come sections of handling, dipping, wethering, feeds and feeding, housing, weed destroying, enemies, etc., each subject exhaustively treated according to the practice of the most successful shepherds.

Evidently recognizing that the industry differs in the various provinces by reason of climatic and other conditions the author treats each separately. The section devoted to diseases will appeal to thousands of sheep men. This chapter, covering upwards of twenty of the common ailments, and accidents, was personally prepared by the Live Stock Commissioner who is also Veterinary Director General. As a practical home doctor book for the flockmaster this work will undoubtedly become a help standby. A review of the wool industry concludes the text of the work of more than 152 pages of reading matter. The book is profusely illustrated by some sixty beautiful plate illustrations printed in sepia and a number of line drawings. The attractive comprehensive and practical "Bulletin No. 12, of the Live Stock Branch" is ready for free distribution to all those interested in the sheep or its products who care to apply for it to J. G. Rutherford, Live Stock Commissioner, Ottawa.

OPENING BRANCH IN PETERBOROUGH

The S. H. Knox Company, will open a branch in Peterborough about the first of February. It will be a five, ten and fifteen cent store, and will be located in the north half of the premises occupied by Merrill and Meredith on George street. The latter firm is retaining the south half for their own business.

The Knox Company has branches in leading cities of Canada and the United States. Only goods that sell at five, ten and fifteen cents are carried.

AFTER FIVE YEARS OF SUFFERING

Dodds Kidney Pills Effect Another Grand Cure in Nova Scotia.

Mrs. Margaret Brady Tells How They Relieved Her of Rheumatism and Made Her Stronger in Every Way.

Green's Brook, Pictou County, NS Jan 20—Special— That diseased Kidneys are the cause of the ills from which so many women suffer and that they are cured completely and permanently by Dodd's Kidney Pills, is once more proved in the case of Mrs Margaret Brady of this place.

"For five years' says Mrs Brady, when interviewed regarding her sickness and cure, "I was ill with Kidney and Liver complaint, which caused Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Heart Flutterings. My nervous system was affected and my blood seemed to lack vitality.

"I tried medicines and was under the doctor's care, but received no benefit till I used Dodd's Kidney Pills and Diamond Dinner Pills. They relieved me of Rheumatism and made me stronger and better in every way. These remedies and no others cured me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure diseased Kidneys and all diseases that are caused by diseased Kidneys or impure blood.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Current of Welland have just celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

WESTERN SUFFRAGETTE.

Miss Binnie-Clark Wants Free Homesteads For Women Who Can Farm.

Western Canada is about to have a suffragette question, as it were, of its own. The women of the Prairie provinces are not yet clamoring for votes. But some of them at least think that there ought to be certain changes in legislation which would prove materially advantageous to them. It has several times been pointed out that, among other things, the right of dower should be given to wives in the West, as it is to wives in the East.

And now comes another "woman's plea," from Fort Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan. It is made by Miss Georgina Binnie-Clark, who suggests that the encouragement of free homesteads be given to women who have capital and capacity. The writer has examined the homestead law and finds that it grants land to a woman only if she is the sole head of a family; unmarried women cannot take up homesteads. Miss Binnie-Clark says that as the need of the West is women, the way to get them is to encourage them in this practical way. And she says: "As against all the male immigrants you have known to turn out failures, have you ever heard of an English woman immigrant failure?"

Miss Binnie-Clark is herself an English woman, and is making a success of farming in the West. Although this year has not been a very good one in her vicinity, she is able to pay off $1,000 on her land, besides having enough seed wheat for 100 acres next year, and enough produce to maintain her household until spring. She has only been in Saskatchewan three years and when she went she did not know barley from oats. This enterprising woman-farmer writes to The Canadian Gazette, of London, to urge that the Canadian Government encourage other English women to come out and do the same. She has had a number of inquiries from women, with some capital, who would like to make the experiment, and her suggestion is that twelve quarter-sections should be granted annually for three years to English women selected and approved by Mr. Obed Smith on behalf of the Canadian Government, and let the result show whether there is a real need and a way of meeting it.

ANOTHER FAKER.

Arthur Stringer Is Out After Emerson Hough's "The Warrant."

Arthur Stringer will now include Emerson Hough and The Smart Set in his list of Canada fakers. That magazine, in announcing as one of its features for December a story by Mr. Hough dealing with the Canadian West, says:

"Canada has become, in the past few years, a favorite field for American novelists, who find in its historic features, its Old World leanings and its glistening, exhilarating winter life a constant source of inspiration. Emerson Hough, in his latest story, "The Warrant," published in the December Smart Set, has passed by the interesting St. Lawrence region of Canada and has written a strong romance of the bleak northwestern wilderness, where Doukhobors and Galician immigrants drag out their narrow lives, their hard, sordid monotony, broken only by occasional prying expeditions on the part of the Northwest Police. Out of this unromantic material Mr. Hough has evolved a magnificent story, which forms one of The Smart Set's features for the month."

The story is a good story in many ways, but the foregoing announcement will show that its publishers know about as much about Canada, east and west, as do the producers of such alleged Canadian plays as "Pierre of the Plains," etc.

Late Dandelions.

The flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, have nothing to do with the case reported by Reeve Scott of Smith, Ont., recently.

There was a great variance between the statements of the observatory experts and of Mr. Scott regarding the weather. The air specialist in the meteorological office said that the average temperature in the province was ten degrees. While, in an interview with The Peterboro Times, the reeve said that on his way into that city with a drove of cattle he noticed at several places dandelions were blooming along the roadside. He confesses he was greatly surprised, as it is seldom those yellow heads have much to say at this time of the year, but attributed it to the "very mild weather."

Ontario's Game Preserve.

Algonquin Park, in the highlands of Ontario, containing 2,000 square miles of woods and water, is a national breeding ground for all the hoofed, horned, furred and feather creatures that inhabit the northern wilds. Here no man may hunt in or out of season. No one is allowed in the park, with any sort of firearm that measures more than six inches.

Though hunting in park limits is contrary to law, capital sport may be secured outside the boundaries of the reservation, where the season for deer hunting opens Nov. 1 and continues fifteen days, and where the laws governing the open season in Ontario are observed.

Big Yield of Grain.

Weekly papers have of late been reporting big yields of grain in Ontario. Here is the report of a small wheat-grower in the West. Fred Pelletier, a Pincher Creek farmer, has finished threshing his crop of No. 1 Alberta red off 134 acres. The yield was 5,490 bushels, or 41 bushels to the acre. The land on which it was grown was fresh breaking. The cost of production was $13.25 per acre and the wheat was sold at 80 cents per bushel, which brings a return of $32.80 per acre.

Toronto Negroes Decrease.

The negro "colony" in Toronto has now dwindled to about a thousand members. The negroes of Toronto, however, are a respectable and respected element.

Only one-third of the members of the last Parliament have been returned to this one.

FIRES AND INSURANCE

What Being Burned Out May Mean to a Business.

DAMAGE ONE CANNOT COVER.

Enormous Losses Caused by the Suspension of Operations and the Drifting Away of Trade That Are Not Appreciated by the General Public.

"I suppose you heard that Blank & Co. were burned out from the roof to the basement last night?" remarks the man in the car.

"No!" exclaims the friend who hasn't seen the morning paper. "I suppose they carried insurance?"

"Oh, yes—a hundred thousand of it!" returns the first speaker, at which his friend settles back with the comment that everything is all right then.

This is the layman's conclusion almost invariably. Some big concern burns out, but with insurance to an amount seeming to cover the loss the average man is disposed to feel that it is all right. He doesn't stop to think of the enormous risks of a business which cannot be covered by insurance and which for weeks, months or years after a fire are crippling and perhaps ruinous to the fire victim.

Take, for example, a highly organized factory plant in prosperous times which has been turning out a vast specialized product from the hands of thousands of expert workmen. This plant, fitted with costly machinery, is covered by insurance upon its visible, material assets. Fire sweeps it and lays everything in hopeless ruin. If every piece of machinery, every building and all material adjuncts of the plant have been covered to full value in such a plant, will the reader dare make a rough guess as to what the limitations of loss may be?

Only the other day I stepped into a bookbindery, unostentatious in its street signs and occupying a fifth floor in an obscure street. In the elevator shaft was that peculiar odor which marks the track of fire and firemen days and weeks after such an accident.

"Most of the fire was next door," explained the proprietor, "but I guess the smoke and the water were about as bad for us. Sometimes it is almost better to have the fire yourself than be next door to it."

Which seemed to be especially true of book material. Where smoke and soot had failed to blot and ruin the stock, water from the engines in the street had flooded it until ruin alone was descriptive. Everything had been closed down, workers in the plant were idle, and the proprietor was awaiting the adjustment of the insurance which he had been carrying. But in the extent of this insurance itself was a knotty situation.

Ordinarily the house had carried policies which would have left it the minimum of risk on its machinery, stock and materials. Ordinarily a still further blanket policy was carried for the purpose of covering the normal amount of book material on hand owned by others and contracted for rebinding. But only a few days before the fire the house had received a consignment of $5,000 worth of lawbooks to be bound. These volumes, aside from intrinsic value, represented so much of other value as to make the risk abnormal for almost any season. And these books were ruined.

Before receiving them the binder had asked the owners to take out a policy for themselves protecting them against such fire loss. The firm had not done so, and when the fire damage came the disposition of the owners was to hold the binder for them under one of the binder's blanket policies.

On this one disputed point, taking it into court, will some one make a guess as to what this one feature of the fire may cost the binder, who to all purposes was "insured," if it should be settled in the supreme court after five or seven years, for example?

But in the case of the big manufactory, with its imported special machinery, its season of rush work and its enormous and fluctuating stock of material—if on the morning after the fire the assuring companies settle in full for the visible losses, how much has the company been damaged?

Of first consideration, perhaps, is the enormous payroll of the concern. If most of the mechanical work of the plant has been done by pieceworkers, still the necessary force of directing employees on salary is a problem. The determination of the owners is to start up anew. Tried and proved employees must be retained while the work of rehabilitation goes on. They must be paid even if they are to do no more than wait. Settlement of some kind must be made with contractors who have been supplying raw materials from the hands of other thousands of workers. No matter what the clauses in contracts providing immunity in case of fires, strikes and acts of Providence, every line of business affecting the welfare of the manufactory has been affected.

The plant is a total loss. Before it can be rebuilt the ruins of the old factory must be cleared away.

In the meantime all those customers of the manufactory who have been pressing for the filling of contract orders find themselves shut out of any chance for receiving them. They turn at once to other competing establishments for the work. Not only does the burned out firm lose all chance of profits from this work, but it is running a long chance of losing some of its oldest and best customers of years' standing.

THE LATE JUDGE MACCALLUM.

Former Reporter Had a Caustic Wit and an Untiring Energy.

The death of but few Canadians could occasion more genuine regret than did that of Judge MacCallum, of Manitoulin, or "Archie" MacCallum, as he was better known. His friends were legion. In the days when the Conservatives were in power, "Archie," then a rural barrister practicing at Paisley, stumped the province from end to end, especially the Gaelic settlements, denouncing Tory corruption. He had an intense, fervid and quaint style of Gaelic eloquence, with the high-keyed voice of the Highland Scotsman, and much as he denounced them, his magnetism was such that even the bad and ungodly Tories liked him. Previous to that he had been a reporter on The Globe, and in the gallery of the Legislature and had won a wide acquaintanceship and popularity with the members of both parties. His alert mind and ready wit, together with his power of picturesque expression, made him welcome in any company.

Many stories have been told of him. The one related about him a few months ago of his remark, "My Gawd, are we as near to power as that?" when he got a telegram on the train that the conductor had orders to let him off at Iroquois, which was not a regular stop, is said to be Sir Wilfrid Laurier's favorite anecdote. A glimpse of his quickness on the platform may be had from a reminiscence of a joint debate up in Bruce County. His opponent closed his speech with the remark: "They tell me—of course, I do not know that it is true, but I have heard it said—that Mr. MacCallum is an applicant for a Government office."

"They tell me," said MacCallum, in his droll voice on rising—"of course I do not know that it is true—but I have heard it said that my opponent set fire to his gristmill and burned it down for the insurance." He stated rumor correctly, and the meeting broke up in great disorder.

FELLING A BIG ONE.

Graphic Description of Woodmen's Work on Forest Giant.

The cedars, in particular, reach a vast girth, comments a writer on Canada's wonderful forests of the Pacific slope. In the valley by the roadside was one with a circumference at the ground of 63 feet and nearby was another that had a Gothic arch cut through it, affording easy passage for a man on horseback. But the tallest trees are the firs. Two hundred feet is a very moderate height and some shoot up to above 300. The fall of one of the monsters when the woodsmen have cut through its base is something appalling. As the tree begins to give the sawyers hustle down from their perch and seek a safe distance. Then they look upward along the giant column and listen. "She's workin' all the time," says one.

"Yes," agrees the other, "you can hear her talkin'"; and he gives a loud cry of "Timber!" to warn any fellow laborers who may be in the neighborhood.

The creaking and snapping increase and the tree swings slowly at first, but crashes down through the forest to the earth. There is a flying of bark and broken branches and the air is filled with slow-settling dust. The men climb on the prostrate giant and walk along the broad pathway of the trunk to see how it lies. What pigmies they seem amid the mighty trees around! The ancient and lofty forest could well look down on them and despise their short-lived insignificance, yet their persistence and ingenuity are irresistible, and the woodland is doomed.

Bear Terrorized District.

There is an extraordinary large bear of the grizzly species roaming around the Squamish Valley in British Columbia. For years there have been many stories about the big brute. And of late these stories have been further supplemented by people who have actually seen the animal, and who fully confirm all that has been said about its size.

That it is an extraordinarily large animal may be judged by the fact that there are half a dozen reputable residents of the Squamish Valley who have seen the animal's tracks, and who are prepared to affirm that they were eighteen inches in length by actual measurement. A bear track is very much like the mark of a naked human foot, only broader across the toes. There are only four toes, too, on the bear's foot as compared with five on the human biped. In the case of an ordinary-sized black bear a footprint measuring nine or ten inches is about the average. But when an animal that can make an 18-inch track goes roaming around it is little wonder that few Squamish residents do much traveling around now without a rifle of heavy calibre.

Her Little Toes Cut Off.

A few days ago the discovery was made upon the death of Mlle. La Blanche, who died of injuries received while performing at the Toronto Exhibition, which showed how typically French she was. Her costume as an acrobat demanded that she wear the dainty pointed French shoes which have become so customary that the public demand them. Mlle. La Blanhe, in order that she might wear the little shoes and conform to custom, had had the little toe of each foot removed.

Relic Hunters Balked.

An offer of $2,500 has been made to the rector and church wardens of Framlingham Church, Suffolk, England, for a tilting helmet which hangs over the tomb of the Duke of Norfolk, who was the hero of Flodden Field, but the present duke has notified the authorities that it must not be removed.

Canadian Finds Cure.

A Canadian claims to have discovered a cure and preventive of seasickness, and Col. Labelle is mentioned in The London Express as having tried the treatment during the recent voyage across the Atlantic on himself and the Bisley team, finding it most efficacious.

Bedridden with Piles

Mrs Wm Hughes.

If you suffer from Piles the experience of thousands leads to one definite conclusion—that the surest way to relief is The Zam-Buk way! Surely you believe that nature provides somewhere, a cure for all nature's ills! Zam-Buk is the refined and concentrated essences of healing herbs—nature's balm. Theoretically it should be good. Analysts and doctors agree on this. Practically as well as theoretically it is good. Thousands of people in four continents bear testimony. Read these cases:—

Mrs. Wm. Hughes, of 253, Hochelaga Street, Hochelaga, Montreal, says:—"I suffered from blind, itching, and protruding piles for years. Sometimes they were so bad that I could hardly bear to move about. The inflammation, the burning smarting pain, the throbbing, the aching, the over-powering feelings of dulness and dark despair which this ailment brings, the shooting spasms of agony—all were so terrible that only sufferers from this awful ailment can understand!"

Bad as this case was, Zam-Buk triumphed, and Mrs. Hughes suffers no longer.

Mrs. E. Boxall, of Scott Street, St. Thomas, says:—"For months without cessation I endured great pain from bleeding piles. For as many months I tried everything which I thought would give me ease, but in the end, dispirited and still suffering I gave in."

Then it was she heard of Zam-Buk, and she adds:—"Although I feared Zam-Buk would be like the ordinary remedies—useless—I am glad it was not. It soon proved itself to be very different. It rapidly gave me relief, and after a time cured me completely. I would like to let all sufferers from piles know what a grand thing Zam-Buk is."

Mr. Thos. Carr, of Ellesmere Street, Runcorn, says:—"I first began to suffer from piles through sitting on damp grass one summer, and for years I endured agony from this terrible complaint. Sometimes I would be bedridden for as long as a month at a stretch. Yet, to-day, I never suffer from piles! Zam-Buk cured me, to stay cured, and I bless the day I first tried it!"

So one could go on quoting case after case and it is by working such cures that Zam-Buk has earned for itself its great reputation.

Now if you suffer from this terribly painful ailment just be guided by the foregoing cases! Don't delay! Don't waste time on things said to be "just as good." Get the real genuine Zam-Buk and start out on the way to health!

Zam-Buk is a cure also for cold-sores, and chapped cracked hands, ulcers, festering sores, blood-poisoning, eczema, bad leg, ringworm, scalp sores, burns, scalds, and all skin diseases and injuries.

All druggists and stores at 50c. a box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price; 3 boxes for $1.25.

The Shortness of Life.

What always strikes one so forcibly is, I think, the shortness of human life compared with other works of nature. The longest life—how short it is! And half of it one can hardly call life, being spent in sleep, which is not real existence.

A French preacher I heard once brought the shortness of life strongly before me by relating in his sermon how a saint in olden days, wishing to impress on himself the rapidity of life's race when he came to years of discretion, placed eighty marbles in a glass jar, each marble to represent a year of human life, taking eighty years as an outside limit very far exceeding that. Then, taking another glass jar, from the first one he took the number of marbles representing the years he had already passed and placed them in the empty jar and then year by year extracted a marble from the other till, more rapidly than he could have dreamed, the two jars contained forty marbles each. Then still more swiftly did each year seem to speed away, and what had so short a time before been the full jar became the nearly empty one till three, two and then only one marble remained, and life, which had looked so long at starting, had swiftly and silently melted away.—C. de la Warr.

Couldn't Stop Talking.

"Now, what are you going to do with that machine?" asks the lady of the photographer, to whom she had been talking continuously since she came into the studio.

"Pardon me, madam," replies the artist, "but the only way I can get your photograph and have a likeness is to take a moving picture."—Chicago Post.

FARMERS REFUSE TO GIVE GAS LEASES OF LANDS

The committee consisting of Mayor Rush, Ald Bradburn and Gillespie, and Mr R. H Leary, visited the few farmers yesterday who heretofore have held out against giving gas leases of their lands in an endeavor to persuade them to do so, but their efforts were of little avail. The farmers refused to have anything to do with the proposition.

Mr Leary received a letter yesterday from Mr Chas Dettman, of the Gas and Oil Prospecting Company, instructing him to start at once on the new block and get from 500 to 1000 acres leased between here and Lindsay and as near Peterborough as possible.

Mr Leary began at once to carry out the instructions.

TEMERANCE WORKERS TO STAND FOR LOCAL OPTION

A large and very enthusiastic meeting of the Temperance and Moral Reform League was held on Tuesday afternoon. Several important questions were up for discussion. It was reported that an effort was being made to side-track the issue, by trying to get the temperance workers to undertake a campaign for license reduction instead of a local option campaign. This was very briefly disposed of, as it was soon evident that there was an unanimous feeling against any such step. A motion was put and carried with great enthusiasm in favor of proceeding vigorously with the local option campaign.

The meeting was representative of the different denominations and of all sections of the city, and reports received were unanimously to the effect that the prospects for carrying the bylaw were most encouraging.

The matter of financing the campaign was reported upon. Friends of the movement are given the opportunity of assisting in this campaign in any convenient way. The work to be prosperous and successful, must be thorough and will require the generous support of all interested.

OLD PARK ST. CHURCH MAY BE USED BY ATHLETIC ASS'N

A meeting of the Property Committee and the young men interested will be held to-night at the Park st. Baptist church at seven o'clock, when the question of permitting the old church building to be used by the South End Athletic Association, will be discussed. The idea is to have the members of the association meet the expense in connection with keeping up the building for the purpose suggested.

It is suggested that a gymnasium and reading room be started in the building, which is a commodious one the main floor being 53 feet by 35 feet and there is an 18 foot ceiling. This would afford a bigger gymnasium than the Y.M.C.A's of some of the towns in the province. The smaller division of the building could be used as a reading room.

A PAPER ON ASTRONOMY

An interesting paper on "Astronomy" was recently read by Mr. S. W. Lowey, before the Inthon Bible Class of George street church. It was as follows;

Mr. President and Gentlemen;

It would hardly do for me to say whether I was born under a lucky or an unlucky star, to have such a large subject assigned to me for discussion this afternoon. I somehow fancy the executive have been reading in the 47th chapter of Isaiah at the 13 verse, and determined to follow the prophet's advice to bring forth the astrologer, the stargazer and the monthly prognosticator. Still to my mind it is a fit subject for study at this season to consider the star that pointed out the humble birthplace of Him who was present at, and took part in the glorious work of creation; when the morning stars sang together, and all the Sons of God shouted for joy.

I would call your attention then for a few moments to the number, distance, and magnitude of the fixed stars from a Biblical standpoint. While the Bible is not, nor does it claim to be a textbook on astronomy, it nevertheless records some of the greatest occurrences with which astronomers have to deal, viz., the plain, simple narrative of the creation of the world, given in the 1st chapter of Genesis in the first and 16th verses. In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And God made two great lights, the greater light to rule the day and the lesser light to rule the night. He made the stars also. And again in the 10th chapter of Joshua and the 12th and 13th verses we are told. Then spake Joshua to the Lord in the day when the Lord delivered up the Amorites before the children of Israel, and he said in the sight of Israel, Sun stand thou still upon Gibeon and thou moon in the valley of Ajalon. And the sun stood still and the moon stayed until the people had avenged themselves on their enemies. And again in Isaiah the 20th and 11th, And Isaiah cried unto the Lord and He brought the shadow ten degrees backwards, by which it had gone down in the dial of Ahaz.

But some skeptical critic will say perhaps these portions of Scripture are either ambiguous poetry, and indeed this may be true in regard to the following;—Judges 5 and 20, where Deborah in a fine flight of fancy exclaims triumphantly. They fought from heaven, the stars in their courses fought against Sisera. If we are to interpret this language right it would be equivalent to saying the forces and the God of Nature fought against him. But we must take it to be literally true when it is said in the 147th Psalm, 4th verse. He telleth the number of stars; He calleth all by their names, so let God be true and every man a liar. Everywhere in the Scripture the host of heaven and the stars are taken to represent an immense number. An instance of this is found in the 22nd Chap. of Genesis the 17th verse. That in blessing I will bless thee and in multiplying I will multiply thy seed as the stars of heaven and as the sand which is upon the sea shore and thy seed shall possess the gate of his enemies. And further on in Deut. 1st 10th, we find Moses stating that the tribes actually were as numerous as the stars of heaven which gives a definite idea of what was meant by these words as we know that the whole nation numbered only about two and a half millions at the time.

Hipparchus, who was born at Nicea in Bythinia, and flourished between 160 and 125 B.C., was the founder of real mathematical astronomy. The invention of spherical trigonometry is supposed to be due to him. He approximated also closely to the true length of the tropical year which had been previously held to be 365 and a half days. This he discovered to be an error in excess, by comparing one of his own observations of the summer solstice with another made by Aristarchus of Samos, 145 years before. His own determination of 365 days, 5 hours, 55 min. 12 sec., exhibits a value greater than the truth by 6. 13, only according to Laplace, the length of the tropical year at that time must have been about 4' .2 shorter than in the present age. The appearance of a new star in the time of Hipparchus is said to have induced him to make a catalogue of the fixed stars in order that posterity might be able to recognize any changes that might take place in the appearance of the heavens: and in executing the task he rendered essential service to astronomy and made his most remarkable discovery.

Comparing the place of the Star Spica Virginis, as determined by himself with that assigned to it about 170 years previously by two distinguished Alexandrians he found that this star was six degrees distant from the autumnal equinox, whereas the before mentioned astronomers had found it eight degrees from the equinox. He saw that there must have been either a movement of the star in longitude during the interval or a contrary movement of the equinoctial point in the heavens. The same phenomenon was observed in relation to other stars that while their latitudes had been retained unaltered, they had advanced in longitude; and hence the retrogradation of the equinoctial point along the ecliptic was inferred the cause of which remained a secret till the age of Newton. The catalogue formed by Hipparchus contained 1080 stars. After determining the places of the stars Hipparchus made a representation of the heavens on the surface of an artificial globe which appears to have been deposited at Alexandria, and with him also the happy idea originated of marking the positions of towns in the same manner by circles drawn parallel to the equator, and lines perpendicular to it or, by latitudes and longitudes.

Sir John Herchel soberly answers the enquiry; "For what purpose are we to suppose such magnificent bodies scattered through the abyss of space. Surely not to illuminate our nights which an additional moon of the thousandth part of the size of our own would do much better—not to sparkle as a pageant void of meaning and reality and bewilder us along vain conjectures. Useful it is true they are to a man as points of exact and permanent reference; but he must have studied astronomy to little purpose who can suppose man to be the only subject of his Creator's care, or who does not see, in the vast and wonderful apparatus around us, provision for other races of animated beings. The planets derive their light from the sun; but that cannot be the case with the stars. These, doubtless, then, are themselves suns and may, perhaps, each in its sphere, be the presiding centre around which other planets, or bodies of which we can form no conception from any analogy offered, by our own system, may be circulating.

Ptolemy, an Alexandrian, who lived during the reigns of Adrian and Antonious made a catalogue containing 101 stars.

Ulugh Bagh, a Tartar Prince, and grandson of the celebrated Tamerlane, made a catalogue of the stars in his observatory in Samarcand about 1440 AD.

The Royal Observatory at Greenwich has recently issued a new catalogue of stars of the ninth magnitude and brighter, between 24 degrees and 32 degrees. It includes over 12,000 stars, the places of which have all been accurately brought up to 1910. The Astrographic Catalogue of the same observatory contains 178,000 stars. The number of stars usually supposed to be visible in the largest telescopes and on the best photographs is about 100,000,000. Mr J E Gore has recently counted the stars given on the prints given in Dr Roberts stellar photograph. He found that the average number of stars per square degree was 4137 in the Milky Way, 1782 near the Milky Way, and 408 in the more distant regions. Combining these results with the areas of the regions considered he obtained the grand total of 64,184,757 stars, though if we include clusters and nebulae the number will be somewhat increased. Mr. Gore, therefore, considers 100 000,000 the upper limit.

The number of constellations with their individual stars is;—

Zodiacal Cons—12—No. of stars 1016.

Northern Cons—35—No. of stars. 1456.

Southern Cons—46—No. of stars. 995.

Making 93 constellations and 3467 stars that are thus grouped, with somewhere about 6000 Binary, triple and multiple stars.

DISTANCE.

In astronomy angular distances are measured either by graduated circles by eye piece micrometers or by measurement on a photograph. One coordinate of an angular distance may be measured by the time of passage over a fixed thread in the telescope. Motions in the line of sight are measured with the spectroscope. Distances are also measured by triangulation which may be considered a direct method. To find the distance of a body in terms of our terrestial miles we must first find the diameter and figure of the earth, which is our base of triangulation. This is done by means of geodetic surveys and finding the parallax of the object whose distance is to be found. There is a great base line measured from Dunkirk in France across the pennisula to Barcelona in Spain. All the stars appear as points of light only without any appreciable disc, and therefore are not changed in appearance by the telescope. Up to one hundred years ago no parallax could be detected in any of the stars and no measurement of their distance could be attempted. The problem, however, was solved by Professor Bissell of Kingsberg and has well been styled a magnificent conquest.

The world is indebted for it to one of the retracting telescopes of the celebrated Frauenhofer, of Munich, an instrument of extraordinary power, specially adapted to the research for the parallax of the fixed stars. With machinery even more delicate, and of somewhat different kind, Besel renewed the search after the unattained parallax of the stars. His instrument called the heliometer, was mounted in the year 1829, but various causes delayed his principal operations up to the month of October, 1837.

The astronomer selected the star 61 Cygni as the one on which to perform his operations. In watching this star, Bessel commonly took observations 16 times every night whenever opportunity offered. Without detailing the course he pursued, which would be uninteresting and unintelligible to most people, it will be sufficient to state that after a most careful investigation, a variation in the apparent place of the star began to show itself, increasing precisely as parallatic variation ought to increase, and diminishing as it ought to diminish. The period of these changes was precisely a year and in all particulars they corresponded exactly to the changes that ought to be produced by parallax. Still on account of their minute character, the observer hesitated to place dependence upon them. But during another year of observation, the same results came out, and the previous values were confirmed. This was the case also during a third year; and all doubt being now removed, Bessel announced to the world that he had compassed the hitherto impassable gulf of space, and measured the distance to one of the fixed stars. The final conclusion deduced, confirmed by the subsequent research of M Peters at the Observatory of Pulkowa, assigns to 61 Cygni an annual parallax of O".349, rather more than one third of a second of space.

This corresponds to the enormous distance of nearly 600,000 radii of the earth's orbit or as many times 91,000,000 miles. The distance of the star may therefore be set down in round numbers at sixty billions of miles.

The mighty gulf which separates us from the stars having been once passed, the route has been followed, and succeeding observers have determined the parallax of a sufficient number of stars to show that their results are entirely trustworthy. General dependence may be placed on the results given in the table:

Stars	Observer	Parallax	Distance in Radii of earth's orbit	Billions of miles
1—a Centauri	Henderson	0".913	225 920	21
2—61 Cygni	(Bessel)	0.348	592 715	56
3—a Lyrae	Struve	0.261	790,287	75
4—Sirius	Henderson	0.230	896 804	84
5—1830 Groombridge	(Peters)	0.226	912 677	86
6—b Ursae	"	0.134	1,550,864	147
7—Arcturus	"	0.127	1,624,134	154

The magnitude of these bodies is determined by measuring their light with the photometer and then comparing that with their parallax. Thus the light of Sirius is four times that of a Centarri and its parallax only O" .230 compared with O" .913, for the latter star. This in effect ascribes to it an intrinsic splendour equal to 63 times that of our own sun. When we think of their immense number, their almost immeasurable distance, and stupendous magnitude, we are led to exclaim with the Psalmist; When I consider the heavens, the work of thy fingers, the sun and moon which thou hast ordained, what is man that thou art mindful of him; and the son of man that Thou visitest him!

One fifth of a cent a cup is certainly an economical drink, and yet this is all that "Salada" Tea costs. One pound costing 40c. will make over 220 cups of the purest and most delicious tea in the world.

OUTDOOR CANADA FOR JANUARY

The January number of Outdoor Canada appears with an attractive two-color cover typical of Canada's winter season, and an index page laden down with titles of good things. Among the leading articles is the story of a Musk-ox Hunt, entertainingly told by that king among explorers of Canada's north land J. W. Tyrrell. John T. Hall of Medicine Hat Alberta, writes of a Christmas Broncho Busting—a form of entertainment arranged for the benefit of the Medicine Hat General Hospital and furnishing before its conclusion at least one additional patient for that institution. Roden Kingsmill discusses sport in his usual breezy style; Montreal's Winter Carnival gets a pen picture as well as several illustrations and the regular departments of the magazine are well represented. The number is in every way a most creditable one showing that the new management is determined to make Outdoor Canada what it has good right to be—an ever increasingly interesting and successful magazine.

CHARGES WERE INVESTIGATED VERY FULLY

Evidenee Heard in Connection With ex-Ald. Johnston's Charges Against Chief Howard ---Committee Will Give Verdict Later.

It was just one o'clock this morning when the meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee to inquire into the charges of ex-Ald. Johnston against the chief of the fire brigade, Mr. Howard, came to a conclusion. It commenced a few minutes after eight o'clock and it took almost five hours to take the evidence.

The evidence was favorable to the chief in many respects, especially that of some of the aldermen. Mr. Johnston called all but one of the firemen, and several outsiders, and they were questioned closely by Ald. Buller, and the other members of the committee. The committee came to no decision, but will meet again to go over the evidence and arrive at a verdict.

Ald. Buller, chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee, presided, and the other members present were Ald. Hicks, Morgan, and Turner.

Mayor Rush, and Aldermen Duffus, Bradburn, McIntyre, Phelan, Gillespie, Metheral and Duncan, and City Treasurer Adams were also present.

It was 8.20 when Chief Howard arrived at the committee room, and when he entered he was accompanied by Mr. G. N. Gordon.

Mr. Johnston objected to the chief having a solicitor present at the meeting. He asked the committee to give a ruling upon the point.

Ald. Hicks said the charges against the chief were serious ones and he considered that Mr. Howard should have every fair means of defending himself. He would have Mr. Gordon ask any questions he wanted to through the chairman.

Mr. Howard said he would allow his solicitor to retire if Mr. Johnston objected.

Ald. Hicks moved that Mr. Gordon be allowed to stay. He had no seconder.

Ald. Turner and Morgan moved that Mr. Gordon retire. This carried and Mr. Gordon left the room.

The taking of the evidence was then commenced.

The chairman then read the charges that had been preferred by ex-Ald. Johnston.

THE CHARGES.

1. Forbidding the firemen speaking to the chairman or other aldermen. The men will prove this. The late assistant chief Taylor says this was the cause of his leaving the hall because he was seen speaking to me. Howard denies telling the men to do this.

2. Discharging men for drinking when he, as the leader, was the greatest offender himself; coming into the hall on various occasions, not sober. Men will prove this.

3. Not in fire hall half of the time.

4. Sold junk, comprising old hose, old couplings, brass and copper from batteries, and not making returns until informed by the chairmen to do so.

5. Beating one of the horses unmercifully, causing fireman Hawes to get hurt.

6. Building coal bins, cleaning the chief's house, using material from the fire hall for the purpose. Firemen McBride and Weir had to do this; were busy at this when the alarm sounded for fire.

7. Fireman McBride paid $8.22 more than entitled to. He paid the sum back to the chief, chief's book and pay sheet will show this. I asked chief for an explanation; he promised it, but I did not get one.

8. Not sleeping half of the time in hall. Chief denied this to the Fire, Water and Light Committee in session. Men will prove this to be so.

9. Friday night, December 25th, did not sleep in fire hall. Monday night Dec. 28th, did not sleep in hall, very drunk. Fireman Craig will vouch for this.

10. Tuesday evening, Dec. 28th, chief left fire hall at 10.55 p.m., said to watchman will be back in a few minutes. He did not come back to the hall until 3.20 a.m. Wednesday morn-

STAY IN PRISON

U.S. Labor Leaders do Not Want Pardon—Would Undo Their Work.

Washington, Jan. 22.—"We have not asked, and will not ask, for clemency, and we hope our friends will not urge us to pursue such a course. Loving liberty as free men do—as we do—it cannot be difficult to appreciate what incarceration in a prison would mean to us.

"To ask pardon would render useless all the trial and sacrifice which our men of labor and our friends in all walks of life have endured, that the rights and liberties of our people might be restored.

"Such a pardon would only leave the whole case in confusion and it would have to be fought over again from the beginning."

This is some of the language used in a remarkable statement signed by Gompers, Mitchell and Morrison in the current number of The American Federationist, in formal protest against the action of Justice Wright in sentencing them to imprisonment for contempt of court in the Bucks Stove and Range case.

DEATH LIST IS NOW SEVENTY

Roll of Victims of Chicago Crib Work Disaster is Swelled.

Chicago, Jan. 22.—That the list of 50 known dead will probably be increased to 70 or even more, developed yesterday in the official investigation of the burning of the temporary wooden crib in the lake, one and a half miles off the shore of South Chicago, on Wednesday.

Most of the workmen died at the mouth of the shaft. Surrounded by fire and with a wide stretch of icy water between them and the shore, they sought but failed to reach safety by going down into the submarine tunnel, where they suffocated.

WOMAN WILL DEFEND MURDERER

Montreal, Jan. 22.—Jeremie Decarie, M.P.P. for Hochelaga, was sworn in yesterday as Minister of Agriculture, replacing Hon. Jules Allard who takes the Lands and Forest Department.

Hon. R. Roy, Provincial Secretary, will be appointed to the bench and will be replaced by Dr. L. J. Lemieux, M.P.P. for Gaspe, and brother of the Postmaster-General. Dr. Pelletier, M.P.P. for Sherbrooke, will be Speaker of the Assembly, and it is again stated that Achille Bergevin, ex-M.P.P. for Beauharnois, will be appointed to the Legislative Council.

PROF. MACKENZIE MONTREAL, DEAD

Well Known Member of Presbyterian College, Dies Suddenly

Montreal, Jan. 22.—The collegiate community was shocked yesterday afternoon to learn of the sudden death of Rev. Prof. Mackenzie of the Presbyterian College. He was 46 years of age and a native of Lucknow, Ont.

He died soon after entering his room at the college following the lunch hour. Deceased was to have officiated this evening at the induction of the Rev. Mr. Dickey, pastor of Crescent Church.

He leaves a wife, four daughters and a son.

BANQUET AT GRAND HOTEL

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS TO ITS WESTERN LINES

Planned by the C.P.R.—Campaign of Building Designed to Head off Enterprises of G.T.P., Will Comprise 250 to 300 Miles of New Road.

Montreal, Jan. 22.—After a conference between Wm. Whyte and Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, the C.P.R. has decided to spend six millions in the west this year.

This will inclnde 250 to 300 miles of new road, and docks at Fort William. The new line decided on is east of the present line from Macleod to Calgary, opening up the great wheat section of Alberta. It will join the Macleod-Calgary line near High River.

It is evident that the company intend to meet the railway policy of the Alberta Government and also head off to some extent the enterprises of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

In addition to the brief official statement handed out yesterday morning, Mr. Whyte stated last evening that the new lines, including those initiated last year, which will be proceeded with, will amount to between 250 and 300 miles of railway in the prairie regions.

The most important new feature in the program is the construction of a new line north of Lethbridge, running towards Calgary, but considerably east of the present line in Alberta, connecting Maclead and Calgary, and opening up a most important wheat belt hitherto without railways, directly traversing it and giving much desired connection to extensive settlement areas in the High River Valley.

North of the main line again there is another exceedingly fertile belt, which is to be traversed by a new line running north and south, forming a junction with the Tuxford Lacombe line, of which a large part is now built. This new line will join the Lacombe line at Alix. The portion of the Lacombe Tuxford line that is to be built this year is from Stettler to Ghost Line Creek, the section from Stettler to Lacombe having been already built. It will be an important step towards the completion of the line that crosses the prairies diagonally in a northwesterly direction from Moose Jaw.

This, in Mr. Whyte's opinion, expresses a very liberal policy as far as Alberta Province is concerned, and the company asks for no Government aid in its projects, either as subsidies or bond guarantees.

It is likely that the present summer will witness the completion of the line that provides the alternative route from the east to Edmonton. It has now been carried east from Wetaskawin, where it joins the Calgary and Edmonton line to Battle River, and the bridge over the Battle River has been completed. East of that there still remains a gap of 130 miles, which will be the object of this year's attentions.

WAS PAID FOR MEAT WHICH HE FAILED TO DELIVER AND WAS FINED $15.25

John Kerr was fined five dollars and costs, amounting to $15.25, for neglecting to deliver a quarter of beef, which he had sold to E. J. Waterman on Saturday last on the market. Kerr pleaded not guilty but it was proved conclusively by Mr. Waterman and two others that the defendant was paid two dollars for the meat and the witnesses testified to having seen the name and street address of Mr. Waterman written on a book.

The defendant said that he was on the market last Saturday, with 8 quarters of beef. He sold one to Waterman, for which he received two dollars. The street address of Waterman was written in a book, but his brother-in-law had it and lost it. He had sold the meat on Wednesday. He stated that he never took any steps to find out who he had sold the meat to, expecting to see the man again the next Saturday.

His Worship imposed the above fine with costs, stating that Waterman was to receive the two dollars back again.

MURRAY ST. CONGREGATION MAY BUILD A NEW CHURCH

At the annual meeting of the Murray street Baptist church last night, the matter of enlarging the present church building or of erecting a new one was brought up, but no action was taken, it being left in the hands of a committee. The present church accommodation is far inadequate for the large numbers that Sunday after Sunday attend. Some immediate steps will have to be taken to supply extra seating accommodation.

The meeting was well attended, the pastor, Rev. J. R. Webb, presiding. After opening devotional exercises the business of the evening was proceeded with. Different societies and organizations of the church presented their annual reports, which were of an encouraging and satisfactory character. The financial statement, as read by Mr. T. F. Matthews, showed that for all purposes the congregation had raised $5200 during the year.

The officers elected were as follows:—

Deacons—Messrs. R. Harding and P. White.

Finance Committee—Messrs. N. Eastwood, George Cochrane, R. Harding, P. White and James Montgomery.

Clerk—Mr. P. Downham.

Financial Secretary—Mr. Wm. Aldridge.

Treasurer—Mr. T. F. Matthews.

Musical Committee—Messrs. T. F. Matthews, C. B. Routley and Mrs. James Hunter, Mrs. K. P. Ellis and Miss Lila Webber.

Treasurer Fellowship Fund — Dr. Scott.

Supt. Sunday School—Mr. W. J. Dunlop.

The present 200-yard range in D.R.A. contests will be abolished.

James Sugden arrested in Montreal, admitted numerous forgeries.

No legislation in regard to the all-red route will be passed this session of Parliament.

PARLIAMENT AT OTTAWA SETTLES DOWN TO WORK

Earl Grey Reads Programme of Session's Business---Meagre Outline of Government's Intentions Given.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—There was the usual display of militarism and feminine attractiveness at the formal opening of Parliament yesterday afternoon. "The Hill" attracted a great throng of spectators, the arrival of Earl Grey and Government House party, attended by a mounted escort, being witnessed by several thousand people who had not been favored with tickets of admission, while within the Senate chamber there was a brilliant assemblage of Supreme Court judges in ermine robes, staff officers, privy councillors and members of Parliament and Senators, with several hundred charmingly attired ladies who occupied the Senatorial chairs and galleries.

On the return of the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, accompanied by Hon. Speaker Marcil and the members of the lower House, Earl Grey read the speech from the throne.

Sir Wilfrid then moved that the speech from the throne to taken up on Monday, some of the Ministers having expressed a desire to recess to-day.

"But why delay?" queried George E. Foster, and Sir Wilfrid acquiesced in the suggestion that the House get busy at once. Therefore the first business to-day is the address in reply, moved by Todd of Charlotte, N.B., and seconded by Turcotte of Quebec Centre.

When Sir Wilfrid moved the adjournment, R. L. Borden asked when the public accounts and Auditor-General's report would be brought down.

The Premier said it was not customary to produce state documents before the consideration of His Excellency's speech, but since the Opposition leader desired it and Mr. Paterson had them ready, he had no objections.

Speech From the Throne.

The speech from the throne was as follows:

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In welcoming you to the performance of your duties at the first session of a new Parliament, I desire to acknowledge with devout thankfulness the abundant harvest with which Divine Providence has again blessed us.

The Quebec Tercentenary festivities in July, which were honored by the gracious presence of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, as representing His Majesty, marked an epoch in the history of the Dominion. The generous support given to this national celebration by the Federal Parliament and Provincial Legislatures, and by the peoples of Canada, of the other dominions and of the United Kingdom, emphasized the community of sympathy which binds the various parts of the British Empire to each other, and to the throne and person of His Majesty the King. The presence of representatives from the United Kingdom, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Newfoundland and from the great and friendly republics of France and the United States, with the ships of war of the three nations, served not only to add lustre to this occasion, but to provide an assurance of increasing amity and peace.

A SEAT FOR TEMPLEMAN

Sloan of Comox-Atlin Resigns—He Will Probably be Rewarded.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—William Sloan, M.P. for Comox-Atlin, B.C., has placed his resignation in the hands of Speaker Marcil, and announcement of the fact will be made on the opening of Parliament to-day.

Mr. Sloan makes way for Hon. William Templeman, who was defeated in Victoria. The election will be held early in March. It is unlikely that there will be any opposition to Mr. Templeman, though no one can tell what may happen in British Columbia.

Mr. Sloan said last night that he had resigned "for the good of British Columbia."

CHANGE IN THE LICENCE BOARD

Mr Walter Wilde of town has been appointed a member of the License Commissioners for East Peterborough, in the place of Mr Jos Knox, who resigned lately. No other change has been made in the License Board and a meeting will be held here in the near future to elect the officers for the ensuing year—Havelock Standard.

THROUGH THE ICE

Two Men Drowned Near Trenton Last Night—Two Women Were Saved.

Special to the Review.

Trenton, Jan 22—David Frederick and Gilbert Brock with Mrs Frederick and Mrs Brookks started to drive across the ice last night about ten o'clock for home some five miles distant. When about 400 yards from shore they drove into a hole where men had been cutting ice. David Frederick and Gilbert Brooks, with the horse, were drowned.

Mrs Frederick and Mrs Brooks were saved.

The night was very dark. The bodies of the drowned men were recovered.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

All efforts to form a new Servian Ministry have failed, and the Ministers, at the King's request and on assurance of his continued confidence, have consented to remain in office.

Shad will soon be extinct in Connecticut waters, according to the biennial report of the fish and game commissioners, just issued, unless there is a change for the better in conditions.

E. Kenyon Stowe, the English investor in Cobalt mining properties, was acquitted at Toronto by the jury after five minutes' deliberation in the sessions criminal court of the charge of perjury.

Miss Pauline Gilley of East Orange, N.J., received a purse valued at about $2,000, which she lost in Newark while shopping. Frank Sullivan, striking hatter, who returned it to her, said he picked it up on a sidewalk.

Fire destroyed Boese & Schmidt's general store, Richardson's harness shop and Webb & Burr's office store, at Vonda, Sask., yesterday. Most of the stock was saved except Richardson's, where the fire started.

The case against John F. Mills of Toronto, charged with defrauding C. Asher of Welland out of $1,500 in connection with the organization of a company to manufacture automobiles, after dragging along for several weeks, was dismissed.

CHANGES IN THE QUEBEC CABINET

New York, Jan. 22.—If Miss Mary Coleman, a lawyer, can convince Judge Tompkins that her client, J. B. de Tierre, an inmate of the Matteawan Asylum, is sane, she probably will be the first woman in the United States to defend a man accused of murder. De Tierre has written a book of aphorisms, which Miss Coleman thinks should convince the court of her client's sanity.

De Tierre was accused of shooting his brother to death in 1902.

Are Farmers Slovenly?

London, Jan. 22.—T. C. Martin, editor of The Dundee Advertiser, a member of the commission which visited the Dominion in 1908, addressing the Farmers' Club at Dundee, said that in Canada cultivation was by no means perfect, and there was a good deal of slovenly work allowed. Weeds were abundant.

Another impression he formed was that Canada was going to be a sober nation. He did not remember one banquet of the many he attended at which alcoholic liquors appeared.

Cannot Decide.

London, Jan. 22.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—At Cape Town, the union convention surmounted every difficulty except that of location of the capital. Cape Town and Pretoria are contestants for the honor. Cape Colony has 12 votes, Transvaal 8, Natal and Orangia 5 each. Natal favors Pretoria, but Orangia is hopeful that Bloemfontein may be chosen. As a compromise is doubtful, the position is delicate, as without a capital the people of the Transvaal may not accept union.

Washington as a Mason.

Fredericksburg, Va., Jan. 22.—The Fredericksburg Lodge of Mason, which possesses the Bible on which Washington was initiated, passed and raised, and also the records showing when he was given his degree in that lodge, has been somewhat annoyed recently by a story which was given wide publicity to the effect that the lodge of Antiquity of Montreal, Canada, is the possessor of the Bible on which Washington was obligated as a Mason.

Let Corporations Vote.

Montreal, Jan. 22.—The civic legislation committee of the City Council will, at the next session of the Legislature, recommend that the charter be so amended as to allow corporations to vote in civic affairs.

The desire is that all corporate bodies represented by their president, shall be allowed to vote in all wards where the corporation pays taxes.

Prisoner's Break For Liberty.

Canton, Ohio, Jan. 22.—Frederick Hodgkin, arrested for attempted burglary, jumped from a window in the court-room and landed in the street below, a distance of 20 feet. Detective Patterson fired several shots, but none took effect. Hodgkin was traced to a church three blocks away and caught.

Farmer Cuts Throat.

Guelph, Jan. 22.—David McMillan, aged 58, a well-known farmer of Erin Township, committed suicide by cutting his throat yesterday. He had been confined in the Guelph Sanitorium for several weeks.

Glace Bay, N.S., Jan. 22.—The Dominion Coal Co. will not recognize the United Mine Workers of America, which some lodges of the P.W.A. have gone over to.

For Government Ownership.

Brandon, Man., Jan. 22.—The best attended sitting of the Grain Growers' convention was held yesterday morning, when the adjourned debate on J. W. Scallion's resolution to endorse the principle of Government ownership of elevators, was resumed. The motion passed by a standing vote, with only seven dissentient delegates.

Thus does the greatest farmers' organization of the west commit itself irrevocably to a great principle of an experimental character.

New Industry In New York.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 22.—A car load of 75 babies was distributed in New Orleans yesterday. The precious freight came from the New York Foundling and Orphan Asylum. Scores of foster-parents were waiting at the station to lay claim to the little ones, for whom they had previously applied.

Roosevelt Is Alarmed.

Washington, Jan. 22.—The President talked cautiously with some of his Congressional visitors yesterday.

He said he thought nothing pending in Congress or any of the differences between himself and Congress were of half the importance of the Japanese-California question.

Caring For 200,000 Refugees.

Rome, Jan. 22.—The gravest problem which Italy now faces is that of providing for the 200,000 refugees made homeless by the recent earthquake, who are congregated in Naples or scattered throughout Calabria and Sicily. Their support is costing approximately $100,000 a day.

Fatal Fire at Quebec.

Quebec, Jan. 23.—In a fire yesterday morning which gutted the Beland Building and damaged Fashion Craft Building, on St. John street, Mrs. J. O. Filteau lost her life.

She was seen at the window of her room, but fell back into the flames. Three other women had narrow escapes.

The loss is about $40,000.

Four Drown In River.

Marine City, Mich., Jan. 22.—Four unknown men were drowned while crossing the St. Clair River on the ice from Port Lambton.

In the middle of the river one of the four was seen to break through the ice. The others attempted to rescue him and were pulled into the water and all four were drowned.

Local Optionists Charge Perjury.

St. Catharines, Jan. 22.—Charged with perjury in that he swore when challenged at Grimsby polling both that he had been a resident of Grimsby for three months prior to the election, "Cap" Doughty was arrested at Grimsby on the complaint of local optionists. Doughty had been challenged by a local option scrutineer.

The Daily Review

FRIDAY, JAN. 22, 1909.

LORD MILNER ON CANADA

"The Times" rendered a national service in publishing from a correspondent at Toronto a full and excellent summary of Lord Milner's Canadian speeches," says the Observer. "Most of us were acquainted with isolated passages from these masterly addresses. Few had a previous opportunity of considering them in connection with each other and studying their method and spirit as a whole. Now that we can review them as a campaign of reason on behalf of Imperial unity we see that in their temperate power and compressed lucidity nothing quite like them has been delivered before, even by their author, and we understand why they made a deep impression upon the Canadian mind.

"If the speeches can be reprinted in pamphlet form they will have as profound effect upon this side of the Atlantic. For it is here, and not there, that the struggle must be fought out. Canada has given Preference so far as it depends upon her. She is willing for some time longer to maintain it, and to keep other suitors waiting. But the spirit of her economic policy is active and progressive. She cannot keep its whole movement indefinitely suspended for the sake of our beaux yeux. The simple question is whether we mean to follow suit or not—whether we definitely agree or refuse to enter into Imperial partnership upon a basis of commercial reciprocity. That, and that alone, will be 'the dominating issue" at the next General election—in spite of anything Mr Asquith may propose to the contrary, and upon the result will depend the fate of the British Empire.

"Canada would not and could not wait for another appeal to the constituencies. Let us never forget for a moment that in significance for her political and commercial development a decade of her life is equivalent of more than a generation of ours. She will take our answer at the next general election as final. Lord Milner brings this out with quiet but extraordinary distinctness. If he could have his way the question to be presented to the people by the Unionist party would be as clean cut, as concentrated, as unmistakable as possible. He would fight on the single issue. It is needless to say that his Canadian speeches were not rhetorical. Lord Milner uses no verbal pigment. The singular force of his addresses lies in the fervor of their very substance, in the interior strength of their thought in the condensed and definite enthusiasm which exerts a moral magnetism upon everyone who comes within its influence. It is the glow of anthracite and not the fire of straw. Hence his power of communicating conviction and making even ordinary words potent.

"Lord Milner found the Imperial sentiment weakening in Canada. He arrested that decline. He knows that Preference is what we may venture to call a disappearing option. It cannot now be all that it might have been made half a century ago. But the possibilities still possess decisive value. Lord Milner has convinced the Dominion that the next General Election in this country will create a majority and a Government in favor of Imperial reciprocity. For another year or two Canada will probably hold the door open. More cannot be expected. In the opinion of every competent critic who has recently visited Canada there is just time to save the Imperial situation, but there is no time to lose."

THE CHARGES

The "charges" against the fire chief indicate two things. One is the praiseworthy and unselfish watchfulness of Ex-Ald Johnston and the other, is the comparative unimportance of the "charges." That men should be rivals for promotion is natural. But above all stands out the fact that the Committee of the Council is really what is being charged. It has the supervision of the fire department and is held responsible by the people for it and its report on the present "investigation" will no doubt give what may be termed its opinion up to date on the control and management of the fire department. It is gratifying to note that inefficiency is neither directly nor indirectly charged or implied by Ex-Ald Johnston, on the part of the chief, or for that matter anybody else.

EDITORIAL NOTES

What are to be the main features of the next election, which is expected this year? (page 32) Lord Milner and the Observer seem to be certain that Tariff Reform is the issue. The Church Times thinks that Disestablishment may also be an issue. Debaters might well draw up an ideal election address covering all the issues they wish to be decided by the next poll.—Public Opinion, Eng.

Mr. L. M. Hayes Peterborough's clever barrister, has just received the appointment of chairman of the joint Board of Education. The office was altogether unsought, the acknowledged usefulness and popularity of the recipient being the only factors at work. It is a pity that the example of Peterborough in bestowing honors for merit alone, is not more largely followed.—Catholic Register and Extension.

Scene (a spiritualistic seance):

'Arriet—"Hello! 'Arry, is that you!

'Arry (one of the shades) "Yes. Is that you, 'Arriet?

'Arriet—"Yes. Are you 'appy, 'Arry?"

'Arry—"Yes, very 'appy, 'Arriet.'

'Arriet—"'Appier that you were with me, 'Arry."

'Arry—"Yes; far 'appier, 'Arriet.'

A'rriet—"Where are you, Arry?"

'Arry—"In 'ell, 'Arriet.'

The following interesting paragraph is from the Witness:—

"It is worth remembering that a marble tomb was afterwards erected over his resting place by the French. Napoleon, when in St. Helena, exclaimed: 'It was the Spanish ulcer that destroyed me, and there is little doubt that Moore's interruption of the Emperor's march on Lisbon and his victory over Soult, paved the way for Wellesley's subsequent conquests in the Peninsula. In another way Moore's influence did not die with his death. He had been a soldier and a gentleman of the highest type and the soldiers and the officers who had served under him—especially the famous Light Brigade, which he had trained at Shorncliffe—caught much of this spirit and found it carry them to the front in Wellington's wars."

Kingston Standard.

Those gentle souls who are petitioning for the release of Philips the wrecker of the York Loan Company, who has served only twenty-one months of his term, would be better employed if they would go around with a petition looking to the restoration of the funds of the widows and orphans from whom Philipps stole. They will suffer all the rest of their lives for the misdeeds of this man whom it is now sought to free after merely a nominal imprisonment. The proposition is preposterous.

Canada is rife with the Phillips species and it is only natural that they should try to make a wise provision for their possible future. As the French say of leniency, "Let the assassins begin it."

The Board of Works has informally notified the taxpayers that if they do not sanction a loan for street extension they will have to pay the money in one year in their taxes. There is room for a disquisition upon the art of submitting by-laws here. If such is the case as stated, there is scarcely any doubt that people yet unborn will be allowed to pay their share. Perhaps is could be arranged so that they could pay it all. A 22 mill rate is what the Prodigal Son had to pay as nearly as can be made out from some old tax bills of that date recently unearthed from the home village of that young gentleman. It would be, perhaps, just as well not to announce the bare bold facts until the tax payers get some of their breath back. However, there is no good in "kicking" as the Council is composed of good business men who desire the welfare of the city and are not any more anxious than anybody else to pay a big tax bill. At Smith street it may yet be necessary to re-introduce the old farm of ferry. In fact this strikes us as a ferry good idea. How would a floating bridge do? We make no extra charge for these suggestions.

PRIMITIVE FOOTBALL.

With Goals Miles Apart Whole Parishes Would Take Part In Game.

It is interesting to read descriptions of the game of football as it was played in the olden times. In Carew's day, two, three or more parishes would challenge two or three other parishes. The goal was houses or villages two or three miles apart, and the side that reached the goal with the ball, whether by brute force or strategy, won the game. Bystanding villagers would inform the straggling players where the ball was being played, by crying, "Ware east!" "Ware west!" etc. The players, or "hurlers," as they were called, ran over "hills, dales, hedges, ditches, yea, and through bushes, briars, mires, plashes and rivers whatsoever, so as you shall sometimes see 20 or 30 lie tugging together in the water, scrambling and scratching for the ball."

Sometimes a whole town was used as a field and the party with the ball would sneak around corners and alleys in order to lose their opponents and gain the goal. One writer says he was "not a little amused to see, upon entering Leddington, all the inhabitants securing the glass of their front windows by placing hurdles before them and some by nailing laths. At Twickenham, Bushy and Hampton Wick they were all engaged in the same way. Having to stop a few hours at Kingston I had an opportunity of seeing the whole custom. At about 12 o'clock the ball is turned loose and those who can, kick it. I observed some persons of respectability following the ball. The game lasts about four hours, when the parties retire to the public houses."

Foot-ball has had as turbulent and warlike a history as is the game itself. As far back as 1314 it was expressly forbidden by Edward II. and in 1389 another act was passed by Richard II., outlawing the sport. This statute was re-enacted at various intervals by succeeding monarchs and twice during the reign of Elizabeth proclamation was made that no "foteballe play be used or suffered within the city of London and the liberties thereof, upon pain of imprisonment."

A Versatile Sculptor.

Mr. George J. Frampton, the well-known sculptor, upon whom the King has bestowed a knighthood, is one of the most versatile men in the world of art. Not only are there statues from his chisel of the late Queen in places as far apart as Calcutta and Winnipeg, but all over England many specimens of his handiwork are to be found, including figures and statues at Winchester Cathedral and on the beautiful spire of the University Church of Oxford. There are, of course, very many examples of Mr. Frampton's work scattered about the metropolis. The terra cotta decoration on the Constitutional Club is his; so is the sculpture on the exterior of Lloyd's. Nothing if not versatile, the artist has done much fine work in ivory, silver, and enamel, besides being the designer of the coronation and other medals.

The Shadow.

Being hissed by a public meeting of Athenians, the Greek orator Demosthenes quieted them by announcing that he had a short story to tell them. "A certain youth," he said, "hired an ass in summer time to go from here to Megera. About noon, when the sun was very hot, and both he that hired the ass and the owner were desirous of sitting in the shade of the ass, they each thrust the other away. The owner argued that he lent only the ass, but not the shadow. The hirer replied that, since he had hired the ass, all that belonged to the ass was his." Demosthenes turned as if to go away, but the mob called him back and begged him to proceed. He began with this retort, "How comes it to pass that you are desirous of hearing a story of the shadow of an ass and refuse to give ear to matters of greater moment?" The orator then made his speech, but he never told how the question was decided.

Where Everything Grows.

The tuberose flourishes amazingly in the open air in the Transvaal with but the smallest attention and cultivation. The bulbs shoot up their three or four foot stems, each bearing very sweet smelling flowers in an incredibly short space of time. In Pretoria roses are prolific—in fact, most of the streets are bounded by rose hedges throughout their length—and they bloom with a frail, pink monthly rose blossom for three-quarters of the year. In public places, such as the park, the profusion of roses, lilies, carnations and tuberoses is bewilderingly beautiful. The wild orchids of Swaziland are famous. They are of at least twenty different kinds. They are extremely curious, and with a little care and extra heat they can be induced to develop into very wonderful plants. Everything grows in the Transvaal if the trouble is taken to plant it.

Old Cache Found.

The workmen engaged in remodelling the old Hudson Bay fort at Edmonton recently unearthed 40 pounds of ammunition of ancient manufacture. The find consists of about 100 shells and 390 pounds of powder which had been cached at the foot of one of the stairways which is now rotten.

The shells are of peculiar make, used only in the old Ballard service rifle weapon years ago. The date on the covering of the box was 1865. The cache was probably made when a band of Indians threatened the fort.

A Knock-turn.

When J. A. MacNeill Whistler lived in Chelsea, England, his peculiarities soon made him a familiar figure even among the bargemen, who got to know him as the artist of their beloved Thames. One afternoon, while sauntering along the embankment, Whistler was confronted by a man who had one eye most effectively blackened. The artist stopped and inquired, "What's the matter, my good fellow?" The man touched his hat. "Oh, nothing, sir—merely a knock-turn in blue and green."

Eggs—Steadier; receipts, 8873; state, Pennsylvania and near-by brown and mixed, fancy, 31c to 32c; fair to choice, 29c to 30c; western first, 29c to 29½c; seconds, 28c to 28½c.

CATTLE MARKETS.

Cables Unchanged—Hogs 5c to 10c Lower at Buffalo and Chicago.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—London cables for cattle are steady, at 12c to 13¾c per lb., dressed weight; refrigerator beef is quoted at 10⅛c to 10¼c per lb.

Toronto Live Stock.

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—Receipts of live stock at the City Market, as reported by the railways for Wednesday and Thursday, were 147 carloads, consisting of 2149 cattle, 3021 hogs, 1777 sheep and lambs, 115 calves and 8 horses.

Exporters.

Export steers, of which there were very few on sale, and scarcely any of heavy weights, sold at $5 to $5.40, and one sale was reported at $5.50. Prime quality steers were in demand, and more of them would have found ready sale. Dealers report some available space on the boats for next week, and it looks like a fairly good demand for shipping cattle of the right kind at Monday's market at the Union Stock Yards. Export bulls sold from $3.75 to $4.75, and $5 per cwt. for one or two of extra quality.

Butchers.

Prime picked cattle, steers and heifers, sold at $4.80 to $5 per cwt., but they were scarce, probably not more than a carload out of the 2149 cattle on sale; loads of good, $4.40 to $4.65; medium, $3.75 to $4.25; common, $3.50 to $3.65; cows, $2.50 to $4.25; canners, $1.75 to $2.25.

Feeders and Stockers.

H. & W. Murby report a fairly brisk trade this week in feeders, and the large receipts made it easier to buy steers which otherwise would have been used up by the butchers. The above firm bought about 200 head, but were open for many more. Steers from 800 lbs. up seem to be most in demand, and prices will remain steady to strong for anything with quality. Below are quotations: Best feeders, 900 to 1000 lbs. each, at $3.80 to $4.25; best stockers, 700 to 900 lbs. each, at $3.40 to $3.80; medium stockers, 600 to 800 lbs. each, at $3 to $3.50. There is some enquiry for short-keeps, but the demand for exporters has put this class out of reach of the ordinary buyers.

Milkers and Springers.

Fair deliveries of milkers and springers met a moderately good demand. A Montreal buyer was on the market, which helped to steady it up, otherwise there would have been some drovers lose some more money. Prices were about steady at $30 to $65 each, with four or five at $60.

Veal Calves.

About 100 calves found ready sale, as there is a good demand for them at firm prices. Prices ranged from $3 to $7 per cwt., with a prime new milk-fed vealer worth a little more. But there are few of the latter class coming on the market these days, as farmers prefer to sell the milk or make it into butter.

Sheep and Lambs.

There was a moderate delivery of sheep and lambs for the two days, 1777 all told. Sheep sold at $4 to $4.50 for ewes, and $3 to $3.50 for rams; lambs, $6.50 to $8 for the bulk of offerings, and a little more was paid for a few selected ewes and wethers.

Hogs.

Mr. Harris reported selects fed and watered at $6.50 at the market and $6.25 for lights. Prices seem to be higher at many points in Ontario, as many of the drovers reported having paid $6.25 to the farmers, and having received $6.35 to $6.40 f.o.b. cars at country points.

East Buffalo Cattle Market.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 21.—Cattle—Receipts, 100 head; dull; prime steers, $4.25 to $6.50.

Veals—Receipts, 5100 head; fairly active and 5c to 10c lower; pigs, 25c to 40c lower; heavy, $6.55 to $6.65; mixed, $6.40 to $6.55; yorkers, $5.75 to $6.40; pigs, $5.40 to $5.50; roughs, $5.25 to $5.65; dairies, $5.90 to $6.40.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 15,400 head; slow; wethers and lambs, 15c lower; lambs, $5 to $7.35; yearlings, $6.25 to $6.40; wethers, $5.25 to $5.25; ewes, $4.50 to $4.75;

New York Live Stock.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—Beeves—Receipts, 1326; no trading; feeling weak; dressed beef, slow, at 8c to 10c for ordinary to prime native sides.

Calves—Receipts, 216; market slow and unchanged; veals, $5 to $10; yearlings and barnyard calves, $3 to $4; dressed calves, steady; city dressed veals, 8½c to 15c; country dressed, do., 8c to 13½c.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 9962; market extremely dull and lower; sheep were off 10c to 15c; lambs, 15c to 25c; sheep sold at $3.25 to $5; culls, $2.25 to $2.50; lambs, $6 to $7.50; culls, $5.

Hogs—Receipts, 4410; feeling nominally firm.

Chicago Live Stock.

CHICAGO, Jan. 21. — Cattle—Receipts, 6000; market weak; steers, $4.60 to $7.15; cows, $3 to $5.50; heifers, $3 to $5.75; bulls, $3.40 to $3.90; calves, $3.50 to $9.50; stockers and feeders, $2.50 to $5.15.

Hogs—Receipts, 48,000; market 10c lower; choice heavy spring, $6.35 to $6.45; butchers', $6.30 to $6.45; light mixed, $5.85 to $6; choice light, $6 to $6.15; packing, $6.30 to $6.35; pigs, $4.75 to $5.60; bulk of sales, $4.35.

Sheep and lambs—Receipts, 10,000; market steady; sheep, $4.25 to $5.50; lambs, $5.25 to $7.75; yearlings, $5 to $7.

Profit on Coinage.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—The public accounts for the fiscal year ended March 31 last year, were presented yesterday to Parliament.

Receipts on account of consolidated fund were $96,054,505; expenditures $76,641,451. Expenditures chargeable to capital totalled $30,429,906, while other expenditures were for railway subsidies $2,037,829; for bounties $2,787,354. The net debt was $277,960,859, an increase of $14,288,989.

The year ended March 31, the Government made a profit of $234,288 upon its silver coinage, and $4,411 upon its copper coinage.

Huge Land Grant Opened.

Denver, Col., Jan. 22.—The Sangre de Christo land grant, one of the oldest made by the Mexican Government, has been thrown open to settlers after having been in the possession of the Costila family for more than a century and a half. It comprises 600,000 acres and was ceded by the Government of Mexico to the head of the Costilla family before the territory was acquired by the United States.

Wants $10,000 For a Leg.

Woodstock, Jan. 22.—A writ was issued yesterday by Orwell Thomas Warren of Dereham against the corporation of the Township of Dereham. Plaintiff was working the stone crusher for the township, and in adjusting it his leg was caught and crushed. He lost the limb, and now asks for $10,000 damages.

"Lid" On at Fort William.

Fort William, Ont., Jan. 22.—The lid was put on all the houses of ill-repute on the outskirts of the city when the chief of police raided the houses and gathered in the inmates and frequenters. A special court was held at midnight and $450 was collected in fines.

License Board Abolished.

Brantford, Jan. 22.—The Government has abolished the license board for South Brant and has given the duties of Inspector Markle to Inspector McCann of this city. Two license boards will act in place of three as formerly for this county.

Big Elevator at Fort William.

Fort William, Jan. 22.—The Western Elevator Co., represented by Mr Read, late president of the Consolidated Elevator Co., has asked the city for exemption from taxation for a period of ten years on an elevator they intend to construct here early this year. The request was granted and a bylaw will be submitted.

To Stop California Racing.

Sacramento, Cal., Jan. 22.—The Walker-Olis Race Track Bill passed the House yesterday by a vote of 21 to 10. A motion to reconsider was made, which delays the sending of the bill to the Senate, where the real test on the bill will occur. The measure is similar to the New York law.

For Government-Owned Elevators.

Ottawa, Jan. 22.—Dr. Schaffner, member for South Manitoba, will give notice of a motion in favor of Government ownership of grain elevators at Port Arthur and Fort William, and also of transfer elevators between those points and the Atlantic seaboard.

Two Years For Horse Thief.

Cornwall, Ont., Jan. 22.—Dunkin Camp, arrested at Prescott on Tuesday, on the charge of stealing a horse and rig from a local livery stable here, was yesterday sentenced to two years in Kingston Penitentiary.

Freight Cars Burned.

Lindsay, Ont., Jan. 22.—Two G.T.R. cars were partly burned here at two o'clock yesterday morning under suspicious circumstances. The damage was about $800, covered by insurance.

Masonry In Canada.

London, Jan. 22.—(C.A.P. Cable)—Lieutenant-Governor Fraser planted two Canadian maple trees in the public park at Peebles. Referring to the honorary membership conferred on him by Kilminney Lodge, he said they thought a great deal of Masonry in Canada.

Introduced by a Scotsman, it now extended all over Canada. In every town, village and hamlet there were to be found brethren practicing the principles of the order in deed as well as word.

Donald and the Prince.

King Edward was initiated into the arts of deer stalking by his father, of whose own 'prentice efforts the following story is told:

Lord Willoughby de Eresby had arranged a deer-stalking expedition for Prince Albert in the forest of Glenarthey, and the prince's new-fledged zeal threatened to spoil the sport to such an extent that Mr. Campbell, his mentor, whispered to the forester: "Hold the prince back, Donald, while I creep to the brow to see where the deer has gone to." "Haud the prince! Haud the prince!" Donald answered. "I'll no do it! Ye maun just grip him yoursel', and I'll look owre the broo!" And Mr. Campbell had perforce to "haud the prince" till the crisis was over. All the same, the prince gave a good account of himself before the day was ended, for he brought down two stags and three hinds, much to Donald's astonishment. "Ye'll dae verra weel—in time," was Donald's tribute of praise to His Royal Highness.

English Youth's Hard Luck.

Montreal, Jan. 22.—William Freeman, aged 17, will be deported to his home in the Channel Islands.

He was arrested for begging and says that after working on a farm for 16 months all he got, in addition to his board, was $12. He had $12 when he landed.

PARLIAMENT AT OTTAWA SETTLES DOWN TO WORK

lakes and other international waterways has been agreed upon between His Majesty and the Government of the United States of America, and is now awaiting ratification. Both countries are to be congratulated on having arrived at an amicable settlement, which, I trust, will remove during the lifetime of the treaty many vexed questions from the field of controversy. The treaty and papers relating thereto will be laid before you in due course.

A little more than a year ago the whole civilized world entered into a period of commercial, industrial and financial depression, which may not yet have completely spent its force; signs there are, however, that it is gradually passing away. While it is hardly disputable, that owing to the abundance and elasticity of her resources, Canada has suffered less than other nations, this depression has seriously affected our trade, producing an appreciable shrinkage in the public revenue, and calling for exceptional caution in the administration of our national affairs.

The rapid settlement of the new provinces call for new lines of transportation. The construction of the trans-continental railway has been vigorously pressed forward during the last year. The line was open for the carrying of the crops from Winnipeg to the Battle River, a distance of 675 miles.

Hudson Bay Route.

Exploratory surveys for a railway from the Western wheat fields to Hudson Bay are being pushed energetically.

Four parties have been at work since August last. Upon the report it will be possible to reach a decision as to both the route to be followed and the approximate cost. The provisions of the Dominion Lands Act of last session, for the sale of preemptions and purchased homesteads, has created a new source of revenue, that will be sufficient to bear the cost of the railway to Hudson Bay without burdening the ordinary revenue.

From Sept. 1, when the Act came into force, until Jan. 1, sales of preemptions and purchased homesteads have amounted to over two million acres, all subject to homestead settlement conditions.

The total volume of immigration has not reached the high figure of previous years, but the number of those seeking homes on our unoccupied lands, has been fully maintained during the last season, and, owing to the ever closer supervision of the immigration branch of the public service, the character of these new inhabitants of Canada seems to be of the highest, and promises no small attention to the wealth of the country.

The Government of the United Kingdom having expressed its willingness to include a representative of Canada among its delegates to the conference held at Shanghai, to investigate the opium trade, my Government has been pleased to welcome an offer so significant of Canada's growing importance and on its recommendation the Government of the United Kingdom has accordingly appointed a member of the Dominion Parliament to be a member of the commission.

Representatives of Canada participated lately in the permanent establishment and organization of the International Institute of Agriculture, with its headquarters at Rome, an event of interest to our country, in whose economic system agriculture plays so great a part. It is gratifying to note that among the forty-eight states adhering to the Institute, recognition of Canada's agricultural importance was shown by election of our representatives to some of the highest offices of the institute.

The Sicilian Calamity.

The appalling calamity which has befallen Sicily and Southern Italy, and caused a total destruction of life and property absolutely unprecedented and unequalled in the long series of historic disasters, has induced my Government to offer assistance for the immediate relief of the hundreds of thousands of sufferers, who were helpless against famine and all its consequent horrors. I confidently hope you will approve its action.

In pursuance of an announcement made during the concluding session of last Parliament, a commission was appointed to examine the various lines of railway connected with the Intercolonial Railway, and which might become valuable feeders thereto. The report of this commission has been received and will be placed before you.

The commissioner appointed for investigating the conduct of officials in the Department of Marine and Fisheries has concluded his labor, but has not yet reported. His report, however, is expected at an early date, and when received will be placed in your hands.

A measure will be submitted to you, based upon similar legislation enacted in 1906 by the Parliament of the United Kingdom, aiming at the repression of the payment of secret commissions and gratuities both in public and private business.

You will be asked to consider measures relative to insurance, the civil service, immigration, naturalization and other subjects.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The accounts of the last year will be laid before you. The estimates for the coming year will be submitted at an early date; they have been prepared with a due regard for economy consistent with the requirements of the public service.

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I pray Divine Providence that it may guide your deliberations, and that they may tend to a further increase in the prosperity of our country and the well-being of our people.

A MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Origin of the Doleful Messages From the Baker.

A story told by Dr. Robertson Nicoll in The British Weekly of the man who saw in a dream his own epitaph written upon a tombstone recalls the shocks and thrills which the good people of Reading experienced when that Berkshire town was younger. Mysterious messages were conveyed to the townspeople, inscribed upon their bread. One old lady found upon the bottom of her loaf a death's head and cross-bones. So terrified was she at what she regarded as a terrible omen that she took to her bed and died. Another person found on his bread the words "Died Sept. 20,' with the year fortunately missing, while to a third came the word "Resurgam." This latter cryptic message was submitted to a wise man, who inferred that nothing occult was implied, but that it was the baker's way of politely intimating that bread might rise in price. These and like mysteries threw the whole town into a panic.

Light came unexpectedly. The first step carried the investigators to the hallowed acre about St. Giles' church; the second led them to a baker's oven. Alterations at the church had necessitated the removal of several large tombstones of a date too ancient to admit of their being claimed by kinsfolk of the dead. Now, the church warden at the time was the town's chief baker, and he looked with longing upon those fine flat stones, for his oven sadly needed a new bottom. The desire to possess them grew irresistibly upon him, and, winking at scruples and parochial duty, he at last carried the treasures at dead of night to his bakehouse. There they were built into the oven. But, as murder will out, so will graven memorials of the dead. The stones were accidentally fixed with their inscription upward to print their story upon the bread which the unjust parochial steward baked and sold.

Queer Story of a Grave.

A curious barren mound is to be seen in Montgomery (Wales) churchyard. Whatever the cause, there is plainly to be seen a strip of sterility in the form of a cross among a mass of verdure. With the mound a melancholy legend is connected. It is called "Robert's Grave," and the story is that beneath this barren hillock lie the remains of an innocent man who was hanged on mistaken evidence. It is said that while the man stood on the gallows with the rope round his neck he solemnly declared, as a proof of his innocence, that grass should never grow on his grave. And even so it was and is. Any one who attempts to frustrate the fulfillment of this prophecy by sowing grass on this spot pays the penalty with his life. Instances are given of individuals who have been rashed enough to do so and have met their doom soon afterward.

Chief of Investigation Department.

Sir Melville Macnaghten has been chief of the British Criminal Investigation Department for some five years, and looks as little like a Sherlock Holmes, or a policeman, as ever he did. Rather, he gives you the impression of a colonel of Hussars, not too long off the active list. Sir Melville is the son of an old chairman of John Company, and came straight from the management of the family estates in Bengal to be chief constable of the department of which he is now the head. He is one of the not many Etonians who have made remarkable policemen. Sir Melville hides official keenness and sternness under an old-fashioned charm and courtesy which is recognized by the class which has most reason to hate him. He never forgets a face, and the criminal who looks for escape by hoping that Sir Melville has forgotten him stands a very poor chance.

A True Story.

The old lady who was in the habit of looking under the bed for burglars every night after many years actually found one, armed to the teeth, with dark lantern, jimmy and all the burglar's stock in trade. The old lady, after a careful scrutiny of the armed villain, addressed him with a bright, rather pleased voice as follows:

"Oh, there you are, are you? Why, I have been looking for you for years!"

The desperado made no response. Astonishment disarmed him more effectually than any weapon could have done. He crawled from under the bed, slunk out of the room, down the stairs and out of the house, and the old lady, quite happy, got into her bed and went to sleep.—London Strand Magazine.

Four to One.

An English officer in Malta stopped in riding to ask a native the way. He was answered by a shrug of the shoulders and a "No speak English."

"You're a fool then," said the officer.

But the man knew enough English to ask:

"Do you understand Maltese?"
"No."
"Do you know Arabic?"
"No."
"Do you know Italian?"
"No."
"Do you know Greek?"
"No."
"Then you four fools. I only one."

Assisting His Memory.

Bobby was spending the afternoon at his aunt's and for some moments had been gazing out of the window in a painfully thoughtful sort of way.

"What makes you so serious, Bobby," asked his aunt.

"Why, ma told me I must remember not to ask for anything to eat, and I am trying to remember it."

Blarney.

Could anything exceed the politeness of the Irish cabby? An old lady called for a cab and said to the driver:

"Help me to get in, my good man, for I'm a very old lady, you see."

"Begorrah, ma'am," was the reply, "no matter what age ye are, ye don't look it."

J. H. Jackson has been appointed superintendent at $3,0000 per year, of Queen Victoria Niagara Falls Park.

The Eternal Feminine.

Among some African tribes when a man professes his love for a woman and asks her in marriage she invariably refuses him at first lest it should appear that she had been thinking of him and was eager to become his wife. By so doing she maintains the modesty of her sex as well as tests the love and abases the pride of her lover. This policy is also intended to be of use to the woman in her married life, as, should there be quarreling and the husband threaten to send her away, she can remind him of how he made repeated professions of his love and urgently pressed his suit before she consented to become his wife.

Meteors.

In Chinese literature there is mention of meteors which fell in 644 B.C. The oldest known meteorite which was seen to fall is now on exhibition at Ensisheim, Alsace, Germany. In 1492 it came crashing down through the air with a roar that prostrated the peasantry with fright. It buried itself deeply in the earth. It weighed 260 pounds and hangs to-day in the parish church.

25TH ANNIVERSARY OF S.O.E. LODGE WAS CELEBRATED

Annual Banquet Was Held Last Evening—Ladies and Gentlemen in Attendance—An Excellent Programme.

The twenty-fifth anniversary of Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England, was celebrated last evening by the holding of a banquet in their hall, Hunter street. This annual event was somewhat different to those held in the past, inasmuch as the wives and lady friends of the members were invited to be present.

There were about one hundred ladies and gentlemen who sat down to a most excellently prepared English dinner. The tables were prettily arranged and looked very attractive. Too much praise cannot be given Mr. Thos. Hooper, the caterer, for the quick and efficient manner in which the dainty viands were served.

After everyone had partaken of the many good things provided, Mr. E A. Peck, who acted as chairman, proposed the toast to the King, which was honored by everyone standing and heartily singing the National Anthem. This was the only toast, the remainder of the evening being given to a programme of rare excellence

In his opening remarks, the chairman said that he greatly appreciated the honor which had been done him in asking him to preside at the annual banquet of the Sons of England. He referred briefly to the history of the Society. It was organized in August 1883, when twelve Englishmen met in Peterborough for organization. Since then many changes have taken place. Of the first twelve members, only one now survived, Bro. Henry Manley who was present at the banquet. The membership of Lansdowne Lodge now numbered two hundred. They had a splendid lodge room where many lonely Englishmen had been made welcome.

The principles of the society were those of kindness and union with the British Empire. It was to the British Empire that they looked for freedom and it was to the British Empire that all nations looked to as the example of freedom and of liberty.

The numbers then introduced were as follows;

Instrumental solo—Mrs Greenslade.
Vocal duet—Messrs J King, and W. A Greenslade.
Recitation—Mr Johns.
Banjo solo—Mr J Clarke.
Vocal solo—Mr W A Greenslade.
Recitation—Mr R Tivey.
Vocal solo—Mr J King.
Reading—Mr Johns
Vocal solo—Mr J King.
God Save the King.

The committee who had charge of the arrangements and who deserve great credit for the success of the affair consisted of Messrs S A Oke, Wm Taylor, Chris Wood, Rich Waram, W Shiner and H Lang.

FIRE DAMAGED COACHES OF THE GRAND TRUNK

Special to the Review.

Lindsay, Jan 21— Fire broke out in two Grand Trunk cars a passenger coach and a baggage car, lying on a siding near the freight sheds this morning and eight hundred dollars damage was done.

The circumstances surrounding the origin of the fire are suspicious. about 9 o'clock the cars were inspected and the fires which are kept lit were properly 'banked.' There was very little chance of the fire originating from the stoves. Besides Driver Bell of the fire brigade states decisively that the fire started at the opposite end of the cars to where the stoves were.

It was about two o'clock this morning that the alarm was made. Jack Martin noticed the flames and ran to the fire hall and sounded the alarm placed on the outside of the door. The brigade responded immediately and were at the scene of the fire in quick time.

MANY CASES IN DIVISION COURT

Being Held To-day Before Judge Weller — Result of an Assault Case

Division Court is being held to-day before His Honor Judge Weller. A large number of cases are being heard. Among the cases being heard is one of a Bridgenorth young man sueing another one of the same place to recover damages incurred by injuries sustained in a fracas while the two were returning from the city one Saturday evening.

PORT HOPE MAY GET INDUSTRY

If things go as expected, Port Hope will have a new industry, thanks largely to the efforts in that direction of the Board of Trade.

While as yet, the movement is still in the initial stages where too much publicity would be of no use, would be fatal, perhaps it may be said that the proposed factory will employ 85 hands of the very skilled variety.

The demands of the concern are not at all heavy, and may be even less than at first stated. Two prominent members of the Board of Trade are now out of town on this mission

It is said that several other towns are after the same —Port Hope Times.

ENTERTAINED THE CHILDREN

The officers and teachers of the George street Sunday school entertained the children of the Primary and Cradle Roll departments last evening. They were given a sumptuous supper in the Sunday school room, after which a programme of rare excellence was given.

REFERRED TO CONGREGATION

A joint meeting of the Property Committee of the Park street church and the officers of the South City Athletic Association was to have been held last night, but it was postponed until next Wednesday evening. The matter will be referred to the Park street congregation and there is little doubt but what they will approve of the scheme to let the association have the use of the old church.

OF INTEREST TO CITIZENS

Mr W St Pierre, the well known ladies' and gentleman's tailor of Montreal announces that his representative, Mr Herlihy will be at the Oriental from about January 25 to 26th, inst, with a full selection of the latest spring and summer goods and styles. In order to assure perfect satisfaction Mr St Pierre's fitter, Mr. Oliver, will call at a later date to try on such garments as may have been ordered. Mr St Pierre invites his customers and others interested in high class tailoring to call or phone making appointment.

Streets Slippery

The streets are in bad condition as a result of the rain and they are very slippery in spots. A large amount of sand has been sprinkled on the pavements.

BOYS OF Y.M.C.A. GAVE EXHIBITION

One of the greatest events of the season took place last night when the boys of the Y.M.C.A. put on an exhibition of their gymnasium work. The boys were greeted with a record audience which taxed the capacity of the gymnasium gallery.

A most interesting event was the dumb-bell drill by the business boys, while the school boys did themselves credit in their marches and apparatus work.

The races and games proved lots of excitement and a great deal of amusement.

The blind man's pillow fight created much laughter and the ladies' walking race, which was a burlesque was won by Miss Leslie Gurney, although the rules of heel and toe were not strictly enforced by the judges. The costumes of the ladies were varied and picturesque.

The boys deserve great credit for the care indicated in their preparation for the entertainment, and the large audience were greatly pleased with the exhibition.

At the conclusion of the exercises the Junior School Boys beat the Business boys in an interesting basketball game.

THEATRICAL

The Man and His Mate

H. R. Durant's play "A Man and His Mate," in which the noted English actress, Hilda Spong, is being starred by Leander Sire, manager of the Bijou Theatre, New York, comes to the Grand Opera House, Peterborough on Wednesday, January 27th, for one night engagement. The theme of Mr. Durant's play is that for every woman in the world there is a mate, and that eventually, come what will, when she hears the call to the mate, she will respond. The role of Betty Breckenridge gives Miss Spong the greatest opportunity of her artistic career, and she has made a success in it that will soon place her among the foremost stars.

She has a most adequate company for her support, a complete new scenic and electrical equipment, and every aid that can come from experienced management, good taste and a lavish production.

It looks like one of the big successes of the present season.

CANADA'S SHARE

The first step in the strengthen- of imperial relations in what may be called their second stage, or age, in the development or solidarising of the British Empire so far as Canada is concerned, is that now taken by Hon. George E. Foster, who has put the following upon the first Order Paper of the new Parliament;—

"The first day's order paper of the House of Commons contains seventy-eight notices of motion, of which thirty-three stand in the name of the Hon. George E. Foster. One of these asserts that in view of the great and varied resources, the geographical position and national environment and of that spirit of self-respect which alone befits a strong and growing people, Canada should no longer delay in assuming her proper share of the responsibility and financial burden incident in the suitable protection of her extended coast line and great seaports."—The Witness.

Thus to the Conservative party belongs the credit of once more leading Canadian patriots in the way they should go. At the present time such a step is especially opportune in view of the fact of what Lord Milner very correctly described as the unconscious drifting of Canada towards the U.S. Strange to say, no reference to this vital problem of the present and of the immediate future appeared in Sir Wilfrid's programme as embodied in the address. We are aware that our French-Canadian compatriots do not wish their individuality to be merged in a federated Empire. Why not if the end and object is a great gain to liberty and to the cause of a great Empire? The French under the name of Normans conquered Britain and blended the northern Kelt, the Teuton and the French, into what is only now maturing into an empire. Why should the descendents of those same French refuse to ratify the work of their great ancestors? We owe it to Great Britain that we should bear our share of the burden of empire but even above that we owe it to ourselves. Until then we recognize the fact of Empire in a practical and permanent way, can we in any sense be said to be favorable to its coming? The statement that we are doing our Imperial share in developing ourselves is merely a subterfuge. We cannot and must not be allowed to hang back in the great duty of the hour. He that is not for it is against it.

Young Man Arrested—Said to Have Obstructed Conductor on Lindsay Special Last Night

At the police court this morning a young man was charged with unlawfully obstructing Conductor Geo Jobbitt while carrying out his duties on the special train from Lindsay last night. The prisoner pleaded not guilty but the prosecution was not ready to proceed, so the case was enlarged until tomorrow morning at 10.

It is alleged that the young man refused to pay his fare when demanded to do so by the conductor. A scuffle is said to have ensued. The prisoner was taken in hand by the police on the arrival of the train at the local depot.

A Protest

Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Do you not think it is about time to call a halt in the overabundance of game news and space occupied by the same in our city papers. Who cares whether Keene beat Norwood, or Norwood carried away the laurels from Keene. I ask in the name of common sense why the amount of space and prominence is given to such trifling matters in every issue of our papers. Is there nothing else to fill your columns with but lengthy details of no particular interest unless to a few. Have mercy on a long suffering reading community and give us a little news from the outside world. How is our poor humanity getting along in Britain, France, Germany, in the Balkans, in Italy, Turkey and all the world over, where men are striving to rise and liberate themselves and others from the thralls of divers kinds of slavery. Let us know something about the inventions the discoveries, the scientific researches of the great men of all lands. For Heaven's sake let us not spend all our energies in reading about and engaging in all kinds of ball and lacrosse games.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

The Review Opens Its Columns to a Discussion of the Question of the Hour—Contributions Requested.

Editor of the Review

Sir,—I enclose the following extract knowing that your paper is always on the side of Woman and fair play.

BY JOHN C CUTLER,
Governor of Utah.

"Woman suffrage has been most successful as a practical expedient in Utah. In fact, it is no longer an experiment but an integral part of our civil life. Politics has been benefited by the refining influence of women, and instead of being unsexed or debased, the women have been broadened and bettered intellectually and socially through the study and practice of civic affairs entailed by the franchise.

Politically the influence of woman suffrage has been on the side of peace at the polls and the selection of better officials, resulting in a higher honesty of administration. Socially it has resulted in a more chivalrous regard for women and an unquestioned acknowledgement of their equality with men and consequently their right of participation in affairs of State. With the experience Utah has had, we should think not for a moment, of returning to the male suffrage system.

As to the probability of the expansion of woman suffrage into other States, I can merely say that every State ought to adopt it. Doubtless all of them will in time, but progress in this direction will necessarily be gradual, because it involves the overcoming of great and deep seated prejudice."

THE SONG OF THE SUFFRAGETTES
By Horace Dodd Gastit

"We are sisters, we are mothers,
We have brain,
Quite as big as is our brother.
In the main.
If your hear us in convention,
As we outline our intention,
There is scarcely need to mention
We are sane.

"We but seek emancipation
From the thrall.
We pay taxes to this nation,
One and all.
We are toilers, we are spinners,
And we cook our husband's dinners,
But you'd think us naught but sinners.
Conjugal.

"Fit for nothing but for darning
Frazzled socks,
Fit for knitting and for yarning
And for frocks.
You would think that we were idjits,
Fit for nothing but the fidgets,
Just a bunch of brainless midgets
In a box.

"Bring a cargo full of Dagoes
In a boat,
Or a gang of raw del Fuegos—
What a note.
And while we disfranchised suffer,
Every blessed foreign duffer—
Yes sir, every blooming bluffer—
Has a vote.

"Men who are quite devoid of knowledge,
As a mole,
Graduates from Murphy's college,
Bless your soul,
Jockeys, noodles, tipsy souses,
Bunco steerers, quacks, carousers,
If they happen to wear trousers,
Have the poll.

"'Tis true we're only women,
Much abused.
It is possible that swimmin'
We'd be bruised.
But we natheless have our choices—
Why in thunder have we voices,
Was it simply to make noises
When we are used?"

WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

Editor of the Review.

Sir—I am glad to find that the Review is taking up this, the greatest question of this or any other century since the Christian era began. The emancipation of women will be the greatest emancipation since the emancipation idea began with the poor blacks. The negro was the first to engage the attention of the humanitarians. Then came the Catholics in Ireland and the Quakers. Now it is Women's turn and what intelligent man or woman will deny the right and advantage of woman in such a movement? All honor to the Review for taking up this question and I hope the women of Peterborough will do their share in this great world-movement now going on and never stop until they have got the City Council the Board of Trade, and other societies to bring their influence to bear on Parliament now sitting. It will be a triumph for Liberty such as even the French Revolution never knew. An end to being patronized. We ask for justice and freedom.

Yours &c.
HOPE.

(From a Woman)

"Woman suffrage in Wyoming has demonstrated the fact that elections can pass off as quietly and orderly as funerals because of the restraining influence of the women at the polls. The voting places are clean and orderly and the women come, sometimes alone, sometimes with their baby carriages and often in family parties. There is no rough element hanging around the polls, and usually the women are represented among the clerks and judges of election.

Equal suffrage in this State has shown that women vote, on local questions at least, independently and always on the side of morality. On various occasions when the dominant party which is the Republican party here, nominate a man who is not what he should be as a citizen, husband and father, the women quickly pass the word along that he is to be "scratched" and this nearly always means his defeat.

The enfranchisement of women has proved that women are not anxious to get into office and public life unless some economic question forces them to do so. They occupy no more public places than in unenfranchised States, except the office of country schools superintendent, which a well established custom gives to women in Wyoming.

Woman suffrage in Wyoming has made it plain that all parties have to exercise more care in the selection of tickets because of the tendency of the women to rise up and wield the ballot against undesirable men and in defense of laws which affect the home and the morals of the community. Equal suffrage has proved also that in a short time the voting of women causes no more comment than the exercising of the franchise by the men. It is also educational in that it has brought into the home as a topic for conversation the event of the community, State and country, whereas formerly the family talk savored more of neighborhood gossip. Wyoming women are not less womanly than women of other States, and equality of political rights is a success."

SPORTING NEWS

IT TOOK OVERTIME FOR LAKEFIELD TO DEFEAT WEST ENDS LAST NIGHT

The ice last night was slow and sticky at the Brock street rink and the quality of hockey in the city league games was by no means up to the standing.

Combination play was practically impossible and fast individual play was also out of the question as the players were unable to tear off any speedy turns on their skates.

The opening fixture was between T. A.S. and Belmonts, the abstainers winning by 5—0, and the second one between Lakefield and West Ends, the former winning by 3—2, after playing twenty minutes overtime. There was considerable strenuous play in both games and Referee E. W. Wassor handed out numerous penalties. The play, however, was never inclined to be of the rough house variety and any little differences between the opposing players were of a trifling character.

T. A. S.—BELMONTS.

At the beginning of the T.A.S.—Belmont game the latter seven put up a good argument and it appeared as though they would be able to hold their own pretty well. They did manage to keep the cold water outfit down to scoring one goal, although on the play the green and white men should have been able to register more. In the second half T. A. S. strung in four more while the Belmonts found it impossible to get the puck past Crough.

Coughlin, one of the T.A.S. juniors, played rover for the senior team last night and with Giroux did stellar work for the winners. Meyers and Hall were the most conspicuous for the Belmonts. The latter was seized with a bad cramp in the leg in the first half and had to retire, Henry evening up.

Waram was the man to set the penalty pace, being given 1 minute.

Neither team seemed to be able to get their bearings around the nets and no scoring was done for 15 minutes when Coughlin notched one on a clever rush. 1—0.

Eccleston and Giroux were given 2 minutes each for mixing it up. Galvin, Giroux and Meyers were all penalised during the half.

SECOND HALF.

Henry was benched for 2 min. T.A.S. got its first goal in 2 min. 2—0. Ecclestone and Quigley were each benched for 3 min. Giroux scored. Time 11 min. 3—0. Ecclestone and Quigley were again given 3 min. for becoming to intimate. Meyers did 2 min.

Giroux scored again in 2 min. 4—0.

Quigley got the last goal in 3 min. 5—0.

The teams were;

LAKEFIELD—WEST ENDS.

It was the general opinion before this game that Lakefield would win with some to spare, on account of their dangerous looking line up, but the West Ends gave them the run of their lives and the Cement Town seven just managed to win out by 3—2 after twenty minutes extra play.

The teams lined up as follows;

Lakefields.		West Ends.
	Goal
Crawford		Halpin
	Point
M. Sabatino		Wade
	Cover
Quinn		Dobson
	Rover
Simpson		Rose
	Centre
F. Sabatino		Mchern
	Right.
Marvin		Shortt
	Left
Quigley		Pentland

In the opening period neither team was able to score and at the call of time it was 1—1.

Ten minutes were played overtime neither team scoring and in the next ten Lakefield scored 2 and West End one, making the final score—

BLAKE AND HARRISON MATCHED TO WALK HERE JANUARY 30th

Six Hour Walk at Auditorium Roller Rink—A Long Looked for Match—3 Hours Afternoon and 3 Hours Evening.

Saturday afternoon and evening, January 30th, will see an interesting sporting event, when Jim Harrison, the crack local pedestrian will meet J. G. Blake, of Syracuse, the champion colored walker of America, who is picked as one of the six men from the United States to represent that country in the six day international go as you please to be held in Madison Square Gardens in March. The contest will be a six hours' matched race and will be held from 2 to 5 in the afternoon and from 6 to 11 in the evening. It will be for $100 a side and a division of the gate receipts and will take place at the Auditorium Roller Rink, George street. This should be one of the biggest sporting fixtures of the season on the local calendar, and particular interest is lent it by reason of Blake and Harrison walking such a close and sensational finish at the six day walking tournament here last spring, when the two finished with so little between after thirty-six hours of the hardest kind of battling. Since then Harrison has acquired a fine turn of speed, and can step over six miles an hour quite conveniently. He may be looked to to give Blake a very busy six hours, and the race should prove a great sporting card.

Previous to the evening walk a tug of war for the championship of Peterborough county will be held between the champion Quakers and Auburns. It will be for the handsome silver trophy now held by the Quakers.

KEENE DEFEATED NORWOOD IN TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

Special to the Review.

Keene, Jan 21—The first game between Norwood and Keene in group No 1, of the Trent Valley League, was played in Keene last night before a very large and appreciative audience, resulting in a victory for the home team. The half time score was 4-3 in favor of Keene and when the curtain dropped on the finish of the last act, Keene had netted 5 more while Norwood only got one.

It was a fine exhibition of hockey and Keene won on their merits. Their pretty combination brought them a goal whenever necessary.

Every man played his game and there never was a slow minute, the boys going the full time without a stop. The game was a very clean one, only three men being penalized, and one of the home team and two of the visitors. These resulted in accidental trips.

Russell Pierce, official referee, handled the game with satisfaction, to both teams, and his decisions were never disputed.

R Weir and 'Kruger' McCarthy were always in the limelight for the home team, while Doherty for the visitors played a wonderful game in goal

Keene's line-up was:

Point—Dickson.
Cover—Windall.
Centre—R Weir.
Rover—McCarthy.
Left wing—S Dixedall.
Right wing—L Walsh.

HOCKEY LEAGUE AT COLLEGIATE

A hockey league has been formed among the pupils of the Collegiate Institute and games are being played every Monday and Wednesday. Three teams are playing and a triple schedule is being run off. Quite an interest has been worked up among the pupils

CLINCHED GAME AT A CRITICAL TIME

Lindsay Scored 3 Goals When Peterborough Had Only 4 Men on Ice---Locals Defeated by 7-3 With Half Time Score 4-2---Erratic Work of Referee Moxon.

The local intermediates received the first reverse of the season last night when they were defeated by Lindsay in the latter town by 7 goals to 3. The home team led at half time by 4-2. As a result of the contest, Lindsay now assumes the lead in the district with the locals trailing right at their heels. The Midgets have only one game left to play and that is with Peterborough here on Tuesday, on the other hand the local boys have three and it is necessary that they win them all so as to have a chance to play off with the Scugog seven for district honors.

The match last night was played on ice that was not altogether conductive to good hockey. At the start, it was sticky and the teams had not been on very long before pools of water began to form. The Lindsayites seemed to be right at home in the heavy going which it proved a rather big handicap to the visitors and especially to Ray and Moore. The latter wore tube skates and at every stroke the blades would sink nearly to the boards.

Despite the condition of the ice the game was very fast, and there was not anything that looked like dirty work if you regard trips as one of the insidents of the game. As a matter of fact the boys were too busy playing the puck to bother with retaliation for hard body checks.

Both teams checked back persistently and effectively. There were only a few spectular feats during the evening.

Moore and Dusty cut loose several lone hand excursions in the second half that dazzled the Midgets a few, but they did not result in any scores. Koyle tried to duplicate their stunts but was checked to a standstill.

The contest was witnessed by an immense crowd. It was one of the largest that ever gathered to see a hockey match in that town. About 150 supporters accompanied the locals on the special.

The best man of the evening was probably Referee J H Moxon, of Toronto. He performed a Santa Claus act in the first half when he presented the Midgets with three goals and practically the game by ruling off Moore, Dusty and Parnell all inside a minute for something which hardly anyone else in the rink save himself knew the reason. It was during the absence of these players that the home team put three counters by Derocher and clinched the game. Moxon's work last night proved him to be a most incapable official. He has officiated in several games in which the locals have taken part this season and his work was never up to the standard. To start with, a man to be a hockey referee, should be able to at least skate, and this he cannot do, he is always in the way of the players. It is to be hoped that the OHA will send a referee for Tuesday's match.

For the winners, Koyle and Stoddart were probably the pick while the rest of their team mates were all good and not very far behind.

For Peterborough, Derocher in goal pulled off some wonderful shots, at close range. His work was one of the features of the game. Glover and Moore were both as effective as ever, although the latter's skates troubled him considerable. On the line every man was on the job, all the while. The heavy ice made it impossible to use their combination rushes which proved so effective in Belleville on Monday.

The teams and officials were as follows;

Lindsay—Taylor, 2 mins.
Peterborough—Dusty, 30 secs.
Lindsay—Randall, 12 mins.

PENALTIES.

First half—Moore 2; Glover, Dusty, Parnell, Stoddart.

Second half—Glover, Parnell, Sullivan and Moore.

THE PLAY.

It was 8.30 when the teams lined-up Parnell drew the rubber and Ray broke away for a pretty rush only to be stopped by Koyle. Both goals were assaulted in turn. It took Ray two minutes to net the first counter after a combined rush with Rose.

Lindsay—0.
Peterborough—1.

The game was fast from the start. Lindsay came back with a vengeance but the Pete's defence was on the job. Glover was boarded for bodying Stoddart. The visitors took a whirl at it and Newton & Co. had it pretty lively for a while. Dusty put out his foot to stop the disc and Randall stumbled over with the result that Ben was given a 2 minute rest. He was immediately followed by Parnell and Moore. This gave the Midgets a big advantage which they did not fail to realize. Taylor on a pass from Randall, scored in 12 mins.

Lindsay—1
Peterborough—1

Lindsay rushed from the face off and Taylor batted in another from a scrimmage in front of the net. Time 30 seconds.

Lindsay—2.
Peterborough—1.

At this juncture Dusty came on. but before he got over to the scene of hostilities Randall had placed another behind Derocher. Time 30 sec.

Lindsay—3.
Peterborough—1.

Parnell came on as Stoddart took a rest for slashing Ray. The play was pretty even with Peterborough having a slight advantage. Moore came on again but he was sent back again in a minute for slashing Cotey. Rose and Parnell combined nicely the former netting the rubber on a neat shot. Time 5 minutes.

Lindsay—3.
Peterborough—2.

Moore came on again and the team was now at full strength. Randall tore down the fence and scored by a pretty shot. Time 4 1-2 minutes.

Lindsay—4.
Peterborough—2.

Half time was called shortly after with no change in the score.

SECOND HALF

The play had only started when Stoddard ran into Moore and hurt his nose, Glover was boarded for bodying Taylor. While Rellie was off Taylor and Randall combined nicely, the former shot and Derocher blocked but Taylor batted it in before he could clear. Time 10 minutes.

Lindsay—5
Peterborough—2.

Taylor scored again in two minutes on a pass from Randall in the corner.

Lindsay—6.
Peterborough—2.

Dusty got one back in 30 seconds from a scrimmage in front of the Lindsay citadel.

Lindsay—6.
Peterborough—3.

Sullivan was benched for tripping Moore after the latter had circled the entire Midget outfit. Parnell got another sentence on the fence and was closely followed by Moore. The play was up and down all the time. Finally in 12 minutes, Randall wiggled through for another.

Score—
Lindsay—7.
Peterborough—3.

The visitors worked hard for another tally. Dusty got a couple of chances only to lose the rubber in the slush. Time was called with Peterborough pressing hard.

NOT JEFFRIES OF 4 YEARS AGO

San Francisco, Cal, Jan. 17. — A great ovation was tendered Jim Jeffries when he made his appearance on the stage of the Wigwam Theatre afternoon. And Jeffries fully appreciated the popular demonstration. To say that he smiled in a frank boyish way would not half express it. His smile was as wide as his own broad shoulders. Jack Johnson's "golden smile" would not be a circumstance to the once champion's grin of satisfaction.

Jeffries does not display the wealth of muscle he did in his fighting years The shoulders are not as hummocky as the shoulders that compelled respect from Fitzsimmons, Sharkey, Corbett and others. They may acquire that bee-hive appearance again if the champion tacks up his bag punching and his flirtation with the heavy sand sack but I doubt it.

MORE LIKE SULLIVAN.

In any case, Jeffries right now looks more like the John L. Sullivan of 1886 than the Jeffries of half a dozen years ago. He has lost the strong man lines that were a heritage of his boilermaking days. He is fat muscled and rotund of frame. He looks as any old-time athlete looks when he has fallen upon easy years and is approaching middle age.

Now as to how he works. The introduction, the shouting and the bowing over, big Jim grasped a skipping rope and glanced around the stage to make sure he had plenty of freedom. Then he began to skip, and the way he covered ground was simply marvelous. The rope whistled as Jeffries sprang this way, and that with catlike leaps. There was certainly no suggestion of stiff hinges about the performance and the shrewd fellows peering from the wings whispered that the big fellow had not lost his speed, whatever else time might have robbed him of. From the skipping rope Jim passed to the dumb bells. With one of these things in each hand he danced to and fro venting hooks and uppercuts on empty air, and every lounge and leap was the effort of a man who seemed to relish his work. Fight, or no fight, big Jim felt he was on trial for his life and he put forward his best foot and his best fist.

PUT ON GLOVES.

That was the end of "Pastimes in the gymnasium," as some one called it, and now Sam Berger, demure looking in a boxing "creation" of pale blue and white, was brought on the stage, all gloved and ready for the event of the afternoon. Jeffries also encased his hands in gloves and with Eddie Smith, of Oakland, to cry "let her go," and call a halt, the two big fellows stamped around and made passes at each other. The rounds woefully short and Berger did most of the leading, Jeffries explained this later. "I haven't had on a glove for four years and I was never a parlor sparrer," said Jim. "I want to work into the thing gradually. If I commence slashing out before I become accustomed to this kind of thing, I might hit too hard and I don't want to do that."

Open Air Rinks Temporarily Out of Business—No Curling Games

The church league game had to be called off last night on account of the condition of the Park street rink. This soft weather is playing havoc with the open air rinks and they are all covered with water. It is also affecting the covered rinks and the scheduled curling games could not be played last night. The going was heavy at Brock street for the city league games, but hockey has often been played under more adverse conditions.

How Far a Waiter Walks.

Have you any idea of how much ground a waiter covers in performing his day's work? At a certain London hotel which has a long, narrow dining-room the matter was recently put to the test, and the head waiter was armed with a pedometer when he went on duty at 7 a. m. When he had retired after the dinner hour he had covered ten miles and a fraction. He asserts that this long record of distance covered in a single room is largely the result of the telephone and the social life of the hotel. He not only must seat all patrons, but he personally carries to them the names of callers and all summonses to the telephone. The latter, he says, is one of the greatest annoyances the head waiter undergoes.

GUARDING LORD MINTO.

Viceroy's Life Is an Exciting One In India These Days.

That Lord Minto's life is threatened is to put the matter but mildly.

For the leaders of the insurrectionary movement in India, who are responsible for that spread of outrage and crime there that has led to the it would create among the dusky military law by the British authorities, realise full well the sensation which it wuld create among the dusky millions of the Deccan if it were possible to assassinate the viceroy.

Of course, every possible precaution is taken by the authorities to provide for the safety of the earl, and he is guarded at all times by picked white officers of the Indian police. Still more reliable for purposes of protection are, however, the native orderlies. These are officers chosen by their comrades for the purpose, and responsible to them for the viceroy's safety.

There are certain regiments who have the privilege of furnishing these orderlies, and the native officers and men regard it as a point of honor that their representatives on the staff of the viceroy should act as his shield. The orderlies know exactly what is expected of them, and they cannot be diverted from their duty, even by the commands of the viceroy himself. They have no concern in life other than the absolute fidelity to their trust, that is to say, the safety of their charge, and their quiet but incessant watchfulness at all hours, even upon occasions when danger seems least to threaten, has prevented many an unrecorded fanatical outrage in the past, and will protect Lord Minto therefrom in the future, so long as he remains in office, at what is now undeniably a post of danger.

It may be remembered that at least one of Lord Minto's predecessors as viceroy of India has succumbed to the hand of an assassin, namely, the Earl of Mayo, who was killed in the Andaman Islands.

MORE DEADLY.

Opium Is Mild Compared to Green Cordial of France.

The importance of the temperance crusade in Canada is mild compared to the absolute necessity for ridding France, and especially Paris, of the curse of absinthe. In fact, public men of that country say it would be a blessing if the working-men of the republic could be persuaded to turn to the intoxicants used in the Dominion, such as beer, whisky, and wine.

It is argued that whatever ill effects overindulgence in these may have it is mild compared to the devastating horrors of the green cordial that saps the brain and in a few years converts a strong, healthy, normal man into a maniac or murderer, or both.

The effect of absinthe is at first lulling. Some of the narcotic power of the drug first exercises its influence. Then comes an exhilaration, an excitement. One glass is nothing; it is only a temptation, an incentive. Seated at his table, oblivious of everything but the green poison before him, the victim of the habit pours the seductive drug into his veins. It acts like the draught from the opium smoker's pipe or the sensation from the needle of the morphine user.

But it is said by neurologists that the effect is deadlier because sleep is slower in coming. The poppy taken from the pipe or from the needle induces unconsciousness, but the absinthe drinker goes on from draught to draught until finally he is so completely out of himself that no extreme of crime, daring or abasement daunts him.

CROWNED HEADS AND CLOISTER.

Kings and Queens Who Would Get as Far From the Throne as Possible.

Viewed as a profession, being a king, queen or prince must be one of the hardest, most unenviable jobs on earth. How can this be proved? Easily, by the fact that, though the most honorable and one of the best-paid positions, yet great numbers are always "throwing up the job" of wearing a crown.

Whenever a king or a queen feels that pride and conscience will permit, he or she promptly descends from the throne and gets as far away from court as it is possible to go, which usually means the convent or monastery.

It is said on excellent authority that Queen Maria Cristina, mother of King Alfonso of Spain, will take the veil within the next few months. She has long said that as soon as her son was happily married and an heir to the throne established she would escape from the hated ceremony of court forever.

The Dowager Queen of Portugal would leave the court and the world at once if the tangled state of the little nation's affairs did not make it her duty to help keep the tottering dynasty on the throne.

If Mexico were to think better of its murder of the Emperor Maximilian, and decide to re-establish a monarchy, it would have to seek its new emperor in a monastery. A few weeks ago Prince Augustine de Iturbide the heir to the throne, joined the Third Order of St. Francis.

In the fashionable society of most of the European capitals Prince Augustine was prominent for many years, but, as in the case of the Grand Duchess Elizabeth of Russia, an assassination preyed on his mind and after a recent severe illness he decided to retire from the world.

The other day the Cardinal Archbishop of Cologne received in private audience a Dominican monk, who gave his name as Brother Raymond. The cardinal and the monk remained for some time in prayer.

Many were surprised at the unusual honor done to a poor priest, until it was whispered that the monk was none other than Prince Charles of Lowenstein, in whose veins flows the blood of kings and crusading princes.

It is only a few weeks since his highness took the vows. Several reasons have been given for the step. One is that the prince is a victim of unrequited love, the other that he is disgusted at the small progress made by his antidueling campaign.

The first reason is rather absurd, for the prince is nearly 75 years old and is still passionately devoted to the memory of his late wife.

The second reason may have something in it, for though the prince found converts in the Kings of Saxony and Wurtemberg and the Grand Duke of Hesse, it was known that the Kaiser himself disapproved secretly of the Antidueling League and the crusade has made comparatively little progress.

Four of his children are in convents; one is a poor sister of charity of St. Franciscan of Aachen; another is in a lonely convent among the mountains of Bohemia; a third is in a Hungarian convent of the strictest rule, and a fourth is a Benedictine nun at Ryde, in the Isle of Wight.

The last has as her companion the widow of an ex-King of Portugal, the Archduchess Adelaide, who married the Duke of Bragana, after he had been forced to abdicate from the Portuguese throne.

The Modern Herring.

"Extract of smoke," said the canner, dipping his brush into a pot of brown fluid.

"Extract of smoke?" repeated the dazed reporter.

"Smoke extract," said the canner.

He took up a fresh herring, painted it with a dark mixture and laid it on a board, beside a long, long line of brother herrings.

"Now, in the past," he explained, "you smoked herrings by hanging them up for days in smokehouses wherein smoldered fires of costly aromatic woods. That process was slow and expensive; we have quite improved it out of existence. We paint our herring now with this really quite harmless chemical extract of smoke—a coal-tar product—and as soon as he is dry he is ready for the market."

The reporter tasted one of the herrings.

"But this isn't half as good as the smoked herrings of my boyhood," he protested.

"Not as good, perhaps," agreed the canner, "but ever so much more profitable."

Jerome's Appearance In Pantomine.

Jerome K. Jerome, the humorist and playwright, whose successful play, "The Passing of the Third-Floor Back," has been transferred to Terry's Theatre, London, knows from long experience much of the ins and outs of stage life. One of the early vicissitudes of his life as an actor was to be offered his choice of playing the part of either a soldier or a donkey in a pantomine—a real donkey with four legs. After careful consideration he thought the red coat the more becoming disguise, and chose the part of the soldier. Apparently he made a mistake, from the point of view of success, at all events, for a few days afterwards the manager came to him and said, "You made a great mistake, Jerome, in not taking the part of the donkey. It would just suit you, and there's five shillings a week more in it."

TIRING OUT THE STAG

A "Deer Take" In England's Oldest Deer Park.

HOUNDED UNTIL HE GASPS.

The Game Animal Is Mercilessly Driven Hither and Yon, Through Lake and Wood, Until He Falls Exhausted, Though Undaunted.

Parts of certain great parks in England, such as Eridge park, the oldest deer park in the kingdom, are kept practically wild in their original forest state, while near to the castle is the cultivated home park. Eridge park contains 3,000 acres and is the only estate in England, with one exception, where deer taking with hounds is still carried on. Eridge park once formed part of the royal chase. It still retains the wild beauty it then had, although there are more than seventy miles of lovely drives in it, not counting those of the home park.

Deer taking is entirely different from deer hunting. The object is to take the animals alive so that they may be transferred to the home park to be fattened and eventually turned into venison.

The sport is by no means as tame as it sounds. A seven to nine year old red deer is an awkward customer to tackle. He is powerful, agile and well armed with antlers and hoofs.

When there is to be a deer taking at Eridge park the meet is planned for 11 o'clock at the park keeper's house. The underkeepers, with fresh hounds, are scattered through the park to head off the stag should he come their way.

The underkeepers having spread themselves over the park, the park keeper, with the "field" (those following mounted and on foot) set off to find a deer which looks ready for fattening purposes. Having selected one, it is the work of the keeper to get him separated from the rest and then to slip his hound and set after him as hard as we can gallop. The pace, of course, is tremendous, and as rabbit holes abound the risk of a fall is even betting or, rather, a trifle of odds on the certainty of our "taking a toss." As our deer bounds away with his wonderfully easy, elastic movements he makes for the wildest part of the park, expecting to escape his pursuers.

In one place after another he is met with hidden keepers and fresh hounds, till with the instinct of his species he turns to what he thinks is his sanctuary—the lakes. With open mouth and tongue outhanging he plunges a good fifteen feet into the water and swims for the opposite bank. Gasping and tiring, he lands on what he hopes is freedom from his pursuers. But, alas, no! Yet another fresh hound is after him. What can he do? He is too pumped with his already hard burst to face the hill before him.

He turns around and tears down through the bracken with a hound on each side of him, ready to pull him down if they get but half a chance. It is a dingdong race, under trees, through bogs and bracken, up and down dells and breaks, smashing headlong through everything, anything, to reach the shelter of the friendly water once again. With a mighty spring he is in again. For a moment there is breathing space, for now the keepers and hounds, yet some way off, are making for the poor beast, which is in the middle of the lake. Away he swims with graceful movement of his noble head, glancing all around at his pursuers, but with his mind fixed on his line of retreat. He reaches the shore, and, with dripping sides, he is out upon the bank.

Again he makes an effort to baffle and leave behind those clinging hounds that would bear him down. And now two great hounds are stretching themselves out to their utmost pace. Side by side they race after their tiring quarry; in another minute they will have him. The stag, however, manages to make a spurt, though he is now stiffening rapidly, and just reaches some park palings surrounding the big lake.

In an instant he has turned on his pursuers, and with head down and upraised fore leg he is prepared to fight to the death. A hound rushes in, but in a twinkling he is on his back, hurled away like a piece of wood. This checks the other hound, which dodges and bays around the stag. Seeing that things are now getting a bit too warm for him, the stag suddenly turns round and, smashing the palings like match wood, finds himself again in the icy water of the big lake. Away and away he swims, up this long stretch, the water seeming to receive him, for he swims the eastern length, three-quarters of a mile, and then lands at the far end while we follow on the shore. He swims till his feet touch the ground and stands facing us.

All we can do now is to end the situation as speedily as possible. A keeper deftly throws a rope with a loose knot over the stag's antlers. In a moment four burly keepers are hauling him out by the ropes. It is now a slow march to his feeding ground in the home park. Slowly the procession moves, never a slackening of the rope or the hold on the antlers. Through the gate dividing the parks he is brought, an unwilling prisoner, though undaunted. This ends the deer taking.—Town and Country.

COLLEGE NICKNAMES.

Some Popular With the Students—Objection Made to Others.

Some of the colleges have a great dislike to the way in which they are referred to commonly in connection with athletics. For instance, Wesleyan men don't like to be called "the Methodists," as they appear sometimes.

At the Naval academy there is a strong prejudice against being called "Annapolis." The navy men aren't particularly fond of "midshipmen." They believe the proper name for their institution is "the navy."

Columbia has a great distaste for the name of "Columbians" for their representatives in athletics or other public appearances. At the University of Chicago there is a dislike of the name "Chicago university," sometimes applied.

Although not so strongly opposed to it, students at Pennsylvania do not like the full title "University of Pennsylvania" as well as plain "Pennsylvania." "Penn" is preferred to either. "Maroons" for Chicago men, "Gophers" for Minnesota, "Badgers" for Wisconsin students, "Cornhuskers" for Nebraska, "Wolverenes" for Michigan, "Illini" for the men of Illinois—all are names that are popular at those colleges and are used by the men there in speaking of their own teams. Indeed, to a man unacquainted with nicknames the average statement regarding a conference college is puzzling because of the almost entire lack of straightout names.

THE DOCTORS.

Tribute to the Nobility of the Medical Profession.

To enter the medical profession is to find oneself in most noble company. When Dante was led by Virgil into the presence of "the master of them that know" he saw Aristotle surrounded by a group of the sages of antiquity. Look at them as they are introduced one by one, and you will see that a fourth of them bear names illustrious in medicine. To take note of but one—Hippocrates is there. The student will not turn to his pages now to learn what has to be taught in modern text books or class rooms. Yet he will do well to lay to heart the spirit that guided "the father of medicine" in drawing up the oath imposed on the students of the Hippocratic school. "With purity and with holiness," the candidate was made to swear, "I will pass my life and practice my art. Into whatever houses I enter I will go into them for the benefit of the sick, will abstain from every voluntary act of mischief and corruption."

In the long succession of those who have enlarged the bounds of his science the student will meet with a great army of men who have kept the spirit of that oath under higher sanctions than were open to the pioneers whom the mediaeval poet consigns to a place in his inferno because, though blameless of sin, they had not been baptized.—Sir Alexander Simpson in London Quiver.

The Old Egg.

"New York is no longer young and unsophisticated," said a man who has visited all the old world capitals. "She has now all the weariness and vice of Paris, London and Rome. They who still speak of New York as young, childish, innocent, remind me of Lord Exe of the Carlton.

"Lord Exe, at seventy, tried to lead the life of a youth of twenty-five. He dyed his hair, wore a corset and frequented the music halls, Piccadilly circus and the Burlington arcade. One afternoon as he drove from the Carlton in his brougham a member said, smiling:

"'There goes Exe. He told me over a whisky and soda just now that he felt as fresh as a two-year-old.'

"Another member sneered.

"'He probably meant a two-year-old egg,' he murmured."

Hugo and Merimee.

It is probable that with the exception of Byron no great literary genius ever was greeted with such a storm of vilification and abuse as Victor Hugo when he published "Les Miserables." While the book took the public literally off their feet, almost all Hugo's rivals united in condemning it and its author.

Prosper Merimee wrote in reference to a dinner given to Hugo at Brussels:

"Have you read Victor Hugo's speech at the dinner given to him by Belgian librarians and other scoundrels of Brussels? His statements were without depth, solidity or common sense. He is a man who intoxicates himself with words and does not take the trouble to think."

Victor Hugo retorted by writing to a friend, "M. Merimee is a man naturally vile."

As the Twig Is Bent.

"I hope you were a good little boy while at you aunt's and didn't tell any stories," said his mother.

"Only the one you put me up to, ma," replied her young hopeful.

"Why, what do you mean, child?"

"When she asked me if I'd like to have a second piece of cake I said, 'No, thank you; I've had enough.'"

WHERE PRETTY GIRLS LIVE.

Sir Francis Galton After Exhaustive Search Says "London."

Are the prettiest girls in Great Britain to be found in London? Mr. Francis Galton, who has studied the subject, says "Yes." The famous scientist forms this conclusion after years of careful study of the women of England. He invented a "beauty chart," which he worked when walking about the streets of the various cities.

When going out he took in his pocket a small piece of paper cut in the shape of a Maltese cross, but with only three arms, so that the paper was, in a way, divided into three sections. One of these sections was labelled "Attractive," another "Indifferent," and the third "Repellent." The paper also bore the name of the city and the date upon which the investigations were made. Mr. Galton's other instrument was a "pricker" made from a pin with a large head embedded in a paper sheath, only the point projecting.

With his paper cross and his "pricker" in his pocket Mr. Galton sallied forth. When a girl passed him whom he considered pretty the point of the pricker was gently pressed against the section of the cross marked "Attractive," and the pin-prick registered the presence of a beauty. If the girl chanced to be ugly the instrument ticked her off in the "Repellent" section, and if ordinary she found a place among the "Indifferent."

On arriving home at the end of his investigations Mr. Gulton would take his paper cross from his pocket, add up the pin-holes in the various sections, strike an average, and allot to the particular city its place in his "beauty chart."

Nobody will dispute that there are thousands of perfect and lovely women in London. But for single specimens many towns could supply a type of womanly beauty who would compare equally with those in London. Aberdeen occupies the bottom place on Mr. Galton's chart. It would be interesting to know how Manchester stood, because the percentage of pretty women in Cottonopolis is extremely high. The Liverpool girl is a very fine type, slimly built and very pretty. Then there are the Devonshire girl and the maid of Cornwall—solid women, well proportioned, and winsome to a degree. In proportion to its size Wrexham has a good percentage of pretty girls.

Growth of Nails.

A scientist has estimated that in a lifetime of 70 years a man grows nails which, if it were possible to preserve them uncut, would reach the length of 7 feet 9 inches.

Exactly on what argument this statement is based it is hard to say, for a little observation will show that during the greater portion of a man's life he cuts his nails on an average of once a week, and at each paring removes a sixteenth of an inch, or the equivalent of a quarter of an inch per month, working out at three inches a year.

This would give him a growth of 7 feet 6 inches during the thirty years he lives between twenty and fifty, says The St. Louis Post-Despatch. In the other forty years, when the growth is less rapid, he would certainly produce four feet of nails, so that eleven feet is a better average for the nail-producing capacity of a man.

It should be noted, however, that the growth of the nails on the right hand is, in most people, more rapid than of those on the left hand, and it may be that the scientist in question has based his argument on the slower growth of the left hand nails.

Another curious point is that the rate of growth of the nails depends directly on the length of the finger; thus, the nails on the two middle fingers of men grow more rapidly than those on the first and third fingers, respectively, and these in turn are more speedy in their growth than those on the little fingers.

The "Cat House."

A curious little building stands at the end of a private walk on the shores of the River Orwell, in Suffolk, England. It is known as the "Cat House," for the reason that, in the "good old times," a white cat used to be exhibited at a window visible from the river as a signal to smugglers, who flourished in the locality. When the animal was shown, the "Free Traders," as the contrabandists were euphemistically called, knew that the coast was clear, and promptly sailed up and landed their cargo, secure from the attentions of the "preventives." Near "Cat House" is Downham Reach, which was the scene of some of Margaret Catchpole's most exciting adventures.

Remembered Too Late.

Speaking of the queer doings of absentminded people, the following anecdote is related by The London Globe: "A very irritable man left his house one morning to attend a race meeting some distance off. In order that he might have enough money to pay his hotel bill he tied a sovereign in the corner of his handkerchief. In the train he drew his handkerchief from his pocket and noticed the knot in the corner. 'Now,' he said to himself, 'what was it I wished to remember?' Much thought failed to enlighten him upon the point and at last, in a fit of passion, he hurled the handkerchief out of the window. Then he remembered.

Confessions In Class.

Scene—A Sunday school. Discovered—A class of damsels, biting at their pencils, and a teacher at her wits' end to fill in the hour prescribed for her lesson.

An idea!

"Now, girls, I want you all to take pencil and paper and to write down the names of your favorite hymns."

A pause, interrupted by a piping voice:

"Please, teacher, are we to write the Christian or the surnames?"

Dickens' "Christmas Carol."

Mr. H. F. Dickens, K.C., tells an interesting story concerning the original manuscript of his father's famous "Carol." The novelist presented the MS. to Thomas Milton, an old schoolfellow. In 1875 Mr. Milton sold it to Mr. Francis Harvey, a bookseller, for £50. Then it passed into the hands of Mr. George Churchill, an enthusiastic autograph collector. Mr. Churchill treasured it until 1882, when circumstances compelled him to part with it. After photographing every page of it, it was sold to Mr. Bennett, a Birmingham bookseller and curio dealer, who eventually found a purchaser who readily signed a cheque for £200 for it. Finally, it was bought by Mr. Stuart M. Samuel, of Kensington Palace Gardens, for £300, who is said to still retain the precious document.

A Shavian Reply.

There are few more original men alive to-day than Mr. George Bernard Shaw, and he may always be relied upon to say something that is out of the common. It is related that some time ago some amateurs wrote to him to say that they wished produce one of his plays. Their surprise may be imagined when they received the following reply: "Amateurs cannot perform my plays. Professionals cannot unless I am there to help them. By all means, do it if you want to, but Heaven help the audience!"

"NO TEMPERANCE FOR THEM!" SO CRY MEMBERS OF THE NEW PROVINCIAL LIB. CLUB

The following report of the formation yesterday of a great Liberal club for Ontario, in Toronto, is worth noting. It is taken from the Globe;

"The Ontario Club" will be the name of the new social organization to be established by the Liberals of the Province in Toronto. The name was chosen by ballot at last night's meeting of members in the Temple building from over a score of suggestions. Of a total ballot of 59 some 30 voted for this selection, and Sydenham and the Algonquin being the only serious competitors.

The club in seeking its charter will ask for the privilege of dispensing liquors. Nine members registered themselves in opposition to this course, after an animated discussion. Mr. W. E. Raney, K.C., moved that intoxicants be eliminated from the organisation. "Why should we as a Liberal club," he asked, "compromise the attitude that Liberalism and Liberal thought may take throughout the Province?"

"I move an amendment that the matter be left in the hands of the provisional directors," declared Mr. W. J. Boland, adding frankly, "I do this because I know they will ask for all the privileges. We want it to be a social club in the full sense of the word."

"Let's separate temperance and Liberalism at once and have done with it," exclaimed Major W. Parsons. "We had our fill of this temperance business at the last election. We have got to keep it away from Liberalism if we ever expect to get back to power."

Messrs. E. C. Campbell and W. E. Rundle urged as a compromise that the directors should apply for the liquor privilege and have the question of exercising it to be determined by the members subsequently.

Mr. M. J. Haney, who presided, thought Mr. Raney "unfortunate" in launching the question. He was a teetotaler himself, but he thought the club should be a harmonious home for men of different views and that it should secure all the privileges.

Mr. Raney retorted that he "resented" the criticism of the chair. Mr. Boland's amendment, he thought, was not frank. "Let us vote on the thing squarely and openly," he said. "Either we want liquor or we don't want it. If I was a hotelkeeper and applied for a license I would do so because I intended to use it or else I would be a fool to apply for it. I'm not a temperance crank, but take the position that we are better without liquor."

Mr Boland's amendment, however, was adopted, only nine dissenting.

The club has already a membership of 370, who have each subscribed $50. It was the intention, said the Chairman, to reach the thousand mark, with 500 Toronto members and 500 non-resident members throughout the Province. The social side of the organization was to be given prominence but it was also proposed to make the club a force for Liberalism in Toronto and throughout the Province. "All constituencies where the majority against is only two or three hundred are good fighting grounds—and we've got two of them in Toronto," he observed.

Mr. Nelson Hay, of Listowel, addressing the meeting, said there were scores of Liberals throughout Ontario anxious to secure membership. The club would be a political home for Ontario Liberalism.

The following members were appointed provisional directors, and from their number a provisional President, Secretary and Treasurer will be chosen; Messrs. G. T. Somers, J. H. Denton, P. C. Larkin, M. J. Haney, C. A. Moss, T. S. Hobbs, Dr. T. F. McMahon, G. Tower Ferguson and J. F. M. Stewart. Mr. Haney stated that options on two or three central location were being secured, and the directorate proposed to complete a list of properties available before submitting names for the consideration of the members."

CHARGES WERE VERY FULLY INVESTIGATED

ing. Watchman Craig reported time to me. During part of time from 11.10 p.m. to one o'clock he was in hotel and in a George street store drinking and having a merry time.

11. Saturday night, Jan. 2nd, the chief used profane language to his men at the fire on Simcoe street. Men claim this was uncalled for and will not stand for his insulting language to men.

12. Sunday night, Jan. 3rd, men were taken to Oriental hotel to flush out the sewer that was blocked up. The men claim this is not their duty.

The greater part of this information has unfortunately come to my knowledge as positive facts during the last stages of the Council of 1908.

The Mayor informed me that a meeting would be called on Wednesday, December 23rd, as it was the only available night to suit the members of the Council. For some reason the meeting was not called and my privilege of laying the greater part of these grievances before the Council was laid aside.

MR. TAYLOR'S EVIDENCE.

Mr. W. H. Taylor, who was assistant chief for some time under Chief Howard, said in reference to charge No. 1, that it was true in some respects.

"I can't say the Chief ever told us to forbid to speak to the aldermen," he said. "He told us to salute an alderman when we met him, but not to have any more conversation with him than was necessary."

One night, after a wrestling match, Mr. Taylor said Mr. Johnston had come to the fire hall and witness had chatted with him about wrestling. The chief had come in and given Taylor some other work, and the conversation with Mr. Johnston had to cease.

The next charge was the one that the chief was not at the fire hall half the time.

"Did you make that statement?" asked Ald. Buller.

"I have no recollection of ever making the statement," said the witness.

FIREMAN WEIR.

Regarding charge No. 1 Fireman Weir said that the chief had said he would fire him on sight if he caught him talking to an alderman.

As to charge No. 2, Fireman Weir said he thought the chief was full at times.

"We don't want any thinking. How many times did you see the chief full?" asked Ald. Hicks.

"Five or six times, to my knowledge," was the answer.

As to the charge that the chief was not in the fire hall half the time, Weir said the charge was pretty nearly right. He did not know what the chief was doing when he was out.

As to charge No. 6, Weir said he had been down at the chief's house cleaning windows. He didn't know that any material had been taken from the fire hall.

Ald. Hicks—"What time of day were you at the chief's house?"

"About eleven o'clock in the morning."

Ald. Hicks—"How often were you at the chief's house?"

Weir—"Twice altogether, but once on my own time."

Charge No. 8—Weir said that the chief had been away from the fire hall at night about quarter of the time. He had been sleeping at the fire hall more frequently during the past two months.

Regarding the charge that the chief had used profane language to his men at the fire on Simcoe street on January 14th, Weir said he did not know anything about it.

EX-FIREMAN REYNOLDS.

A man named Reynolds, an ex-fireman, was the next witness. As to charge No. 1, Reynolds said the charge was true. The chief had told him not to speak to chairman of the committee or other aldermen. The order was a general one to the men. The chief had said he would fire a man quick if he found him talking to an alderman.

As to charge No. 2 Reynolds said the chief had come into the hall drunk. He had stumbled over a chair. The lights were not on at the time. He had seen the chief drunk "quite a few times." He did not know who was discharged. He had not been discharged, but had quit. He had left the job on November 3rd.

"Who asked you to come here?" asked Ald. Hicks.

"Ex-Ald. Johnston," was the reply. "Mr. Johnston came and asked me about the matter at the Wm Hamilton Works a few days before Christmas."

Reynolds said he had seen the Chief drunk a dozen times. The chief had advised witness to quit drinking, saying that he (the chief) would do all the drinking that was necessary around the fire hall.

FIREMAN CRAIG.

Fireman Craig was asked about charge No. 1. The chief had told the witness that he wasn't to talk to any aldermen. He had been told this when he was hired. The chief had told him that he would be fired if he was found talking to an alderman.

Regarding No. 2 charge witness said he had seen the chief pretty full several times. He had never seen him fall down or unable to look after himself.

Witness had gone to Tooley's hotel to get a drink when he was on duty. He knew this was against the rules of the fire hall. He had been discharged for this, but had been taken back again. He didn't get his own clothes when he came back.

Charge No. 3, was true, Craig said. He did not know what the chief was doing when he was away from the hall. He considered that the chief might be away on duty a quarter of the time.

Craig said he considered he had been used dirty by the chief after he had come back, after being discharged. The chief had never given the men any liquor in the fire hall.

As to charge No. 4, that of selling junk from the fire hall, witness said he had helped to load the stuff, but that was all he knew about it.

Regarding charge No. 5, witness said the chief had beat a horse with a whip and also struck one on the head. The horse had a habit of bunting a door and the chief was trying to break him off it.

As to charge No. 8, witness said that the chief had been sleeping at the hall more frequently since he and Ald. Johnston had some words about the chief not sleeping at the hall. Before that the chief had been absent from the hall all night for about three nights a week.

Witness said the chief did not sleep in the hall on Christmas night.

As to charge No. 10, Craig said that the chief and Mr. Johnston had left the hall together shortly before eleven o'clock on the night mentioned and didn't come back until 3.20 in the morning. He did not know what the chief was doing when he was away.

As to charge No. 11, Craig said the chief had sworn at the firemen regarding a hose that had been laid before he had arrived.

This concluded Craig's evidence.

Will Metheral was asked to give evidence as to the latter clause of charge No. 9. He had met the chief on the afternoon of December 28th, at Mervin's corner. After conversing they went to a nearby hotel. Witness and chief had four drinks as told on the evening in question. He did not know whether or not the chief had slept at the fire hall that night. He thought the chief had drank liquor. Witness said he would be truthful and say the chief was not sober when he left him at 5.40 on the evening of December 28. He wouldn't say he was drunk.

FIREMAN McBRIDE.

Fireman McBride was asked about charge No. 6, and said he had been at the chief's house once for about an hour. He did not take any material from the fire hall to the chief's house. He was cleaning windows at the chief's house. He was on duty at the time.

As to charge No. 7 McBride said he didn't know anything about the transaction except that the chief had asked him for the $8.22 and he had given it back. This was about fifteen minutes after he had received the check.

Regarding charge No. 11, McBride said the chief had sworn a little bit at the fire. It was not serious. Witness got along well with the chief.

As to charge No. 3, McBride said the chief was out of the fire hall a quarter of the time. He could not say that the Chief was ever drunk. He was always able to turn out if he was there when an alarm came in.

Witness had been told by the watchman that the chief had been away from the fire hall about half the time at nights.

During the past two months the chief had been at the hall pretty regularly. Witness drove the hose waggon and never had to stop for the chief to get on.

JOSEPH PERRIN.

Joseph Perrin said he had passed the chief on the street on Sunday afternoon, January 10th, and he considered the chief was drunk. He was walking behind the chief coming up Aylmer street. The chief had come out of a hotel.

FIREMAN RANKIN

Fireman Rankin was next questioned. As to charge No 1, witness said that the assistant chief had told him not to speak to the aldermen. The chief had not told him anything in this connection. The chief had told him to be courteous to the aldermen and citizens generally.

As to charge No 2, witness said he had never seen the chief incapable from liquor. He was generally on the job when needed.

As to charge No 3, Rankin said the chief sometimes went out of the hall two or three hours in the morning, and the same in the afternoon. The chief told the watchman where he was going when he was going out.

As to charge No 4, witness said he had taken, by the order of the chief, 157 pounds of zinc and 80 pounds of copper to a junk dealer. He had nothing to do with the selling of it. This was in October or November.

As to charge No 6, witness said the chief had sent him down to his (the chief's) house with two small parcels. One of them contained soft (linseed) soap. The other contained old rags. He had done no work at the chief's house.

As to charge No 11, witness said he had heard the chief swear, but not very much. Witness did not take offence at this as he was accustomed to being sworn at occasionally.

As to charge No 12, witness said that another fireman, named Hetherington and himself had flushed out a sewer at the Oriental hotel. The chief was with them. Mr Graham, of the Oriental had presented the firemen with a billiard table and witness did not mind going to do the work as he felt the brigade was under obligation to Mr Graham.

JOHN WRIGHT.

John Wright was asked to give evidence as to the chief being drunk. He said he had seen the chief "pretty well jagged" but never off his feet. The last time he had seen him in this condition was on the 17th of July. It was in an hotel and after eleven o'clock. The fire bell rung about twelve o'clock and the chief had run and got on the waggon.

FIREMAN HETHERINGTON

Fireman Hetherington was asked about charge No 6, said he had built a coal-bin at the chief's house. He had taken a handful of nails from the fire hall. The lumber was secured in the yard at the chief's house.

Witness said he liked the job at the fire hall. He had a drink at a Hunter street hotel with the chief. The chief suggested that they go in for a drink. They had two drinks.

The chief was sleeping at the fire hall pretty nearly every night lately.

Witness had not objected to flushing out the sewer at the Oriental.

CITY TREASURER.

City Treasurer Adams said that he had received something more than $20.00 for junk sold. This was just before nomination day. He had also received one dollar for some old hose sold in July.

FIREMAN HAWES.

Fireman Hawes said in reference to charge No 5, that he had been injured when the chief was beating the horse. He had been crushed up against the door by the horse. The horse had turned wrong a couple of times coming out of the stable and the chief had beaten him for it.

Hawes also gave evidence regarding the chief's habits that was along much the same line as that of previous firemen.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT.

Regarding the proposed meeting of the council, which Mr. Johnston said had not been held, Mayor Rush said that it had not been held because several of the aldermen could not be present. He had decided to call the meeting, but on learning that several of the aldermen could not be present he had not done so.

The evidence all being in, statements from Mr. Johnston and the fire chief were heard.

Mr. Johnston said he did not know if he could add anything to the evidence that had been given. Mr. Howard's appointment had been against his wishes, but he did not regret the stand he had taken. He had tried to get along with the chief. The rumors started, however, and he had advised the chief as to what was the best course for him to pursue. He had tried to preserve harmony at the fire hall and to pay no attention to the stories that came to his ears regarding the conduct of the chief. However, the rumors became so persistent that he had decided to get at the bottom of the matter.

Mr. Howard was then asked if he had anything to say.

Charge No. 1, said Mr. Howard, Mr. Taylor denied, and so did the chief. The instructions given the men here were the same as those he had been brought up under. It was a matter of general discipline as exercised in the fire halls of all cities.

The chief denied the charge of Mr. Perrin, that he was drunk on Sunday, January 12th, on Aylmer street. He was never in the hotel mentioned on a Sunday in his life.

Chief Howard denied that he had ever been intoxicated. If any man in the room could say that he had ever seen him intoxicated he would back down.

The chief admitted that he was out of the hall probably a quarter of the time.

The selling of the junk took considerable explanation, Chief Howard and Mr. Johnston giving slightly different versions. Apparently there had been a misunderstanding.

The committee agreed that the chief might have been warranted in beating the horse. According to the evidence the beating had not been a severe one.

As to the charge about overpaying a man and then getting back the amount the chief said the money, $8.22 had been paid to a substitute, Albert Good, whom he thought was now working at the C.G.E.

Good will be asked to appear before the committee.

As to flushing out the sewer at the Oriental the chief said that he considered he was doing right under the circumstances. The sewer was blocked and if not attended to at once much damage would have been done. Street Commissioner Evans had gone to the south end of the town and could not be secured.

Under the circumstances the chief thought he had acted all right. He had not told the men they would have to do the work. He asked them if they would care to go, and they had said yes.

The chief also gave explanation in regard to other places of the charges.

The chairman, Ald. Buller, said that some of the things that were allowed to go on in 1908 would not be permitted this year.

The meeting then adjourned.

James Buck, of Uxbridge, had his back broken by a fall.

The military messes of London are charged with selling liquor.

MARINE INQUIRY REPORT AN EXCUSE FOR OFFICIALS

Judge Cassels Says Pay is Poor.

And Temptation Follows---Deals Gently With Gregory, of Quebec.

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—That the entire business of purchasing supplies for the Government should be entrusted to a board of experts.

That the cure for graft lies in the awakening of the public conscience.

That officials on small salaries are subjected to temptations of which the ordinary citizen knows little or nothing.

These are the observations in chief which Judge Cassels makes upon his investigation into the Marine Department. The report was tabled in the Commons yesterday by Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Minister of Marine and Fisheries. The evidence fills 14 volumes of about 150 pages each.

Incidentally Judge Cassels exonerates the late Hon. Raymond Prefontaine and Hon. James Sutherland, as Minister of Marine, from any responsibility for the existence of graft and over-payment in the Department over which they presided, and gives Hon. Clifford Sifton a clean bill of political health in the matter of contracts with the Department.

"I am not here to judge Mr. Prefontaine or his policy or the manner in which his Department was administered," says Judge Cassels. "There are but two places where I would consider any reflections are cast upon him. The one I have referred to in dealing with J. F. Fraser, the other in a statement made by Mr. Gregory in his defence given at Quebec. He stated in reference to Davie, who gave for a period of about eleven years to Mr. Gregory the sum of $500 per annum, that he was very friendly with Davie, but did not think that a reason for him to ask for anything, and when his Minister did 'try and get some money out of those who can afford to pay it,' he replied that the only honorable man he could trust himself with was Davie, and if he would lend him the money he would take it."

"Before concluding, I may be pardoned if I make a few observations.

"In the first place, the chief remedy for amelioration of the conditions I have sought to portray lies in the awakening of the public conscience.

"Secondly, capable and efficient officials should be adequately remunerated. Mr. Gregory, in the control of nearly one million dollars per annum, received a salary of $2,200 per annum; Mr. Harding, in the control of about $300,000 per annum, a salary of $1,800 per annum; Mr. Parsons, in the control of about $700,000 per annum, a salary of $1,000 per annum. It is an easy matter for those in affluent circumstances to hold up their hands in horror; they have not been in a position to be tempted.

"Thirdly, the abolition of the patronage system in the Department of Marine and Fisheries is a long step in the right direction."

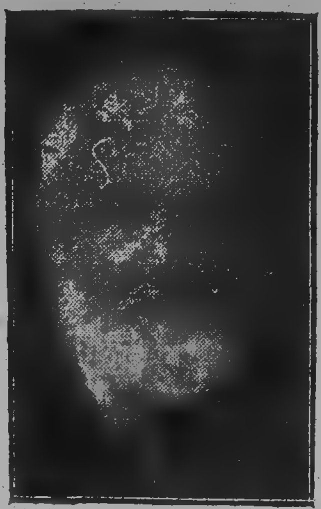
In suggesting a remedy Judge Cassels says:

"Would it not be feasible to appoint a board of say three competent men, assisted by inspectors conversant with ruling market prices to act as purchasing agents for all the Departments? The office of the Auditor-General is a very valuable and necessary one, but to leave the matter to him alone is only to lock the stable after the horse has been stolen."

In the case of Harding, the agent at St. John, who borrowed money from contractors right and left, Judge Cassels says: "I would like to take as lenient a view as possible. He is evidently a man respected and with warm personal friends. He was for years in very straitened financial circumstances. His financial transactions with those having contracts or other dealings with the Department were numerous. At the same time while the transactions were numerous, in the main they consisted of accommodation afforded by his friends, money advanced to him.

Judge Cassels deals gingerly with Gregory of Quebec, pointing out that his salary was small and his opportunities great. Gregory, he says, levied a toll of 5 per cent. on amounts due to contractor by the Department.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur is praised for abolishing the patronage list scheme.



JUDGE CASSELS.

FREIGHT HELD UP

Dozen Masked Men Loot Train Near Lewiston, New York—Loads of Booty.

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Jan. 23.—A gang of masked men, about a dozen in number, held up a freight train on the Rome, Watertown & Ogdensburg branch of the New York Central near the brow of the Lewiston Mountain about three o'clock yesterday morning and succeeded in getting away with several wagon loads of loot. It is believed the robbers had boats in waiting near the Lewiston docks and have made their escape into Canada.

Train, No. 38, westbound, had left Model City and was pulling up the long grade at the Lewiston Mountain. There were 54 loaded cars in the string, with three engines. About a mile and a half west of the station several men, wearing masks, boarded the train and set the brakes. As the train came to a standstill the crew of one of the engines walked back to ascertain the cause. They were met by two men with drawn revolvers and told to keep quiet. The other members of the crew, failing to get a report, also came back, and were covered.

In all the train crew consisted of ten men. A trio covered these men with their guns, while the others proceeded to pilfer the cars. A car filled with general merchandise the robbers ransacked. They then forced the crew to uncouple the first engine, climb aboard and run up the track, while they made their escape.

The spot where the hold-up occurred is one of the loneliest on the line. The robbers had waited some time for the train and had broken into the little station at Lewiston Heights and made themselves comfortable. The teams used by the robbers were found just below the Village of Lewiston, near the river's bank, yesterday morning. They had been stolen from two farmers.

MORSE LEAVES THE G.T.P. SAILS FOR OLD COUNTRY

Montreal, Jan. 23.—The Dominion Government, having absolutely declined to treat any longer with F. W. Morse, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, that gentleman has placed his resignation at the disposition of the board of directors, who will consider, and, no doubt, accept the same without delay, while Mr. Morse has sailed for the Mediterranean.

Although he left New York Thursday, the resignation was not known generally in the city before five o'clock yesterday afternoon, yet so sudden a move on the part of so well-known a railway man did not fail to create almost a sensation in railway circles.

Charles M. Hays, president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, gave out a statement last evening to the effect that there was no friction between the president and vice-president, and that he regretted the departure of Mr. Morse, and that the work of the general manager would be always considered as a tribute to his ability and knowledge as a railway man.

The president absolutely refused to further discuss the departure of Mr. Morse.

It is quite probable that several things contributed to create this misunderstanding. In the first place, every contractor in the country was an open enemy of Morse, and again the supporters of the Ministry were being generally rubbed down the wrong way by him. It was stated many times that Mr. Morse was too partial to American contractors

The manner of his departure was exceedingly dramatic. Yesterday afternoon, about five o'clock letters written on board the train between Montreal and New York were delivered to a number of friends in this city, saying that Mr. Morse had resigned, and that he would explain his position at a later date. J. W. Stewart, the G.T.P. contractor on the first 100 miles east of Prince Rupert saw Mr. Morse in New York last Thursday, and although he told him that he was sailing for the south of Europe. Mr. Stewart was the last to believe that Mr. Morse had really vacated his position.

EARL GREY'S SUCCESSOR

The Present Governor-General of Australia is Mentioned for the Position.

London, Jan. 23.—(C.A.P. Cable.)—The Canadian Associated Press is informed that Lord Northcote is to succeed Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada. Lord Northcote is already one of Britain's great pro-consuls.

Graduated from Oxford in 1869, he immediately entered the Foreign Office and was attached in 1871 to the special mission of Lord Ripon, which resulted in the settlement of the Alabama claims. From 1900 to 1903 he served as Governor of Bombay, and from 1903 to 1908 as Governor-General of Australia.

On his way home to England from the Antipodes last fall he paid a visit to Canada. Lady Northcote is an adopted daughter of Lord Mount Stephen.

LORD NORTHCOTE.

THEY ARE PLEASED

Havelock Citizens Much Interested in Proposed Electric Line to Lakes—Will Help Mines.

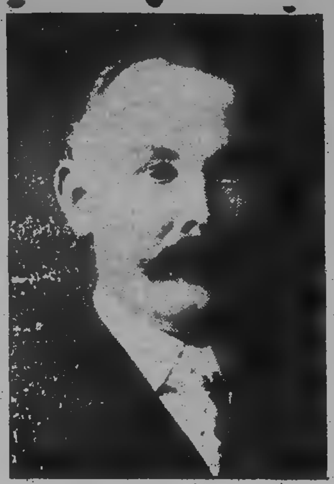
Special to the Review.

Havelock, Jan. 22.—A scheme by which the mining property in East Peterborough will be made very valuable is under consideration at the present time. In link with it is a plan to run a direct line to the Kawartha's popular summer resorts and thus make those lakes the most popular in the country. An application will shortly be made to Parliament for an act to incorporate a company for the purpose of constructing and operating an electric line between Cobourg and Havelock. There are many valuable iron and copper mines situated throughout the eastern part of Peterborough county, but in order to put them on a paying basis the ore must be easily carried to some place where it can be smelted and the shortest way would be to Cobourg and from there across the lake to the large smelters in New York State. Havelock is in the centre of the valuable iron deposit territory, and that is why the line is being run to this point.

Havelock is also an ideal centre for an electric line to the Kawartha Lakes, being only 15 miles from Stony Lake. It being on the C.P.R., has connection with Montreal, Toronto and the American cities.

There is plenty of money behind the scheme, and Havelock being the main point will be greatly affected.

THE CHIEFTAINS IN DEBATE DISCUSS SPEECH FROM THRONE



MR. R. H. LEARY

Re-elected President of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

Mr. Borden Comments on Liberal Victory.

Says Gerrymander Caused it---Pleads for less Delay in Bringing Down Bills.

Ottawa, Jan. 23.—Practically all afternoon and evening in the House were devoted to the address in reply to His Excellency's speech.

As expected, Speaker Marcil announced the resignation of Mr. Sloan of Comox-Atlin, B.C., by way of which Hon. William Templeman will try to climb back to Parliament, and among the reports was the eagerly-awaited conclusions of Justice Cassels on the Marine Department rascality.

Two members opened the oratory. William F. Todd, Charlotte, N.B., and Joseph P. Turcotte, Quebec County, moved and seconded the address, the latter speaking in vigorous French. But the real proceedings did not begin till the leaders began to tell how it happened on Oct. 26 last.

Mr. Borden resorted to figures and blamed it on the gerrymander. If we had proportional representation, which, previous to 1896, Sir Wilfrid strongly favored, the Government would have a majority of 4.04, or, without the Speaker, 3.04. According to Sir Wilfrid's logic, the last election had been fought on the most infamous gerrymander ever penetrated, each Conservative member representing 6,630 votes, while each Liberal represented 4,411 voters. No doubt the right hon. gentleman, with his sense of honor, would redress the grievance.

Mr. Borden declared that the length of the session would depend upon the early bringing down of important legislation. In previous sessions most important bills had been produced after long delays. He would be willing that a rule should be adopted to provide against bringing down bills after two-thirds or three-quarters of the session had passed. The exceeding great length of the sessions had the tendency to keep out of Parliament men who would be a credit to it.

Mr. Borden briefly referred to the Sicilian earthquake and passed on to contrast paragraphs taken from the speech in 1906, when prosperity was apparently confined to Canada and in 1909 when the depression is worldwide. The depression he thought would be well worth the price if it taught the gentlemen who sit on the Treasury benches economy.

Mr. Borden noticed the promised reappearance of the insurance bill. He trusted a measure in the public interest would be placed upon the statute books.

The Opposition Leader averred that the Cassels' investigation was restricted — it should have touched every spending department of the Government. When any question was put whether the increase in price of supplies had any relation to contributions to the campaign fund of the Liberal party, objection was always taken that the scope of the enquiry did not cover that.

Mr. Borden attacked the system of offering public works as bribes to constituencies. This was bribery tenfold more flagrant than the bribery of individuals. He promised that the Opposition would give consideration to the program of legislation, to the end that the session might not be delayed.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in opening, congratulated the Opposition Leader on the well deserved compliment paid him by his followers in confirming him in his position.

The policy of the Opposition on the Asiatic question was short-sighted, imperilling and jeopardizing the best interests, not only of Canada, but of British Columbia itself. He had no quarrel with the opinion that we should have a white Canada, but the parties differed as to the methods of bringing this about.

ALLEGED CHICKEN THIEF ARRESTED AND REMANDED

Mark Pengelly was charged with stealing six chickens from Margaret Hurd. Pengelly was arrested yesterday afternoon and appeared before Magistrate Dumble this morning. Mr G N Gordon appeared for the accused and did not plead nor elect.

Chief Roszel asked for a week's remand.

Mr Gordon took exception to this. "It is outrageous," he said, "the way the chief asks for enlargements."

"I know the way this court is run is abominable," the Magistrate laughingly remarked.

"The Chief can get all the witnesses that he wants here within half an hour," said Mr Gordon.

The Chief said that it was necessary to go back eighteen months to procure evidence.

"You always have to go into ancient history," reiterated Mr Gordon.

However, His Worship remanded the prisoner until next Saturday.

CIVIL ACTION WAS BARRED; FINED IN CRIMINAL COURT

In the Division Court yesterday Jas. Beatty, of Bridgenorth, sued Albert Nichols for sixty dollars, to recover damages for injuries received in a fracas between the two while returning from the city one Saturday evening in the fall. Mr. R. E. Wood, appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. R. Ruddy, K.C., for the defendant. Judgment was given for the defendant.

The case attracted a great deal of attention, the court room being filled to the doors. The arguing of it occupied the whole of the afternoon. The point of law argued by the defence was to the effect that under the provisions of the criminal code the civil action for damages was barred. The defendant had previously been fined by Magistrate Dumble for assaulting the plaintiff.

His Honor Judge Weller sustained the above objection and dismissed the action without costs.

Texas Woman Freed of Murder.

Wichita Falls, Texas, Jan. 23.—After six hours, the jury in the case of Mrs. Walter Allen, wife of a weathy business man, charged with killing another woman, returned a verdict of not guilty.

The contention was made that Mrs. Allen could not control her actions when she saw her husband seated in a buggy with the woman.

MYSTIC TRUNK

Chest Contained Spirits—Police Court Case to be the Result.

The interference play was worked in Peterborough yesterday.

A trunk that was being shipped to Millbrook was the object of the interference. The trunk is now at the police station and will figure in a police court case on Monday.

The trunk was being shipped to Millbrook via Grand Trunk but for some reason or other, a G.T.R. detective got suspicious and demanded that the trunk be opened. When this was done the chest was found to contain spirits—not those of a mystic nature—but of the variety which is the result of a fermentation process.

Now Millbrook is a local option town, and the question is what were the spirits being sent there for.

The matter will be aired in the police court on Monday.

NARROW ESCAPE

John Wise of This City Had Close Call Near Lindsay on Thursday Night

The Lindsay Warder says; Mr. Jack Wise, a young man from Peterborough, who accompanied the team to Lindsay last evening, was hit by a whistle post and knocked off the train, receiving several deep cuts and bruises that will confine him to his room for several days.

The special train stopped near the iron bridge and Mr. Wise thinking he was at the depot went to get off. Just as he was on the bottom step of the rear car, the train started and he remained there holding on to the railing with both hands at arm's length. His intention was to remain there until the train reached the depot. The train was moving slowly and had only gone a short distance when Mr. Wise was struck on the head by a whistle post, or a semaphore post and knocked to the ground receiving several cuts about the face and head, besides having many cinders ground into the cuts.

Mr. Wise got up in a hurry and as the train was moving slowly he caught it, and upon arrival at the depot a physician was summoned. His wounds were washed and dressed.

It required twelve stitches to sew up the cuts, the two deepest cuts being one above the eye and one below. Mr. Wise was suffering intense pain and will be confined to his home for some weeks. Had the train been running at full speed Mr. Wise would have no doubt been instantly killed.

Lady Snatched From Death

How "sadness and despair" gave place to "joy, comfort and life," is told by Mr. L. H. Walter, of Pearl St., Brockville, in relating how his wife was restored to health after having been told by her doctors that both her lungs were seriously affected and that she could not possibly live many months.

Gloom like a pall fell over that Canadian home when the apparently irrevocable fiat went forth. Not long before life had seemed full of promise to Mr. and Mrs. Walter, and a bright future of married happiness stretched out into the coming years. And now all was changed. The fatal words had been pronounced which banished all hope. But they had not then heard of PSYCHINE.

It was when the cloud was darkest that the silver lining appeared. A friend urged them to give PSYCHINE a trial, and told of the marvellous cures effected by this wonderful remedy. Mr. Walter procured a bottle and persuaded his wife to take it. "Before the whole bottle had been taken," he says, "the severe pain in her lungs quickly went away, and after taking six bottles, my wife was a new creature, and completely well again. I will never cease to praise PSYCHINE; it has brought Mrs. Walter back to life and health when all else had failed."

No case need be considered hopeless. The above is not an isolated instance, but one of hundreds, in which PSYCHINE has proved efficacious.

PSYCHINE never fails. Try it and see.

Trial sent on application. Send name and address to Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, Toronto. PSYCHINE is sold by all druggists and dealers in bottles at 50c. and $1.00.

$35,000,000 LOST IN DAIRYING

Dairymen will find something to interest them in the report of the dairy herd competition, carried out under the direction of the Western Ontario Dairymen's Association, given on page Five of this issue.

There were ten herds in this competition altogether. None of the herds contained less than eight head, while there were twenty in one of those in the contest. The average money returns per cow obtained for butter fat or milk supplied dairy factories during six months from herds in the competition, ran from $30.70 in the case of the poorest to $68.50 in the case of the best. No less than seven out of the ten gave an average return of well over $50 per cow in the six months. If the returns for these seven herds could be figured up for the whole year it is probable it would be found that in not one of the lot was the average return per cow less than $65, or at least $25 over and above cost of feed. If all the dairy cows of Ontario could be brought up to that level—and there is no reason why they should not—the total returns from the milkers of the Province would be $35,000,000 a year more then they are now. In other words $35,000,000 a year of the possible returns from dairying now being lost.—Weekly Sun.

THE TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

The annual meeting of this old and excellent company was held at the head office, George street, yesterday. The annual dividend is really 8 per cent, although it is made up of the regular 6 per cent. dividend and a 2 per cent. bonus. The management of this company certainly reflects great credit on the manager, Mr. W. G. Morrow, the well-known city father. The operations of this company are now on a very large and commanding scale. It is with no small measure of pride that Peterborough records itself as the dwelling place of the head office of this company.

A SPLIT IN THE PARTY

Reliable advices indicate a split in the Liberal party in this province. Mr. McKay, the present leader, is not a prohibitionist, Mr. Hossack a a prohibitionist. A large and militant part of the Liberal party also is prohibitionist. The natural result has followed or will follow. To this general party tendency is to be added the action of Mr. McKay in rebuking his party for leaving all the late campaign work to him. It apparently did not endorse him. It has rebuked him in turn and relieved him of his salary. The next campaign in this province will no doubt be fought out on "advanced grounds," both in a temperance way and otherwise. The men behind the prohibitionist guns are undoubtedly men of power and advanced ideas, who cannot be denied. They will appeal to the people for sanction to inaugurate a new social life amongst the people. Drinking, gambling, profanity, the social evil are all down upon their programme for a smashing. Are the people with them, that is the question? If they are, Sir James Whitney, with all his strength of character, sanity and progressive tendencies, will have his hands full. The struggle may be said to be between the best of the present and the "hope of the future." Is it wise to "advance" with all speed in matters human? Are we prepared for it? If we are then the elimination of the detrimental can come none too soon. But there's the rub. Human frailty or human nature as it is usually called, balances on the plank of daily life between Dictation or Despotism on the one hand and a too often unreasoning and licentious freedom on the other. It may be as Bishop Wilberforce said, that England was better to be free than sober, presumably if she could not be both. Perhaps so. This is the real question at issue now. But the Bishop might very reasonably have added that the duty of England was and is to be sober. England can be represented as her constitution defines by a majority of her citizens. That she should not have the right to withdraw or withhold what she had the power to grant is manifestly nonsense. Therefore we may conclude that when the majority says not even that we must be sober, but that we shall not have retail liquor shops or bars, it is doing nothing unconstitutional. The question therefore, comes down to this one. Is it wise? Is it necessary? Is there no other effective way of securing the desired end? If not then the question answers itself.

"THE CHURCH OF THE AGE"

Mr Hector Macpherson discusses the problem of "The Church of the Age" in a vigorous way in the Glasgow Herald.

"The Church of today, possessed by the mechanical time spirit, has seized hold of the notion that mainly by machinery must civilization be forwarded," he says. "So far has it gone in this direction that it no longer trusts for its support to the spontaneous impulses of its members. To get money all kinds of mechanical contrivances are resorted to, from finance committees to bazaars. No device is neglected whereby money can be extracted from an unwilling or an indifferent people.

"In the higher spheres what is the sympathetic attitude of prominent Church leaders towards Socialistic schemes but signs of weakening faith in the Gospel appeal to the individual heart and of an increasing belief in mechanical methods? So many and distracting are the schemes of social reform, all more or less receiving the approval of ecclesiastical leaders, that many people are beginning to wonder whether the Church itself is not now superfluous. If machinery is the prime requisite in civilization, assuredly the Churchman cannot hope to compete with the politician, who reaches his aim by more direct methods than the cumbrous mechanism of ecclesiasticism.

"We hear a great deal of the duty of the Church to social problems. As these problems are largely economic the clergy are advised to add political economy to their programme of studies, so as to be able to deal effectively with the questions of the day. Now the moment the Church takes sides in politico economic questions its influence as a spiritual force decays. The function of the Church is to enforce individual duties on the basis of individual regeneration not to endeavor to distinguish between class rights of the basis of social reconstruction. The sphere of the Church is spiritual dynamics; the sphere of the politician and the economist is social mechanics. Why is the Church showing a tendency to encroach upon the sphere of the politician and the economist. Largely because it is losing faith in the fundamental beliefs to which it owes its existence. Large numbers of the rising generation of ministers, no longer able to find a rallying point in theology, are concentrating their thoughts and energies upon sociology.

"In the Scotland of today theology no longer occupies the position it did, say, fifty years ago. Whatever may have been the faults of the Evangelical party, they at least had a coherent system of thought, a definite creed which was the basis of a distinct message to their day and generation. They did not trouble themselves with sociological problems. In their view, given a community of regenerated men and women, social problems would spontaneously be solved. The Evangelicals were believers in the value of spiritual dynamics—hence their faith in the 'revival' as a mighty factor, not only in individual but in social reform. And it is a significant fact that to the zeal of the Evangelicals we owe many of the greater social reform movements of the later eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries.

"How is the Church to regain its hold over the modern mind? Not by the clergy coming down from their unique position and jostling in the market place with politicians and social reformers, nor by an extension of the present mechanical system of committees; schemes, bazaars, &c. What is needed is a return to apostolic methods. To quote Carlyle, again—'How did Christianity arise and spread among men? Was it by institutions and establishments and well-arranged systems of mechanism? Not so. On the contrary, in all past and existing institutions for those ends its Divine spirit has invariably been found to languish and decay. It arose in the mystic deeps of man's soul, and was spread abroad by the preaching of the Word, by simple, altogether natural, and individual efforts. Here, again, was no mechanism; man's highest attainment was accomplished dynamically, not mechanically."

EDITORIAL NOTES

"Does the baby talk yet?" asked a friend of the family. "No," replied the baby's disgusted little brother; "the baby doesn't need to talk." "Doesn't need to talk?" "No. All the baby has to do is to yell, and it gets anything there is in the house that's worth having."

London, Jan. 21.—T. C. Martin, editor of the Dundee Advertiser, and a member of the commission which visited the Dominion in 1908, addressing the Farmers' Club of Dundee, thought Scotch farmers on the commission brought home from Canada the idea that they had not much to learn from the Canadian farmer. Cultivation was by no means perfect, and there was a good deal of slovenly work allowed. Weeds were abundant. Another impression he formed was that Canada was going to be a sober nation. He did not remember one banquet of the many he attended at which alcholic liquors appeared. In Toronto the municipal banquet was on the large scale, but there was nothing to drink but mineral waters and some concoction of ginger.

BACKACHE IS THE FIRST SIGN

Mixture Said to Relieve Lame Back and Prevent Kidney Disease.

Take care of backache. A great many cases of kidney complaint are reported about here; also bladder trouble and rheumatism.

An authority once stated that pain in the back, loins or region of the kidneys is the danger signal nature hangs out to notify the sufferer that there is something wrong with the kidneys, which should receive immediate attention Only vegetable treatment should be administered and absolutely no strongly alcoholic medicines which are harmful to the kidneys and bladder.

The following prescription, while simple, harmless and inexpensive is known and recognised as a sovereign remedy for kidney complaint. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy and anyone can mix them; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime.

This preparation is said to restore the natural function of the kidneys as they will sift and strain the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc from the blood, purifying it and relieving rheumatism. Backache will be relieved, the urine will be neutralized and cleared and no longer a cause of irritation, thereby overcoming such symptoms as weak bladder, painful, frequent and other urinary difficulties.

This is worth trying and may prove just what many people here need.

MR. E. R. WOOD THE FINANCIER

When Mr. George A. Cox, now Senator, began his business activities in Peterborough he discovered Mr. Edward Rogers Wood. Mr. Wood was a telegraph operator as Mr. Cox had been and that probably supplied the bond. To-day it would be difficult to say which is the greater man, since both are distinguished. Senator Cox has, however, the years and the honor of a long record. For a young man Mr. Wood has made remarkable strides. The story of his success would make a business romance of unusual interest. The son of an Irish schoolmaster, a former G.N.W. operator, is now manager of the Central Canada Loan Co. and the Dominion Securities Corporation, besides being director of the Bank of Commerce, Canada Life, Sao Paulo, Mexican Power, Crow's Nest Coal, and National Trust Co. It was a great climb up the ladder for the Peterborough youth but he is still active, still smiling-faced, still courteous and calm under all circumstances. He is the Canadian authority on "bonds" a subject which is discussed on another page in this issue."—The Courier.

HAVELOCK MAN IN A RUNAWAY

Bolt Came Out of Shaft and the Horse Made Break for Liberty

Havelock, Jan. 22,

Mr. Frank Coon, of town, was very badly shaken up and bruised in a run away to-day. The accident happened while Mr. Coon was at Mr. Spencer's sawmill north of the village. When starting for home, a bolt came out of the shaft, and as a result the horse became unmanageable and started for home from between the lumber piles. Mr. Coon in attempting to stop its progress was severely bruised and had a piece of flesh cut out of his face just below the eye by coming in contact with a pile of lumber.

AFTER TREATMENT

Peter E. Summers, of Kalamazoo, Mich., relates his experience:

"I was troubled with Nervous Debility for many years. I lay it to indiscretion and excesses in early youth. I became very despondent and didn't care whether I worked or not. I imagined everybody who looked at me guessed my secret. Imaginative dreams at night weakened me—my back ached, had pains in the back of my head, hands and feet were cold, tired in the morning, poor appetite, fingers were shaky, eyes blurred, hair loose, memory poor, etc. Numbness in the fingers set in and the doctor told me he feared paralysis. I took all kinds of medicines and tried many first-class physicians, wore an electric belt for three months, went to Mt. Clemens for baths, but received little benefit. While at Mt. Clemens I was induced to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, though I had lost all faith in doctors. Like a drowning man I commenced the New Method Treatment and it saved my life. The improvement was like magic—I could feel the vigor going through the nerves. I was cured mentally and physically. I have sent them many patients and will continue to do so."

ENTHUSIASM AND FAT

These two, like oil and water, mix poorly. This does not imply fat men and women never get enthusiastic. They do down deep inside. But what does it amount to? Their fat doesn't get excited. They can't transmute their enthusiasm into energetic action, so they might as well keep calm.

Thus it is that fat people generate much steam for life's work, only to find the load too much for the horse-power, and as a result thousands of both sexes get just so far and no further. "Much they care" says the uninitiated slim one. But they do care. They care keenly for financial, mental, social, business, tail hunting, straight-front and comfort reasons and that is why Marmola Prescription Tablets have been so heartily welcomed by the overweight classes. The reason is not far to seek. Marmola Prescription Tablets take off a good pound a day, in most cases, without interfering in any way with the taker's table tendencies or his love of ease. To some possibly, their absolute economy appeals. Thus one large case costing seventy-five cents at any drug store or of the makers, The Marmola Company, Detroit, Mich., direct, is said in itself alone to contain enough tablets to make a decided change in anyone.

But these are merely surface reasons. Marmola checks the formation of fat by curing the fat-forming tendency. The fat just slips away, as it were, without a sign of a wrinkle. Thus the work these tablets do is not injurious. It is natural. That is the real reason these tablets are so much appreciated. They are safe.

NEW YEAR STARTED WITH A BALANCE OF OVER $600

Annual Meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society Yesterday Afternoon—Discussion of Many Matters of Importance—The New Officers.

With a balance of $615.14 and in view of the success of the two past years to lend encouragement to the efforts of the directors the prospects are that the exhibition on September 16th, 17th and 18th will be the greatest success held under the auspices of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society. The annual meeting of the society was held yesterday at the city council chambers and preparations for the coming year were made. That the interests of the society and Peterborough's growing fair will be as well looked after is shown by the re-election of the president and secretary, Messrs Leary and Hall respectively. Both these officials have to do a great deal of the active work at exhibition time and the way they have performed this work in the past justifies the confidence placed in them by the directors.

Those in attendance at the meeting were President Leary, 1st Vice-President J H Garbutt; 2nd Vice-President S F Redmond; Secretary-Treasurer F J A Hall and the following directors— Messrs Jas R Bell, W E Conway, J J Turner, sr. Dawson Kennedy, James O'Shea, G A Gillespie, John Brown, S F Redmond, Wm Collins, W B Stewart.

President Leary, who occupied the chair, in opening the meeting, regretted that there was not a large attendance of citizens as they had been asked to come through the local press. He said he thought the directors could well afford to congratulate themselves on the success of last year's fair. He regretted that the bylaw for the city to purchase the exhibition grounds had been voted down but said that in his opinion it was because the citizens did not comprehend the full value of the grounds for park and other purposes and were inclined to look upon them as simply a place for holding a fall fair, one week in the year. The fair was a successful institution and

The president then made a comparative reading of the different items of finance in connection with the exhibition of 1907 and 1908.

Secretary Hall read the minutes of the annual meeting of 1908. These were adopted as read. He then read the Secretary's report for 1908, which was as follows;

Treasurer's statement for the year ending 31st December, 1908, presented to the annual meeting held at Peterborough;

RECEIPTS.

Working expenses, $677.45.

Total expenditure, $3,366.95.

Balance including amount retained for members' fees for 1909, $615.14.

Statement of assets and liabilities on December 31, 1908.

ASSETS.

Cash on hand or in bank, including $124, retained for members' fees for 1909, $615.14.

Grants and donations still due, $50.

Total assets, $665.14.

LIABILITIES.

Membership fees retained for 1909, $124.

Total liabilities, $124.

MEMBERSHIP STATEMENT.

Members whose fees were retained from prize money of 1907, No. 93, amount, $93.

Members who have paid during 1908, No. 105, amount $105.

Members whose fees have been retained for 1909, from prize money of 1908, No. 124, amount $124.

The report and also the auditor's report were received and adopted.

President Leary spoke of the great pleasure he had in being associated for the past two years with such an energetic and capable board of directors. By industry and a spirit of progressiveness the fair had become favorably known in outside places.

The question was to get some good permanent grounds for holding the fair and he thought the city would eventually see it in that light and vote a good sum of money towards obtaining the grounds.

The election of officers for 1907 was then proceeded with.

Mr J H Garbutt, first vice-President of the society spoke of the splendid management of the fair and had great pleasure in nominating Mr R H Leary who was unanimously re-elected.

The other officers were elected as given at the conclusion of this report.

INCREASE OF BOARD

The proposition to pass a bylaw increasing the membership of the Board of Directors from 15 to 24, with an executive committee of 8, was brought up by the president. It was moved by Mr W Collins, and seconded by Mr Stewart, that the board membership be increased to 24, and the bylaw to that effect was made.

Mr Collins' motion in naming the board was seconded by Mr Turner and carried.

It was decided that Messrs R Fair and A A Hollingshead be auditors for the year.

The bylaw to increase the membership from 15 to 24 was adopted.

Mr Garbutt made a motion that the members of Parliament for both East and West Peterborough be added to the list of honorary directors.

This was seconded and adopted.

The appointment of an executive committee was next considered.

The idea of forming an executive from the directors appointed was explained by President Leary, who said the committee should be composed of men who are able to attend every meeting and take a very active interest in the affairs of the society.

Mr Turner brought up the matter of having the secretary and treasurer appointed as separate officers. He said he thought the duties in connection with the dual office made the work too burdensome for Mr Hall. As Mr Hall had been chosen secretary-treasurer for the year however, Mr. Turner's suggestion, while it met with approval was left over for consideration until next year.

The 16th, 17th and 18th of September were dates decided on for holding the next fair.

Directors Turner, Conway and Gillespie were chosen as a committee to look after the arranging for a bond for the treasurer.

On motion of Messrs Turner and Collins, the secretary was instructed to write any societies who might be likely to send excursions to the fair and give them the dates of the exhibition and other information.

On motion of Mr Conway a vote of thanks was tendered the Mayor, and Aldermen for the use of the council chambers, and the press for assistance, the city and county councils for handsome donations and to all who assisted toward the success of the exhibition.

OFFICERS.

The officers and directors for the year are;

HE KNOWS FROM HIS EXPERIENCE

That Dodd's Kidney Pills Will Cure Bright's Disease

Postmaster Cote Tells How the Great Canadian Kidney Remedy Cured Him After Doctors Had Given Him Up.

Le Petit Bois Franc, Temiscouata County, Quebec, Jan 22— Special — Mr Charles Cote, postmaster here, is firmly convinced that Dodd's Kidney Pills will cure Bright's Disease or any other disease of the Kidneys. He knows it from his experience. Hear what he says;

"For over four years I was troubled with Backache, Rheumatism and lack of ambition and my urine was of a dark, unnatural color. I was attended by three doctors who did me no good. The last one told me it was only a waste of money to try anything else as I could not live more than a year at the outside.

"At the verge of death I decided to give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial. I used eighteen boxes and today my Rheumatism, Backache and Headache are gone. My urine is like that of a child. I feel I owe my life to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Postmaster Cote had all the symptoms of Bright's Disease. The doctors evidently knew he had Bright's Disease — The most deadly form of kidney disease. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him. They will cure any form of Kidney disease.

HOTEL KEEPER CLOSES PLACE

And Grimsby is Without a Hostelry—"Village Inn" Puts up Shutters.

Grimsby, Jan. 23.—Last night Grimsby is without accommodation for the traveling public.

On Jan. 4, when the result of the vote on the repeal of local option was made known, J. W. Vandyke took down the sign from in front of the old and favorably known hostelry, the Lincoln House, and closed it up. This left the business all in the hands of the Village Inn, one of the best equipped and conducted houses in Western Ontario. The owner, Mr. Hewitt of Chicago, intimated to the local optionists that if he could not supply his guests with everything in the line of accommodation that they wished he would close the house, too.

Last night the shutters were put up and everything is dark within. There will be no place for a traveler to get a meal or a bed unless the local option people make good their ante-election promises of a temperance house, conducted on the joint stock plan, which is unlikely.

Captain Pauley a Millionaire.

Toronto, Jan. 23.—A syndicate composed of New York, Boston and Montreal capitalists offered Capt. Pauley eight hundred thousand dollars in cash for his claim in Gowganda. The Pauley claim is one of the show claims of the district, and being only 40 chains from the Mann and Armstrong properties, he can show native silver stripped for over 300 feet. Captain Pauley gave an option last night to the president of the Equitable Insurance Co. for $1,500,000, retaining one-quarter interest.

The smallpox hospital of London is in an unsanitary condition, the grand jury of the assizes alleges.

This woman says that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her after everything else had failed.

Mrs. W. Barrett, 602 Moreau St., Montreal, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse instead of better. I was fast failing in health, and I was completely discouraged.

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it cured the female weakness, making me strong and well.

"Every woman who suffers from female troubles should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The Chieftains in Debate endeavored," said Sir Wilfrid, "to reach the same conclusion by negotiations and diplomatic action."

Mr. Borden's policy was the same as the Government's in respect to a white British Columbia, but this policy had been supplemented on the coast. Here was a telegram from Mr. Borden to one of his supporters: "The Conservative party stands for a white Canada, the protection of white labor and the absolute exclusion of Asiatics."

"I didn't send it," protested Mr. Borden.

"Then if he didn't one of his followers obtained his seat by false pretences," said Sir Wilfrid, who declared the telegram was a fac simile, but Mr. Borden denied the authorship of the concluding portion.

Later in the debate Mr. Borden explained that the alleged telegram as read by Sir Wilfrid was brought to his attention by Mr. Templeman. It was sent to The Victoria Colonist and by him to Mr. Cowan to be read at a public meeting.

The Liberal party had come back from the Maritime Provinces with the same strength as before, continued the Premier, and in Ontario the standing was exactly the same. They suffered in Manitoba. This was "no credit to the Opposition," but due to the fact that the voters' lists had been "outrageously juggled." Likewise it was not to the discredit of the Government that the party lost in British Columbia. That was the only province in which the election had been fought on principle. In Ontario and other provinces there was simply an appeal to certain prejudices.

Replying Mr. Borden on the matter of the bribery of constituencies, Sir Wilfrid declared Mr. Borden was the most intolerate briber in Canada. He did not bribe constituencies, but whole provinces.

Hon. Mr. Foster was the next speaker. He declared that the Conservative party would never give adherence to a policy that abrogated the right to say who should be admitted to our shores. During the campaign Sir Wilfrid had offered no strong note as to the tone of public life, but at Sorel and Niagara Falls had thanked God he was no purist. "Every scalawag who has taken his 50 per cent. will say "Amen to that," said Mr. Foster.

Discussing the marine investigation Mr. Foster dealt with the Marine enquiry and called for the resignation of Hon. Mr. Brodeur.

Wrote Letters to Get Money.

Whitby, Jan. 23.—With tears flowing freely, Mrs. Rachel Hubbard of Uno Park, New Ontario, admitted to Police Magistrate Harper yesterday the writing of threatening letters to John Wakeland of Cannington and David J. Adams, banker, of Port Perry, in this county. This was in reply to the magistrate's question if she had anything to say before he committed her for trial.

The evidence showed that there had been a land deal over forty years ago between the Hubbard woman's husband, before she married him, and Wakeland. She had heard it talked about, and in the dire straits of their present circumstances, in a wild country fifty miles north of Cobalt, had thought thus to get some money.

Coal-Steel Judgment.

London, Jan. 23.—The Canadian Associated Press understands that the judgment of the judicial committee of the Privy Council in the Coal-Steel case will be delivered during the first week in February.

British Pensions Costly.

London, Jan. 23.—The official figures on the old-age pensions granted up to Dec. 31 last show that the total number of pensions granted was 596,-338, costing £7,450,315 per annum.

Absolute Right to End Her Life.

Chicago, Jan. 23.—A remarkable letter was left by Miss Alice Law, aged 26, an editor employed by a local publishing firm, who committed suicide yesterday by asphyxiation.

The letter is addressed "To all whom it does not concern," and states: "I am ending my life because I am seized with an acute disinclination to live, and I believe I have an absolute right to end my life if I wish. The struggle is too hard. There is too much work, too much monotony, too much weariness, and not enough art, music, recreation and rest."

PETERBOROUGH SCOTSMEN TO CELEBRATE BURNS NIGHT

Peterborough Scotsmen will celebrate "Burns night" on Monday evening by holding a banquet at the Snowden House. The function will be under the auspices of Camp Clan Alpine, No. 36, Sons of Scotland and complete arrangements for it have have been made. The banquet will start at 8.30 o'clock sharp and the programme for the evening includes an excellent toast list and several musical numbers. The skirl of the pipes will be heard and Scotch songs will be well sung.

Mr. Mearns, of Toronto, a Grand Camp officer, will be present and also his Worship Mayor Rush. The chairman will be Dr. McKinnon. The bill of fare will include "haggis."

A large number of tickets have been sold. There are a few left and they can be secured at a dollar each from the following members of the committee;—Messrs. A. Chalmers, J. R. Bell, T. S. Mackay and J.F. Linton.

ESSAY COMPETITION FOR PUPILS OF PETERBOROUGH

The Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League has arranged a competition open to the pupils of the public schools of Peterborough, including St Peter's school and the Collegiate Institute. The preliminary details have been arranged.

The prizes which will be a first, second and third for each school, will be awarded for essays on the subject "Why Peterborough Should Abolish the Bars." In addition to the prizes for each school there will be a general prize of a ten dollar gold piece for the best essay of all those submitted. The first prize for each school will be a five dollar gold piece. The second and third prizes have yet to be arranged.

The competition will likely close about June 1st in order to have the awards made before the closing of the schools at the summer term.

Watch the temperance department of the Review next Saturday for full particulars

WILL TRY TO GET THE NEXT CONVENTION FOR PETERBORO'

The Master Painters' Association of Peterborough held a special meeting last night in their hall, Simcoe street, when Mr. E. J. Hohs, of Toronto, gave a practical demonstration of the analysis of different grades of lead before a large and very interested audience. The demonstration was a thorough and instructive one.

It was decided by the association to send a deputation to Hamilton to consult with the executive of the Master Painters' Association which is holding a convention there on Jan. 28th. The deputation will endeavor to secure the next convention for Peterborough. If they succeed it will mean that three or four hundred members of the Canadian and American Associations, many of whom will be accompanied by their wives, would visit Peterborough, and in case they did this city would be given a wide and desirable publicity.

Although it has only been in existence a couple of months, the local branch of the Master Painters' Association is in a very flourishing condition. It has in view the general betterment of all departments of the trade by the discussion and adoption of any measures of improvement from the standpoint of both the painter and the public.

NATIONAL MISSIONARY CONGRESS TO BE HELD AT TORONTO IN THE SPRING

Much attention is being given by the churchmen of Canada to a National Missionary Congress to be held under the leadership of the Laymen's Missionary Movement in Toronto, March 31st to April 4th. The Non-Catholic churches of the entire Dominion are entering most heartily into the preparations for the conference, which will give Canada the leadership among the Christian nations of the world in the adoption of a National Missionary Policy.

Sessions will be held for five days in Massey Hall and strong denominational conferences will be held each afternoon, with other conferences for women, college students, Sunday school workers and others.

The secretaries of the Mission Board of the United States will be invited as honorary commissioners and a number have already promised to attend. Mr. Robert E. Speer, of New York, possibly the best known of all the American Secretaries, will be present and is on the schedule for at least three different addresses. Prominent laymen from Boston, New York and Washington, will also be present, and one of the interesting features of the Congress will be the report from several of these men, who have recently visited a number of mission fields as Commissioners for the Laymen's movement.

Mr. Silas McBee, of New York, a particular friend of President Roosevelt, and his spokesman on several recent occasions will speak on "Missions and Church Unity." He is the editor of The Churchman, the organ of the Protestant Episcopal Church, in the United States.

The Congress Committee have opened headquarters in an office building in Toronto, with H. K. Caskey, of New York, in charge and are planning for 2,000 regular commissioners and several hundred honorary commissioners, composed of guests from the States, students in theological seminaries and pastors of Canadian churches.

FINED $28.40 OR 30 DAYS IN GAOL FOR OBSTRUCTING CONDUCTOR ON G.T.R. TRAIN

For creating a disturbance and obstructing Conductor George Jobbitt while in the discharge of his duties on the special train returning from Lindsay on Thursday night last, a young man of this city was fined twenty dollars and costs, amounting to $28.40, to be paid forthwith, or thirty days in gaol, at the police court this morning.

Mr. R. F. McWilliams appeared for the young man. He did not plead guilty, stating that the prisoner did not know what he was doing. After the detective had given his evidence, the counsel for the defence did not proceed any further.

Mr. Wm. Scott, a detective of the Grand Trunk between North Bay and Belleville, was called. He was on the special train coming from Lindsay last Thursday night. He saw the prisoner as he was going through the train in a mix-up with the brakeman. The conductor soon after came in and asked the defendant for his ticket. The prisoner said that he had given it and the conductor said that he had'nt. He was very abusive in his language. P.C. Meharry was on the train and he with the witness separated the prisoner and conductor.

THE YORK LOAN MAY PAY FORTY CENTS ON DOLLAR

Toronto, January 22.—There is a semi-official confirmation for the belief that the York Loan will pay 40 cents on the dollar, to be found among the papers filed in the Surrogate office in connection with the estate of Robert Hugh Johnston.

Letters of administration are asked for the estate of Robert Johnston, an engineer, who died leaving an estate of $437.79.

Among his assets is a claim against now in liquidation. The papers say: "The amount of claim is 154 and the probable amount likely to be realized as advised by liquidators is 40 cents on the dollar."

This statement is made by the executor, has to be ratified by the Surrogate court officials, and as the papers state this 40 per cent. on the dollar estimate is obtained from the liquidators.

ATHLETIC CLUB TO HOLD CONCERT

Mr. J. W. Bennett of Canadian Cordage Co. Will Speak at T.A.S.A.C. Function

Mr. J. M. Bennett will be the lecturer next Wednesday evening at St. Peter's T.A.S. Assembly Hall, at a concert given under the auspices of the Athletic Club of the Society. He will speak on a trip through Europe to India and being a natural humorist, his address should be well worth hearing. He has spoken at several of the regular meetings and has shown himself an excellent entertainer. A musical programme will also be presented.

WEDDING BELLS

CONWAY—FRALLEY.

St. Martin's church, Ennismore, on Tuesday, the 19th, at ten o'clock, was the scene of a very happy event, when Miss Matilda Henrietta Fralley and Mr. W. J. Conway were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, by the Rev. Father Fitzpatrick, in the presence of a large number of friends. The bride wore a suit of blue with white hat and veil to match and was attended by the groom's sister, Miss Maggie Conway, of Toronto. The groom was ably supported by Mr. Pat Killen, of Ennismore. After the ceremony the bridal party repaired to the home of the bride, where a sumptuous dinner awaited them. The wedding being a quiet one, did not deter the friends of the young couple from remembering them with valuable presents, showing the high esteem in which they are held throughout the community.

In the evening the happy couple drove to Peterborough and left on the five o'clock train for Toronto, returning on Thursday evening, when a reception was held at the home of the groom. The groom's gift to the bride was a seal coat and to the bridesmaid a signet ring. Mr. and Mrs. Conway will enter their married life with best wishes of a large number of friends.

BELMONT CLUB'S FIRST RECEPTION

Held Last Evening in Their Rooms, George St.---An Enjoyable Affair

The first reception of the Belmont Club was held last evening in their rooms on George street, and proved in every way a decided success. The affair was quite informal. Many lady and gentlemen friends of the members attended and frequent complimentary remarks were made about the well-arranged and attractive quarters of the club.

During the evening music was provided by an orchestra, and dainty refreshments were served.

HAVELOCK TO HAVE DENTIST

Havelock, Jan. 22nd.

Havelock is to shortly secure a long felt want, that of a permanent dentist in town. Mr. Thompson, dentist of Omemee, will in the first week in March open up-to-date dental parlors above the new Standard Office, lately erected. He has bought our the dental practice here of Dr. Middilton, of Peterborough, and is highly recommended.

A Concert and Oyster Supper will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Church, in the Church School Room, on Tuesday, January 26th. Program commences at 8 p.m., and Supper will be served at 9.30 p.m. Admission 25c. 1d

AT THE FRANCO-BRITISH EXHIBITION

Unsolicited Praise of the Nordheimer Piano

The London, Eng., Musical News, of July 2nd, 1908, says;—"Really partial as the French section of music is, it far surpasses the British section. But if a faint blush of shame mantles the Briton's cheek as he leaves the French department, it is deepened when he enters Canada. That a large country like France should beat us may be tolerated, but here is one of our own colonies which surpasses us in the number of exhibits, and the way in which they are displayed. Canada leaves the Mother Country far in the rear. Pianos are shown by Nordheimer, of Toronto, Williams of Oshawa, Martin Orme of Ottawa, Bell of Guelph, Leach of Montreal, Gerhard Heintzman of Toronto, and Newcombe of Toronto. Those that we tried are excellent in tone and touch, though one or two neede tuning after the voyage. The Nordheimer pianos, in particular, need fear no comparison, as far as uprights go, with any competitor, and it is a matter of congratulation that such excellent instruments are manufactured in Canada. The chief point in which Canadian, like American, pianos are lacking is in the cases; possibly they suit the Transatlantic taste, but refined beauty of design is conspicuous by its absence. Reed organs some with two manuals, and with pedals, are shown by the Karn and Thomas Organ Companies." 1d

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT

The Review Opens Its Columns to a Discussion of the Question of the Hour—Contributions Requested.

The Review has received several "funny" letters on this movement, which it cannot find space for. The Equal Suffrage question is a live one at present and a serious discussion of it in all parts of the country as in the United States and Great Britain, will show what those in favor and those against it in Canada think of it. An adverse general opinion or what is the same thing, an indifferent attitude respecting it, will have the affect of shelving it perhaps permanently. When next it comes to the surface, if it does again arise, the objections will point to its earlier fate as a full and complete justification of a hostile demonstration against it. Those who neglect the discussion of this question in the year 1909, cannot complain, if after that, further discussion is declined.—Ed.

A MAN'S VIEW.

To the Editor of the Review:

Sir,—Why do women wish to disturb the present order of public affairs? If women have a right to vote in Parliamentary elections can't they see that they would have a right to be elected to represent us in Parliament? Why, you know that would be simply absurd. No one objects to municipal franchise for women because it is not a question of policy there, but merely one of paying taxes. No large questions arise. But in a Parliament where great questions of State and public policy about which they cannot possibly know anything, come up, how under the shining sun could they give an intelligent vote? Why, the whole thing is ridiculous. Women have shown by their extravagant and absurd dress that they are prepared to sacrifice common sense to a mere fad at any time. Dear me! I can't for the life of me see why they want to kick up such a bobbery when, if they only knew it, they are much happier under the wing from which they emerged when first they saw the light of day. I personally have no objection to women voting, but the attendant circumstances are likely to be such as to make it very unpleasant. It may do in Utah and Wyoming, as your correspondent suggests, but not in more settled and fully developed climes. The idea is absurd.

Yours etc.,

A MAN.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN FOR PETERBOROUGH

The Matter in This Department is Supplied by the Peterborough Temperance and Moral Reform League Which Has Arranged for Its Publication.

LOCAL OPTION IT IS.

A vigorous and sane campaign for the formation and education of public opinion.

As already published the temperance people of Peterborough are pronounced in their determination to have the saloon banished. It is of no service to the city, it is ruinous to the individual, and to the home, it is the cause of much disorder, lawlessness and debauchery, and no one has been found to publicly espouse its cause, or to enumerate any favorable qualities it possesses.

Every citizen interested in the temperance cause may help by sending clippings, short original articles, or pointed and brief letters of information to the office of the "Temperance and Moral Reform League," 173 Simcoe street.

WHAT LOCAL OPTION IS.

A Campaign having been determined on in Peterborough, explanation of what Local Option is may not be out of place. There is a very general impression abroad that this law is apart altogether and distinct from the License Law. Such is not the case. It is simply a part of the License Act. The law gives the council of any municipality the right to pass a by-law prohibiting the granting, in that municipality, of licenses, for the retail sale of liquors, provided that before being finally passed the by-law has been duly approved by the electors in the manner provided for in the Municipal Act.

Full provision is made in the Liquor License Law for the enforcement of that by-law and all the machinery that is provided for the enforcement of that Act comes into operation for the enforcement of the Local Option by-law, when it has been once duly passed. The penalties imposed upon persons breaking the law are just the same as those provided for infringement of the License Law, when it is in operation. In short, Local Option simply enacts that no licenses shall be granted in a municipality adopting it, leaving the machinery for enforcement as effective as before.

Under the License Law all citizens of Peterborough, except 21 are prohibited from selling liquor. Local option places the 21 on same basis.

THE PETITION.

In order that the council of any municipality may be under obligation to prepare and submit to the electors a Local Option by-law, there must be presented to that body prior to a certain date, fixed by the law, a petition signed by at least one-fourth of the qualified voters of the municipality, appearing on the last revised voters' list. The signing of such a petition does not constitute a vote in favor of Local Option, nor does it necessarily commit the person signing, to support the by-law. It is simply a declaration that the question should be submitted to the people to be dealt with as they deem best. This is one of the questions, that the law has put into the hands of the voters, and the petition is merely a request, that they be given an opportunity of expressing themselves. A ratepayer who believes that it is proper that this opportunity should be given can with a clear conscience, sign the petition, whether or not he has made up his mind to support or oppose the by-law.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

It was reported at Tuesday's meeting that friends of this movement have been approached by those opposed and influences have been used to get them to give pledges, that they would not sign the petition, for the submission of the by-law. All friends of temperance, indeed all citizens, are asked to be on their guard, against any such action. As has been pointed out elsewhere, to sign the petition is simply to ask that the voice of the people be heard, and surely every person should favor such a reasonable request.

FINANCING LOCAL OPTION.

At the meeting Tuesday afternoon, the question of securing the necessary funds to meet the cost of the campaign, received consideration. A subscription list has been started and friends of the movement are asked to subscribe such sums, as will enable the committee to carry on the campaign with vigor. It was pointed out that the expense will be considerable. Rooms have been rented, and furnished, space has been secured in the local papers, light and fuel have to be provided, and a good deal will have to be spent in printing. The League will look to the various churches for contributions, and so far have been much encouraged. Mr. A. Brown, the treasurer will be glad to receive contributions from those desirous of helping, at his office, 306 Water-st.

HAVELOCK.

In the list of places adopting temperance legislation was the village of Havelock, which decided with a large majority, to join the procession toward happy homes and cleaner lives, by abolishing the bar. It was freely said, that the voters of the "Railroad Village" were of too intellectual a class to tie themselves up by any such "fool legislation." They have given their answer, and it is to be hoped that those who professed so high a regard for the electors are satisfied.

When Havelock comes into line on May 1st, there will be but two licensed houses in Peterborough county.

We have it on good authority that there will be at least 100 places in which the fight will be waged during this year. Among them are two of the cities, Peterborough and Brantford. None of the cities in Ontario have heretofore undertaken a campaign for the abolition of the bar, and our efforts will be watched with much interest.

SPORTING NEWS

LINDSAY PRESS ON THURSDAY NIGHTS GAME AT THAT TOWN

In reporting the Peterborough-Lindsay hockey match the Lindsay newspapers state that referee Moxon was impartial in his dealings. Of course if Lindsay had lost it would have been different. The Post and and Free Press have the usual Lindsay report of a hockey match but the Warder is getting away from this Mulock's Corners style of journalism and has a good account of the game.

The Warder says in part:

Peterborough have a stalwart seven and they are good hockey players. There is no two ways about that. Last night was their great opportunity on soft ice, though, and although Peterborough followers may affirm to the contrary, there is small chance of them winning on a keen sheet where speed, trickiness and combination count.

Sturdy little Ray was one of the best of the visitors, and probably the pick o. the offence division. On keen ice he would have speed to burn and will need watching. The kid, for he is but eighteen, scored the three Peterborough tallies.

The visitors had also a husky pair of flyers on the wings, particularly Ben Dusty. Dusty has the board game down fine, but indulged in a little siesta in the frst half. When the turning posts was passed he got going like a race horse, and looked good for a goal any minute. Bill Rose on the opposite wing did his prettiest to make Cotey's life miserable. Careless little jabs on the solar plexus, cuts across the heels and seemingly accidental back flings of his stick as he skated off, were on his little programme of bad doings.

Wall. Parnell was a handy man at centre for the visitors.

Easily the best goal keeper seen on a foreign team for some time was Durocher, the young Frenchman, who minded the visitors' nets. He watched the puck like a cat, and was quick on his feet. We take off our hats to him.

"Just wait until next Tuesday night" the Peterborough supporters said.

Lindsay plays in Peterborough that night and a special train will take the crowd down.

In times of yore, Peterborough visited Lindsay and beat home teams on Lindsay ice but the 'hoodoo' as long since departed for parts unknown, and Lindsay now has the hind hood of a Jack rabbit secretly stowed away.

On the whole the result was a surprise to Lindsay fans. They expected Lindsay to win but owing to the soft ice it was thought that the score would not be so large in their favor. Peterborough also figured on winning, knowing that in past years Lindsay as a rule lost on soft ice. The Midgets demonstrated that they could travel faster than Peterborough on groggy ice.

TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

Special to the Review

Havelock, Jan 22—Havelock played its first league match on Monday night last with Stirling on home ice. The game resulted in a score of 8-7, in favor of Stirling but the score does not represent the game, as Havelock certainly had them guessing in the first half the score at the end being 2-1 in favor of the visitors. In the second half poor lights were responsible for the downfall of the locals. With a little more practice and combination Havelock will have a very strong team.

The line-up was as follows:

STIRLING.
Goal—Grain.
Point—Whitly.
Cover—Taylor.
Rover—Betts.
Right—Kennedy.
Centre—Fletcher.
Left—Airheart.

HAVELOCK
Goal—Neil.
Point—Rose.
Cover—Robson.
Rover—G Mathison.
Centre—Ferguson.
Right—H Mathison.
Left—Curry.

Referee—R Pearce, Norwood
Timekeepers — Clancy and Armstrong.
Penalty—T Lancaster.
Umpires— Mitchell and Ormiston.

Havelock did not go to Madoc on Friday night owing to there being bad ice on account of the soft weather.

The following is the standing of District No 2—

	Won	Lost
Stirling	2	0
Madoc	1	1
Havelock	0	1
Marmora	0	1

Games yet to be played are—
Jan 25—Marmora at Stirling.
Dec 1—Madoc at Havelock.
Feb 3—Stirling at Marmora.
Feb 8—Madoc at Marmora.
Feb 10—Havelock at Stirling.
Feb 15—Marmora at Havelock.
Feb 17—Stirling at Madoc.

The silver trophy cup, the generous donation of J W Pearce, Esq, of Marmora, which the different teams in the Trent Valley League are contending is at present on exhibition in Mr Jas E Fowler's window. It is a most beautiful cup, the inside being gold lined and the outside handsomely adorned with a pair of silver hockey skates and sticks.

The Havelock club are now debating that most important question of where they will place it when it is awarded to them at the end of the season. They made a good showing on Monday night last although they did lose and everyone is quite confident that they will receive the cup if for nothing else "For their good intentions."

A SHINING MARK

What Parisian Sage did for Chas. S Baker, it will do for you. Read the following;

"I was so bald and such a shining mark for my friends, that I, as a last resort, tried your Parisian Sage (after trying several bottles of the highly advertised and high priced so called hair restorers), and I am glad to say I now have a heavy growth of new hair. I am now 44 years of age and I have a heavy growth of new hair after carrying my shining mark for over seven years. I gladly recommend Parisian Sage to all afflicted with baldness." Chas. S. Baker, 491 Main St. East, Rochester, N.Y.

Parisian Sage, the only natural hair restorer, is guaranteed by Wm. Madill to cure dandruff, stop falling hair, and cure itching of the scalp, or money back. It is the ladies' favorite hair dressing, because it adds charm and luxuriance to the hair. 50 cents a bottle. Ask Wm. Madill, the druggist, about it.

Prince Rupert town lots will not be offered till after May 1.

INDIAN IS MAKING GOOD

Fred Simpson Gives Promise of Being World-Beater Says Tom Eck

J B Hay of the Peterborough Bowling Club received a letter today from Tom Eck who is handling Fred Simpson in New York. He states that the Indian is developing rapidly and gives promise of being a world beater. Eck says that in the relay race against Shrubb, Simpson didn't let the Englishman gain an inch on him running the four miles in 21.45, only thirty seconds slower than Shrubb ran the first four miles of the race.

Since going to Gotham, Simpson has run two miles on a board track in 10 mins 9 secs. and 10 miles on a slippery board track in 58 mins. The Indian did this in a pair of long pants and two heavy sweaters.

At Newark tonight Simpson runs a ten mile race against a relay of two, Herron and Spring, both considered good men.

A Marathon race between Simpson and Johnny Hayes is being arranged to take place at Newark within three weeks.

EXPECTED HOME THIS EVENING

Mr Walter Miller, who was injured in the GTR. wreck near Guelph about ten days ago and who since the accident has been confined in the Brantford hospital is expected to arrive home this evening. His father, Mr Finch Miller, received a telegram at noon today that "Jiddy" would arrive here on the 5.30 GTR train.

Cheap Theatres a Menace.

Montreal, Jan. 23.—The Montreal fire department has opened a strenuous campaign against the local picture houses, of which there are some sixty odd. Most of these shows are carried on in ordinary store rooms, where there are no precautions against fire. The fire captains, in inspecting the places, have found the back doors in many cases nailed up, and in other cases blocked with snow.

Fell From Train.

Galt, Jan. 23.—Yesterday afternoon, shortly after the C.P.R. express had passed west, a sectionman on the road between Dunfries and Ayr stations discovered a man lying by the side of the track in a semi-unconscious condition. He proved to be James Sullivan of London, who had fallen from the train. His condition is said to be serious.

Burglars Start Fire.

North Bay, Jan. 23.—Early yesterday morning fire was discovered in the east part of the store of Begg Bros. drygoods merchants. The new paid fire department confined the flames to the department in which the fire originated. There is evidence that an attempt was made to burglarize the premises. Loss $8,000.

Priest Is Absolved.

Cleveland, O., Jan. 23.—After fifteen years' rebellion against the authority of the Catholic Church, Rev. Father Antono F. Kolaszewski, has returned to the fold and has been forgiven and granted absolution.

He was the pastor of St. Stanislau's Church, and his parish was one of the largest in the city. He had some trouble with the late Bishop Horstmann and organized an "independent" Catholic church. His excommunication by the Pope followed.

Saving on Text Books.

Victoria, B.C., Jan 23.—Finance Minister Tatlow, at the opening of the Legislature, announced a surplus of $1,388,380 for the fiscal year ending last June, the fourth and largest surplus yet.

Since last July, when the Government established free text books, the Government has saved the thirty-five thousand school children of the province $27,340 for supplies. For these the Government, buying them at cost paid $17,300 and $7,600 for distribution and the salary of the staff. The system will be less costly every succeeding year.

THEATRICAL

The Great Cornell

The most daring, bewildering illusion ever attempted. The dream in mid air of the dainty Princess Aga, surpasses the fabled feats of the ancient Elyptian. Sorcerers, nor anything more magical can be found in the pages of the thousand and one knights. Its perfection represents fifteen years of patient research, and obtuse study and expenditure of many thousand dollars. The result of these labors is a veritable masterpiece of magic. The sensational marvel of the twentieth century and the crowning achievement of his long and brilliant career. The Great Cornell and his company will appear at the Grand Opera House, Peterborough, for one night, on Saturday, Jan. 30th. Matinee and night.

Do You Get Drunk?

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 23.—The first surprise of the Carmack trial came yesterday when affidavits were filled by the state attacking the competency of one of six jurors chosen. J. I. Leigh, on the ground that he was drunk on the day he was chosen.

Each talesman thereafter was asked whether he drank and whether or not he got drunk.

One man said he drank often, but got drunk only when he had nothing to do. He declared his last was fully sixteen years ago. He was rejected by the state.

A panel of 500 talesmen has been exhausted.

12 Tumors Removed Without an Operation

Silver Lake, Ontario, September 20, 1904.

Dear Mrs. Currah:—

"I am enjoying better health than I have for eight years, and I think I am entirely cured. I have none of the old symptoms. I am very grateful for my present health, and I think Orange Lily is the greatest treatment for women the world knows. Its use in my case caused 12 tumors or growths of some sort to be expelled. Some were as large as a hen's egg, and others smaller down to the size of a walnut. You may use my case in your advertisement, for it is the solid truth, and pen cannot describe all the good it has done for me."

Mrs. Louis F. Bolteridge.

ORANGE LILY

This letter gives an indication of the positive benefits that always follow the use of Orange Lily. It is an applied treatment, and comes in direct contact with the organs. It produces results from the start in all cases of women's disorders including painful periods, falling of the womb, leuchorrea, etc.

I will send a sample box containing 10 day's treatment absolutely free to any woman who has not yet tried it if she will send me her address.

Address with stamp.

THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE

Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I was surprised to see in your issue of Thursday last that the newly elected Board of Works had instructed our City Engineer to prepare plans for a 'cheap' bridge across the Otonabee on Smith street. From the general tenor of the report it appeared as if the 'cheaper' the structure the better it would suit some of them.

On reading over the list of names of the members of the Board of Works one is doubly surprised to think that these gentlemen should exhibit so little foresight and lack of grasp of modern requirements as to ask for a 'cheap' bridge.

Of all things to shave and skimp on in order to save a few dollars in first cost, a bridge should be the last as hundreds of lives will be dependent on its security every day of its existence.

Do our representatives on the Board and the general public comprehend just what is meant by a 'cheap' bridge. Perhaps not. Let us look at it.

The City Engineer Mr Hay last year made plans and estimates for bridges with an 18 ft and 24 ft roadway and submitted them to the council. Leaving out of account the 24 ft. bridge, let us consider the 18 ft. one as for a city bridge, a roadway any narrower is out of the question.

When the Engineer made up his estimate, one would suppose that he must have included the cost of a lot of frills and fancies which could be just as well left off and still have a good substantial but plainer structure. This must have been the case for surely no one would wish him to cheapen the bridge by making it lighter and hence weaker, and unsafe.

As a matter of fact, Mr Editor, this was not the case. Mr Hay's estimates included the cost only of bare necessities for a modern first class highway bridge built to carry a fifteen ton road roller. Surely no city is going to put up a bridge which will not carry its own road roller over it. The Dominion Goernment specifications require a structure capable of carrying 100 lbs per square foot of floor area and at the same time to safely carry across a rolling load of 20 tons. Surely then the city of Peterborough can not afford to build a bridge of less strength than that proposed in the original estimate. Let it be distinctly understood then that any paring of the cost is done at the expense of the carrying capacity and safety of this bridge.

I am aware that certain persons claim to have other estimates in which they try to show that a much less sum than that required by the Engineer's estimate is sufficient. These however, need be given little consideration. The engineer has careful measurements and soundings of the river, knows the nature of the bottom and the character of the stream. Thus he has a good idea of the cost of unwatering, and building piers and abutments, which nobody else has. His estimates also for the steel trusses were based on actual quotations by a well known Canadian Bridge Co. This being the case, Mr Editor, we must accept his figures as the most reliable available. All others are mere guesses and are not worthy a moment's consideration.

Mr Hay's estimate for the 18 foot bridge with two sidewalks was I believe, about $37,500 and this must be taken as the approximate cost of a first class structure. Peterborough is no "cheap John" town and her aldermen should, and I believe, will realize that fact and not attempt to erect a junk shop affair which would only be a laughing stock for outsiders and a disgrace to the city.

All talk about building a bridge for the Street Railway is entirely aside from the question of a modern structure for modern highway requirements must be stronger than necessary to carry our street car traffic. This street railway bogy is no more real than any other fairy tale.

Now granting, as all who stop to intelligently consider the question, must do, that a first class bridge is required, another question comes up for consideration, viz. the relative merits of steel trusses and reinforced concrete arches. Mr Hay's estimate makes the cost of the two types about equal and this year the city buys cement for 53 cents a barrel cheaper than last, which would decrease the cost of the concrete bridge by about $1300; so the cost of the two kinds may be left out of the question, the advantages, if any, appearing to be with the concrete. Outside of cost, however, there is no comparison. The advantages are all with the concrete bridge. A steel structure would require painting about every three years at a cost of about $450.

But most important of all, from the day it is erected, steel deteriorates and decreases in strength and is comparatively short lived. On the other hand concrete costs absolutely nothing for upkeep and only gets stronger with age. A steel truss is an eyesore while a concrete arch bridge such as that for which the City Engineer has prepared the plans is a 'thing of beauty' and will be to this city (if built) a 'joy forever.' It will be a strong rival of the lift lock as an attraction and object of interest to visitors.

Just consider for a moment the location of the Smith street bridge. It will join two of the city's most beautiful and most used parks, and is practically a park bridge. In the United States almost no other type of bridge but the concrete arch is now used in a public park. To erect a "cheap" structure at this place, would be a crying shame and the city would be sorry for it only once, but that would be as long as the bridge existed. The late Mrs Nichols was public spirited enough not only to present these beauty spots to the city but to provide for their being kept in such perfect condition for the benefit of the citizens that we are envied by all the other towns of the district. Surely then our city fathers will rise to the occasion and not only refuse to do anything to detract from the beauty of these spots, but, when they have the opportunity, add to their attractions, especially when it will be so much to their interest to do so from other reasons altogether.

Another and very important point in favor of the use of concrete is the fact that nearly all the money spent on it would be left here in Peterborough for the benefit of our merchants and industries of various kinds. If steel were used the raw material would be bought in the States from Carnegie. It would be manufactured probably by a bridge company in Montreal or Hamilton, and erected by them with their own workmen, and all that Peterborough mechanics would get out of it would be the building of the piers. On the other hand if a reinforced concrete bridge were built only the comparatively small sum of about $6500, would leave the city and would be for steel rods which would likely be rolled in Canadian mills. The cement would come from Lakefield, a suburb of the town. Outside of these two small items every cent would go to Peterborough industries or Peterborough workmen and would remain right here in the city. A large number of carpenters would be employed for a great part of the summer as well as skilled concrete workers and laborers, and idle men would not be standing around the streets as they were during the past summer.

Now Mr Editor, even supposing a concrete bridge cost say 30 per cent more than a steel one, which it does not, which would be better, for the city to pay $130, to itself or $100, to an outsider. Let the mechanic and workman, of Peterborough consider this.

Some weeks ago a letter appeared in your columns attempting to decry the use of concrete for this bridge, but to any one at all acquainted with the question the objections raised were hardly worthy of serious consideration. It was stated that concrete was only an experiment, and that we have no knowledge of its durability. The fact is, that concrete, made by the Romans thousands of years ago from a natural cement, much inferior to modern Portland cement is as good today as ever. It is used almost universally today the world over. The pillars in front of the court house in Victoria park were built thirty-five years ago of concrete and are as good today as ever.

It was said also that concrete bridges were not used on streams of this size. The fact is it is used in the United States, in France and Germany on rivers, in comparison with which the Otonabee is only a brook. I have before me descriptions of a concrete arch bridge over a river 700 feet wide, with 30 ft roadway, 30 ft above low water. Another bridge over a river 1000 feet wide with banks 50 ft. high, has a 16 feet roadway. The water during the spring floods rises about to the crowns of the arches of these bridges. The Otonabee is nothing in comparison. Even in a steel bridge the only part in contact with the water, viz. the piers, would be concrete anyway. Enough said on this point.

It was stated also that concrete bridges were not being generally used. Such a statement is laughable. One company alone in the United States, has erected over five hundred bridges without failure. Railways are every day replacing steel bridges only fifteen to twenty years old by concrete. New railways are using concrete bridges wherever possible.

It was stated that there are none in Canada. The town of St Thomas has just completed a concrete arch bridge of 116 ft span and this is the fourth such bridge. Smith street bridge would only require 100 ft spans.

Other objections such as the talk about the expense of erecting a complete bridge of wood first for forms only to take down afterwards are equally ridiculous. As well talk of erecting derricks for a steel bridge. No matter if a dozen wooden bridges had to be first built it is the total cost only that counts.

To summarize, Mr Editor, a few of the advantages of a concrete arch bridge are as follows:

1 Nearly the whole cost left in Peterborough.

2 No expense for painting or repairs.

3 It is flood proof, frost proof, rust proof and fire proof.

4 It grows stronger as it grows older. All others grow weaker.

5 It will be safe with any load ever put on it.

6 It is a permanent improvement, a part of the geology; once built, built for all time.

7 Last, but not by any means least, "It is a thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Keeping these advantages in mind it must be remembered that the cost is not estimated to be any greater, if as great, than a steel bridge to fill the requirements. Peterborough is an exceptionally favorable position to build a cheap concrete structure as it has an unlimited supply of good gravel close at hand and a remarkably cheap contract for cement.

It is to be hoped that the Aldermen the Board of Works and the citizens generally will consider this question seriously and not make a mistake which they will certainly regret. The Board of Works is composed of intelligent men who, I think only need to see the problem in its proper light, in order to authorize a structure that they and the citizens generally can take pride in, and which will stand for generations as a monument to their good sense.

Thanking you Mr Editor, for your space. I am,

Yours truly,
CIVIS.

TORONTO SAVINGS AND LOAN COMPANY

Annual General Meeting

The Annual General Meeting of the Shareholders of the Toronto Savings and Loan Company was held at the Head Office of the Company, Number 437 George Street, Peterborough, on Friday, the 22nd day of January, 1909, at two o'clock p.m.

DIRECTORS' REPORT

The Directors submit herewith their Twenty-Fourth Annual Report, showing the result of the business for the past year, accompanied by the Balance Sheet to the 31st of December, 1908.

The Gross Earnings for the year amounted to $191,579.61, and after payment of interest on Deposits and Debentures, and all expenses of management, there remained a net profit of $96,583.81. To this amount has been added $35,725 18, the balance carried forward from last year, which makes a total sum for distribution of $132,308.99.

This amount has been disposed of in the fallowing manner:

1—By payment of four Quarterly Dividends of 1½% each, equal to 6% for the year, amounting to	$60,000 00
2—By Bonus of 2% for the year on $1,000,000.00 Paid Up Capital	20 000 00
3—By Addition to the Reserve Fund	30,000 00
4—By Amount carried forward to Profit and Loss Account	22,308 99

The above addition to the Reserve Fund increases that account to $650,000.00, making it now 65% of the present Paid Up Capital of $1,000,000.00.

All payments maturing during the year on the Company's investments have been satisfactorily met, and the rentals from the property owned by the company have also been promptly paid. The books, accounts and securities of the company have been carefully examined by the Auditors and their report is attached to the Financial Statement.

LA GRIPPE'S VICTIMS

Left Weak, Miserable and a Prey to Disease in Many Forms.

La Grippe starts with a sneeze—and ends with a complication of troubles. It lays the strong man on his back—it tortures him with fevers and chills, headaches and backaches. It leaves him a prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, consumption and other deadly diseases. You can avoid La Grippe entirely by keeping your blood rich and red by the occasional use of Dr Williams Pink Pills. If you have not done this, and the disease lays you low you can banish all its evil after effects with this same great blood building, nerve restoring medicine. Here is proof of the wonderful power of Dr Williams Pink Pills over disease.

Mr P. E. Paulin, Collector of Customs at Caraquet, NB, says— "In the winter of 1907 I had a very severe attack of la grippe, which broke me down entirely. I had to take to bed for several weeks. During that time I employed a doctor, but without benefit, in fact I seemed to be getting worse and worse. I did not sleep, suffered from night sweats, and had no appetite. I was really a physical wreck. On a former occasion I had used Dr Williams' Pink Pills for general debility with great benefit so I decided to again try them. I sent for half a dozen boxes and began to use them at once. When taking the second box I began to feel quite a change in my condition. I was able to walk about the house and my appetite was improving. From that on I gained strength every day and before the six boxes were done I was able to return to the office and attend to my work. Now I enjoy the best of health, and although 63 years old, am feeling quite young. I think Dr Williams Pink Pills a splendid medicine for troubles of this kind."

Dr Williams' Pink Pills are a blood-making nerve restoring, tonic. In this way they cure anaemia, indigestion rheumatism, neuralgia, St Vitus' dance, and partial paralysis. They are the best medicine in the world for the ailments of girlhood and womanhood. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr Williams Medicine Co, Brockville, Ont.

ORCHESTRA GAVE ALL PROGRAMME

Enjoyable Concert at George St Church Last Evening

The members of the orchestra of George street church Sunday school demonstrated last night that they are the possessors of much talent. A concert was held in the Sunday school room under the auspices of the orchestra and the entire programme was furnished by members of that organization. The attendance was good considering the disagreeable night and the programme which was one of great merit was much enjoyed. Mr. S. R. Armstrong was chairman and the programme was as follows;—

PUTNAM'S PAINLESS CORN EXTRACTOR

AT DEATH'S DOOR

Doctors had to give her Morphine to ease the pain

Five boxes of "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Her

ENTERPRISE, ONT.,
Oct. 1, 1908.

For seven years I suffered with what physicians called a "Water Tumor". I would get so bad at times that I could hardly endure the pain. I could neither sit, stand, nor lie down. Hypodermics of Morphia had to be given me or I could never have borne the pain. Many physicians treated me, but my cure seemed hopeless, and my friends hourly expected my death. It was during one of these very bad spells that a family friend brought a box of "Fruit-a-tives" to the house. After much persuasion I commenced to take them, but I was so bad that it was only when I had taken nearly two boxes that I commenced to experience relief. I kept up the treatment, however, and after taking five boxes I was cured, and when I appeared on the street my friends said, "The dead has come to life." And this seemed literally true because I certainly was at death's door. But now I can work almost as well as ever I could, and go camping and berry-picking with the girls.

I will be glad if you will publish this testimonial, if it will further the interests of "Fruit-a-tives." They should be in every household. Yours very truly,

MRS. JAMES FENWICK.

Through the whole country around Enterprise, Ont., people are talking about this wonderful cure. By their marvellous action on the Kidneys, "Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Fenwick when the doctors said she could not be operated on and was doomed to die.

"Fruit-a-tives" cured Mrs. Fenwick when all else failed. Try them for your trouble. 25c. and 50c. a box, at dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

BANQUET WAS THOROUGHLY ENJOYABLE AND SUCCESSFUL

Held at Grand Hotel Last Night Under Auspices of the Local Carpet Weavers Association—Over Eighty Guests—Splendid Toast List

The spirit of general good fellowship was an outstanding feature at the banquet of the Carpet Weavers' Association at the Grand Hotel last night. It was the first annual affair of its kind under the auspices of the Association and to say it was successful would be expressing the matter in an altogether inadequate way.

The eighty odd officials and guests in attendance spent a thoroughly enjoyable evening in every respect and the nature of the function served also to establish stronger bonds of personal friendship and fraternal relationship. The members of the association are all employees of the Brinton Carpet Company, and it was most gratifying to note by the general tone of speeches and discussions that the relations between the men and the company are of a most cordial and harmonious character.

The value of the local union in affording those who belonged to it the privileges and benefits in their own interests was dwelt upon and at the same time its friendly and loyal attitude to employers was also emphasized. It was regretted by the gathering that the Brinton Co's. manager, Mr. H. E. Wadely, and Mrs. Wadely were unable to be present, owing to the fact that they were out of the city, and Mr. Wadely wrote the secretary and expressed his regrets. However, Mr. Pearce the popular superintendent, occupied a seat at the chairman's table, and made a happy response to the toast to the Brinton Carpet Company.

The toast list was a lengthy and well selected one and elicited appropriate proposals and replies. Mr. Edward Coley, the president of the Carpet Weavers' Association, acted as toastmaster and officiated in that capacity in a very capable and pleasing manner.

During the evening an entertaining vocal programme was given. Messrs. J. W. Avann, L. Ellington, and H. Nichol, of the Crystal, being the accompanists. The various songs were received with rounds of applause. They were of both a sentimental and humorous nature, and the company joined in the refrain. The vocalists excelled themselves and encores were the order of the night.

At the conclusion of the toast list and programme an enjoyable dance was held and it was in the small hours when the gathering broke up.

The entrance to the dining room and the room itself was profusely and tastefully hung with flags and patriotic decorations and presented a very attractive appearance. The sentiment that would be suggested by the decorations was borne out by speeches dealing with the toasts that called for an utterance of such feelings. The speakers told of their fondness for the Mother Country—the great majority present were from the old land—but at the same time, voiced their acknowledgement of Canada as a great country, and bespoke their attachment and loyalty to the land of their adoption.

The menu was ample and attractive, and the splendid service reflected great credit upon Mine Host Nixon and his augmented staff. The friendly and appreciative attitude of the association towards Mr. Nixon was shown in the toast to "Our Host and Hostess."

Mr. Walter Hall, the secretary of the Association, was taken quite by surprise when he was honored by being presented with a handsome carving set by his fellow members. A verbal address was made by Vice-President Alfred Giles in connection with the presentation and that gentleman dwelt upon the excellent qualities of Mr. Hall as the secretary of the organization and also referred to his general worth and popularity.

Mr. Hall made a grateful reply.

A letter was read in the course of the banquet by the secretary, in which Organizer Miles stated he was very sorry that he was unfortunately prevented from being in attendance.

THE TOAST LIST.

The toast list was as follows;—

The King—Chairman.
Army and Navy—Mr. W. Jackson.
Brinton Carpet Co—Mr. W. Hall.
The Ladies—Mr. R. Murdoch.
The visitors—Mr. E. Yarrington.

A Woman's Sympathy

Are you discouraged? Is your doctor's bill a heavy financial load? Is your pain a heavy physical burden? I know what these mean to delicate women—I have been discouraged, too; but learned how to cure myself. I want to relieve your burdens. Why not end the pain and stop the doctor's bill? I can do this for you and will if you will assist me.

All you need do is to write for a free box of the remedy which has been placed in my hands to be given away. Perhaps this one box will cure you—it has done so for others. If so, I shall be happy and you will be cured for 2c (the cost of a postage stamp). Your letters held confidentially. Write to-day for my free treatment. MRS. F. E. CURRAH, Windsor, Ont.

A MOTHER'S AID IN THE NURSERY

Every mother should be able to treat the minor ailments of her little ones. Prompt action may prevent serious illness—perhaps save a child's life. A simple remedy always at hand is therefore an absolute necessity, and there is nothing else so good as Baby's Own Tablets. These Tablets promptly cure all stomach and bowel troubles, break up colds, cure simple fevers, expel worms and make teething easy. Good for the new born baby or the well grown child and guaranteed to contain no opiate. Mrs. L. W. Smith, St. Giles, Que., says;—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and other ills of childhood, and find them the best medicine I have ever given my little ones." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

WINNIPEG $21.00

From Ontario points, via Chicago and St. Paul, Minneapolis or Duluth, and proportionate rates to other principal points in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Formerly the fare was five dollars and forty-five cents higher, and even at that rate a number of people preferred this route on account of passing through several of the large American cities. Now that the rates have been lowered, the travel via the Grand Trunk and this attractive route, is steadily increasing. Be sure and consult Grand Trunk agents before deciding on your trip.

Payment of Accounts

All accounts due the firm of H. LeBrun & Co. clothiers, are requested to be settled not later than the 8th of February next, as the books must be closed on that date. Parties having accounts against the firm are also requested to send them in for payment before above date. 6d

Not His Store

To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—In looking over the evidence in the Review re charges against Chief Howard of the fire brigade Mr. Craig says Chief Howard was in a hotel and a George street store drinking and having a merry time. No doubt some people might think it was my store, and in order to clear myself I will state that Chief Howard was only in this store once, and that was shortly before Xmas to find out if I was going to put any fancy decorations in the window, and if so he would have to report the name to the Fire Underwriters' Association.

Yours truly,
F. J. R. MITCHELL,
Wine and spirit merchant.

LINERS COLLIDE IN FOG SAVED BY THE WIRELESS

Seven Steamers Are Summoned to the Assistance of Big Vessels and Passengers Numbering 1,150 Are Transferred at Sea—Only Six Lives Lost.

New York, Jan. 25.—The drama of the sea, which, for more than 24 hours the whole world has practically simultaneously witnessed through the agency of wireless telegraphy, and which has not been without tragic features, ran through its last sensational scenes with the sinking of the Republic Sunday night when almost safe in harbor.

The ramming of the White Star liner Republic in a dense fog early Saturday morning by the Lloyd Italiano line steamship Florida off Nantucket Light, Mass., has been followed by a series of events constituting one of the most remarkable of ocean mishaps on record.

No less than seven ocean liners—the Baltic, New York, Furnessia, La Lorraine and Lucana—and the two crippled ships—Republic and Florida—are figuring in this stirring story.

The 442 passengers of the Republic have undergone two transfers on the open sea, first to the crippled Florida on Saturday morning and again early yesterday to the commodious Baltic, which is bringing also the 900 and more passengers from the disabled Florida.

With the great human cargo of 1,650 rescued persons, besides her own list of 930, the Baltic will arrive at New York early in the morning. The Republic, believed at one time to be safe, has gone down, and is under water near New York.

The Florida, with her bow rent from the terrific impact with the Republic, is slowly steering under her own steam for this port, convoyed by the American liner New York.

Six persons lost their lives in the collision. The message of Capt. Ransom of the Baltic to the White Star Co. in this city gave the names of the dead passengers as Mrs. Eugene Lynch of Boston and W. J. Mooney, a banker, of Langdon, N.D. The injured are Mrs. M. M. Murphy, wife of the financial agent of the Union Central Life Insurance Co. of Grand Forks, N.D., and Eugene Lynch of Boston.

Mr. Mooney and his wife, with Mr. and Mrs. Murphy, were bound on a pleasure trip from the west to the Mediterranean, and occupied staterooms on the top deck on the starboard side. Mr. and Mrs. Lynch occupied an adjoining stateroom, No. 23.

The steamer General Putnam has been chartered by the company, and will go alongside the Baltic when she reaches quarantine this morning.

Details of the collision at sea in the dense fog came fitfully by wireless yesterday from many receiving stations along the New England coast line. The story, though in brief, told how the passengers of the Republic and the Florida spent many anxious and uncomfortable hours following the wreck, and not until 8 o'clock yesterday morning, when all were safe and sound on the Baltic, did they have a feeling of security.

BOYS DROWN AT HAMILTON

Hamilton Lads Lose Lives in Gully Pond While Skating Saturday.

Hamilton, Jan. 25.—James Wright, 2 Mill street, nine years of age, and John Taylor, 157 North Bay street, 12 years old, were drowned on Saturday morning in one of the Caroline street gullies in rear of the Grant Spring Brewery.

Although the area of the gully is not large, the water is 20 feet deep. The boys were skating, and the ice, weakened by the thaw, gave way.

Taylor's body was recovered almost immediately, but all attempts to resuscitate him were in vain. The body of his unfortunate chum was not found until two o'clock Saturday afternoon.

When the boys sank, a youth named Roundtree managed to get them both out, but the ice gave way under the trio, and Roundtree had all he could do to save himself. He was exhausted when he managed to crawl out.

Taylor was still living when he was rescued the second time, and if anybody versed in giving the proper kind of treatment had been there his life might have been saved.

In Mine Explosion in Maryland---Battle in Penitentiary Hospital

Special to the Review.

Cumberland, Md. Jan 25—Fifteen or twenty are reported killed in a mine explosionn ear here this morning.

Pittsburg, Pa, Jan 25—One convict is dead and another convict and a guard are probably fatally injured as the result of a battle in the western penitentiary hospital on Sunday.

SHOULD HAVE MET BUT THEY DID NOT

The inaugural meeting of the Board of Health was to have been held this morning but there was no quorum and nothing was done. Mr. Edgar came to the city clerk's office, but went away as there was none of the other members of the Board there. Mr. Murty was the next to show up, but he went away too on finding no one present. Mr. W. J. Johnston came along later but did not remain, as there was nobody on hand.

ARNPRIOR AND PONTIAC RAILWAY

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—Application will be made to Parliament this session for the incorporation of the Arnprior & Pontiac Railway Co., with power to build and operate a line of railway from the Pontiac Pacific Junction line between Quyon and Campbell's Bay, southerly across the Ottawa River to Fitzroy Harbor, and thence westerly via Arnprior to a point on the Kingston & Pembroke Railway at High Falls, also from Fitzroy Harbor easterly to a point on the Canadian Pacific Railway at or near Britannia, and to a point on the Grand Trunk at or near South March, with power also to construct a passenger and railway bridge across the Ottawa River at the Chats Falls.

NEW RAILWAY FOR ALBERTA

Extensions Decided Upon---Saskatchewan Guarantees Are Duplicated.

Edmonton, Alta., Jan. 25.—As a result of a conference between the Rutherford Government and D. D. Mann, the vice-president of the C.N.R., is in a position to state there are three extensions to be decided on. The Government has not yet stated what will be the basis of the guarantee, but it is understood that it will be practically the same as that of the Saskatchewan Government.

At as early a date as possible a line will be projected from Edmonton northwest to Fort Assiniboine on the Athabasca River, and eventually to Lesser Slave Lake and the Peace River Crossing. This will tap the great north country.

It is understood that the C.N.R. will build a line from a point near the eastern boundary to Edmonton, north of the Saskatchewan River. This branch will open up the country northeast of Edmonton.

The third line will probably run from Strathcona to Calgary, making a wide detour to the east to Penetac, that great area where settlers have been flocking in in increasing numbers each year. All three lines will have terminals in Edmonton. Other lines will undoubtedly be built by the C.N.R., but it was not known Saturday what direction they will take.

DO NOT WANT YANKEE COIN

Trades and Labor Council of Ottawa Protests to Finance Minister

Ottawa, Jan. 32.—The request last night of the executive committee of the National Trades and Labor Council of Ottawa, recommending that the Minister of Finance be requested to take steps to decrease the circulation of United States silver in Canada is the revival of an old agitation. Some years ago the Finance Department and the Government came to an arrangement by which the banks agreed to collect American silver and ship it back to the States; but the effect was not commensurate with the cost and so the plan was stopped. At the Finance Department there is a tendency to regard the agitation as unnecessary.

While it is true that there is a large amount of American silver coin and bills in use in Canada there is a disposition to regard the interchange as a matter of reciprocity which does neither country any harm.

PRIMATE PASSES AWAY AT TORONTO

Death of Archbishop Sweatman---After Illness of Week Head of the Anglican Church in Canada Succumbs to Pneumonia.

Toronto, Jan. 25.—After a week's illness the death occurred yesterday afternoon, shortly after one o'clock, of His Grace, the Most Rev. Arthur Sweatman, D.D., L.C.L., Lord Archbishop of Toronto, Primate of All Canada and Metropolitan, in his 74th year. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

The end came peacefully at the See House, Howland avenue. His grace has not enjoyed the best of health for the past two years, and on his return from the induction of Bishop Farthing as Bishop of Montreal, he betrayed symptoms of illness. Although nothing serious was anticipated, his family prevailed upon him not to attend last Sunday's services at St. Alban's Cathedral. On Monday His Grace was suffering apparently from a severe cold. Dr. Harrington and Dr. Grassett were called in, and diagnosed the illness as bronchial pneumonia. Mid-week it was thought that improvement had set in, but on Friday there was a turn for the worse and on Saturday it was reported there was only a "fighting chance."

ARCHBISHOP SWEATMAN.

Rev. Canon MacNab said last night that on Friday morning Archbishop Sweatman received "the blessed sacrament." The archbishop was able to participate in the service and derived much comfort from it. He began to fail noticeably late on Saturday afternoon.

Canon MacNab said that he was with the archbishop at 4 o'clock yesterday morning. At 7 o'clock he gave the archbishop the commending prayers of the church for the dying.

Yesterday morning about an hour before daybreak Canon MacNab said he was with the archbishop. He turned on the electric lights so that he could see to read to him. The archbishop gazed around and asked: "Am I dead? Is this death?" These were the last words the archbishop said.

After that the archbishop lapsed into unconsciousness and remained so until the end.

There were present when the end came John, Stanley and Charles, sons of the archbishop, and a daughter, Miss Gladys, with Canon MacNab and the faimly physician, Dr. A. J. Harrington. Mrs. Walter of Kingston, another daughter, arrived later in the afternoon.

No arrangements have as yet been made for the funeral.

His Grace the Most Rev. Arthur Sweatman, M.A., D.D., D.C.L., was born Nov. 19, 1834, in London, England. The son of an eminent London physician, the late Dr. John Sweatman of Middlesex Hospital, his early education was obtained in private schools. His Christian ministry may be said o have commenced in 1849, when, at the age of 15, he engaged in Sunday school teaching in the parish of Christ Church, Marylebone.

After several years passed as a student at University College, London, he graduated in 1859 from Christ's Big New York Sewage Plant.

New York, Jan. 25.—Plans of a comprehensive scheme of sewage disposal for New York City that will cost about $32,000,000 to install and equip have been submitted to Mayor McClellan by Edward Hatch, Jr., J. Pierpont Morgan and the other members of the committee of the Merchants' Association appointed to take up the matter.

To Succeed Morse.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—In Ottawa it is believed that the successor of F. W. Morse as general manager of the G.T.P. will be E. J. Chamberlain, late general manager of the G.T.R. He has been for some time in California, but came up two days ago and is in Montreal now.

Boy Drowned at Brantford.

Brantford, Jan. 25.—Johnny Leitch, the six-year-old son of Mrs. T. J. Leitch, widow of a former Hamilton druggist, was drowned in the canal here yesterday afternoon.

The little fellow wandered from his grandmother's residence and met with unknown companions, with whom he ventured on the thin ice covering the canal. He went through, and firemen were unable to recover the body.

His mother identified a cap which caught on the ice as that of her son. She is a resident of London, and was here on a brief visit to Mrs. John A. Leitch.

Within three days two men have been drowned at Picton, two men at Deseronto and two boys at Hamilton by breaking through ice.

Firemen Must Be Bigger.

Albany, Jan. 25.—The fire-fighters of New York City are not tall enough, nor do they weigh enough. The state civil service commission has issued an edict at the request of Chief Croker of New York, that in the future all firemen must be one inch taller and weigh five pounds more than is required at present, or 5 feet 8 inches, and 140 pounds, respectively.

Mariners Overcome.

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Jan. 25.—Two members of the crew of the barge Boston are dead, and Capt. George King of Perth Amboy, N.J., is lying at the Marine Hospital with no hope for his recovery, as the result of being overcome by coal gas in their little cabin.

Senate's Gala Night.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—The vice-regal drawing-room held in the Senate chamber Saturday night was one of the most largely attended in recent years. His Excellency, in full court uniform, and Countess Grey took their places on the dais and between the hours of 9 and 10 received upwards of 500, a large number being debutantes. After the drawing-room, Mrs. Marcel held a reception in the Speaker's apartments.

Profited by Public Ownership.

St. Thomas, Jan. 25.—The light, heat and power department of the City of St. Thomas, owned by the city, paid a profit of more than $16,000 for the year. The waterworks, also the property of the city, paid a profit of $10,000.

DESPERADOES ROB AUTO A SENSATION IN LONDON

Two Men Lie in Wait For Motor Car Containing Wages for Factory Employees—Pursued by the Police on a Trolley—Both Captured.

London, Jan. 25.—Two persons were killed and 21 injured at Walhamstow, a suburb of London, as the result of a sensational attempt on Saturday by two Russians at highway robbery.

The men were run down and surrounded by a posse and one of them finally committed suicide. The other attempted suicide, but did not succeed. He is now in a critical condition at Tottenham Hospital.

Two of their victims, a policeman and a boy of ten, lie dead, while five of the injured are seriously wounded.

London is breathless over the sensational introduction into its precincts of the Russian revolutionary methods. It was thought at first that the assassins were Italians, but the injured bandit admitted last night that he is a native of Riga, Russia, and came to England two years ago. One of the revolvers used by the men was found to be the same type as that used by Russian revolutionists.

The bandits, who evidently were intimately acquainted with the routine in the payment on Saturday of the employes at a rubber factory in Walhamstow, held up an automobile containing the employes' wages, at the entrance to the works, and made off with the money. They were followed by a few employes and a gradually increasing crowd of police and civilians, some of whom were armed.

The police jumped aboard a trolley car and the bandits, finding themselves closely pursued, jumped aboard another and forced the driver, with a revolver at his head, to send the car along at full speed.

One of the men ran to the rear of the car and repeatedly emptied his revolver at the pursuers. Reinforcements of armed police on foot, bicycles and horseback, joined in the chase and fusilades were fired for a mile.

The cars went thundering down the track, with the mounted and bicycle police straining every effort to keep up with the pacemakers. Nearing the Tottenham marshes, the bandits made the motorman slow down, and jumped off, seized a milk cart and made for the country district.

An automobile was pressed into the service by the police, and it was rapidly overhauling the assassins when they took to the marshes.

The pursuit through this treacherous ground was difficult and dangerous, but eventually the police succeeded in overtaking one of the men, who, finding his position hopeless, turned his weapon upon himself, inflicting a dangerous though not a fatal wound. The other man failing to reach Epping Forest, took refuge in a cottage, which the police, now reinforced by duck shooters who were in the vicinity, first fusiladed and then stormed. They found the assassin dead on the floor. He had sent a bullet into his head.

The wounded man was identified as Paul Hefeld of Riga. He had been a seaman. The other, who was known as Jacob, is said to have been a prominent Russian revolutionist.

FISHERMEN LOSE LIVES

Broke Through Ice Near Deseronto---Cries Were Heard.

Deseronto, Jan. 25.—Two fishermen named Rubin Lindsay and Frank Kimmerly were drowned near here on Friday night.

They were crossing the ice about 11 o'clock going to their fish shanty near Foresters' Island when the ice gave way, letting them both through.

Their cries were heard by some other fishermen near by, but by the time they were reached they had gone down for the last time.

BYE-ELECTION IN THE WEST

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—The writ for the Comox-Atlin bye-election was issued on Saturday. The returning officer will fix the date, which will probably be early in March.

Conservatives here expect the return of the Minister of Inland Revenue will be contested, though this will of course depend on conditions in the constituency.

The debate on the address will be continued to-day by Ralph Smith (Nanaimo), and Goodeve (Kootenay) and Taylor (New Westminster) will also speak. It is hoped to wind up by 6 o'clock, but several new members from other provinces want to break the ice, and consider this the best chance that will come along for some time.

It is rumored that Joseph Martin, K.C., will be asked to run as an Independent candidate.

WILL LEAVE FOR MONTREAL

Transfer of Mr. G. L. McClellan Manager of Bank of Montreal Warsaw

Mr. G. L. McClellan, formerly of the local staff of the Ontario Bank and for the past two years and a half manager of the Warsaw branch of the Bank, now of the Bank of Montreal, is leaving for Montreal on Wednesday. He will be transferred to the main office of the Bank in that city. The managership of the Warsaw branch will be taken by Mr. Glenn of Montreal.

During Mr. McClellan's residence in Warsaw he has made a host of friends who will regret his departure for Montreal.

SHOT LYNX IN A TRAP

And Tyendinaga Man is Hauled Before Magistrate -- A Peculiar Case

A rather odd case came before the Police Magistrate at Deseronto on Wednesday afternoon. It appeared that Thomas Naphin, living in the back part of Tyendinaga, had set out traps in that township, and a large lynx was caught by the foot in one of them. Sidney Lucas came along shortly afterwards and saw the animal in the trap. It is said that the lynx sprang at him. However, that may be, he shot the beast dead, and took the body from the trap and sold the skin in Napanee for $12. Now it is alleged that this constitutes a criminal offence, although Lucas might, and possibly did, think he had a right to do what he did. Walter S. Herrington, K.C., appeared for the defence, and as the Crown Attorney did not attend, as expected, His Worship adjourned the hearing to Wednesday next at two o'clock when Mr. Carnew will appear to prosecute. It is said that the lynx and wild cat are quite numerous in the north part of Tyendinaga.

HAVE ENDOWED BED IN HOSPITAL

Misses Dickson of Peterborough Make Handsome Contribution to Muskoka Hospital

For a number of years the Misses Dickson and sisters of Peterborough, have generously kept endowed at the Muskoka Free Hospital For Consumptives at a cost of $300 a year, a free bed for needy consumptives of the town of Peterborough. The renewal check for this amount for another year has just reached the head office, 347 King street west, Toronto. This method of individuals and municipalities helping in the care of the consumptives of their community at Muskoka is one that meets with considerable favor and offers in no small measure a practical solution of the problem, "How are our needy consumptives to be cared for with no institution outside of the Muskoka homes of the National Sanitarium Association admitting patents from any and all parts of the Province?"—The Globe.

LATE TICKS FROM WIRES

Headed by Princess Louise (Duchess of Argyll) London women are working as recruiting agents for the new Territorial Force.

The Earl of Leicester died at his ancestral home, Holkham Hall, Wells, Norfolk, England. He was the patriarch of the English peerage, having been born in 1822.

While practicing with the junior hockey players at Port Arthur Thomas Friday received a cut across the eye which was so badly injured that it was necessary to remove the ball.

Constable Thurlow caught a man giving the name of Joseph Dutton in the Western Clothing Store in Port Arthur, and found he had about $200 worth of goods sacked, ready for removal.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, although supposed to be politically dead so far as the mayoralty is concerned, by the failure of his three-cent fare operation of the city's traction system, is to try for the mayoralty next fall.

MONDAY, JAN. 25, 1909.

A DEGRADING SPECTACLE

The Lindsay Evening Post has gone to the expense of giving a large ensemble picture of the Peterborough rooters who attended the match in Lindsay recently between the Midgets and the Peterborough intermediates. Suffice it to say at the outset that the photograph is apparently an old one of a Lindsay Sunday-school picnic. We have seen "crowds" in the Bowery, in Chinatown, in Whitechapel, etc., in all the squalor incongruity and diabolism of alleged humanity but this coloratura supposed representation of a body of well-behaved people who paid their way into and like many others, were glad to pay their way out of Lindsay, is par excellence the most villifying and libellous of modern times. In fact if it were at all like anybody who ever lived in Peterborough there would be ample grounds for an action for damages, even if all Lindsay couldn't be sold for enough to pay the costs.

THE PROGRESS OF EMPIRE

In the London Graphic of December 19th, 1908, appears a three page illustrated descriptive article upon the rise of the new town of Prince Rupert and upon the progress of Empire along the line of the new Grand Trunk Pacific in the west. The origin and development of a town under the guidance of a great national railway whose continental terminus it is to be, necessarily attracts the attention of the student of geography as well as the speculator and the man of business. Railways are usually accredited with developing population and it is not unnatural that what we in Canada term a city should expand its wings and rise when a great railway company says so. At the top of the article referred to, is a finely engraved map outlining the route of the GTP from Moncton, NB. to Prince Rupert. Then follow illustrations, page-wide, of rising towns along the railway. Prince Rupert itself is magnificently situated as indeed it ought to be, when one realizes that it is the spot deliberately chosen as the city-terminus and port of one of the great railways of the world. The depth of water in the new landlocked harbor allows of the largest ocean steamers coming right up to the city itself. Vancouver is at present the wondercity of the west. Prince Rupert will be a rival that has this advantage however. Behind it is a more than half-developed and rapidly populating country which Vancouver had not the advantage of in its early days while the tide of Oriental trade and the reputation of western trans-continental and transoceanic routes is now thoroughly established. At present Prince Rupert is in the throes of being begun and it looks not unlike a place smitten by an earthquake except that in closer inspection there is a method and an evidence about it that precludes the idea of destruction. In a few years Canada may expect to have a new spout and entre port which will no doubt have an immense and immediate effect upon the trade and wellbeing of the right wing of the British Empire.

A SERIOUS AFFAIR

Ottawa, Jan. 21.—Many blue books were laid on the table of the House to-day including volumes one and three of the Auditor-General's report. In the published correspondence are to be found many objections from the auditor as to alleged overclassification on the National Transcontinental Railway, and as to officials drawing pay at the same time from the National Transcontinental Commission and the Quebec Bridge Company.

It will be remembered that Hon. S.N. Parent was president of the bridge company and chairman of the National Transcontinental Railway Commission.

The Auditor-General also criticized the $90,000 spent on building a sewer for the Moncton shops and noted that progress estimates were not furnished.

Dredging contracts do not escape criticism. Respecting the reliability of inspectors attention is called to "Mr. Eastwood of Matchedash Bay, who did part of his inspection from an office window in the neighboring store and part by proxy."

The most notable of these strictures passed upon the Laurier Government's expenditure by their own auditor-general is that relating to Overclassification or the National Tran. Ry., otherwise known as the G.T.P. Mayor Hodgins it will be remembered made serious charges of the same character as those made by the auditor-general. His charges were "investigated" and, of course, dismissed as foundationless. But the auditor-general cannot be put aside in this fashion. He has found that Overclassification did really take place. What will be done about it? It would never do in the world to expose corruption where a partizan majority had said it did not exist, while it might open up a trail of a serpent that might lead to general governmental destruction. Oh! no. The former policy will be adhered to, and if the auditor gets "gay" he will in all probability be "induced" to follow the lead of the former auditor whom the Government dismissed.

A CONVERSATION OVERHEARD

Recently a Peterborough lady received a letter from a friend in Toronto, in which she repeated a conversation she overheard on the street. This friend said she was walking down Yonge street, when she saw two welldressed women meet and stop for a little chat. Just as she passed them, she heard one say;

"Yes, the gown cost $1,000.

"One thousand dollars!" gasped the Toronto woman.

She walked slowly that she might hear more.

"It was fine," the speaker was saying, and the show was screamingly funny. The Directoire of the 20th of gold was simply stunning."

As the two friends parted, one called to the other;

"Be sure and see 'The Night of the Play.'"

Then the writer said she understood they were talking about Kathryn Osterman, as all Toronto was. So she decided she would go and see for herself the one thousand dollar gown and she writes further;

"My dear, don't fail to see her if she ever comes to Peterborough."

And now, ladies of Peterborough, you are to have the privilege of seeing this beautiful actress in her new play and magnificent costumes. Kathryn Osterman is not only a finished actress, one of the best on the stage to-day, but one of the most beautiful of women, beautiful of face and figure, and in the artistic and exquisite creations she dons, in "The Night of the Play," she is a vision of dainty delight.

The play in itself is specially adapted to Miss Osterman, as in it she has an opportunity to show what excellent work she can do. It is charmingly funny. It is the story of an ambitious playwriter, a woman who gets into all sorts of scrapes, and gets her friends in numerous mixups all by keeping a secret from her husband. The ceremony is exceptionally good and the star is surrounded by a strong support, who interprets the lines in a most finished and skillful manner.

THE ELECTRIC CITY, PETERBOROUGH

Mr. Bell, the well-known local poet, expresses his earnest wish to help as he has always done so far as possible, in promoting the welfare and continued prosperity of Peterborough. He accordingly contributes the following descriptive poem upon the Electric City:—

The Electric City, Peterborough
And its great waterpower privileges,
And its great commercial advantages,
And its manufacturing resources,
And its transportation facilities,
And its Aldermanic abilities
Are all good assets for Peterborough
In the Premier Province Ontario.

The Electric City Peterborough,
With its good School Board and its Board of Trade,
And Water Commissioners not afraid,
And an up-to-date first-class fire brigade,
And noble Fifty-Seventh for parade,
And grand City Brass Band fully arrayed,
Are all good assets for Peterborough,
In the Premier Province, Ontario.

The Electric City Peterborough,
With its Trent Valley Canal and Lift Lock,
With a Post Office and a city clock,
Electric Works on thirty acre blocks
Its Quaker Oats mills are good paying stock,
With street cars running by electric shock,
Are all good assets for Peterborough,
In the Premier Province, Ontario.

The Electric City Peterborough,
With fifteen churches and money banks,
Three daily papers with their platform planks,
With canoe factories in the highest ranks
With Otonabee river driving cranks,
For all accept a poet's hearty thanks,
Are all good assets for Peterborough,
In the Premier Province, Ontario.

First place in the Canadian Magazine for February is given to an illustrated article entitled "Toronto: A City of Homes," by Horace Boultbee. The article sketches the history of Toronto and shows its development architecturally. This is a good departure in magazine work in Canada and it is hoped that the editor will look for articles dealing with some outstanding features of other Canadian cities. The number throughout is entirely creditable. One feature is a splendid article, by Robert E. Knowles, the well known novelist, entitled "The Mystery of Lincoln," which is a welcome contribution, in view of the Lincoln centenary. Mrs. Isabel Ecclestone Mackay, who is rapidly making a reputation in fiction as well as in poetry, contributes an excellent mystery story, entitled, "Through the Wall." Other contributions are: "Miss Waring's Elopement," a short story, by Richard Marsh; "A New Canadian History," a review, by A H U Colquhoun; "Dresden the Beautiful," an illustrated article by Charles H Long; "The Sandhill Stag of Manitoba," a sketch by Roden Kingsmill; "Postal Reforms in 1767," by W R Givens; "Cup-Plates and Customs" by Ethel Ives; "The Taking of Scar Face," a story, by Archie P McKishnie; "Pelee Island, A Misnomer," an illustrated article, by J J Bell; "Dr A S Vogt," sketch, by Katherine Hale; and verse by Geo Herbert Clarke, James Lawler, Margaret O'Grady, Douglas Roberts, John Boyd and S A White.

Geo. Sodden and M. E. Fortune are Port Arthur's representatives on the joint railway board with Fort William.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD

Murder in Kansas City.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 25.—Stephen P. Hood, agent for the Fidelity & Casualty Co. here, was shot and killed by Walter Blanton in the office of the company on Friday evening. Blanton surrendered.

Lockout on the Lakes.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 25.—Leaders of lake labor unions claim that an effort is being made by the Lake Carriers' Association to enforce a lockout against members of the different organizations.

Woman Badly Burned.

London, Jan. 25.—Mrs. Mary Weaver, an aged woman who lives alone at the corner of Wellington road and Clarke street, South London, was found in her home on Thursday evening in an unconscious condition, suffering from terrible burns to both her feet.

The reaction of coming into the hot room from outside and sitting down close to the fire caused her to faint, and in falling from her chair her right leg and foot fell directly against the hot stove.

Must Carry All Freight.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 25.—Common carriers cannot legally refuse to accept shipments of a certain commodity in order that they may better handle another, and the prompt handling of the latter gives it no [illegible] rights over the other products of a state. This is the law and its interpretation as laid down by the Supreme Court of Georgia in a case appealed by the Ocean Steamship Co. against the Savannah Locomotive Works and Supply Co.

Sump For Harriman.

Washington, Jan. 25.—That President Roosevelt's recommendation of an appropriation to reimburse E. H. Harriman for the expenditure of about $2,000,000 by the Southern Pacific Railway Co. to control the overflow of the Colorado River into Salton Sink a few years ago, will be disregarded by Congress now appears probable.

The U. S. naval appropriation for 1910 is $135,000,000.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

CURE

Sick Headache and relieve all the troubles incident to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Drowsiness, Distress after eating, Pain in the Side, &c. While their most remarkable success has been shown in curing

SICK

Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in Constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also correct all disorders of the stomach, stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only cured

HEAD

Ache they would be almost priceless to those who suffer from this distressing complaint; but fortunately their goodness does not end here, and those who once try them will find these little pills valuable in so many ways that they will not be willing to do without them. But after all sick head

ACHE

Is the bane of so many lives that here is where we make our great boast. Our pills cure it while others do not.

Carter's Little Liver Pills are very small and very easy to take. One or two pills make a dose. They are strictly vegetable and do not gripe or purge, but by their gentle action please all who use them.

Poison on Rose.

Chicago, Jan. 25.—Robert Wahl was accused on Saturday of having expressed a desire to kill his wife by the use of a poisonous perfume placed on a rose. The accusation was made in a suit for separate maintenance filed by Mrs. Wahl. The defendant is a noted chemist and president of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology. Several alleged affinities are named by the wife, who lives in the Pattington apartments, 1,664 Graceland avenue.

Northcote Not a Probability.

Ottawa, Jan. 25.—In official circles in Ottawa little credence is given to the report cabled from London to the effect that Lord Northcote is to succeed Earl Grey as Governor-General of Canada. It is pointed out that Lord Northcote is a Unionist, and it is improbable that a Liberal Government will appoint a Conservative to one of the most honored positions in its gift.

Mild in the West.

Winnipeg, Jan. 25.—Following the cold spell of the past two weeks, the west is experiencing exceedingly mild weather. A chinook has cleaned up the snow in Alberta.

It has even reached eastern Saskatchewan and Manitoba. Saturday night considerable rain fell in Winnipeg, an unheard of occurrence in the month of January.

Overcome by Coal Gas.

Port Arthur, Jan. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cattanach, Dufferin street, were found unconscious from coal gas Saturday morning. Cattanach soon recovered, but his wife is still unconscious, and fatal results are feared.

Chileans In Royal Navy.

Santiago, Chile, Jan. 25.—The restriction on naval officers serving in the British navy having been withdrawn, a limited number of Chilean officers will shortly proceed to England.

Governor Wasn't Lost.

Winnipeg, Jan. 25.—A few days ago a local paper printed a statement to the effect that the legislature could not be summoned owing to the absence of the Lieutenant-Governor, whose whereabouts were unknown. There was no truth in the announcement.

His honor left on a trip to the south some weeks ago, and was in constant communication with Winnipeg.

He returned to the city on Thursday, and the date of the opening of the Legislature was thereupon announced as Feb. 4.

For 'Quake Sufferers.

Messina, Jan. 25.—The American relief ship Celtic arrived here on Saturday, and was warmly welcomed by the authorities and the population. The Celtic landed two hundred tons of fresh meat, two hundred and seventy tons of assorted foods, and forty-six thousand eggs with the understanding that thirty tons of the supplies be given out daily. The Celtic will proceed to Reggio.

Fire-Fighter Hurt.

Tillsonburg, Jan. 25.—Fire broke out in T. C. Walker & Sons' carriage shop at 5.35 Saturday night. By the efforts of the firemen the blaze was confined to the west end of the building. Damage by smoke and water will be considerable. Harry Malcolm, one of the firemen, was overcome by smoke and fell down a ladder. His head was bruised and leg injured.

Light Sentence.

Paris, Jan. 25.—The Corsican Benedetti, who fired several shots from a revolver in the direction of the windows of Premier Clemenceau's office on the evening of Dec. 31, was yesterday sentenced to one month's imprisonment.

DON'T BLAME HER

For she cannot help it. Women are often cross, irritable, hysteric, and declare they are driven to distraction at the slightest provocation.

Men cannot understand why this should be so. To them it is a mystery because in nine times out of ten this condition is caused by a serious feminine derangement.

A remedy is necessary which acts directly upon the organs afflicted, restoring a healthy normal condition to the feminine system, which will quickly dispel all hysterical, nervous and irritable conditions. Such is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. Henry Clark, Glandford Station, Ont., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years, and never found any medicine to compare with it for sick women.

"I had ulcers and a displacement of the female organs, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has cured me."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

Runaway Girl's Strange Bed.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y., Jan. 25.—While pursuing a cat Saturday night a small boy discovered, lying under a stoop in Peekskill, Grace Powers, 15 years old, who had disappeared five months ago, to evade capture by the police on a charge of theft.

The young girl had burrowed a bed in the ground and was garbed in burlap bags, which served her both for bedding and clothes. For nearly five months, during which time she had remained hidden in her strange retreat, she had crept out at night and stolen scraps of food from neighboring houses. She was removed to the Peekskill Hospital.

Duel With Knives.

Newark, N.J., Jan. 25.—William Pollak, a 14-year-old schoolboy at Summit, N.J., is suffering from a dangerous knife wound over the heart, which he says, was received in a duel with a classmate, Arthur Tappan, 16 years old.

Both boys, Pollak asserts, were rivals for the affections of a girl member of their class, and they fought a duel during the noon recess with pocket knives.

If Pollak's wound had been half an inch lower it would have proved fatal.

Schooner Goes Down.

Vancouver, B.C., Jan. 25.—Bound from Callao to Port Townsend, in ballast, the four-masted schooner Soquel arrived in the Straits of Juan de Fuca during a gale Friday midnight. Capt. Jamieson apparently mistook the Pachena light for Tatoosh and headed between it and Cape Beale. Driving into the storm, the schooner struck, and the two aftermasts going by the board, killed the skipper's wife and child.

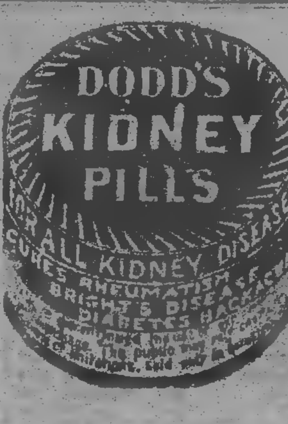
Big 'Quake in Turkestan.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 25.—Although reports from observatories in Russia tell of recording earth shocks on Saturday, which is thought to have centered somewhere on the Russian side of Pamirs, Turkestan, no direct news has been received that would serve to fix the location in any definite place.

Russian Turkestan, in the region indicated, is sparsely settled.

The Oldest Books.

The oldest books, proper, were in roll shape, the rolls being kept in jars or boxes. Very anciently the change was made from the roll to the folded form of book, the vellum, or parchment, being stitched together. The most ancient writings of all were painted on wood or stone, as among the Egyptians, or charactered on mud bricks, as with the Assyrians.—Exchange.



WHAT ANIMALS COST.

Giraffes and Hippopotami Bring the Highest Prices.

Wild animals from the [illegible] Zoological Gardens in Egypt, delivered during the years 1898-1908 at London, Marseilles, Hamburg and Rotterdam, realized the following prices:

The "king of beasts," the lion, sold comparatively cheap, mainly because the cost of feeding made buyers shy of the investment. Fine wild-born lions realized from £75 to £100.

Menagerie-born animals cost on an average £30. A lioness has even sold for under £4; while, on the other hand, £240 to £300 is not too big a price to ask for an exceptionally fine specimen of lion.

Pumas, occasionally described as lions, are not in much demand; £5 will often buy one; fair average specimens fetch £15, £20, and a few £30. The tiger is, however, a high-priced animal; £100 is the lowest figure at which he sells, with £80 for a tigress.

A specialty of value is the European lynx. A young one cannot be had for less than £20, and the full-grown animal is worth from £25 to £35. Wolves are a weak market; £2 is their average per head, £1 the minimum and £5 the top price. Catch a fox quite young, and the cub may realize £1 10s., or only just 5s.; full grown, its value is £2.

Polar bears always maintain their price. Very rarely does a specimen change hands at less than £30; but other kinds of bear come cheaper. A sea-lion costs £20. The beaver is good for £20, a price due to the animal's destruction for bounty in the Rhone Valley.

Hippopotami have no quotation in some markets. When in supply this prehistoric-looking beast is worth from £600 to £750. Elephants are much more widely dealt in. A young one may be purchased for from £200 to £250.

But most considered of wild animals is the giraffe. Previous to 1898 it was impossible to buy one for less than £1,000; in 1903-4 the price had shrunk to £250, which did not repay the cost of importation. The actual market value of a young giraffe in good condition may now be quoted at anywhere from £500 to £600.

As to the monkey market, the chimpanzee varies a good deal in price, a young one in condition fetching £50 to £70. Other big apes are more expensive, although at times there goes begging a good chance, as in the Suez market, where a young orang-outang, almost full grown, was on offer at £8 recently—a real bargain.

Barbary apes, of the kind which still inhabit Gibraltar Rock, sell at £3 to £8. Bombay and Southwest China monkeys are not held of much account; £1 will buy one. Baboons cost more—generally from £2 to £20, according to the specimen.—Tit-Bits.

Youngest Rear-Admiral.

Captain David Beatty, who has been appointed aide-de-camp to the King, is a senior officer of the navy, and will shortly be due for promotion. He will then be the youngest rear-admiral the fleet has had for many years, for he will not celebrate his 38th birthday until Jan. 17 next. His rapid advance has been due to particularly distinguished war service. It was in Egypt twelve years ago that he was suddenly called upon to take command of the gunboat flotilla, and showed great skill and courage against the enemy, winning the D.S.O. During the Boxer troubles he commanded the Barfleur, and led a splendid attack with a couple of hundred bluejackets against two Chinese guns, which were causing a great deal of trouble. It was a fruitless but daring effort, during which he was twice wounded. He was made a captain when only twenty-nine years of age.

Royal Lucky Numbers.

King Edward's lucky number, those who go into these matters say, is 9. His august parents were both born in 1819. He was born on the 9th day of November; his happy wedding took place in 1863—the two last figures in the denomination of which make 9; there was a 9 in the year of his accession; and his coronation took place on the 9th of August, 1902. The Princess of Wales's fortunate figure is 3, as was her mother's—the late lamented Princess Mary. The Duchess of Teck was born in 1833, and her eldest boy on the 13th of a month. The Princess of Wales herself was born on the 3rd of June; she was wedded in 1893. Prince "Eddie's" natal day, too, was June 23.

How to Soften Water.

If one has an irritable skin and the water for bathing is hard something should be used to soften it. Bran makes hard water very soft and is good for the skin. A couple of quarts of bran put into a bag of cheesecloth will be sufficient for an ordinary bathtub full of water, and its use will make the skin velvety and fine. Oatmeal, barley, rice and other farinaceous substances are often recommended for the same purpose, either alone or in combination, but bran is the cheapest and best of them all. Tincture of benzoin added to the water makes it soft and agreeable. A few drops of ammonia, not too much, will soften water used for the hands or the face.

His Strenuous Job.

"I lately passed through a small town on a train. Say, but that station agent has a lot to do! When the train comes in he's got to sell tickets, attend to the mail, shift the express, check the baggage, fix the signal lights, put the danger lantern at the street crossing, post the trains on the bulletin board, operate the telegraph instruments and carry the messages."

"Heavens! Was he doing all that?"

"No; he was asleep."

The Black Flag.

A gunboat was entering the mouth of the estuary when she passed close to a small collier. The officer in command hailed the latter.

"Ahoy, there! What have you got the black flag flying for?"

The reply came back: "You'd better not let the captain hear you. That's his best shirt hanging out to dry."—London Express.

PRIMATE PASSES AWAY IN TORONTO

College, Cambridge, with the degree of B.A., obtaining high honors in mathematics, in which he was graded senior optime. In 1862 he proceeded to the degree of M.A.

Ordained deacon by Bishop Tait of St. Paul's Cathedral in 1859, and priested the following year in the Chapel Royal, Whitehall. He then took the curacy of Holy Trinity Church, Islington.

Dr. Sweatman came to Canada in 1865 to assume the headmastership of the newly-founded London Collegiate Institute. Three years later he was married in England to Miss Garland of Islington.

In 1871 he became mathematical and science master in Upper Canada College. He then became rector of Grace Church, Brantford, where he was also made examining chaplain to the Bishop of Huron. In 1873 to 1879 he held the offices of clerical secretary to the Synod of Huron and secretary to the House of Bishops.

In 1874 he became headmaster of Hellmuth College, and two years later rector of Woodstock and Archdeacon of Brant.

He was consecrated Bishop of Toronto May 1, 1879, in St. James' Cathedral. In the same year he was honored by his alma mater, Cambridge, with the degree of D.D., jure dignitatis, and in 1882 Trinity University, Toronto, made him D.C.L.

Dr. Sweatman was destined for the highest honor in the gift of the Canadian church, and his election as Archbishop and Metropolitan and Primate of all Canada on Jan. 16, 1907, was received by laity and clergy alike with every evidence of sincere satisfaction and hearty approval.

HISTORY OF LAYMEN'S MISSIONARY MOVEMENT

The short career of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, which is to hold a national missionary congress in Toronto, March 31st to April 4th, is full of interesting incidents, and the movement has shown a most remarkable growth.

It was organised in connection with the Centennial celebration of the Haystack prayer meeting in New York, November 13th and 14th, 1906. Following these meetings there was a group of laymen who met for prayer in the chapel of the 5th Avenue Presbyterian Church, continuing all afternoon and evening, and closing with resolutions covering the following points;

The 100th anniversary of the first American Foreign Missionary work finds the door of every nation open to the Gospel; the organizations at work are doing excellent service; business men are taking a vital interest in every form of church work; and such men have been very successful in the management of large business and political enterprises; a committee should be appointed to co-operate with the Mission Boards for three purposes; to project a campaign of education among laymen; to devise a comprehensive plan looking towards the evangelization of the world in this generation; to endeavor to form through the church boards a commission of fifty or more laymen to visit the mission fields, and report to the church at home.

The work since that time has taken giant strides and quite a number of denominational Laymen's Movements have been organized. The work in the Canadian churches has been particularly strong, though the churches in the Southern States have their denominational organizations very complete.

It has no organization apart from a general committee, with headquarters in New York, meeting twice a year, and an Executive Committee of 81 members meeting each month. Three secretaries give their whole time to the work of the general movement, besides the Denominational Secretaries.

The movement stands for investigation, agitation and organization; the investigation by laymen of missionary conditions; and the organization of laymen to co-operate with the ministers and Missionary Boards in enlisting the whole church in its supreme work of saving the world.

It is noteworthy that wherever the movement has been presented, in scores of cities of the United States and Canada, it has received the enthusiastic commendation and co-operation of representative men. A commission of six laymen from the United States and Canada presented the Movement in Great Britain, where it was at once taken up, and National Committees organized both in England and Scotland. It has since spread to Germany and Australia. The time seems to be rapidly approaching when the Christian men of all nations will be federated for co-operative action in behalf of mankind.

The power of the movement in the lives of men seems to be partially answered by the following considerations;

1. The movement presents to man the greatest possible spiritual challenge—the need of the world.

2 It makes the largest possible demands upon men; reminding them that all life is a trust involving stewardship of opportunity, influence, time and treasure; that spiritual values are the only permanent ones, and that selfishness is suicidal.

3. The effort to evangelize the world presents to every man the largest opportunity of service which can come to him in this life.

4. The life purpose emphasized by the movement when followed satisfies the deepest spiritual ambitions of men

5. The effort to evangelize the world presents the speediest and surest method of saving the church.

6. The union of all branches of the church in such co-operation emphasizes, as nothing else can, the unity of the church.

The one is for reading, writing, and other close range purposes, the other for giving the human eye a clear vision of objects at long range. We are experienced opticians and devote our time to the study of the eye and its needs. We furnish you with the best artificial vision at low cost. We do all our own lens grinding, and can replace a broken lens on the shortest possible notice.

A NEW HOME SHOULD BE PROVIDED

Report of the Inspector of the Protestant Home — Inmates are Carefully Looked After.

The following is the report of the Inspector of the Protestant Home, making a number of recommendations,—

On inspection the beds and bedding, halls, dormitories, closets and drainage were found satisfactory. The ventilation is not good and never can be made good in a building so poorly adapted for the purpose of a Home. The building is old and one upon which it would not be prudent to make any expenditure for much improvement.

The old people at the Home are carefully looked after and the management is excellent, those in charge being evidently faithful and kind in looking after those committed to their care. All the inmates seemed cheerful, and contented.

An effort should be made during the current year to provide a new building for this Home.

The city of Peterborough should should come to the assistance of the Board with a liberal grant, for at present there are several old men in the county gaol who should be provided for elsewhere.

UNCLAIMED ARTICLES AT REVIEW OFFICE

Some small articles, probably valuable to the owners, but which are of little use to the members of the Review staff, and which have been left awaiting claimants are the following,—

A chair of clear glass beads, connected by gold links, and with a cross pendant, found about a year ago in the south of the city. It was advertised but unclaimed.

A bunch of keys on a ring, with a chain attached. It was found early last fall, advertised and unclaimed.

A pair of glasses in steel frames in well worn leather case without lid, stamped 'Tate Optical Co.' There was no response to the ad in reference to these.

A ladies' pocket book, with small sum of money in it and some papers. The owner was notified of its being here, but it has lain here a month uncalled for. It is still as good as when we received it, and we haven't spent the money.

We need the room and it will be bargain day for the owners if they drop in—Don't wait—be the first claimant.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS

Of Cyzicus Sanctorum Took Place on Friday Night

At a meeting of the Cyzicus Sanctorum No 24, OOH and P, held on Friday night in the IOOF hall, the following officers were installed;

G Hy—M T Breckenridge.
V G Hy—E J Dormer.
V F—M J Kirn.
G M—J H Campbell.
G H—Wm Robertson.
G C G—E G Poole.
G H E—Thos Duncan.
G Banker—A A Fowler.
G Rec—F Wise.
G Director—R J Matchett.
Grand Musical Directors — Bruce Hutchinson and Robt Beach.

The installation ceremony was performed by Acting Supreme Monarchos Frank Wise, assisted by Supreme Symposiarch of the North East, R J Matchett and Acting Supreme Vizier, James A Tully.

After the officers were duly installed, nine aspirants for membership into this Ancient and Honorable order were introduced and taught the sublime lesson of humility. During the performance of this imposing ceremony the seating capacity in the spacious hall was taxed to its utmost. The music dispensed by the Sanctorum Orchestra was of a very high order and was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

After the ceremony light refreshments were partaken of, after which the members dispersed.

FINANCES OF THE PRESBYTERY

Interesting Statement of Comparative Statements Has Been Given Out

A statement of comparative givings in all the Presbyterian churches in the Peterborough Presbytery has been published and circulated. It is a very interesting document. The congregation in Port Hope (St. Paul's) leads in the giving for all purposes with $43.45 per family, or $25.06 per adherent. The Westwood congregation is second with $41.10 per family. Warsaw is third with $39.28 per family and St. Paul's, Peterborough is fifth with $32.90 per family. Knox church, Peterborough donated $31.11, while St. Andrew's, Peterborough, gave $22.49 per family. St. Paul's congregation this city, however, stands first on the list for all givings per communicant.

ALL SAINTS' GIVES LARGELY TO MISSIONS

The annual collection for foreign missions was taken up at All Saints' church yesterday and the gratifying announcement has been made that the amount donated was twice as large as the combined collection for the past five years.

OBITUARY

NORMAN W. THIRNBECK.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Thirnbeck, 623 McDonnel street, will sympathise with them in the loss they have sustained by the death of their infant son, Norman Walter, which occurred on Saturday. The child was one month old.

The funeral took place this afternoon at three o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

I N MARSHALL.

The Brockville Times says;

Brockville citizens generally were shocked beyond measure when announcement was made of the death of Isaac N Marshall, which occurred at an early hour this morning in the St Vincent de Paul Hospital, after a short illness. He was removed to that institution a few days ago suffering from an ulcer on his leg. His condition developed a serious aspect yesterday and this morning he passed away suddenly of heart failure.

Mr Marshall was born at Toledo on Sept 30, 1857, a son of Norman Marshall, at present a resident of Phoenix, Arizona. After completing a public school education the deceased left here at the age of 14 and entered the Peterborough Collegiate Institute from which he matriculated

MRS PATRICK McNAMARA

The death occurred early yesterday morning at her late residence, 11 Bethune street, of Mrs Patrick McNamara after a lengthy illness. The deceased was 72 years of age and was born in Ireland. She was widely known and highly respected by all who knew her. Her husband is left to mourn her loss.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock from the family residence to the St Peter's Cathedral and thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery.

MRS BRIDGET SULLIVAN

The death occurred in Ennismore yesterday morning of Mrs Bridget Sullivan, at the advanced age of 93 years. She had been in failing health for years. She was born in Ireland but came to Canada when quite young. She had resided in Ennismore for many years. Her husband predeceased her some years ago.

Three sons and three daughters are left to mourn her loss. The sons are John C Sullivan of Ashburnham, and Patrick and Michael G Sullivan of Ennismore. The daughters are Mrs Leonard, Mrs John K Galvin and Miss Kate of Ennismore.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at nine o'clock from the residence of her son, Michael, to St. Martin's church and thence to St. Martin's cemetery.

Col. Ward, K.C., of Port Hope, will apply for incorporation of the Cobourg, Port Hope and Havelock Electric Railway, Co.

WHICH ARE THE HEATHEN?

"In forwarding his report on the Marine Department inquiry Judge Cassels says in part,—"'Before concluding, I may be pardoned if I make a few observations. I am aware that what I am going to say is not within the scope of my duty as defined. I am also aware than I have not the practical knowledge to guide me as to the feasibility of putting into practice my views. No harm, however, can come from my observations.

"In the first place, the chief remedy for the amelioration of the conditions I have sought to portray LIES IN THE AWAKENING OF THE PUBLIC CONSCIENCE. If the public generally could be brought to view with abhorrence, graft and abuse of trust on the part of those administering the public moneys and property, the end of such abuses as have occurred in the past would be in sight."—The Globe.

We have clipped this report of Judge Cassels's remarks from the Globe, a Liberal journal. Judge Cassels is a Liberal. All the circumstances and conditions surrounding the investigation are governmental. The influence and auspices under which the inquiry was held were likewise governmental. The crushing character of so unbiassed a report, is therefore doubly manifest. The public conscience is torpid. Let us then proceed at once to ask those laymen who are inaugurating a missionary movement, chiefly to the foreign heathen if there is not enough material for their immediate energies here at home? Judge Cassels has found as a matter of fact that the public conscience under the ministry of our clergy, as at present conducted, is asleep. Public morals relieved of the sanction or restraint of a watchful conscience, have literally run riot. If ever the maxim that people in glasshouses should not throw stones is applicable it is applicable now. The mote and the beam are both in our own eye. We ask in all seriousness how it comes that a supposedly Christian country and certainly a thoroughly self-satisfied one, can bear this stigma which a judge finds of so bad a character that he is compelled to go 'out of his way" in order to fill an urgent moral duty in describing it. The answer most frequently suggested to the universal query is that the standard of moral life amongst us is decidedly low. Men laugh or wink at, and always profit by what even a poor heathen would see is not tainted indeed, but rotten not unmoral but immoral, and thoroughly bad. Judge Cassels has furnished us with a text and with a hope. Are we likely to fulfil this hope or shall we Liberal and Conservative, laymen and clergy alike, sink back into the congenial comfort of our usual smug and complacent self-satisfaction? Perhaps it is not too much to say in view of the long list of condemnatory parliamentary reports lately furnished with "hopes" attached, that we are more likely to contaminate the "heathen" than to save them. Are we befuddled or betrayed, which? No more direct and impressive admonition of the governing public than Judge Cassels's has ever been placed upon public record. The case must be serious or the learned judge would not have deemed it absolutely necessary for him to warn us concerning it.

WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

Mr. Geo. Evans Leaves To-morrow for Custom Cutters Convention, Toronto

Mr. George Evans, the popular Hunter street tailor, is leaving for Toronto tomorrow, where he will attend the annual convention of the Custom Cutters' Association of America, which is being held at Temple Hall, Toronto, January 25—28.

Representatives of the cutting craft from all parts of America and the latest methods in cutting and garment making will be demonstrated.

BURNING RAGS CAUSED ALARM

Blaze Soon Put Out—Small Fire at Mount St. Joseph

A bundle of rags over the furnace at St Joseph's hospital caught fire at noon yesterday and an alarm was sent in to the fire hall. While the brigade was answering the call, however, the blaze was put out. There was practically no damage done.

THE BRIGADE IS THANKED

The Sisters of Mount St Joseph, beg to acknowledge with many thanks, the prompt and generous service of the Peterborough Fire Brigade yesterday. They wish also to commend in an especial manner the kindness and thoughtfulness of Chief Howard.

LOCAL OPTION CAMPAIGN IS STARTING

A Vigorous Temperance Sermon Delivered Last Evening in St. Paul's Church

One of the opening guns in the local option campaign that is being started in Peterborough was fired last night in St Paul's Presbyterian church by Rev Robt Pogue, who delivered the first of a series of sermons on temperance. From the text, "And the times of this ignorance, God winked at but now commandeth all men everywhere to repent," Acts 17.30, Rev Mr Pogue showed that the time has come when people will be held responsible by God if they do not work for the abolition of the liquor traffic.

One hundred years ago, the people allowed slavery because they did not realize its harmful influences. One hundred years ago, even ministers opposed the expenditure of money for foreign missions. These times have passed. People's eyes were opened, they saw conditions as they were, they drove out slavery, and now are supporting foreign missions liberally. One hundred years ago, also, there was much ignorance in regard to the liquor traffic. It was believed that liquor was beneficial in many ways. Ministers thought they preached better if they had two glasses instead of one before the service. Drunken men attended weddings and it was believed that liquor was a necessity to every social function. The observance of the Lord's Supper in Presbyterian circles was generally followed by a Thanksgiving service at which whiskey flowed like water.

Of late years, we have found conclusively that the effects of alcohol are injurious instead of beneficial, that it stunts the growth, causes insanity, poverty and crime. Insurance companies would rather insure a consumptive than a heavy drinker. People who now do not realize the demoralizing and disastrous effects of the liquor traffic are wilfully ignorant and will be held accountable by God for their ignorance. Every man who recommends the use of liquor or who by his vote, favors its continuance is doing incalculable harm to his fellow men. Every man who uses it as a beverage is guilty in the eyes of God, because he weakens his intellect and strength, which were given him by God to be accounted for.

While all moderate drinkers are not drunkards, all drunkards were once moderate drinkers. Moderate drinkers may become drunkards. Our forefathers did not realize that alcohol increased the appetite for liquor. We do. Thus there is only one thing we should do and that is to abstain.

The liquor bill of the United States is now almost $1,500,000,000 annually. Protest is raised because we talk of spending two or three millions for missions and yet we send many times that into the coffers of the rum sellers. It is our duty to try to secure the utter annihilation of the liquor traffic. It has brought nothing but crime and misery wherever it goes. It fills prisons and mad houses, creates brothels and gambling houses, and tramples rough-shod on wives and little children. It should be destroyed as we would shoot a mad dog. We would not try to reform the dog, we would get rid of him. The only consistent thing to do with the liquor traffic is to get rid of it.

SPORTING NEWS

LINDSAY SEVEN EXPECTS TO WIN THE GAME HERE TOO

The indications are that it will get colder and in spite of the mild weather the fans are still clinging to the hope that there will be ice and that the most important match of the series so far, will materialize. The Lindsay people are keen for the match and seem to think the fast seven from their town will be able to steal the honors from the locals right in their own camp. They are going by the score of 7-3 in the match at Lindsay but that's a poor standard to go by. The game was played on sloppy ice and the Peterborough forwards had no chance to work in any of their combination efforts or do any effective shooting. Lindsay also had the additional advantage of playing at home. But [illegible] the Seagers [illegible] are a rattling good aggregation and capable of giving the locals a nip and tuck run on any ice or under any conditions. SIMPSON'S HAMILTON HERALD CUP HAS BEEN RECEIVED

The silver cup which Fred Simpson won by getting second place in the Hamilton Herald road race has been received in the city and is temporarily in charge of Mr. Corney Burns, of the Commercial Hotel, who looked after the Hiawatha Indians for the Burlington Bay classic.

The cup will be held here for a week before being forwarded to Simpson in New York. It will be at the Commercial for a couple of days and then will be placed on exhibition in the window of one of the local stores. The trophy which is very handsome and appropriate in design is mounted on an ebony base and bears the following inscription:

"The Herald Road Race, Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 9th, 1908. Second prize. (Won by Fred Simpson."

W. S. Hancock will referee the Lindsay-Peterborough Intermediate O.H.A. game in Peterborough tomorrow night.—Mail and Empire.

BONSPIEL AT CANNINGTON

Cannington will hold a bonspiel commencing Wednesday providing the weather turns colder. A Peterborough rink may compete, although it has not been definitely decided that the local club will be represented.

A despatch says:

Cannington, Jan 21—Local curlers have completed arrangements for a bonspiel to take place on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Jan. 27, 28 and 29th at Cannington. Five sets of valuable prizes will be competed for. Rinks from Toronto, Scarboro, Lindsay, Brampton, Fenelon Falls, Bobcaygeon, Gravenhurst, Oshawa and other places are expected to take part. Six sheets of ice are promised on two new rinks.

CURLING

Glasgow, Jan. 23.—The result of today's play between the Canadian and local curlers at Ice Rink 362; Canadians 360.

THE RING

New Orleans, Jan. 23.—Young Corbett knocked out Harry Ferns in the eleventh round of a match fought this afternoon before the West Side Athletic Club in McDonoghville, across the river from New Orleans.

WALTER MILLER RETURNS HOME FROM BRANTFORD

Walter Miller, who was injured in the G.T.R. wreck on January 11, returning from Guelph to Brantford, arrived home Saturday night after having been in the hospital at Brantford as the result of his injuries. The fast runner of the Brantford [illegible] [illegible] luckily escaped with injuries that will not affect him permanently and has made splendid progress under medical care. He is able to be around, although naturally somewhat weak, yet and rather nervous. Considering the shock he received he is looking remarkably well.

"Jiddy" is done with hockey this season and will [illegible] The G.T.R. have settled with him by giving him $500 damages.

DISTRICT CUP GAMES FEB. 2

The district cup games which were to have commenced at the curling rink tomorrow, have been postponed until February 2nd. Owing to the continuous soft weather of late there is no ice at the rink.

RUNNING

A Special to the Review.

[illegible] the Indian runner [illegible] the ten mile race at Essex Troop Armory here tonight, running against Bob Hallen and Mike Spring, each of whom ran a five mile relay. At the finish Longboat was nearly [illegible] behind and seemed to lack vim to make a spurt.

The track measured 12 laps to the mile. The time made by Hallen and Spring was 55.40.

Longboat's performance did not please the crowd and his apparent disinclination to exert himself was the chief cause.

Hallen gained a lap on him right at the start and Spring took up the running [illegible] Longboat [illegible] to regain the lost ground at the end of the race [illegible] 20 or 30 feet.

[illegible] showed better form in his race against Albert Corey at Chicago [illegible] in this country. [illegible] At the twenty mile mark [illegible] Corey was outclassed [illegible] without trouble. His time for the race is a western record.

WON'T SUPPORT THE ORCHESTRA

Pittsburg People Prefer Boxing Matches--Orchestra Visited Here Two Years Ago

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan 24—The Pittsburg Orchestra is to combine with Cleveland under the name of the Pittsburg-Cleveland Orchestra and will play on alternate weeks in the two cities. Pittsburg refuses to support the orchestra alone. In fact, the city's interest in things musical is shown by the circumstance that while an audience of only one hundred attended a recent concert given by the orchestra 1800 turned out the same night to see a fight between [illegible] and a negro. The admission to two attractions was the same.

Some Royal Babies.

Royal babies in the days of long ago generally had two cradles, one for every day, and another, a very grand one, for state occasions, when visitors came to see them and kiss their tiny hands in courtier fashion. Little Prince Edward, afterward Edward VI., was taken so much care of that no one was allowed to go near his cradle without an order signed by the king. He had two nurses, "Mother Jak" and "Sibilla Penne," and four "rockers," that is, people to rock the cradle. James I. actually had five rockers, one of whom was called Jane Crummy. When he began to toddle he was assisted by leading strings of rose-colored silk. It was not all joy to be born in a palace in those days. Nobody might take the little princeling up but the proper person, or hunt for the pin that was pricking him; and if that person was absent the baby might scream himself hoarse and nothing could be done. It was, as a writer of that time said, a "real misery."

Could Use His Fists.

The late Sir Ralph Littler was a very handy man with the gloves. In an assault case which once came before him, where the defendant under great provocation had struck a man severely with a stick, rendering him insensible, Sir Ralph said, "It is a great pity the noble art is not practiced now as it was. When I was a student I could 'down' anybody I could put my hands on. If this man had used his fists instead of a stick he would not have been here now."

Marvelous Escape.

Although a motor car and a trap which came into violent collision at Chiseldon, near Swindon, Eng., recently were wrecked almost beyond recognition, the occupants and the horse were uninjured. The chauffeur was thrown over a hedge, taking part of the steering gear with him; the cart had only one wheel left and the body of the motor car was torn off.

JOHN OF CRONSTADT.

Death Calls Russian Priest to Whom Many Miracles Are Credited.

The once famous apostle of all the Russias, Father John, of Cronstadt, whose death occurred a short time ago at St. Petersburg after an illness of over two years' duration, was revered and adored not merely among the lowly but by royalty as well.

Born Nov. 30, 1829, he achieved early fame, coming into prominence soon after taking a priesthood at the Andrew Church of Cronstadt. Although not a factor in the political life of his country, nor a leading dignitary of the church, Father John stood out conspicuously whenever Russia attracted the world's attention, whether because of national sorrow or rejoicing.

A seer, a [illegible] superstitious and a broad-minded man, nevertheless he was universally known to the people of Russia as the holy seer and miracle worker of the empire. This resulted from the deep impression his zeal and devotion to the church wrought on the people. At the beginning of [illegible] in 1855 his zeal, his personality and his unique [illegible] appealed to the mediaeval spirit which largely prevailed among the people and in the Russian church, and he wielded wide influence, becoming firmly intrenched in Russian hearts. Quickly his fame spread. He was credited with healing powers and with the ability to perform miracles. The raising from the dead of a girl in a St. Petersburg hospital was attributed to him by [illegible] became the Mecca of many long pilgrimages by the faithful suffering from maladies. The sterling qualities of Father John were admired [illegible] by the late Emperor Alexander III., who constantly honored and befriended him, and who sent for him to administer the last sacraments of the church when he lay dying. He was a conspicuous figure at the solemnities attending the coronation of the present Czar, [illegible] the Empress showing her faith in him by making a pilgrimage to the shrine of St. Serafim to offer her most fervent prayer.

In his church Father John was urgent along the lines of missionary endeavors in foreign fields, and of this interest the Russian Orthodox Church of St. Nicholas in New York city, has received ample share. Known to but few of his followers by his surname of Sergieff, he was Father John [illegible] and as Father John Russia mourns him.

JUST DREAMS.

An Entire Lifetime of Horror Lived One Brief Minute.

A characteristic of dreams which, as the rather materialistic Dr. Clarke says, "hints at a life that has neither beginning nor end, and is bounded by no limits which human thought can compass," is the rapidity with which events happen in the dream world, writes John R. Meader in The Bohemian. Thus, when asleep and dreaming, we live an entire lifetime in a minute—in a space of time that is scarcely more than a second we pass through experiences that could not be duplicated in this objective sphere in hours, perhaps in years. Count Lavalette relates that one night, when imprisoned and under sentence of death, he dreamed that he stood for five hours at a Paris street corner, where he witnessed a continuous succession of harrowing scenes of blood, every one of which wrought his soul to the highest pitch of excitement. When he awoke he found that he had been asleep less than two minutes. In a more recent experiment made expressly to test the truth of these theories the subject was aroused from sleep by a few drops of water being sprinkled on his forehead. It took but an instant to accomplish this result, and yet, in that incalculably brief space of time, the man dreamed of going on an excursion; of an accident by which he was plunged into a lake, and, during the long struggle to escape death that followed, all the experiences of his life seemed to flash before him, just as they are said to appear to a person who is actually drowning.

An Arsenal In a Bedroom.

The best-armored monarch in Europe to-day is the new Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria. His bedroom is filled with weapons which are not there for any ornamental purpose, but for use. The sinister collection includes guns, revolvers, daggers, and here and there, on chairs, are cudgels and knuckle-dusters. A small and wicked-looking revolver, with all its chambers loaded, lies at the head of his bed. Though he takes all these precautions, Ferdinand is a courageous man, but he suffers at night from a constant dread of assassination. A few weeks ago the palace at Sofia was wakened at the dead of night by a pistol-shot ringing out in the stillness. No one ever heard what it was all about, but the shot was probably fired off by the prince in a fit of nervousness.

Hunting the Hippopotamus.

Lieutenant Paul Durand in The January Wide World Magazine says:

A dead hippopotamus invariably sinks to the bottom of the river if shot while swimming and it is only after an interval which varies between two and eight hours that the body rises and floats on the surface. For this reason, if you kill a hippopotamus in a river the current of which is at all rapid, you must, in nine cases out of ten, give up all hope of ever recovering your quarry. The carcass may be carried a great distance under the water, reappearing at the surface miles away, where it furnishes a providential feast to the native inhabitants on the banks, who call down special blessings upon the infallible rifle of the white man.

Sheep-Slaying Epidemic.

Within the last few weeks sheep have been found dead and mutilated in the Essex villages of Orsett, Benfleet, Rawreth, East Hanningfield and Sandon, England.

CHARGED WITH SELLING LIQUOR TO HOTELKEEPER IN LOCAL OPTION TOWN

Alex. Elliott pleaded not guilty to unlawfully selling liquor to a person to resell, at the police court this morning. A trunk said to contain whiskey was seized at the G.T.R. station on Friday last. It was the property of John Croker, proprietor of the Queen's Hotel, Millbrook. Mr. G. N. Gordon appeared for Mr. Elliott.

Wm. E. Scott, a detective for the G.T.R., was at the local station on Friday last. He knew Mr. John Croker, of Millbrook, and saw him at the station last Friday. Mr. Croker is an hotelkeeper in Millbrook. He heard Croker ask the baggageman to check the trunk to Millbrook, but it was overweight and the baggageman refused to do so. Croker said that it contained boots and shoes. He was told to open it. He then admitted that it did not contain boots and shoes, and that it came from Alex. Elliott's warehouse.

"I guess I'm caught. I'd better take it back," Croker remarked.

P.C. Meharry said that he knew Mr. Croker, having met him last Friday night. Croker asked witness what they were going to do about the trunk. P.C. Meharry told him that he didn't know. Croker said that there were four cases of whiskey and a jar containing two and a half gallons of the same spirits in the trunk. Croker is the proprietor of the Queen's Hotel in Millbrook. In the bar he noticed a bottle labelled whiskey, but he could not say what it contained. There was a bartender attending a number of customers.

John George, baggagemaster at the G.T.R. station, said Mr. Croker came to the room and asked for a check, from the assistant baggagemaster. Witness said that he would look after the checking of the trunk, as he was suspicious about it. Croker was asked what he did then and he hesitated a moment and then said that it contained boots and shoes.

Witness remarked that it was funny that it would come from Alex. Elliott containing boots and shoes. The trunk came up from Millbrook on the 13th day of January.

Peter White, an express driver and the assistant baggage master were called and testified to having seen the trunk at the G.T.R. station.

Mr Patrick Kenny, clerk in the retail store of Mr Elliott, said that he did not know Mr Croker, but he knew of the sale of liquor that had been seized. He had never given a thought as to what the man was going to do with the whiskey.

Wm Clemson, driver at the retail store of Alex Elliott, was called. He had seen the trunk before. It was at the store. He never had anything to do with it.

Robt Graham who bottles liquors at Alex Elliott's store, was called, but he knew nothing of the trunk.

The case was enlarged until Friday morning at ten o'clock when further evidence will be put in.

ATTEMPTED LIFE OF KITCHENER

Frustrated by Activity of Attendants—Authorities Won't Give Details

Special to the Review.

Calcutta, Jan. 25.—An attempt on the life of Lord Kitchener by an attendant in Gen. Kitchener's private car at Lillooah, was frustrated through the activity of other attendants, according to a statement made to-day. The authorities refuse to make known the details of the affair. The would-be assassin of Lord Kitchener, whose fate is unknown, was a Hindoo.

REFERENCES TO LATE ANGLICAN PRIMATE

At St. John's church last night, the rector Rev. Canon Davidson made a feeling reference to the death of his Grace, Archbishop Sweatman, the Bishop of this diocese, who was well known and dearly beloved here having administered the rite of confirmation on many occasions in the three Anglican churches in this city. Canon Davidson spoke of the faithful services to the church that had been given by the late archbishop. His life had been one of hard toil and he had never faltered in his duty.

Two special hymns, "Peace, Perfect Peace," and "On the Resurrection Morn," were sung. The opening voluntary was "O Rest in the Lord," from the Elijah and the anthem was "God Shall Wipe Away all Tears," by Field.

At the conclusion of the service the organist, Mr. R. J. Devey, rendered the "Dead March in Saul," during which the choir and congregation stood in their places. During the rendition and while the congregation was leaving the bell was tolled. The recessional was the funeral march from Beethoven's Grand Sonata in A flat.

The death of the archbishop was announced at All Saints' church at the evening service by Rev. Mr. Trumpour, who will refer to the life of the deceased prelate at the service next Sunday morning. The congregation was deeply affected by the news.

GOOD NEWS FOR HOT AND THIRSTY PETERBORO' PEOPLE

It is generally believed that many disease germs are not killed at the freezing points, and that therefore ice in ordinary storage, if made from infected water, remains permanently dangerous. The results of experiments seem to show that the contrary is true, and it would now appear that the freezing temperature kills all germs if it is only maintained long enough. All ice therefore, when stored for a sufficient time becomes germ-free and is healthful. The crusade for pure ice should be kept up, however, declares this writer, notwithstanding the fact that remarkably few epidemics are recorded in which the blame has been definitely fixed upon old ice.

Says American Medicine (Philadelphia (December) in an editorial on the subject:—

"The sterility of old ice from infected waters is a matter of such great importance as far as public health is concerned, that it is somewhat strange it does not receive more comment. It is twenty years since Prudden made his classical experiment in freezing water with pathogenic organisms and then recovering them some weeks later. Since then the medical profession — particularly the health authorities—have been of the opinion that freezing is more or less harmless to sewage-borne disease germs, and that ice is always dangerous. Within only a few years had it been discovered that freezing is so injurious to protoplasm that in the course of time all organisms die. Prudden did not carry his tests far enough.

"Experiment made by Dr. Wm. H. Park, of New York, and others show that in three days half the frozen bacilli are dead, in seven days seven-eighths, and in four weeks the water is pure as the filtered; after four months the danger is negligible and after six months there is no danger. It is understood that other tests have been made, but the results have not been given that wide publicity demanded by public safety. It takes time for cold to kill the organisms, and there is some danger after all."

HILDA SPONG, The Celebrated English Actress, In The Great Play of "A Man and His Mate." Will appear at The Grand Opera House, One Night Only, Wednesday, Jan. 27th. Coming direct from Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto. Plan now open at box office.

LOCAL AMATEURS ON MONDAY NIGHT

Will Present "The Private Secretary" at Grand Opera House

There will be a rehearsal for "The Private Secretary" at the Knights of Pythias hall tonight at 7.30 o'clock. This famous English comedy will be given at the Grand Opera House next Monday night by local amateurs and it is easy to predict a bumper house. The cast is regarded as a highly capable one and the comedy will be given a finished production.

BURNS NICHT

All sons of Scotland do well to celebrate the anniversary of Robert Burns, the truly national poet of the home of "the Highlanders who fought at Waterloo." It was said of the cottager's "Saturday Night," by an old Scottish woman, that she could see no reason for "Sic an uproar" about the poem for what was there described could be seen in Scotland anywhere of a Saturday night, so true to life was the poet. The most astonishing feature of Burn's influence, however, is that, despite "Holy Willie's prayer," his freedom with the bottle and his unsteady course of conduct in love affairs he could yet command the respect and affection of the whole Scottish world. There is a fine statue of the poet in the Allan Gardens, Toronto. "Let Joy be Unconfined!"

THE GLOBE IS A LITTLE EARLY

The Globe today says in giving the standing of the teams in the O.H.A. that Lindsay has practically won in group 1 of the intermediates. On this point there may be a wide difference of opinion and the Review ventures the humble opinion that the Peterborough team still has a bright chance of winning out in this district.

CHEMICALS WERE USED FREELY

To Put Out Chimney Fire on George St. This Afternoon

A pretty bad chimney fire at 426 George street in a chimney leading to the upstairs apartments required 16 gallons of chemicals to put it out. The brigade received the call at 1.40.

Owing to the fact that the chimney did not draw well a tinsmith had been called to repair it. He placed a piece of lighted paper in the chimney hole as an experiment as to the draught and this caused the fire.

Provincial Treasurer Tatton, of B. C., reports a surplus of $1,388,380.

The fraud charged against John F. Mills at Welland, was dismissed.
